THE "FRIEND" TO THE BISHOP OF OLSA.

EDITOR BULLETIN.—In reference to Mr. Fornander, let me say that I had no thought of disparagement in speaking of him as a Catholic. I may easily have been mistaken as to the fact. I am now informed, apparently on good authority, that his acknowledged Catholic sympathies were partly due to Catholic parentage on one side. I have always regarded him as an honorable gentleman as well as a learned and able historian. Dr. Hyde is entitled to the correction, that the allusion to Mr. Fornander did not appear in his communication, but in that of another person.

Permit a brief notice of the strictures of the Bishop of Olsa upon the "Friend." I would ask the Bishop's attention to the express qualification of the term "interlopers" by the words "as far as the schools are concerned," meaning the "public school system," as stated in the preceding sentence. The contention of the "Friend," whether just or not, is that the Roman Catholic Church is hostile to the public school system, and that in consequence, the action of her clergy, and the part they take as to these schools is not well intentioned and beneficent, but interfering and injurious. To have characterized that clergy in any general activity as "interlopers" would certainly have been a piece of insolence. I am sorry that the Bishop should have charged the "Friend" with it.

Upon the face of it, it must seem rather improbable, that if the "Friend" believed that the Board of Education built the new school on School street in order to prevent the Portuguese children from going to St. Louis College, it would have published such a fact, or even "insinuated" it, when such publication would make against our side. The "Friend" would assure the excellent Bishop, that it never conceived such a thing, and never heard of it before. We are not in the confidence of the Board of Education, but had heard from general report, that it was to be a free school, presumably to meet the special needs of Portuguese and other children, whose parents were unwilling or unable to pay. From their point of view, it may be the duty of the Bishop and his clergy, to frustrate those benevolent intentions. In doing so, it is to be hoped that they will not be led to impute any sectarian motive to the Board, unless they have good evidence of it.

As to the terms applied by the "Friend" to Roman Catholic doctrine, which the good Bishop thinks "bitter" and "abusive," your columns are probably not the place for a defense thereof involving so much theological discussion as would be necessary. The "Friend" is supposed to stand, however unworthily, as a representative of the various denominations of "Evangelical" Protestants living here in harmony and fellowship. It exercises the right of characterizing in what it considers fitting and measured terms, as occasion requires, any pernicious teachings or injurious attitude of other parties who are making war upon our position and our work, as it recently did in the case of the Seventh-day Adventists. It makes no apology for the use of such language, however painful to the other party. We regard the Roman Catholic faith as a very corrupt form of Christianity, and said so plainly. The Bishop returns the compliment by calling ours a "new religion," implying that it is not the old religion of Christ, not real Christianity at all. We do not feel seriously disturbed by that opinion of his, nor by the variety and severity of the epithets habitually applied to Protestants by Catholic writers, although we heartily wish that so excellent a man as the Bishop had less perverted ideas upon religion, as we see it. We do not at all resent his language as "uncharitable" or "discourteous." If the tremendous authority with which his church endows him here in Hawaii is from a divine source, he has the right to be far more severe than he is in his language. If on the other hand, that authority is based upon error, it is a fearful usurpation, and justifies Protestants in much severity of language in repelling it. In so serious a conflict to talk of "discreetness," when blows are given and received, seems hardly in place.

As to "charity," we try to discriminate between the piety and virtues of the man, and the errors of the system to which he is attached. We have at least enough of charity to feel very hopeful that the devout and benevolent Bishop and his priests will be full partakers of salvation, notwithstanding their errors of doctrine, however serious. Would that we could think that our charity was reciprocated.

As to "practical Christianity," we rejoice in any earnest and effective manifestations thereof by any class of Christians, and would be emulous of the same. The Roman Catholic Church has some lines of beneficence in which it is claimed to excel. It is not in place here to boast of what good works Protestant Christians have done and are doing, especially when we might have done so much better. May the good Lord help us all!

THE CATHOLICS AND THE SCHOOLS.

EDITOR BULLETIN.—My courteous opponent, a Protestant Layman, came near surprising me by his letter in last Tuesday's "Gazette." His feeble attempts at strength in argument and severity in expression were absolutely futile, inasmuch as he failed to point out any error in my arguments; he admits, at least, in an indirect manner, the equity of my claims. I know full well that my suggestions are no legal claims. But every unbiased mind must consider them equitable according to common-sense justice. As the Board of Education has a rather extended discretionary power, I rightly suppose that this power can be exercised for a good and just purpose without an extra law to that effect. Our Protestant Layman is against any concession made to Catholics—not by dint of good reasons, for such he cannot find, but on the rather vague plea that a concession, once granted, would be a foundation for new demands. In proof thereof he cites action of the Catholics in the United States and points generally to both ancient and modern history. I do not doubt the sincerity of the writer, nor do I deny the correctness of a few of the facts alleged. The statement of most of those facts, however, must appear inaccurate, as it is but too plain that the writer was misled by historians who, because of their deep prejudice, themselves viewed matters in a highly colored light. Perhaps nothing involves greater difficulty in controversy than a sound discussion of historical facts. For argument's sake, however, I will not contradict (transact) the opinion of my opponent that both Catholics and Protestants, when in majority, have oppressed the vanquished minority.

Confining our discussion to the actual state of affairs in these islands, let me ask the Protestant Layman: Would you approve of such a practice? The polished gentleman will doubtless reply, By no means would I approve of it. I am ashamed of my own party's having acted so. Now I ask, why do you advise your Protestant majority to deny the least concession to the poor Catholic minority? Would it not be more consistent with your liberal views of the Protestants of these islands, who are superior in number, who exercise all the Government power, and who are actually the treasurers of the country's wealth, treated the Catholic minority, of whom 9 out of 10 are poor, with equity and generosity thereby helping them to have their children educated according to the dictates of their own conscience, instead of exerting their influence in the direction of placing obstacles in their way?

