SCOURING THE STOMACH
IN CONJUNCTION WITH ROENTGEN LIGHT.
Successful Test in a Medical College—Great Addition to Science.

Chicago, April 2.—With a little machine, which looks like an egg beater, Dr. Fenton B. Turk has performed the feat of laundering the inside of a man's stomach at the Post Graduate Medical School, and by means of the Roentgen ray he at the same time viewed the interior of the stomach where his little device was at work. The invention marks an era of progress in the medical world, as his experiment was the first of the kind made in full view of the operators. One of the largest and most complete Roentgen ray outfits ever produced was furnished to the college for the experiment. Attached to the end of Dr. Turk's instrument, which is called a gyromele, or revolving sound, was a flexible cable of spiral steel wire, on the end of which was a small sponge. The cable was inclosed in a rubber tube, and this, with the sponge, was swallowed by the patient. The latter, who was stripped to the waist, then stepped before the Roentgen light, the doctor put the fluoroscope to his eyes and an attendant turned the handle of the gyromele. The cable revolved as fast or as slow as was desired, the sponge at the farther end proceeded to its work of scouring the inner walls of the patient's stomach, while the doctor, through the fluoroscope, viewed the work by locating the metal cable by means of the X ray.

By pushing or pulling on the cable the various portions of the inner walls of the stomach were operated upon and the matter which was gathered in the sponge was then removed for microscopic examination. No nausea or other discomforts were felt by the patient, though he stood before the rays for over an hour, while the doctors in attendance, the nurses, the operator of the X ray outfit and a newspaper man examined his interior. At the close of the ordeal he was offended that none of the party would gratify his curiosity to see the operation by temporarily taking his place as patient and swallowing the sponge and tube despite his assertions that it had not hurt him.

The Roentgen ray outfit used in the operation is capable of throwing a fourteen-inch spark and illuminating a very large Crooke's tube. By its means it was not only possible to see the ribs and backbone of the patient, but to view the vibrations of the heart and to outline the liver and kidneys. Dr. Turk is enthusiastic over the success of the experiment.

MURDERED ON MOLOKAI
CHINESE STOREKEEPER AND HIS WIFE THE VICTIMS.
Hacked to Pieces by Midnight Assassins—Two Natives Who Were Refused Credit Suspected.

By the Kinan this morning Jack Lucas received a letter from Lahaina, put aboard at the last minute, giving the meagre details of what proved to be a horrible murder, committed on Saturday night at Kamalo, Molokai, where there is a small settlement on the McCarriston ranch. There is one little store at the place kept by a Chinaman and his wife. On Sunday morning last cries were heard proceeding from the store and several parties went to investigate. They found the Chinawoman on the floor with a handkerchief tightly wound about her neck. The woman, who had apparently been left for dead, had revived after being unconscious for several hours and it was her cries that had brought help. She was picked up and cared for and Dr. Mouritz and Sheriff Trimble were sent for. After she recovered she stated that about midnight she awoke and saw a man in the room. She thought it was a native but was not sure. She next remembered being struck with some blunt instrument but after that all was a blank until she came to and found herself unable to move and nearly dead. She then cried out as loud as she could and her cries were answered soon afterward. She could not identify her assailant but was pretty sure that it was a native, who had been hanging about the store with two companions all the afternoon. There had been some trouble between this native and her husband on account of his failure to obtain credit and he had finally left swearing to get even with her husband.

Search was at once made for the woman's husband. He was found near the bank of a small creek, his head lying on a flat rock and mashed almost to a jelly. Nearby was lying a big stone covered with blood with which the deed had been done.

After caring for the body, the party returned to the store, where they found that the woman had recovered to such an extent that she was able to give a good description of three men who had been at the store the afternoon before and whom she suspected. Her description was so good that the Sheriff at once placed the men.

Sheriff Trimble, Frank Foster and Dr. Mouritz then started out for Kaunakakai to arrest the suspected parties. They went straight to Kaunakakai and arrested San Kuu, Paahao and Non, three natives. The two first were sleeping in a house and when the officers broke in on them they each had on a new pair of pants. The third man was found later. He was wearing a new silk handkerchief, which with both pairs of pants were identified as part of the stock in the store. Other articles stolen from the store were afterward found in their possession and identified. The three men were then confronted with the woman and she at once said they were the ones who were at the store on the afternoon before.

It is expected the three men will be brought here on the Mokoli on Saturday.

