REUTER'S SYRUP No. 2.

The hereditary blood poison of scrofula develops in the delicate tissue of the brain, mental weakness and infirmities, idiosyncrasy and insanity. It enlarges the glands of the throat, impairs the sense of smell and taste, or breaks into consuming ulcers on the neck. It destroys the lungs, or fills them with tuberculous secretions. It eats away the coating of the stomach, clogs the liver, clogs the kidneys, creates constipation and indigestion. No human agency can so speedily, permanently and economically cleanse the blood of scrofulous poison, clear the complexion and skin, scalp and head, as Reuter's Syrup No. 2, the great blood purifier.

WHAT WILL HE DO WITH IT?

The recent decision of the United States Courts puts $14,000,000 into Edison's pocket. What will he do with it? Never before has any decision brought such an inundation of wealth. Edison sued a company which had been using his invention, and after six years of litigation he has triumphed. The defendants were making enormous profits, which they must now turn over to the fortunate inventor the world ever saw. Some ingenious calculators have been trying to figure up his income, and they have reckoned the different inventions until they are tired, without touching bottom. It would not be surprising if it were almost as large as Jay Gould's. Wealth, indeed, is flowing in with incredible volume, and this decision, as I have said, is worth $14,000,000. There is one invention, however, which defies Edison's skill, and that is how to cure deafness. I have no doubt Edison, as soon as he heard of the above decision, would have turned over all it brought him for restoration of hearing. The unfortunate man is so deaf that he cannot enjoy the benefit of his great prosperity. How often, indeed, the most splendid success is embittered by some disaster which becomes the more painful because of the impossibility of relief. All inventions fail to answer that ancient question: "Who can make that straight which God hath made crooked?"—[N. Y. Corr. Troy Times.

RUSSIA'S READINESS.

Commenting on Russia's warlike preparations a military writer in the Pester Lloyd considers them the beginning of a mobilization. "There remains," he declares, "hardly anything to be done to complete the mobilization except the transference of the troops from the interior to the frontier, and for that purpose a network of strategic lines has been constructed and double lines laid down along the whole western frontier from north to south." The writer argues that the advantage of quicker mobilization hitherto enjoyed by Austria has disappeared. If, indeed, that country is not behindhand, its mobilization requiring three weeks, whereas Russia's will be reduced to a fortnight as soon as all the lines now being constructed are finished.

THE LARGEST GOLD COIN.

The largest gold coin now in circulation is said to be the gold ingot, or "loaf," of Anam, a French colony in Eastern Asia. It is a flat round gold piece, and on it is written in India ink its value, which is about $220. The next sized coin to this valuable but extremely awkward one is the "obang" of Japan, which is worth about $55; and next comes the "benda" of Asshantee, which represents a value of about $49. The California $50 gold piece is worth about the same as the "benda." The heaviest silver coin in the world also belongs to Anam, where the silver ingot is worth about $15; then comes the Chinese "tael" and then the Austrian double thaler.—Interview with a Numismatist.

The political testament of ex-Emperor Dom Pedro of Brazil, recently published, is a unique document. It reviews his efforts to promote the prosperity of his native land, and will be read with interest by many of his former subjects.

The Treasurer of the United States is responsible for the custody of 4500 tons of coin. It is estimated that if burglars broke into the vaults it would require 90,000 men of average strength to carry the money a distance of fifty feet.

The utilization of the power of Niagara Falls is a fruitful topic of discussion in engineering circles. It is estimated that in supplying 120,000 horse-power the depth of the water passing over the falls will be lowered about an inch, a mere trifle compared to the vast volume that leaps into the abyss below. Some idea of what 120,000 horse-power means can be gleaned from the fact that large locomotive works in the East giving employment to four or five thousand men requires 2,500 horse-power to drive the machinery.

Arabi Pasha, who played such a prominent part in the Egyptian insurrection of 1881-82, is in such poor health in Ceylon, the land of his exile, that his physician declares he will not live much longer, but will succumb to the exactions of climate and the incurable nostalgia from which he is constantly suffering. It is now more than eight years since Arabi was convicted of rebellion and sentenced to death, the clemency of the Khedive resulting in the modification of his sentence to perpetual exile from Egypt and its dependencies.