The Protestant Layman says he cannot undertake to discuss the doctrinal points advanced by me in my second letter. He was never invited to do so, as a careful perusal of my letters will show. I have expressly excluded the discussion of the intrinsic merits of our respective creeds. In my second letter I meant only to set forth the difference of our respective doctrines regarding the necessary conditions for salvation, without attacking anybody's belief in particular. As the Protestant sects have each their legal right of acting and of educating their children according to the dictates of their conscience, I claim the same right for the Catholics. And as we do not impose our Catholic doctrine upon Protestant children without the consent of their parents, so we must be conscientiously concerned about having the Catholic children brought up in none other but the pure Catholic doctrine.

This we consider the most essential branch of education. I wish my Protestant friend clearly to understand that we have a perfect right to expect from the Government officials, notwithstanding their own personal preferences or antipathies, impartial justice towards all denominations. They have not, the right of declaring any one creed good enough for all. P. Layman's quarrel is not with the theology of the church, but with its "politics." The fact is that the Catholic faith and its moral principles have been the same at all times and in all places; but I have never heard of any politics peculiar to the Catholic Church. Theology teaches that there is but one true church of Christ, and that we ought to endeavor, for charity's sake, to bring all men to that One True Fold—only by strictly honest means. It teaches us to love even our enemies, be they personal, political, or religious. We consider it a very important duty for parents to have their children instructed also in the secular branches, though inferior to religion. The peculiar means (politics) to attain this end must be adapted to the different circumstances. Now, what are the Catholic politics about schools in these islands. They are a straightforward statement of grounded complaints of the Catholic portion of the community, and an earnest appeal for a remedy as far as circumstances will permit, with a sincere and impartial share in the good will of those in power. I do not deny that such has been and is still the case in a certain measure, and I would gladly have kept my peace if I had not been provoked by an attack which made it a duty for me to defend my flock. Let it be practically proved that a concession made to Catholics will endanger the peace of the country. Is not the Government strong enough to keep them in check? P. Layman's fear forcibly reminds me of the old fable. "The Wolf and Lamb." I close for the present in giving you, Mr. Editor, due thanks for the valuable space allotted to me. HERMAN, Nov. 9, 1888. Bishop of Olsa.

PUBLIC MEETING.

A large company of Americans and people of other nationalities assembled last night in the large store at the corner of Fort and Hotel streets, which is at present empty of goods, and which was kindly loaned by Mr. Graenhalgh. The object of the gathering was to hear speeches relative to the election of the President of the United States. Mr. W. W. Hall was voted to the chair, and presided ably and impartially.

Mr. C. F. Warley, from the U. S. S. Brooklyn, was the first speaker called upon. He announced himself as standing there to represent the party, which, in his opinion, is the best for the Government of America—the Democratic party. He proceeded to give reasons for the opinion which he entertained. His recital of the strong points of Grover Cleveland, and his laudation of Cleveland and Thurman were eloquent, while his denunciations of the other side were equally forcible. The speech was of considerable length, was listened to with close attention, and frequently drew out enthusiastic applause.

Mr. F. Turill followed and also made a powerful Democratic speech, strongly emphasizing the efforts of that side to bury "the bloody shirt." Mr. M. Lafferty, a Democrat, spoke on the Republican side, so as to equalize the talk a little and not have it all on one side. He was endorsed by hearty plaudits. Mr. R. Gerke in response to calls made a brief address. Mr. Lane, Mr. Thurston and others were repeatedly called for, but declined to respond.

The meeting appointed for today's election: Mr. W. W. Hall, judge; Mr. J. H. Fisher (American party), Mr. L. C. Ables (Republican), Mr. Lafferty and Mr. Lee (Democratic), inspectors; and Messrs. Egan, J. F. Smith, Turill, and Ordenstein, tellers. The meeting was extremely good-natured throughout, the representatives of each party receiving with equanimity the diatribes of the other.—Nov. 6.

LIQUOR SEIZED.

Yesterday afternoon Captain Larsen seized a case of beer from the steamer Mokoli, and the customs officers found ten cases of Chinese rice wine on the Likelike, all of which were not properly marked according to law. The last legislature passed a law that all shipments of liquor must be distinctly marked with the names of the shipper and consignee, the kind and quantity. These cases were not so marked hence the seizure. The liquor was in the Police Court this morning and according to the new law will be confiscated to the use of the Hawaiian Government. The shipper is also liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred dollars.—Nov. 6.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

The presidential election in this city up to the time of going to press has passed off in a very orderly manner. As might have been expected very little business has been transacted during the day. The main polling place was at W. H. Graenhalgh's store, Fort street, the front of which was decorated with the stars and stripes. The ballot box was stationed a few feet inside the store and was in charge of Mr. Graenhalgh's two clerks. The following tickets were in the field: Regular Democratic Ticket—For President, Grover Cleveland of New York; for Vice-President, Allan G. Thurman of Ohio. Regular Republican Ticket—For President, Benjamin Harrison of Indiana; for Vice-President, Levi P. Morton.

Straight American Ticket—For President, James Longdon Curtis; for Vice-President, P. D. Wigginton.

The polls opened at 6 o'clock and at noon 208 votes had been cast and at 2 o'clock this afternoon 310. The ballot was secret but to all appearances it looks as if there would be a majority for Cleveland. Alongside of the ballot box was a small box to receive contributions for the Library, and it got pretty well filled. The vote will be counted at 6 o'clock in the store corner of Hotel and Fort streets. During the evening there will be rally in the same store. At Hewett's store 250 votes had been cast up to 2 o'clock this afternoon. The store was decorated with American flags and there was considerable fun inside and out during the day. A majority for Cleveland was expected.

