POLITICS STIR ON MAUI

THE TIMID CANDIDATE BEGINNING TO STROLL OUT WITH HIS LIGHTNING ROD—WHO'S WHO.

KAHULUI, Maui, May 26.—Politics on Maui are beginning to warm up, and as is well known Maui never takes a back seat in politics. The Republican rolls are open in all the precincts of the island, and the back-bone of the country are coming forward and announcing themselves. The Home Rule Democrats have their eyes open also and are watching their opponent closely. It is said that W. H. Cornell will be their nominee for senator, and that T. B. Lyons will be put up for Supervisor for Wailuku. The Republican nominee for Supervisor for Wailuku district has not been announced as yet, although their names are being put forth tentatively. T. M. Church will, without doubt, be again put up by the Republicans of Makawao district, and he surely deserves election for the good work he has done for the County. W. H. Henning will again be the Republican candidate for Lahaina no doubt, but who his opponent there will be has not been announced as yet. Nothing has been heard yet from Molokai and Hana, but the present supervisors from those localities are in line for renomination, and will have strong backing. All of the present County officers will be up again for renomination, with possibly one or two exceptions, but there are going to be other aspirants for several of the offices also.

Wail Of A Fan

I have sat upon the bleachers With the yelling hooting crowd In the grandstand I have nestled With the wealthy and the proud I have been in many places But the one that was immense Was down in Honolulu In the tree beyond the fence

There was a limb that I had climbed To, times enough to wear it slick I could see the pitcher working And the batters use the stick I could always see the runner Thought the crowd was big and dense

I could always tell the players From that tree beyond the fence.

It was there I always hurried Saturdays, and there I stayed, In my Algaroba grandstand Till the final out was made. It was there you'd find me clinging

With my features drawn and tense For I often grew excited In the tree beyond the fence.

I have tried the different places, Back of third I thought was great.

I've sat just back of first and now I sit behind the plate. But something there is lacking I know not how nor whence For games seemed more exciting From that tree beyond the fence.

The Bill Went to President

CONGRESS PASSES ACT GIVING INCREASED POWERS TO TERRITORIAL GOVERNMENT.

A private cable has been received from Washington announcing the final passage of the act to authorize the Territorial government of Hawaii to dispose of personal property transferred at the time of annexation to the federal government. The bill removes many difficulties which have embarrassed the local government in dealing with property of this sort. It passed the House on Thursday of this week and is now in the hands of the President, having passed the Senate some time ago.

There is a lot of property affected by the bill, much of it in the possession of the Public Works department. Under the letter of the law as it stood Superintendent Holloway was responsible for every mule, for example, turned over to him for use as property of the United States. The new law gives the Territory control and allows the Territory to sell such property if it chooses.

RACES TO BE HELD AT BISHOP'S WHARF

KAMEHAMEHA DAY COMMITTEE OBTAINED BISHOP'S WHARF FOR JUNE 11.

The plans for the coming celebration of Kamehameha Day, June 11, have been delayed on account of the committee being unable to obtain a wharf from which to carry on the aquatic sports. This morning the committee obtained the Bishop's wharf for the purpose and the plans will go forward rapidly.

For the day many races will be in order. These will consist of swimming races, boat races and diving contests of all sorts. Many of the island's swimmers and oarsmen are expected to enter. The plans of the committee will be completed within a few days as they intend to finish them as soon as possible. The program for the day will be drawn up soon.

Fear Being Sent to Siberia

THREE RUSSIANS ARRESTED HERE DREAD RETURN TO THEIR HOME GOVERNMENT.

The three Russians arrested as escapes from the transport Sherman were to have had hearings before United States Commissioner Mailing this morning on charges of unlawfully landing themselves on United States soil, but their cases were postponed to next week. They do not look much like anarchists, and in spite of reports that the Washington authorities took enough interest to see that they did not land from the transport at the other end.

The three prisoners are much afraid that they will be sent to Russian soil. They anxiously inquired this morning if there was any chance that the hearing of their cases would result in their being sent back to Russia, and this is all they are worrying about. They are escapes of some sort, it is believed, and may have a term in Siberia ahead of them if the Russian Government gets them.

ELKS MAY HAVE NEW LODGE ROOMS

C. M. COOKE'S BUILDING ON KING STREET TO BE USED AS A HOME FOR THE HERD.

The Elk lodge are to have new lodge rooms within the next three months if the present plans go through. They will be situated in C. M. Cooke's building over John Nott's store on King street. A new story is to be added to the building and the Elks will occupy two floors.

The first floor will be used for club rooms and will be partitioned off into billiard rooms, card rooms, and a reading room and library. A lunch room will be installed or a passage way cut into the Union Grill. On the top floor will be the lodge rooms. The Elks are very enthusiastic over the new plans for the situation is far more favorable one than the one they have on the corner of Beretania and Miller streets.

SQUATTERS OBJECT TO MOVING

THE LITTLE HAWAIIAN SETTLEMENT ON THE SHORE IN KUKULUAEO HAS NUMEROUS CHAMPIONS—THEY CLAIM THAT THE WARD FISHERY CANNOT BE USED ON ACCOUNT OF A BOARD OF HEALTH REGULATION.

The notice of eviction served on the Hawaiian squatters who are on government land in Kukuluaeo and who were protested against by Mrs. Ward on the ground that they injured her fishery right, has attracted a lot of attention. Some of it is political and the poor Hawaiians, most interested have more champions than they need. The opportunity to appear in the light of a champion for poor natives about to lose their homes was a good one in the eyes of more than one politician.