Daily Bulletin

Pledged to neither Sect nor Party, But established for the benefit of all. THURSDAY, AUGUST 27, 1891.

Ka Leo the other day abused Hon. E. C. Macfarlane, in fact "wrote him out" of his party. To-day it complains that Mr. Macfarlane was not taken into the Cabinet on the change of Ministry in 1890. What can satisfy Ka Leo?

The BULLETIN has heard a complaint about bicyclists running their machines on the sidewalks. The other day a bicycle came into collision at the end of a lane with a team driving out. If these vehicles are to have the use of the sidewalks, it should be on condition that they do not discommode pedestrians, nor get in the way of horses and carriages at street and lane crossings.

The following clipped from an exchange is given for what it may be worth:

The coffee cup is a capital barometer. After the sugar has been put in, if the bubbles collect in the middle of the cup the weather will be fair; if they leave the center and adhere to the sides of the cup, forming a ring of bubbles with a clear space in the middle, there will be rain; if they scatter themselves indifferently on the surface the weather will be variable, while a cluster of bubbles at one side indicates rain.

THE JURY SYSTEM.

Charles A. Thatcher discusses the jury system in the North American Review for August, under the heading, "The Failure of the Jury System." Although this title would indicate prejudice of the case, yet the writer advances some propositions that it would be difficult to confute. There is a great deal of notorious fact in his opening paragraph, which reads as follows:

Chance stands at the threshold of the jury system, as jurors are selected by lot, regardless of their ability to weigh close questions of fact. Ignorance follows in the footsteps of chance, since the man who has formed opinions upon the topics of the day is liable to challenge.

The force of the remark just quoted must be felt by everybody who has witnessed the empanelling of a jury in any case that has attracted public attention and comment previous to its coming into court. Any man who is intelligent enough to read the newspapers and has mentally active enough to think of what he reads will, if he is at the same time conscientious enough to acknowledge the truth on oath, not do for a juror in modern times. If he has formed an opinion that will require evidence to remove, to quote the formula of jury examinations, he is of no use in the box. Yet it would be a funny kind of opinion that should not require evidence to remove. The judge hearing the case may have full knowledge at first hand of all the material facts, yet this does not disqualify him although he has power to set aside the verdict if contrary to the evidence actually presented. Mr. Thatcher, in attacking the rule of unanimity of juries which, happily, does not obtain in Hawaii, says: "When the unanimity of twelve men was first required, a jury was composed of those who had personal knowledge of the question in dispute and were only witnesses." This would indicate that the requirement of jurors coming with blank minds to the trial of a case is a comparatively modern innovation.

The writer of the Review article thinks that the surroundings of a court must be confusing to a man brought from his bank or store, his farm or mill; that if he is a man who has important affairs of his own to neglect for jury duty, he will chafe beneath the damaging confinement and not be in a condition to render an intelligent and impartial verdict. There is doubtless much truth in this opinion, and nobody can tell how many cases involving vital interests to the parties, right in Honolulu, have been hastily and largely by guesswork decided by juries, through the impatience of restraint and detention from business and domestic duties felt by individual jurors. The writer quoted goes on to refer to the facility with which men of superior intelligence, capacity for dealing with intricate affairs, and integrity that is proof against corruption, can get themselves excused from jury service. But assuming that juries are composed of men of average intelligence, he considers from the nature of the system that it is not to be expected that they will render just verdicts. In the infancy of the system trials were very brief, one day being perhaps sufficient for the longest, while the interests involved were limited in importance. To this condition of affairs he contrasts that of the present day, when trials frequently take weeks or months and millions may be involved where hundreds were before in the interests at stake. The reviewer's conclusion is that "before a case has been half-completed nearly all that has gone before is either a perfect blank to the majority of the jury or has become so confused that it is impossible for them to unravel it." Mr. Thatcher regards it as an absurdity that jurors, who know nothing of the law governing an intricate case, should be required to apply the law to the facts with no other tuition than a single lecture from the bench.

