now prepared to take horses to train, and prepare them for the coming Fair on the 11th of June next.

It is a point of importance to all owners of fine young colts not to have them jammed or hammered over the hard make the horse.

Also in connection with my Training Stables, I will serve a certain number of choice mares with my Young Ham-was sired by Electioneer, owned by Gov. Stanford. The sire of Electioneer was Risdeke's Hambletonian. The dam of Aptos Chief was sired by Speculation; he by Risdeke's Hambletonian—so it will be seen that Aptos is an in-bred of Hambletonian.

Terms for service of Aptos Chief, $50 for the season, payable at the time of service; and all mares failing to be with foal will have the service of the horse the next season free of charge.

SLANDERING WOMAN.

"Oh, woman, in our hours of ease, Uncertain, coy and hard to please,
And variable as the shade By the light quivering aspen made," When man is wrapped in slumber deep,
And snoring loud, then thou dost creep From thy warm bed in eager quest Of cash contained in pants or vest; Each little pocket you explore, Take all you find and look for more, Smile as you confiscate his wealth Then back again to bed with stealth;
And when the sun illumines the skies,
And from thy couch thou dost arise, Thou'lt greet thy husband with a smile And look all innocent of guile;
And when he searches all his pockets, With eyes protruding from their sockets, He tells you that he's lost his money, You smile and say "It's very funny; What! lost it all? It is a pity;
You must have lost it in the city." Oh, wives have "taking ways" about them.
But—well, what would we do without
them?
—N. Y. Mail and Express.

WOMEN AS JURORS.

Chief-Justice Greene, of Washington Territory, in his last charge to the grand jury, says: "Twelve terms of court I have now held, in which women have served as grand and petit jurors, and it is certainly a fact beyond dispute that no other twelve terms so salutary for restraint of crime have ever been known in this territory."

NO NEED FOR A JAIL.

Now, while local option is being expressed on the question of licensing the sale of liquor, it is pleasant to know that there is at least one parish in our State where liquor is not sold without prohibition. Cameron is that parish, and the result is that their jail is unoccupied except as a corn crib. Indeed, this is a better use for a jail than we ever heard of before. If liquor were sold there it would not be long before there would be criminals for incarceration. Because of its absence, the people as a whole are the most healthy looking we have found in any part of the State.—New Iberia (Louisiana) Sugar Bowl.

THE MODERN DINNER.

There is a good deal in the newspapers nowadays about elaborate dinners, and from the description printed of the flowers and the glass, the china and the upholstery that furnish the banquet boards it might be judged that the feasts of Lucu-lus and the famous festivals of the ancients had no such splendors as are in the modern dining-rooms of Philadelphia and Washington.

Social entertainment is a fine art.
A dinner may be made the occasion for a display of the highest refinement. In the arrangement of the table, the choice of the menu and the selection of wines there is opportunity to exercise great taste, intellectual accomplishments and a nice artistic sense. When the aim is to minister solely to the sensual appetite and to gratify a barbaric desire for display, the dinner becomes only an affair for the upholsterer, the florist and the caterer; the long purse and the most vulgar taste will perhaps give the biggest and the best dinner. Too many of the modern dinners are simply affairs of this kind. The host pays for them and that is all there is of him about them; he might as well bestow upon each guest the cost of his or her share of it and let them spend it to their liking.

For instance, bright table talk is wanting. It is being overshadowed by the other features of "the feed." The conversation runs solely to the excellence of the viands and the age of the wines. They are not regarded as simply incidental to the feast of reason and flow of soul. The costliness of the affair surpasses every sort of enthusiasm but that of admiration for the wealth and liberality of Ceresus.

The reaction will only come when the sumptuousness and elaboration of the present fashionable dinners give way to the plainer forms.

A young man sat down to dinner the other day with a gentleman worth $1,000,000, who had been in public life for half a century, who had counseled with Presidents and dined with Kings. They had beef-steak, boiled potatoes, milk and pie.
The next day he was invited to dine with Solomon Shoddy, who in his rise from the position of scullion to one of opulence had learned nothing.
There were thirteen courses and nine kinds of wine, the best that money could buy.

And yet the little dinner was the best, even for a guest who knew not dyspepsia and had no dread of indigestion.—Lancaster Intelligencer.

A FLIPPANT CENSOR.

