Radio Record Is Accomplished By Local Operator

Sending Of Message and Reply Between Atlantic Coast and Maui Takes Only Four Minutes, Eight Seconds

Testifying to the remarkable progress of radio, Clifford J. Dow, Wailuku wireless operator, today announced the transmission of a message and reply between this city and Hartford, Conn., in four minutes, eight seconds. The radio-gram was relayed from the Connecticut station via one intermediate station at Sleepy Eye, Minn., by Hiram Percy Maxim, call 1-AW. The message was relayed through Lloyds Berkner, 9-AWM at the Minnesota station to 6-ZAC, Dow's headquarters.

First Local Relay

In explaining the feat, Dow said: "This is the first time a relay has been accomplished across the United States to Hawaii and is remarkable in the time it was accomplished and in the fact that only one intermediate station was required to span the approximate distance of 5500 miles."

"It is also worthy of comment that the power used in transmission at each of these stations is less than half a kilowatt. It is probably one of the most wonderful feats ever accomplished either in commercial or amateur circles."

"The distance between Hartford and Sleepy Eye is approximately 1100 miles and it is 4400 miles between that town and Wailuku."

Low Power Employed

"The power used at 1-AW is not known here, but Sleepy Eye uses one 250 watt tube on one third of its power and a single 50 watt tube is used at Wailuku. The power input at 6-ZAC is approximately one sixth of one kilowatt. 6-ZAC is regularly in good communication with 9-AWM, traffic being handled as easily as local traffic."

Dow recently constructed a receiving set for Andrew Weber of Haiku and that instrument the other night picked up a radio concert in Schneectady, New York. Weber declares he was able to understand the announcements and made a list of the selections played. Weber also picks up concerts each night from Fort Worth, Tex., and from Los Angeles.

Taxation Problems Important Part Of Civic Convention

(Special to Maui News)
HONOLULU, Nov. 23.—Taxation and tax problems now loom up as subjects likely to absorb a large share of attention at the Ninth Annual Civic Convention which opens in Honolulu, December 7th for a two-day session.

With many public improvements imperatively needed, and with small resources in now available funds, it is certain that the Territory faces the necessity of special taxation if all of the projected public improvements are to be put through or even launched with the next two years.

Frederick D. Lowrey, member of the last legislature and recently elected to the 1923 legislature, has made a special study of tax problems and is now at work upon a paper to be read at the convention which will, it is expected, set the key-note of the discussion. Another topic of special interest to the outside islands is that of a $100,000 appropriation for the Hawaii Tourist Bureau.

The Tourist Bureau foresees the greatest period of expansion in the tourist industries the islands have ever enjoyed, provided advantage is taken of conditions in the mainland now to attract visitors to the Hawaiian islands. The $100,000 will be expended in building up the tourist trade to what is confidently expected to be unprecedented figures.

Other subjects to be taken up are County and Territorial Fairs, Harbor Improvements, Industrial Education, and a survey of the waters surrounding the Hawaiian archipelago.

With these subjects coming up the Ninth Annual Convention is beginning to arouse exceptional local interest and it is hoped that large delegations will come from each of the other islands.

Agenda

1. Taxation.
2. Hawaii, an integral part of the United States.
3. Coast and geodetic survey of waters surrounding the Hawaiian archipelago.
4. Country and territorial fairs.
5. Labor resolution before congress.
6. Harbor improvements.
7. Acquiring Sand Island to the Territory.
8. Public education and its relation to the industries of the Territory.

Steady Growth Shown In Use Of Library By All Parts Maui

Continued growth of the Maui County Free Library and a considerable growth in its use as shown by the number of books circulated in the month is told in the report of the librarian to the board of managers for the month of October. The board met on Tuesday afternoon and approved a budget for the next biennial period which is to be presented to the meeting of librarians and trustees of the library Hawaii and the annual meeting to be held in Honolulu at the end of the month at which will be prepared the statement for the legislature of the amounts required by the libraries of the territory.

Last month there were loaned from the main library in Wailuku 1726 volumes and from 11 branches reporting 1184, a total of 2910. Those figures do not show the work of all of the branches nor the number of volumes used in the various schools. In the month there were shipped to school and other branches 671 books and there were 298 returned which made the number of volumes in schools and branches 2507.

Molokai schools were added this fall to those that are supplied with books and the reports from there show the children are making a large use of them. The various branches that have reported show that the service they are rendering has increased over the spring and summer months and a much larger use of the institution is being made outside of Wailuku.

There were added during the month 333 volumes of which 301 were purchased and 32 gifts. Of the books purchased 163 were works for adults, 93 juveniles and 41 books of reference. During its earlier stages the library had to purchase a large proportion of books for children but recently has been able to add more books for adults and its policy for this year includes a considerable increase in reference works.

Maui Plantation Methods Praised

Wailuku Leads In Selected Seed Program and Work of Wash Loader Is Commended By Planters Committee

In the coming year as much as $75,000 may be spent in trying out cane loading devices. The subject was discussed at some length at the planters meeting in Honolulu Tuesday. Two machines especially came in for comment, that invented by Ed. J. Walsh of Punene and the Pawling and Harnischfeger boom type. A strong effort was made to have a number of the latter type purchased and used but it was decided finally to leave the matter of type to committee.

The committee approved the design of E. J. Walsh's loader, constructed for and used by the "A. & B." plantations on Maui. This machine eliminates the loading plank, which is probably the cause of more bad accidents in the harvest field than any other one station.

The Walsh loader is a steel conveyor 5 feet 9 inches wide and 31 feet long, mounted on a 1-ton Ford truck the rear wheels of which have been replaced by a short caterpillar tread. The conveyor is pivoted on a differential pedestal which permits it to be tilted up and down and swung all or partly around. The power is taken directly from the Ford engine.