At district No. 3, on board the U. S. S. Alert, a vote was polled at 11 o'clock with the following result: Harrison and Morton 40, Cleveland and Thurman 29. Total votes cast 69. Republican majority, 11. The judges were A. M. Hopkins, John C. Brotherton, Thos. Hyland and John Lynch. Surgeon E. H. Green and Lieut. C. B. T. Moore certified that the returns were correct.

At district No. 2, on board the U. S. S. Brooklyn, Cleveland and Thurman were given a majority of 76.

As we go to press the election is still proceeding and the probability is that considerable more votes will be cast before 6 o'clock.—Nov. 6. The Inman line steamer City of Paris, a sister ship to the City of New York, and built by the Messrs. Thompson of Clyde Bank, was launched Oct. 23.

BOARD OF HEALTH NOTES.

Officer C. B. Reynolds of the Board of Health leaves this evening for the Leper Settlement, Molokai, to prepare "The Bishop Home for girls," for occupancy by the Sisters who leave here next week. It is probable that six Sisters will leave for Molokai. Mr. Reynolds returns here in about two weeks, and on the 1st of January 1889, assumes the position of Resident Superintendent at the leper settlement. C. H. Kingsley will probably fill Reynolds' position as officer of the Board of Health.—Nov. 6.

A QUESTION SOLVED.

The question was raised several times during the election yesterday, whether officers and sailors of warships could vote at the place they were stationed during election time, provided they were in American waters. It is learned from an authentic source that they could only vote at their place of residence. For instance, a sailor, a resident of New York, stationed on his ship at San Francisco, election day, could not vote at the latter place.

ACCIDENT TO MR. A. J. CAMPBELL.

Tuesday afternoon, between three and four o'clock, Mr. A. J. Campbell was making purchases in the store of E. O. Hall & Son, when he unfortunately fell through an open hatchway into the cellar. He was picked up and Dr. Robt. McKibbin was at once sent for, and after making him as comfortable as possible had him removed to his residence. Here he was attended by Dr. John Brodie, who found the collar bone broken. This morning Mr. Campbell's condition is comfortable, but it will be some time before he gets over the accident.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

A meeting of the Board of Education was held yesterday. Hon. C. R. Bishop, President in the chair. Through the courtesy of Hon. Jas. W. Smith Secretary, the following notes are given. The appointment of Norman Logan as principal of the English school at Napeopoo, South Kona, was confirmed. A set of rules were adopted regulating the care and cultivation of the two patches at Lahainalua Seminary. An assistant was appointed for the English school at Puna, Hawaii. This was formerly a private school and has recently been taken on by the Board.

The Board authorized the building of two common schoolhouses in the district of Puna, Hawaii, one at Kaka, the other at Malama. The tender of C. B. Hoffgard for the erection of a New Government schoolhouse 26x72 at Waimea, Kauai, for $1890 was accepted. A new schoolhouse, with two rooms and sliding doors, to accommodate 60 pupils was authorized to be built at Kaanapali, Lahaina, Maui.—Nov. 7.

MURDER.

A CHINAMAN KILLED BY A FELLOW COUNTRYMAN ON HAWAII.

The W. G. Hall, which arrived Tuesday afternoon, brought the news of a shocking murder which took place at Napeopoo, Kealakekua Bay, Hawaii, on last Saturday night. Two Chinamen lived together in a grass hut near Kaawaloa landing, one had been by the father-in-law of the alleged murderer. A Portuguese named Michado, lived in a house adjoining and his son and a native on last Saturday heard the two Chinese quarrelling in a very loud and violent manner. A moment after they noticed the grass house was on fire. They went to the spot quickly and found the house blazing furiously. One of the Chinamen was at a little distance from the house washing clothes in a bucket of water by the light of the fire. The other man, Ah Sang by name, was laid partly in the fire, dead and roasting away. The natives pulled the body out of the fire. The Chinaman who was washing was seized and securely bound and taken to Hookea by a native and then given into the charge of the Deputy Sheriff. Early Sunday morning the body of the Chinaman was further examined. It was badly charred and a gash was found on the neck and also a wound on the left side near the ribs evidently made with a knife. The bucket which the Chinaman was washing in was also found to be covered with blood stains. The Deputy Sheriff from Honokaa held an inquest on Sunday, at noon, when an examination of the body was made by the Government physician, who reported the legs burned off, the right arm nearly off, part of the left arm gone and the remains charred. He was unable to determine whether the man was dead before his body was roasted or not. The body was buried in the evening. As far as could be learned the victim was after the alleged murderer's wife, and this may have been the origin of the quarrel which terminated fatally.

Adolph Spreckels, speaking Oct. 23, of the charge made by the Boston Globe that he would support the sugar trust, denied the assertion in severe terms. Said he: "I have made no dicker with any one. We shall soon have our works in operation and propose to wage war to the knife on the trust."

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

The polls closed at Graenhalgh's store at 6 o'clock last evening and the counting was at once commenced. There were in all thirty-two challenges in this district, one because the would-be voter had a bet on the election. About 7 o'clock the result of the voting was announced by Mr. W. W. Hall as follows:—

HARRISON AND MORTON. District No. 1, City.....223 District No. 2, U. S. S. Brooklyn..... 96 District No. 3, U. S. S. Alert... 40 Total..... 359

CURTIS AND HIGGINSON. District No. 1..... 32 District No. 2..... 0 District No. 3..... 0 Total..... 32

[Signed] W. W. HALL, Judge of Election. J. H. FISHER, Inspectors. L. C. ABLES, Inspectors. B. ORDENSTEIN, Tellers. J. J. EGAN, Tellers.