There seems to be no doubt that all three were engaged in the murder, the motive of which was robbery. The store was ransacked from end to end and the money drawer broken open. The murderers evidently thought they had strangled the woman, and left her while they dragged the man out and killed him. They then evidently returned to the store and ransacked it at their leisure.

NEWS OF FOREIGN NAVIES
ONE MILLION DOLLARS FOR THE HONGKONG DOCKYARD.
Great Expectations of a New British Long-Distance Cruiser—New British Battleship.

The British battle-ship Jupiter, 14,900 tons, on her trial trip March 9 averaged 18.4 knots for four hours. The contract speed was 17.5 knots.

One million dollars will probably be expended by Great Britain in improvements and extension of the Hongkong dockyard. A large drydock is one of the pressing needs.

The Hart and Hardy, torpedo-boat destroyers of 295 tons displacement, have arrived safely at Hongkong where they will be attached to the British China squadron. Their passage up from Singapore in the teeth of the northeast monsoon was very trying to the small crafts, but the officers speak in the highest terms of their seaworthiness through their long voyage from England.

The Niobe, first-class cruiser of 11,000 tons displacement, sheathed with wood and copper, was launched February 20 from the yard of the Naval Construction and Armament Company at Barrow-in-Furness. She is one of eight ships on the same design, six of which are building by contract and two at the Pembroke yard. The Niobe is 435 feet in length, 69 feet beam and has a mean draught of 25 feet 3 inches. The horsepower under natural draught is to be 16,500, with which a speed of twenty and a half knots is anticipated. The coal capacity is 1000 tons at load draught and bunker space for 2000 tons, and the armament consists of sixteen 6-inch and seven smaller guns, all of them quickfiring. Sir William White, who designed the vessel, expects great results from this class, which is designed for long distance cruising, and, while they are only protected cruisers, the protection afforded is greater than in previous designs of that class. Thus the armored deck is 4 inches thick and the conning tower 12 inches. The total complement will be 718 officers and men. The total estimated cost, exclusive of guns and ordnance stores, is $2,723,680.

ITEMS FROM HILO.
Death of an Oldtimer—Improvements in Town.

Hilo papers received by the Kinan are the source of the following items:

Poor old William Allsworth is dead. He died Sunday the 4th inst. all alone in his modest quarters in Hilo. He has been one of the very oldest of old timers on these islands, following various vocations, hunter, policeman, and cattle man at Waiman. He is reputed to have been a Mexican war veteran. His friends buried his remains Monday. He was aged eighty and has been a resident of the islands for over forty years.

J. H. Boyd, of the Interior Department, before he leaves town will perfect arrangements for subdivision for the leasing of some thirteen acres of land on Wai-anuene street near the hospital site for building sites. He will arrange for the opening of Shipman street, that starts from Bridge street, opposite the Tribune building and runs down to the shore. Also a site will be selected for a fish market on this street down by the mouth of the Waialuku river. He will finally adjust all differences for damages on Wai-anuene street for widening purposes.

He—I love you better than my life. She—Considering the life you lead, I cannot say that I am surprised.

STATUTE OF FRAUD WILL BE PLEADED IN SUMNER SUIT.

Elizabeth Bourne Waterhouse, executrix of the will of John T. Waterhouse Jr., has filed account with a petition for discharge. Receipts are $103,000 and there are no payments.

D. H. Case for petitioner obtained from Judge Perry an order for commission to take testimony in Kau, to issue to A. J. Yates, in the matter of the petition for administration of the estate of Kong Leong. The estate is insolvent and W. Pfothenauer, representative of H. Hackfeld & Co., is the temporary administrator.

Seconds the Motion.

The Hilo Tribune says it "agrees with the BULLETIN in speaking of the prosperity of the island of Trinidad, where they did not entirely depend upon sugar for an industry, but mixed the production with other crops. And the season for experimenting is today while we are prosperous. In a country like these islands where every day is a working day, where fruits ripen the whole year round, where labor is cheap because the necessities of living are cheap, with the United States for a market where 70,000,000 people reside, there are hundreds of industries that could be pursued with a profit."

The Longest Reign.

At a meeting of the joint committee of St. George and Thistle societies on the Diamond Jubilee last night, it was decided to take steps for having a meeting of British residents called. The result is a call for a meeting at the Arlington next Wednesday evening, signed by several prominent British residents. Hilo papers have a call for a meeting of British residents there next Saturday evening.

Accident at Hilo.

Mrs. A. D. Freimann, the well-known dressmaker, was thrown from a horse at Hilo one day last week and had her collar bone broken. The animal was a vicious one and she had been warned against riding it. She came up on the Kinan and is now with friends in this city.