Work of Wash Loader

At Punene the poorest day's work done was 4 tons a man in an 8.5 hour day with new Filipinos, and 8.1 tons a man in 7.5 hours with Japanese, the machine was put right into the field and no favors shown it, as cane had to be got to the mill. The loading tracks were spaced 165 feet apart.

Average cost of elevating cane into the cars was 39 cents a ton. It was found that open or stake cars were not filled as well as by hand labor, otherwise the machine worked entirely satisfactory.

The committee disapproved the Fritsch-Hughes loader. It did not do the work and does not appear to be perfected. The cane-grapple also met with their disapproval as being too cumbersome.

Would "Borrow" a Plantation

Hall said the P. & H. machines cost about $10,000 each. The committee would like to have the trustees buy five machines. The slings and miscellaneous equipment would cost $10,000 more. If this were done, and they could get one plantation to use nothing else during an entire season, their value would be proved or disproved in a year.

This recommendation was opposed by H. E. Penhalow, who thought it would be more useful to spend $10,000 on the Walsh loader. This elicited the information that Mr. Walsh does not want any help from the H. S. P. A. He is willing they should take his cane loader and try it out to their heart's content, but it is his machine, he is doing the inventing, and the planters can go chase themselves when it comes to putting up the coin.

Wailuku the Leader

Chairman Larsen of the cultivation committee, called attention at the Monday meeting to the fact that Wailuku Sugar Co. is the first plantation in Hawaii to put "selected seed" on the commercial sugar map. Enough reselected seed has been accumulated to take care of all of the 193 plantings. This plantation is the only one, also, which has made a commercial beginning on single-eye resistant Lahaia seed.

The Wailuku practice of relining irrigation ditches with concrete slabs awhile the ditch is in full use at no greater than construction first cost is an engineering achievement.

Baldwin's automatic flume system works well is the flow if small and plenty of time is given, Larsen said. A stream no larger than a man's little finger will run 200 yards and thoroughly wet the ground, whereas a large stream would run fast and do little good. A little stream will run through and under deep trash. This is the necessary element in this system. It often takes three hours to wet one row.

FRENCH "TIGER" TAKES FIERY STAND ON SENATE CRITICISM

Writ Of Attachment Closes Doors Maui Sport Goods House

Judgement in the sum of $253.88 and costs and attorney's fee was confessed in the Wailuku district magistrate's court this morning by Frank J. Weissblatt, doing business as the Maui Sporting Goods Company in the action brought by Th. H. Davies and Co., through Attorney W. F. Crockett. The store has been closed all this week following the service of a writ of attachment in the case.

On the property of the Maui Sporting Goods Company there is a chattel mortgage for $300 to Clinton S. Childs which was duly recorded last night. Other debts are said to include loans of $1250, a bill of the Wilson Sporting Goods house and other smaller claims. It is said that plans are forming to care for the interests of the creditors.

Maui Sporting Goods Company was inaugurated by Leland C. Lewis after his connection with Alexander House Settlement was ended. He came to Maui as a boys' work director. Later Frank Weissblatt, who also had been engaged in boys' work for the settlement, resigned that position and became associated with Lewis. Then articles of copartnership were filed.

Early last summer Weissblatt went to the mainland and while he was gone Lewis caused to be published a notice that Maui Sporting Goods Company would not be responsible for any debts contracted by any one other than himself and that he was sole owner thereof.

Reports at that time indicated that there had been a permanent rupture between the partners but, on the return of Weissblatt, business relations were resumed. In the course of a few weeks, however, there came another rupture and it was announced that Weissblatt had purchased Lewis' interests and would conduct the business. It was a short time later that Lewis left Maui.

Comprehensive Work On Islands Issued

A comprehensive and interesting study of the Hawaiian Islands is contained in a small booklet, "A Visit to Hawaii," written by Lillian Shrevebury Mesick and recently released for publication.

The author, for years a resident of the territory, has succeeded in accomplishing what has been unsuccessfully attempted many times before—an actual word picture of Hawaii net, interestingly drawn and infinitely more presentable to the mainland or prospective visitor than the pamphlets or histories heretofore obtainable.

In the new booklet, the reader is carried from the Matson dock in San Francisco to Honolulu, and later to the points of world wide interests in the Islands. The wonders of the various territorial features of the territory are concisely explained with the attendant history in easily readable bits.

"The reader of 'A Visit to Hawaii' should never forget what he or she has learned in this compact work. The booklet is a publication of the Instructor Literature Series and is designed to be of value to teachers as well as travelers and others."

Challenges Senator Hitchcock To Visit France and "Learn Facts"; Denies He Is Militarist

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)
BOSTON, Nov. 24.—The Tiger of France today lashed back at the United States Senate, replying particularly to Senators Hitchcock and Borah. Clemenceau, in the first American interview given the Associated Press, said:

"Senator Hitchcock calls me a militarist. He is in the senate only a few days more and when he is free I dare him to go to France and learn the facts."

Referring to the occupation of German territory by French black troops, the former premier said that Hitchcock had been misled by German propaganda. "There is not one black soldier in German territory," he declared.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Georges Clemenceau, former premier of France in the first address of his American tour before a tremendous crowd at the Metropolitan Opera House, declared that Germany is already prepared for another war. He pointed out the rearmament of the Turks and Soviet Russia as ominous clouds of war.

"The present time is the 'greatest crisis' the French statesman said, and sooner or later the United States must interest herself in the post war affairs of Europe because she 'couldn't continue to be comfortable and wealthy if Europe is covered with blood.'"

Criticizes U. S. Stand

Clemenceau offered frank criticism of America's post war attitude, declaring she had a large share in imposing the terms of peace and was faced with the duty of seeing they are enforced. He said that if France had known in 1918 the reparations would not be paid she would have gone on to Berlin.

The Germans are manufacturing cannons by the hundreds, Clemenceau told his hearers. He said he told Lloyd George:

"They are preparing war again. Ludendorff and Hindenburg are preparing a civil war to crush German democracy."

