THE BUDGET IN THE HOUSE

REPRESENTATIVES AT WORK ON APPROPRIATIONS.

Committee Reports Adversely on Kaal's Bill to Prohibit Smoking Among Children.

The Senate was ten minutes late in being called to order this morning because of the lack of a quorum. There were seven members present besides the President, but he declined to include himself in counting a quorum. Senator Baldwin soon came in, making the eighth member and, the Senate was called to order.

The House bills, one providing that a woman may bar her dower through an attorney in fact, and the other constituting courts of appeal in tax cases, were passed on third reading.

President Wilder appointed Senators Baldwin, Brown and Schmidt a special committee to which was referred the bill exempting purely mercantile houses from the operation of Schedule E of the internal tax act.

Senate Bill No. 24, providing for the settlement of differences by the arbitration of a Judge of the Circuit or Supreme Courts, without bringing a civil action, was passed second reading.

House Bill No. 54, prohibiting the adulteration of food and drugs was received from the House and read for the first time.

An invitation to attend the races at Kapiolani Park, next Saturday, was received.

IN THE HOUSE.

Rep. Atkinson, for the Committee on Foreign Affairs, reported on certain items in Senate Bill No. 3. Following items are approved: Claim of C.-A. Steamship Company, $9,439.12; interest on same at 6 per cent; claims of Charles Duxwell, $3,250; claim of sundry persons in relation Kinal-Maru, $6,018; Hawaiian band, $91.65; items for military, $14; clerical aid, San Francisco, $90; claim of Thomas Nott, $16; expenses diplomatic and consular service, $3,020, and special envoy to London, $3,424.06. Concluding the committee says of the last item: "But it would like to call the attention of the Executive to the fact that in future when incurring similar expenses, they should be authorized by a distinct authorization from the Council of State."

Chairman Gear of the Sanitary Committee submitted a report on House Bill No. 62, forbidding smoking by children, recommending that same be indefinitely postponed. It was thought by the committee that the imprisonment of children under 15 years of age would result in more harm than smoking.

The same member, reporting for the Committee on Education, recommended that House Bill No. 63, relating to school tax, pass.

The same member offered a resolution providing for an appropriation of $10,000 for macadamizing Punchbowl road from Pauoa road to Alapai road. Public Lands Committee.

Rep. Robertson's resolution to shut off bills after April 11th, was taken up. The introducer moved to change the date to the 18th. Passed.

House Bill No. 49, limiting time in which actions may be brought to recover possession of land, passed third reading.

House Bill No. 41, licenses for steam laundries, was brought up for third reading, but was deferred at the request of Rep. Richards, until tomorrow.

House Bill No. 42, still wines, etc., came up for second reading. Committee's report, recommending that the same be tabled, was read.

Rep. Robertson moved to insert an amendment in the bill providing a specific duty of 50 cents a gallon on sake. Minister Damon favored making the figure 60 cents. Rep. Pogue opposed a specific duty on sake, for the reason that Japan alone shipped sake and the law would discriminate against that country. Rep. Achi supported the 50 cents duty idea. Rep. Atkinson supported the position of Minister Damon. Rep. Loebenstein disapproved discrimination in any way whatsoever. A high duty on sake undoubtedly would work a hardship on an element of the community. The duty is unjust and discriminating and should not be carried further.

SPAIN'S FLOTILLA TO BE INTERCEPTED

SPAIN'S NAVY IN MOTION

AMERICA SENDS OUT TWO OF HER BATTLESHIPS.

Report of the Board of Inquiry Not Yet Made Public—War Feeling Grows in Intensity.

R. B. McClain, who arrived on the barkentine W. H. Dimond this morning, says that just before the Dimond sailed on the 25th ult., the San Francisco papers announced on their bulletin boards that President McKinley had sent out two battleships to intercept the Spanish torpedo flotilla on its way from the Canaries to Puerto Rico. The names of the battleships were not given in the bulletin board announcement, but they are probably the Massachusetts and the Texas, or one of these and the New York, all of which were at Hampton Roads, held for just such an emergency. Undoubtedly this action of sending war vessels against the flotilla will bring a crisis. It seems impossible but that it should bring war at once, or permanent peace through diplomatic intervention.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The war feeling has been considerably intensified by the report that the Spanish torpedo flotilla has left the Canary Islands, convoyed by two cruisers. The destination of the flotilla is said to be Puerto Rico, one of the West India Islands to the eastward of Cuba, separated from it by the Island of Santo Domingo, and about 700 or 800 miles from Havana.

This is regarded in many quarters as an act of war on the part of the Spanish. For it is now known that the administration has notified the Spanish government that it must not increase its naval strength in Cuban waters pending negotiations for Spain's entire withdrawal from the Island. And particularly it was the position of the American government that the torpedo flotilla at the Canaries should not be allowed to reach Cuba.

