

PORTUGAL MAY LOSE MACAO CLAIM NORTH POLE COOK WAS INSANE

INVESTIGATING CHARGES AGAINST SCHOOL INSPECTOR KING

Some time ago several charges were laid against Supervising Principal C. E. King by Hilo papers. Among other things it was stated that King was interested in a large life insurance company, and was forcing the school teachers, through fear of losing their positions, to take out policies in the company that he represented; it was also stated that King was interested in the Building and Loan Association business with several other Hilo people. The complaint was made that King was spending too much of his time in Hilo, thus neglecting the duties that the government was employing him to carry out.

Immediately the Department of Public Instruction heard of the matter, Inspector T. H. Gibson was requested to look into the charges. His report has just been received by Superintendent Pope, and on the charge that King spent many days in Hilo, Gibson has to say: "In regard to the charges made against Mr. King, the Supervising Principal of West Hawaii, I have to report that several of the charges I had no means or right to investigate. As to the complaint that he had spent several days in Hilo, I found from records and from Mr. King himself, that he arrived in Hilo on his way home on October 12, and left for Kau on the 19th. He explains that he was obliged to return to Hilo from Oloa for his baggage, which had not been forwarded. Mr. King's reports from the various schools in his division show that he was in some school at least part of every school day during the term, except that period from October 11 to 20. That was the only time that he was in Hilo during the term, except when he passed through on his way from Oloa to Kohala."

The matters referred to by Inspector Gibson as not being within his province to investigate, relate to serious charges that are to be the subject of court proceedings. On the result of these, of course, will depend the retention or dismissal of King from his position.

MAINLAND TEACHERS SEEK JOBS HERE, IGNORANT OF SALARIES

School Inspector Gibson in the course of a report to Superintendent Pope mentions that the master of a school that he visited during his tour, was getting discouraged. Naturally this was reflected in his work, which was not fully up to the standard of which he was capable. The master in question was trying to live on $50 a month and keep a family of twelve. Inspector Gibson did not seem to think that his efforts were meeting with unqualified success, which was chiefly the cause of his discouragement.

By the latest mails, Superintendent Pope got a batch of applications from the mainland for positions in Hawaii schools as teachers. The number of applications received here would seem to be an excellent index of the good work that is being done by the Promotion Committee to advertise these islands, for almost every letter contains some reference to the splendid climate and conditions that prevail here, thus making the writers long to cast their lots in such pleasant places. One thing that seems to be overlooked by these applicants is that the salaries are small here compared to those ruling on the mainland.

HILO NOW CLAIMS FINEST OFFICES IN THE TERRITORY

(Special to The Star.)
HILO, November 28.—The reception given last Saturday by H. Hackfeld & Company, Ltd., to celebrate the completion of their new building in this city was a great success and from noon till 2 o'clock the throng of callers who came in to congratulate Manager Bartels was a steady stream. Every plantation manager from this side of the island was on hand and practically every prominent merchant of the city, all nationalities being represented.

The outside of the building was decorated with Japanese lanterns which were presented for the occasion by the Japanese employes of the company, and the interior was tastefully garbed in greens and flowers, this being in charge of Messrs. Hale and Hime, who did remarkably well. Manager Paul Bartels, with the members of his office staff received, and a delicious champagne lunch with various kinds of salads, sandwiches and other light refreshments was served. The lunch was in charge of John DeTor, of the Hilo hotel, while the wines were in care of R. A. Lucas and there was an abundance for all, and most excellent service.

SHOOTING AFFAIR DESCRIBED IN THE POLICE COURT

The preliminary examination into the charge of assault with intent to murder preferred against W. M. McQuaid in connection with the shooting of Volney C. Driver on Fort street on November 4th, was held in the police court this morning before District Magistrate Wm. B. Lymer, after which McQuaid was committed to the Circuit Court.

City and County Attorney J. W. Cathcart conducted the prosecution and Attorney E. A. Douthitt, together with Attorney W. L. Stanley, appeared for the defendant. McQuaid was provided with a seat near his counsel and was not called upon to plead to the charge, Douthitt pointing out that it was unnecessary to enter a plea.

The charge being read, Cathcart put Motorman Osman, of the Rapid Transit Company, on the stand. Osman saw the shooting from start to finish, arriving at the corner of Hotel and Fort street at 9:18 on the morning of the affray. He deposed that he stopped his car on the Ewa side of Fort street, having to wait there until the Nuuanu Valley car, then coming up Fort street, had passed by. He was standing near the controller of his car when the Nuuanu car stopped on the makai side of Hotel street, and while looking towards the Nuuanu car he saw a man running towards that car from the Ewa side of Fort street, followed by McQuaid. The first man, who was Volney C. Driver, was running towards the rear of the car, about level to the second last seat in the car. The conductor of the Nuuanu car was then talking to witness which accounted for him looking down Fort street. Almost immediately after he had first seen the two men, witness heard the report of a shot and he saw McQuaid with a gun in his hand. He saw McQuaid first fire shots at Driver in quick succession, the first shot being fired when Driver was running and the second, third, fourth and fifth when Driver was diving through the Nuuanu car. Before Driver had reached the other side of the car the firing had ceased.

Cathcart—"You saw defendant fire five shots?"
Witness—"Yes, I counted them."
Cathcart—"Can you say whether any took effect?"
Witness—"At the time of the first shot, if I am not mistaken, I saw a little dust rise from the coat of the man who was running." (Witness indicated with his left hand that the dust rose from the coat of the man running just above the hip on the left hand side.)
"On the second shot I saw some splinters fly from the side of the car and heard a crack like a bullet hitting the stanchion. It was the second post from the end of the car, there being one post opposite every seat in the car. The third shot took effect on the third seat, on part of the iron-

AMERICAN-HAWAIIAN STEAMSHIP COMPANY FACES OPPOSITION

The first move in an aggressive campaign against the American-Hawaiian line for control of business, passing from the Atlantic to the Pacific, was inaugurated here yesterday with the arrival of the steamship San Mateo, of the California-Atlantic Steamship Company, from Portland, Me., says the Philadelphia Public Ledger of recent date.

The establishment of this new trans-Isthmus line was first announced in the Public Ledger on October 4, when it was said that the service, while designated as a swing service of the Shippers' Clipper Line, was in reality a challenge to the American-Hawaiian line, which for years has

LANE CONTEST DEMURRER IS SUBMITTED

Chief Justice Hartwell yesterday afternoon, after hearing argument on the matter, ruled that the demurrer submitted by Attorney Thayer in the Lane and Fern contest then being heard before the Supreme Court should be admitted. Attorney Davis, who appeared for Lane, had contended that it should not. Argument was then begun on the demurrer. This was concluded this morning, when the matter was taken under advisement.

FELL TO DEATH IN HAMAKUA COAST GULCH

(Wireless to The Star.)
HILO, November 30.—William Donald, luna of the Laupahoehoe Sugar Company, while riding on the county road yesterday, fell with his horse from the road into the gulch below. His body was washed out to sea and has not been recovered.