League Is Scored

He also stated he didn't believe the League of Nations could prevent war and did not see how war was ever prevented among men. "The League means 'avoiding war when possible,'" Clemenceau believes.

"Now we are in the greatest crisis and nobody knows European prosperity won't effect American prosperity. You announced to the world you would set them free—you are granted the good fortune to think."

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The tour of Georges Clemenceau, former French premier, through America was the center of debate in the Senate today. Senators Hitchcock and Borah criticized the attitude taken by the Frenchman, the former declaring France's present policy was one of war, not peace.

The legislator further said that France is provoking Germany by maintaining black troops in occupation of her territory and by other measures. Senator Borah said Clemenceau has charged the United States with dishonesty.

The statement of the Frenchman in which the blame for Europe's ill is charged to the American withdrawal from Europe are characterized by Borah as "unfounded and ungrateful." The senator said that he agreed with Clemenceau in that the world was on the verge of another war, but that it was due to Europe and not to the policy of the United States.

SANDY HERD LIKES YANKEE GOLF PLAY

(By Associated Press Mail)—Sandy Herd, upon his arrival here from the United States spoke with an Evening News reporter regarding American golfers and the reception they gave the British team. "The Americans are far more open handed than the English," he said "and their golf clubs are palatial. We had a royal time. Our greatest difficulty was the series of tremendous journeys by train which we made through the night, from one golf course to the next."

Herd described the American golfers as a very young lot who seems to play their best golf when in the early twenties. "They pick up the game much more quickly than Englishmen" he continued. "The stories that they train for weeks before a match are somewhat exaggerated, but they certainly practise putting for half hours at a time, and it is at putting they beat us."

Herd does not think much of the American caddies. He says they are useless. "They never clean your ball or your clubs," he says "and the latter have to be dealt with on a cleaning machine in the professional room. They find it a great effort even to help look for a lost ball."

Paia Will Clash With Lahaina In Second Big Game Of Series

Contest Will Start At 2:30 Sunday Afternoon On Fair Grounds Gridiron—Maroon Is Favorite Although Manager Joe Meinecke Is Pessimistic

Old Gus Gloom is a hanger-on around the Paia football team training camp, if any weight is to be placed on the non-committal statement made by Manager Joe Meinecke of the Maroons when asked yesterday morning concerning the lineup of his team for the Sunday game when the Maroon eleven stacks up against the West Maui, Buff and Blue squad.

"We'll use the same lineup that played Kahului and try to hold them down," declared Meinecke. But we all know that as far as being hanging prior to any big game is concerned, Coach Andy Smith himself would be backed off the map by the Paia leader.

Maroon Favorite

Paia is forecast to win. Not only Sunday's game but the Maui championship as well. But it will not be a walk away nor will it be a simple task for the Maroons to take the measure of the Lahaina team, judging from the fight they put up against Wailuku last week. The "break" if there is really such a thing at all, will of course favor the East Maui eleven. They have had a two weeks rest since their victory over Coach Spencer's squad when they rolled up a score of 18 to 0. Nor did Paia play to their best form on that day. They had the game won after the first touchdown and then it was a matter of save their strength for a final rally but the only save needed. Against the Buff and Blue that will be strengthened by Apo, McDonald and Dallas Glick however, the Maroon eleven should have a real task on their hands to secure the victory.

Lahaina Stronger

The Lahaina team has been out in hard practice every evening in anticipation of the hard battle when they meet the Paia squad. The best eleven men the team can command will be placed on the lineup when the whistle blows on Sunday afternoon. Apo has sufficiently recovered from an attack of measles to take his place at end and Dallas Glick who was in Honolulu last week will be on the job at tackle.

Coach McDonald expects to enter the game at quarter and his presence will greatly bolster the team. The Buff and Blue will be fighting hard, the hardest in fact that they know how.

Little can be said of the Paia team. They are strong beyond doubt and have been making every day count in preparation for the game. The battle fought out at Lahaina last week has made the team a trifle wary and they will not be caught off guard. The forward pass work that featured the Buff and Blue game at Lahaina will in all probability be of little use to the team next Sunday for Paia will be on the alert to break up the plays. The contest points to being one of real football with little overhead play.

The lineup for the teams Sunday afternoon will be as follows:

Paia—Robinson, Machado, Misner, Symthe, J. Souza, Vida, Brata, Lee, Martinez, Morton, Coleman, Williams, Palea, Rodriguez and Frank Nunes.

Lahaina—Keanui, Makekau, Dallas Glick, Bill Bray, Henry Robinson, Oha, August Reimann, Sharp, Tommy Ledward, Frank Almeida and MacDonald.

Famous Track Horse From McPhee Stables May Be Sold, Report

Six Teams are Entered to Play On Alexander House Gymnasium Floor During Winter League

The Central Maui Basketball league will begin its series of games on Friday, December 1. That agreement was entered into by the heads of the six teams that comprise the league at a meeting in the chamber of commerce rooms at Wailuku on November 16. As was the case last year, the games will be played in the Wailuku gymnasium and will start at 7:30 p. m. Two games will be played each Friday night.

Six Teams

Three teams are members of last year's season, there have two withdrawals, and three of the quintet are new organizations. The Alumni Alerts, Brother Stephen captain, and champions of last year will be out in force again. Maui High School under coach Reg Humphreys is the second team of the 1921 circuit to enter the league and Kahului under Manager Spencer, the third.

The three new quintets are the Pals with Harry Chee captain; the Chinese-Americans under Eddie Tam and the Asahi five under the tutelage of W. S. Kah. Team colors are as follows: Asahi, red and blue; Alumni Alerts, blue and gold; Chinese-Americans, black and gold; Kahului, solid blue and white; Maui High, striped blue and white, the Pals, Maroon.