The land which the squatters occupy was recently bought by the government for $9,000, and is to be used as a road. It is between the property of Mrs. Ward and the seashore, and the county is expected to go ahead in the near

KUHIO TO BE HERE NEXT MONTH

WROTE TO FRIENDS THAT HE EXPECTED TO REACH HONOLULU BY JUNE 11—STRAIGHTENING OUT OF THE POLITICAL TANGLE OVER DELEGATESHIP EXPECTED TO FOLLOW HIS ARRIVAL—LANE CROWD MEET TOMORROW.

Delegate Kuhio will probably arrive here during June and then the politicians who are worrying over the plans for the next campaign will have a chance to straighten matters out. Kuhio has written to friends here that he hoped to get back by the first week in next month but it may be that he will not be able to leave in time to do so. He wrote that he hoped to be here by June 11. In any event the straightening out of the tangle over the delegateship will have to await his arrival for personal consultation with those concerned most.

Achi is said to have come out as a supporter of McCandless's, but Achi insists that he is not working at all. Achi and McCandless had a falling out in the Senate, but according to Lane men, they are together again now. Achi wants to be supervisor at large, and wants the help of McCandless's.

The arrival of Kuhio is expected to be followed by a conference with A. G. M. Robertson, the Republican chairman, which may have important results. Robertson is at present making no move of any sort and he declines to talk politics. There is, however, a general understanding that he was supposed to have Kuhio's support for delegate, and this is the matter to be straightened out by a personal discussion. The accusation of bad faith against Kuhio in running again, does not come from Robertson and the relations of the two are said to be quite friendly.

ROADS ON MAUI

KAHULUI, Maui, May 26.—The County road department is hard at work all over the island. Macadamizing is under way at Lahaina, Spreckelsville and Paia, and good work is now being done. At Lahaina the crusher is run by a gasoline engine, and is situated in the bed of an old stream. The road along the sea front of Lahaina is being macadamized, and about one-fourth of a mile is now finished. Near Camp 1, Puunene, or rather old Spreckelsville, about 100 yards has been completed and is a great improvement. Likewise at Paia a good start has been made and it means much for the island.

The other vessels now in port, are also to depart for that destination provided they are ever rid of their litigation.

SMOTHERED CRIES OF DYING WOMAN

CHICAGO RESIDENT TELLS HORRORS OF THE LAST HOURS OF DOWIEITE.

CHICAGO, May 16.—The horrors attending the death of Mrs. Ruth Cantel, wife of Overseer H. E. Cantel, at Zion City were revealed today by Mrs. R. V. Plummer of Chicago who was a guest at Zion hospice, in the next room where Mrs. Cantel screamed out her life.

Mrs. Plummer said today: "Mrs. Cantel, I believe, was smothered to death. During the last hours she was alive, when her shrieks terrified everybody, I stood at the door of her room, listening to every sound. I had a sentiment that things were not right. The elders who came and went evaded every question. They knew the woman was dying and that skillful treatment would have saved her life.

"As her shrieks became more agonizing I could hear distinctly that they were smothering her cries with pillows and bedclothes. There was only a thin partition between the room and the corridor and every sound could be heard distinctly. As the dying woman would cry, they would gradually smother the sound and the elders would pray louder. The smothering process was kept up to the last. To my dying day I shall never forget the pitiful cries of the dying creature. I was given the details of Mrs. Cantel's death the next day. They are too horrible and revolting to repeat."

Acting on this and other information, the Coroner will make a rigid investigation. The brothers of Mrs. Cantel, the Messrs. Stevens of California, have wired demanding the closest investigation of her death.

WORK OF JAPANESE EMIGRATION

withdrawn this bounty. The emigration companies, however, who are said to possess powerful political affiliations in their own country—or operating under the regular provisions of the Japanese laws—almost completely shut off emigration to Hawaii, so that only 367 Japanese entered the islands the following year. By this measure they are said to have forced the planters to subsidize them, though if the assertions of the opponents of the companies among the Japanese themselves are true this money is not really used to assist the laborers to reach Hawaii. Two agreements between the Planters' Association and the emigration companies are said to have been made since 1906, each covering a period of two years, the terms of which are not a matter of public knowledge. It is rumored that when the last agreement expired, in 1905, the Planters' Association refused to enter into a further compact with the companies. The representatives of the companies were reported to be in Honolulu in the spring of 1905, but to have been unsuccessful in what was termed "holding up the planters" for a further subsidy. If this change of policy on the part of the planters has taken place, reason for such action is to be found in the agitation against the companies and their methods which has recently started among the Japanese in Hawaii, and seconded to some extent by the press of Japan; and in the further fact that since the increased migration of Japanese laborers to California and other parts of the Pacific coast the planters have no hold upon the people whom the companies send to Hawaii. Naturally they have no interest in promoting emigration from Japan to California by way of Hawaii that justifies their spending money for such a purpose.

The laborers coming to Honolulu from Japan are not treated like free immigrants upon their arrival, but are carried directly from steamers to the various plantations to which they have been assigned. This custom, which appears to be a survival from the contract-labor days, has called forth protest from Japanese residents of Honolulu. In a sense, of course, it is a voluntary matter with the immigrants whether they go to the plantations or not, as no legal compulsion can be used to make them do so; but with ignorant laborers methods which are not strictly illegal may be, in effect, coercion.

