

ALLEGED MURDERERS

THREE MEN WHO ARE ACCUSED OF KILLING FELLOWMEN APPEAR THIS MORNING BEFORE JUDGE GEAR—JAPANESE TO BE SENTENCED TOMORROW AND THE CASES OF NAONE AND GENEAU ARE POSTPONED.

Three men who have compassed the death of fellow human beings sat in a row in Judge Gear's court this morning and gazed without expression about the room as their lawyers argued in their behalf on different points of law.

One of them at all events is safe from the dreadful noose, the Japanese, Yoshikawa Dengiro, who pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree to a charge of slaying his adopted father. Only for a judge's error in his charge Dengiro would have been food for worms long ago, but as it is he will live the living death for many years at all events. He was to have been sentenced this morning and his appointed counsel Henry Hogan was on hand to make a plea for clemency, but Judge Gear continued the matter of sentence until tomorrow.

Naone, the young Hawaiian who killed his wife, was next on the list. His attorney J. J. Dunne had argued a motion to quash the indictment and a plea in abatement on the ground that the Grand Jury which indicted was illegally constituted. Assistant Attorney General Prosser combatted this argument with a long list of authorities and Judge Gear took the matter under advisement.

Then came E. Geneau, the U. S. sailor whose shot fired in a drunken brawl killed the negro "Useless" Harris last June. The man has anything but a criminal face and in his neat navy blue uniform with his well polished shoes and general air of complete cleanliness he cuts a very different figure from the unkempt lot who are usually occupants of the prisoners' bench. Geneau's case was set for trial but his attorney E. A. Douthitt argued for a continuance as he wished to file affidavits showing that two important witnesses who are petty officers on the U. S. cruiser Buffalo could not be obtained at this juncture, the ship being away on a cruise. Judge Gear gave until tomorrow for the defence to produce these papers.

The trial of Pang Kau, charged with malicious burning, which took up two days last week, was then continued. It should be concluded by this evening.

RAWLINS ON DECK IN COURT.

New Deputy High Sheriff Appeared in Police Court Today to Prosecute the Criminal Calendar—Lughan Arraigned for Embezzlement.

Exactly $23.40 represents the earnings of the new police regime to date. This morning Deputy High Sheriff Rawlins appeared in the police court as prosecutor. Rawlins had familiarized himself with the details of the various cases and was prepared to go to trial in all of them. Eleven cases were on the calendar, but at the request of attorneys for the defendants, eight of these were continued. Of the other defendants all were convicted.

Manuel P. Madeiros was the lone gambler. He had been caught by Officer Apana in Kakaako yesterday. Madeiros was taken with the dice in hands and cash on the ground. He and others resisted arrest but Apana landed his prisoner. Madeiros was fined $10.

Hiroki was charged with being drunk. He claimed to be innocent but was found guilty by Judge Lindsay and fined $4 and costs.

Sakoda was fined $5 for heedless driving. He drove over a young child of ex-Speaker Akina.

M. P. Lughan, formerly ticket seller at the Oahu Railway & Land Company's depot, was arraigned on a general charge of embezzlement. It is claimed that his peculations will reach several thousands. A. G. M. Robertson has been retained as special counsel for the prosecution and C. W. Ashford for the defence.

Will Make Reparation

(Associated Press Cable to The Star.)

ST. PETERSBURG, October 24.—The Russian foreign office deprecates the incident of the Baltic fleet attacking the British fishing vessels and is awaiting the official report from the commander of the Russian fleet. Full reparation will be made when the responsibility is fixed.

LONDON, October 24.—The government has sent an urgent protest to Russia regarding the attack of the Baltic fleet on the British North Sea fleet of fishing smack. The King has wired his sympathy to Hull to the families of the sailors killed in the Russian attack.

WERE IN THE FOG.

CHERBOURG, October 24.—The main Russian squadron has not arrived at this place. The vessels already here are being closely guarded. The Russians claim to have fired on the British fishing smack during a fog, their idea in firing being to keep in touch with the rest of the fleet.

THE COLORADO'S SPEED.

QUESTION OF WIDE OPEN TOWN

CARTER SAYS IT IS NOT INVOLVED IN HIS ACTION WITH REGARD TO THE HIGH SHERIFF—WILL ENFORCE THE LAWS WHETHER THEY ARE—DICKY DAVIS HAS A KICK TO MAKE—GRAND JURY SITTING TODAY.

"In some quarters there seems to be a tendency to make it appear that my recent action in connection with the police department was inspired by the idea of making Honolulu what is known as a 'closed town,'" said Governor Carter this morning. "I do not know that that tendency is in any way general, but at all events I would like to correct it. My sole idea in commencing my course of action was to enforce the laws as they exist. For the enforcement of the law an efficient police force is absolutely necessary and it was and is my endeavor to increase the efficiency of that force.

"If I am not here to aid in the enforcement of the law, what am I here for? Whether the laws are exactly framed for the best I am not a judge. The making of the laws lies with the people themselves through their representatives in the legislature. They can make and they can unmake them, but I can see that once made it is my duty as governor to see to their enforcement. That proposition should be understood at once. If the enforcement of the law as it stands results in this being a 'closed town' the result will not be of my making but of those who made the laws.

"There is really nothing more to be said by me on the existing situation. The reorganization of the department will go on under High Sheriff Henry along the lines that have already indicated. No appointment of a

LAUKEA'S SUIT

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE BRINGS AN ACTION TO SECURE PERMISSION TO MAKE SPEECHES AT KALAUPAPA.

Col. Curtis P. Laukea, Democratic candidate for representative to Congress, is not going to give up his claim to the right to talk to the inhabitants of the leper settlement on Molokai without a struggle.

Early this afternoon he filed a protest with the Federal Court against the order of Dr. Cooper of the Board of Health and Superintendent McVeigh of the settlement in refusing him permission to land and hold a meeting. The matter will come up before Judge Dole tomorrow morning on an application for an injunction.

The bill for injunction names Curtis P. Laukea as complainant and C. B. Cooper, acting president of the Board of Health and John D. McVeigh as defendants.

EXTRA

SHORTAGE INDICATED

INVESTIGATION OF AFFAIRS OF CHILLINGWORTH'S DEPARTMENT INDICATES UNSUSPECTED SHORTAGE IN THAT BRANCH—ALLEGED MISSING MONEY PAID IN ON TAX CASES AND PROPER RETURN APPEARS NOT TO HAVE BEEN MADE.