Other Dope

A finance committee was appointed to consist of Eddie Tam and Brother Stephen. They will handle all receipts at the gate until the close of the league season at which time it is expected the money will be split among the teams.

The league adopted the Wright and Dittson basketball.

The officials appointed to the league are: C. E. Chatterton and Alton Rogers, referees; C. S. Childs and C. A. Puck, timers; Correa, scorer.

Eight players will be allowed on each team and a corresponding number of passes will be issued to each manager or captain.

OOWAH! MAUI HAS NEW SPORTING ED

Maui has a brand new sport scribe. The gentleman hailing from Kahului, is G. C. Yamauchi, and his first "scop" is the story of last week ends baseball activities in that region of the island.

His version follows: "Two games were played on the Paia baseball grounds Sunday afternoon. There was a large crowd of spectators who witnessed the two games.

"The first game was played between the Paia and Puunene. The Paia had the game in hand until the lucky seven when in came Puunene scoring five runs. The game ended in favor of Puunene by a score of 8-6.

"The second game followed immediately after the first. The 'Mighty Asahi' last year's champions of the Japanese Baseball League was badly defeated by the Kahului nine by a score of 7 to 1. The Kahului's had the Asahi cinched to a scoreless game until the seventh inning when Hiral scored. (Editor's Note—Apparently the celebrated virtues of the seventh inning were well established in both contexts.)

"Excellent work by Masaichi on the mound and Ishibashi behind the bat was largely responsible for the Kahului's victory. Masaichi struck out 12 men. Yanaqi and Hamamoto hurled for the losers, each striking out two batsmen. M. Noda umpired the games.

There were no records broken at the meet.

The final game of the Junior football series will be played at Wells Park on Saturday, November 25, between Maui High and Haiku. Haiku, although defeated by the Wailuku team last Saturday, is planning on a victory this week. Their team has been out practicing every night and is strengthening the few weak spots which were brought out by last week's game. Several new players are to be added to their string, among them a young man by the name of Busby, who will take a position in the back field. The Maui High outfit has been working out some new plays which are expected to show up Tony's "Pine Packers."

This game should prove an interesting one as the Hamakua boys defeated the Wailuku eleven by a score of 14 to 0, while the Wailuku aggregation defeated the Haiku team by a score of 20 to 12, but the Haikus, by the addition of some new players and some new tricks are planning to show the school boys "how it is done."

Will Travel

The High School team is planning to go to Hilo over the next week end to play football with the Hilo Highs, and will meet a team from Honolulu on Maui the following week.

A small admission charge will be made for tomorrow's game.

The possible lineup for the High school team tomorrow, subject to scholastic grade, will be:

Ends, John St. Sure and Guy Goodness; tackles, Henry Luke, David Kapihoni; guards, Arthur Yee, Frank Sommerfield; center, Foshi Shimoda; quarter, Alfred Kaumeheua; halves, Thomas Aki, Clarence Pereira; full, Wm. Chalmers.

Kailli Trio Booked For Maui Theaters

The Kailli trio of singers and dancers will appear in the leading theatres of the Maui circuit next week, according to a statement made by Ray Rietow, local manager for the Maui Amusement Company, yesterday.

The first appearance here will be at the Hippodrome on Wednesday, November 29, and the second at the Kahului Theatre on the day following, Thursday, November 30.

The regular films will be shown at the theatres on the two nights of special attraction.

Mary Pickford Will Play In Dual Role; Home Will Benefit

Magic! The magic of Mary Pickford. A magic that looks out from the screen straight into the heart of you; a magic that made and keeps her eternally—Mary!

Mary Pickford, "America's sweetheart," will be shown on the screen in "Little Lord Fauntleroy" at the two leading Maui theatres next week. The first showing at the Kahului Theatre on Tuesday, the 28th, and at the Hippodrome in Wailuku on Friday, December 1. Also—the management of the Maui Amusement Company has arranged that 10 percent of the receipts from this film will go towards the Children's Home fund, the home now in course of construction next to the Malulani hospital for the homeless children of this island.

Here is Mary Pickford's masterpiece—the story treasured closest to her own heart, a photoplay of remarkable qualities into which she has devotedly put every bit of the art for which she is famous. An absolutely perfect Pickford role, so exactly suited to the winsome star's versatile and unrivaled talents that the wonder of it all is that the world has had to wait so long to see her in it.

You are challenged then to see Mary Pickford in the production of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" and to come away from this exceptional masterpiece without a feeling of good cheer and good will. People with the warm blood of life in their veins will all appreciate Fauntleroy because he is such a very real little fellow, although there are circumstances in his happy, troublesome career, sufficiently strange to satisfy even the enthusiastic lovers of the marvelous.

The story is vivid, beautifully thought and intense with interest, from the pen of one of the greatest of women writers—Frances Hodgson Burnett. The millions of readers of the novel by Burnett will be delighted to know that Mary Pickford in reproducing the story for the screen has preserved all its quaintness and charm, and has been especially faithful to the customs and manners of the period so vividly depicted by the author.

As a vehicle for Mary Pickford, the story of "Little Lord Fauntleroy," is ideal, running as it does the entire gamut of emotional drama, pathos and riotous comedy. It has been acclaimed by great critics as "Mary Pickford at her best."

"THE NUT"

How a man dashed madly through the streets in his underclothes, stopped New York traffic with a clothing dummy, started a fire unintentionally, became a murder-suspect also unintentionally and finally invented his way to the altar, are but a few of the remarkable features of "The Nut," starring Douglas Fairbanks, which is coming to the Maui Theaters for a week run.

The picture is said to be a combination of comedy and heart interest, with a very pleasing love story dominating throughout. In addition to the star, the photoplay has in it some of the most capable and popular screen players in the picture business.

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK

Throughout the land the week starting Sunday, December 3, is "American Education Week," a part of a concerted effort particularly sponsored by the American Legion.

Here in Hawaii every week is American Education week but some added stress can be laid upon the work for the seven days that are to be observed nationally.