The opposition to the emigration companies and their methods which has developed among the Hawaiian Japanese has led to the organization of a society known as the "Japanese Reform Association," which is conducting an active agitation with the object of influencing the Japanese Government so to amend the present laws as to allow free emigration to Hawaii. In this effort they have the support of a part of the press of their own country. Of course, the whole question of the organization and their manner of doing business in their own country is a purely domestic one with the Japanese people, and any reforms must come from the Japanese themselves. But the present effects of the operations of the companies and the probable results of a change from regulated to free emigration are a matter of some concern to Americans. Undoubtedly the companies are interested in promoting emigration to Hawaii, and as long as they are in existence there is no reason why they should not form some connection with large employing interests upon the mainland, similar to that said to have been in force between them and the Hawaiian Planters' Association, and thereby become a factor in increasing the movement of labor from Japan to California and other parts of the West. They make their money out of emigration, and it must follow that they will continue to use their influence to increase emigration to any place where laborers are assured of a wage that will enable them to repay their debts to the companies. On the other hand, the companies, by their charges and commissions, have increased the cost of immigration for the laborer, and it is possible that if they were out of the way free emigration might exceed the present regulated emigration. A considerable part of the present migration from Hawaii to California is voluntary and unassisted, except that the laborers go for the most part to practically assured positions. Japanese residents of Hawaii, who are advocating the abolition of the emigration companies, do not anticipate that such an action will seriously interfere with the movement of Japanese toward America.

So long as the planters subsidize the emigration companies they look upon the money thus paid as part of the labor cost of production. Considering the shifting character of the plantation population since penal contracts were abolished, and especially since the immigrants ceased to be preponderantly from the agricultural classes, the cost of importing labor is no small item of expense. If this money were added to wages instead of being paid out in the manner in which it was formerly, the increase might be sufficient not only to induce more active immigration from Japan, but also to check somewhat the present migration from Hawaii to California.

Field For The Seismograph

One of the lessons of the San Francisco earthquake which does not yet appear to have impressed itself very deeply upon the official mind is the necessity and desirability of thorough and well-organized research in the whole field of seismology.

The great Professor Milne, who may justly be regarded as the father of the modern science of seismology, the inventor of the instruments and the originator and author of the seismic survey of the world, which has been carried on at the stations established by himself, has been obliged to depend for the support of his researches upon a trifling allowance from the British Association for the Advancement of Science and upon the voluntary contributions which have come to him from private individuals.

In Japan, where, of course, the frequency and severity of earthquakes give the subject an immediate and practical importance which it has not heretofore possessed either in this country or in England, the services of the engineers and the architect, as well as of astronomers and physicists, are employed in the researches which the Imperial Government so generously supports.

San Francisco has learned many lessons by her late experience, and the buildings of the new city will show the evidence, but at what a cost of life and property! There is open and still uncovered a vast field for the students of pure science and for international co-operation along these lines, and the results would seem to repay a more generous attitude on the part of the Governments of the world.

The Wrong Kind Of Japanese

A suggestion which does not seem to have been made, publicly at least before, is contained in the report of the Commissioner of Labor, which, if true, is of the most vital importance to Hawaii and especially the plantation interests.

This suggestion is that the Japanese Emigration Companies, because of the political and other influence they have obtained in Japan, practically control the emigration from Japan and particularly the emigration from there here. Unable to secure subsidies from the planters, they must look to the emigrants themselves for their profits, and they are enabled to secure them from this source by their control over the issuance of passports.

On the subject of the methods used by the emigration companies to control emigration from Japan by control of the issuance of passports, members of the Japanese Reform Association have abundantly shown these in the past, both in the Japanese newspapers and in interviews and communications in The Star.

Dr. Victor S. Clark, who collected the material for the report of the Commissioner of Labor points out very forcibly the disastrous effect of this on the interests of Hawaii in the following:

If the present methods of the companies do, as is claimed, add to the necessary cost of reaching Hawaii, and therefore limit emigration to classes in Japan who are socially above farm laborers, this fact may help to explain the increasing difficulty of plantation administration. The early Japanese immigrants were almost exclusively from the peasant class. All applicants were rejected who had not performed full military service, all who belonged to the old military order, and fishermen.

A Sea Level Panama Canal

There seems every reason to believe now that the sea level type of canal will be adopted for the Panama Canal. The Senate Committee deadlock which lasted for a considerable time, has been broken, and the committee has made a report strongly recommending the sea level type.

The only arguments of any weight advanced for a lock type of canal, have been a less initial cost of construction and the possibility of constructing it in a shorter time. These advantages, it has been abundantly shown, are not strikingly great in any point of view, and are off-set by other advantages that entirely overshadow it.

WORK OF THE JAPANESE EMIGRATION COMPANIES

THE REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONER OF LABOR MADE TO CONGRESS ON LABOR IN HAWAII CONTAINS A VERY INTERESTING TREATMENT OF THE RELATIONS OF THE JAPANESE EMIGRATION COMPANIES TO THE SUBJECT.

