FOR THE CITY'S PROGRESS

ROMAN CATHOLIC CATHEDRAL MAY BE MOVED.

The Present Valuable Site to be Turned into a Business Block and a New Cathedral Built Elsewhere.

The Catholic Mission has been made a proposition by Bruce Waring & Co. to exchange its valuable property on Fort street for suitable land in another portion of the city.

The matter was suggested to the Bishop of Honolulu by Charles D. Desky. The Bishop entertained the proposition and after careful consideration of the matter replied to Mr. Desky that the Catholic Mission would be willing to exchange its property for other land. The Mission desired that it be given in addition a sum of money which would go toward the building of a new Cathedral.

Should the negotiations carry it would be quite beneficial to the Mission, as a new church and new buildings would be secured.

NATIVE COMPANY WINS.

Score the Highest Average in the Marlin Trophy Shoot.

At the Marlin trophy shoot on Saturday company G, of which James Kea is captain, made the highest average, the team scoring 415 points.

Private Charles Wilcox made the best score, under Creedmore rules. The scores in the teams were: Private Wilcox, 45; Corporal J. Kulkie, 45; Lieutenant G. Rose, 44; Lieutenant S. L. Kokumano, 41; Private Joseph Morse, 41; Private T. H. Sherwood, 41; Corporal J. Mahoney, 40; Private James Morse, 40; Sergeant M. K. Nakulua, 38; and Private M. B. K. Rose, 37.

MAY BE ABANDONED.

It is quite probable that next Saturday's ball game will be abandoned, now that the Regiment club is the undisputed champion. The match is the game between the St. Louis and Star clubs. Should it be played off and the Stars win, both clubs will have an even percentage for second place. In case it be abandoned, all bets, and there are a number, will be declared off.

PLANS FOR LARGER HOTEL

TWO STORIES MAY BE ADDED TO PRESENT STRUCTURE.

An Annex on Bishop Property at Waikiki—Colonel Macfarlane Talks of His Brother's Plans.

The plans of E. C. Macfarlane for the improvement of the hotel property which he purchased from the Government last Friday were partially made public today in an interview with his brother, Colonel George Macfarlane. It is in the plan to incorporate a hotel company, which will also own the Bishop property at Waikiki, where an extensive beach annex will be built. About $15,000 is to be expended at once in the improvement of the present building, in the way of alterations, new bath rooms, new furniture and a general renovation.

Colonel Macfarlane denies the story that the hotel property was purchased by his brother merely to get it out of the market, in order that another and larger building might be put up elsewhere. "My brother," said the Colonel, "did plan to build elsewhere if the hotel building was turned into a school, as was proposed. S. C. Desky had made a proposition to him, and so had W. G. Irwin, who wanted to build on the property back of the opera house. He had those propositions in view on my return from California, and had also made the Government an offer of $35,000 for the hotel property.

"The Government fixed the upset price at $40,000, which my brother considered too high, in view of the prices fixed by the owners of adjoining property, necessary to lease or buy in connection with the hotel proposition. Having had some fifteen years experience as an interested party in the business I advised him to buy, even if the price was $60,000. The property, with all improvements, cost the Government over $140,000, to say nothing of the real estate value. The same buildings could not be put up, with drainage, etc., for less than $125,000 today. I consider he has secured the property for less than 50 per cent of its real value.

"Several plans are under consideration for extensive improvements. It is my idea to add two stories to the hotel, each with modern rooms, en suite with private baths, and other accommodations. This would not be practicable without a better drainage system. And by this, Minister Damon said to me a few days ago that he hoped to see the drainage system put in very soon.

"Another plan suggested is to build wings and cottages. In good time, as soon as business will warrant it, these improvements will be made. In the meantime not only will the hotel be renovated thoroughly, but the service and cuisine will be improved, and the place will be made first class in every particular.

"The statement that General Warfield of the California Hotel Company, who once figured on the purchase of this property, is interested with my brother, amounts to nothing. General Warfield would have taken the property had not my brother wanted it. It is probable that when the stock company is formed the California Hotel Company will be a purchaser of stock, but it was not a party to the purchase of the hotel.

"You probably know that my brother has leased on a long term the Bishop premises on the Waikiki beach, which he will improve as an annex to the hotel. Among the contemplated improvements there are a number of pretty cottages, a big lanai over the water and a first class restaurant. It is possible, however, that this beach annex may be made a separate hotel proposition. It is perhaps the prettiest place on the beach, and has splendid bathing facilities."

For the present no change in the hotel staff is contemplated. The improvements will be pushed ahead under the direction of the new owner. In the meantime the stock company scheme will be put on foot. There seems to be no doubt that the company scheme can easily be floated, and after that the extensive permanent improvements now talked of will be decided upon. Mr. Macfarlane seems thoroughly satisfied with his purchase, and says he can now afford to make it a first class hotel.

AN IMPORTANT CASE.

Will Involve Large Property Interests in Honolulu.

A most extraordinary case was filed in the Circuit Court today by C. K. C. Rooke, of England, against the Queen's Hospital Association and Charles R. Bishop, S. M. Damon, Chas. M. Hyde, J. O. Carter and W. F. Allen, trustees of the Bishop estate.

Mr. Rooke seeks to recover about 200 acres of valuable land in Honolulu known as the French Hotel premises, Queen Emma residence, land at Honoukahu, Niolapa, Puunui, Oikuu and Waolani.

Mr. Rooke, a relative of the late Dr. Rooke, Queen Emma's adopted father, claims possession of the land. Thomas Rata Walker and F. M. Swanzy are Mr. Rooke's attorneys in fact.

GETS HIS CASH. Judge Carter today ordered the Clerk of the Judiciary department to pay John T. Aluli, guardian of the Aluli minors, the sum of $425.75, being money arising from the sale of land.

NOTHING IN WAR RUMORS

GUNBOAT WHEELING HERE ON A PEACEFUL MISSION.

With the Yorktown She will Relieve the Philadelphia Until the Baltimore can be Sent.

The arrival here yesterday of the U. S. gunboat Wheeling, with orders for the Philadelphia to proceed at once to Mare Island navy yard, has caused a great deal of surmise and comment. It had been given out that orders for the Philadelphia would certainly be received on the 9th, and it was a great surprise to learn that the Wheeling had been dispatched on twenty-four hours notice, with an extra complement of men.

The rumor stated that Spain and the United States had come to blows over Cuba, and that the Philadelphia would be needed on the Atlantic seaboard. There is nothing in the press dispatches to indicate that there is any such trouble, and the story is absolutely denied by the naval people. From various sources it is learned that the United States Government has no intention of relinquishing its vigilance over Hawaii. The Philadelphia must go on the dry dock and the Baltimore cannot be sent here to replace her until she can get a complement of men. It was not thought best to leave the Bennington here alone while the Admiral must return to the ground.