These Islands recognized the problem of Americanization long before the war brought the subject to the forefront of attention on the mainland. Then Hawaii was dealing with the task of moulding aliens and the children of aliens into Americans. Perhaps the problem here was not more acute than in the foreign quarters of New York and other great centers of population, but it had been seen and tackled by the people of these Islands.

It is a mistake to say that the problem here is a Japanese problem. It is an alien problem and happens to be made more acute from the fact that the Japanese are throwing more difficulties into the way of its solution than any other nationality. The result has been something of a deadlock in educational matters but a firm stand has been taken by the legislature and the board of public instruction. It may be that more teeth will have to be added to the law relative to control of foreign language schools but the territory is committed on the subject and will not recede. The action taken by the department in Honolulu last Saturday would have been an appropriate one for the national week and in taking it the department was simply a little more than two weeks in advance of the nation's observance of the week. The mainland United States will have to speed up if it wants to catch up with Hawaii in the handling of "melting pot" problems.

PASSING THE BUCK

In Honolulu there is being carried on a concerted effort to pass the buck and have the board of supervisors pass legislation to prevent smoking in the theaters. It has been said that some of the theater owners sought to dodge responsibility for the proposed reform and wanted the supervisors to act. They and not the supervisors are the ones who should lay down rules for the conduct of their patrons.

If a person makes a nuisance of himself in a theater by a display of boisterous conduct, he would be ejected and the theater owners would not ask for an order from the board of supervisors to do so.

But the biggest amount of buck passing is being done by the theater going public. Reports indicate that a large majority are ostensibly opposed to smoking in the theaters. The word ostensibly is used since they could force the theaters to prohibit smoking within two weeks, probably within one. Let them notify the theater managements that they will refrain from attendance until the non-smoking edict is given and let them live up to their ultimatum. If, following such an announcement, the attendance at the theaters fell off noticeably, there would be a rush to comply with the demand.

It is doubtful if any large proportion of smokers would absent themselves from the theater if they could not indulge their habit without stepping outside for a whiff of the weed. For them to abstain from smoking while watching a picture or attending a theatrical performance would not be nearly the inconvenience to them that tobacco fumes are to large numbers of non-smokers.

There is no good reason why smoking should be permitted in the theatres of Honolulu or any where else in the Islands. It is merely that the managers have not the sand to side with the non-smoking element. They think that element will continue to stand for their indifference on the subject and hence do not act but they can be made to act when the non-smoking public really wants action taken. It would not be a boycott but simply a demand that the comfort of the majority be catered to by theatrical managements.

CHILDREN'S HOME REALIZED

Maui is to be congratulated upon the fact that it has assured itself of a place where homeless children will find a home. The response to the call for funds was answered in true Maui fashion and showed that a realization of the need of such an institution had come to the community as a whole.

There is no stronger appeal to the average man or the average woman than that of a helpless child. It is the response to such an appeal that assures one of the underlying goodness in human nature. He or she who loves children and is ready to show such love as occasion offers cannot be wholly bad. It is their best nature that speaks when the child in distress is observed.

Considerable publicity has been necessary to "put across" the Children's Home for Maui. There had to be first an awakening to the fact that there was a great need. That awakening was brought about and the most pleasing part in connection with the whole project is that so large a proportion of the funds has come from the citizens, and from citizens of small means in many instances, and that it has not been necessary to depend upon the corporations to meet the communities need though the latter are helping splendidly.

In the sense in which the word "charity" is usually employed, the Maui Children's Home is not a charity. It is a meeting of the obligations of the community by the members of the community. But their action in responding to readily and contributing so liberally is to the credit of all who have rendered such assistance.

The new institution will soon be functioning. Rapid progress is being made in the construction of the building and it can now be considered that what only a few months ago was a dream, more or less altruistic, is now practically an accomplished fact.

Next Friday you will be reading the Daily Maui News.

One month to make out a list of gifts and do the Christmas shopping.

School teachers are entitled to compensation under the territorial workman's compensation act, is the opinion of Attorney General Matthewman. It is hard to find any reason why they should not be. If an individual or firm look after injured employes there is no reason why the government should not, also.

Four members of the board named by the department of labor to investigate the labor needs of Hawaii have arrived in the Islands. If they will open their eyes they will see the need for themselves for every opportunity will be afforded them but if they will not open their eyes to the clear evidence, the trip will have availed the Territory little.

Hawaii's Civic Convention will meet in Honolulu December 7-8 and Maui should be represented at the meeting. Members of the

By "SPIKE"

NOT A FISH STORY

Down at Waihee beach the other day they caught a fish with a hog's head (no we don't mean what you think), a pair of wings and a spiked tail. We guess it really happened—but shades of pink elephants and calico lizards! We'd hate to catch a fish like that on the average fishing trip. Absolutely.

The wages of sin are fairly high if one is to believe press agent reports of the average movie vamp's salary.

Likewise he who goes "early to bed, etc." and follows the "little heed prevents great need" idea usually gets it in the neck.

"Girl Babies Are A Drug On The Market."—Dorothy Dix. Mebbe so, but as far as can be learned, not many modern families are addicted to the drug habit.

And—we have yet to see any kind of baby that has a narcotic effect.

Things are getting so mixed up that an honest, hard working politician hardly knows when to be "dry" or when to be "wet."—Columbia Record.

It appears from the recent election that a certain party had the right lunch.

Hilo is developing its natural resources at an astonishing rate. Recently a tidal wave delivered a flock of fish right up to the principal market. Then a group of watermelons were found floating in the bay. Now if some Burbank will cultivate an oke tree.

Considerable annoyance is evinced on Hawaii over suggestions that the watermelon crop may have been brought by sperm whales.

That Jonah stuff will get over pretty well up to a certain point but the latest seems a little hard to swallow.