Investigation of the affairs of the office of the deputy high sheriff by Auditor Fisher and Assistant Sherwood today go to show a shortage. The exact amount of shortage has not been developed but this afternoon indication were that the amount of cash short in that department was over $1,000. In the opinion of some officials the shortage may be found to be much more, although the shortage is not likely to reach any very large amount.

"Investigation of the accounts and books of the Deputy High Sheriff's office today by Auditor Fisher," said High Sheriff Henry, "go to indicate that there may have been an irregularity in the handling of money received from the sale of property under delinquent taxes. Conditions are such, however, that a further investigation will be required before the matter can be finally settled. It is claimed, however, that there are receipts out which will straighten out the account, but as yet, the accounts are in rather mixed up way.

"It had been thought that the accounts of both the High Sheriff's office and that of the Deputy High Sheriff's office would be found to be correct without much trouble. The cash accounts of the High Sheriff's office are absolutely correct, but in the other office this seeming irregularity has been discovered. However I expect that the matter will be settled one way or the other this afternoon as Auditor Fisher can make a further examination."

Clerk Harry Mossman was closely questioned about the matter this morning by Sheriff Henry, but matters were not straightened out to the satisfaction of the sheriff, and the investigation was continued. Mossman remained at the station while the investigation was being made this morning, though no charge had been placed against him. The shortage appeared to be in connection with tax money. Mossman has been clerk for several years.

The investigations made by the officials, it is stated, do not tend to implicate former Deputy High Sheriff Chillingworth.

MANILA HAS HER IWILEI

A DISGRACEFUL PICTURE OF THE CONDITIONS PREVAILING IN THE CAPITAL OF THE PHILIPPINES—AMERICAN PRESTIGE INJURED AND THE NATIONAL CHARACTER LOWERED IN ALL THE FAR EAST BY WOMEN WHO TRAVEL THERE.

HONGKONG, August 22, 1911.—A residence in Manila is not calculated to render Americans supersensitive with regard to social conditions in any respect. Least of all does such a stay tend to sharpen the acuteness with which breaches of the traditional code of morality are felt by the average man. The system of legalized, inspected and taxed prostitution which has been inaugurated and maintained by the Philippine commission, and the loose relations between foreigners and native women which are sanctioned both by law, custom and public opinion in the Philippines, effectually destroy any nobby-pamby or squeamish notions on such subjects that observers or residents may have brought from home with them. But, however freely one may think on questions of morality of this special kind, a very brief residence in Hong Kong is quite enough to rouse many doubts in the most hardened, and to put an entirely new face on some subjects very lightly regarded in Manila.

Here is the plain, ugly fact of the social situation in the East today: Americans are utterly discredited and in some places almost universally ostracized, in consequence of the flood of American women of disreputable character who have rushed to the Philippines during the past five years, and have spread thence to the mainland of China, to Japan and to practically every international port of Asia. The conditions in Hong Kong are perhaps worse than in most other places, because the place is larger, the number of travelers passing through greater, and the scale of all outlay higher. But what is true here is true elsewhere, and Hong Kong may be taken as representative of the general conditions in the East of this subject. Throughout Hong Kong there are scattered numerous houses of resort, each inhabited by from two to half a dozen white women. In practically every case these women claim American citizenship, and are protected by the American consul. You might look indefinitely without finding a single white woman of other than American parentage (except perhaps a Russian here and there) engaged in this nefarious traffic. This in itself would be a singular fact, if unexplained, but it can be understood when I state that practically no other country except the United States tolerates the residence of prostitutes claiming its nationality in any of the ports of the East. An English woman of doubtful character who arrives in Hong Kong with the idea of engaging in her "profession" there, is promptly and urgently invited by the authorities to return home. The same policy is observed by the consular and diplomatic representatives of other countries, and so far has this become the case that, as already stated, scarcely any demi-mondaines save those of American origin can be found in any oriental ports. This policy on the part of practically all countries except our own is not founded upon considerations of morality as such. It is based upon the fact that the presence of prostitutes of a given nationality diminishes in a very marked and striking degree the respect accorded by orientals to the members of that nationality. One may safely say that the policy pursued by the foreign representatives of western nations rests solely upon the desire to avoid loss of prestige in the eyes of orientals. We can understand, therefore, that the United States must lose such prestige at an artificially accelerated rate when it alone not merely refuses to prevent the migration of this

MANCHURIA FOREVER LOST TO CHINA.

The London Times has just published a summary of what purports to be a letter written by Li Hung Chang shortly before his death, predicting that little harm would come from allowing the Russians to hold Manchuria, as it would lead to war between Russia and Japan, when China, by espousing the winning side, would be able to recover the territory. If the letter in question was written by the late Chinese Viceroy, the sentiments he expressed were certainly insincere, for if any Mongolian in high authority was ever thoroughly Russified Li Hung Chang was the man. Through his influence and connivance Manchuria was, in fact, willingly surrendered to Russia, and while the condition was not expressed in the transaction, Russia never intended to restore it to China's sovereignty and the Chinese Government never expected to recover jurisdiction over it.

While Japan proclaimed at the beginning of the war that it was not her purpose to acquire Chinese territory and that she desired to see Manchuria restored to China, it stands to reason that if she wins she will claim compensation in some form for the enormous financial outlay and the sacrifice of life she has made to expel Russia from Manchurian soil. She would be perfectly justified in demanding the transfer of the sovereignty over Manchuria to herself provided that China were unable to give her adequate compensation otherwise. Indeed, China would doubtless be as willing to transfer sovereignty over the province to Japan as she was to surrender it to Russia. If so, it makes no difference to China which of the belligerents wins, the soil on which the war is being waged will be forever alienated from her as the fruits of conquest. Russia is sure to claim it if her armies succeeded in expelling the Japanese.

A writer in the last quarterly issue of the Forum anticipates that in the case of Japan's final triumph she will demand that China administer Manchuria and that in all probability China will refuse through fear of incurring Russia's wrath. Then Japan will be free to say to the other great powers that if she is compelled against her will to do in Manchuria what England has done in Egypt—to restore order, to put down brigandage, which was the excuse Russia employed to march her troops into the province, and to repair the wastage of war, she will expect to be compensated for the work. Possibly she will prefer that all the great powers, Russia included, shall become joint trustees, so that none can be favored at the expense of others, or select a representative, in which event she will doubtless expect to be selected as sole trustee. She would thus be sustained by the whole world or the whole world would constitute itself guardian of Manchuria. In either event, the latter will be nominally independent, and China will be forever barred from resuming her sovereignty there.—S. F. Chronicle.