To adjust the matter properly it is stated that the U. S. S. Yorktown has been ordered from the China station, but is to remain over here a week or ten days. The Wheeling with a complement of fifty extra men, has been sent to the station in addition. Now the Philadelphia will go to Mare Island and out of commission, while the Baltimore, put into commission, will be manned and officered from the Philadelphia, and sent here to take the latter's place on the station and to become the flagship. Admiral Miller will remain here, and have his headquarters on the Bennington.

The Philadelphia will sail for San Francisco at 9 a. m. tomorrow, according to the present orders, and will not linger on the way. It is believed that she will go up to San Francisco seven days. The Baltimore can be expected here about November 1st.

The Wheeling is a powerful little gunboat, built at San Francisco, and put into commission in August, and has attained a speed of 14 knots. She was built especially for the China station as her light draft—only 13 feet at the present—enables her to go up small rivers. Small though she is, the Wheeling is fairly bristling with powerful guns. Her largest guns are only 4 inches, but projectiles can be hurled from her with terrible force. The Wheeling could easily cruise among the Islands. Another very distinct advantage she has is twin screws, which enable her to be turned almost in her own length.

Following is a list of the Wheeling's officers: Commander Uriel Sebree, Lieutenant P. H. LeFavor, Executive Officer; Lieutenant Burns F. Walling, Navigator; Ensign Edward H. Durbin, William M. Cross, Charles F. Hurbes, David W. Todd, Passed Assistant Engineer Solomon Arnold, Chief Engineer; Assistant Paymaster John Irwin, Jr., Pay Officer; Assistant Surgeon William M. Wheeler, Medical Officer.

NOBLE WORK AT KAWAIAHAO WILL BE CONTINUED.

J. B. Atherton Says the Institution Has Ample Funds and Backed by the Hawaiian Board.

President Atherton of Castle & Cooke was at his office today after an indisposition of two days. He was seen relative to the condition of Kawaiahao Seminary, a report having gained currency last week that the institution would shortly be abandoned.

Mr. Atherton stated that there had never been an intention of closing the seminary. If anything had been considered it was in the line of improvements.

"The seminary is in excellent condition," Mr. Atherton remarked. "There is a free scholarship and has been for some time. Everything is done for the benefit of the inmates and the work of educating young Hawaiian girls which has gone on in the seminary for the past fifty years is being pursued as vigorously today as ever."

A FORGONE CONCLUSION.

That the Union Boat Club Dance will be a Success.

All indications point toward a great success for the ball and supper to be given at Independence park on Friday evening, under the auspices of the Myrtle, Heulani and Leilani boat clubs.

The full National Quintette club, assisted by members of Berger's orchestra, will supply the music for the evening.

These committees will meet at the Hawaiian hotel this evening to complete arrangements.

Y. M. C. A. MEETINGS.

The meeting for men at the Young Men's Christian Association Sunday afternoon was very well attended and very much enjoyed by those present.

A quartette of young men sang a selection very pleasingly and Mr. Ed. W. Farmer spoke on "Life, what is it?" The topic proved to be very interesting and the meetings for October will be interesting for any who attend.

The committee on Bible study met and decided to begin a "Study of the Life and Writings of Saint Paul," on Sunday afternoon, in connection with this a lunch will be served free to all members of the class. General Secretary Coleman will be the leader.

THE SEASON'S PENNANT.

Won by the Regiment Club on Last Saturday.

The boys from the Government barracks are the undisputed champions in base ball this season. Saturday's deciding game was won by them in a hotly contested match with the St. Louis College club.

The score was 6 to 3. Mayne pitched a "ginger" game for the Regiment. For eight innings he threw the ball which the College boys could not hit, or when they did fall to make safe hits. The military lads played ball from start to finish. Their batting was heavy while that of the College boys was weak.

The summary of the game is as follows: Earned runs—Regiment 2. Two base hits: Moore and Clark. Stolen bases: Moore, Bower, Gorman, Kiley, Gleason, Holt 2. Double plays: Davis, Moore and Duncan, Bower and Moore. Base on balls: Off Mayne 5, off Lemon 3. Struck out by Mayne 3, by Lemon 4. Wild pitch, Lemon 1. Sacrifice hits: Simerson, Davis, 2 Left on bases: Regiment 6, St. Louis 8.

MAY CHANGE DRILL NIGHT.

A regimental drill has been ordered for Friday evening. Colonel Fisher will be asked to change the date as the drill would interfere with the hop given by the boat clubs at Independence park.

ISLAND ELECTION VOTES

THE OFFICIAL COUNT NOT YET COMPLETED.

Close Voting on Maui for the Third Place—Kauai Returns Its Members, Without Opposition.

The Claudine brought the election returns from Hawaii and Maui. A. B. Loebenstein and E. E. Richards were chosen representatives for the Hilo, Hamakua and Puna districts of Hawaii. W. C. Achi and J. D. Paris were elected from Kona, Kohala and Maui districts of the big island.

On Maui, Molokai and Lanai, the contest was very close. W. F. Pogue, manager of the Baldwin ranch, lead his ticket. He received 325 votes. D. H. Kahalelio secured 220 votes and S. W. Kani 195 votes. Mr. Kani defeated Judge Kepoikai by 5 votes.

Paul Isenberg, Jr., and Attorney S. K. Kaeo had no opposition on Kauai. The complete returns from the nine precincts on the Garden Island save Lihue, received at the Interior Department today, give Mr. Isenberg a total of 105 votes and Mr. Kaeo 75 votes. The returns from Lihue will arrive on the James Makee this week.

An official count upon the returns of the election on Hawaii will not be made until tomorrow when the Mauna Loa is expected to arrive bringing the complete returns. The Claudine has brought the ballots cast at Honokaa and Kukuihaele in the First district, and at Kailua in the Second district.

Loebenstein secured 30 votes at Honokaa, Nottley 27, Wilder 11, Richards 3, and James 1. At Kukuihaele 12 votes were cast for Loebenstein, while Wilder received but 4 and Nottley 2.

Achi received 37 votes at Kailua, Coerper 35, Paris 18, and Kamaooha 7. The unofficial returns which came to Star yesterday show that in the First district A. B. Loebenstein received 173 votes, E. E. Richards 159, J. W. James 122, Gardner K. Wilder 114, and Charles Nottley, Jr., 58.