The following from the report of the Commissioner of Labor to Congress on Labor in Hawaii, is interesting in connection with the active and bitter agitation of a few months ago among the Japanese against the Kei Hin Bank and the Emigration companies, leading to the organization of the Japanese Reform Association. It is found on page 152 and following of the report:

A word may be ventured with regard to the relations of the planters with the Japanese emigration companies. The legislation in Japan which preceded the organization of the companies had been in existence four years when annexation took place. During that interval the Hawaiian Planters' Association is said to have subsidized the companies as recruiting agencies, paying them a certain sum for each laborer arriving in Hawaii. At the time of annexation, fearing apparently that the provisions of the Federal immigration laws might be used against them, the planters are said to have

POLO PLAYED AT SUNNYSIDE FIELD—MASONIC TEMPLE AT KAHULULU

KAHULULU, Maui, May 25.—Mrs. R. W. Miller and Mrs. J. W. Wrenn of Kahululu with their families are spending a few weeks outing at the Puunene cottage in Makawao.

The walls of the new Masonic Temple at Kahululu are now up, and the building looms up over all the other buildings in the vicinity. Contractor Moody is rushing the work along, as results begin to show, and expects to have the building finished by the first of September.

A good game of polo was played at the Sunnyside field on Saturday afternoon last, several of the old players showing up for the first time this season. The line-up was: L. von Tempisky, captain; Charles Dole, D. C. Lindsay, B. V. Bazata and Mr. Clark, against F. G. Baldwin, captain; G. S. Aiken, James Reid and W. O. Aiken. F. F. Baldwin's team won out, scoring 7 to 2. Weather permitting there are games every Saturday p. m.

On last Saturday night a most enjoyable dancing party was given at the Puunene Club House by the boys of Puunene. Excellent refreshments were served and dancing was kept up till midnight. Trains were run for the convenience of guests.

Tomorrow night a surprise party gotten up by the Puunene boys will be given Mrs. James Scott of Kihel. Free trains will be run from all points on the road, and a most joyous occasion is anticipated.

ANOTHER LIBEL FILED

SAILORS OF THE WRECKED SCHOONER OLGA MAKE CLAIM FOR WAGES.

H. Warring and six others filed a libel this morning against the wreckage of the lost schooner Olga, which was wrecked on Kahoolawe May 14. The libellants were sailors aboard the vessel and claim altogether the sum of $412.05 as wages due them for services. Their libel filed by J. J. Dunne, their attorney, sets forth that the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company has brought to Honolulu a part of the wreckage, consisting of a donkey engine, six week's provisions, a ton of coal, etc. worth more than they claim, and they libel this together with other wreckage.

JAPANESE RELIEF WORK

PROMPT START MADE AFTER THE BIG DISASTER AT SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—Within two days after the fire and earthquake of April 18th, the Japanese of the city, then mostly refugees, got together at the Japanese Consulate and formed an organization for the relief of the distressed among them. A similar organization was formed in Oakland at approximately the same time, and the two were then combined, with Consul K. Uyeno as president.

A medical corps of some ten Japanese physicians was established and excellent work was accomplished at the several camps, which were equipped at Fort Mason, Lafayette Square and in the Japanese tea garden south of Golden Gate Park. The work of the organization embodied the arrangement of transportation for the refugees, general information regarding the location of the food stations and the necessary instructions regarding orders of the Mayor and Chief of Police were translated and generally circulated.

Prior to the calamity the Japanese population of San Francisco aggregated about 10,000, but has now dwindled down to between 2000 and 3000. About 2000 have since located in Oakland, 1500 in Los Angeles, and the remainder have scattered between Fresno, San Jose, Sacramento and other coast towns.

Aside from the Japanese Government donation of $25,000, which has not as yet arrived, some $12,000 has been re-

HOMESTEADS OPENED ON MAUI

THE OPENING HAS FEATURES SOMEWHAT LIKE THE END OF A ROUND-UP IN WYOMING.

KAHULULU, Maui, May 25.—On Monday last, the 21st inst., the Sub-Agent of Public Lands for this district, established his office at Keanae, Koolau, for the purpose of allowing the Hawaiians there to make applications for homesteads. The Government surveyor, S. M. Kanakanui, had cut up 47 lots at Waiau-nui, and 16 lots at Keanae, averaging from 2 to 3 acres each, and these were advertised as open for applicants duly qualified. Each lot included from 1/2 to 1 acre of taro land, and the conditions require the successful occupant to build a home and reside upon the lot taken, within two years, and to cultivate the taro land, his or her home to be maintained thereupon continuously thereafter. Of the 47 lots at Waiau-nui, 20 were applied for and of the 16 at Keanae, 14 were applied for. About half of the applicants were women, some married and some unmarried, many of the Hawaiians apparently thinking it safest to put their holding in their wife's name. It is very probable that many of the applicants do not realize, or have not taken the time to consider the conditions under which the land is to be awarded to them, but fully expect to lease out their taro land to the Chinese there for the planting of rice, and let their kula land lie idle, and when the first two years are up a great many of them will doubtless forfeit their lots. The Hawaiians there have been asking for homesteads for several years back and it is now up to them to make good.

The land opening was held at the Keanae post office, and by the time that the last applicant's papers had been filed, about 3 p. m., nearly half of the male populace of the place were more or less under the influence of liquor, mostly more, and the Sub-Agent made haste to get away. Going on that afternoon to Nahuku, he sat till midnight that night taking the testimony of about 12 occupants of homesteads there, who now wish to prove up and secure their 999 year leases, having resided upon their homesteads for the past six years. These 12 are less than half of the original homesteaders there, the others having forfeited their lots several years back, but these 12 have done good work and have thrifty little farms of eight acres each, and will doubtless secure their leases all right.