Kinney's Talk For Democracy

Chairman Kinney's reply to his critics shows a peculiar lack of balance between its various parts. For example, he devotes his whole attention in showing the evils of the undated resignation policy to showing to the need of independent heads of departments, but in attempting to reply to the comparison made with the case of the President of the United States and his tremendous powers of removal, he mentions only the judiciary. An elaborate argument, with quotations from a statesman long dead, and from the Organic Act, is given by Kinney to show that the heads of departments should be independent. Then he accepts the comparison with the President, and says that the President cannot remove some of the judiciary. Nothing is said by him of the great heads of departments in America, known as Cabinet officers, whom the President may retire at will, and this in spite of the fact that in attempting to show the evils of the Carter plan, Kinney spoke solely of the department heads. A further failure to make an argument that can be applied here is to be found even in the matter of the judiciary. If it be conceded that Kinney is entirely right in saying that on the Mainland civil officers cannot be removed by the President except by and with the consent of the Senate, the effect of the admission is removed at once by Kinney's skipping back to the judiciary and saying that in Hawaii "the Judiciary can be removed by the President alone." The conditions in our own Territory are exactly what we are supposed to discuss in this campaign. They are all that the voters are concerned with. Congress appears to have enacted exactly the Carter plan. Having taken up the comparison with the American system, why did not Chairman Kinney say something about the heads of departments at Washington? As long as he found that the main evil in the local system is that the department heads, or members of the Cabinet, have been made subject to removal by the executive, why was it that in denying that that was the American system he referred only to the judiciary and even then only to Mainland judiciary? The situation as Kinney himself leaves it is that under the American system the President has the power to summarily retire exactly those officers of the government who according to Kinney should be beyond such removal.

The name of Daniel Webster is a great one to conjure with, but the address from which Kinney quotes so glibly was delivered in a cause that was lost. The great speech from which the Democratic chairman quotes was delivered in the effort to impeach Andrew Jackson for encroachment of executive power,—and Jackson's impeachment was voted down! And great as Daniel Webster was, is it conceivable that his address of seventy years ago contains the same things he would have said if he had been discussing the affairs of the Territory of Hawaii in 1904?

The local Democratic leader, however, appears to go farther than Webster. He says, apparently not quoting from anyone, but giving his own ideas of the case: "The highest and most useful function of a representative of the people is to resist executive encroachment and from the very start to foresee and at once to call a halt upon any subversion of established landmarks." Here is an issue plain enough for anyone. Is this really what Hawaii wants a legislature for? The highest duty of a representative of the people is to carry out the wishes of the people. To be constantly watching for executive encroachments and looking out for chances to "call a halt" is only the highest delight of the demagogue—and the Home Ruler. Kinney carries his idea so far that he actually attacks the Republican statement that "if good is to come out of the next legislature, it must come through that body working in harmony with the administration, and surely the way to secure such harmony is not to elect to the superior branch any man or set of men avowedly opposed to the Governor and his plans." Here is surely an issue on which intelligent votes may be cast regardless of personal preferences. Being in harmony with the Governor does not at all mean being lacking the proper independence of a co-ordinate department of the government. "Avowedly opposed to the Governor and his plans" means nothing less than harboring the intention to oppose the governor regardless of policies. Legislatures the world over, when they accomplish anything, usually work in harmony with the executive, in the practical affairs of administration. Do we want a legislature willing to do this and anxious to pass proper and effective laws, a legislature which will consider its work to be that of proper legislation, or do we want a body of men committed to the principle plainly laid down by the Democrats that "the highest duty of a representative of the people" is, not only to resist executive encroachment, but to attempt to foresee and call a halt upon it?

There are many who think that Congress left the Organic Act as it is in the matter of removals by a mere oversight. Can it be possible that Congress really intended that a special session of the Senate must be called to get rid of an election inspector caught committing fraud in office? The law applies to all of these. In the course of an able theoretical dissertation on abstract principles of government, Chairman Kinney did not refer to any of the practical sides of the question, which really concern the public more than Daniel Webster's forensic eloquence about President Jackson. Democracy is surely hard pressed for arguments when it has to call to its aid in our little local combat the words of one of the last century's greatest orators, delivered in opposing what he regarded as a real danger to liberty in the Republic itself. Have we any such issue here as was in the great Webster's mind when he enthralled the Senate with his oratory? There is one other thing which Kinney overlooks. It is the personal responsibility of the executive. He forgot—or ignored—the phrase quoted in these columns last week,—a phrase which remains to this day conspicuous in a volume of government records at Washington and which does a grave injustice in the minds of unformed readers to the former governor: "The Dole administration is involved in a saturnalia of scandal." Here is an expression from members of the upper house of Congress itself. It is signed by men who voted for the very Organic Act Kinney quotes. Is it possible that these men intended to leave an Hawaiian governor with his hands tied utterly in every department and then write a sentence like that about him if the departments went wrong?

Makes Collisions Impossible

The appalling total of deaths by railroad disasters is attracting much attention in the United States, where there were 9,840 deaths from this cause in a period during which there were only 6 in all Great Britain. In this connection a report by an American consul in New Zealand is interesting in that it contains a description of an instrument which the New Zealanders claim makes collisions, at least, quite impossible. The invention is described as follows:

"An interesting change has recently been made in the signaling system in New Zealand's railway which it is thought will make collisions absolutely impossible. For a long time, up to a recent date, what is known as the 'block' system has been generally used, but the 'tablet' system has now been introduced. The essential point in the new system is that no engine driver is allowed to leave a station without a tablet in his possession, and the element of safety rests on the fact that the machines are so made that it is impossible for two of the tablets to be out at the same time. If a driver leaves Auckland for Newmarket with a tablet, that tablet has to be deposited in the machine at Newmarket before another tablet is issued allowing a return train to leave that station for Auckland, and the electrical connection between the two stations makes it impossible to extract a tablet from the Auckland machine until the tablet has been put into the machine at Newmarket. It is claimed by railroad experts that under the new system two trains cannot be on the same section at once, so that the danger of collisions is entirely done away with."