The transfer of the battleships Massachusetts, Texas and New York from Key West to Hampton Roads was made as evidence of the sincere desire of the United States for peace in these demands and to give Spain a good excuse for refraining from sending her torpedo boats thither. Spain, however, does not seem to have taken this view of it. The result may be war and that almost at once.

The distance from the Canary Islands to Puerto Rico is about 3,000 miles. This destination is probably largely for the purpose of coaling. But from there and from other Spanish West India ports this flotilla is intended, it is supposed, to sail out, in case of war, to harass the coast cities of the southern states and destroy the American coastwise merchant vessels.

This manoeuvre on the part of the Spanish is taken as showing that in the event of war she expects the United States to strike at Cuba, and her other West India possessions. The United States has been massing her war vessels on the Atlantic coast with headquarters at Hampton Roads. From this position hostile demonstrations along the whole Atlantic coast can be repelled as well as carrying on offensive operations against Cuba and other Spanish West India possessions.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—It is generally believed that the report of the Board of Inquiry is now in the hands of the President. The greatest secrecy has been maintained regarding it, and its contents will not be made public officially for several days, probably not until it has been transmitted to Congress. The pressure both in and out of Congress, however, to know what the findings of the Board are, is so great that it is believed the report cannot be long withheld, even if it were the desire of the President to withhold it. Besides so much is known of the actual facts upon which the findings of the reports must be based, that any action taken by the administration as the result of the report, would immediately give the key to that document, and inform the public, in a large measure at least, of what it contained.

But while the report has not yet been made public more and more of the facts in connection with the disaster to the Maine are coming to the light.

It is now believed almost beyond all doubt that the explosion was not only from the outside, but that it was caused by a mine set for the purpose. It is not yet conclusively shown, however, at least not by proof of which the public has positive knowledge, that it was done either by the design or the knowledge of Spain.

The reports of Senator Proctor and of the Senators and Congressmen composing the Examiner-Journal commission, of the starvation and suffering among the reconcentrados, has stimulated activity in the United States for their relief. The administration even if it wanted to, could not resist the force of public opinion which demands the uncompromising assistance in this relief work. The government is therefore steadily pursuing the policy it announced to the Spanish government some days ago it would pursue, that of declining on whatever measures it deemed necessary to carry out the relief work without too tenderly consulting Spain's feelings or national pride in the matter.

A message to Congress from the President has been expected for a day or two declaring that America must intervene in Cuba on humanitarian grounds and that relief supplies for Cuba must go there, and will be sent under sufficient guard to get them there. If Spain should refuse to permit supplies to be sent, it would prove that she approved the present policy of carrying on the war in Cuba by means of the starvation of men, women and children, and thereby justify the United States in taking any measures it saw fit to end the Cuban war, whether by means of an armed intervention or by acknowledging the independence of Cuba and giving the revolutionists military and naval assistance. In the rapid march of events, the Maine disaster may prove only a secondary and remote cause of war.

A CORRECTION.

Among the court notes which appeared in The Star on last Monday, an item stated that Harry Saylor was in jail, charged with stealing a calabash. This was a mistake. The facts are these: Mr. Saylor was served with a penal summons to answer to a charge of embezzlement; when the case was called yesterday, it was dismissed by the prosecution.

ROADSTERS FROM THE COAST.

Were Brought Down on the Barkentine W. H. Dimond.

The barkentine W. H. Dimond brought as a part of her cargo nine head of hack and road horses, and seven mules, consigned to Charles H. Bellina. These animals were shipped by W. P. Hall of Lancaster, Mo., one of the largest dealers in the United States in horses and mules.

Among the horses are two fine matched teams.

R. B. McClain, who brought the consignment here, says that during the past year Hall has shipped a very large number of both horses and mules to Cape Town, Germany and England.

"The war feeling," said Mr. McClain "is intense in the United States. I saw evidences and heard expressions of it all the way from Missouri to the Coast. At the same time there is the greatest confidence in President McKinley in this crisis and the public is willing to wait, believing that he will act wisely and patriotically."

"Annation sentiment is strong in every community in which I have been, though of course that question is overshadowed in the public mind by the Cuban question just at present."

COFFEE LAND TAXES.

The amount of money that has been received from taxes on coffee lands for 1896-7 is as follows: Oahu, $48; Maui, $88.50; Hawaii, $5,801.91, and Kauai, $37.

BROUGHT TO A STANDSTILL.