KEEP FORT STREET OPEN.
The Merchants' Association is taking up the matter of the Fort street paving contract with a view to arranging to have the work done with as little interruption to traffic as possible. The work will be on during the holiday season, and it is desired to arrange so that traffic will not be stopped. The Down Town Improvement committee of the association will probably communicate with the supervisors on the subject.

PORTUGUESE ASIATIC COLONY IS IN REVOLT

(Associated Press Cable to The Star.)

MACAO, China, November 30.—The troops in the Portuguese garrison here and the crew of the gunboat Patria have revolted and are in control of this colony.

The outbreak was largely a religious one. The rebels drove the nuns from the convent here, and forced the Portuguese governor to grant their demands for expulsion of all members of the religious orders.

The governor was also forced to grant demands for increased pay of the men in the army and navy service in Macao.

The nuns who were driven from their convents have fled to Hong-kong. The rebels are in control of the situation.

THINK DR. COOK WAS CRAZED BY ARCTIC EXPOSURE

NEW YORK, November 30.—Dr. Frederick J. Cook's magazine, which has persisted in support of his claims to have reached the North Pole, has issued a statement admitting that it is uncertain whether Dr. Cook reached the pole or not. It suggests that Dr. Cook was possibly driven crazy by the hardship and exposure incident to his efforts to get to the pole, but emphatically denies that he is or was a faker. It claims that his accounts of reaching the pole were written in good faith.

GRAFT VERDICT AGAIN NULLIFIED

SAN FRANCISCO, November 30.—The Supreme Court has given a decision allowing Louis Glass, former president of the Pacific States Telephone Company, who was convicted and sentenced for bribing the Ruef board of supervisors, a new trial. Glass served a short time in jail, pending appeals, but has been out on bail for about two years. His conviction was the first obtained by F. J. Heuey, as prosecutor of the Ruef-Schmitz grafters.

WASHINGTON, November 30.—In response to the order from the President, department heads have cut their estimates for appropriations fourteen millions. President Taft has directed that they cut them still more.

MORE POPULATION FIGURES.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Complete figures for the population of the state of Tennessee were given out today, showing a total of 2,184,789, an increase of 8 per cent since the last census.

The state of Minnesota is shown in the new census to have a population of 2,975,078, an increase of eighteen and a half per cent.

Times of the tide are taken from the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey tables. The tides at Kahului and Hilo occur about one hour earlier than at Honolulu. Honolulu standard time is 10 hours 50 minutes slower than Greenwich time, being that of the meridian of 157 degrees 30 mins. The time whistle blows at 1:30 p.m., which is the same as Greenwich 0 hours 0 minutes. The sun and moon are for local time for the whole group.

STARVATION THREATENS CASTAWAYS.
CORDOVA, Alaska, Nov. 15.—Eighty-three persons, comprising the passengers and crew of the wrecked steamship Portland, which was beached in the mouth of Katalia river Saturday, are stranded on Katalia island. The storm which broke soon after the passengers were landed in the wrecked vessel is raging with increased fury, and all efforts to go the aid of the marooned passengers have proved unsuccessful.

There are few persons living on the island, and the food supply is small. It is feared that if the passengers and crew of the Portland are not taken off soon they will be forced to undergo great hardships owing to the failure of the food supply.

The steamship Alameda tried for 12 hours to enter the storm swept harbor, but was finally compelled to turn back and give up the attempt. The telephone line went down and the stranded passengers are entirely cut off from the outside world.

The government has been asked to send a revenue cutter to their relief.

"Could you suggest some suitable badge for our 'Don't Worry Club'?" asked the typewriter boarder.

"How would a pine knot do?" asked the Cheerful Idiot.

SAYS DEMOCRATS ARE HELPLESS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—There will be no tariff legislation in the coming congress, according to the prediction of Senator Eugene Hale of Maine, who has served in the senate longer than any other member of that body, and whose knowledge politically is regarded as deeper than that of any politician at the capital.

The veteran senator announced yesterday that he foresaw little that could be accomplished by the sixty-second congress, with the house in Democratic control and the senate and executive in Republican hands. He inclined to the belief that the Democrats, flushed with their unexpected overwhelming victory would attempt some radical Democratic measures, which would be blocked in the senate, producing a deadlock in which nothing would be done.

The senator was emphatic in his statements regarding the tariff, stating that that would be one thing above all others that could not be altered while the existing political conditions prevail.

"There will be no tariff legislation in the coming congress," he flatly declared.

ELLIOT RESENTS ANY STATE INTERFERENCE.

PORTLAND, Oregon, November 30.—President Elliot, of the Northern Pacific Railroad, at a banquet here last night delivered a speech denouncing legislative interference in the management of railroad enterprises. He declared that the average legislator knew nothing about railways and how they should be run, and should keep their hands off, leaving the control of roads and the manner of running them to those people who know how.

GOVERNORS' CONGRESS CALLED TO ORDER.

FRANKFORT, Kentucky, Nov. 30.—The congress of Governors, which has been called for the object of seeing what practical steps can be taken to secure a uniformity of laws throughout the various States of the Union, was called to order here yesterday by Governor Wilson of this State. The assembly is a remarkable one, the Governors of twenty-four States being present.

NO FRILLS FOR NEW CALIFORNIA GOVERNOR.

SACRAMENTO, November 30.—The arrangements that had been put under way for an inaugural ball in honor of Governor-elect Johnson have been canceled at the request of the soon-to-be Governor. Johnson thanked those who had prepared to arrange the event in his honor, but stated that he desired to take up the duties of his office without ceremony.

DEFENDING HIS LIFE-SAVER

Deputy District Attorney Rawlins appeared before Judge Cooper yesterday on behalf of Makale Kamaka, against whom there are two charges of murder in the first degree.

Rawlins asked that the cases be adjourned for a time in order that he might make arrangements to defend them. He pointed out that he owed a deep debt of gratitude to the defendant to whom he owed his life. He said that he felt, in the circumstances that it was his duty to do all he could to assist the defendant. He would not be drawing even a single nickel from defendant for anything that he might do for him, nor would it cost the government anything for witnesses nor for the defense of the defendant. He would like to assist the defendant as far as lay in his power, but if the court could not wait for him then he would have to ask that another attorney be appointed. If the court would grant him a little time he would arrange with Judge Robertson and District Attorney Breckons to have a vacation in order that he could devote his time to the case.

This recalls the incident, which at the time was of a very sensational order. Rawlins was coming from Hawaii when two prisoners began fighting. Rawlins stepped in between them to separate them, and one of them, a Porto Rican, who was handcuffed, dealt Rawlins a blow on the back of the head with his manacled hands. Makale Kamaka came to Rawlins' assistance, and Rawlins did not suffer any more injury. It is needless to remark that the attorney's football prowess stood him in good stead.

He has never forgotten Kamaka's help, and had always promised himself that he would do all he could to repay it. He considers the time has now come to show his gratitude.