The Democratic statement that personalities "some of them scurrilous" have been introduced in the campaign, are without foundation except in the case of the three candidates for delegate to Congress, who seem to be having their own little game of mud-throwing and may be left to fight it out. Incidentally, it might be mentioned that the commencement appears to have been by Lauka and his supporters, whose high minded purpose to have poor Morris Keohokalole take the stump has been defeated by failure of efforts to get him here.

Deputy Sheriff Hatter was eagerly taken up as a Democratic issue. A Saturday publication contained a long roast of the executive for giving this man a job. The amusing feature of the case is that Hatter was out of the job and the executive plan to appoint some fit local candidate was carried out, before the publication appeared. Another case of hard searching for an issue.

Chairman Kinney seems to have abandoned the idea of hundreds of public employes being "voted solid" though they have the secret ballot, and he has nothing more to say about district magistrates being of such low character that their decisions are affected by an executive's power to remove them. The suggestions were not complimentary to either the public works employes or the magistrates, and Democrats do well to let them alone.

There is no longer any doubt that the Baltic fleet has sailed. Certainly no one expected that the first place it would be heard from would be Hull, England, and that the first shots it fired would be at harmless British fishing boats.

Even the county bill seems to be of no importance to the Democrats. Kinney wants a legislature to attack Carter. Candidate Trent gives us a speech containing an account of some interesting dreams he dreamed. Hutchins attacks Kuhio and Waller roasts the Mohonk conference. The gentlemen all made good speeches, but what have their remarks to do with the duties of Hawaiian senators and representatives?

USE OF THE I. O. U.'S

A. M. DOW EXPLAINS THE SYSTEM THAT WAS IN VOGUE AT THE POLICE STATION—MONEY ADVANCED FOR MEMBERS OF THE POLICE FORCE WHEN THEY NEEDED IT, WHICH WAS VERY OFTEN.

In speaking of the I. O. U. system that has been in force in the office under High Sheriff Brown, H. M. Dow, the clerk to the High Sheriff, said this morning: "Before I came into the office the custom had been to pay the members of the entire police force in cash. The payment by warrant did not come into vogue until eight or more years ago. There was always considerable cash on hand and it was the custom to allow the men to give their I. O. U.'s and receive money during the month. This rule had been followed by my immediate predecessor, and I presume by clerks before him. I came into the office fifteen years ago. No interest was ever charged the men.

"Later when a new High Sheriff came into office he did not favor the I. O. U. system and caused me to change it by having the men write in a book the amount of money that they borrowed from the funds. I did not like this system and when a new official took charge I changed back to the old I. O. U. system, as I considered that form more convenient. This method of loaning money was continued until the payment by warrant came into vogue and then it was discontinued. No interest was ever charged for the use of that money, and it had been a custom that had prevailed for years in the department.

"After the warrant system came into effect, Mr. Schnack loaned money to the men charging them interest, no money ever being loaned out of my office. He tired of loaning the money and decided that he would discontinue it. The men were considerably inconvenienced, and solicited me frequently to help them. I prevailed on Schnack to continue the thing for several months longer, and finally when he stopped it, and the men bothered me so much to help them, I finally consented and told them that if they wanted to pay me the interest that they had been paying Schnack, I would go out and borrow the money and accommodate them.

"They were satisfied with this arrangement and paid me the interest themselves at the end of every month. The interest was 10 per cent on the small amount, but from many of the men I would not accept a single penny of interest. The money used in loaning to the men was borrowed outside by me and was never taken from the government money in my department. I have gotten the High Sheriff to endorse my note and I have secured the money at the bank. The Sheriff did not receive any money for endorsing the notes. I presume that it was customary to loan from $1,200 to $1,300 every month.

"I did the thing to accommodate the men and I always urged them to try and economize so as not to have to borrow the money during the month, but to have their full salary warrants drawn at the end of each month. I have frequently loaned some of the men more than the $5 and $10 that were the ordinary amounts borrowed, for frequently there was death or sickness in the families and the men required larger amounts."

High Sheriff Henry stated today that while Auditor Fisher had not completed his investigation of the affairs of the office under High Sheriff Brown, there was every indication that the affairs would be found absolutely correct. If anything there would probably be more money in the safe than the government is entitled to, as some of the personal money of either former High Sheriff Brown or Mr. Dow was probably in the safe at the time that the affairs were turned over to the new regime.

WIDE OPEN TOWN

warden for Oahu prison has yet been made. The recommendation is in the hands of the High Sheriff."

Secretary Atkinson when asked as to the idle story that he had resigned simply laughed.

"When I am appointed to a position by the President of the United States do you think that I am going to desert it at the first sign of a little trouble?" he asked.

Meanwhile a man with a grievance is Dicky Davis whose name came in for prominent mention in the interview in The Star on Saturday by which Governor Carter explained his stand on the situation.

The Governor was quoted as saying that someone had handed to Judge Gear a list of the Chinese gambling places in town, that the Judge had passed this on to Dicky Davis, "foreman of the Grand Jury," and that High Sheriff Brown had not acted upon this information, requiring the Grand Jury to produce witnesses.

Davis stated to The Star that he had called on the Governor respecting the published statement and that the Governor had denied having said to the newspapermen who interviewed him, that he had told the story as to Judge Gear handing over a list of Chinese gambling places.

"He said that the reporters must have made a mistake," said Davis.

That the Governor had made such a statement was beyond any question and the matter was either a question of veracity or of misunderstanding, so Governor Carter was asked as to it.

"The question of the handing of the list of Chinese gambling places to him by Judge Gear was never even mentioned between us," he said, "and I certainly did not say that the reporters were in error in quoting me as to that. What happened was this. Davis came to my office apparently quite excited and asked what this meant, that he had a business to keep up and that an evening paper had said that he had been drinking and gambling in his saloon with my detective one Sunday. He denied that he had done anything of the sort and my statement to him was that if a paper had made such a statement as coming from me it was incorrect. The question of the list of gamblers was not discussed. There was a witness to all this as Detective Hatter was in the room when Davis entered and said that he had never seen Hatter. I presented him to Davis and they had some conversation."

Davis asked The Star if a statement signed by all of the Grand Jury would be published if it were presented and was assured that it would be. The Grand Jury is sitting this morning.