There has been no work on Hilo's greater wharf for several days. Captain Campbell states that the material gave out and Superintendent Rowell declined to send more, as the three months extension was nearly up and there would not be sufficient leeway to make it worth while to send up more. Mr. Rowell, however, believes that an appropriation will be made during the present session to carry on the work.

PARDONS AND DEDICATION.

The meeting of the Council of State tomorrow afternoon will have before it for consideration a number of applications for pardons. Two of these grew out of the troubles of 1895, the others are persons convicted in the usual course of the administration of the penal laws.

There will also be presented a number of applications for letters of dedication. Several residents of Hawaii have applied for these in order to enable them to take up lands.

WILL CONVENE LATER.

The meeting of the Board of Health this afternoon will be at 4:30 o'clock instead of 3:30, as usual.

CHANGES IN PROGRAM.

Several changes have been made in the published program for the concert next Saturday night for the benefit of Kalihii and Moanaluia churches. Paul A. Isenberg will sing a solo, "Island of Dreams," and the Kawaihau Glee Club will sing "Lei no Kaulani," instead of "He Nohea," as at first announced. The "Santa Maria," to be sung by Miss Kulama Ward, with violin obligato by Mrs. C. B. Cooper, is by Faure. The selection to be sung by the chorus from Kawaihau Seminary are by Schumann.

COL. MACFARLANE WROTH

CANNOT SECURE REGISTRY FOR S. S. PETER JEBSEN.

Says He is Blocked by Illegal Methods—Vessel Tied Up at San Francisco—History of the Case.

The 4,000 ton S. S. Peter Jebesen is tied up at the dock in San Francisco, awaiting a sea letter which the Hawaiian Consul refuses to issue, for her to proceed to this port to secure a Hawaiian registry. Colonel Macfarlane, the flag owner, occasionally calls on the Minister of Foreign Affairs here to remind him that the expenses of the ship are piling up, and may, eventually have to be paid by this government, unless the instructions to Consul Wilder to refuse to grant to any vessel a provisional registry, are withdrawn and the vessel permitted to proceed on her voyage to this port. All of which may explain why Minister Cooper's new registry bill is meeting with such violent opposition in the Legislature.

Colonel Macfarlane is angry over the matter, for he claims that the Minister of Foreign Affairs is holding himself higher than the law in proceeding as he has done. Said Colonel Macfarlane in an interview last night:

"The Peter Jebesen is now practically without a flag, so that we cannot engage her in trade. Charters are high and there is plenty of work for her to do. We are in the right, and if we can carry our point this government ought to pay the damages."

"Let me give you a brief history of the case. The Peter Jebesen was formerly a Norwegian steamship, but is now owned by John Rosenfeld Sons, a prominent ship owning firm of San Francisco, and has lately been in the coasting and trade. Early in December last they asked me to place the vessel under the Hawaiian flag, as I had done the S. S. China. Or, rather, the case is identical with that of the S. S. Aztec, which is engaged in similar coal carrying trade between San Francisco and Nainaimo, as the Peter Jebesen, both of which vessels are owned and controlled by American shipping firms. It was desired to change the nationality of the vessel, because while she remained under the Norwegian flag, all her business had to be done through the Consul of that country, in the Norwegian language, entailing so much red tape as to be irksome; her officers had to have Norwegian papers and all reports had to be made to that country."

"I made formal application for the registry of the vessel here on January 19th, at the Custom House, and filed the necessary papers, sending the duplicates to San Francisco, with instructions to send the vessel here, as soon as the arrival of the papers from Norway reached San Francisco, transferring the ownership to my name. Soon afterward the bill of sale was duly filed here, and the Norwegian flag lowered on the vessel at San Francisco. My bond was also duly executed."

"Then came the hitch. When Rosenfeld Sons' agent went to Consul Wilder at San Francisco for a sea letter to permit the vessel to come here, Mr. Wilder refused to issue the document, because of recent instructions from Minister Cooper not to grant any more sea letters, and this, notwithstanding the decision in the Chin's case. I called on Minister Cooper here, but to no advantage. He admitted that were the vessel here, nothing could prevent her from getting a permanent registry. Asked how it was possible to get her here, he shrugged his shoulders, and stated that it would be no use to send for her as he would have a law passed to prevent her registry, while she was on the way."

"So the matter stands. I have engaged Paul Neumann to look into the matter, and he tells me that as no law can be retroactive, he does not see how the vessel can be prevented from getting her registry even in the face of the threat of Minister Cooper. Mr. Cooper merely states that it is the policy of the government to prevent the further registration of vessels. Of course, this does not concern me. I can only ask for what the law entitles me to."

"Like many others, I am at a loss to understand why such a law as the one now pending should be entertained by the legislators for one moment. I failed to see a single comment in the American papers adverse to the China decision, and Mr. Cooper admitted to me that he had not seen any."