CYCLING IN SHANGHAI
THE OBSTRUCTIONS WHEELMEN HAVE TO LOOK OUT FOR.
Streets Swarm With Rickshaws, Coolie Porters, Women on Queer Wheelbarrows and So Forth.

Cyclists and hackmen complain that there is no such thing as the law of the road in Honolulu and both blame each other for the accidents which are so frequently the result of not following the general rule of either keeping to the right as in the United States or to the left as in England. But Honolulu's streets, bad as they are, must be paradise to the cyclist compared with those of Shanghai. A contributor to The Cycle sends a rather amusing account of a ride through Shanghai, which he describes as "that stray little patch of Europe in China." He says:

Whether he rides in England, America, or France—for all of these nations have their own little branch establishments, with even their own General Post Offices all within the bounds of the settlement of Shanghai—he will feel himself in ever imminent risk of being crushed by the traffic, or crushing somebody else, as he bumps along the somewhat rough, but otherwise level, streets of well built Shanghai. The writer has ridden through the busiest of London streets, yea, even in their most greasy condition, but unpleasantly thrilling as such experiences were it was child's play to Shanghai. The streets absolutely swarm with rickshaws, pulled along at a rapid pace by Chinese coolies of a most reckless and careless temperament. They swing round corners on the wrong side; make sudden alterations in their course; race each other, blindly, with their heads down; stop unexpectedly, and when they sight a likely fare they swoop down on him from all directions, utterly regardless of everything but to get there first.

The rickshaws alone would be quite enough to keep the cyclist in the streets of Shanghai from going to sleep, but they are only a detail of the whole of his anxieties. The streets are equally well provided with coolie porters, who carry merchandise about swung from long, stout bamboo poles. These worthless wander all over the road, appear to be afflicted with deafness, and always to be deep in reflection on the hardness of their lot, and are perhaps most dangerous when not carrying anything, and the heavy bamboo pole is on their shoulders, gun fashion.

Nor have I yet exhausted the list of the terrors of the streets of Shanghai. If one sees a Chinaman of any position crossing right in one's track and rings the bell at him, beyond a glance the effect is nil, for his dignity will not permit him either to stand still or hurry; whilst the low-class Chinaman, at the first twinkle, jumps wildly about in every direction but the right one, like the typical old lady of our own highways. Most of the women folk go about on a wheelbarrow of peculiar construction, a big wheel being right in the centre of the vehicle, and caged over, and three girls can sit either side, Irish car fashion. This is probably the most harmless thing to cyclists on the Shanghai roads, but even this has its little dangers, for should the cyclist come up silently from the rear, and go past close to the pusher, it may so alarm him that he loses his somewhat precarious balance on the one wheel, and shoots three small-footed exactly alike Chinese young women into the spokes of what was a moment before a bicycle.

HOW TO BOIL A POTATO.

The Right and the Wrong Way According to Good Housekeeping.

Even in so simple a matter as the boiling of a potato there is a right and a wrong way, which followed out lead to results as diverse as the methods of preparation. The careless cook, after a process which she calls "parin"—during which she gouges and slashes and robs the poor esculent of much of its nutritious elements—puts it in a kettle of cold water, because that is handiest, sets it over the fire and leaves it to chance whether it boil dry and escapes from its martyrdom a seared and smoky accessory of dinner or cooks until a sodden, pasty mess of fragments that would take the somewhat vitiated taste of a mammiferous quadruped of the genus capra. That, needless to say, is the wrong way and this the right:

Peel the potatoes with a sharp vegetable knife, just as thin as possible, for that part of the tuber lying close to the skin is richest in mineral salts, and put each potato as peeled into a pan of cold water to prevent discoloration. Have ready, meanwhile, a kettle of boiling water, and when the peeling process is complete take the potatoes from the cold water, and covering them with boiling salted water, set them on the range, covered, to boil. Twenty minutes will usually suffice, but to test them use a skewer or fork, and when they can be pierced easily remove at once from the fire, pour off all the water and set them on the back of the range, uncovered, to steam dry, assisting that process occasionally by a slight shaking of the kettle.

If one asks the reason why potatoes should always be cooked in boiling water, try the following experiment for proof: Take two cups, in each of which has been put a teaspoonful of ordinary starch. Pour over one a quarter of a cupful of boiling water and over the other the same quantity of cold water and observe the result. The one over which the boiling water was poured stays in shape, a compact mass, while the one with the cold water dissolves into a soft paste. The potato is largely composed of starch, and from this trial any one may draw his own conclusions. If you wish a pulpy, watery potato, use cold water, but if a dry, mealy, snowy ball that would delight the heart of Epicurus himself, always use boiling water.