HATTER AND HIS DOING

AN INTERESTING PHOTOGRAPH WHICH THE DETECTIVE IS SAID TO HAVE SECURED IN A SALOON ONE SUNDAY MORNING—THE DETECTIVE MAY BE ONE OF THE SAN FRANCISCO FORCE OF THE AGENCY.

Despite the fact that Charles Hatter is no longer deputy high sheriff, still the air of mystery that surrounds the unknown causes the public great curiosity to learn something about him, who he was, who he is? where he came from? where he is going? All of these are questions that are being asked regarding the new advisor of the police department.

A possible clue to his identity may be secured by a perusal of the San Francisco Directory. Whether the man whose name appears in the San Francisco Directory is the same man who has done the secret service work for the governor, are matters of conjecture. In the San Francisco Directory appears the following: "Hatter, Charles V. emp. Board of Health, 2519 4th."

The Governor's secret service man goes by the name of Charles Hatter. The "V" which is the middle initial of the individual who is named in the San Francisco Directory, does not appear in the name of the Pinkerton sleuth. Still it is not unlikely that Hatter would have come from the San Francisco office. The Pacific Coast division of the Pinkerton Agency is an important part of the big detective concern and some big cases have been successfully handled by the San Francisco men. On the other hand, Hatter may have come from further east, possibly from the main office at Chicago.

Wherever Hatter is from however, he appears to have succeeded in getting around with "the boys." He drank with "the boys" and claims to have gambled when they gambled. One story going the rounds today is to the effect that Hatter went to Iwilei on one Sunday and there found a crowd of men and women drinking in a saloon. He suggested taking a snap shot of the bunch. They assented and Hatter immediately had a picture taken of the crowd. Then he said he wanted to be in with the crowd and he caused a second picture with himself in the midst of the revellers, to be taken. Whether there is any truth in this rumor however, can probably best be told by the Governor or Hatter as Hatter undoubtedly handed the governor's go-between the pictures to be given for the governor's inspection, provided of course any such pictures were taken.

Another story that is going the rounds is that Hatter succeeded in getting arrested as a drunk and spending a few days in jail. In fact if half the stories that are being discussed are true Hatter spent a lively couple of months here. He applied at one place for a job as barkeeper and was negotiating for the purchase of another saloon.

A Closing Up Was Looked For

WAIKIKI RESORTS HAD QUIET DAY YESTERDAY. AS A RESULT OF THE EXPECTATION THAT THE POLICE WOULD DESCEND ON THEM—BUSINESS GENERALLY WAS CARRIED ON AS USUAL IN MOST PLACES.

The town was on the qui vive yesterday. Police raids were looked for but the raids failed to come. It was probably harder to get a drink in the city yesterday than on Sundays under the former police regime, and while the sellers of liquor on Sunday were very cautious and uneasy they were no doubt ready to dispense to the people whom they knew would not perch on them. There was in fact a general feeling of uneasiness about the city. Many people who ordinarily frequent hotels or places where a drink could have been secured formerly, stayed away and went dry.

At the beach all of the resorts were running however, as usual. Nobody appeared on the scene to molest them and people drank as usual.

Gambling appears to have eased up also. High Sheriff Henry said that while gambling had no doubt shut down in certain quarters, there was perhaps gambling elsewhere. He stated that it would be some days before he would have the department running in shape, as it was slow work for a new man to jump and take charge of affairs with all of the leading members of the department gone.

What Chinese gambling that ran before appears to have closed down, although the people in the Kakaako district appear to have been enjoying their usual game of shooting craps.

IS BAREFOOTED BILL OPERATING AGAIN?

LEWERS & COOKE STORE ROBBED IN VERY MUCH SAME STYLE NOTORIOUS CHARACTER USED.

Barefoot Bill seems to be paying his respects to the new administration. The store of Lewers and Cooke on King street was entered either Saturday or Sunday night by an unknown person and robbed. Only a few dollars were secured however.

The reason the police think that perhaps Barefoot Bill may be at work, is because the thief secured entrance to the store by letting himself down through a skylight. The Lewers and Cooke building is very high and the robber climbed to it from some adjoining building. Old Barefoot always used to descend upon his victims by dropping through skylights. The police are investigating the matter.

KAMALO SALE THIS MORNING

THE AUCTION OF PERSONAL PROPERTY ON THE MOLOKAI PLANTATION.

The sale of the property of the Kamalo Sugar Company on Molokai attracted a large crowd to Fisher's auction rooms at noon today but to judge from the prices realized the crowd was there more for observation than for investment.

The sale realized in all a sum of $4,962.50 of which about $3000 was for real estate and the balance for personal property. All of the property advertised was not, however sold, the leases being all withdrawn, some of the real estate being retained and other portions being bid in.

The largest purchaser was Dr. Moutz who bought the Ahupuaa of Mapulehu for $5,050. This tract which consists of 1,650 acres was sold to the company some six years ago for $7,000 cash and $28,000 in paid up stock.

Another marked shrinkage in value was shown when the land at Kawela, between 60 and 100 acres was bid in on account of the trustees for $50 by L. Dee. This was originally sold to the company for $6000 cash and $6000 in paid up stock.

The personal property such as equipment, tools, material and so on realized fairly good prices.

ENDEAVORERS' RESOLUTIONS.

Governor Carter's action regarding the police department was heartily supported by the Y. P. S. C. E. of the Christian church, at the regular prayer meeting of the society yesterday evening. The resolution voicing the society's sentiments is as follows.

"Believing as we do that Christianity and good citizenship are inseparable, and believing that the cause of reform and good government in our city and Territory is immeasurably strengthened by an executive who stands for the enforcement of the law and its impartial application to all who disregard it."

"Be It Therefore Resolved, That we, the members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Christian church of Honolulu do most heartily endorse and commend the action of Governor George R. Carter in declaring that the laws of this city and Territory shall be enforced."

"We rejoice in the order which has been given that no police officer, whether on duty or not, shall be allowed to drink in saloons or to engage in gambling."

"We deprecate the attempt to make political capital out of this effort, which we believe has been made solely in the interests of clean government, and we pledge our heartiest support to Governor Carter and all his officers in their every effort for better government."

GROCER'S NOTICE.