"With the Peter Jebesen, I will have brought into this country over $1,000,000 worth of taxable property. Is there any easier way of creating wealth and revenue for the Republic than increasing the Hawaiian merchant marine and making it of respectable proportions? Have I done any serious injury to this government by registering the China, Aztec, San Mateo and Barracouta, all of which vessels were transferred in London to me? On the contrary, we can boast of having under our flag a fine fleet of Ocean steamers, and in the case of the China, the finest steamship on the Pacific Ocean."

PAY FOR MAIL CARRIERS

STEAMER COMPANIES WANT A SQUARE DEAL.

Will Ask the Legislature for Concessions for Vessels Carrying the Mails Free—Potent Reasons.

For years the steamship companies engaged in the inter island trade have been carrying the government mails free of charge, and have been paying large sums annually for water and for wharf privileges. Since the postal department has been placed on a paying basis, they now believe that the government is in a position to remunerate them for the work they do. Accordingly, a bill will be introduced in the Legislature within a few days, amending the laws under which the mails are now carried between the island ports, so as to give the steamship companies a fair deal.

The reasons why inter island steamers that run on schedule time should be remunerated by the government are set forth by the legislator who has prepared the bill as follows:

"The two local steamship companies pay to the Government in taxes, licenses, wharfage, water and other charges, $28,217.85 per annum.

"The mails demand the best cargo space in the ship, also the greatest care, to prevent theft. In many instances cargo is refused to leave the space for mail matter.

"The Government has instituted a parcel post, which takes away packages from the steamship companies, and which were a considerable source of revenue to them. The steamship companies are now compelled to carry these very same packages free of charge, the Government deriving all the revenue from their carriage.

"The steamship companies receive some thousands of letters each week which they sort and deliver. These letters never pass through the post-offices at all. The steamship companies have to remunerate their employees for this service. Besides attending to much other routine post-office work.

"In all other civilized countries, the carriage of the mails is one of the largest sources of revenue to transportation companies. No other government compels transportation companies to carry the mails free. The free carriage of the mails is not a consideration for licenses, the two local companies pay annual licenses to the amount of $4,267. This is a larger license than is paid in any other country for steamers of similar size.

"In the United States, for similar postal service, the Government pays $30,000 per annum. If ordinary freight rates were paid for the carriage of the mails, it would amount to $10,000 per annum, while the concession asked for would be about $5,000 per annum."

W. H. DIMOND AND A. J. FULLER ARRIVE.

Both Made Good Trips—The Stetson Now at Hilo—News From the Coast—News and Gossip.

The barkentine Irmgard got away for the Coast late yesterday afternoon.

The barkentine John Smith needs another steamer load of sugar to finish her cargo. She will probably sail on Saturday.

The steamer Waialeale arrived this morning with 2,000 bags of Kahuku sugar, which will go into the schooner Robert Lowers.

The schooner Aloha arrived in Hilo on last Tuesday, 11 days from San Francisco, with a general cargo for H. Hackfeld & Co.

On last Sunday morning there were nine vessels anchored in Hilo harbor, five of them floating the American flag, and the remainder the Hawaiian.

The American ship A. J. Fuller arrived this morning from New York after a smart trip of 121 days, and is docked at the Pacific Mail wharf jog, Captain Nichols brought his ship in looking as neat as a pin. She has 2,500 tons of general merchandise consigned to Brewer & Co.

The Hawaiian barkentine W. H. Dimond arrived this morning, 11 days from San Francisco, with 700 tons of general merchandise for Irwin & Co. She also had a deck load of 17 mules and 9 horses, consigned to Hayman Bros., and 2 horses to W. H. Cornwall. The Dimond is docked at the Oceanic wharf.

When the barkentine Dimond sailed from San Francisco, on the 26th ult., the bark Martha Davis was still undergoing repairs, made necessary by her collision with the United States coast survey steamer Patterson. The barkentine S. N. Castle was on the berth. It was not expected that either vessel would get away before the 2nd or 3rd.

On Wednesday noon the ship Geo. Stetson anchored in Hilo bay, 20 days from the Columbia river, says the Hilo Tribune. She is commanded by Captain E. Patten, who is accompanied by his wife and child and Miss Smith. Captain Patten, it will be remembered, was here with the ship Villard last year, and his many friends in Hilo will welcome his return. The Stetson will load 3,000 tons of sugar for New York.

The steamer Claudine arrived from Hilo and wayports this morning. Captain Cameron reports that the seas have been high and rough all week, making it impossible to load sugar at many ports on the Hawaii coast. Strong northeast winds are blowing. Less rain was experienced than on the preceding trip. The Claudine brought the following cargo: 1210 bags sugar, 50 head cattle, 185 head sheep, 275 bags potatoes, 113 corn, 117 bags coffee, 11 hogs, 65 hides, 1 horse, and 148 packages sundries.