In the Second district of Hawaii W. C. Achi secured 276 votes, J. D. Paris 204, G. P. Kamaooha 175, D. H. Kahookoona 48, and James Coerper 43.

W. F. Pogue's total vote is 328. D. H. Kahalelio received 220 votes and S. W. Kani 195. These gentlemen will represent the Third district.

The election returns from Maui all show sectional differences; that is to say one precinct cast its full vote for one man, while another precinct voted its cast itself vote for another. Hamakua, where Mr. Pogue lives, voted its full vote for him, none of the other candidates receiving a single vote.

The fight for third place was very close between Kani and Kepoikai. It was not known who would win until the returns from Molokai were received.

They were opened at the Interior Office this morning. At Kailuapapa there is but one registered voter, Dr. Oliver. The doctor placed four marks on his ballot for Kepoikai. He was only entitled to cast three votes for his favorite and as a result the ballot was thrown out.

At Pukou, Molokai, Kepoikai received 12 votes. W. F. Pogue 12, D. H. Kahalelio 9, S. W. Kani 4.

This gives Kani 195 and Kepoikai 190 votes.

WHAT SAILOR MEN TALK OF

THE OLD KAIMILOA GOES TO THE BONEYARD.

Rough Weather Reported Along the Hawaii Coast—Movement of Sugar—Gossip of the Water Front.

The Lyman D. Foster is discharging Westport coal at the Mail dock jog. The gunboat Wheeling is anchored in the Philadelphia's former anchorage.

The Bennington is taking on 100 tons of coal, enough to fill her bunkers. The Claudine will probably be gone six weeks. During her absence the Helene will have the Maui route.

The Rufus A. Wood will discharge coal about Thursday, and will get off for the Sound on Saturday. She has been chartered to go to St. Michael's in the spring.

The Philadelphia may get away this evening, but the chances are better for her to go in the morning. She has 1,000 tons of coal in her bunkers, and will not take more.

The Lebu has been ordered to San Francisco, to carry a cargo of wheat to England. She will finish discharging her nitrate cargo tomorrow, and will probably have ballast enough in to sail Wednesday.

The Irmgard is receiving 3,380 bags of sugar from the Noeou and 1889 bags from the Mikahala this morning. Captain Schmidt has been unusually fortunate this trip. He will sail for the Coast about mid-week.

The Alden Besse received 4462 bags of sugar from the Claudine this forenoon. She will probably get the greater portion of the Mauna Loa's cargo tomorrow, and there is enough more in sight probably to fill the bark before the end of the week.

The Mokoli did not get in until almost noon yesterday, because of heavy weather during almost the entire trip. She brought down 80 sheep, 35 bales of wool and 75 bags of taro. Mrs. Hugh McCorry and James Auld the only cabin passengers.

The Noeou and Mikahala were among yesterday's arrivals, the former bringing 3380 bags of sugar from Hamakua, and the latter 1889 bags of sugar and 270 bags of rice from Kauai ports. Purser Tuft reports nearly 10,000 bags of sugar left on Kaimiloa.

The Kaala is having her boilers cleaned today. Tomorrow or on Wednesday she will probably make another special trip to Lahaina with coal. Captain Mosher has purchased the ostrich ranch, and is thinking of quitting the sea to devote his entire time to raising eggs for the market.

The Claudine arrived yesterday morning with a full cargo of sugar, and island products, after an unusually rough voyage. The wind was blowing almost a living gale during the time she was loading at Paauhau. The Claudine is now outfitting for her voyage to the Coast for repairs and Captain Cameron hopes to get away on Wednesday.

The Helene arrived this morning, with no sugar, but 50 head of cattle. Captain Freeman says the weather on the Hamakua coast was terrible. He has rarely seen it blow so hard at Paauhau, where the steamer worked an entire day, with a heavy ashore. The Helene could have had sugar but Captain Freeman had to hurry back to fit out the vessel to take the Claudine's run tomorrow.

The old converted steamer Kaimiloa, famous as the only war vessel owned by the Hawaiian Government, is to be removed from her anchorage in Naval Row, where she has been an eyesore for years, and will be relegated to the boneyard up town, in the vicinity of the old fish market wharf. Since King Katakau's famous expedition to Samoa, the Kaimiloa has been known the world over through writers, most of whom wrote in a humorous vein. Of late years she has stood in Naval Row, near the light house, where she has not only been an eyesore, but has been constantly in the way. The Harbor Master finally has exercised his prerogative. A force of men was put aboard to pump the hulk out this morning, and this afternoon the tug will remove her to her final resting place.

HONOLULU, July 26, 1897. T. J. KING, Agent S. J. Auld-Robbins Disc Plow, Honolulu.

Dear Sir: I have one of your TWO DISC PLOWS at work on my ranch at Waialae, and am pleased to report that it gives me the fullest satisfaction. In two days, with four Hawaiian mules, I can do as much work with your implement as I can do in seven days when using eight mules or twelve oxen, with a mould board plow, and the pulverization is much better when using the disc. In the rocky ground your plow either rolls over the roots or cuts through them, and we find it unnecessary to sharpen the discs, which scour perfectly and were set at such an angle that friction with the earth makes them self-sharpeners. I am, dear sir, yours very truly, PAUL R. ISENBERG.

Hawaiian
Electric Company.

The cleanest, brightest, safest and really in the long run, the cheapest and best light for use in the family residence, is the incandescent electric light. Safe; nothing could be safer. A few days ago a prominent gentleman of Honolulu came rushing down to the office of the Electric Company and said:
 "Give me figures for wiring my house, and I want it done at once; no more lamps for me.
 Last night a lamp tipped over and it came so near setting fire to the house and burning my children and I take no more risks."
 This is the sentiment of quite a number in the past few weeks, who have ordered their houses fitted with the perfect light.
 Just think it over and make up your mind that you want the best and safest light; send for the Hawaiian Electric Company and tell them what you want.

We have a complete stock of everything in this line and have just received a lot of the very latest designs in chandeliers.

RUSSIA'S POLICY TO JAPAN

DID NOT FORESEE THE SUCCESS AGAINST CHINA.

The Empire of the Czar May Strike
 Before the Armies of Japan are yet Fully Organized.

The following extract from the Chu-gai Shogyo outlines the probably policy of Russia in the East. It says:

"It is not recently that Russia has turned her eyes toward the Far East, but long ago. Had Russia been so far sighted as to judge the victory of Japan in the late war with China she would have interfered with us before Japan had sent her troops to A-san,
 and not after the treaty of peace was concluded. She did not do so, however, because she believed that Japan could in no way be a match for the formidable army of China however much she is brave and gallant. The defeat of the Chinese army at A-san and other places seemed to Russia to be mere temporary accidents and no special impression was made by them.
 At last however when she saw that Japan was about to force China to conclude a treaty of peace at Peking her astonishment was remarkable. She hastily formed a triple alliance and thus by checking the progress of Japan recovered a portion of her cherished design.