ON HALEAKALA

KAHULULU, Maui, May 25.—Plans for the repairs and additions to the mountain house at the summit of Haleakala are now ready, having been prepared by S. R. Dowdle of Makawao, and bids for the work will be advertised for within a week or so. The plans call for the repair of the old house, and the erection of stable for horses, and call for the work to be done in a most substantial manner. About $900 has already been raised for the work by subscription, but this may not be enough to complete the work. It is intended to go ahead with it anyway, and trust to being able to raise any balance needed later. The plans and specifications will be on file with Mr. W. O. Aiken and can be had from him either at Makawao or Kahululu.

NOT WASHED YET.

A West Philadelphia family was at supper one night, talking about the engagement of one of the daughters, whose wedding was soon to be. The negro servant, who acted as waitress, laundress and so forth, had just brought into the dining room the dessert, when one of the girls asked: "Virginia, have you seen Edith's fiancé?" "Laws! I don't know, honey," she replied; "hit ain't been in de wash yet."

SQUATTERS OBJECT TO MOVING

marketed, as the fish are caught at the sewer outlet. "The squatters are, simply a lot of poor Hawaiians who have no homes," said one of their advocates, "and they have erected rude shelters in which they sleep. As for fishing, they simply wade out in the shallow water and get such crabs and fish as they can for their own sustenance. They don't do anyone any harm and ought to be let alone."

The squatters have made quite an interesting little village or encampment, if not a very slight one, along the shore. Any sort of planking or canvas, or even paper, has been used to make shelters, and about seventeen families are occupying the ground. They live on fish and poi, catching the fish themselves often by night time. A formal notice of eviction has been served by the government on all of them, and this was the occasion of their call on Superintendent Holloway and Acting Governor Atkinson yesterday.

President Pinkham of the Board of Health said when asked regarding the board's regulation that it applied to the immediate vicinity of the sewer outlet. He did not know that it covered all the Ward fishery. "The Board will not allow the marketing of fish caught around the sewers," said Pinkham.

Superintendent Holloway said that there was good ground for the Hawaiians in Kalia, where the government had lands on which it had offered to allow the natives to settle if they wanted to. The Kukulua land they now occupy was to be used by the county for improvement as a road, he thought in the near future.

Senator Lane is said to have interested himself in the Hawaiians and to be working to secure for them the privilege of remaining where they are.

J. O. Lutted, who owns some beach land which is unoccupied, this morning called at the executive chambers to offer the use of his land for the squatters. He said that if they had to move he was willing to allow them to use his land.

KAHULULU HARBOR.

KAHULULU, Maui, May 25.—Kahululu harbor seems quite deserted today with only one vessel in port, the lone occupant being the lumber schooner F. M. Slade. The British ship Kinross sailed for Royal Roads, B. C., on Tuesday morning, the 22nd, and the schooner S. T. Alexander got away this morning for San Francisco with a full load of sugar. The Kinross sailed in ballast. The S. T. Alexander will return with another load of lumber as soon as possible, and will make several similar trips before the year is out.

Ruberoid on Floors

Ruberoid roofing makes a splendid floor covering for an office or workroom.

It is almost impossible to wear it out. It lays as smooth as linoleum and costs only one-fourth as much.

As a roofing it has no equal. It is absolutely waterproof, acid-proof and fire-resisting.

It will last longer than tin, iron or stoneware, and costs far less.

No skill required to lay it.

DIGNITY IN CONVOCAION.

EDITOR STAR:—As one of the ladies of the late convocation, of the P. E. Church in Hawaii, we would kindly beg to say, that we entirely concur with the apt remarks of the Hon. T. Clive Davies, on the evening of the 22nd inst.

Such a thing as the observance of too much dignity, by a parliamentary body, cannot truly be said; and, the strict rules of all ecclesiastical courts or meetings, should never fail to be in order ("point of order") and duly maintained.

Wherever there is a lack, or absence, of proper dignity, discourtesy and want of decorum, breed anon.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space,

ANNE M. PRESCOTT.

TOWN TALK

By The Man About Town.

I have noticed a lot of pictures showing the San Francisco survivors in the bread line. Why don't some one take a few pictures of San Franciscans on the water wagon. It will be a far more interesting picture in days to come after the city gets over its enforced spell of teetotalism.

Captain Drew of the bark Andrew Welch which arrived here last Monday morning from San Francisco, passed through all of the disaster. He tells a little incident that came under his notice, that is to me one of the most pathetic of the many I have heard of the great disaster.

"I was coming along California street said Captain Drew and I noticed an old colored woman sitting on the edge of the sidewalk in front of the ruins of an elegant mansion. She was seated on the little step that is raised out of the sidewalk to enable people to step into their carriages. I said 'Why Mammy what in the world are you doing here alone?' The fire had swept by devastating that locality, for it was the second day of the catastrophe. 'What I doin' here chile? Why I'm waitin' fo' de folks to kum home.'

"But Auntie I said 'They won't come back here. There is nothing for them to come to, the house and everything is all burned. You must go to some place.'

"Oh yea dey will. Dey dun tote me to come here and git supper ready fur dem and I got tur wait. They'll be long six o'clock sub."

The poor lady had gone insane over the shock of the disaster and there in front of what to her had been a comfortable home, was waiting for her employers to come back to dinner.