ECHOES OF ANNEXATION

PERTINENT POINTS MADE BY REPRESENTATIVE TAWNEY.

Annexation by Legislation a Sure Way—Insular Territory Policy—A Failure to Annex Criminal.

"Instead of annexation being contrary to the traditional policy of our government, it would be entirely in harmony with that policy. The policy of annexing insular territory has obtained since 1856. It is based upon a statute passed August 18th of that year. Under it Congress has not only approved of the annexation of insular territory, but seventy islands and groups of islands—the names and the dates of their annexation I can give if necessary—have been annexed to the United States, exclusive of the Aleutian Islands. Fifty-seven of these are in the Pacific and thirteen in the Caribbean sea."—Congressman Tawney.

The Hawaiian annexation proposition takes the form of a joint resolution through today's action of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations. The treaty is not abandoned, but immediate action is sought upon the legislative proposition. There should and probably will be no delay in pressing the joint resolution to a vote in the upper house. That body has heard the Hawaiian question argued in every possible hearing during the past five years and it is presumed that the speeches are practically exhausted. There is no need for time-consuming deliberations, and unless the opposition should resort to filibustering tactics there will in all likelihood be no loss of opportunity in sending the resolution to the House. That there is a clear majority for annexation in each house is not questioned. In the Senate the treaty has thus far barely failed to secure the support of the votes necessary under the Constitution for its ratification. Yet with this small deficit there still remains a reliable majority of nearly two to one that will presumably make itself felt in expressing a demand for prompt consideration. This matter ought to be settled beyond question before the final adjournment this session.—The Washington Star.

"To reject these Islands under these circumstances, sir, would be a crime against the American people. Their possession by any foreign power would give to that power an advantage in the Pacific ocean that would inevitably retard the growth of our commerce on that sea and be a perpetual menace to that imperial domain lying in the morning shadows of the Rocky Mountains. "The fruit of the policy inaugurated by Webster and Taylor, and so long maintained by all political parties, is now ripe. It is ready to drop from the tree planted by the hands of American statesmen. We must accept it, or allow it to fall into the hands of some other power."—Congressman Tawney.

HOPE ABANDONED. "For fifteen years I suffered with indigestion and my whole system was broken down. I almost abandoned hope of recovery. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and its effects were marvelous. I am now able to sleep well, have a good appetite and have gained in weight." James Wilder, Oroville, Washington.

ON UNPAID BILLS.

Besides what was said in The Star yesterday another cause of the government having a number of unpaid bills is either the carelessness of the tradesmen, or the carelessness of the government agents in the outer districts. If tradesmen and merchants do not send in accounts which were due in October, 1897, until March, 1898, they cannot complain about the payment being delayed, yet these are just the kind of people who say that it is all very well about the government bills being paid; they know that accounts going back for many months have not been liquidated.

The carelessness upon the part of government agents consists chiefly in not returning bills which are sent with articles from Honolulu and which cannot be paid until the arrival of the goods is verified as to quality, quantity and condition.

So far it is evident the government is not to blame in the matter of the unpaid bills. The money was in the treasury to pay, the necessity that all accounts against the government should be sent in before December 31 had been advertised in all the papers, but the carelessness or laxity of others intervened, and what between red tape and lack of business method the sums remain in the treasury and are turned over as a balance at the end of the year, while the bills have all to be re-examined, passed upon and reappropriated, all of which is unnecessary and causes talk and friction.

But there is another class of unpaid bills for which the government is directly responsible, and that is where there are distinct overdrafts. Where the appropriation has not proved sufficient, and yet where it has been impossible to stop expenditure.

Take for instance the item for the "maintenance and support of lepers." That has been carefully estimated in the past and a liberal appropriation was made by the last Legislature, but in spite of all, the appropriation was exhausted before the end of the period. What can the government do? It cannot, in a case of this kind, stop all expenditures. If it were to do so the people would starve and that of course is out of the question. The food supply must be kept up, and the only thing to do is to run on credit, and the only thing for the Legislature to do is to appropriate the money to pay the bills.

Take another item, "repairs of the school houses." The appropriation runs out. A storm comes along and whips off a roof, or strips of shingles or what not. Are the children to be exposed to every shower of rain that comes along, until the new appropriation is available, months afterwards. This does not seem feasible, and so an overdraft occurs, even though rigid economy may have been practiced.

When a government sends in a long list of unpaid bills and overdrafts the tendency of the public is to open its eyes and wonder why. It requires time to examine and explain. Even had the government been extravagant there could be nothing to do but to pay and then censure. But in most cases there is not even that charge to be brought, though in some cases no doubt there has been extravagance. But upon matters such as these, the Senate and House will discuss somewhat later in the session.

