PROGRESS. The Life of the Land is Established in Righteousness.

HONOLULU, MAR. 10, 1894.

The Constitutional Convention.

A correspondent in today's issue makes some very pointed remarks about the wonderful document which was presented to the Advisory Council yesterday under the title "An Act to provide for a Constitutional Convention." It would be of interest if the name of the author of that unparalleled "state document" could be published. A former "state document" signed by Mr. Dole was supposed to have emanated from three senators in Washington, and we are inclined to believe this latest humberg must have been fathered by some member of that erratic institution. We would like the government organs to show some precedent for the principle which underlies the act. The government is not asking for any expression of the people's will, but it ostensibly permits the people to have a voice in the affairs of the country after they through a cast iron oath, virtually have been refused to carry out by peaceful means their sovereign will. However, there is time enough to consider this latest proposition when the American administration has finally expressed its intention in regard to Hawaii and answered the Queen's protest.

The most ingenious part of the proposed Act is the following clause:

Sec. 6. Each voter for delegates may cast as many votes as there are delegates to be elected from the division in which he resides, and may cast one vote for each delegate, or cast them all for one delegate, or may otherwise divide his votes among the several delegates.

The required number of candidates receiving the highest number of votes in the respective divisions shall be the delegates for such divisions.

The object of this proposition is to assure the P. G. a majority in the convention. The government knows perfectly well that the people are able under ordinary election rules to elect everyone of the eighteen members to the convention who are to sit together with the Councils. By the provisions of Section 5. An elector is entitled to cast all votes for one delegate and by rallying the annexationists around one or two nominees in one or two of their most favorable districts they could secure their election and in the convention get a majority of two or four over the people's delegates. If the "father" of the act thought that his device would not be looked through he is rather mistaken. But may we ask when and where in the United States "vote plumping" has ever been in vogue.

An Investigation.

The Japan Mail states that Mr. Ohinda, the Japanese Consul in San Francisco, has been ordered to Guatemala for the purpose of investigating the condition and complaints of the Japanese laborers, who left Hawaii through the agency of Captain Ferguson.

Is It Not Time.

We have in many of our former issues encouraged the government through its members and organs to tell us plain up and down if Hawaii yet boasts of a fundamental law—and we have never been answered. Several lawyers have tried, through test cases to get an answer to the same question from our courts and received no answer. It seems now that it finally is admitted by the government, that we have no constitution. The proposition in W. O. Smith's "violent act" that any provisions in the Constitution not in accord with his act shall not invalidate the same virtually means that any law passed by the temporary government is superior to the Constitution or that there is no fundamental law. The act calling for a constitutional convention is according to the expressions used by the men now proposing the measure highly unconstitutional—at least when the Queen intended to do it. In countries where there is no fundamental law and thereby no guarantee for the personal safety and liberty of residents, it has been considered proper for the foreigners residing there to call upon their respective governments and request the establishing of Consular courts. The courts in Hawaii to day do not enjoy the confidence of the people, because the judges nearly all without exception, have proven themselves as violent agitators, and as partisans during the troubled political affairs of Hawaii. The foreign residents, we believe to be fully justified in protecting themselves against the arbitrary actions of the Provisional Government by calling on their respective representatives, and place before them the causes, which make the creation of Consular Courts desirable and necessary. And there should be no delay in the matter.

The Violent Act.

Mr. W. O. Smith admitted at the last council meeting that his "Russian" act against dangerous persons was a very violent measure, although not "Russian." For the sake of "Western civilization," it is pleasing to notice that quite a number of the members of the council opposed, Mr. Smith's bill. The suggestion of Mr. Wilder to await in passing the act until the "dangerous moment" and "persons" arrived, is very proper, and will save the P. G. from placing a disgraceful act on the statute books. By the way it is remarkable to see the executive divided on such an important question, which we should think should have received the most careful considerations by the ministers before being laid openly before an astonished and disgusted world.

The Latest Additions.

The following named books have lately been placed in the circulatory department of the Honolulu Library:

- "My Arctic Journal," by Josephine Diebitsche Peary.
"Essays on Questions of the Day, Political and Social," by Goldwin Smith.
"The Pharaohs of the Bondage and Exodus," by C. R. Robinson.
"The Barbary Coast," by H. M. Field.
"The True Story Book," by Andrew Lang.
"An Egyptian Princess," by Ebers.
"The Lady of the Aroostook," by W. D. Howells.
"20,000 Leagues Under the Sea," by Jules Verne.

WHAT! LOTTERIES!!

How Harvard and Williams' College Captured Coin.

In a late issue of the Boston Transcript, the following article was published. It shows the trend of the Christian "advanced civilization," just one hundred years ago.