There was considerable cheering when the result was announced. A call was made for speeches, when Eugene Lee, the Iron Works orator, mounted the rostrum, and had uttered the words "My friends," when he was interrupted with loud cries of "rats" and other unparliamentary expressions. It was too much for him and he got down disgusted, the lights going out at the same time. Reaching the sidewalk Eugene commenced again, and there was considerable banting between him and a petty officer from one of the warships which created intense amusement.

At Halstead's Mill, Waianae, Cleveland and Thurman received 7 out of 12 votes cast.

The following may be interesting showing how the different States were represented by votes at the polls at Graenhalgh's store:— Arkansas 1, California 157, Colorado 1, Connecticut 8, Delaware 1, Georgia 1, Illinois 17, Indiana 3, Iowa 3, Kansas 1, Kentucky 1, Maine 16, Maryland 3, Massachusetts 43, Michigan 4, Missouri 6, Nevada 3, New Hampshire 5, New Jersey 2, New York 70, Ohio 10, Oregon 3, Pennsylvania 23, Rhode Island 3, South Carolina 2, Vermont 2, Virginia 3, West Virginia 3, Wisconsin 2, Nebraska 1, Washington Territory 1.

The following States were not represented at the polls: Alabama, Florida, Louisiana, Minnesota, Mississippi, North Carolina, Tennessee and Texas.

A CHANCE TO COMPARE.

The result of the Presidential election in this city in 1884 was as follows: Blaine and Logan 424; Cleveland and Hendricks 115; Ben Butler 4; St. John 4; Lockwood 1; Toombs 1; Daniels 1. Total votes cast, 550.

A YOUNG HAWAIIAN'S ANTICS.

Two charges were entered against Thos. Nathaniel in the Police Court this morning, viz., carrying a deadly weapon and disorderly conduct. The young man who has been acting very strange of late, was round on the streets yesterday dressed in hunting costume, carrying a double barrel gun which was loaded. He also carried a belt filled with cartridges and in his hip pocket was a dead dove. After some talk between Judge Dayton and Nathaniel's counsel as to the best course to be pursued with regard to the future care of the young man, who evidently shows signs of not being in his right mind, the two cases were continued to Friday.—Nov. 8.

BRIDAL WREATHS.

A BRILLIANT WEDDING AT THE CENTRAL UNION CHURCH.

On Thursday evening at the Central Union Church, Mr. Edwin Austin Jones, son of Mr. P. C. Jones, of the house of Chas. Brewer & Co., was united in marriage to Miss Isabel M. Fuller, daughter of Captain Andrew Fuller, harbor master. The decorations at the church won general admiration. In front of the pulpit platform was a beautiful bank of evergreens and white flowers, while on the platform itself stood large pots of elegant ferns. On the pulpit desk was an immense bouquet of the choicest flowers. From the front of the organ to each side of the choir gallery was extended wreaths of smilax, and on the choir desks stood potted ferns. The whole effect was very unique.

Shortly before the time announced for the ceremony Mrs. A. F. Judd played appropriate selections on the organ with her wonted skill. Punctually at 7:30 o'clock the familiar strains of the Lohengrin Bridal March were heard from the organ announcing the arrival of the bridal party which entered the church in the following order: The ushers, Messrs. A. W. Carter, J. O. Carter, Jr., W. H. Levers and S. A. Monsarrat; Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Jones, Mr. E. Faxon Bishop, best man and Miss Clara Fuller, bridesmaid, the bridegroom and Mrs. A. Fuller, the bride and her father, Captain A. Fuller.

The church was well filled by a distinguished company of specially invited friends. After the bridal party had taken position in front of the pulpit platform the Rev. E. G. Beckwith, D. D., pastor of Central Union Church, commenced the ceremony, using the beautiful service of the Episcopal Church of America. The Rev. Doctor read it in a most impressive manner and the responses by the bride and groom were distinctly heard all over the church. At the close of the ceremony the bridal party left the church to the strains of the Mendelssohn Wedding March.

A reception was held later at the residence of the brides parents, Kuku street. As the newly married couple arrived at the house they were again greeted with the familiar strains of the Mendelssohn Wedding March from the Royal Hawaiian Band, which was stationed on the lawn in front of the house. The reception was held in the main-parlor. The house was most beautifully decorated with flowers, such as can only be found in a tropical climate, as well as with evergreens, and everywhere could be seen floral pieces and huge bouquets. The piano in the reception room was one bank of lovely flowers, and attracted much attention. The whole effect of the decorations was exceedingly pretty.

The bridal couple received in one corner of the room standing underneath an exquisite floral bell wrought of white Chrysanthemums and roses. The invited guests as they arrived were received in the most cordial manner by Capt. and Mrs. Fuller and then presented to the newly married couple by the ushers. On either side stood Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Jones and the bridesmaid and best man. For over two hours there was a continuous stream of invited guests, the house being taxed to its utmost capacity.

The bride was attired in a lovely costume of white faille Francais with train and the usual veil. The presents were displayed in a room to themselves and the writer is unable to describe the beautiful array. One might have gone through the room a dozen times and then not have seen one half of them. A more elegant display has seldom been seen in this city, and only goes to show the high esteem in which the young couple are held in this community. One present is a residence in Nuuanu Avenue handsomely furnished, the future home of the happy pair. They start out on life's journey in the most auspicious manner, and the BULLETIN joins in wishing them many years of happiness.