To serve boiled potato mashed, add to every quart of the mashed potato two tablespoonfuls of butter, a teaspoonful of salt, one-half of a teaspoonful of pepper and hot cream or milk to moisten. Then beat until light, white and creamy and serve piled lightly on a dish, but never packed down and smoothed over, as was the wont of our grandmothers.

A VOICE FROM THE BLEACHERS.

Local interest in the cricket games as reflected from the "bleachers" is increasing. During Saturday's games the "bleachers" were particularly vociferous and kept the players under a running fire of good natured banter. One small boy brought down the crowd by advising the batsman to "go buy a case of Rainier Beer and get some life in you." The crowd applauded the remark, knowing that Rainier Beer is celebrated for its invigorating and strengthening properties.

It is perfectly harmless, you need have no fear of becoming habitually inclined to its use.

For Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, Colds, and all painful affections, a few doses will certainly give relief. You cannot afford to be without a bottle in the house.

Your forefathers used it and found it beneficial.

Why experiment with some remedy that is new and its effect on the system unknown?

It has many rivals but no equal.

"THE GREEN HOUR."

When All Paris Sits Down For Its Sip of Absinth.

Your American tourist, sitting through Paris in his summer jogg to the Riviera or to Rome, with his palate accustomed to the favorite tipples of New York, finds food for curious reflection in the Parisian's absinth. The Frenchman's "green hour" is to him an unknown quality. The absinth outfit in Paris is a tall carafe of lead water, a full sized goblet, a flat spoon with pierced bowl and a cake of beet sugar. From a bottle of thick, oily, green absinth the garcon pours into the goblet a layer whose thickness grows slowly until your uplifted finger warns him you have enough. Two fingers is a good beginning. After that you are likely to take more. When the garcon has departed, you lay the silver spoon across the top of the goblet, place the flat cake of sugar in its bowl, which is made exactly to hold it, and pour a tiny stream of lead water from the carafe slowly upon it. The water trickles down through the bowl, dissolving the sugar as it comes, and by the time the goblet is full the water has turned from the deep green of the pure absinth to the murky yellowish green which one forever afterward associates with the drink.

Now sip it slowly as you would an egg-nog and feel your temperature rise, bringing with it a mild thirst and a gnawing appetite. This is the "green hour," from 6 to 7 in the evening, and you are now a part of it. As you grow deliciously warmer and your thoughts come quicker and the atmosphere grows rozier, look at the goblet, and, watching its changing dolphin colors, think how like this drink is to the Frenchman himself, who has made it his own. It is soft and milky, like his manners, seasoned and sharply spiced like his taste, perfumed and fragrant like his foppery, exquisitely sweetened like his politeness, bitter like his philosophy, green like his jealousy, yellow like his morality and inflaming like his passions.—New York Press.

Rich Nobodies.

London is full of rich people who, socially speaking, are nonentities; not because there is anything against them, but because they belong to another world and not to this one which we are considering. Walking one day, early in my London experiences, with Mr. Kingslake through a well known quarter of the far west end of London I asked him who lived in a certain house. "I do not know," he answered, adding, in his reflective way: "Nothing in London is more remarkable than such a district as this. For the last half hour we have been wandering among houses the possession of which implies wealth. You could not live in such a house for less than £5,000 or £10,000 a year, often more, and not a single person you ever saw or heard of lives in any one of them." They have a society of their own, but it is not society. They are important persons in the city, or in whatever department of business or industry they belong to. And the chances are that London sees their names for the first time when they die, and their wills are published in an illustrated weekly paper, with the amounts of their fortunes.—Harper's Magazine.

Reasons Why.

There are two reasons why people are now paying car fare all the way from Waikiki to the Palama Grocery and back. Reason 1. It is the only place on the Islands where the celebrated Salvation Army tea is sold. Reason 2. After paying car fare both ways patrons find they are money in pocket by dealing at this "live and let live" establishment. We also deliver goods between Diamond Head and Moanalua free. JAPAN'S CURRENCY.