Taking up two specific cases the essayist says: "Ten hundred and sixteen jurors were called and fifty-three days consumed before a jury was secured to try the Cronin case in Chicago, and the trial lasted one hundred and seven days, at an enormous expense; while eight men are under indictment for tampering with that jury. The residents of New Orleans waited a month for the end of the trial of the Mafia, and then took fifteen minutes to accomplish what a jury by bribery or intimidation failed to do. Chicago cannot afford to spend her time and money in trying a case under a system which but manufactures new criminals when attempting to convict the old. The city of New Orleans should not be compelled to appall the civilized world by meeting crime with crime, at a great cost of time and money." After arraignment the rule of unanimity of juries in vogue in his country, Mr. Thatcher proposes a substitute for trial by jury as follows:

The answer is, a bench composed of a reasonable number of judges, three or five, who receive their office for life, by appointment. First, there should be more than one judge, that he may be aided by the counsel of his associates, and so avoid the least suspicion of favoritism or prejudice. Second, the court should receive its position by appointment and should not be composed of members of one political party, so that the administration of justice may be taken out of politics and its corrupting influences.

To provide a safeguard against attempts to corrupt judges under this plan, he proposes liberal laws for inquiring into the acts of judges. He replies to the objection that a bench of judges would be too far removed above the common affairs of life to be able to decide questions of fact, saying: "As a rule, our judges have risen from the humblest walks of life, and have come into personal contact with the varied affairs of men. Men when they become judges do not necessarily lose their common-sense. Instead of being less competent than an ever-changing jury, they are the better qualified to judge of facts, since cases involving the same or similar questions will occur, time and again, giving them knowledge by experience."

Mr. Thatcher concludes: "By this plan you no longer place a premium on ignorance, and you secure what is the prime object of every suit, allowing everyone to assert his rights speedily, with the least expense and the highest degree of certainty." It is not for the purpose of negating the abolition of Hawaii's jury system that this synopsis of the paper in question is given. Abuses of the nature described have not reached the degree or extent in Hawaii which that writer deprecates in the States. It would be too expensive for us, while perhaps not satisfactory otherwise, to adopt the plan of substitute proposed. But while holding by our jury system, the openings for its improvement should not be neglected. Both exemptions and grounds of excuse should be curtailed. The rule that accepts only admitted or assumed ignorance and indifference should be abolished. Unnecessary waste of the time of jurors—a serious evil in Honolulu, caused by chronic unreadiness of lawyers—should be strictly avoided. Jury trials ought to be waived where the issues are mainly those of law, and in many cases might be substituted by arbitration. The latter has been largely introduced elsewhere, greatly relieving stress of business in the courts. Jury waiving seems to be growing increasingly in vogue here. There seems to be as important cases heard originally before the judges in chambers as at jury terms, and a large proportion of the weightier cases are fought up to the full bench anyway.

The jury system must with all its defects be regarded as an essential step in the advance of civilization in countries that have arisen from barbarism, feudalism, or autocracy. Much might be said for its educational advantages to the people under its sway. Like active politics in its intellectual aspects, jury duty cannot but enlarge the intelligence and brighten the wits of those performing it. It is a school of social rights which must have had large influence in promoting peace and justice between man and man. Perhaps, however, it is destined everywhere, when it has served a given day, to die a natural death and be superseded by a better agency of justice.

LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

EXTENSIVE repairs are being made on Hotel street, between Fort and Nuuanu.

MONTHLY meeting of Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 this evening. All members especially requested to be present.

THE Justices of the Supreme Court being still in banco session, the regular session of the Intermediate Court was postponed from to-day until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

BREAKFAST with a bangle on which is engraved a scene of Diamond Head and coconut trees are additional novelties in the show window of Mr. J. Hubashi's jewelry store.

REV. J. KEEKAHUNA of Waianae was this day appointed by the Chief Justice as guardian of Kalawala Kapaui in place of the late J. P. Kama, deceased.

OWING to his intended departure, the deposition of H. R. Macfarlane was this morning taken in the clerk's office of the Supreme Court and filed in the equity suit of William Henry against the deponent, which prays for an accounting between the parties.