In accordance with our desire to give our customers the best possible service at the lowest prices, we have decided to discount the practice of allowing a discount of 5 per cent on retail monthly bills, and therefore give notice that on and after the 1st of November, 1904, no discount whatsoever will be allowed on any groceries sold in our stores. All groceries will be sold at net prices, on a basis of spot cash or thirty days' settlement, and there will be no exception made to this rule. Purchasers made in our retail department up to the 1st of November will, of course, be subject to the 5 per cent discount as heretofore.

The discount question has frequently been the cause of disputes and dissatisfaction and we believe this arrangement will improve our relations with our patrons, while it will at the same time enable us to more adequately meet the keen competition prevailing in our line of business, and to give our customers the benefit of the lowest prices.

SHAM FIGHTS TOO REAL

LONG LIST OF CASUALTIES IN MILITARY MANEUVERS IN GERMAN—ARMY OFFICERS WHO DO NOT APPRECIATE THE VICTORIES WHICH THE KAISER WINS OVER VETERANS IN HIS MAKE-BELIEVE BATTLES BEFORE OBLIGING EMPHES.

BERLIN, October 8.—Militarism seems likely to be exorcised more than ever in this country as the result of the uncommonly deadly maneuvers which recently came to an end. Public indignation is keen over the amazing number of fatalities and accidents which have marked the mimic battles—a number, as it has been said, not far short of what might have been expected had the strife been real.

These mishaps, the real total of which was not given in the first reports, were particularly numerous in those brilliant cavalry charges which the Kaiser delights to witness, but which would be impossible in real warfare. In one of these over fifty men were unhorsed and more or less badly hurt. In another, where the opposing cavalry forces were brought into close contact, a trooper ran his lance clear through a hussar, killing him on the spot. Another lance wounded an opposing hussar in the leg, injuring him so seriously that the member had to be amputated. During a cavalry charge at Schoenhausen two officers and twenty men were unhorsed and injured, some fatally. In another sham fight in the same district the results were still more disastrous, forty-eight men being tumbled out of their saddles and several of them were killed.

In other branches of the service so-called accidents were far less numerous, but there were enough of them to show that sham fighting as conducted by the Kaiser is by no means all "make-believe." A private of the Ninety-ninth Infantry Regiment was shot dead. In the Kaiser's own regiment of the Guards a private was shot in the eye and permanently blinded. At Mubienchen during an artillery contest a private attached to one of the field batteries had both his legs blown off. An officer was severely injured by the explosion of a military balloon, and a similar explosion cost a corporal his life. In an infantry attack a sergeant was killed and a lance pierced a dragoon, fatally wounding him.

HATTER OUT RAWLINS IN

GOVERNOR CARTER APPOINTS WELL KNOWN ATTORNEY TO CHILLINGWORTH'S PLACE.

Governor Carter appointed William T. Rawlins deputy high sheriff on Saturday afternoon and the new appointee at once took office. Charles Hatter, the Pinkerton detective, who had been made deputy high sheriff on Friday, is to be retained as advisor.

During Saturday afternoon the Republican Central Committee held a meeting for the purpose of discussing recommendations to make to Governor Carter for the positions of deputy high sheriff and warden. Rawlins was selected for the former position and Henry Vida for the wardenship. Chairman A. G. M. Robertson and Mr. Rawlins then went to the Capital building and had a conference with the Governor for the purpose of making known officially to him the result of the Central Committee's meeting. The Governor followed the recommendation in the case of Rawlins but did not in the other instance, leaving the appointment of warden open for the present. Deputy Sheriff Rawlins stated last night that the matter of appointments to the police force to fill various vacancies was in statu quo and nothing would be done for the present.

Auditor Fisher and his assistants are still at work on the books of the sheriff's department under the former regime. The matter of the I. O. U. system in vogue is also being investigated. The following resolutions were drawn up last week and signed by members of the police force as an indication of their esteem for the former heads of the department:

"Whereas Arthur M. Brown, Esq. has during his long and continuous service, won the confidence and esteem of this community and the respect and loyalty of the entire Police force and employees of the Police Department. "We, the undersigned officers and members of the Police force and employees of the Police Department, wish to express our deep regret that so efficient and capable an officer has seen fit to sever his connection with the Police Department over which he presided with dignity and firmness since August, A. D. 1895, and we do hereby express to him our appreciation of his long and faithful service and more especially his kindness of heart and his many acts of kindness extended to us under trying circumstances.

"We also wish to say that in parting with him the Police Department will lose a man whose place will be hard to fill and we wish him every success in the future. "We also desire to express our regret in losing the Deputy High Sheriff, Charles F. Chillingworth whose courage and especial adaptability for the position he has so long filled has won for him the respect and confidence of the entire Police Department. In parting with our superiors, we can truly say they have been faithful to duty and to us. "Our aloha shall always go with you both." Signed by all members and employees of the Police Department. Dated Honolulu, T. H., October 22, A. D. 1904."

REFUSED TO PLAY GERMAN ANTHEM

FRENCH MILITARY BAND STARTS HOME FROM ST. LOUIS UNDER ARREST.

NEW YORK, October 10.—The Republican Guard, the National military band of France, will return under arrest to New York from St. Louis tomorrow and be quartered aboard the French liner La Touraine. They are prisoners by order of the French Minister of War for their refusal to play the German national anthem on German day at the World's Fair.

When the band was asked to play the German hymn both leaders and men laid down their instruments. Their action was loudly hissed and news of it spread to Commissary General Picard the representative of the French government at the fair. He immediately went to the stand where the musicians were sulking and ordered them to play "Die Wacht am Rhein."

They did so, but with ill grace, several of the more powerful brass instruments deliberately creating a discord. This angered General Picard, and he immediately telegraphed to the War Department at Paris and the following day received an order directing the band to return to once to France. The fact that the band had played every other national anthem they were asked to with alacrity only aggravated their discourtesy to the Germans of St. Louis and the affront their conduct offered to the German government.

CAMPAIGN ADDRESSES

REPUBLICANS HOLD A RALLY

HISTORIC CORNER OF BETHEL AND HOTEL STREETS THE SCENE OF A GATHERING.