"The object of Russia lies in the Far East. Although her policies are so varied as to be almost impossible to discover she is firmly convinced that in attaining her end the good will of the Koreans should be nurtured. As a proof of it, it may be seen that Russia defrays really no small sums of money annually for the Manchurian railway. Perhaps it may not be amiss to say that it is almost a matter of impracticability to cut off her design in the Far East. Some opine that Russia intends to rise up before Japan completes her military preparations, but that is a mere cowardly allusion.

"Although Russia is certainly well aware of the spirit of the Russo-Japanese Convention concluded by Marshal Marquis Yamagata, yet some diplomats of the stronger powers are apt to secure the interests of their own country beyond what are hoped for by their home Governments. Once such interests are obtained it is but natural for the home Governments to endeavor not to lose them. Should the rumor at present current to the effect that the agreement for engaging the Russian soldiers has been concluded be true it is quite difficult to break it off. More so as Korea is more inclined to Russia than to Japan. We should therefore be content for the present with respect to Korea with the proportion of eight for Russia and two for Japan and make the outward patch up."

MONETARY COMMISSION.

Members Chosen to Represent the Commercial Interests.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 22.—
 Hugh Hanna, chairman of the Monetary Executive Committee, today announced the completion of the commission, acceptance having been received from Louis A. Garnett of San Francisco and J. L. Laughlin of Chicago.

The commission as completed by the last appointments is as follows: Ex-Senator George F. Edmunds, of Vermont; Charles S. Fairchild, of New York, ex-Secretary of the Treasury;
 C. Stewart Patterson, of Philadelphia, who was president of the Monetary Convention last January; J. W. Fries, of Salem, N. C., at the head of the big cotton industry that bears his name;
 T. G. Bush, of Anniston, Ala., president of the Mobile and Birmingham railroad and largely interested in iron in Alabama; George E. Luston, of St.
 Louis, retired manufacturer; W. B.
 Dean of St. Paul, wholesale hardware merchant; R. F. Taylor of Fort Wayne lawyer; Louis A. Garnett, of San Francisco; Professor J. L. Laughlin, of Chicago, and Stuyvesant Fish of
 New York.

While no attention was paid to the political leanings of the men chosen for the commission it happened that it contains six Republicans and five Democrats. There was, however, much care given to the question of geographical representation and the distribution of the commission in various lines of business. Senator Edmunds was taken as representative of the country at large, and of the other members of the commission three are from the East, two from the South, one from the Pacific Coast, one from the Northwest, one from the Southwest, and two from the Central West.
 The commission has been called to meet the latter part of this month at the Arlington hotel in Washington. A call has been issued for the executive committee to meet at the same time and place, and it is expected to begin the work for which the commission was appointed at once.

It is probable that Senator Edmunds will be chosen to preside over the commission. A force of secretaries and clerks to do all the clerical work will be provided by the executive committee.

THAT COLOR LINE.

The royalist has reached pretty nearly his last ditch when he falls back upon the color line to try and animate the Hawaiian against annexation. It is a hopeless task he has undertaken and it is almost pitiful to see his efforts at galvanizing into life some sort of a bugaboo. At one time the Hawaiian was going to lose his lands, at another time he was going to have no vote, yet again he was to be driven to the wall by a flood of roughs and rascals, and to be generally trodden under foot. Each of these grisly specters has been laid, and now comes the color line fraud. To help it out a few isolated cases of snobbishness are trotted out, but the thousands of cases where no color line is drawn are lost sight of completely.

It is a very little compliment that the Hawaiian's false friends pay him when they compare him with negro. The Star considers the Hawaiian as superior to the negro. The negro of the United States is the descendant of an enslaved race, a race too, that was not only enslaved in America, but had already, in many instances, been enslaved in Africa itself. In point of fact many of the negroes brought to America only exchanged African slavery for American. Then the negro mind is steeped in superstition. Add generations of slavery and superstition together, and it takes years and generations to make a thoroughly balanced freeman out of any race, and the negro by his own acts keeps alive a prejudice against himself. It is difficult to rid himself of his heredity. Time will do it, and education will help it, but it cannot be done in a moment, by act of Congress or by proclamation. The negro could be made legally free, but the hereditary traits take years to eradicate.

This is the race that the white royalist is forever comparing the Hawaiian with. Now the Hawaiian is a very different person. He is a freeman, and he is descended from freemen. He has had and has superstitions, but they are on a par with the superstitions of the European. Indeed you will find in many parts of Europe people far more superstitious than the Hawaiian. Superstition is ingrained in human nature and it takes much breeding and much education to free the mind from it. But the superstition of the Hawaiian and the European is not the degrading superstition of the negro.

And yet, in spite of his hereditary disabilities, the negro is well received in the United States. There are eminent jurists who are negroes, the same race has supplied Congressmen and Legislators. Negroes have risen high in the church, and recently a negro has made a great mark as a poet, and has in consequence become the "lion" of many drawing rooms.

But where there has been hesitation with regard to the negro, there has never been hesitation with regard to the Hawaiian. In his intercourse with the Hawaiian the white man has always stood on an equality with him. Socially the Hawaiian of good standing takes his footing as a white man. And what is true of the intercourse here is true of the intercourse in the United States. Hawaiians have travelled over the United States far and wide, and have always met the courtesy due to their position in society. Hawaiians have served in American ships and have there been treated as the equals of the rest of the crew. Nay more, Hawaiians have been put in charge of Americans and Europeans and there has never been a murmur about the appointment, and there would have been if the Hawaiians had been regarded as inferiors instead of equals.

A man in the United States can claim respect for what he is. The Hawaiian will have the same chance of winning that respect as any one else. The color line will have nothing to do with the matter.

This attempt to raise race prejudice is very despicable and shows to what desperate straits the royalists are driven. There is no doubt about political equality, there is no doubt about mercantile prosperity, there can be no doubt about a boom with annexation. There is only prejudice that can be appealed to, and to prejudice the royalists appeal. But the Hawaiian knows too much, he reads the newspapers and he reads books. His reading is by no means confined to the royalist press, and, of late, the statements made by it have so often been refuted that he has given up putting much faith in what it says. As the case now stands the Hawaiian has begun to look upon annexation as an advantage. For some time he was opposed, then he was apathetic and did not care one way or the other, now he would like to see it, and will welcome it as enabling him to enter upon a broader political life in which he is fitted by temperament and education to take his full part.