A recent convert to the ranks of the Benedicts is already remarking that he notes a suspicious resemblance between the platinum wedding ring he had to buy and a handcuff.

If a ruble ever gets to be worth the paper its printed on, they'll probably call that par, remarks an exchange. If "ifs" are to be concerned at all, a recent news picture shows a huge heap of Russian crown jewels now in the hands of the Soviet, and "If" diamonds could be melted the money could be stabilized.

Maui Chamber of Commerce who can go will be given credentials as delegates if they will apply to the secretary.

Maui plantation methods have been handed some pleasing bouquets in some of the reports rendered to the Planters' Convention. Wailuku Sugar Co., has come in for its share.

WITH SAFETY

The outstanding feature of the market for bonds during recent months has been the heavy buying for permanent investment.

Notwithstanding that this demand has resulted in a substantial advance in prices for bonds in general, the present outlook indicates a gradual trend toward the level which prevailed some years ago, particularly as applied to issues of the better grade, which still yield a liberal return.

It is doubtful if it will be possible for several years to purchase bonds at prices which will yield the return now possible.

CAPTAIN EAST BALL

This form of captain ball is sometimes called emperor ball. As in other variants, each court (half-field) contains a circle of base-rings within each of which stands a baseman, with a central ring for the captain, and a guard from the opposite team outside each base-ring. Each team has two fielders, free rangers, whose duty it is to prevent the ball from reaching the emperor from the opposite side. The emperor, who stands on a box in the center of the field, starts the ball at the outset and whenever necessary afterward. He must be strictly impartial, tossing the ball to either side in turn, and catching it from each team. The object for each team is to throw the ball (a basket-ball) from baseman to baseman around the circle and from last baseman to captain, when the captain tries to throw it to the emperor. The opposing guards to throw it across to the baseman on their own team. A team scores one whenever the ball rounds the circle, one when it is caught by the captain, and three points when successfully thrown from the captain to the emperor. A team also scores whenever an opposing baseman attempts to prevent any or all of these plays and get possession of the ball steps out of his base, when a guard steps inside a base, when an opponent

Motorists who follow this rule in their gasoline buying find that they not only save money—because "Red Crown" yields more per gallon mileage—but improve the power and stamina of the motor.

"Red Crown" enables your car to develop the maximum of power that its makers built into it. It vaporizes rapidly and uniformly in the carburetor, and is consumed completely in the cylinders. Uniform wherever and whenever you buy it—hence you don't have to bother with carburetor adjustments.

THE HOME IN GOOD TASTE

By Harold Donaldson Eberlein
Joint Author of "Practical Book of Interior Decoration," Etc.

No. 33—Stuart or Jacobean Furniture
Stuart or Jacobean furniture is usually considered first among the historical or period styles because it is a part of our national heritage, just like the English language, and part of our national history, just like the settlement of Jamestown or the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers at Plymouth. It was furniture of this type that the earliest colonists either brought with them or made after their arrival. It was the only kind of furniture they knew, the only they had to equip their houses with.

The articles of furniture commonly in use were chests of various sorts, stools, forms or benches, settees with high backs, cupboards, cabinets, bedsteads, tables and dressers. In the early part of the period there were not many chairs and most people sat upon stools or benches, chairs being reserved for the heads of families and honored guests. About the middle of the seventeenth century chairs became more numerous.

In England oak was the standard material, but deal, elm and other woods were also used. In America much of the furniture was made of oak, but pine, elm and similar materials were frequently employed. The furniture was simple in design with straight, vigorous lines, and all the pieces were stoutly constructed and of sturdy proportions.

DREAMLAND ADVENTURES

The Magic Fairy Cap
By ARTHUR W. STACE
Copyright 1921, by Public Ledger Co.

Jack and Janet are told by Cookey and Merry Robin they need a magic fairy cap to enter Fairyland. They can gain this cap by doing a brave deed and rescuing a fairy in distress. Following alarm cries from the birds, they find a tiny creature caught in a spider's web. A snake is crawling up to eat him.

CHAPTER III

The Test of Bravery
Jack didn't want to go back to face the snake climbing the tree to eat the Fairy prince trapped in the spider's web. Snakes made him feel very creepy.

But if he didn't go back the snake surely would make an end of Prince Flitter-Flash. Jack and Janet were the only ones who could save the struggling fairy. The birds screamed loudly for help but they were afraid to venture near the snake.

Jack took only an instant to make up his mind. He snatched up a stout club and turned back to the lovely dell.

"Wait here," he said to Janet. But Janet didn't wait. She picked up a stick and ran after Jack.

Mr. Snake was climbing the little tree beneath the spider's web, in which the Fairy prince was caught. He thought he had scared Jack away. He rubbed his ugly head above the edge of the web, and his forked tongue flickered hungrily as he gazed over the entangled fairy. He thought he was going to have a dainty feast.

He snatched up a stout club and turned back to the lovely dell!

The snake drew back his head to strike at the helpless captive. "Hiss! I've got you," he exulted. Jack lifted his club. Thud! He hit the snake squarely on the head. Down dropped the snake in a heap. The sudden blow had stunned him. There is a lot of fight in a snake. This one couldn't be killed by one blow. He squirmed around to battle Jack.

Thud! Down came Jack's club again. It banged the snake in the neck. Thud! Thud! Jack struck again and again. The birds turned their screams of alarm into shrieks of joy. They thought Prince Flitter-Flash was safe.

But he wasn't. While danger from the snake was past, he was still tangled in the spider's web. And hidden in a den at a corner of the web was the giant spider watching and waiting. The spider had caught the prince for his own meal, but had been scared into hiding by the sight of the snake. As Jack knocked the snake down, the spider saw a chance to regain his dinner. He scurried onto the web to drag the fairy into his den.

Janet saw this other peril. She shivered as the spider darted toward the fairy. Spiders made her feel as creepy as snakes did.