The Bethel and Hotel street corner was the scene of an enthusiastic gathering of Republicans on Saturday evening when at 7:30 the meeting was called to order by John C. Lane. He made a brief speech calling on all loyal Republicans to vote the straight ticket and then introduced Samuel F. Chillingworth. Chillingworth took up the subject of the candidacy of Aylett, defending him from the many attacks that had made on him. Aylett he said may have erred at one time but when he had thoroughly understood the results to be achieved he had been on the side of good legislation. The special session had shown what the legislature could do when put to the test. Quinn, the speaker looked on as a representative working man thoroughly worthy of support.

The new Deputy High Sheriff, W. C. Rawlins was next introduced. He took the platform he said to thank those who voted for him last year for County Attorney. He spoke of some of the benefits to be derived from Republican rule. He cited the fact that settlers on government lands in out of the way districts, may construct roads for themselves without waiting for the government, and receive a deduction in the price of the land equal to the cost to them of building the road. He ended up by urging that a straight Republican ticket be elected as that would insure good legislation. It costs $1000 a day while the Legislature is in session and so it behooves us to get one that will do the best work in the shortest time. Ed Towse made a most effective speech. The Republican party had built up the system of protection and the navy—the two great things that are of value to us here in Hawaii. He then spoke of Kuhlö. Cupid has done more in the two years he has been in Washington than has any new member of Congress in an equal length of time. He should be given an opportunity to go on with the good work. In regard to Carter, Towse was not there to defend him. Carter needs no defense. Speaking of the Democrats he said that they simply propose to “investigate,” which only means costly waste of time and even more costly stenographers.

Harry S. Swinton and Bernard Kelekolio spoke both in English and Hawaiian and were well received. Tom Quinn made a rattling address. Andrew Jackson he said was the greatest American president and Roosevelt was following closely in Jackson's footsteps. They both have the qualities of promptness and decision in a remarkable degree. He went on to show how all the machine politicians advised the president not to expose the frauds in the Postoffice with a Presidential election drawing near. Roosevelt persisted, however, and is the stronger for it. Governor Carter is nobly following Roosevelt's example and is only doing the right thing. Would have stilled himself if he had waited until after the election. There should not be a Democrat in the islands. Our whole prosperity is wrapped up in the tariff system and no one should be such a fool as to vote for a party whose policy is inimical to our interests.

Several Hawaiian speakers followed using the Hawaiian language and the meeting then broke up with the usual cheers.

KINNEY AGAIN ROASTS CARTER

DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN QUOTES WEBSTER AND DISCUSSES THE UNDATED RESIGNATIONS.

The Democratic meeting at the Orpheum on Saturday evening was disappointingly small to the party managers. When Chairman W. A. Kinney took the platform and began the address of the evening, the center of the hall was well filled, but there was a gloomy space of empty seats in the rear and here and there throughout the body of the hall. During Kinney's address the audience slowly increased, but the Orpheum was never nearly full and the audience was easily seen to be half Republican. Kinney gave a carefully prepared address, devoted to Carter's "undated resignations policy," as it is known, and was here and there applauded for some of his concise statements. The Democratic chairman stated Carter's alleged policy as follows:

"The law provides that these officers shall be removed by the Governor with the consent of the Senate. Under the Governor's methods of administration, they are now removable by the Governor alone even though such removal may be in direct opposition to the wishes of our Senate. Thus the security and the independence carefully vouchsafed to the heads of departments by the Congress of the United States has been directly set aside by the Executive of this Territory, who in taking office made oath to uphold and carry out the laws of the land as he found them. * * *

"Governor Carter is running this Territory on the theory that all power should be centered in the Governor and he in turn should be responsible to the President for the welfare and proper administration of the Territory. We find no justification for this in the Organic Act, which, while vesting the executive power of the government of the Territory in the Governor holding him responsible for the execution of the laws, breaks up and subdivides this executive power into various departments, each independent of the other and all independent of the Governor. * * *

After quoting from the Organic Act to show that the executive right of removal is by and with the consent of the Senate, Kinney made many quotations from the works of Webster and others, showing the danger to free government of executive encroachments. He said further:

Since writing the above three things have happened to which I wish to refer, namely the removal of Messrs. Brown and Chillingworth, an editorial in The Star of October 20th entitled "Undated Resignations," and an interview by the Governor appearing in the Star of yesterday.

And first as to the removal of the Tigh Sheriff and his Deputy. This is an incident that is at present filling the public mind. Up to this time the facts are not before us, and until they are, no final decision or judgment upon the question as to whether Brown and Chillingworth are right or wrong or are guilty of misconduct justifying their removal can be reached. There are certain phases of that question, however, which have reached a point where they can be publicly discussed. The incident serves to illustrate that the Democrats have been right in contending from the first that the powers of the Governor and the extent of his authority are vital issues in this campaign and must be met and discussed by any party laying claim to the confidence of the people.

And this incident illustrates again how thoroughly misguided the Republican or executive machine has been in its attempts to contend that Governor Carter is not and cannot be an issue this campaign, and that any attempt to do so is factious, senseless and unbusinesslike.

The Democratic party has foreseen the disorder that would inevitably grow out of the adoption of mistaken conceptions of executive power and its limitations, and has sounded the alarm seasonably, and led the community to understand and appreciate the situation while the executive machine has been proclaiming loudly that neither the Governor nor his acts are to be considered an issue this coming election. It may be said by those who believe that Brown and Chillingworth are in the wrong that the incident illustrates the wisdom of demanding undated resignations from the heads of departments.

Our reply as Democrats is, first, that whether it would be best to have these heads of departments hold office at the will of the Governor or not, the law does not permit it. An evasion of the law is a violation of it, and we stand for the enforcement of law which in this instance requires that these officials shall hold office for four years, and shall be removed from office only by the Governor with the consent of our local Senate. In the second place the Democrats say that if the issue is raised whether the law shall be changed so that the Governor may lawfully have absolute control of these powers which he now unlawfully usurps, the Democratic party will stand first, last and all the time against the enlargement of his powers over and above what is now allowed him by the Organic Act. They believe that Congress was right in subdividing the executive power and making the heads of departments independent of the Governor and of each other. They decline to decide the question on the more expeditious of the hour or by considering that it may have proved convenient to one or two particular cases in the past to have had the undated, resignation system in vogue. It does not follow therefore that a permanent or any diet of undated resignation is the best thing for this commonwealth. We as Democrats protest against such views. Such logic would result in this: If we had a bad Governor and good departments then we would clamor to have the heads of these departments made independent of the Governor and vice versa. The issue must not be decided in that way.