CALIFORNIA'S GREAT PLANS FOR THE 1915 EXPOSITION

It's a great idea and it's being worked out with the same zip and go that these folks out West are in the habit of putting into all their projects. A wide-awake young merchant named Hale—R. B.—whose specialty is department stores, first thought of it way back in 1904, and he helped to organize a company. Its avowed object was to celebrate the completion of the Panama canal by some sort of a round up in San Francisco that should open about the time that the waves of the Pacific first mixed with those of the Atlantic. The best guess for this then was 1913—now it's 1915—although Colonel Goethals, who ought to know, said recently that chances are mighty good for about July, 1914. Double shifts, labor at night by electric light, and good managing promise to bring about this early result. At all events, San Francisco went on record then—in 1904—by the filing of solemn articles of incorporation, telling the world it recognized the bigness of the event and its especial importance to all ports of the Pacific. That was a good start, and things ran along amiably, awaiting the ditch-digging and the voluminous reports of many engineers, until along came San Francisco's solar plexus blow in April 1906. That shelved things for a time, but the idea kept alive, in spite of the dust and ashes, bricks and mortar, and the "re-iterative ring of the pneumatic tool"—which have been the material accompaniments of the city's reconstruction during the past four years. And now that the city is fully two-thirds rebuilt, with all the business section as spick and span as new drums in a toy shop—the last word in modern business architecture—so new and gay and bright as to be really painful to the artistic adorners of the tumble-down and historic—with hotels enough to accommodate an average New York crowd and theaters enough to make every body cheerful—now, the busy business minds have reverted to the Exposition project, and for six months past the ball of its progress has been steadily rolling.

In March last at a mass-meeting attended by ten thousand men who wrote checks and shouted at the same time, the sum of $4,089,000 was raised in about two hours. Since then subscriptions have piled up close to $7,000,000, with another half-million in sight—all for the big show project. Early in September, at a special session of the Legislature, action was taken authorizing an increase of state taxation for four years sufficient to raise $5,000,000, and also authorizing the city of San Francisco to issue bonds to the amount of $5,000,000. Both these money-raising movements will be voted on in November. There is little or no opposition, and the popular vote will undoubtedly endorse the action of the legislators. This means that California's delegation in Congress next December, in asking for government recognition of the Exposition project, will be able to say: "Here's a hustling coast state, backed by all the western states, that has raised a pot of $17,500,000, which it proposes to spend in helping the nation to celebrate a national project."

doesn't ask the nation to spend a cent, asks for no government appropriation—simply requests Uncle Sam to send out a hurry call to all nations, urging them to get ready to send fleets and delegations and commercial exhibits to the celebration at San Francisco in 1915.

That sort of presentation should appeal to Congress—should overcome the most hardhearted appropriations committee. There's no question but that it will, in spite of the loud-clamoring claims of an opposing city. The arguments are all in San Francisco's favor—cool, healthful summer climate, a harbor where fleets of all nations may maneuver, the wonderful attractions of California and all the West, hotel accommodations second among cities only to New York, opportunities for side-trips to Hawaii, Victoria and southeastern Alaska, the trip through the canal on the way to the Exposition from eastern ports and from Europe—all these would unite in making an exposition that should prove a world wonder.

And the plan outlined by these Exposition projectors is to make this event peculiar and distinctive—a $50,000,000 Exposition made up in such manner as to show the world what can be done upon the shores of the Pacific. For it is contended, and justly, too, that the completion of the Panama Canal is a Pacific ocean affair, distinctly and emphatically, since it unites the waters of the Pacific and the Atlantic and opens the commerce of the Pacific to all the world. Here, then, at the greatest port on the Pacific Coast, upon one of the world's best harbors—a landlocked bay one hundred miles long—it is proposed to gather a display of the products, resources and marvels of all the countries which border the Pacific. From Alaska will come gold, coal and seal-skins, walrus, ivory and reindeer; from Vancouver Island and British Columbia, gold and silver and copper, besides cereal products; from the South American countries bordering the Pacific, from the islands of the South Seas, from Australia, New Zealand, Borneo, Sumatra and from our own Philippines, will come displays of a character as instructive and interesting as they will be novel to the majority of visitors to the great exposition. And then California and the Pacific Coast states—oranges, olives, figs, fruits, tropical and semi-tropical; with displays of oil, gold and silver and hardwoods; displays, too, of the best in advanced farming and horticulture. At San Diego, where a supplemental exposition will be held, there will be special exhibits relating to arid America and the solving of its irrigation and reclamation problems.

WHAT DID THESE GAMBLERS WIN?

Ten Chinese who were charged with gambling on Monday and whose failure to appear in the police court led to District Magistrate Lymer ordering the forfeiture of their bail, were represented in court yesterday by Attorney A. S. Humphreys, who asked that the order for the forfeiture of bail be set aside. Judge Humphreys explained that the men were late in appearing in court owing to the street car being delayed and that he had been retained to make an application for the rescission of the order against them.

The ten men pleaded guilty to the charge of gambling and the magistrate imposed a fine of $6 and costs. How much the Chinese gained from their appeal against the forfeiture of the bail is a moot point.

In the first place, the fines amount to $70, costs in each case being $1; attorney's fee brings the total up to $95, leaving only $5 out of the $100 put up for bail, ten men at $10 each. For the return of this five dollars, which gives each man only fifty cents, the Chinese went to the trouble of engaging a lawyer, and having a conviction recorded against them. Had they allowed the matter to rest where it was Monday after bail had been forfeited they would have been fifty cents the poorer each, but no conviction would have been recorded against them. If they are again convicted of the offence of gambling this conviction will weigh against them.

AMERICAN-HAWAIIAN STEAMSHIP CO.

dominated the large freight movement from the East to the West by way of the Tehuantepec Railway.

The San Mateo will load a general cargo at Port Richmond, and, if sufficient freight is secured, will proceed direct for the Isthmus of Panama, where her freight will be transhipped over the Panama Railroad to the west side of the Isthmus, where it will be loaded on steamships direct for San Francisco.

Bates & Cheseborough, general agents of the line, have for years been keen competitors of the American-Hawaiian line, particularly on the west coast, where both companies have endeavored to secure control of the large volume of business flowing from San Francisco to Honolulu and Far East ports. The position taken by Bates & Cheseborough in the present move has been materially strengthened by an agreement with the Pacific Mail, which heretofore was a keen competitor. Under the new arrangement, the latter firm will act as agents of the Pacific Mail line on all eastern business, which will insure the handling of freight which heretofore was carried to the Pacific Coast in vessels of the American-Hawaiian line.

The particular interest attached to the present warfare for the possession of the business to the Pacific, so far as Philadelphia is concerned, lies in the fact that the American-Hawaiian Co., in order to safely guard its present business, may be compelled to give this port a freight service formerly denied to it. Under present arrangements, vessels of this line merely bring sugar here and carry all freight to New York, irrespective of the fact that hundreds of tons may be shipped to merchants in this city.

