

I count it a joy and a privilege to have been of service to our countrymen in the Territory of Hawaii in representation of the Philippine Commissioner's Office in Washington, D. C.

On the eve of our departure from these hospitable shores for our beloved Philippines...

and numerous individuals who are sympathetic to the betterment of relations between the Philippines and other groups of the cosmopolitan population of Hawaii.

This experience has enabled me to see Filipino life from a different angle. It has enriched my knowledge and has deepened my faith in the future of Filipino part in the progress of mankind.

I sincerely trust that we may merit the fellowship of other men and nations. During our stay in Hawaii I have sought to present a great challenge to our countrymen in this Territory. My prizing wish is that my fellow-citizens may successfully meet that challenge.

The best sentiments of Mrs. Camilo Osias and myself as we leave may be condensed in the two highly expressive and meaningfully sweet words of Hawaii and the Philippines: Aloha and Mahalo—Dr. Camilo Osias.

It is so long daytoy ti warkon Filipino a kakaipito ngadigan Press. Mabalinng' ogimoldit kdgti damag nga agapog? Manilo ken Washington, United Press news service.

A Rizal Day in the Philippines

By Edwin North McClellan
The Americans who skip over the news of Rizal Day should see one celebrated in the Philippines. Come back to December of 1911 with me to Olango in Zamboanga Province. Late in that month the whole province—Tagalogs, Ilocanos and many others poured into Olango. Probably every tribe was represented in Olango in its more-or-less present population of over 5,000.

Rizal Day that number was easily doubled. Sundays, holidays, and cocktail days, always found crowds in the largest town of Zamboanga. But between Christmas and New Year's the Filipino clans assembled in Olango in magnificent numbers to honor their own George Washington—Jose Rizal.

So, Thursday, December 28, found the streets jammed. The Bacor and San Narciso bands of music parading and serenading, and the musicals and dances of the Olango, being with the naval bases of the U. S. Subic Bay Naval Reservation, it was customary to elect the Commandant of the Naval Station the President of Rizal Day. I was horrified when the central committee formally called on me (I was Justice of the Peace and Intelligence Officer at the time) and had been elected to the high office of President. I soon had the plan back in its usual channel with the Commandant as President, and the Vice-President.

Mrs. A. Reynaldo was crowned Queen by the President on the afternoon of Friday, the 29th, at the corner of Calle Zabitan and Calle Estocan, with lovely surroundings. The bands serenaded and concert from eight o'clock until midnight on that day in the Public Park.

That arrived Saturday, December 30, the rest day. At 4:00 a.m. a reveille by the bands was heard. A parade started at 8 o'clock and headed over the steps of Olango from the Public Park to Aglipaynon Church (near the Market) to participate in Mass. At 9:30 a monument at Calle Zabitan and Estocan was unveiled with appropriate ceremonies. The bands again paraded the streets from then until 11:30 a.m. Sports were held at the same location at 1:00 p.m. A civic procession started at 4 o'clock over a route starting at the Park and passing over all the main streets. Most were the United States, and speeches as I understood it, by Labitan and Estocan at 7 o'clock.

I was guest at a large dinner party that evening and left it in order to make the principal address of the day. A huge crowd filled the Public Park in the center of which a platform, well decorated, had been erected. From that raised platform I made my address in the American language and it was translated to the attentive listeners. They were good enough to give an applause that staggered me. The public celebration ended about 11 o'clock when fireworks

PRIDE OF THEIR RACE

By MAURO BARADI

You never can tell what a man can really do until he is put to test. Those who seem content living the easy, comfortable, and even luxurious way may feel too preoccupied over their own affairs that they care nothing about the nation's good. And so it is that in a well known community only a handful can be counted upon for real and constructive service; the rest have little, if any, definite goals set before them; there are numerous individuals are a common mass waiting, longing, and anxious to be led, for it is sort of a risk for them to lead.

Peter Lane has been called by others as an unfortunate person because of the fact that his parents were born and reared in the slums and could not give him any kind of an education. Peter never forgot how his father was dragged to prison because of being a vagrant, and how his mother died practically of starvation. It was his dream to clear the slums some day. Thirty years later, Peter Lane became governor of his state and during his incumbency the people progressed as they never did in the past. There was prosperity all around.