But Janet proved brave. Smash! She drove her stick through the web, almost clipping off the spider's toes. The web was cut in two. The startled spider clung to one side. The Fairy prince was tangled in the other. Janet dropped her stick, so she could use both hands to free the prince.

The spider threw out a fresh thread and started toward Janet. She tore the Fairy prince loose and ran up the hillside. Jack gave the snake a finishing whack and followed her.

At the top of the hill they paused, and Janet held the Fairy prince up to get a good look at him.

"Why," cried Jack in disappointment, "the Fairy prince is just a humming bird."

The tiny creature gave a tinkling laugh.

"If you think that," he whispered, "you are going to get a big surprise."

(What that surprise is will be told in next Tuesday's chapter.)

Week Of 'American Education' Called

Superintendent MacCaughy Asks Cooperation Of All Hawaii In Observing Education Standards

Attention to the week set aside for the observation of "American Education," December 3 to 8, is called in a letter just issued by Vaughan MacCaughy, superintendent of public instruction for the territory.

"Despite a multiplicity of special 'weeks' consideration of American education is particularly appropriate for Hawaii, where high ideals of American education have prevailed for many years," MacCaughy writes. "It seems fitting that the people of Hawaii should join their fellow-Americans throughout the United States, during this designated week, in a consideration and recognition of the great bed-rock principles upon which the American public school system is founded.

The public school program announced by MacCaughy, is as follows:

1. The primary aim of our public school system is to train for effective American citizenship. This training includes mastery of the "three R's," a friendly attitude toward industry and American home-making, and a working knowledge of American history, civics, and the ideals of democracy.

2. The American public school system endeavors to provide, for those who are qualified, an unbroken pathway from kindergarten to University.

3. American homes can be best made and maintained by women trained in American home-making. The home-making subjects are, therefore, of special importance in Hawaii's school curriculum.

4. American homes are dependent on dignifying industry. The schools should be closely and sympathetically articulated with the great basic industries of Hawaii. From these the schools derive their support, and in these Hawaii's young people seek livelihood. This means industry and agricultural education, trade schools, part time and continuation classes, and vocational guidance.

5. Physical education, is of strategic importance, as the productiveness and happiness of a community is determined in large measure, by its health.

6. Wholesome moral and ethical teaching should pervade the curriculum, as the final products of education are character and personality. These are expressed largely through community service. "He profits most who serves best."

7. The costs of education are chargeable, not alone to the individual or child, but to the State, which maintains the public schools in part to protect its own future, and to preserve its social institutions against ignorance and all the forces of evil.

At a recent meeting in the Waiakea Waena schoolhouse in Hilo, it was recommended that the name "Waiakea Homesteads" be continued with the "Wehikulani" taken off. It is also hoped to have the homestead road named "Panaewa Drive" instead of Luana road.

Obituary

MRS. CLEMENT C. CROWELL

Funeral services for the late Esther Crowell, wife of Sheriff Clement C. Crowell were held yesterday morning at the family home under the auspices of the Foresters and interment followed in the family burial plot.

Mrs. Crowell died on Tuesday night. For a long time she had been a patient sufferer from intense pain at times from attacks of heart trouble. For the past several months her condition had been growing worse and she had been weaker so that the end was not unexpected.

With the passing of Mrs. Crowell there went a beloved friend of many, a valued and valuable member of the community, a fond mother and a devoted and helpful wife. In many walks of life her kindly influence has been felt and will be missed. She was vice president of the Hawaiian Women's Club and a helpful member as well as official, ever striving to aid needy Hawaiians through the club as well as individually.

Though her health was then bad Mrs. Crowell took an active part in the Baldwin campaign for delegate and later the Wailuku issue in celebration of the victory was in her charge as one of the most efficient women for the conduct of such affairs that could be found. Since then her activities have become less and less evident.

Mrs. Crowell was, before marriage, Esther Wainee, a daughter of an old and well known Maui family. She married Henry Tallant and after his death she married Clement C. Crowell in Wailuku on June 1, 1908. She is survived by four children by her first marriage, Clement Crowell Jr., and John M. Crowell, and her husband. Mourning her passing is general among the large circle of friends she leaves whose sympathy goes out to the bereaved family.

Rev. Fr. Justin officiated at the funeral services, Mrs. Crowell having been a member of his parish.

BROTHER HENRY

Former students of St. Louis College, of whom there are a considerable number on Maui, are sincerely grieved at the news of the death of Brother Henry Ernest at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, on November 6, although the news was not unexpected as it was because of ill health he left Honolulu several months ago.

Born in Rochester, New York, the late Brother Henry was 63 years old. He joined the Order of the Brothers of Mary, the mother house being established in Dayton, Ohio, when 16 years of age and came to Honolulu in 1881, at the age of 24, with the second party of Brothers sent to Hawaii.

For several years, during the presidency of Brother George Bertram, who is now at St. Louis college, San Antonio, Texas, Brother Henry was in charge of the playgrounds and boarders' study room at the local institution. In 1893 Brother Henry went to Hilo and for 12 years was principal of St. Mary's school in that city. When Brother Bertram left for the mainland in 1905 Brother Henry succeeded him as the head of St. Louis. He held this position until last year, when he resigned on account of illness, being succeeded by Brother Adolph. After spending some time in Hilo and Wailuku, Brother Henry left for the mainland in May of this year, it being hoped at that time that a change of climate would assist in restoring his health.

Brother Henry was one of the most prominent educators of Hawaii and as president of St. Louis College for many years commanded the love and respect of the entire island community.

LAST BACHELOR DINNER

Douglas Brewster, on the eve of his embarkation on the sea of matrimony was guest of honor at a jolly dinner given for him by Hosmer Rolph at the Wailuku Hotel on Tuesday evening. The private dining room in the Wailuku had been effectively and appropriately decorated for the occasion and the menu left nothing to be desired. Those at table were Hosmer Rolph, host; Douglas Brewster, guest of honor; Derek C. Perry, W. J. Wall, Sir Graeme Sinclair Lockhart, Frank Lufkin and Ralph F. Shaw.