Senator Wolcott has expressed the opinion that the recent currency legislation of Japan must not be construed as an attempt to establish and maintain a gold standard, but simply an attempt to preserve the economic advantages which she at present enjoys because of the gold premium which exists in Japan. He further says that, at the present price of silver measured by gold, the result of the action of Japan would be to drive all its silver out of that country. It is hard to see how Japan can retain the advantages of a gold premium by bringing its silver coinage up to the market parity with gold. This policy would seem to destroy the gold premium at a stroke. If Japan has blundered it is probably in putting her silver coinage too close to its metal value in an uncertain state of the market. In other words, making dear money of her subsidiary coinage, which, according to the accepted maxim, renders it liable to expulsion. Therefore Senator Wolcott is likely right when he says silver may be driven out of Japan. This result would not happen, however, if—as the BULLETIN has suggested previously—the very action of Japan should prevent any more depression of the silver market. The bimetalist Senator herein quoted is probably wrong in sizing up Japan's motive. That country has, it is more reasonable to suppose, an eye to the accumulation of gold stores through the medium of foreign trade. She anticipates a balance of trade in her favor, increasingly, from many quarters where she is sending her own people's steamers. It really seems to be a sensible policy, and better calculated to promote universal bimetalism, than the emergency expedients—putting the nation into debt—which the United States has had to employ for preserving her treasury balance of gold. Japan has taken the bull by the horns, it would appear, by adopting a currency scheme very like one advocated by some able professors in the United States. These argued on the principle of Grant's famous advice about specie payments—"The best way to resume specie payments is to resume." They recommended transforming the silver currency to a parity with gold, on the basis of relative values of the metals at the time present, and the nation's assuming of whatever loss accrued from the transformation.

LOTTERY MOVING.

It is reported at New Orleans that one of the effects of the prize fight in Nevada will be the removal of the Honduras lottery to Nevada. This is the old Louisiana lottery that, failing to get a renewal of its charter in 1892, had to go abroad. Hawaii by its legislature, upon an overwhelming popular demand, invited it to Honolulu, but the Provisional Government countermanded the invitation. So the outfit went to Honduras. There it appears its experience has not been altogether satisfactory to the management. "It has suffered from the revolutions there, "a New Orleans correspondent wires," and has been oppressed by the extraordinary taxes, and the Government of Honduras has insisted upon a change in the scheme of the lottery, and that a large percentage of the money received for the tickets shall be distributed in prizes. This has disgusted the incorporators, who are looking for a new field."

Nevada's rowdy proclivities, as evidenced by its Legislature's proffer of hospitality to prize fighting, have induced the lottery gang to think that the Silver State is their natural haven of rest. They will offer inducements to Nevada, therefore, for a site for their demoralizing establishment, and, if a bargain be struck, will try to find some way of getting over the disability of being prohibited from using the United States mails for their transactions.

DOOM OF TRUSTS.

According to a New York dispatch, there is a general opinion that the Federal Supreme Court, in its decision adverse to the Transmissouri Freight Association, has struck a mortal blow at every form of trust and combination under the terms of the Sherman anti trust law. Several associations of manufacturing and transportation interests are mentioned as especially affected, and it is even said that the law may be made to apply to the labor organizations. If the law is inadequate for the purpose it is for the people to see that they get laws which will forbid all organized efforts to crush free competition or to suppress individual liberty of action. For the tyranny of these things in modern days is as baneful as that of absolute monarchs in times happily past forever for the leading nationalities of the world.

Through the developments of the X ray, the modern Esculapius will be more a machinist than a chemist. One of his kind in Chicago has begun scouring people's stomachs, just as Billy Roe at the foundry would clean a piston box. One may almost imagine the time coming when a doctor will sit in a window with his kit like a watchmaker, and take a fellow all apart and put him together again after scrubbing his diaphragm or oiling his vertebrae.

"Mr. Chinaman."

Chinese intending to visit the land of their fathers, by the steamer Rio de Janeiro due on Saturday, have begun to show up at the Chinese bureau of the Foreign Affairs Department. Those for the Asiatic steerage show tickets with the passenger named in each as "Mr. Chinaman," but they are "not transferable" all the same. Secretary Girvin has to sort all the Messrs. Chinamans out for identification on their return from the flowery kingdom.

Rush for Lots.

Yesterday afternoon A. V. Gear spread out on his office table a plotted map of what was the late Dr. Trousseau's ostrich farm. It was given out that the lots, 50x100 feet, would be sold at $52 or a dollar a week for a year. By noon today 250 lots, or about all marked off, had been sold, and it is fully expected none will be left at noon tomorrow.

The Dollar You Throw Away Every Week.