This morning the Advertiser breaks out in a new spot on the currency question. It opens with a reference to its contemporaries as exorcisers of evil spirits, who cannot get at the devil of bad government at the head of affairs. They would fain, according to this jaunty servant of the fellow he talks about, get his boss out by prayer and fasting, except for an aversion to praying on empty stomachs. Anything about "empty stomachs" is refreshingly cool coming from an apologist of those who made such a feast at the public crib as to speedily produce a famine there. Cooler still is such a reference emanating from an institution that would not be in existence to-day if it had not been nourished and sustained by lavish bounties from the national treasury. Our morning contemporary's flippancy assurance upon the question of motives is only paralleled by its stultification of its recent record in its utterances of this date upon the currency question.

A few weeks ago the Advertiser made a fierce onslaught upon the members of the Chamber of Commerce, for their efforts to have the Currency Act carried out. It charged them virtually with being public robbers, having an eye mainly to speculative hauls from the public treasury and the pockets of the rest of the community. Within a few days past our contemporary has had several articles deprecating with all the force at its command the advice given by one of the same gentlemen to the wage-earners of the Kingdom, asking them to stand for their legal right to be paid sums due them above ten dollars in gold. To-day it takes the bankers and merchants whom it has been abusing all along, under its benignant care, and solemnly warns them against the dreadful consequences to themselves which would result from the workingmen of the country insisting upon the law being impartially observed toward their class.

The Advertiser may as well reserve its anxious consideration and sympathy for those who will appreciate them better than the business men of this Kingdom are likely to do. That paper has never scrupled to denounce that class in unmeasured terms whenever such was deemed necessary for political effect by those controlling it. It has always been alert in coming to the work of pitting class against class, which has been such a deplorable feature of the present regime. The Act adopting a gold standard was the result of deliberate consultation among the financiers and business men of the Kingdom, the rest of the public generally assenting to the soundness of the arguments in its favor. Its objects were to obviate serious difficulties hampering the trade of the country and to terminate abuses that were facilitated under the former loose system. The Ministers, whom their over-zealous supporters would now almost represent as repentant of their part in the matter, gave active assistance in carrying the measure through the Legislature. Under these circumstances, apologies for the Government having made default in executing the gold law might not be incomprehensible, but bitter opposition to the measure undertaken on behalf of the Government can only be explained upon grounds discreditable either to the fidelity of the administration or to the discretion of its champion.

Those for whom the Advertiser affects so much solicitude would only be too glad to find gold for any lawful demand upon them for such, provided thereby the present unsettled and unsettling condition of things could be brought to an end. Some of them sent large amounts of gold coin into the planting districts with that object in view, but their operations in that way were neutralized in effect by floods of silver sent out by parties interested in making the law void. Those parties are enabled to carry out that policy simply on account of the Government refusing to redeem the certificates according to law, and by the supineness and want of cohesion of the business community, shown in its failure to stand by the deliberately chosen gold standard and solemnly-enacted Currency Act.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Anglican Church Chronicle following the Friend in deprecating the extension of the licensed liquor traffic, shows pretty effectually the attitude of the religious element toward the question.

Chinese gamblers would not have gold in such profusion, to deposit as bail when caught, if Chinese merchants were compelled to pay their debts in gold. By the business community weakly submitting to have the Currency Act ignored, the very evils predicted without reason to follow the adoption of the gold standard are being brought upon the country.

Dame Gossip usually waits till her victims get within sight before assailing them, but, in the case of the company of players now visiting us, her tongue outstripped her vision. It is doubtful, however, if the chaste and meritorious performance of the opening night, or the disclaimer of the manager, was necessary to assure sensible people that the defamatory rumor preceding the company's arrival was unfounded.

A MONGOLIAN MILLIONAIRE.