I see that the local naval paymaster may have to go to Mare Island to stand an examination for promotion to be full paymaster. From what I have observed of Honolulu there ought to be no necessity for anybody leaving here for such purpose.

Again, the mosquitoes are very troublesome in Honolulu. I am led to say this after a brief visit to Martin's the other day. There were a few of Martin's friends present and after roasting Governor "Jack" for allowing L. A. Thurston to bluff him in the "Korean hanging match;" abusing the Board of Health for creating alleged "scarees," the talk drifted around to mosquitoes. For a year and a half or more the town has not been bothered, to any great extent, with the nuisance. But the lively little birds are returning in great numbers. Seems to me that the man in charge of the campaign is not attending to his business and President Pinkham ought to "jack him up." Then the Promotion Committee ought to give the matter some attention; it will pay in the end for the greatest nuisance in Honolulu today is the mosquito pest.

Far be it from me to knock and so I have kept quiet during the past few weeks while Joe Cohen was busily engaged in closing up the work of taking the Hawaiian County band to the mainland. The matter had gone so far that it was almost impossible to turn back and call the thing off; but I believe that to abandon the trip would have been the wisest course. The tour of the Pacific coast will not be a great success, owing to the San Francisco disaster. The tour of the band in the east is a grave problem; the theaters will soon close and the public will seek amusement in the outdoor parks. These parks can hardly afford to employ a band with 55 people with expenses of over $400 a day. But Joe Cohen may pull out and I hope he does. The chances are against him; even Captain Berger was not enthusiastic as the sailing day drew near.

I hope the supervisors will never allow the band to leave Honolulu again on any such proposition. We need the music in this city and we will miss Captain Berger and his boys. Then I question the wisdom of allowing the band to be advertised as the "Royal Hawaiian Band;" as a matter of cold fact the organization is about as "royal" as one of Lyeurgus' two-bit lunch-eons. I do not think it fair to allow the band to sail under false colors; it is always well to be honest in band matters as well as in other lines of business.

CARTER RETURNS.

J. O. Carter returned from the coast yesterday on the S. S. Alameda. He is the representative of the Campbell estate and he went to San Jose to see how badly the St. James Hotel, a part of the estate, was injured. He stated that the main building was severely injured. He did not know how much the damage would amount to.

ness. I am surprised that the Promotion Committee should be an innocent party to the imposition; but evidently, they think it is a good thing and as it is none of my business I will drop the subject.

There is a story connected with Morgan's call upon A. Reuf and here it is. When Morgan arrived at the temporary headquarters of the man who is supposed to be the power behind Mayor Schmitz, there was a long line of people waiting to see the power. Reuf was very busy. Morgan didn't wait at the end of the line, but went straight to the door and presented himself to a burly Irishman on guard. He explained to the Irishman that he was from Honolulu, and represented the Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants' Association, the governor and everybody else, and wanted a word with Schmitz. The Irishman passed Morgan in with much deference and then assumed a thoughtful attitude. "Who does he riprint?" he finally inquired of Doyle, who stood by.

"The governor," began Doyle "the Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants' Association, the—" but here the big guard interrupted. "Well, he's no politician," he said. "Why?" "If he had been, an' riprintin' all that, he'd have brushed passed me without a word," said the wise guard, who knew his San Francisco. Doyle tells a story of a woman who was seen hurrying to safety during the big fire, with a big dishpan full of flatirons. She perspired under the heavy burden, but she stayed bravely with the job. "Is that all ye could save?" asked an unsympathetic fellow refugee. "Sure isn't it enough?" was the angry reply. "Whin it's all I can carry?"

There are some interesting stories told of some of the passengers and some of the incidents on the last voyage of the Korea from the Orient. Among the passengers was J. L. Harriman and his wife. Harriman is a nephew of the railroad magnate, E. H. Harriman, and is himself very wealthy. Harriman and his wife are returning from an extended trip in the Orient. It is said by people who met them at various places from Benares and Colombo, to Canton, Shanghai and Yokohama, that they were never seen to take a meal together. On the Korea they had seats together at the Captain's table, but they were never at table together. The wife took her meals at one hour and the husband at another. The wife spent most of her time on the main deck with one set of friends while the husband spent the most of his time on the upper deck with another set of friends. It became a joke among the passengers how they happened to take the same steamer. Acquaintances of the couple predict a divorce.

"I object," said Senator Achi, during the Kekauoha impeachment, "to the County Attorney whispering to the chair during this hearing. It is not fair to the defense."

The County Attorney sat silent; "I will tell you what the County Attorney whispered," said the chair. "He wanted to know how late the Board would sit this evening."

"What is to become of the stewbums and the stiffs?" said a sea captain who has just returned from the coast. "You know there were hundreds of them in San Francisco who lived on five cents a day or so. There were all sorts of broken down bums who subsisted on an odd beer and a plate of the free stew which the cheap saloons hand out. Then there were the beggars who got a bit more, but never had anything. Where ar they now? I think most of them must be in the Hearst relief camp. They are eating better food than they ever heard of before, and it was fun to see them reach for the good stuff. The camps can't be kept up forever, yet it will be a long time before there is any San Francisco big enough to support an army of these pensioners. Such hangers on can only live in a big city. The horrible suggestion of work must be entering the minds of some of the able bodied ones and some will drift to old peoples' homes. Times are hard for the stewbums."