Besides another vital point adds to the popularity, and that is that we do not make it obligatory to take a watch, but allow you to select any one or more articles in the store, no matter in what line. Could anything be fairer to you? We want to say right here, that we will back up any and every article selected in our club with the same full and complete guarantee which goes with every piece of goods sold in the store. The Sunlight is Glistening on Those "Orange Rims," but unfortunately for us it is not glistening on them in this country. as our shipment of STEARNS wheels was put on the "W. H. Dimond," so is not due here for a week. Our COLUMBIAS also are still out of wheeling range, as they got to S. F. the day before the steamer sailed, and no more freight would be received, but they will come along soon, and in the meantime we want you to know that we received 97 RAMBLERS by yesteryear's steamer, and can fit you out with either a '96 or '97 wheel, and we know we can suit you. The 1896 RAMBLER is the bargain of the year and the chance to buy a well known high grade wheel for $75 and $80 will not last long, as we are informed by the makers that this is the last lot of '96 wheels they can furnish, for, as they write, "our sales have been phenomenal, and you took the last '96 wheels we had in stock."

WE RENT BICYCLES by the hour, day, week or month, and we rent high grade new wheels, such as RAMBLERS, STEARNS, and COLUMBIAS, so if you want a short ride or a long ride, want to ride single or want to ride double, drop in and see how nicely we can fit you out. You will get just as good a mount if you telephone us, and we will send your wheel to your door. Your chance to buy a '96 RAMBLER cheap will only last a few days, don't miss it.

Flannels in the Laundry. Flannels and silk undergarments should be treated in much the same manner. Soap should never be rubbed on the garment, and the washing and rinsing waters must be of the same temperature. Pure soap will not injure flannels, so it is economy, in this case, as in others, to buy the best. Make a good soap, using water a little more than lukewarm. Wash the flannels in this, plunging them up and down, but not scrubbing them, as this thickens the texture. Use as many soapy waters as may be necessary, having them as nearly as possible of the same temperature. Rinse in several lukewarm waters and put through the wringer. This is the advice given in Table Talk, authority also for the following: Flannels should never be twisted in the hands. If impossible to use a wringer, lift the flannels from the water with one hand and with the other squeeze the garment until it is comparatively dry, then shake it thoroughly and dry in the same temperature in which it has been washed. Many who are most successful in washing flannels never wring them at all, but take them from the water and allow them to drip until they begin to dry, finishing the process by the fire. It is either poor soap, bad handling or quick changes of temperature that cause flannels to shrink. If they are ironed, they must not be left to dry beforehand, but ironed while damp until dry.

Mere Mention. The newest opera glass bag is beaded and has a toggle top of silver gilt or gold, set with a colored stone. The latest cardcases are of elephant's hide mounted in gold; size, medium to large. The fashion of wearing a fanciful collar of jewels is growing. Umbrellas with leather handles, finished with Dresden, Doulton or Coalport ware, are novelties in this direction. The new university mugs represent the different college colors and shields in their decoration. Coveted vinaigrettes have an open top of gold, in the center of which is set an amethyst or other colored stone. Bracelets and bangles are shown in all the above and represent styles identical with those so fashionable abroad. --Jewelers' Circular.

Disappointed. Landlady--If you don't pay by tonight, you must leave. I can't stand this any longer. Student--Calm yourself. I will write to a friend immediately. Landlady--Will he lend you money? Student--Oh, no, but I think he has a vacant room!--Buch fur Alle.

Original Bock. The Warrimoo that is expected here April 16 from Victoria will bring a large consignment of Original Bock Beer for the Anchor Saloon. While there has been Bock Beer on the Honolulu market, it does not begin to compare with the consignment that the Anchor will have on tap after the arrival of the Warrimoo. The reason for this is that the Bock that has already arrived is too fresh. The Bock Beer in the States is made at the first of the year and kept till May 1. The consignment to arrive is some of the original beer and is guaranteed to be better than any Bock ever imported. Wait for it. It will be on tap at the Anchor after the arrival of the Warrimoo.

PIE IN BOSTON.

The Experience of a Man From the West Who Broke Into Society.

A well known man in his line of business has his office in Park row. He formerly lived in Boston, and before that had tried the vocations and uncertainties of one of the border cities when it was on the "top crest of the advancing wave."

"I had never lived in the east," he said, "nor had my family. We concluded among ourselves, in a quiet way, that we would follow the customs of the east as far as our means and opportunities would allow."