Refreshments in abundance were served during the evening and all present had a slice of the wedding cake, itself a work of art. The Royal Hawaiian Band played appropriate selections during the evening and it was after 10 o'clock when the last of the guests took their departure. The newly married couple are spending the honeymoon at the summer residence of Hon. S. M. Damon, Walkiki.

Among the invited guests were: His Majesty the King, attended by Mr. Jas. W. Robertson, Vice-Chamberlain, Hon. A. S. Cleghorn, His Honor the Chief Justice and Mrs. Judd, His Excellency the U. S. R. Sims, C. T. Wilder, G. K. Wilder, W. C. Wilder Jr., and others.

Shortly before the time announced for the ceremony Mrs. A. F. Judd played appropriate selections on the organ with her wonted skill. Punctually at 7:30 o'clock the familiar strains of the Lohengrin Bridal March were heard from the organ announcing the arrival of the bridal party which entered the church in the following order: The ushers, Messrs. A. W. Carter, J. O. Carter, Jr., W. H. Levers and S. A. Monsarrat; Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Jones, Mr. E. Faxon Bishop, best man and Miss Clara Fuller, bridesmaid, the bridegroom and Mrs. A. Fuller, the bride and her father, Captain A. Fuller.

The church was well filled by a distinguished company of specially invited friends. After the bridal party had taken position in front of the pulpit platform the Rev. E. G. Beckwith, D. D., pastor of Central Union Church, commenced the ceremony, using the beautiful service of the Episcopal Church of America. The Rev. Doctor read it in a most impressive manner and the responses by the bride and groom were distinctly heard all over the church. At the close of the ceremony the bridal party left the church to the strains of the Mendelssohn Wedding March.

A reception was held later at the residence of the brides parents, Kuku street. As the newly married couple arrived at the house they were again greeted with the familiar strains of the Mendelssohn Wedding March from the Royal Hawaiian Band, which was stationed on the lawn in front of the house. The reception was held in the main-parlor. The house was most beautifully decorated with flowers, such as can only be found in a tropical climate, as well as with evergreens, and everywhere could be seen floral pieces and huge bouquets. The piano in the reception room was one bank of lovely flowers, and attracted much attention. The whole effect of the decorations was exceedingly pretty.

The bridal couple received in one corner of the room standing underneath an exquisite floral bell wrought of white Chrysanthemums and roses. The invited guests as they arrived were received in the most cordial manner by Capt. and Mrs. Fuller and then presented to the newly married couple by the ushers. On either side stood Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Jones and the bridesmaid and best man. For over two hours there was a continuous stream of invited guests, the house being taxed to its utmost capacity.

HOW TO MEET EMERGENCIES.

There was a very good attendance of young men in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A. last evening to hear Dr. F. R. Day talk on "Emergencies and how to meet them." The audience included several medical men. The doctor by illustrations showed how to treat emergencies such as burns, hemorrhage, apparent drowning, suffocation, etc. His remarks were attentively listened to, and several questions were asked him by different persons in the audience.—Nov. 10.

A PAY BALL ON THE 16TH.

The 16th of this month is the King's birthday, and is a public holiday. Of late years it has been observed as the regular annual regatta day, but no preparation appears to have been made in that direction this year. The only events so far announced for the 16th are the shooting match at the H. R. A. range and the ball of Engine Co. No. 1, which latter event is to take place on the evening of that day, in the Armory of the Honolulu Rifles. Every preparation is being made to ensure popularity and success. The personnel of the several committees entrusted with the various duties appertaining to the ball are a strong guarantee of success as far as preparations and arrangements are concerned. The rest is entirely in the hands of the public, and can be supplemented by their attendance. To bring it within the reach of all, admission is placed at the unusually moderate figure of one dollar. Tickets may be procured at the bookstores, or of members of the committee.

A VALUABLE PROPERTY.

On the 26th of the present month, if not privately disposed of before that date, Mr. L. J. Levey will sell at auction, by order of Hon. H. A. Widemann, a valuable property at Waikiki. The property comprises about 2 1/2 acres of land in fee simple, of which about twelve acres are set out in fish ponds and eight acres planted with manila grass. The fish ponds are stocked with the varieties of fish known as mullet, carp, and awa. These are now ready for market. The grass land is very productive, and yields three crops per annum. Mowing machines, hay presses, wagons, and other utensils belonging to a well-appointed farm go with the land. There is a neat little nearly new cottage of three rooms and numerous out-buildings on the premises.

Along with the property above mentioned, and immediately joining it in the rear, is a leasehold of nearly two acres, with buildings thereon. It is well adapted for, and is at present stocked with, pigs and poultry. These, with the leasehold, will be included in the sale of the freehold property.

The location of the property adds to its value. It is by the side of the Waikiki road, between Sunny South and the Bath House. The tramway will pass within a few feet of it, and is now nearly completed so far.

Full particulars can be obtained by application to Mr. F. W. Macfarlane or to Mr. L. J. Levey.

THE WAY THEY MANAGE IT.

In the San Francisco Bulletin of Oct. 3rd, appears a letter written and sent from Honolulu, in regard to the extent of the conspiracy to force Chinamen into the United States. The letter reads as follows: "I would like to know how Chinese from here can enter San Francisco. I mean those who have never been in the United States before. Only this week I drew a check for $100 for my Chinese cook, and he informed me it was to send his young brother to San Francisco. I tried to argue the point with him, but he gave me to understand that I did not know anything about the matter, and that a Chinese firm in Honolulu guaranteed to put any Chinaman safely in San Francisco for $100, or money returned. He said that the merchant in Honolulu got $25, one in San Francisco $25, and a big lawyer in San Francisco $25, $22 50, goes to pay for exchange on the usual basis; and they are leaving here in large numbers. I know that my cook's brother only came from China three years ago, and first worked for me. He is only about eighteen years old now, and is a bad egg. I wish you could throw a little light on this subject for me, for it makes me feel like denying my country to have the English and German citizens of this country laughing at the way American law is carried out. It seems to me that the almighty dollar can catch those in high places as well as those in low."