In a beautiful portion of Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands, embowered in towering palms and luxuriant ferns, lies hidden from the vulgar view of the pedestrian the pretentious residence of Mr. Afong. From its roomy balcony, through the interstices of the tropical forest, glimpses of the famed Nuuanu Valley may be caught—the valley of which it is truthfully said that it is never without a rainbow. To the far right the towering mountain ridges, with the Punchbowl, an extinct volcano, in the front, may be seen in all their beauty, while the hum of the busy town floats up with no discordant sound. Mr. Afong, who is vouchsafed this elysium, is a full-blooded Chinaman. With his native island spouse and a numerous family of little ones, he leads an ideal life. Mr. Afong is a solid merchant, with a stone-front store on Chinatown's chief business street, and is credited with the possession of a million or two acquired in honest trade with his numerous countrymen on Oahu and its neighboring islands. He adheres to the characteristic Mongolian accoutrements, although mingling with the most important and wealthy of Hawaii's merchants, and disdaining to interfere in the varied changes in attire which Honolulu fashion dictates to his family. Mr. Afong has five daughters, ranging in age from about 17 years to 5. The mother and the daughters maintain a rigid adherence to the rules of fashion, and appear in the dress of white ladies and girls. When occasion demands, the lady and her older daughters are clad in as elegant raiment as is the wealthiest lady on the islands, and the demand, it may be explained, is not by any means infrequently made, as the family is received cordially into the best society in Honolulu. The family has its private carriages driven by a white man, and a close observer of the merry quintet in their afternoon drive could not tell that they were not the offspring of some wealthy Caucasian. The children are all receiving tuition, and the eldest daughter, a modest and not unattractive young lady, has advanced so rapidly as to be considered well educated. The Afong family is a curiosity in its way to the unprepared visitor from San Francisco, and, although there are many wealthy Chinamen in Honolulu and on the other islands it remains the sole instance of Chinese progression in many respects.—S. F. Call, March 1st.

THE ORIGIN OF ROLLER SKATES.

In view of the fact that roller skating has played such havoc with theatre patronage, it will be interesting to the stage profession to know that it was out of the demand for stage effects that roller skating was invented. Mr. Kobbe writes to the French press to say: "I am told by Herr Hock, the stage manager of the Metropolitan Opera House, that all who enjoy roller skating are indebted for their sport to the famous composer, Meyerbeer. When his opera 'The Prophet' was produced in Paris it was almost decided at one time to cut out the skating scene in the third act, as the manager saw no way of converting the stage into a sheet of ice. In this crisis an ingenious stage hand came forward and suggested that ordinary skates might be placed on wheels. The Grand Opera House at Paris, therefore, was the first roller skating rink the world has known."

A MAN is born a dandy as he is born a poet. There are heads that can't wear hats; there are necks that can't fit cravats; there are jaws that can't fill out collars, (Willis touched this last point in one of his earlier ambrotypes, if I remember rightly), there are tounures nothing can harmonize, and movements nothing can subdue to the gracious suavity or elegant languor of stately serenity which belong to different styles of dandyism. Call and select your choice of the elegant Spring Styles of Stetson Hats, now open

ALOHA.

We welcome to our shore Miss Annis Montague, our "Hawaiian Nightingale," and Mr. C. Turner, who arrived from the Colonies this morning by the P.M.S.S. Australia.
They have been absent five years, travelling through Australia and New Zealand, and have met with the greatest success. They will remain here about two months, and during that time we hope to have a rich musical treat in the way of a series of concerts. They are undecided as yet in their future plans.

A HANDSOME COFFIN.

Mr. C. E. Williams, the undertaker, completed this morning the coffin for the late Mr. Unna. It is of polished koa and a handsome specimen of work. The trimmings are gold and silver, the handles being wound with black silk. Over each handle is a basket of flowers in silver. The inscription plate, which is of silver, reads,

AUGUST UNNA

Born December 16th, 1828.
Died April 8th, 1885.

Above this is the Danish Coat of Arms of solid silver artistically engraved by Wenner & Co. Mr.
Williams only received the order for the coffin on Friday, and he has had to work night and day to get it completed. Some of the koa wood used shows a most beautiful grain. Mr.
Williams will take the coffin to its destination by the Likelike, and also a hand bier, as the body will have to be carried about a mile.

MONEY LOST.

A well-known citizen went into Nolte's saloon on Saturday to in-dulse in a cup of coffee. He first went to the glass show case where lie the papers for the perusal of patrons, and at the same time took out his spectacle case from his pocket, a $20 certificate, unknown to him, dropping on the glass case.
He partook of his coffee and went out up street for the purpose of paying a bill. Arriving at his destination, he missed his money, and immediately went to his office thinking he had left it there. It was not to be found, and he went to Nolte's to make enquiries if he had dropped it there. The young man behind the counter told him he had seen a young man pick up a certificate from the show case, but thought it belong to him. This young man being well known, was hunted up and restored the money.

and 4.

THE HONEYMOON.