MARRIED IN SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17—An informal, but pretty, wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson, when Miss Mary Edith Griswold was married to Colonel Edwin Emerson, Jr., the war correspondent. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Mr. Bakewell, the retired Episcopal minister of Oakland. In the presence of the immediate relatives and closest friends of the young couple, David Starr Jordan gave the bride away and her sister, Miss Ora Griswold, was her bridesmaid. I have seen some exquisite work lately that I think could be done quite easily. It is the shadow embroidery done with colored cotton. A handkerchief case made of Paris muslin, with a conventional design on it, worked in pink and pale green, would be charming. Line the case with white taffeta silk and finish it around the edge with Valenciennes lace, headed by a beading, through which a pink or green ribbon is run. This ribbon should be tied in loops at the corners. The shadow work is done on the wrong side of the material in close fagotting stitch and the stems and tendrils are worked in the outline stitch.

In choosing a stage name Julia Marlowe believed her family name to be impossible—it was Frost, and to this her mother prefixed Sarah—and she chose, after long deliberation, the name of several heroines of the classic drama and combined it with the surname of Christopher Marlowe. The result is euphonious and dignified. Some of the foremost players have perpetuated the name which had been identified with the stage by others of their family. Thus with Mrs. Fiske when she was Minnie Maddern, thus Ethel Barrymore, whose name is Blythe, and Maude Adams, who is Miss Kieckadde, Blanche Walsh stood valiantly by her family name, as did, I believe, Julia Arthur.

Maxine Elliott debated with herself lengthily whether to forsake the more commonplace Jessie McDermott, but selected one of the most individual and individually appropriate names on the American stage. Whatever the source, Virginia Harned has an excellent stage name, strong and lasting as a mountain pine.

Edwin Arden, whose family name was Hubert Pendleton Smith, arrived logically at the conclusion that led to the adoption of his professional name.

"I argued that Smith was a bad name for an actor unless he was a great one, and I had no hope of that, consumption. Besides there was an old and excellent theatrical family named Smith—the family of the late Mark Smith—and that might cause many complications should I use it. Besides I had read Oliver Wendell Holmes poem, 'The Boys' in which he regrets that 'fate tried to conceal some one by naming him Smith.' Therefore I chose two family names. I felt that I had a right to them. Arden was my mother's family maiden name and Edwin was my grandfather's. In time, with my father's consent, I had my name changed by law, and became in a legal as well as professional sense Edwin Arden."

Bianche Bates uses her family name. So, I think do Wilton Lackaye and Dustin Farnum. E. H. Sothern loses no prestige by adhering to the old name made illustrious by his father.

Eleanor Robson made no change in the family name bequeathed her by her father, although by reverting to the maternal side she might have borrowed and revived the famous one of her grandmother, Evelyn Cameron.

Sometimes a typesetter's blunders have determined the names of stage beginners. It was the story of May Robson's stage christening.

She had determined to use her own name in the profession. "Mary Robson" it should have appeared on the bill, "May Robson" was the typo's playful little variation. I felt like crying. I believe I did a little. Mrs. Courtaine was a member of the company. She dried my tears, figuratively speaking, by telling me to adopt the name.

and noise. The scene was certainly a terrifying one, and the badly frightened negro dropped upon his knees and gave utterance to a most fervent prayer.

"Oh, Lord," he exclaimed, "come down to us now. De worl' am comin' to an end. Come down Yo-sef, Lord, cus we needs Yo' bad. Don't send Ya' Son down, Lord, but cum Yo'self. Dis ain't no child's play."

Pongee and mohair will make the smart traveling gowns of the season, trimmed either with radium braid or folds of the material. It is a relief from the overelaboration of the winter to see so many of the best spring suits trimmed with these folds, which appear on jackets as well as on skirts and in a number of cases form the entire sleeves.

The following story of a young lady living in the country who came to London to be photographed is vouched for by a well-known London photographer. After some days the lady, Miss B., was informed the photograph was not a success, and another sitting was suggested.

This she agreed to, but again she was informed that the photograph was a failure. There was a third sitting. In two days' time she received an urgent letter from the photographer, asking her to come up to his studio and to bring a friend with her. Miss B. went, accompanied by her mother, and was shown the amazing results of the three sittings.

The pictures of the girl herself were quite good, but in each plate there was to be seen standing behind her the figure of a man holding a dagger in his uplifted hand. The features, though faint, were clearly discernable, and Miss B. recognized them as those of her fiancé, an officer in the Indian army. The effect of this experience was so great that after a few days she wrote out to India, breaking off the engagement.

It may interest Americans in general to know that Ena of Battenberg, who is soon to be a Queen of Spain, is a made-to-order princess and not really one of the blood royal, despite the title of the royal highness conferred on her by King Edward a few weeks ago. That was merely a little kindly attention in view of her coming alliance. But the Battenberg family is one of very recent origin. It comes from the Dukes of Hesse. The Grand Duke of Hesse had a son named Alexander, to whom the title of prince was given, according to customary German usage. This prince married Miss Pauline Hauke, daughter of the last Minister of War in Poland when Poland was a kingdom. It was quite a romantic match, the young prince, in fact, running away with Pauline. His father was furious for a time, but when he learned that his daughter-in-law had money, and that he would not have to support his son any more, he quickly calmed down and gave the youthful couple his blessing.