The attacks which the morning journal makes upon Senator McCandless are altogether unjustifiable. It was not Senator McCandless, but Senator Brown, who asked for an investigation of the lighthouse at Diamond Head. Senator Baldwin has strong opinions upon the lighthouse, but the M. J. has not a word to say about him. It is not good policy to attack a Senator in the way Mr. McCandless has been attacked, for it may lead to counter attacks of a very strong nature, just where the paper would like to set up a defense.

FRANCHISE.

Whether public necessities should not be operated by the government instead of by private corporations, is quite a question for argument. The water supplied to many cities is now chiefly under municipal control, though this was not always so. Postal affairs in several countries have been in private hands, notably in Germany. No one would think of putting the postal system of any country into private hands, it produces too good a revenue to the State. Gas and electric lighting are in many cases in municipal hands and afford a revenue. In some cities the tram car or trolley car systems are under municipal control and care, in a large measure the taxation of the body politic. The ideal would be reached when the total expenses of running a city come from its own productive enterprises.

In a small country such as this there ought to be no difficulty about operating public necessities for the public advantage. It is well worth considering when we come to the discussion of franchises for any great length of time. Franchises, as many a city that has given them away has afterwards found, are very valuable pieces of property and should be only granted where the advantage is much in favor of the public. In such matters the greatest care and caution should be exercised, lest what is given away prove, at some future time, a very millstone round our own necks or those of our descendants. However, there are many cases where it is wise to grant franchises or we should not.

LIGHTHOUSES.

Mathematical calculations are undoubtedly valuable things. Captain Cowper Coles, many years ago, made an elaborate set of mathematical calculations, and they were so valuable and so convincing that the British government spent half a million or so in building a man of war called the Captain. It was all very well for old practical salts, who couldn't figure worth an editorial of the morning journal, to say that the vessel would not stand a heavy sea and a strong gale; it was all mathematically shown that she could stand a hurricane that would tumble all the rest of the navy into Davy Jones' locker. So she was built, and she went to sea, and Captain Coles went on board of her, and many gallant officers, and a crew of about 500. They encountered a little heavy weather in the Bay of Biscay, and she turned over and went to the bottom, carrying Captain Cowper Coles and his mathematical calculations and his officers and crew down with him. So that mathematical calculations are not always infallible.

Perhaps the Superintendent of Public Works will take up his abode in the Diamond Head Lighthouse, but he must beware of the fate of Cooper Coles, and of that engineer who built the second Eddystone Lighthouse. The latter, too, was certain about his work, and to prove it took up his abode in his building. A storm came on, and next morning there was no lighthouse and no engineer. These are not encouraging anecdotes, but they have the misfortune of being facts, and not mathematical probabilities or Joe Miller stories.

Safe Subjects.

As Honolulu grows in importance, more commerce calls at this port. Only a few days ago, it was announced that the steamers of the Pacific Mail Company would, in the future, all call here enroute. Owing to the prominence given to the question of annexing these Islands to the United States, the attention of the whole world has been called to Hawaii, and whether we are annexed or not, the strangers coming to Hawaii during the coming year, will be more than ever before. While everyone is glad of the increased business it will bring, other things must not be overlooked. The roving element which seek homes and fortune in a new country, contain a larger percentage of the criminal class, and it is only necessary prudence to keep temptation out of their way. Realizing this, we have anticipated the demand for Safes, and imported a large number of in all sizes, from the small jewelry safe to the largest, weighing 4200 pounds. These safes are of a standard make, and need no unnecessary puffing. We have them on sale, however, and will be pleased to show up their strong points to all who may call. The prices, like upon all our other goods, are right, and you cannot buy a cheaper or better Safe anywhere else.

DEAR SIR: The Secretary Disc Plow I purchased from you is giving us satisfaction. We are using it to plow under a crop of lupins. They are three feet high and very thick. Your plow turns them completely under, at the same time plowing the land fourteen inches deep.

I feel satisfied that with this plow the draft for the same quantity and depth of work is as six to eight. That is, with the old plow, to do the same work, it takes eight good mules; with your plow it takes only six, and they are less tired at night.

Please send me another plow by the first schooner leaving for this.

You are at liberty to use this in any way you may see fit.

Yours truly, A. LIDGATE.

PROPERTY SENSE OF BEES

INTERESTING FACTS REGARDING INSECTS.

In Times of Scarcity One Swarm will Rob Another—The Defeated Usually Join the Marauders.