We had an experience in the history of this country that ought to have taught us better. In 1864 Kamehameha V, believing that the people had too much power and the executive too little, arbitrarily promulgated a new constitution which gave the executive more power and the people less, and during his reign and because he was a man of good sense and knew how far to go and where to stop, the people felt no inconvenience from the constitution thus promulgated. Events seemed to justify the making of a constitution to fit the particular sovereignty then on the throne, but what happened later? Kalakaua came to the throne and he took that constitution with its wide executive powers and ran the country, so he forced the country into open revolution resulting in its abolition. The powers of the executive were curbed in the new constitution and the people of this Territory ought and undoubtedly do see the wisdom of resorting to makeshifts or evasions of law because the emergencies of the hour seem to invite it. The Democratic party will stand in my judgment firmly for the independence of the heads of these departments first, last and all the time because it does away with one man power, and if it gives a little slower government we believe the people in the long run are perfectly willing to have it. A strenuous government is not the kind of government to wear.

The editorial of The Star above referred to, entitled "Undated Resignations," makes this announcement. It says that when President Roosevelt or any chief executive of the United States decides that any one of over two hundred judges who preside over high courts of record is guilty of conduct meriting removal, he makes the order of removal and it is effectual.

We deny that statement. The laws of Congress provide that any civil officer whose appointment requires the consent of the Senate of the United States, is entitled to fill out the full term of his office and can only be removed by the President with the consent of the Senate. There are some few specific exceptions made and in our own territorial law the Judiciary can be removed by the President alone, but this is an anomaly and an exception to the rule.

On the mainland under the general territorial act passed by Congress Judges cannot be removed at the will of the President. Congress has given the President wider powers in reference to the Judiciary of this Territory than are usual, but that is no reason why any such discrimination should be extended. On the contrary it is to be hoped that we will get in line with the territories on the mainland in this respect as soon as practicable and in any event neither the President nor any one else can or should set aside laws providing expressly against removal without the consent of the Senate.

In conclusion I wish to say a few words in regard to the interview of Governor Carter in The Star of Saturday. The interesting point in that interview to me is the announcement by the Governor that he is not an issue in the present campaign. He goes on in that connection and makes the following statement: "I am not an issue in the present campaign. The policy which as Governor I have adopted and the plans which I have carried out are those in which I have confidence and I believe that the time will show that they are all right."

The express declaration and the undertone of these remarks show that the Governor conceives that he is responsible only to God and the president, for if he is not an issue in this campaign when can he be an issue? The only time citizens have a say in this Territory is on grand and petty juries and once every two years on election day. It is manifest that in the Governor's mind he is not now and never can be an issue so far as the citizens of this Territory are concerned. If he means that the citizens cannot directly remove him well and good. Neither can they remove their representatives to the Legislature when once elected. If the Governor because he is appointed by the President cannot be made an issue, then it would follow that judges of our Supreme and Circuit courts are practically above and out of reach of criticism and condemnation by the citizens of this Territory and are not to be referred to in territorial campaigns.

The Secretary of the Territory receives his commission from the President as well as the Governor. I suppose, therefore that he passes out at once into the category of officials who are immune from local criticism and attack. The Democrats say that the Governor is an issue of this campaign, an issue forced upon the citizens of this Territory by a series of acts by the Governor in violation of the Organic Act under which he was appointed. Why, the Republican Territorial Convention, or rather the Republican machine of this Territory in convention, made the endorsement of Governor Carter's administration one of the chief features of its platform, and if the Republican party prevails at the polls Governor Carter will take and use the result at Washington as well as here as an endorsement of his administration, and if the Republicans are defeated at the polls will not that result be taken at Washington and here as a condemnation of his administration?

Most assuredly, in deciding this question our own hearty common sense comes to our rescue and answers the question in line with the Democratic declaration that the Governor of this Territory and his administration are amenable to the people of this Territory, and if condemned and rebuked at the polls will have to mend their ways and conform to the manifest wishes of the people of this Territory, or be called down at Washington whether a Republican President occupies the Presidential chair, or a Democrat.

Kinney was followed by R. H. Trent, C. J. Hutchins and G. J. Walter.

MEHEULA'S CASE UP AGAIN

JUDGE DOLE WILL HEAR ARGUMENT MONDAY—MORE JAPANESE CRIMINAL CASES.

MAHAULU'S CASE IS POSTPONED

RAWLINS' RETIREMENT AS COUNSEL FOR BOYD'S CHIEF CLERK IN LAND OFFICE.

Deputy High Sheriff W. T. Rawlins, newly appointed under the recent changes in the High Sheriff's office, bade farewell to his private practice as an attorney this morning. He visited the Judiciary building and announced his retirement from the different cases in which he appears as counsel and said formal adieu to the judges of the different courts.

In the criminal term he appeared as counsel for Stephen Mahaulu accused on three charges of embezzlement and for Araki, charged with assault with a weapon. He asked that these cases be continued for another term so that the defendant could have the benefit of a full defense by new counsel. The Attorney General's office, he said, would consent.

Assistant Attorney General Prosser stated that he had been instructed to assent to a continuance.

"I see no necessity for continuing these cases for a term," said Judge Gear, "they have been postponed from time to time at the request of the defense and I do not think a defendant is entitled to a continuance simply because he happens from some cause or other to lose his counsel. Still, at the request of the prosecution I will continue the cases for a term."

Prosser dissented from this way of looking at the matter and said that the prosecution had not requested the continuance but had assented to it.

"Then the cases will be continued owing to a stipulation between the Attorney General and the defense," said Judge Gear "although the court sees no reason for it."

MAIL DUE TOMORROW.

Five days later mail is due tomorrow on the S. S. America Maru from San Francisco. The vessel is likely to arrive here in the forenoon. There is a possibility however that the mail was not put aboard her as the postal authorities failed to put mail on her on her last outward trip. It is generally thought however, that she is likely to carry the mail this trip. The S. S. Ventura will follow the America Maru on Wednesday with more mail from San Francisco.

MANCHURIA SAILED.

The S. S. Manchuria sailed yesterday from Yokohama for Honolulu with 2,000 tons of cargo for this place. She will have room for about 100 cabin passengers for San Francisco from Honolulu. H. Hackfeld and Company agents of the Pacific Mail received cable advices of the departure of the Manchuria.