Who said a blind and lame man is unhappy? Before arriving at conclusions we should investigate and analyze the circumstances in connection with a particular case otherwise we are apt to make a mistake. One of the most respected and influential ministers in a well known city is Dr. David Pickett. It is said that his sermons are well received everywhere because of his eloquence and sincerity. His hearers do not see in him a man deprived of sight and limb—he has these physical handicaps—but rather they see a servant of the Supreme Being, true to his calling and faithful to his Creator. His is a life of inspiration and sacrifice.

No amount of discouragement could change the mind of Robert Dunn in his decision to become just a simple farmer. And that is laughed at him because "farming is good only for the simple country folks." Dunn finished school after school, college after college—specializing in farming. Today this modern farmer employs men by the thousands who work in his lands. The people who laughed at him in the beginning are begging Robert Dunn for food and shelter and clothing as well.

The men, brave men, who have risen from the ranks as it were to positions of trust and responsibility—in spite of apparent handicaps—remind me of inspiring lives; these souls of heroic mold are indeed a pride of their race.

Urge Easing of Restriction on Filipino Women

By F. A. RESPICIO

HILO, Hawaii.—Mariano R. Gorospe, publisher of the Philippine News Tribune and president of Inaang, Manila, society, stated in his organization of about 15,000, was urged today by representatives of various plantations of this island to repeal the Philippine government, through Dr. Camilo Oslas, make his report to President Quezon, for the importation of Philippine women to Hawaii.

Armed with resolutions and placards, these Filipino plantation representatives paraded in front of the Philippine News Tribune building, urging that the Filipino paper voice their sentiment at once. The demonstration here today added to the list of those who plead for more Filipino women. The Filipino leaders here stated that there is no labor problem here at present—the problem of too few women to confront them. They claim, as their placards showed, that they are 100 per cent loyal to the government and to their employers, and unless their social problem is solved, they will never be happy. It is said that the lack of woman's influence and companionship in Filipino laborers' homes here is responsible for the many social problems.

MAINLAND PINOYS

WASHINGTON (By Clipper Mail)

—Miss Yvonne Gonzalez, the Philippine prima donna, again scored a triumph when she made her debut with the Chicago Opera Company, to the role of Cho Cho San in Puccini's beloved "Madama Butterfly," here at the Chicago Opera House. Her performance was held under the baton of Angelo Canaruto.

Although not a veteran, Miss Gonzalez captivated the audience with her voice and flawless rendition of her role. Edward Barry, dramatic critic of the Chicago Tribune, said that she sang so deeply, so strongly and so deeply that he had the impression of being in the presence of the death of her understanding of the role, purity and beauty of her voice, and musical intelligence of her performance. She conceived Cho Cho San as a child, impulsive, unscrupulous, and naive. Her actions, her voice, her personality, her attitude, her thought, ingenious quality. Miss Gonzalez displayed a voice of exquisite texture—a voice moreover which can compass very big effects without strain. She communicated a mixture of sympathy, delight, confidence, worry, almost anything without spoiling her phrasing and tone and without losing her bright voice and youthful soundness as ever was cast opposite Miss Gonzalez as Pinkerton.

Herman DeVries, dramatic critic of the Chicago Herald American, described "Miss Gonzalez's performance of the Philippines, which is not yet a veteran, is nevertheless school ed in her art, having by her credit gained a reputation as an actor and more recently—triumphing at the Chicago Opera House—she has won the title of Miss Chicago in New York City. "The exotic little creature young woman's heart, with the very first glimpse of her, she has won the hearts of so full of limit grade that apart from her lovely song, she would be of sufficient importance to warrant calling her a star of the first rank.

Her voice is of the first rank in volume in the sense that it indicates the thorough musician and the profound student."

Music lovers in the East who have heard Miss Gonzalez sing are outspoken in their praise of her voice and personality and declare that she is the best Filipino singer they have heard so far. Miss Gonzalez has also captivated the hearts not only of the Americans but also of the Canadians. Right after her debut in Chicago, Miss Gonzalez went to Toronto to fill another return engagement at the opera. Canadian opera patrons. From Toronto, she will proceed to Minneapolis to appear as a soloist with the famous Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra.