A NEW ARTESIAN WELL.

Messrs. McCandless Brothers have just completed another artesian well for Judge McCully, on that gentleman's lands, at Pawaa. The well is 370 feet deep. In boring layers of black sand, clay, and coral were passed through. The lava rock, from which the water flows, was struck at a depth of 308 feet. The diameter of the pipe through which the water flows is 7 1/2 inches, and the flow above the pipe is 22 inches. The boring, from the commencement to the end, occupied four weeks. This is the third well that Judge McCully has in the same neighborhood.

WRIT OF MANDAMUS.

Decision by Mr. Justice Dole in the Keystone Saloon Matter.

On October 30th Messrs. William R. Chilton and Henry Bradley filed a petition for a writ of mandamus to compel the Minister of Interior to grant a license for the Keystone saloon. A writ was issued requiring the Minister to issue a license or show cause why he should not do so. To this the defendant demurred, and Mr. Justice Dole yesterday filed the following decision overruling the demurrer:

SUPREME COURT OF THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS—AT CHAMBERS—BEFORE MR. JUSTICE DOLE.

William R. Chilton and Henry Bradley vs. Lorrin A. Thurston, Minister of Interior. Petition for Mandamus.

Decision on Demurrer.

This is an application for a writ of mandamus to compel the Minister of Interior to issue to one of the plaintiffs a retail spirit license. An alternative writ was issued and the defendant has demurred to the petition, on the grounds that it does not allege that one thousand dollars had been paid, and an approved bond given to the minister as a condition precedent to the issue of a license under the statute. The petition however alleges that both the one thousand dollars license fee and a bond with surety to be approved by the minister, were tendered; I consider this to be sufficient; an officer under the circumstances, would not be likely to receive the fee or to consider the surety of the bond after he had decided to refuse the application. The second ground of the demurrer is, that under our statute, the granting of a retail spirit license is entirely within the discretion of the Minister of Interior, and the allegation of no legal reason for the issue of a mandamus in the premises. The petition alleges that the application for a license was refused "solely on the ground that the defendant has decided to issue no more such licenses in Honolulu." I find upon the examination of those cases which form precedents to the question raised by the second ground of the demurrer, that where a discretion is admitted in an officer authorized to grant similar licenses, it is nowhere allowed that he should exercise an arbitrary discretion or one founded upon caprice.

Reg. vs. Young et al. Burrows 556. Reg. vs. Sylvester 2 B. & S. 332. Reg. vs. Walsall 3 C. S. R. 100. Zanone vs. Mound City 103 Ill. 558.

It is admitted by the pleadings that the application is refused "solely on the ground that the defendant has decided to issue no more such licenses in Honolulu." I find in the late case of Sharpe vs. Wakefield, 21 Queen's Bench Div. L. R. 80, that the discretion was admitted, but Judge Wills in his concurring opinion excluded from the exercise of such discretion "a case in which the ground of refusal had absolutely nothing to do with the question in hand, as for instance, where the justices refused the license because the applicant had not taken out a spirit license. Reg. vs. Sylvester 2 B. & S. 322, or where they had laid down a general rule that they would grant no more licenses in the locality. Reg. vs. Walsall 3 C. L. R. 100. In such cases there is really no exercise of discretion at all, and it is very much as if the license had been refused because the applicant wore a blue coat or a white hat. These authorities, which appear to me to be based upon sound legal principles, are clearly opposed to the right of the Minister of Interior, even admitting his discretion, to limit the number of retail spirit licenses in Honolulu. That is a power which belongs to the Legislature only.

Having reached these conclusions, it is unnecessary for me at this stage of the proceedings, to decide, whether or not the wording of the Statute gives the minister a discretion in the granting of the license in question, for in either case I should regard the allegation of the petition as sufficient to make a prima facie case.

The demurrer is therefore overruled, and the defendant is allowed until Monday the 11th instant, at 10 o'clock a. m., to obey the alternative writ issued herein. A. S. Hartwell for plaintiffs; Attorney-General for respondent. SANFORD B. DOLE, Justice of the Supreme Court. November 8th, 1888.

THE BASEBALL TEAMS.

The Australian baseball teams have commenced their tour. On October 23d at Cedar Rapids, Iowa the game stood Chicago 6, All-Americans 5. October 24th, at Des Moines the All-Americans scored 3 to the Chicago 2. Both games were attended by large audiences and some good playing was witnessed. One week from to-day the teams will be leaving San Francisco for the Colonies via Honolulu.

JOHN F. SMITH'S DOG.

On the night of the 6th, after the Presidential election, John F. Smith was presented with a fine, large dog, by a friend. John prized the animal very highly, and the strength of his attachment by feeding the creature with choice food. John named his new dog "Cleveland," and the dog gave signs of being pleased. Whereupon the owner declared there was no doubt of "Cleveland" being a true born and thorough-going Democrat, after his master's own heart. The distinctive mark of the party, a red handkerchief, was placed around "Cleveland's" neck. John F. had great faith in his Democratic dog, and declared his ability to "lick" any two Republican dogs in the country. "Cleveland" was introduced to his new quarters, and seemed satisfied; but on the night of the 8th he deserted without warning, and has not been seen since. John F. now declares that "Cleveland" was a Republican all the time, passing under Democratic colors; for, says he, none but a Republican would have run off with another man's handkerchief.