That bees have a sense of property rights is shown, says a writer in the Chautauquan, through their actions in defending their stores from plundering swarms. Bee robbing usually takes place when there is little nectar to be taken from the flowers, and probably hunger incites to ill gotten gain. It is interesting to note that strong colonies are seldom attacked, the weaker ones being the victims. The fury with which the owners of the honey will fight for its retention is sufficient when once seen, to convince any doubter that bees, at least, have a sense of property. When the robbed swarm is overcome and the queen killed the bees will desert and join the robbers and help carry their own stores to the hive of the marauders. This shows that it is a matter of property and not individual animosity which inspires them, otherwise they would fight to the death. Bee hunters say that when taking up a bee tree, or a bee hive, for that matter, the bees will fight furiously until their comb is actually broken; then they give up, and defeated and despairing, they cluster on the broken comb making no further effort to save themselves. There is something touching in the story of these brave little defenders of stores and home, and their utter discouragement when they see their treasure broken and ruined.

"Taking up" bee trees and bee hives is a barbarous performance, and is not redound to the honor of man; and the thought of it quite reconciles ones to all of the bee stings inflicted upon the genus homo since time began.

Another sign of the sense of ownership of stored provision is the care given it by the harvester ants of Texas and India. These wise harvesters store their seeds in underground granaries for winter use. After the rains come the grain, if left alone, would naturally germinate or become moldy. The ants comprehend this, and when good weather comes again they bring the grain up and dry it in the hot sun and then return it to the granaries.

AN AMERICAN DECORATED.

Queen Wilhelmina of Holland Honors Captain William G. Randle.

Queen Wilhelmina of Holland has decorated Captain William G. Randle of the American liner St. Louis, with the Order of Orange-Nassau for rescuing the passengers and crew of the sinking steamship Veendam of the Holland-American line. The St. Louis crew sighted the signals of distress on the morning of February 7th. The Veendam was then 525 knots west of the Scilly Islands, and gradually settling at the stern. A fractured shaft had pounded a great hole in her bottom. The St. Louis made for the sinking steamship and took off the 212 passengers and members of the crew.

Captain Randle took command of the St. Louis on her maiden trip from New York in June, 1895, and has commanded her since. He has been in the service of the American line since it was projected, in 1872, sailing as chief officer on the Ohio, the pioneer. He comes of seafaring stock, and was barely in his teens when he left school and shipped on his father's ship, plying between American ports and the East Indies. He was his father's chief officer when 18 years old, and when he reached his majority he was in command of his own vessel, the famous Baltimore clipper Traveler.

NO HORSE RACES.

"No," said Derringer Dan, decidedly. "we don't never have no boss races in Crimson Gulch."

"I'm glad," said the elderly visitor, "that you avoid such things."

"Yes, things got to a point where we had to give 'em up. The idea of goin' deliberately to work a showin' which boss could keep ahead of the posse got took advantage of, so that last year we lost more stock an' had fewer hangins' than ever before in the history of Crimson Gulch."—The Washington Star.

Hood's Cure Liver Ills Pills

Hood's Pills are as peculiar and as pleasant, in comparison with all others, as is Hood's Sarsaparilla.

To compound a pill which shall be pleasant to take, shall not be coated with what by age becomes insoluble, and which shall be just that mild stimulant to the liver and bowels which shall help Nature to restore her disordered functions—that is the problem for the pharmacist.

It is easy to purge, but that is not what is wanted. A mild but sure and un-disturbing cathartic will set Nature to going, and relieve the head, the stomach, the liver and all the organs of the body from the evils of a clogged drainage.

The Liver is the gateway between the stomach and the organs which the stomach purveys for. Stop up the gate and death quickly ensues. Burden it with obstructions and a thousand ills result.

Hood's Pills CURE Liver Ills, sick headache, biliousness, indigestion, nausea, constipation, without purging, without pain, without violence.

Everybody at sometime needs them. Everybody should keep them on hand at all times for emergencies.

Liver Ills

Hood's Pills are sold by all druggists, 25 cents. Sent by mail on receipt of price, by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

Weakened Vitality IMPOVERISHED BLOOD.

Read what Ayer's Sarsaparilla did for the Rev. Z. P. Wilds, a well-known city missionary in New York and brother of the late eminent Judge Wilds:

"I was for many years a sufferer from boils and other eruptions of a like nature, caused by the impoverished state of my blood. My appetite was poor and my system a good deal run down. Knowing the value of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by observation of the good it had done to others, I began taking it. My almost from the first dose; then my general health improved, and now it is excellent. I feel a hundred per cent. stronger, and I attribute this result to Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I recommend with all confidence as the best blood medicine ever devised."