India is certainly a wonderful instance of what Anglo-Saxon organization can do, in the face of what are apparently insurmountable difficulties. Seventy thousand soldiers and some three thousand civilians rule over three hundred millions of inhabitants and manage to keep very good order. This is a little less than one white man for every 400 natives. There is probably no instance in the world's history where so small a number form the dominant race in so large an extent of territory.

EGYPT'S LIFE BLOOD.

A matter which in the clash of apparently greater events, such as meetings of Emperors and Presidents, the rising on the Indian frontier, the Cuban war, and with us the Japanese question seems to have gone out of the ken of the press, is the Nile expedition and its reasons. Beyond a brief telegram now and then to say that Sir Herbert Kitchener has been steadily advancing, and that the Dervishes have been driven from some post with a polysyllabic name, little notice is taken of an expedition which is apt to have important results.

Africa is the battle field or rather the chess board of European nations, as the Spanish main was three centuries ago, and Hindustan was two hundred years ago. It is a land of intrigues in which the Germans, the British, the French, the Italians, and the Portuguese are all interested, and where each one is doing his best to outwit his neighbor.

At the time the Nile expedition was started there did not seem adequate cause for it, but it has since appeared that it was really undertaken to check French influences at the sources of the Nile, and that the French were stretching a hand in that direction was becoming very evident. A recent writer says "Back of British, Portuguese and German settlements on the Gold Coast, and the Negro Republic of Liberia, the French have acquired territory twice as large as France, and this has been connected with Algeria and French Congo, making a frontier on the desert of 1800 miles." This frontier the French have been pushing Eastward, threatening the territory claimed by Great Britain for Egypt. From the other side French influence shows itself, the friend of Prince Henri of Orleans having been appointed Governor of the Abyssinian Equatorial provinces.

Should the French take possession of the now unoccupied Soudan country, it was probable that gigantic irrigating works would be constructed on the upper Nile, and its flow be turned into the desert territory, thus seriously diminishing its flow and ruining the now fertile soil of Egypt which depends entirely upon the rise of the Nile. With this knowledge, it is said, the expedition into the Soudan was determined upon. It was to save the fertility of Egypt that it was dispatched. Slatin Pasha foresaw these possibilities and it is he who is said to have laid the matter in set form before the British Government. It is a curious episode in the history of a curious country that a military expedition should be undertaken to save the sources of its water supply. The inexhaustible Nile is not so inexhaustible when modern engineering skill is set to tap it.

Timely Topics.

September 30, 1897.

Of course everybody knows that the Aermotor is the best mill made, and has had actual demonstration in many ways since its introduction into the Hawaiian Islands. We handle these mills in 8, 10, 12, 14, 16 inch gears and pumping styles.

The Geared Aermotor is a distinct creation built to meet all the requirements of a motive power. No pains have been spared to make it as perfect as possible.

It Grinds Grain, Cuts Feed, Shells Corn, Saws Wood and Drives Machinery of all kinds. The 12 foot Aermotor that will, in a fair wind, easily do the work of two horses, and will drive satisfactorily any machine that can be operated by two horses.

We are now placing at Honolulu and Kahuka Ranch aermotors recently ordered. We have samples on exhibition at our store and after a thorough investigation of all other makes invite you to examine the Aermotor. We do not fear the result.

Our stock of Aermotor pumps includes various styles and sizes, all warranted to throw a strong and constant force of water.

The Gould & Kough triple action pumps we have spoken of before, so will only add that these pumps may be had from us in all designs.

AERMOTOR STOCK TANKS
Are made of galvanized corrugated steel.

These tanks never leak, and there no mudholes around them. They ship nested, and are just as sure to drive the wooden tank out of existence as the Aermotor was sure to drive the wooden windmill out of existence at its advent. There are many reasons why this galvanized tank is the coming tank. It is light, the freight is little, it is easy to handle, it requires no setting up, it never leaks, and does not dry up and fall down if all the water gets out of it; but of course when an Aermotor is used, the water need never get out of the tank. You know the Aermotor runs with so little wind that such things as a dry tank are hardly known.

Tariff Vagaries.

In the United States the Government allows a rebate to the manufacturers on all agate ware shipped out of the country. It is one of the fine points in the tariff question, and enables the foreign importer to compete with the dealers in the United States in the sale of these articles. It makes it possible for our customers to buy such goods from us at lower prices than they can buy them in San Francisco. The appended list shows but a few of the articles in this line sold by us, and where more than one price is given it will be understood that the price is graded with the different sizes of the articles. In every instance you will observe that our prices are much lower than the same goods may be bought for at the Coast. These prices are taken from the catalogue of one of the largest House Furnishing Goods dealers in San Francisco. It is bona fide, and the goods are identical in quality as those advertised in the catalogue. It is hard to believe that the people of Honolulu—2,100 miles from San Francisco—can buy such goods for less money.

COMING SEAL CONFERENCE.

Russia and Japan invited to be represented. WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 22.—The State Department today made public the correspondence in the Bering Sea negotiations, which was set free recently in London. The new matter is comprised in two letters, July 28 and 29 last, from Lord Salisbury and Ambassador Hay respectively. In Lord Salisbury's note is the definition from the British standpoint of the exact scope of the conference in this language: "I have to state that Her Majesty's Government is willing to agree to a meeting of experts nominated by Great Britain and Canada and by the United States in October next, when the present season will have been completed. "The object of the meeting would be to arrive if possible at the correct conclusions respecting the numbers, conditions and habits of the seals frequenting the Pribiloff Islands at present time as compared with the several seasons subsequent to the Paris award. "It seems to Her Majesty's Government that Washington would be the most suitable place for such a meeting. "Embassador Hay, in a reply which is very short, and is mainly a repetition of Lord Salisbury's language, calls attention to one important point that may have been overlooked by the British side or else was ignored purposely, namely, that the conference is to be international in one sense and is not to be confined entirely to representatives of the United States and Great Britain. On this point his letter, which closes the correspondence up to this time, says: "It may not be out of place for me to recall to your lordship that, as I have already had occasion to mention, the President expects the Governments of Russia and Japan, powers interested in the preservation of the seal herds of Bering Sea, to be represented at the conference. DR. JORDAN GIVES WARNING.

Certain Applicants May be Perpetually Debarred From Stanford. STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., Sept. 22.—The following notice recently posted on the bulletin board will cause further consternation in the ranks of the undesirable element at the university: "Certain applicants who have been refused admission to the university, if continued, will constitute a perpetual bar to admission, and will result in the forfeiture of all privileges in the university grounds. "Persons not members of the university will be allowed to attend private classes held in the university buildings only by special permission of the committee on admission. "D. S. JORDAN, "President."