MR. JAS. F. MORGAN will hold a clearance sale at the store of Chu On Co., Nuuanu street, to-morrow commencing at 10 o'clock.

MR. BEN HOGAN will deliver his free lecture to-morrow evening in the Y. M. C. A. hall. On Saturday evening he will give his famous picturesque, stereoptical exhibition in the same hall.

IS the case of S. Kamokuiki et al. vs. S. W. B. Kaulainamoku, damages $100. Binch Johnson, attorney for defendant, moved that the case have no standing in Court, as being contrary to Rule XX of Supreme Court, not having a minor appear in Court by a guardian.

THE Marshal offers a reward of $250 for the capture of the person or persons guilty of the burglaries that have been the sensation of the past few weeks.

With this incentive to detective skill, local talent may be able to "tree the local." Surely "Barefooted Bill" must now be caught or take a holiday, otherwise he may be ranked with the cleverest scamps on record.

MR. A. L. SMITH has made arrangements with Mr. C. Furneaux, the well and favorably known artist, for the purchase and sale of his views of island scenery. Mr. Furneaux is a master in depicting natural scenery, and has been living for years in the midst of the noblest and prettiest scenes of Hawaii.

P. H. BROOKS Division, K. of P., is summoned to assemble at the Armory, Beretania street, Friday evening, at 7:30, in full uniform. Owing to the band's going to play at the state dinner Saturday evening, the anniversary parade of the Division has been changed to Friday evening. Hence the notice.

SUPREME COURT.

THURSDAY, Aug. 27.

In the matter of the estate of Kukui-nui (w.), petition in probate to sell real estate on Hotel street with which to pay the debts, the Chief Justice ordered a postponement until Monday next with a view to a settlement of the debts by one Mrs. Peter Kahalelele, who claims to be the sole heir. J. A. Magoon for the applicant; Messrs. Huntsman & Nawahi for the heir.

In the matter of Noah Kana, District Judge for Kipahulu, Maui, charged with malfeasance in office. The evidence given in this case in substance tends to show that one Hailama, policeman, went and bought a bottle of wine from a Portuguese; that another policeman, Kahale, admitted that he and others including the magistrate drank up the wine purchased from the Portuguese, and that the case against the Portuguese had to be nolle prosequi because the bottle produced was a substituted one and was not the same upon which the warrant issued. The evidence seems to be conflicting. Their Honors this morning dismissed Kahale from service as policeman, on his own evidence that he and others drank up the wine. Judge Kana was ordered by the Court not to return to Maui until his case has been disposed of.

ASEU'S TROUBLE.

First Account the Re-verse of Ex-aggeration—Blood Spilled by the Police.

The news given in yesterday's issue of trouble between Mr. L. Aseu and Chinese laborers at Makapala, Kohala, was from an authentic source. It was half-past eleven o'clock when the Chinese malcontents gathered around Mr. Aseu's house—rather an odd hour for a peaceful conference with their employer.

Another account has been received in town, confirming the statement that Aseu was protected by the police and native laborers. Since the foregoing was written an account of the affair from Chinese sources has been received. It is as follows: When the Chinese discovered that the arrangements made with them in China were not going to be fulfilled according to their understanding thereof, they made complaint to the manager of the plantation, accompanied with a demand for redress. The manager put them off until Aseu should arrive from Honolulu. When Aseu came he refused to see the laborers, shutting himself up in his house.

Saturday night the laborers to the number of two hundred surrounded Aseu's house, demanding the privilege of confronting him. He sent a telephone message for police assistance, and the Deputy Marshal sent a body of police armed with revolvers. The police tried to disperse the Chinamen but they resisted, and in a skirmish that ensued one Chinaman was shot in the arm and another one in the leg. Chinese messengers carried this news to the Kinaiu to be forwarded verbally, as there was no time to write a letter to Honolulu.

SALE OF STOCKS.