RAISING MONEY FOR HARVARD.

MANAGERS DID NOT HESITATE TO RUN A LOTTERY TO SUPPLY FUNDS ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO.

In view of the statement that the funds of the Harvard College were falling off, it will be interesting to note the manner of raising money in 1794. On July 14 of that year the following advertisement appeared in the Salem Gazette:

Harvard College Lottery. Class First. Not Two Blanks to a Prize.

Twenty-five thousand tickets, at five dollars each, are $125,000, to be paid in the following prizes, subject to a deduction of 12 1/2 per cent, for the purposes of the lottery.

Table with 3 columns: Prizes, Dols., Dols.
1 of 10,000 of 10,000
2 of 5,000 of 10,000
3 of 2,000 of 6,000
6 of 1,000 of 6,000
10 of 500 of 5,000
20 of 200 of 4,000
60 of 100 of 6,000
90 of 50 of 4,500
100 of 40 of 4,000
120 of 30 of 3,600
161 of 20 of 3,220
200 of 10 of 2,000
7,585 of 8 of 60,680

8,358 prizes. 125,000
16,642 blanks

25,000

The above class will positively commence drawing in the Representatives' Chamber in Boston, on Thursday, thirteenth November next, and will continue from day to day, and be completed with all possible dispatch. A list of Prizes will be immediately published, and the Prizes paid on demand. The Managers believe; enough to induce the Public to become Adventurers, to inform them, the object of this Lottery is to erect a new Building at the University in Cambridge, for the further accommodation of the students. The Friends of literature are to be found everywhere, and when its cause can be served, and a good chance for personal emolument, at the same time presents itself; this double inducement, it is conceived, must operate in favor of the lottery.

The Managers of the Lottery had the conducting of the late State Lottery. The Public will do them the justice to say that the strictest punctuality as to the time fixed for Drawing, and in the payment of Prizes, was observed by them in that Lottery. They pledge themselves for the same punctuality in this.

THE BIRTHPLACE OF AMERICAN MISSIONS.

From the N. Y. Observer is taken the following statement relative to raising funds for Williams' College:

"Their first building was West College—a brick dormitory still standing." "The Committee on more money got $2,000 from the people of the village, and under Legislative sanction, they raised £1,037.18s.2d. by means of a lottery! Thus the building was finished."

CORRESPONDENCE

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions or the utterances of our correspondents.]

EDITOR HOLOMUA:

It may seem as though all that would be written on the Hawaiian question has been written, but, the so-called Provisional Legislature of last Thursday has given us something new in the shape of comparisons.

On the 14th day of January Her Majesty at the behest of thousands of Her own people, people of her own blood and kindred, asked the consent of Her Ministers to a new Constitution which She wished to promulgate. That consent was refused and the matter ended—I quote on the immaculate authority of the P. G. and their supporters that that new Constitution contemplated the disfranchisement of the whites—(there is no proof of this) on this point a wide field for argument exists that seems to me to never have been touched upon. These gentlemen claim to be American citizens. If so, how could they be disfranchised? It was only by the extreme liberality of this country that they never could be voters and not subjects. Their own country (of which they claim to be citizens) America is more illiberal on this score than Monarchical England—If he desires to take any part in the affairs of his adopted country, (America) he must first forswear all allegiance to all other countries and then after 5 years he may complete his oath and become a full fledged American and so enjoy the privileges of a citizen of that great country. Hawaii is small country, it is true, but in the sense of her own sovereignty, she is as large as the largest and as strong as the strongest, and if in her wisdom she allowed aliens into her councils that privilege being granted in kindness should only have been exercised by well-meaning persons in the sense it was given. So much for this point and now to return on the 17th of January the Rebels provisionalized themselves, thanks to J. L. S. and have continued to Provision their dear selves until this TENTH day of March, 1894, and this is indeed a day of days in Hawaiian History. Not so long ago (the 16th day of January, 1893) we heard these same men talking on a public platform of the glorious liberty, progress and etc. ad infinitum et ad nauseum—something that never went backward and all the rest of platform hash. Now what have they done?

They have gone back past Magna Charta and have by negative consent confessed that they DARE not FACE squarely the LIBERTY they boast about!! Bead their constitutional convention oath.—By that oath they practically DISFRANCHISE seven tenths of the legitimate voters of Hawaii not and in order to strengthen their position they enfranchise men who lauded here to support them for pay and who have only been here a year and have no interest in the country, except the P. G. pay.

There is one thing Mr. Editor, I don't believe they will grant the privilege of a scrutineer at the polling place to make a note of the exact number of votes which may be cast. Be this as it may, I am a tax-payer and have been so for years to the constitutional government of this country and I must enter my solemn protest against such high handed impudence.