"A word to the wise is sufficient," and a word from the wise would be sufficient, but you ask, who are the wise? Those who know. The oft repeated experience of trustworthy persons may be taken for knowledge. Mr. W. M. Terry says Chamberlain Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other in the market. He has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for twelve years; has sold hundreds of bottles of this remedy, and nearly all other cough medicines manufactured, which shows conclusively that Chamberlain's is the most satisfactory to the people, and is the best. For sale by Benson, Smith & Co., wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands. All druggists and dealers.

COCOS ISLAND TREASURES

THE SEARCH FOR IT PROVES TO BE VAIN.

Admiral Palliser's Expedition is Led a Wild Goose Chase—No Sign of the Hidden Riches.

A recent dispatch from Victoria says: Certain officers and men of Her Majesty's navy have arrived at the conclusion that Charles Harford, who claimed that he had located the Cocos Island treasures, and induced Admiral Palliser to institute a systematic search, has been leading them a wild goose chase. The Imperieuse, flagship of the fleet, it will be remembered paid a visit to the island, and a searching party being landed, dug for several days under the direction of Harford without finding the $30,000,000 in gold and silver and precious stones which Harford claimed to have seen. They claimed that they had dug until they had struck a flat rock, when the water filled the hole, and they had to discontinue the search.

When the party returned to the ship the vessel proceeded north, after landing Harford at San Jose de Guatemala. At Acapulco the Amphion was met, and her captain was ordered by Admiral Palliser to proceed to the island, after picking up Harford at San Jose, and continue the search. The orders were carried out, but the men from the Amphion did not meet with as much success as the party from the Imperieuse. They did not even find a flat rock to buoy up their hopes.

A letter just received from one of the men constituting the party landed from the Amphion gives the first news of that ship's visit to the treasure island. After picking up Harford at Guatemala the vessel proceeded to the island, where a large party was landed. They took with them a number of tents and provisions, making it unnecessary to visit the ship, and at once started to work under Harford's direction. For ten days they dug from daylight to dusk, but not even a color, as the miners say, did they find. The writer of the letter says: "The man Harford has all the plans and told us what we should find as we dug down, and to be sure everything came off as he said except the treasure. We were working for ten days, but not a trace could we find. The captain decided to wait no longer and we sailed for Panama and left Harford there. He told me that he intended to organize another party to go back and continue the search."

This probably ends the Cocos Island search, as far as the British navy is concerned, as the officers are of the opinion that they were deceived by one evidently working under a delusion, and who had put them to a lot of trouble and considerable expense.

I was reading an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the Worcester Enterprise recently, which leads me to write this. I can truthfully say I never used any remedy equal to it for colic and diarrhoea. I have never had to use more than one or two doses to cure the worst case with myself or children.—W. A. Hawaiian Electric Company.

The cleanest, brightest and really, in the long run, the cheapest and best light for use in the family residence, is the incandescent electric light. Safe; nothing could be safer. A few days ago a prominent gentleman of Honolulu came rushing down to the office of the Electric Company and said: "Give me figures for wiring my house, and I want it done at once; no more lamps for me. Last night a lamp tipped over and it came so near setting fire to the house and burning my children and I take no more risks."

This is the sentiment of quite a number in the past few weeks, who have ordered their houses fitted with the perfect light. Just think it over and make up your mind that you want the best and safest light; send for the Hawaiian Electric Company and tell them what you want.

We have a complete stock of everything in this line and have just received a lot of the very latest designs in chandeliers.

The Luso Commends Minister Damon's Charity.

Following is a translation of an editorial that appeared in the Luso on April 2nd:

"His Excellency, S. M. Damon, Minister of Finance of the Republic, who during his incumbency has been the anchor of the country in all which touches financial matters, not only in his official capacity, but also as a private person, aiding with his liberal purse the hard-pressed financiers of the country, has also with his voice and conservative opinions before the Legislature lent great help to the country, and at various times not only in the Legislature, but also in the Executive Council, presented measures, which have been of great benefit to the people in general, one of which is the abolition of duties on wines, and now is fighting for the abolition of part of the personal tax, reducing it from five dollars a year to four."

"These facts prove that his excellency is not only the financial anchor of the Republic, but also the only friend of the poor among the members of the Executive Council of the Government."

SEARCH FOR PEDIGREE.

The craze for royal ancestry has become so violent in Baltimore, owing to the establishment of the new Order of the Crown, that the Peabody library is overrun with persons wishing to consult its fine collection of the history of English counties, which contain long genealogical lists and show just where various royal lines shot out dubious connections with the Smiths, the Joneses and the Browns. All kinds of kings are in demand, but, according to the Baltimore papers, any old king will do for most of those who seek royal descent. If people only realized what a wicked, beastly set most of those old kings and queens really were they would not care to acknowledge the relationship.