FILIPINOS ASK FOR WIVES: A busy campaign is on among Filipinos of Hawaii urging that Filipino women be permitted entry into the territory. Importers' Report Alcoholic Beverage

NEW YORK.—Success in moving foreign spirits and wines to the United States in the face of increasing wartime hazards heightened the first year of operation under new arrangements made with the Westbound Atlantic Steamship conference, according to the annual report of the National Association of Alcoholic Beverage Importers, Inc., given at their annual meeting here.

These facts were given in a special report of the freight and insurance committee, prepared by its chairman, Oscar J. Wile, vice president of Schenley Distillers corporation, and managing director of the Schenley Import corporation. The report was presented by Harry L. Lourie, executive vice president of the association. Both Mr. Wile and Mr. Lourie are regarded as experts in the wine and spirit import business.

Mr. Wile's concise report on the activities of his committee expressed the "gratitude" the import trade" to the various members of the steamship conference, particularly the Anchor Line, the Cunard Line, and the United States Lines, and stated that "relationships with import trade and steamship companies have been most happy," considering the huge obstacles to be overcome.

"It appears proper to point out," Mr. Wile's report said, "that the volume of Scotch whiskey which has been moved into the United States during the past year is definite proof that British ports have not been damaged to any serious extent and that shipping is still available in sufficient tonnage to meet present requirements. As many members of the trade already know," he added, "boats are still leaving England and coming to the United States in country."

He pointed out that at the present time, only one American flag line is operating between the United States and Europe and only one port-Lisbon—is left from which European goods may be shipped to American boats.

After outlining the committee's activities in keeping war risk insurance rates and freight rates at reasonable figures, he said: "Under present conditions it appears doubtful that the committee will be able to achieve any reduction in war risk rates."

He reminded the members of the import industry that the "wisdom of the freight committee in originally recommending to the association a long term contract with the Westbound North Atlantic Steamship conference for wines and spirits from the British Isles has been proven by the actual facts as the war has developed."

Ben Pilar, sensational light-weight champion of the Philippine Islands, will meet Prince Plaki in a finish match. Last week the pair went to a 45-minute draw with the Filipino grappler showing his followers that he could overcome the Persian villain's reach advantage and roughhouse tactics with skill and speed. Now Pilar will go hunting for Plaki with his flying dropkicks. In perfect condition the Filipino star should be able to outlast Plaki. The bout is scheduled for the demands of Filipino fans, will be two out of three falls to a finish and headlines a five-bout card.

Promoter Al Karasick announced with pride today that two new grapplers will meet their Honolulu debut on Wednesday's big card. He is meeting Sammy Cohen, the roughhouse Jew's had many titles. Is the youngest member of a famous family of Portuguese wrestlers and just recently lost a close decision wrestling for the championship of the world. Cohen's rough-house tricks will force Estes to open up in his first bout.

In the semi-final, popular Bonny Coleman, the Los Angeles football star, meets clever Kimon Kido, Japanese Jiu-jitsu star. The bout should be a thriller from start to finish. Both men are very fast, specialist in football tactics and are very strong. Both are willing to mix it at all times.

In the opener Doc Kowarsky, the fighting choreographer, meets Bulu Torres, former University of Hawaii football star. Eric Foreman and Young Shiranui will referee the card. The card, with the sensational main event and two new recruits promises to be a sell-out. Promoter Al Karasick urges all fans to make their ringside reservations early by calling 7002.

IT'S TIME YOU KNEW

ALFRED NOBEL PRONOR OF THE NOBEL PEACE PRIZE
AND THE MAN WHO HAS REALIZED THE DEATH OF MILLIONS. WHAT NATIONALITY WAS HE?

Answers to "IT'S TIME YOU KNEW" by Lawrence

Alfred Nobel was Swedish. It would take 48 days and 18 hours to consecutively play all the tunes in the record library of Radio Station WZWEW. It takes three minutes to play each tune. Cocos Island has been offered to the United States as an air base because of its strategic position, at the Pacific approach to the Panama Canal. The stem, a modernization of which is used today for winding and setting Bulova Watches was invented in 1843, almost a hundred years ago, by Adrien Philippe. Although it did not come into popular use for almost fifty years.