The advent of the swing service, to be inaugurated next Thursday with the sailing of the San Mateo, will relieve merchants of the necessity of patronizing the American-Hawaiian line, and will permit them to give business to a company that operates direct to and from this port to the Isthmus. On the outward runs the steamships of the California-Atlantic Company will go direct to the Isthmus, but on the return trip will stop at New Orleans and Charleston. This will insure paying cargoes both ways.

The time consumed under the new arrangement will be about 45 days from this port to San Francisco. The swing service will not interfere with regular sailings by the Shippers' Clipper line as freight that does not require express delivery will be sent in those boats direct to San Francisco. The new service to the Isthmus will be the first this port has enjoyed, and will materially increase business from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

DANIEL LOGAN EDITOR
 WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 30, 1910

MOST PROSPEROUS YEAR.

As the commercial record of Hawaii is unrolled month by month, the great prosperity of the present calendar years grows in bulk. Returns to the end of September have just been received from Washington. These show an aggregate commerce of this Territory for the nine months ending on that date of more than sixty-one million dollars. As compared with the corresponding figures of last year the exact showing is this:

Nine months 1910$61,076,925
 Nine months 1909 54,385,450

Nine months' increase$6,690,575
 The aggregate commerce for September was $7,034,199, being an increase of $535,710 over the corresponding month of last year.

Imports for the nine months of this year were $19,953,771, against $17,183,941 for the like period of last year, being an increase of $2,770,730.

September imports were $2,564,400, being $647,412 more than the previous September.

Exports were $41,122,254 for the nine months of this year, as compared with $37,202,409 for the corresponding period of 1909, the increase being $3,919,845.

September imports were $2,564,400, being $647,412 more than the and $4,469,799, a decrease of $111,702. There was a falling off, as compared with September last year, of $127,315 in shipments of domestic merchandise to the United States, but an increase of $4023 in foreign goods thence, and one of $11,590 in merchandise shipped to foreign countries.

Domestic merchandise imported from the United States for the nine months under review was $15,945,122, an increase of $2,276,097; and foreign merchandise from thence $3,810,938, an increase of $642,172.

Shipments of domestic merchandise from Hawaii to the United States were $40,766,413, a gain of $3,654,317 over the first nine months of 1909; and of foreign merchandise, $28,717, a decrease of $832. Of the domestic merchandise $40,115,369, an increase of $3,423,840, represented Hawaiian produce.

Hawaii shipped to foreign countries in the period under review merchandise amounting to $327,124, against $60,764 for the same part of 1909, being a handsome increase of $266,360.

Imports from foreign countries to Hawaii for the first nine months of this year were $3,810,938, being $642,172 more than for the corresponding period last year.

Sugar, our chief staple, not for the first time shows a reduced export in quantity with an increased amount in value. Shipments of this article to the mainland for the nine months ending September 30, 1910, amounted to 965,806,606 pounds, and were valued at $37,851,311. For the same period of 1909 the quantity was 978,879,613, and the value $35,108,273. Thus for 13,073,907 pounds less the value was $2,743,038 more.

Raw sugar shipments were 938,575,806 pounds and their value $36,338,025 in 1910, against 949,013,413 pounds and $33,531,385 value in 1909.

Refined sugar shipments the nine months of this year were 27,230,800 pounds and their value $1,513,286 against 29,866,200 pounds and $1,576,888 value for the same period of last year.

Fruits and nuts show a goodly increase, the growing pineapple trade being chiefly the cause. The value of these articles shipped to the United States in 1910 to September 30 was $1,377,438, being an increase of $418,027 over the corresponding period of last year.

Honey shipments to the mainland this year's period in question amounted to $30,535, an increase of $7854.

Coffee shipments to the states for the nine months were 1,508,743 pounds, an increase of 465,264 pounds; and their value of $182,505 is a gain of $55,619 over the same period of last year.

As pineapples, coffee and honey form part of the increasing exports to foreign countries, the items of which are not specified in the returns under hand, the foregoing figures do not cover all of the exports of those articles.

An exchange says the domestic pistol has killed many more innocent people than lawbreakers. "The household pistol is about as badly needed, in point of fact, as a front-yard cannon, and it is much more of a menace. Probably not more than one out of a dozen of the owners of such guns know how to handle them safely, and a smaller number can fire them effectively." Just as much could be said against the pistol in pocket. Only those who have to travel in lonely ways, where there is danger of molestation, have cause to carry a gun. And then if the innocent carrier is not expert with it, his defensive weapon is apt to enhance his danger. The villain will likely be first in getting the drop if things come to gun play.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. WILLIAMS

HILO, November 28.—Mrs. George H. Williams, the wife of Territorial Land Agent Williams, of this city, died here Sunday night at 11:45, after an illness of only a few days. Acute dysentery is given as the cause of death. Mrs. Williams was about fifty years of age and born on Maui, though her younger days were passed in the Kohala district of this island, where she met and was married to Mr. Williams a little over thirty years ago. Miss Amy Williams, of this city, is the only living child of the couple. Mrs. Williams was taken ill some few days ago, while her husband was in Kohala, attending to certain land matters with Governor Frear and Superintendent of Public Works Marston Campbell. At first the illness seemed slight, but last Friday an urgent message brought Mr. Williams back to this city hurriedly. Mrs. Williams became weaker and was removed to the Hilo hospital yesterday, but the greatest possible care failed to prolong her life, the end coming just before midnight. The funeral will be held this afternoon at three o'clock from the Hall church.

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

Some bards their harpstrings deftly strike, and sing of roses and the like; of coral isles and starlit seas and birds whose plumage gilds the breeze, but when I sing at close of day, my song is A BALE OF HAY OF HAY across the years on dreamy track to sunny fields where strong men wrought—the fields that idlers never sought. With wringing raiment on their backs they shaped their windrows and their stacks; I see and hear it all again, the cheery voices of the men, the thirsty with upturned jugs, the horses straining in their tugs, the mower's clanking, rancous roar, the glad march home when day was o'er. And when the hay was cured and bright, and aptly named the mule's delight, they fed it to the press and made the bale for which my harp is played. Each handful of this fragrant hay suggests a long, long summer day of honest, wise productive toil, of wrestling with the parent soil. No dreamers made this wire bulky bale; no trifling men or poets pale; no loafers placed the wire around, no lily fingers raked the ground, but men of might were there that day, and wrought to build that bale of hay. And so with lilting roundelay do I embalm the bale of hay.

STOLE FUNDS OF ORIENTAL SOCIAL CLUB
 Embezzlement of the funds of the Oriental Social Club of San Francisco is the charge against Jau Yuen Mow the Chinese who was arrested here on cabled requests from San Francisco and whose habeas corpus cases have been keeping the courts busy for some days. He is alleged to have absconded on October 22, with $6,779 of the club's money. The woman who came with Jau is also accused of having stolen money. She was engaged to him and it is charged that she stole $200 in coin and a lot of jewelry from a Chinese merchant on Washington street, San Francisco. There was another stage of the Jau Yuen-mow case in the Supreme Court this morning, when Attorney McBride appeared before Chief Justice Hartwell and Justices De Bolt and Ferry and asked that his client's appeal be advanced on the calendar, and that an order be made releasing the petitioner from custody. Jau Yuen-mow, it will be recalled, is being held on account of alleged embezzlement in San Francisco, and officer Condon is now in town awaiting the conclusion of the necessary proceedings. The Court advanced the date of hearing to Monday next, but did not make any order concerning the custody of the petitioner.