That was all he could do. Alexander would have had to drop his title or the marriage would not have been acknowledged in the Almanac de Gotha. It was declared a morganatic marriage, however. The bride had influential friends, and after she had borne some children the Emperor of Austria was asked to confer a title on her. The kindly old Emperor agreed and made her Princess of Battenberg. This was by common consent coupled, largely by courtesy, with the prefix of plain "highness."

All the Battenbergs are good looking men and women, the mixture of outside blood, Polish and English, probably assisting in giving the children of the house their robustness.

The future Queen of Spain, it will therefore be seen, cannot boast of being the daughter of a hundred kings, except, perhaps, on the mother's side. It shows that the world is getting very democratic when that proud little old fashioned country, Spain, welcomes as a Queen the descendant of a recent and pretty morganatic marriage.

When Poland was snatched by Russia thousands of Poles emigrated to the United States, and many members of the Hauke family are living there now. So that when Ena of Battenberg becomes Queen of Spain unusual interest will doubtless be taken in a score or more of localities in the United States, for her relatives, the Haukes, will have the right to personally congratulate their cousin.

The fund for Miss Ethel Bret Harte, only surviving daughter of the distinguished American writer, has been closed at $5,000. An annuity of $120 has been bought for her, and she has been started in business in a typewriting bureau at 23 York place, Baker street, London. The sum of $670 remaining from the fund has been placed to her credit in bank. Miss Harte went on the stage, but her health failed.

The committee which raised the fund included George Meredith, Sir George Newnes, Sir Francis Durand, Sir Gilbert Parker, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, Hall Caine, Clement Sorter, and Beerholm Tree.

EPIDEMIC ON MOLOKAI

DR. K. HOFMAN REPORTS ON THE EPIDEMIC OUTBREAK ON MOLOKAI.

EDITOR STAR: So much has been reported concerning epidemics in isolated districts, especially on the island of Molokai, the attached copy of a letter of Dr. K. Hofman shows clearly how disease is propagated where people are careless or indifferent.

The government stipend is so small the Board of Health has been unable to secure a physician to permanently locate there on Molokai. The County Government and ranch are offering additional inducements so one may be eventually secured.

Dr. Hofman went to look over the ground but a much more attractive position was offered him on Kauai. Possibly a publication of this letter might be of public service in making people more careful.

Yours very truly, L. E. PINKHAM, President, Board of Health, Waipahu, May 24th, 1906. Mr. L. E. Pinkham, President of the Board of Health.

Dear Sir: On your request I made an investigation yesterday at Waialua, Molokai of the recent epidemic of typhoid fever there. I learned, that altogether 8 people had been sick, 4 of them recovered, 3 men, 1 woman; 4 died, 2 young men and 2 school children.

The disease started among the laborers on the government road, but I was not able to find out how the infection had been introduced among them. None of them had been away from Molokai none had had any communication with Pelekune, where a local epidemic prevailed last year. No laborers had come from another island.

The three sick road laborers brought the infection to their homes. One died very quickly and at the funeral a luau was held at the same house. It seems that at this luau three more grown up people were infected. The mattresses of the dead men was thrown out into the sun and two boys, one of the same house, one from a mile away were playing on that mattress. Both took sick within the next week and both died.

The character of the disease was well defined by the other characteristics of typhoid fever so far I could get them described, but especially by the occurrences of hemorrhages from the bowels in three of the fatally ending cases and in one man who pulled through. There were no more sick people yesterday.

Dr. Goodhue from the Leper Settlement had been over three days before and had disinfected the houses and given instructions as to the use of water and disinfecting the dejections.

So I was able only to repeat and emphasize the same instructions. I left some medicines with simple written instructions with the school teacher in Waialua if a new case of this same character should turn up.

Yours respectfully, DR. K. HOFMAN.

FEDERAL PLANS FOR SETTLEMENT

Dr. Brinkerhoff, who will have charge of the Federal laboratory and hospital at the Leper Settlement, has received the tentative plans for the buildings at Kapaemahu.

Appraisals have been perfected by County Attorney Douthitt in the Schuman Carriage and Pacific Oil Company cases to test the right of the Board of Supervisors to appropriate money for Kapaemahu park.

Miss Ethelwyne Castle of Waialua, assisted by Mrs. Claire Williams, Mrs. B. S. Marx and Mrs. Philip Weaver, gave an all day sewing party and luncheon to sixteen of their friends on Wednesday. the Settlement. The plans arrived from Washington by the mail this week. They are the same plans that were prepared before his departure from Washington.

Since his residence in these islands which has included a number of visits to the site of the new government scientific station, Dr. Brinkerhoff has recommended that a number of changes be made in the original plans. These changes have been forwarded from time to time by mail, and do not appear in the plans that he received this week.

He is of the opinion, however, that the final plans are being prepared in Washington under the direction of the Supervising Architect. These are the plans that will be forwarded to him and upon which the bids for construction will be based. It is not thought likely that the authorities at Washington will forward any more plans for changes, as they have been acquainted by mail with the changes that Dr. Brinkerhoff considers necessary.

No official advices on this score have been received, however, by Dr. Brinkerhoff, and it is of course possible that the next set of plans may be sent for his revision before the final set be sent out.

SHORT SESSION IN POLICE COURT

In the case of eight natives charged with violating the fishing right of a hui at Kahana, nolle proseques were entered yesterday afternoon, as the prosecution decided that the merits of the case pertained more to a civil action than a criminal one.