The San Francisco Dramatic Company made its first appearance in this city at Music Hall, Saturday evening, in Tobin's comedy, "The Honeymoon." The audience was a large and fashionable one, but the piece was inadequate to the ability of the different members of the company. As regards its literary merit, it is very poor, so that it failed to please the audience. Taking the company altogether, it is a good one, and that we shall see in the remaining performances when something of more merit will be placed on the boards. The first two acts of "The Honeymoon" are excessively dry and devoid of interest.
In the third act the assumption of the Duke by Willie Simms attracts more attention, and thence to the end the play is decidedly enjoyable.
Mr. Stetson as the Duke Arranza played with great care, and Mr. Rutledge as Rolando was exceedingly good. Mr. Malcolm as Montalban and Mr. Talbot as Lopez did well, while Mr. Morrison as Balthazar was somewhat stiff. Mr. Willie Simms as Jacques received quite an ovation on entering, and created roars of laughter while on the stage. He is a most excellent comedian and quite a favorite with our public. The ladies all did well in their respective parts, Miss Ingham as Juliana making some strong points when driven to anger by her husband the Duke.
Miss Young as Volante was very winning. After the curtain had dropped Mr. Rutledge made his appearance and addressed a few words to the audience. He said that on arriving here he had heard that his company had been represented as being a variety company from the dives of San Francisco. But he assured the audience that such was not the case, far from it. It was a gross untruth and calculated to do injustice. They were a company of ladies and gentlemen who had the pluck to come two thousand miles across the sea to play before the Honolulu public.

Every member had been carefully selected, and the audience would be satisfied of that before they concluded their season here. After thanking the audience for their kind patronage, he withdrew amid loud applause. The curtain soon after went up and the farce, "The Lottery Ticket," was given. It was amusing from beginning to end, Willie Simms as Wormwood, the humpbacked lawyer's clerk, keeping the audience in great mirth. The music between the acts was by Mr.
Berger at the piano and some of the band boys.

Mr. Joe Wiseman's arrangements were well-nigh perfect. This evening the company give that fine play, "The Banker's Daughter." The stay of this company is limited, therefore play-goers should not miss any opportunity of seeing its performances.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.

By the S. S. Australia the following gentlemen arrived and are at present staying at the Hawaiian Hotel: Lord Elphinstone, James Ashbury, Esq., M. P., G. Wolff, Esq., Belfast, and C. Schofield, Esq., Manchester. Lord Elphinstone was a member of the last British Queen Victoria. He visited these Islands about forty years while on duty in a British man-of-war. Mr.
Ashbury's name is known the whole world over in connection with yachting. Mr. Wolff is the designer and builder of the large and splendid steamers of the White Star Line, The Oceanic and Coptic, of the O.
S. S. Line, which have visited this port, were designed and built by him. Mr. Schofield, who is rather a young man, is a member of the Lancashire Yeoman Cavalry. A representative of the BULLETIN called on these gentlemen this noon at the Hotel. Mr. Ashbury, who was the spokesman of the party, is a very entertaining gentleman, and full of humor, at the expense of the rest of the party. He states that Colonel Claus Spreckels will take them to Spreckelsville to-morrow for a visit to the plantation and other places.
Returning on Saturday, they will leave on the 22nd by the W. G.
Hall for the Volcano. They will be due in Honolulu on the 30th, and leave for the Coast by the Alameda on May 1st. Arriving in San Francisco the party will separate. Mr.
Ashbury will go direct to Salt Lake City.

ANGLICAN CHURCH CHRONICLE.

We have received the April number of this publication, delayed for one week to give the editors time to present a full account of the recent mission and Easter-day services.
Speaking of the granting of licenses the Chronicle says:—"We deprecate anything which savors of tyranny or deprivation of the perfect and true liberty of a subject, and we claim equal rights for every one, whatever be the color of his skin, but we must confess to such an abhorrence of the sin of drunkenness as would cause us to frame the most stringent laws for its suppression, even if they had the semblance of infringing on the rights of a legitimate business, and even when it is only the few who suffer.
The granting of licenses would be sure to increase the drunkenness of any locality, and thus a great blow be given to this already fast decreasing race. We trust our authorities will listen to the petitions of the residents of those districts where it was contemplated to grant licenses." The church news from different parts of the world is complete and exceedingly interesting. Mr. Theo.
H. Davies writes a letter to the editors urging the members of St.
Andrew's Congregation to cultivate a more intimate connection with the Young Men's Christian Association, as the work of the society is eminently Christian and nonsectarian, and its meetings and its work are studiously arranged, so as to avoid interference with the hours of service, or the work of the Christian churches; and he knows of no organization that is more generous or more catholic in its spirit. A full account of the mission services of Rev. G. B.
Simeon is given, and the Chronicle hopes that the efforts of the preacher to work good amongst us may be rewarded, and many be brought to realize what it truly means to be a member of Christ's church. The educational department has been carefully attended to, and the whole number is one of much interest.