SCHOOLS NEED MORE BUILDINGS

The school system of Hawaii is expanding at a great rate, and this necessitates each year additions to the buildings already erected, owing to their being inadequate to hold the children enrolled. Superintendent Pope has been busily engaged for some time past preparing a list of the buildings that will require additions being made to them in order that accommodations can be found for the scholars. The list of new buildings to be asked for, and additions required to those already standing, is a formidable one, and it may be considered necessary to ask for even more money than that now planned. When the Legislature meets in February it will be asked to vote a fairly large sum to carry out the work that the department has in view—work, it is stated, that is highly necessary for the safe and healthy conduct of the schools.

DO YOU SPRAY?

And are you anxious to get rid of the many pests that ruin your plants and trees? If you want to get rid of the pests you will be interested in "BLACK LEAF 40" and the following expert testimony: From O. E. Bremner, Secretary California State Commission of Horticulture:

I am convinced in my own mind that "Black Leaf 40" will prove a great success on young leucanias and other soft bodied scale insects, also white fly larvae (A. citri), when used in combination with a small amount of oil emulsion or soap.

I have seen its efficiency thoroughly tested on thrips and have used the same combination, "Black Leaf 40" and 2 per cent. oil emulsion, on red spider with remarkable success.

I have also used "Black Leaf 40" in combination with Arsenate of lead for calyx spraying of apples and not only prevented the attack of codling moth, but completely controlled the curl leaf aphid, which has been such a destructive pest for the past few years.

I also am convinced that the coating of the seed of the cucurbitace family (cucumbers, squash, etc.) or any other seed attacked by wire worms with the ordinary "Black Leaf" will prove the most effective remedy yet tried for these troublesome pests.

One 10 1-2 lb. can of Black Leaf 40 will make up 1,000 gallons of the spraying fluid you need. We have it put up in small bottles for the convenience of those who only need a little to spray a few choice plants. Ask the Hawaiian Experimental Station experts what they think about Black Leaf 40. REPORTS OF DUN AND BRADSTREET

Under date of November 20, Bradstreet (New York) published the following in regard to the business situation:

Favorable central features in this week's trade report comprises better distribution at retail, due to cool weather; somewhat larger filling in orders; the realization of cheaper meat supplies at least as regards wholesale prices; firmer feeling in pig iron and increased business in holiday goods. Groceries, seasonable lines of hardware and winter wearing apparel show most activity. However, there is considerable room for improvement in retail distribution. There is more doing on spring account.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending November 17 were 248 against 207 last week, 232 in the like week of 1909; 273 in 1908; 265 in 1907 and 212 in 1906.

Business failures in Canada for the week number 16, against 31 last week and 25 in the like week of 1909.

Wheat (including flour) exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending November 17 aggregates 3,729,493 bushels, against 3,092,343 last week, and 5,125,598 this week last year.

Corn exports for the week are 392,782 bushels, against 353,680 bushels last week and 140,407 bushels in 1909.

On the same day R. G. Dun and Company (also New York) published the following:

The volume of transactions is still below high water mark, but a fair degree of activity exists throughout the country, and this is reflected in the reports from the principal industries and the leading cities.

Definite signs of improvement appear in iron and steel, although business from the railroads has not developed as quickly as usual at this season of the year. Further rail purchases, involving a substantial tonnage, have been made for 1911 delivery, however, and other announcements are expected. Better reports are received from leading pig iron centers. Production of winter goods this year is expected to equal previous records.

Progress is noted in special lines of cotton goods offered for spring, and two or three instances are cited of full offerings being sold up and withdrawn. On the other hand the demand for print cloths and convertibles has fallen off. Export trade is quiet, although some inquiries are made from China. In men's wear there is an active demand for overcoatings for immediate delivery.

Underwear and hosiery lines are in moderately better request. A slightly improving demand is noted in yarns. Advances are announced on silk ribbons and silk piece goods for future delivery.

New business in footwear is limited. Sole leather sells in a steady wear for small quantities.

STOCKS BORDER ON A WEAK SPELL

Although there was considerable trading between boards and on 'change this morning, prices ruled slightly lower toward the last and the indications are of further weakness. There is, however, not a large amount of stock out, and it is hard to forecast conditions as they may appear in the next few days.

Between boards 200, 30, 40, 50, and 80 Hawaiian Commercial sold at $32.50, after which there was a sale of 5 shares at $32.375. At the close the latter figure was still bid, $32.50 being asked.

Oahu proved the exception to the rule and appeared to be stronger. Yesterday's closing figures were $25.25 bid and $26 asked. Between boards there was a sale of 10 shares at $26.25, after which $26.25 was still bid and $26.625 asked.

Sales of 10 and 10 Ewa were made at $27.50, after which $27.375 was bid and $27.50 asked.

Olaa was in demand, 25 and 15 shares selling at $4, after which $4.125 was bid and $4.25 asked.

Also on the street 15 and 5 Oahu R. & L. sold at $125, after which the same was bid for more, but none came out.

Bond sales of interest were $2003 Hilo R. R. sixes at $100, and $1000 Olaa sixes at $92.50.

Interesting quotations without sales were: McBryde, $4.25 bid and $4.50 asked; Pioneer, $170 bid and $177 asked; Waiialua, $93 bid and $96 asked.

Dividends today. The following dividends were paid out today: Brewer & Company, $2 a share, or $44,000; Ewa, 20 cents a share, or $50,000; Waimanalo, $2.50 a share, or $6,300; Hawaiian Electric, 50 cents a share, or $3,750; Olowalu, 2 a share, or $6,000; Brewery, 15 cents a share, or $3,000; I. I. S. N. Co., 65 cents a share, or $14,625; Kahuku, 10 cents a share, or $5,000; Pine apple, 20 cents a share, or $5,000.

Wahilani, an Hawaiian, was fined $5 and costs for being drunk this morning, by Judge Lymer, but after the case was disposed of it was brought to the notice of the magistrate that Wahilani had been convicted twelve times for a like offence. As Wahilani had declared that he had only been convicted twice, the last time over three years ago, Judge Lymer set aside the sentence of a fine and sent Wahilani to jail for sixty days.

Meyers in town. Zeno K. Myers, manager of the Hilo Trust Company, and Mrs. Myers arrived in the city per Claudine this morning. Mrs. Myers will remain here for a time, but Mr. Myers will return home by the Mauna Kea, sailing next Tuesday.

Salinas, Nov. 19.—The sugar beet area of this section probably will be increased from 20,000 to 25,000 acres next season because of the success that has attended the industry this year. It is estimated that the beets from the 20,000 cultivated this year gave an average of 18 per cent sugar. The season is one of the most successful in the history of beet growing in this district.