As we used to say in Kansas City, it was hard sledding for some time. We made no headway. My wife is a pretty good entertainer and does the social business for the family. Whenever she concocted an afternoon tea or a dinner, she consulted with me about the table, and I always gave her my idea, and then she did as she pleased.

But somehow we didn't seem to get in the swim—or the family didn't. Of course I made acquaintances in business, but that does not branch into society. I was in a complaining mood one day when I was with a Boston man who had come to be quite chummy with me in commercial matters, and unburdened myself to him about the exclusiveness of those whom we had hoped to cultivate. I spoke of the times we had given and of the poor results. He asked me minutely what we had had on such occasions and called off every article.

"What kind of pie did you give 'em?" he asked. "Pie!" I exclaimed. "You didn't suppose we would offer Boston people pie?"

"Then he explained to me that that was a mistake many western people who came to Boston made—that they thought pie was too far west and vulgar. But he assured me that Boston society had pie three times a day, and that though a man and his wife had every other requirement of New England, and had not pie, they could not win. I knew pie was a western staple. In some sections out there pie comes first and last, and is handed out between meals. And we were warned that it was considered plebeian in the east. So we studiously cut it out of our social functions and came very near being ostracized. As soon as we discovered the cause my wife got up a dinner that included every sort of pie she knew anything about. I think she had a cut of a pie on her invitation, and a souvenir pie was given after the dinner to each guest. From that on our social status was established. Of course, pie is vulgar in New York, but it is not a bar with it. Itself."—New York Sun.

It Failed to Work.

"Cruel Isabella, you scorn my love. I will upset the boat, and we will perish together."

But Isabella could swim.—Truth.

Citizens Attention!

These are days of considerable anxiety and perplexity to all who have possessions or other interests in the Republic of Hawaii, and it is time that our citizens came to a mutual understanding on several important issues. The prospects for Annexation appear at present vague and indistinct, and our destiny cannot be foretold with certainty. There are those, also, who still fondly cling to the hope of a return to the old order of things, and who cannot be persuaded otherwise, yet this outlook appears far more hazy than that of Annexation even to the most hopeful disciples of the Monarchy. But, fortunately, in the midst of all this uncertainty there is solace in the fact that Buffalo Deer has come to stay and that patrons of all sorts and opinions may equally share the benefits of its invigorating and sustaining properties. We are moreover assured that this favorite brew will continue to be dispensed as heretofore at the Royal, Pacific and Cosmopolitan Saloons.

Nicely furnished rooms at the Popular House, 154 Fort street, from $1.00 per week up.

That picture in King Bros' window which has attracted so much attention is not the portrait of anyone here.

Revere "Granite" Garden Hose is exhibited in the window of the Pacific Hardware Co. They show a sample of this hose, which has been in constant use for six years.

With a large lot of goods just received by the Australia and Amy Turner, the Pacific Hardware Co. have another invoice of the favorite Universal Stoves and Ranges. Some sizes were sold as soon as set up, but another supply has been ordered.

J. T. WATERHOUSE

The "Australia" takes away orders for delicacies which we have introduced to the Honolulu public and which find places on the tables of the epicures of Honolulu.

Tinned Goods, many of them, but they are prepared so capitally that they surpass even the fresh goods. The demand for these special lines is growing mainly because of the care taken in the factories where they are put up. The material is carefully selected and only the best is sent to Honolulu.

We have now on our shelves and ready for delivery the Epicurean Brand Vienna Sausage, Shrimps with Tomatoes, Baked Beans with Tomatoes, Lobster and Lunch Cysters; for the table no better goods have ever been brought to the islands.

We have also a superior quality of Ground Chocolate and Schilling's Best Teas and Spices; Crackers and Fancy Biscuits.

Telephone orders for these goods will have immediate attention. Our wagon is always on the go for the accommodation of our customers.

NEWS OF THE WATERFRONT

WILDER STEAMSHIP KINAU ARRIVES THIS MORNING.

Revenue Cutter Kaena Returns Without the Dope Schooner—Other Newsy Marine Notes.

The ship George Curtis is loading at Oceanic wharf.

H B M S Wild Swan is expected back from Kauai tomorrow.

Sugar from the Kinau is being stowed in the ship Iroquois at Nuuanu street wharf.

The ships George Curtis and Iroquois will likely be on their way to New York by next week.

The J D Spreckels is loading sugar at Mahukona and expects to leave for the refinery on Saturday.

Tomorrow, high tide large 2:55 p m; high tide small 2:15 a m; low tide large 8:12 a m; low tide small 9:15 p m.