Mr. Jas. F. Morgan disposed of the following stocks at auction at noon to-day: Inter-Island Steam Navigation Co.'s stock, 10 shares to Mr. Savidge for $127 a share; H. von Holt 5 shares, at $126; and 5 shares to the first buyer at $125. Three shares of E. O. Hall & Son stock were sold to Mr. S. A. Gilman at $75 a share. Five shares of Wilders' S. S. Co. to Mr. W. C. Wilder at $124. Government 6 percent bonds and the People's Ice & Refrigerating Co.'s stock were withdrawn.

FOR SLEEPERS' NESS.

Use Horford's Acid Phosphate. Dr. C. R. Dake, Belleville, Ill., says: "I have found it, and it alone, to be capable of producing a sweet and natural sleep in cases of insomnia from overwork of the brain, which so often occurs in active professional and business men."

REWARD.

A REWARD of $250 will be paid to any person who will give information which will lead to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who have committed burglaries within six weeks last past. CHAS. B. WILSON, Marshal. Honolulu, Aug. 27, 1891. 202 1m

NOTICE.

"August Flower"

For two years I suffered terribly with stomach trouble, and was for all that time under treatment by a physician. He finally, after trying everything, said stomach was about worn out, and that I would have to cease eating solid food for a time at least. I was so weak that I could not work. Finally on the recommendation of a friend who had used your preparations with beneficial results, I procured a bottle of August Flower, and commenced using it. It seemed to do me good at once. I gained in strength and flesh rapidly; my appetite became good, and I suffered no bad effects from what I ate. I feel now like a new man, and consider that August Flower has entirely cured me of Dyspepsia in its worst form. JAMES E. DEDERICK, Sauterites, New York.

W. B. Utsey, St. George's, S. C., writes: I have used your August Flower for Dyspepsia and find it an excellent remedy.

BUSINESS AND INDUSTRIAL.

It is estimated that each year in New York city 3,000 women find themselves stranded, not only homeless, penniless and without work, but unable to work.

Unless some catastrophe not anticipated overtakes the crop, Nebraska will crib 200,000,000 bushels of corn this year. The crop of 1889 was 150,000,000 bushels.

The aggregate capital represented by the various "trusts" in the United States amounts to more than $2,000,000,000, or more than two-thirds of the entire manufacturing capital.

A Philadelphia firm is making great success in tanning articles made of cast-iron. The articles so treated are far more durable than galvanized or japanned ware, and are equally cheap.

The Republic of Honduras is very rich in the valuable wood called mahogany. A recent survey of these forests estimates the value of the trees of this variety which are fit for market at $200,000,000.

Gold coin is shipped abroad in 5-gallon iron-bound oaken kegs. Each keg holds ten bags, and each bag contains $5000, so that the value of a keg is $50,000. Gold from the other side usually comes in boxes.

Barbed wire may cost the farmer more money after September 1st. On and after that date manufacturers will be compelled to pay the Columbia Patent Company a royalty of $3 per ton, which is just 200 per cent advance.

More caviare has been made by the sturgeon fishermen of Delaware bay this year than ever before. The fishing fleet was increased by 125 boats. Sturgeon oil was sold for fifty cents a gallon, and the fish offal brought $40 a ton as a fertilizer.

It is a whole day's task for two men to fell a mahogany tree. On account of the spurs which project from the base of the trunk a scaffold has to be erected and the tree cut off above the spurs, leaving thus a stump of the very best wood from ten to fifteen feet high.

The value of forest products, net manufactured at the mill in Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota, 1890, aggregates $30,426,194; value of mill products, $115,699,004; value of re-manufactures, $21,112,618—making an aggregate value of products in three States of $167,237,816.

A million men standing close together, each not occupying more than four square feet, could be placed on a patch but little more than a third of a mile square. A square mile will accommodate 7,965,000 men. At that rate the whole population of the United States would hardly cover nine miles square.

Fifty years ago hours of work were longer and wages were less, but work was free and certain; industry meant sure success. To-day work is uncertain; success is a peradventure; anxiety is on the brow of the rich and poor alike. In this struggle simply to hold one's own the poor lose all strength for nobler thought; each child is taught to live above all else for the dollar. A change of the system is needed to save civilization from utter destruction.—[N. Y. World.