From the jungle. Ferocious wild beasts direct from the work-shops of Germany's best Toy-makers. Dolls for the girls. Express wagons, Horses and Carts, Mechanical Toys. Everything for the boy and girl. All new. A. B. Arleigh & Co. Ltd., Hotel near Fort.

SATO DISCHARGED. Before lunch today E. C. Peters submitted a motion to Judge Robertson in the Federal Court that the jury be directed to enter a verdict of not guilty against Suseyuki Sato, who was charged with having forged a signature to a money order. A long discussion took place, and when the court reassembled at about a quarter past two this afternoon, his Honor announced that he had resolved to grant the motion. The jury accordingly returned a verdict of not guilty.

HUMAHUMA OIL STARTS BIG WORK

The following interesting announcement arrived in yesterday's mail from California, relating to the oil company recently started by Harry Armistage and others:

McKITTRICK, Nov. 9.—The Humahuma Oil Co., a Honolulu, Hawaii, corporation, operating on the Carissa plains, spudded in this week. Operations were begun with a 20 inch stove-pipe, the biggest hole with few exceptions ever attempted in California.

Frank Payne is the vice-president and promoter of the corporation and in immediate charge of operations, through Superintendent Pollard of the Honolulu Consolidated will look after the company's affairs beginning next week.

Hawaiian Capital. This company was financed exclusively by Hawaiian capital. Mr. Payne and his associates appreciate they are operating in a country yet unimproved, but they have every confidence that a new field of high gravity oil will be opened up. The Humahuma is a $1,000,000 corporation. Its shares having been sold originally at fifty cents.

Judging from the elaborate manner and the expense incurred in fixing up the camp, the Humahuma expects to open up a valuable tract of land. More than $20,000 has been expended in camp construction and according to those who have seen it, the camp is one of the most complete in the state. The buildings are all steam heated, equipped with shower and tub baths, electric lights, telephones and other accessories to comfort.

Supplies are hauled from McKittrick, a distance of fifteen miles over a twenty-five per cent grade; so the cost of laying down material at the camp is at once apparent. Fuel oil, which is purchased from the Dominion Oil Company at McKittrick for sixty cents per barrel, costs $1.50 by the time it reaches the Humahuma camp.

The Associated Oil company is operating in this field about two and one half miles from the Humahuma. The Hawaiian company is on section 27 while the Associated's camp is on 30. If any oil at all is found it should be of high gravity, judging from the sand outcroppings.

Passenger J. Arrived. The W. G. Hall's passengers from Kauai this morning were: Miss Fitzgerald, Harry Turner, Rev. A. G. Trew, F. O. Boyer, Dr. Sandow, J. Hogg, T. Kumagal, Horace Crabbe Sam Kihl, R. Odo and H. Iwamoto. Deck passengers were twelve Japanese, two Chinese, three Portuguese and one other, a total of twenty.

Passengers by the Claudine were: O. K. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Z. K. Meyers, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. King, D. S. Austin, J. Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. M. Spencer and child, M. R. Jamieson, R. Durston, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Kinney, R. G. Henderson, H. English, F. O. Dolson, Mrs. J. M. Machado and child, D. B. Murdoch, Miss H. Kea, Miss G. Sabey, Alex. Tripp, J. C. Pincano, Mr. and Mrs. Yamagata, Mr. and Mrs. G. Lindsay, Rev. M. E. Santos, Mrs. H. Yoda, Miss A. Kobayashi, Jas. Buchanan, E. Langer, Mrs. I. Shibi, Mrs. Buchanan and two children, Murakami, F. Lonke, Jas. Chalmers, G. L. Fook, Rev. J. Kahoopili, Mrs. Fulton, W. G. Scott.

COMEDY MAN GETS JUDGMENT. Will Lochrane, the Scotch comedian now appearing at the Park theater, secured judgment this afternoon in the police court, against E. Overend, of the Empire theater, for breach of contract. Lochrane was engaged to show at the Empire theater for four weeks at $60 per week, but was discharged at the end of the first week, the management alleging that his performance was unsatisfactory. Judgment for $86.66 was awarded to the plaintiff and notice of appeal was given.

Mr. Henry W. Diggs, representing the Gutta Percha & Rubber Mfg. Co., of San Francisco, manufacturers of the famous "Maltese Cross" Hose and Belting, was an incoming passenger by the S. S. Wilhelmina, and intends making an extended visit here. Mr. Diggs will make his home at the Alexander Young Hotel.

Shipping Notes. Capt. Walter Kirton of the Shanghai National Review, of Shanghai, China, with Mrs. Kirton, passed through Honolulu yesterday on the Nippon Maru. He is returning to the orient after an extensive tour of the world, during which he has been engaged in interesting capital in the undeveloped resources of the flowery kingdom.

"China is awake and only wants the means to develop. The $50,000,000 bond issue recently floated through America is to be used in the main for an internal economic reorganization," he said. "For ages China has given little attention to her financial system. Within recent years the government has awakened to this condition and will immediately reconstruct and establish a fixed monetary system."

"In China there is no hostility to western ideas. The real peril in the far east is Japan."

When in San Francisco Captain Kirton addressed the Pacific slope congress and is an ardent advocate of a merchant marine for America.

The Claudine came in today from Maui and Hawaii ports with 44 saloon and 51 deck passengers and general cargo. The freight included ten crates Koa lumber, thirty-five pieces Koa lumber, twenty sacks potatoes twenty-five sacks, corn, thirty-seven bags hides, thirty-two hogs and 150 packages of sundries.

Between way ports the Claudine carried the following freight:—Kahului and Nahiku, 1092 feet lumber, 79 sacks of barley, brand and midds, and 22 packages of sundries, Kahului to Hana, nineteen sacks of pol, fourteen sacks of barley and twenty packages of sundries. Kahului to Hilo, 28 sacks of potatoes, 37 sacks of corn, 22 sacks of beans and eleven packages of sundries. Hilo and way ports to Kahului nine packages of sundries.

The schooner Spokane was at Hilo on Monday and the schooner Prosper and the steamer Nevada were at Kahului on Tuesday.

Deck passengers on the Claudine included four Chinese, thirty-one Japanese, five Russians and eleven others.

The W. G. Hall from Kauai brought in the following freight:—120 bags of rice, twenty bags of coconuts, ten coconaut plants, seventeen empty gasoline drums, four bales of rags and fifteen packages of sundries.

SEASICK TIMES IN THE CHANNELS. Vessels from island ports bring reports on the strong winds and choppy seas prevailing outside. The W. G. Hall and the Claudine both arrived this morning and report rough weather. The Claudine experienced head winds and choppy seas on the outward trip and heavy northerly swell, accompanied with strong winds and considerable rain, on the inward journey. The Hall reports strong north to north-east winds and choppy seas crossing the channel.

What About That Dandruff?