AN ODD MISTAKE.

The following appeared in a Japanese paper: "The P. & O. Company circulate the following announcement: Owing to the many complaints received from passengers of the discomfort and inconvenience caused by the presence of gods on board the ships, the directors have reluctantly determined not to receive these animals in future. No gods will, therefore, be conveyed in the Company's steamers after September 15, 1897. "Of course it seems strange to class "gods" as animals. But then they do worship such strange things in the "Teeming East," but one could not make out how the "gods" were a discomfort and inconvenience to passengers. Hindu "gods" and Chinese "gods" are ugly enough, but are more a source of curiosity than of inconvenience. However it is all a printer's error. It is dogs, not gods that should be read. But it is one of the oddest errors that has appeared in a long time, and takes precedence of "See the pale martyr in his 'shirt' of fire."

You can't get more than all the news. The Star furnishes it.

ELECTION NEWS ON MAUI.

MOLOKAI RETURNS NOT LIKELY TO EFFECT RESULT.

Royalist Anti-Annexation Meeting Proves a Fiasco—They Try to Turn Out the Wrong Man.

Maui, Oct. 2, 1897. W. E. Pogue 314, D. H. Kahaulelo 211, S. W. Kaai 191, A. N. Kepoikai 178, and Molokai yet to be heard from. Such is the result of the election as far as known now. The Molokai got into Lahaina Thursday at 2 a. m., and the report is that not finding anyone to leave the news with they went out again, taking it with them. With the information at hand, it is hard to understand why the report of the Molokai election was not left by the Molokai. It is said that a sailor on the steamer told some one that Pogue got 10 votes, Kepoikai 10, Kaai 2, and Kahaulelo 3. But another report is around, so it is very unreliable. It is generally conceded though that Mr. Kepoikai is defeated, much to the chagrin of some of his supporters. Each of the districts, excepting Wailuku, went almost entirely for their own candidates. Makawao gave Mr. Pogue 292 votes, other districts only about 22. Hana gave Mr. Kaai 186, other districts 5. Lahaina gave Mr. Kahaulelo 134, other districts 17. Wailuku gave Mr. Kepoikai only 100, and the other districts 78. Mr. Kepoikai did not get what he expected in Lahaina, so though very close it seems as though the regular ticket will be elected. Official report from Molokai is anxiously looked for by the two candidates, who are so near each other in the result. Last Thursday evening a Royalist meeting at Paia, called by Mr. Enoch Johnson to sign an anti-annexation paper, was unceremoniously and ridiculously broken up. The cause of the trouble was the presence of Messrs. John Kahuna and Henry Long, both annexationists. It was demanded that they be put out, and epithets were cast at Mr. Kahuna, who was once a Royalist. This riled Mr. Kahuna and he defied the whole crowd, to such an extent that the meeting was broken up and nothing done. Only a small crowd of natives were present, and mostly from Pauwela, the hotbed of Royalists. A meeting is to be held at Pauwela soon. Hon. W. E. Pogue will make the trip to San Francisco on the Claudine, by special invitation of President C. L. McGehegan, Hana. Twelve gentlemen High winds and considerable rain has prevailed throughout the week. On Saturday evening, September 11, Mr. Hugh Howell gave an elaborate birthday dinner at the residence of Dr. McGehegan, Hana. Twelve gentlemen sat down to the repast, consisting of many courses. Speeches and toasts were made, mainly on the alluring attractions of the Klondike, and a jolly time had generally. Sleep

Induced by the use of coca, opium or narcotic compounds is bad, decidedly bad. It undermines the health and shatters the constitution and the patient is steadily growing into a worse condition—often resulting in the terrible slavery and misery of the cocaine and opium habit. Sleep induced by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla may not come as quickly, but it comes more surely, permanently and is

And refreshing because it is realized through nature's great restoring and rejuvenating channel—purified, vitalized and enriched blood. This feeds the nerves with life-giving energy and builds up the system and constitution from the very foundation of all health and life—the blood—pure, rich, red blood.

Refreshing

"I was generally run down last spring, appetite was poor and I could not sleep. Hood's Sarsaparilla built me right up, gave good appetite and I was soon able to get a good night's rest." G. F. WHITNEY, Merchant, Yeomans St., Lonsa, Michigan.

Worth It.

Edwin Forrest, the renowned tragedian, was showing a "super" how to do a small part, and at last exclaimed, in despair: "Can't you do it as I do?" "No," said the super, "if I could, do you suppose I would be working for five dollars a week?" This illustrates the trouble with the low prices of many articles of furniture. If they were well made do you think they would be offered at kindling wood prices? It is our desire to offer you goods at prices that are consistent with the quality, and we take pride in scouring the Eastern markets for the

That Tired Feeling AND GENERAL DEBILITY.

The cause is poor, thin blood, resulting in deficient vitality. To overcome this, the blood needs to be enriched and vitalized, and for this there is no medicine in the world equal to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The cures it has worked, the men, women and children it has restored to health, are countless in number. One such experience is related by Mr. Robert Goodfellow, Mitcham, South Australia, as follows: "I have used

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

in my family for years, and would not be without it. I used to suffer with boils and skin eruptions, attended with great lassitude and general debility. In fact, I was so ill that I could not attend to my business. Being advised to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla I did so, and I am happy to say that the medicine restored me to perfect health. I have since used Ayer's Sarsaparilla for my children, in various complaints, and it has always proved effective. I can safely recommend it to sufferers as

AIR LINE TO KLONDIKE

CHICAGO WANTS CAPITAL TO BACK HIM.

Large Car Attached to a Balloon and Machinery Used to Supply the Motive Power.

William A. Landt, a watchmaker, whose place of business is in room 1117 Chautauin building, Chicago, wants a partner to invest anywhere from $3,000 to $5,000 in the construction of an air ship, to be built on plans that Landt says he has worked out, and which will, the inventor promises, reach the Klondike gold fields in six days at the most.

Landt has advertised for the partner and shows all inquirers a sketch of the general shape of his air ship. The plan is a rough one, made with no other instruments apparently than a lead pencil and a ruler.

His invention, the advertiser for a capitalist says, is an air ship that will fly, and moreover will be controlled without difficulty, so that it becomes practicable for any kind of aerial work. The details of the machine are not perfected and as yet no opportunity has presented itself to the inventor whereby he can put the air ship to a practical test.