THE BROOKLYN'S DEPARTURE.

The U. S. S. Brooklyn, Captain Wilson, left at 10 o'clock this morning for New York via Cape Horn. She was towed out of the harbor by the tug Eleu which had on board a number of ladies and gentlemen, and the members of the Royal Hawaiian Band. As the Brooklyn left her anchorage three rousing cheers were given by the sailors on board the U. S. S. Alert. It was responded to with three cheers from the Brooklyn men. Courtesies were exchanged between H. B. M. S. Cormorant and the Brooklyn. When the tug passed the King's boathouse the Hawaiian Band played Hawaii Pono, His Majesty witnessing the departure of the Brooklyn from the upper veranda of the boathouse. On passing the lighthouse the Brooklyn unfurled her home ward pennant to the breeze, and its band played, Home Sweet Home and Auld Lang Syne.

The Brooklyn expects to reach New York inside of six months, and will then be put out of commission. During her stay in this port about three weeks she has expended close on $35,000.—Nov. 10.

I OWE TEN DOLLARS TO O'GRADY.

I lost my situation twelve months ago to-day. Divil a stroke I've done, from then till now. They had me on half wages, I struck for better pay. They fired me out before I raised a row. A brand new suit I ordered, from a tailor on our block. I bought it on the new instalment plan I paid him just five dollars, that left me owing ten. Pat O'Grady was the little tailor man. I owe ten dollars to O'Grady you'd think he had a mortgage on my life. He calls to see me every morning, at night he sends his wife. He wanted me to pawn my girl's piano. I think O'Grady has a ter'ible gain. Unless he wants to wait I'll rub it off the slate. And divil a cent he'll ever get at all. A week ago last Sunday, I walked around the block. To get a pint of German Lager Beer O'Grady stood there drinking a glass of rye and rock. I thought at one't he acted rather queer. He said I was a blackguard, I said he was the same. He struck me and we rolled upon the floor. I whipped him in five-minutes O'Grady wasn't game. As he walked away I couldn't help but roar.

HAWAIIAN OPERA HOUSE.

ENTERTAINMENT IN AID OF ST. ANDREW'S CATHEDRAL FUND.

The amateur entertainment given in the Opera House on last Saturday night, in aid of the funds of St. Andrew's Cathedral, proved, as was expected, highly creditable to all concerned, and was positively satisfactory to its patrons, which comprised a full house.

An operetta by Offenbach, entitled, The Blind Beggars, preceded the principal piece of the evening. Mr. W. J. Harding and Lieutenant St. John, both of H. B. M. S. Cormorant, represented the blind beggars. The get-up was excellent, and their acting and singing creditable. This was simply a harbinger of the main feature of the entertainment, which consisted of selections from Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera Patience.

The principal parts in the opera were represented by Miss Rose Makee, Patience; Miss Rhodes, The Lady Angela; Miss Mist, The Lady Saphir; Miss Dora Dowsett, The Lady Elia; Lieutenant St. John, Archibald Grosvenor; Mr. F. M. Swamy, Colonel Calverly; Mr. Holdsworth, Major Murgatroyd; Mr. T. May, Lieutenant The Duke of Dunstable; Mr. T. R. Walker, Reginald Bunthorne. Others taking minor parts were: Miss E. Wodehouse, Miss E. Mist, Miss Barnard, Miss P. Judd, Miss Glade, Miss Clara Glade, Miss Atkinson, Miss May Atkinson, Miss Marie Von Holt, Miss N. Green, Miss Dudoit, Mr. W. H. Baird, Mr. Geo. Smithies, Mr. W. S. May, Mr. Carl Widemann, Mr. J. E. Brown, Mr. Wray Taylor, and two marines from H. B. M. S. Cormorant.

Upon the curtain rising 14 young ladies, arrayed in quaint and becoming costumes and reclining in graceful attitudes, sang with much effect the chorus "Twenty love-sick maidens we." The delightful assemblage of love-sick damsels was started by the entrance of Patience—Miss Rose Makee—a blithe and frolicsome dairy maid, who, after a short recitative, sang "I cannot tell what this love may be." Patience who both looked and acted her part to perfection, was becomingly dressed and carried a milk pail under her arm. Loud applause greeted the pretty dairy maid, who became a favorite from the beginning.

Following the disappearance of Patience and the love-sick maidens, a guard of dragoons marched twice around the stage, and, forming in line after a very military fashion, sang the chorus "The Soldiers of our Queen." The Colonel of the regiment—Mr. F. M. Swamy—sang in good style the amusing song "When I first put this uniform on," with chorus by the dragoons, and responded to an encore.

Reginald Bunthorne—Mr. T. R. Walker—sang the somewhat difficult part allotted to him, "If you're anxious for to shine," which brought down the house. The get-up of this character was unique, and the manner in which the part was rendered gave evidence of careful study, also of unusual ability in that particular line. Loud and deserved applause followed.

The duet between Patience and Angela—Miss Rhodes—"Long years ago," was a gem. Nothing short of an encore could pacify the delighted audience. The full soprano of Patience charmingly blended with the soft contralto of Angela, and the clever by-play of both in this duet, combining as it does pathetic music with an irresistibly comic side, had to be seen to be appreciated.

Archibald Grosvenor—Lieut. St. John—in his duet with Patience, "Prithee Pretty Maiden," was perfect in his get-up and part. His retiring dolefulness was superb. Patience, who at first lures him on to propose marriage and afterwards declines his advances, was as usual, piquant and pretty.