There is just this much about it: Dandruff is a germ disease, is most untidy, annoying, and leads to baldness. When chronic, it is very stubborn, but surely yields to thorough and energetic treatment. All germs must be destroyed, the scalp must be restored to health. Here is the remedy: Ayer's Hair Vigor. Ask your doctor about using it.

YALE SURPRISES HARVARD

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 19.—A drawn and scoreless battle was fought out on Yale field today between Yale and Harvard. To the adherents of the blue it was a moral victory, for their team, which "came back" to defeat Princeton, proved too strong for the all powerful crimson, which came here confident of victory.

This is the third time that Yale was rallied at the eleventh hour to cheat Harvard of a victory, the others, in 1897 and 1899, being on Soldiers' field and under conditions somewhat like those of this season. In those years Yale had a disastrous misseason, but recovered when the time came for the supreme test.

In the game today both teams were very strong on the defense, but the wonderful mechanism which Harvard had shown all through the season went to naught owing to the costly fumbles, but when it was not a long way to the Yale goal line and when the crimson was battering her way down toward the coveted place, Poor generalship both times was the trouble, for Harvard elected to rush with downs to spare instead of trying a field goal, which seemed to promise success.

These fumbles were the critical points in the game. The Harvard team has gone through the season with a clean record of handling the ball, it seemed to be one of her strong cards, but failure by two of the backs, Wigglesworth and Corbett, to cling to the pigskin in tight places probably cost her the victory.

Yale could not withstand the battering. Once the Harvard rushes were for 83 yards, a first down each time, and in the last period Corbett had carried the ball to the 12 yard line when it went to Yale by bad judgment.

Harvard always was the aggressor. Yale made few consistent gains. The Minnesota shift, used in several variations, was worked for a gain on the first formation, but the next time, almost invariably, the play would be stopped by the Harvard backs. Howe, the Yale quarterback, supported the general idea of the Yale defense by constantly punting and he sent the ball high in the air, giving Kilpatrick and Brooks the ends, time to get under it and tackle the runner. It was the wonderful work of the two ends and Field's tackling which shone in Yale's game.

The entire Yale team was quick in action, its formations were thrown out and shifted over with great speed, and when the ball was put in play there was every evidence that the men had been trained in the fundamentals which for years had been the wonder of the football world.

The Yale line, which had to bear the brunt of the boring by Wendall, who seemed to open up holes by sheer strength, was surprisingly compact. Daly was not used a great deal at plunging, owing, it is understood, to a weak knee. He was reserved until the latter part of the game, and his opportunity came just before the end when he tried a drop kick from the 55 yard line, but it was deflected by the wind.

As to Harvard, the disappointment was the running of the team by Quarterback Wigglesworth and the fumbling of the backs. Wigglesworth was taken out and Potter and Gardner were substituted, but the coaches pushed the little quarter back into the game, and each time errors of judgment followed. The Harvard team, as a whole, was the same compact and well drilled team of the whole season, but it lacked at critical times a master hand.

The punting was disappointing as a whole, although in the first period it gave promise of being a feature. Howe did not get distance and Felton only was able to get telling distance.

In the game Harvard punted 15 times for 620 yards, and Howe booted the ball 20 times for 810 yards. From the spectators' point of view the features of the game were the variety of plays used and the more interesting fact that the ball could always be seen.

The forward pass was used by Harvard five times.

Three tries were failures and of the other two only one made a gain and that only eight yards. Yale did not use the play. Daly's drop kick was matched by one made by Lewis, which was a similar failure.

The superiority of Harvard over Yale was shown in the rushing, for 10 times the crimson got first down, and her work in this style, tried 55 times, brought gains of 201 yards while Yale, following first down, six times, tried 37 times for 111 yards. Yale discarded the inside kick entirely, while Harvard tried it four times as an effective ground gainer.

The game was short, lasting less than an hour and three-quarters. The scene, which has as its setting a patch of green turf with banks of humanity on all four sides, scintillated with color in the sun as it slowly crept down the horizon.

The singing was effective and one of the striking color effects was when the Harvard cheering section in the west stand outlined a great "H" in crimson and white pennants, waving them to a college air.

Yale today used nothing except variations of the famous "Minnesota shift," shown in the Princeton game. These consisted chiefly of changes of the objective point of attack and new shifts of the men carrying the ball.

In actual playing today nearly all the players went to wreck. The forward pass and double shift were not tried because of Harvard's quickness and skill in diagnosing the Yale play.

As the game went on with its varying changes Yale adopted mainly defensive tactics. The blue never came nearer Harvard's goal line than the 45 yard line except at the close, when Daly made his try for goal. For a few moments Yale men believed their team was outplaying Harvard, but Daly's try for goal changed possession of the ball and the game ended, just after Harvard had kicked out of danger to near midfield.

The playing of Howe at quarterback, where he was charged with punting, carrying the ball and running the team, was to Yale men a prominent incident. He is understood to be slated for next year's captaincy.

MONUMENT TO KETCHELL.
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 16.—Offers of contributions of a fund to be used toward the erection of a monument for the late Stanley Ketchel who was shot and killed recently in Missouri, are being received by his relatives here. Offers of money have been received from a large number of the leading pugilists and from many sporting men of America. Ketchel's body is interred in a Catholic cemetery, and his friends fear that there would be opposition to erecting a monument in the cemetery from funds derived from such a source.

TENNIS AT EWA.

Sunday next Ewa and Aiea meet in a tennis match at Ewa and ten players from the Aiea plantation will journey down to Ewa to meet the best Ewa can put up against them. The Aiea players are Theo. Nickelsen, Ed. Gibbb, C. Cowan, J. A. Verret, Ed. Ayml, Joe Marla, C. Buddt, F. Swadling, F. Peterson and Fof Yau.

Y. M. C. A. WINS.

The Y. M. C. A. indoor baseball experts scored another win last night when an aggregation from Kauluwela was defeated by sixteen runs to nine. The visitors led up to the third innings, having then six runs to the Y. M. C. A.'s five, but the latter then went ahead, took the lead and held it until the seventh innings when Kauluwela scored two runs and tied the Y. M. C. A. were in front, getting a single; in the first of the ninth the visitors drew level; but in the second of the ninth the Y. M. C. A. boys got busy and piled up seven runs, putting a decisive victory to their credit.

BOXING BOUTS PENDING.

There seems to be a probability that there will be several boxing matches here within the next few months, if the effort now being made by those interested are brought to fruition.

"Australian" Hall and Joe McGurn may be matched to fight on Christmas eve, if Hall makes good in a try-out which has been arranged, and Nigel Jackson succeeds in promoting the contest. He is at present talking about the matter and will in all probability have a definite announcement to make shortly.

Others who are anxious to be seen in the ring are Bugler Sarcone of the Marines, and Trooper Friedman, of Schofield barracks. This pair have already met, Friedman getting the verdict and the marine is anxious to have a return match, being under the impression that he can reverse the former decision.

SHOOTING AFFAIR

work. Driver went between the second and third seats.

Witness did not know where the fourth and fifth shots went to.

Cathcart—"How far was defendant from the man who was running when he commenced firing?"