The clam shell dredge is picking up rock at Inter-Island wharf, where the Mauna Loa was aground not long ago.

Mr C C Kennedy is making arrangements for the building of a breakwater and a wharf at the mouth of Waiakea river, Hilo.

The barkentine W H Dimond sails this afternoon with a cargo of 8735 bags sugar and 2050 bags rice. The total value of cargo is $40,435.

The Kinai Maru finished discharging at noon today. She will probably move into the stream from Pacific Mail wharf this afternoon.

Mate Bennett of the J A Cummins was found not guilty of opium in possession. This is in connection with the seizure at the wharf a few days ago.

A boy not more than 10 years of age was seen on the waterfront yesterday with a thickly whiskered face. He had beautiful Burnsides, and when the wind blew there was a loud whistling noise.

When the Kinau left Hilo the Henry Villard had been sighted off port and was expected to be in during the day. The ship Indiana had also arrived, 23 days from Yokohama in ballast. Both the vessels were to load sugar for New York direct. The Roderick Dhu was nearly loaded and expected to get off to San Francisco in a day or two.

Not a Bean!

The steamer Kaena, which went in search of an opium schooner over a week ago, returned quietly last night. Nothing was seen of the expected smuggler. It looks as if the crew of the revenue cutter passed their leisure time in painting ship, for when the steamer started out she was a lead color and now her hull is painted black. It is said the Kaena has been lying under the lee of Kahoolawe most of the time, while the fellows aboard fished. It is not said whether empty tins were fished up or not.

An official was asked by a reporter today for information about the Kaena expedition, but he said he could not give any details. The Kaena was after a schooner which was expected to make an attempt to land opium on Maui, Lanai, Molokai or Kahoolawe. The Kaena was in a position most of the time where she could watch the channels between the islands. At night she would cruise about, going near Hawaii and around Molokai as well as the other islands, and during the day would lie at anchor under the lee of Lanai or Kahoolawe. The expedition was not entirely fruitless, for on whole empty tin and the top of another were found on the beach at Manehi, Lanai—thought to be from the lot of stuff landed by the schooner Norma a few years ago.

Marshal Brown and ten police were with the Kaena. A watchman was left on one of the islands.

Hilo's Largest Sugar Shipment.

Fogg (looking up from book—The heroine appears to be as versatile as one of those bottles from which a magician pours all kinds of liquors. Fenderson—How so? Fogg—Why, in one place it says she wept bitterly, in another that the salt tears coursed down her cheeks, and in the very next paragraph we are told that her tears broke out afresh. Gifted woman, that.

MORE CALIFORNIA OPINION.

IT SHOWS NO FEEL OF COMPETITION FROM HAWAII.

Discussing "The Sugar Section," the Anaconda, Cal., Standard, printed right in sugar beet land, speaks as follows:

The conclusions reached in the house of representatives in dealing with the sugar sections in the tariff bill will test the lobby strength of one of the country's most formidable trusts. The sugar schedule, as it comes from the Dingley committee, seems logical and proper. It provides ample protection for the home product of sugar with reservations respecting Hawaii which are manifestly just and which ought certainly to prevail.

In January 1875, a commercial reciprocity treaty was concluded between the United States and the government of Hawaii under which the sugar product of the island found free entry into the ports of the United States. The Dingley committee, in reporting its sugar schedules, respected the terms of this treaty; the tariff bill providing that the existing agreement between the two countries should be in no way abrogated or interfered with. This arrangement interferes with the schemes of the sugar trust which has its representatives at Washington; the object of the trust's lobby is to make the tariff, amounting to twenty dollars and upward a ton, operative against imports from Hawaii.

If there is any merit at all in the reciprocity theory which has its advocates among the McKinleyites, this merit ought to reveal itself in the dealings of the United States with the islands. Our commercial relations with Hawaii certainly are as intimate as they are with any other region on the face of the globe. Probably our government would more readily assume protectorate relations with Hawaii than over any other stretch of territory in all the seas. Powers like England as well as Oriental governments like Japan look with greedy, envious eye on Hawaii, but there is no doubt that the United States would vigorously and effectively interfere with any schemes on the part of any power to make the conquest of the islands.

Actual annexation may not be realized even in the remote future. At the same time commercial considerations as well as the promptings of that which morally is just and right, suggest the wisdom of maintaining cordial and intimate trade relations between this country and Hawaii. If the congressmen yield to the pressure of the sugar-trust lobby, that course will be a departure from the commercial policy respecting Hawaii to which this country is fully committed.