BREWSTER-WEDDICK

In the presence of a congregation that filled to capacity St. Anthony's Church, Miss Winifred Jane Weddick, daughter of Mrs. Winifred Baldwin Weddick, became the bride of Mr. Douglas Frank Nunn Brewster on Wednesday evening. The bride was a Maui girl, a daughter of a Maui family had been born and had grown to womanhood here and so she numbers friends in all parts of the Valley Isle. Thus it was aptly said that "practically all Maui" was in attendance and that it was the largest wedding ever held in St. Anthony's church as well as the largest on Maui during the present social season.

For the wedding the beautiful church had been artistically decorated with charming effect with flowers and under the glow of lights a wonderfully beautiful picture was presented for the ceremony.

At 8 promptly the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" began to throb and pulse softly through the church and the bridal procession started down the aisle. It was led by Frank A. Lufkin, Ralph Shaw and Derek Perry, the latter from New Zealand. Then followed the bridal party. Mrs. Hosmer Rolph was matron of honor and Miss Elizabeth Wall was maid of honor. Both were gowned in lovely draped effect creations of satin and carried bouquets of bridesmaid roses. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Ralph Shaw and Mrs. Sherman Hall, both gowned in lavender georgette over pink satin and also carrying bridesmaid roses bouquets.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her uncle, Erdman D. Baldwin and never had appeared more lovely and attractive. Her gown was of white moire silk and Georgette Canton, cut en train. She was crowned with a cap of Battenberg lace and the lace bridal veil, as the cap, was sprayed with orange blossoms.

At the altar, Mr. Brewster and his best man, Mr. Hosmer Rolph met the party and the wedding ceremony was pronounced by Rev. Fr. Justin in impressive manner, the contracting parties making their replies in clear tones. Then came the recessional march and the procession passed up the aisle and out of the church to the waiting cars that were to take them to the Grand Hotel where a reception was held.

For the reception the entrance to the hotel and the lobby had been decorated by loving friends of the bride. The entrance was an aisle formed by great tubs of ferns and palms. On the mauka side of the lobby there was a bower of fern leaves, white lillies and other white flowers. About the lobby there were great masses and groups of flowers, placed with a charm of artistry. In that bower stood the bride and groom, with matron of honor, maid of honor and bride's maids on their right and ushers on their left, to receive the felicitations of the guests that filled past them for fully an hour. Mrs. Weddick was a little aside, nearer the center of the room, also receiving the guests at her daughter's wedding. For a time lobby and front lanai were a closely filled kaleidoscope and colorful picture and then the Mary Hoffman orchestra began to play and numbers of the guests passed into the great dining room which had been converted into a ball room for the evening. Others still eddied back and forth in the lobby or on the lanai.

During the evening refreshments of ice cream, cake and punch were served by young girls of the Maui community. Shortly after nine o'clock the bridal couple made their way out to an awaiting car and goodbyes were said to the other members of the bridal party as the honeymoon started. Mr. and Mrs. Brewster will occupy the new house which Mr. Brewster has had built on the Fleming Tract, Wailuku.

SIKI A BEARCAT WITH FELLOW MEN

PARIS—(By Associated Press Mail) "Battling" Siki, while training for his fight with Carpenter, received the visit of a burly Senegalese just arrived in France from Africa and whom the boxer had never seen before.

"I want a free ticket for the fight," he said to Siki.

"Why, black man, I don't know you" said Siki, "why should you get a free ticket?"

"I was born in Saint Louis of Senegal, like yourself," responded the negro. Siki muttered something about enlarging the arena to permit all the citizens of Saint Louis to attend the fight free. Then suddenly turning to one of his trainers he said: "Pour some cologne over his head," pointing to his fellow citizen.

The trainer emptied half a quart of perfume over the burly negro's head. Beaming with delight, running his hands through his wholly hair and smelling his fingers with ecstasy, the visiting Senegalese went away happy. He got no pass for the fight.

Every Tire Is Signed

Two men sign every Miller Tire—the maker and the inspector. Both are penalized if a tire comes back.

Under this method, defects have become extremely rare. Not a tire came back for adjustment to many Miller dealers last year.

Over 1,000 tires yearly are worn out in Miller factory tests.

All the best rival tires are constantly compared with the Miller, with these results:

Millers now excel all rivals, both in average and in uniform mileage.

Miller treads outwear rival treads by 25 per cent on the average.

Miller Cords average 15,000 miles—Miller Fabrics from 8,000 to 9,000 miles—in rear-wheel tests under extreme conditions.

You will gain a new idea of modern tires when you test a new-type Miller. Get one now and watch it. The super-service of the Miller Tire is now everywhere discussed.

New Type of Cane Immune To Disease

PORTO RICO, Nov. 10.—Five years ago the sugar plantations of Porto Rico were threatened with disaster because of the sudden appearance and the rapid spread of a serious disease known as yellow stripe, or mosaic disease, and the planters appealed to the United States Department of Agriculture for help. Investigators sent to the island by the Bureau of Plant Industry to cooperate with the insular and Federal Experiment stations there soon discovered that a variety of cane known as Kavangire, then being grown only in experimental plots, seemed to be immune to the disease, which was attacking practically every other variety grown in Porto Rico.

Kavangire cane is grown commercially in the Argentine, and through the effective cooperation of the director of the Tucuman Agricultural Experiment Station the department made arrangements for an immediate shipment of 5 tons of seed cane of this variety to Porto Rico.

One of the stations had 500 acres of Kavangire this year and is planning to increase to 1,000 acres next year. Another has 200 acres in one valley and considerable plantings in other districts. About half of the cane acreage in this locality is now out of cane because of the mosaic disease and only the new variety will be planted hereafter.