Witness—"When the first shot was fired they were about eight feet apart."

Cathcart—"And at that time the man was just getting up into the car?"

Witness—"Yes, when the first shot was fired."

Cathcart—"How did he go through the car?"

Witness—"He went right through; not walking, but on his hands and knees, more like diving through."

After the fifth shot was fired, continued witness, McQuaid wheeled round and ran for the sidewalk and then ran down the side-walk.

The other man came round from the rear of the car and pulled out a revolver from the left side of his coat and ran over to the side-walk, having McQuaid cut off.

When he reached the sidewalk he fired a shot at McQuaid. McQuaid turned into a doorway and witness saw Driver go to the door and fire another shot. Witness did not know if any of Driver's shots hit McQuaid as he did not get off the car.

Driver then turned up Fort street, but before he had reached the corner he was met by an elderly white lady, one of the saleswomen in a store there and they spoke together.

After the lady had spoken to Driver he put his revolver back again into his coat; it looked to witness as though Driver had a holster there.

At the moment that Driver put his revolver away a policeman arrived and made the arrest. Witness only saw Driver fire twice.

Cross-examined by Douthitt witness stated that he stopped his car to allow the Nuuanu car the right of way, but when the conductor of the Nuuanu car got off his car, witness turned the power on, as by leaving his car the conductor of the Nuuanu car had given up the right of way.

Before the witness' car had reached the junction of the lines the conductor of the Nuuanu car held up his hand for witness to stop and he did so, his car coming to a standstill with the fender almost level with the Nuuanu line, so close that the Nuuanu car could not have passed had it wanted to.

This gave witness a clear view down Fort street, particularly on the Ewa side of the street.

Witness stated that although McQuaid ran close up to the Nuuanu car he did not board it, but turned and ran away after firing five shots. Driver must have run round the car just as fast as McQuaid ran away for he appeared at the end almost level with McQuaid.

Just as Driver came round into sight again he drew his revolver, but did not fire until he had reached the sidewalk. McQuaid then had his back to Driver.

In answer to Cathcart, witness stated that when McQuaid fired at Driver, the latter had his back towards him. At the time of the shooting witness thought it was a crazy man firing, the way the shooting was done.

If McQuaid had had any cool blood in him he would have been able to have killed Driver with one shot. Witness did not know it was McQuaid firing until he turned to run away, and then he recognized him.

Dr. Moore was next put on the stand and stated that he examined Driver in the Queen's Hospital. He was present in his office when the shooting commenced and saw Driver start off ostensibly for the hospital.

When he examined Driver in the hospital he found a bullet wound on the left hand side of the back, near the pelvis. The shot was high and he was unable to say where the bullet had lodged.

As far as he knew it had not been extracted. Witness was standing in his office talking to a client when he heard a sound which caused him to think that an automobile tire had burst, but when it was followed by other similar sounds he looked out the window and saw two men running, the hindmost man firing at the other.

The two men were running towards a car and the front one stumbled before reaching it but recovered himself quickly and continued until he passed out of the witness' sight behind the car.

Then witness saw the second man stop and run back towards the sidewalk, and the other man run round the end of the car and shoot at him, following him into the small restaurant there (The Baltimore Dairy.)

When witness first saw the men they were on Hotel street, at the corner of Hotel and Fort. McQuaid was the man who was firing first. The shooting was wild and appeared to witness to be high, so high that he expected that someone in the car would have been injured.

Witness thought Driver shot at McQuaid at least four times, once after McQuaid had entered the

BURGLARY CASE VERDICT GUILTY

In Judge Cooper's court this morning, Mrs. Louisa Landero told a sensational story concerning the visit to her house of one Leong Ledishima, who was before the court on a charge of robbery in the first degree.

According to her story the defendant called at her house and knocked at the door. He demanded admittance, but she refused to comply with his request. He then broke a pane of glass and opened the window.

Armed with a knife, he entered the house and began slashing a leather trunk. He told witness that he would kill her, so she ran away.

Witness' brother and brother-in-law happened to come by the house and the defendant standing in the doorway threatened that he would kill anybody who approached him.

Defendant took the trunk away and started to burn it up. He had removed $75 and some jewelry, and then he poured oil over the contents and burnt it up.

Deputy Attorney A. M. Brown is conducting the case for the prosecution, and L. M. Straus is appearing for the defendant.

The jurors hearing the case are C. L. Crabbe, Thomas Rewcastle, Geo. E. Jurgensen, Herbert Lemke, Jacob Lando, R. G. Moore, E. L. Kauai, J. H. Myatt, Bruce Cartwright, Jr., William K. Jordan, Samuel Ladd and George Anderson.

After the case for the prosecution had been finished, defendant's attorney announced that he would not call any witnesses.

The jury then filed out, and returned into court shortly afterwards with a verdict of guilty.

Sentence will be passed tomorrow morning.

HILO NOW CLAIMS

caused a great deal of comment, probably being the handsomest in the Territory and the ohia flooring naturally was the object of a great deal of attention, being the first of its kind in a local business house.

The broad counters of koa and extremely handsome office fittings were also of great interest to the many visitors.

Sharp at noon the reception started with a bang, this latter being caused by the explosion of hundreds of fire crackers which the Chinese merchants of Hilo had presented to Hackfeld and Company for the use at their opening and to bring the company good luck.

At about the same time the Hilo band, which had been loaned for the occasion by the county, struck up a tune and between the firecrackers and the music it was hard to hear anything else for some moments.

Shortly after this the first visitors began to arrive and till 2 o'clock there was no break in the long line of people who came to shake Manager Bartels by the hand and wish him luck.

The Chinese merchants were present in force, as were the Japanese and Portuguese. Nearly every haole firm in the city was represented by one or more members of the firm and a particularly interesting display of the friendly spirit which exists in business affairs here, was in the presence of every one of the members of the office force of T. H. Davies and Company, of this city, all coming down together to pay their respects to the progress of their enterprising rival in business.

restaurant, the first shot being fired when McQuaid had reached the sidewalk. Witness had left his office while the firing was in progress and he went into the restaurant and found McQuaid lying partially behind a counter at the back of the shop.

Douthitt—"Was he behind a screen?"

Witness—"I don't think there was any screen upright then. McQuaid was on the floor, lying on his side."

The revolver found beneath McQuaid when he was picked up from the floor of the Baltimore Dairy, together with five empty shells, which were then in the chamber of the revolver were put in as evidence after which the case for the prosecution was closed.

Douthitt announced that his client did not propose to take the stand, and thereupon District Magistrate Lymer committed McQuaid to the Circuit Court for trial.

On the matter of a bond Judge Lymer announced that the amount would be such as was acceptable to Judge Cooper.

Douthitt produced a bond for $5,000 which had been drawn up for signature by J. P. Cooke and requested the release of McQuaid on his own recognizance in order to accompany him to the Judiciary and have the bond completed to the satisfaction of Judge Cooper.

Judge Lymer asserted to the application and, with his attorneys, McQuaid left the courtroom.