When interviewed by a young man who wanted to invest a few thousand dollars left him by a relative the inventor stopped work on a watch he was repairing, and opened a drawer in his bench, taking out a pad of fine writing paper. On this was the big drawing of the outlines of the craft and a brief description written in pencil filled the margin of the paper. A car large enough to hold two persons and their supplies, Landt explained, formed the body of the machine, and a balloon was to be attached by oval shaped hangers. This, it was explained to the youth with the modest fortune, was to be constructed of fine sheet aluminum, and to be filled with gas enough to last two months.

"Can't always depend on machinery," explained the watchmaker, "and in case any of it should break the balloon will prevent the ship from falling to the ground."

Three propellers, one for speed and two to life the craft in the air, it was explained, were constructed on ideas originated by Mr. Landt, and were to be run by a gasoline motor in the car. Only two persons could be carried in the vessel he proposed to construct as soon as money sufficient therefor was forthcoming, but a little while after Landt declared that he intended to run a line of airships between Chicago and the Klondike regions to bring home the miners who had been fortunate and were willing to pay a good sum for their passage.

What was to become of the other individual who went north on the first trip Mr. Landt did not say, but he charitably declared that if he found sick persons in the north who wanted to get back to see the folks he would bring them home for the sake of humanity. When the prospective inventor wanted to see the model of the vessel he was disappointed.

"There are no patents covering it yet," explained the inventor, "and I cannot afford to show it to any one now."

"Where is the model?" was asked. "At my home, twenty-four miles up on the north shore," was the reply. Shortly afterward Mr. Landt said he lived at Highwood, near Fort Sheridan, and that it was there that he had conducted his experiments. All that was necessary, he explained was for some one to advance the money requisite to construct and secure patents on the vessel, as he was certain in his own mind that it could not be a failure when tried, and that the Klondike could be reached in a few days.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that had caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing the danger he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results is putting it very mildly indeed. It acted like magic, and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The Banner of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland. NOT ON THE TICKET.

A sensation was sprung at the Central Committee headquarters yesterday afternoon by the announcement that there had been an omission in the ticket filed and consequently the entire ticket would be illegal. After working everybody up to fever heat the member making this announcement stated that the omission consisted in the failure to include Rainier Beer on the list of candidates for popular favor. Rainier Beer, however, does not need to be on any ticket, as it was long ago voted to be the best beer made on the coast. Criterion Saloon. Telephone 780.

Brains, Sir.

A man once asked an Artist how he mixed his paints.

"With brains, sir," he said.

Same way with our work. It's mixed with thought, study and brains. Mere mechanical quality, almost anybody can give; Art in mechanics but few understand.

That's why we excel. We give our patrons the benefit of our years of experience and studies, when buying new decorations for their homes.

MEETING A MERMAID

I was lazily conscious of a gentle rustling noise near me, and then something wet and cold came dab in my face. I sat up with a jerk, and there sat a mermaid! Good gracious!

You can imagine how startled I felt.

She sat on the sand quite close to me, resting on one hand, and with her tail, an indisputable tail, with beautifully glistening silvery brown scales, coiled round in a graceful curve. She was fascinatingly pretty, with a sweet face, laughing now at my air of bewilderment, and with long tresses of brown hair blowing about her.

I suppose my dropped jaw and staring eyes must have struck her as very comical, for she laughed—such a musical, soothing laugh, strangely like the ripple of the waves among the groyne higher up the beach.

"Excuse me," she said, "but you look so funny."

"Funny?" I exclaimed indignantly. "What have you been up to? You've been throwing water over me."

"I haven't."

"Yes, you have. Look here, my face is all wet now, and my hair is damp."

"I didn't throw water over you. I suppose it was rather forward, but I put the end of my tail on your face. You looked so tempting, you know, lying there. I really could not resist you."

"Well, you shouldn't, then," I said.

"Now you've woken me up, and some of the water has gone down my neck. I spoke grumpily. You see, I was scarcely myself yet. It was so utterly incomprehensible that I should be sitting here with an absolute mermaid, a creature I had never for a moment believed in, sitting almost close enough for me to touch."

I had wandered off that afternoon among the boulders that lay piled up on the shingle beach at the foot of the cliffs to the left of the little town. It was very hot, so hot that after skimming through the columns of the paper I had brought with me I lay back and snoozed, in blissful disregard of the glaring sun and the white rocks and the low ripple of the retreating tide. And then happened all I have described.

"Do you know you snore?" she said suddenly.

Said I, "You must be a very mischievous girl—mermaid, I mean."

"Oh, no, I'm not—not nearly so bad as some. It's lucky for you my cousin wasn't with me when I came up and found you here."

"A gentleman—a merman?" I ventured.

"Oh, no! She usually comes up here with me of an afternoon, but she's up at the other end of the bay today. Her name's Genevieve, and mine's Maud."

"Where do you get your names?" I asked.

"Out of books we pick up. We got mine and my cousin Huiang's out of a supplement that dropped overboard from a steamer. Pretty name, Huiang, isn't it?"

"Not half so pretty as Maud."

"Well, I don't know. We're glad to get anything to read. Is that today's paper?" pointing to the Chronicle that lay on the beach.

"Yes," I said. "Would you like to read?"

"Thanks, awfully. No, not now, but I'll take it with me, if you don't mind. Smoke your pipe, will you?"

"With great pleasure. Sure you don't mind?"

"Not a bit. Besides I want you to let me light it."

So I pulled out my pipe and filled it, and Maud, with a sinewy loop of her tail, glided up to me. She seemed highly delighted at being allowed to strike the match for me to get a light by.

"Isn't this jolly?" she said, looking up at me with wonderful eyes.

"Rather," I said, looking down into them.

"Do you often go in for this sort of thing?"

"Well, now, I'll tell you," she replied.

"You're the first man I ever spoke to—like this, I mean—but old Nep sent me here for trying to. You're in my nook, you know. I often come here, and yesterday it was so hot that I dropped asleep, and when you came along I only just had time to get behind that rock."

"So you've seen me before, then?"

"Oh, yes, several times! I saw you along the beach on Sunday evening."

"The deuce you did—I beg your pardon!"

"And I saw you kiss that fisher girl. Oh, yes, you did!"

"Well," I said, turning very red, "I admit it, but it was only once."

"There ain't any mermen here," she replied.

"Aren't there? I suppose it's rather lonely."

"I used to be spoons a little with one at Brighton, but we never see one here. That's old Nep's doing. I haven't been kissed for ever so long."

"Really?" I said, edging over toward her.

"Really," she sighed, looking down.

"Er—shall I—would you—shall we—that is?"

I leaned over her as she raised her face, smiling, mischievously, to mine, when, just as our lips touched, with a sudden twist of her tail she caught me a dab in the face with her wet fin.