VENTURE

RECORD, 2.27 1/2.

herby notify the public that he will stand the present season at my headquarters, corner of Punchbowl and Queen Streets (Captain Cluney's). Terms for the season, $50; to insure, $100.

Description.

Venture is a rich chestnut color, 16 hands high, and weighs about 1,100 lbs.
In structure he is the picture of great muscular power, and in appearance, temperament and disposition, he is faultless. Full of fire and gentleness, he is without speck or blemish. As a stock horse he is having extraordinary success; his numerous progeny, both in California and in this country, attest this fact, several of them being able to trot low down, and one of his daughters (Venus) can trot in 2.25. Venus is also the dam of Transit, which is said to be the most promising two-year-old in California. He trotted a mile last season, as a yearling, in 2.45.

Pedigree.

Oakland, California; by Belmont, he by American boy, he by Seagull, he by Inported Expedition.

In offering the services of this horse to the public I make one claim for him, which is that he is the highest bred trotting stallion in the world, living or dead, and in support of this claim I am willing to submit it to any authority that can be obtained, and if he is not, then I will forfeit all my claims to horse knowledge.
It will be seen that his pedigree represents a union of the purest blood of the English and American thoroughbred racer, one of his grand dams, as also one of his great grand dams, being imported from England to the United States. When Venture was on the turf, about eight years ago, he was at that time the sensational horse of the Pacific Coast, and the sporting papers in the East, that were always so much opposed to running blood in the trotter, commenced picking away at his pedigree, trying to find a cold cross in it, at the same time declaring that it was simply impossible for a strictly thoroughbred horse to trot as fast as he was then trotting; but at last they had to give it up, and admitted the fact that he was a strictly thoroughbred horse, but declared him a phenomenon, and were unable to account for his great speed at the trotting gait. But the fame of his sire, old Belmont, is almost world-wide, and it is a well-known fact his blood nicked better with the trotting families than that of any other thoroughbred horse ever known, as, in addition to Venture, two other thoroughbred sons of his, Capt. Webster and Owen Dale, were said to have possessed great speed at the trot. Besides these, he sired the dams of Belle Echo, 2:20; Flora Shepherd, 2:30; Monarch, 2:25; Nelly Patchen, 2:27 1/2; Rustic, 2:30; which is a showing that a great many of the best trotting bred horses cannot equal. Mr. Patrick Farrell, who is one of the most experienced drivers on the Pacific Coast, told me the last time that I saw him, that Venture was the fastest trotter that he ever pulled a line over, and that if his temper had not been soured in his youth by bad handling, he believed that he would have equaled, if not surpassed, all the records ever made, and that he could show a two-minute gait with him to a wagon, but in company he would become wild, on account of his hot blood, and was often beaten by horses that could hardly run as fast as he could trot. His record of 2:27 1/2, which was no measure of his speed, was made at the Oakland track in 1877, in a race which he won, beating Alexander, Gus, General Reno and Billy Hayward, this being his last public performance.

It is thought by some people that an aged horse is not as good a producer as a young one, but no greater mistake could possibly be made. Indeed, the opposite is claimed by many large breeders, and instances are so numerous of horses string their best foals at an advanced age that the above theory has long ago been exploded. Imported Diomed was twenty-seven years old when he sired Sir Archy, his best son; Bonnie Scotland, who died only a few years ago, sired Luke Blackburn and George Kinney, by far the best of his get, after he was twenty-five; Imported Leamington sired Ironpicks, his best son, the last year that he lived, at twenty-five. Among trotters may be mentioned Volunteer, the sire of St. Julien, who is thirty-one years old this spring, and is said to be as lively and vigorous as he ever was, and his young foals as promising as any that he ever got. Old Ha-miltonian died in March, 1876, aged twenty-seven years, but sired two foals the last days of his life, and one of them, called Hamiltonian's last, made a trotting record of 2:25 1/2 the past season, and the other one is said to be equally as fast.