The first act concluded with the settable and chorus, "I hear the soft notes," which though in parts a little weak in bass voices, was beautifully sung. It was a toss-up between this and the duet, "Long years ago," which should be characterized as the "gem of the evening."

The entrance of Grosvenor, at the commencement of the second act, followed by the love-sick maidens, singing "Turn, Oh Turn," was very effective, and the appearance of the lucky young gentleman, seated on the stump of a tree and surrounded by a bevy of charming maidens, all consumed by a hopeless passion, which the haughty poet does not at all reciprocate, was a lackadaisical scene indeed. Grosvenor, still seated on the stump, to the maidens all prostrate around him, endeavored to expose the hopelessness of their love in an allegory, "The magnet and the churl," which was well sung. Patience's song which followed, "Love is a plaintive song," was rendered with much taste and feeling.

The quintette "If Saphir I choose to marry," was sung by Miss Rhodes, Miss Mist, Mr. Swamy, Mr. T. May, and Mr. Holdsworth, in good style. The dancing and clever by-play in this quintette elicited great applause. The two poets, Bunthorne and Grosvenor, then sang a rollicking duet, "When I go out of doors," in which all old aesthetic sentiment is dropped, followed by a song and chorus, "We're Swears and Swalls," by Grosvenor and the maidens who haven't quite recovered from the headache that seemed, at an earlier period, to be consuming them utterly.

The entertainment concluded with a quintette and chorus by the entire company, the leading performers in front, all with hands joined and dancing gracefully, with the warlike dragoons taking a respectful place in the rear.

During the evening the Swiftsure string band, under the leadership of its regular head, Mr. H. E. Losey, played several selections very acceptably. Mr. Losey also played a violin solo exquisitely. Professor Berger, with a detachment of the Hawaiian band, also furnished orchestral music of a superior order.

Professor Yarnley officiated efficiently as musical director, Mr. Myron Jones presiding at the piano. Capt. Nicholls of H. B. M. S. Cormorant played the piano for the Blind Beggars.

To Lieutenant E. R. Pears of the Cormorant, is primarily due the unqualified success of the entertainment. Under his direction and supervision the whole performance was prepared and placed before the public.

Among those present were Their Majesties the King and Queen, H. R. H. Princess Liluokalani, H. R. H. Princess Kaiulani, H. H. Prince Kawananakoa, Hon. J. O. Dominis, Hon. A. S. Cleghorn, Rear-Admiral Algernon C. F. Heneage, Flag Lieutenant Thomas N. Thyane and officers of H. B. M. S. Flagship Swiftsure, Capt. J. T. Nicholls and officers of H. B. M. S. Cormorant, Captain Graham and officers of the U. S. S. Alert, Major J. H. Wodehouse, H. B. M.'s Commissioner, and Mrs. Wodehouse; His Honor the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice and Mrs. McCully, Mr. Justice and Mrs. Dole, etc.

The net proceeds of the entertainment will probably exceed $300.

HAWAIIAN RIFLE ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Hawaiian Rifle Association was held Saturday evening at the Hawaiian Hotel. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Dr. John Brodie; Vice-President, C. W. Ashford; Secretary and Treasurer, Chas. H. Nicoll. Board of directors—Dr. Brodie, C. W. Ashford, C. H. Nicoll, G. E. Howe, F. Hustace, J. Good, Jr., J. W. Pratt, J. H. Fisher, J. Rothwell, and H. Focke. Range Committee—G. E. Howe, J. Rothwell and C. B. Wilson. Finance Committee—J. OIL MATTERS.

The law reads, that a storekeeper shall not keep at one time more than 1 case of naphtha, 1 case of benzol nor more than 10 cases of petroleum, kerosene oil, or an oil which the component part is petroleum, naphtha or spirits of turpentine. On Saturday Marshal Soper and Captain Hopkins visited a number of Chinese stores to see if there was any violation of this law. In one store they found 40 cases and in another 25. The cases above those allowed by law were all marked ready for shipment in each instance and were only on the premises awaiting to be taken to the steamers. Under these circumstances and as these were the first cases of this kind, there will probably be no prosecution. It should though, act as a warning.

HOW PILLS ARE MADE.

THE custom of taking medicine in the form of pills dates far back in history. The object is to enable us to swallow easily in a condensed form disagreeable and nauseous, but very useful, drugs. To what vast dimensions pill-taking has grown may be imagined when we say that in England alone about 2,000,000,000 (two thousand million) pills are consumed every year. In early days pills were made slowly by hand, as the demand was comparatively small. To-day they are produced by infinitely greater rapidity by machines especially contrived for the purpose, and with greater accuracy, too, in the proportions of the various ingredients employed.

No form of medication can be better than a pill, provided only it is intelligently prepared. But right here occurs the difficulty. Easy as it may seem to make a pill, or a million of them, there are really very few pills that can be honestly commended for popular use. Most of them either undershoot or overshoot the mark. As everybody takes pills of some kind, it may be well to mention what a good, safe, and reliable pill should be. Now, when one feels dull and sleepy, and has more or less pain in the head, sides, and back, he may be sure his bowels are constipated, and his liver sluggish. To remedy this unhappy state of things there is nothing like a good cathartic pill. It will act like a charm by stimulating the liver into doing its duty, and ridding the digestive organs of the accumulated poisonous matter.

But the good pill does not gripe and pain us, neither does it make us sick and miserable for a few hours or a whole day. It acts on the entire glandular system at the same time, else the after-effects of the pill will be worse than the disease itself. The gripping caused by most pills is the result of irritating drugs which they contain. Such pills are harmful, and should never be used. They sometimes even produce hemorrhoids. Without having any particular desire to praise one pill above another, we may, nevertheless, name Mother Seigel's Pills, manufactured by