I fell over backward, and by the time I had got the sand and wet out of my eyes the mermaid had disappeared.

No trace of her was left, but my newspaper was gone, and as I went slowly home I fancied I could catch sight of her, lying out by the big black rock that just showed itself above the sea. I stood still and called to her and distinctly saw her white arms waved to me and heard the rippling of her laugh and saw, too, her long brown hair tossing on the waves.—Exchange.

The Danger Side of Lightning Rods.

The conventional lightning rods that one sees over houses and barns in the country and small towns afford but little protection to the buildings. Small as this security is, it is wholly lost if the so-called conductors are improperly constructed and not in perfect order, when they, in fact, become an absolute menace to the buildings they are reared to guard. It is essential, if the conventional rod is to be set up, that the work be entrusted to reliable and capable persons, otherwise it may become a shining invitation to dangers. It is probable, therefore, all things considered, that a building is as well if not better protected without such conductors as are in general use as with them. It is safe to assert that the great majority of buildings damaged or destroyed by lightning were provided with lightning rods, and in the majority of these cases the conductors invited the thunderbolts, and for some cause, probably improper construction, could not lead the lightning harmlessly to the earth.—Electrician J. E. Powell in Ladies' Home Journal.

ON THE HILLSIDE.

The shadows are lengthening on the hillside, where men have been at work on a long and narrow strip of earth, and now the soil shows dark where late the green sod grew.

The men have done their task and are waiting. Soon a long, dark line shows against the woods below as a procession winds its way across a broad field and up the slope of the hill. They carry a burden in front of the line, and the bearers tell in the ascent, while a weird but melodious chant floats upon the air as they draw near the spot where the men still wait with un-covered heads.

Though strong young arms carry the burden, there are aged men there whose dusky faces are furrowed, and whose forms are bent with age. There are women, too, no less venerable, with kerchiefs the insignia of their order, pinned in snowy folds across their bosoms. They knew his mother in the dear old days that they love to remember when they were children and played on the hillside together.

He, whom they are "carrying home," had played there, too, and when far away he knew that his sickness was "unte death." There came to him in fevered dream-visions of the soft greensward, the stary flowers, the clear brook at the foot of the hill, the ripe berries he used to gather there, and he pined to rest his falling eyes on the dear spot once more. He longed for the sunny land and for the little cabin there, where on the threshold he had sat in the twilight at his mother's knee. "Can I go? Could I get there?" he asked with eager eyes fixed on the face of the kind physician who had been his employer and his friend, and who did not fall him now.

The longings of the hom-sick soul had been filled, for the wanderer died by his mother's cabin door with the few simple flowers that her hand had planted blooming near by. Aunt Dinah nursed him carefully, and she had a theory of her own about the flowers.

"It do seem," she said, "like dey done open sooner dis spring for purpose so's he could see 'em. He did crave for 'em so."

He died at sunset, with the soft, fading light on the cabin door, and Aunt Dinah believed that the last rays lingered there that the dying eyes might behold their glory a little longer ere they should open upon the brighter glories of the new Jerusalem.

Now the bearers pause and set their burden down on the cool green grass among the flowers that he loved. The solemn silence is broken by the careless whispering of several boys and girls, laborers who, from an adjoining field, had followed the procession.

"Hush, child'n!" said Aunt Dinah reprovingly. "Br'er Dan's gwine ter 'sile in pray'."

An aged man, whose hair was white and whose face was furrowed, raised his trembling hands, and every voice was hushed.

"We is called on, my fren's, an' likewise my br'dren, an' my sist'ers in de Lawd, ter form dese last offices for dis, our 'sensed br'er Lew's, us as he done 'pent of his sins an' done 'fessed Lawd. We say he done gone home, but ef der be ar'y br'er or likewise ar'y sister in dis congregation dat knows Br'er Tom An'erson ain't gone ter glory let him—er likewise br'er—speak now at dis pres'n time er hol his tongue arterward an' foreber no'."

"Der ain't none!" (Cries of "No, no!")

"Den we ac on de delusion dat he done gone der, darfo' let us pray."

The words may be told, but the spirit of the petition that followed may never be made manifest.

"An now, hear us, good Lawd, we seech an pray! He done trod de fiery fur nish ob 'flection in dis col' worl 'longside er Mosesback, Shedreck an' Bendigo!"

"Yes, Lawd!" responded a bearer.

"An de roarin lions couldn't 'vour him, ner neither de fiery flames couldn't scotch him, an' now he's done gone wid Lazeres an' Dives inter Aberlham's huzzum, whar der ain't got nar'y drap er water ter cool der burnin' tongues wid'!"

"Nar'y drap' Halleluoyah!" was responded.

"But dis, our br'er, he done gone what de wicked coast from troublin an' de weary is at res'."

Here his words were almost lost in the confusion that followed—prayers, groans, shouts, responses—and above all a soft monotonous chant was heard. The mass of humanity, which pressed close to the speaker, swayed to and fro, as if swept by a mighty wind.

Suddenly the speaker's voice resumed its wonted tone, order was restored and the prayer was brought to a close.

"An now bress we alls, our Father, an' when we is call'd on, my fren's, we say dese bouns ob 'm'icrity and de guldils er bitterness, inter dy gates ob real golan silver, fer his sake, amen."

In a few minutes the crowd has dispersed, seemingly forgetful of the late excitement, and the things of everyday life resume sway. As they follow the narrow path down the hill, Aunt Dinah, walking beside her, tells Sis' Chloe of late wonderful achievements of her own "speckled pullet" in the egg producing line. Her hearer, barely suppressing a sniff of incredulity, bestows a sound cuff on the long suffering ears of black Sam, the sexton, asking as she encoers the proceeding: "See dat sun dar? How low down it done gone, an' whar dem cows, does you 'spect'?"

Even Uncle Dan'l, so recently officiating at the solemn ceremony, and who held his hearers as by a spell, tells Br'er Johnsing of the mysterious disappearance of a fat porker from the pen at his house "las night," eying his listener, meanwhile, in perchance he may show signs of consciousness, for, as one of "the members" once remarked, "Br'er Johnsing have he'n weakness, dough he do pass 'roun de hat'."

They are all gone now; their voices are dying in the distance and silence comes, with the mantle of night to the new made grave on the hillside.—Dorothy Mayo in Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Greatest Railroad Center.

It is stated that Buffalo is now the greatest railroad center in the United States, having more trackage than either New York, Chicago or St. Louis. Twenty-six great railroad corporations operate their roads through Buffalo, and nearly 4,000 acres of land within the city limits is given up to railroad use.