With these facts before us, it is plain that the age of a horse has nothing to do with his success as a sire. I think myself that there is a great deal in the condition that a horse is kept, for an animal that is well-fed and cared for, with plenty of exercise, will beget better foals than one that is turned loose and never stabled or fed grain.

Venture is twenty-two years old this spring, and with the care that I intend to give him, I expect him to sire better foals than he ever has before. He is a remarkably sure breeder. Mr. Campbell assures me that he has never bred a mare to him yet that did not produce a foal, and his many beautiful colts, now on Mr. C.'s ranch, are worth a long journey to see; and now as he is to be kept so convenient to the general public, no one owning a good mare should be so blind to their own interest as to neglect the opportunity of obtaining his blood while they have the chance.

THOUSANDS ON ROLLERS.

"Over 18,000 people on roller-skates every evening in New York, paying for the privilege thereof $9,000," remarked a statistically-inclined rink manager, as he yanked a pair of silver-mounted skates off his feet and wiped the perspiration from his brow.

"How will the number in other cities foot up?" asked a reporter for the Mail and Express.

"At least 250,000 outside of New York in the United States are nightly on roller-skates whizzing around. The rink has been popular in other cities quite a while, and New York is the last to fall into line. Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Philadelphia and Baltimore have long since introduced the pastime and made it popular. Why, Boston is as far ahead of New York in roller-skating as the latter is ahead of the former in rapid transit. What a comment on New York to have to send to Boston for skates during the Madison Square Garden roller-skating contest. But the sad fact remains that Boston is ahead of New York not only in baked beans, but in stylish roller-skates. Now we have here ten rinks in full blast every night. Rain or snow the rinks are filled with merry skaters. It costs 25 cents to enter, 25 cents for a pair of skates, and at least 25 cents for refreshments. This foot up the nightly expenditure at $13,500 per night. But the estimate is very low. Counting in the gas, rent and pay of attendants, something like $20,000 is spent daily by the rink managers and the skaters. But my opinion is that roller-skating will become so popular in a year that 150,000 people will be on skates every night in New York."—New York Mail and Express.

WASHINGTON CHURCH-GOERS SURPRISED.

A Washington despatch of March 22nd to the Boston Herald says:—The decision of President Cleveland to attend the Rev. Byron Sunderland's Presbyterian Church became known to-day, and will occasion quite as much talk in Washington as any act of the Administration. Several Presbyterian churches have competed for the honor and profit attached to the "President's church" at the Capital, but no one ever thought of suggesting that it was possible that Dr. Sunderland's church would be the choice of a Democratic President. Its pastor has been known for thirty years as a radical Republican. In the fierce agitation of the slavery question thirty years ago, he took such a part as to cause a split in his congregation, which took away the pro-slavery members and the bulk of wealth and respectability of the congregation. His loyalty at the outbreak of the war drove many others away, and the church has never recovered from the loss of so many good-paying members, and has since been feeble pecuniarily. Yesterday a note from Mr. Lamont came to Dr. Sunderland requesting him to send to the President a diagram of the church, with the pews and their price, which was sent. A pew was selected, a check given for the rent for a year, and this morning Miss Cleveland and Mrs. Hoyt took their seats in the President's pew, much to the surprise of the congregation, not one of whom knew of the President's intention.

Thirty-five years ago Dr. Sunderland was pastor of a Presbyterian Church in Buffalo, and came from that city to Washington. Among those who attended his church there was Mrs. Cleveland, the President's mother, and in all probability the little boy Grover was often taken to hear the man who will now preach to him as President. Miss Cleveland some days ago recalled to the President's mind the many times she had heard her mother speak in warmest terms of regard for the pastor, Byron Sunderland, who was then noted for his impassioned eloquence and sturdy zeal. Dr. Sunderland's church is situated on Four-and-a-half street, between D and C, in an unfashionable part of the city, although it was once the favorite residence quarter. The building is large and has a seating capacity as great as any in the city. At present the congregation is small, and probably there is not a Democratic member in the church. There has never been since the war any distinction made in the church on account of color, in the reception of applicants for membership, and there are several colored members. It was the pastor's act in inviting Fred Douglass to speak from his pulpit twenty years ago that caused the withdrawal of many of its members.

An exchange says, "The older a willow hedge is the stronger it becomes." It is just the same with an egg.

DEAR SIR, It is with great pleasure that I add my testimony to the Fire-Proof qualities of your Safes.

I am so well satisfied with the result that I want another No. 3 Safe at once.
