

CARTER ILLNESS MAY ALTER PLANS

THE EXECUTIVE CONFINED TO HIS HOME SINCE SATURDAY BY DENGUE, BUT HOPES TO BE ABLE TO TAKE HIS PART IN THE CEREMONIES AT THE CAPITOL NEXT THURSDAY MORNING.

Governor Carter is confined to his home by illness. He is said to be able to be about the house, but was unable to come down to his office this morning, as was also the case on Saturday.

It was given out at the executive department this morning that the Governor is suffering from an indisposition similar to dengue, from which he hopes, however, to be sufficiently recovered to take part in the ceremonies attending his retirement from office on Thursday, and the inauguration of his successor, Chief Justice Frear. For the present the Governor is not attempting to transact any of his official business.

The arrangements for the inauguration on Thursday are being perfected in detail, by the force of the executive office and Judge Frear and newly appointed Secretary E. A. Mott-Smith, and it is hoped to have the formal program of arrangements ready for announcement by tomorrow. Inasmuch as the affair is of official and formal character, a good deal of diplomacy is necessary in making the arrangements and issuing the invitations to the various civil, military, naval and foreign officials.

WHAT WILL FREAR DO?

THE MATTER OF CONTINUING TO ENFORCE UNDATED RESIGNATIONS BEING DISCUSSED.

The bugaboo of the Carter regime relative to undated resignations, has again bobbed up among the department heads and other officials holding positions in the Territory under appointment of the governor.

What stand will Governor Frear take when he comes into power? is the question the officials are asking each other on the quiet. Of course as none of them are sure of being reappointed, there is a natural reluctance to talk on the matter. The only one of the bunch who is really in a position to enjoy the situation is Attorney General Peters. He doesn't care for he is out of the race for reappointment, and apparently sees a great deal that is humorous in the situation of the others.

The question of the Chief Executive requiring of his appointees on their assuming office their undated resignations, signed and ready for a moment's notice to be dated and put into effect, is one which has caused a good deal of discussion and criticism, and was the subject of an abortive attempt at legislation by the last legislature.

Governor Carter held that in order to insure harmony and single purpose among the members of his officials

POLICE TAKE UP BALL GAME INCIDENT

HAMPTON'S THROW AT A SPECTATOR DURING A SATURDAY AFTERNOON GAME AND AN ALLEGED THREAT OF VIOLENCE TOWARD CHIEF OF DETECTIVES TAYLOR ARE BEING INVESTIGATED—LEAGUE ACTION MAY BE AWAITED.

Chief of Detectives A. P. Taylor was in the midst of a tussle at the baseball grounds Saturday afternoon that may mean severe trouble for one of the players, Hampton, who is alleged to have deliberately thrown the ball at a spectator, narrowly missing a lady's head, and for another player whose name the police are for the present keeping quiet, who was about to attack Taylor from behind when Assistant Chief of Detectives Joseph Leal arrived and put himself in readiness to knock out the man if he attempted to strike Taylor.

The police await the action of the League and their action depends to some extent on what the League does. The ball throwing incident was witnessed by the big crowd at the game. Hampton is declared to have lost his temper when "joshed" and to have thrown a ball with deadly force at a man, said to be "Jimmy" Thompson, who had been doing some of the talking. It nearly struck its mark and if it had struck the lady's head who was narrowly missed, would probably have had very serious consequences.

THE POLO DINNER

At the meeting of the Oahu Polo Team this morning the committee on entertainment decided on Saturday night August 17, for the annual dance and dinner to be given at the Seaside Hotel in honor of the visiting Maui team. The event will be an invitation affair and everything will be done to make the affair a success. A number of the business houses in town are willing to give their employees a chance to see the game and to declare Wednesday afternoon a half holiday. One of the members stated that he hoped everyone would declare it a half day and that the game would be a record one in matter of attendance.

LISHMAN'S WILL

The will of the late Robert Hugh Percy Lishman the unfortunate young Shriner who came to his death a few weeks ago in Vancouver from his own hand, as a result of mental derangement induced by a severe fall on the deck of the vessel while en route to the national meeting of the Shriners in Los Angeles, was this morning filed in the probate court for administration. The mother of the deceased was named as sole beneficiary, and also as administratrix without bond. The estate consists of life insurance and cash to the amount of $6,796.20. DOLE DECIDES A TEST CASE

LONG TIME RESIDENT HERE NEED NOT WAIT TWO YEARS FOR NATURALIZATION.

Judge Dole today handed down a decision in the case of George Frederick Rodiek, a German citizen applying for naturalization, by which the application was granted. Rodiek, who is an employe of Hackfeld, wished to be naturalized, but was opposed by the Department of Commerce and Labor on the grounds that he had not filed his declaration according to the last laws governing the admission of foreigners requiring their application to citizenship to be filed two years ahead.

Judge Dole held that inasmuch as the man had been a resident of the Territory for over five years prior to the annexation, this fact should stand in lieu of the formal declaration.

Exceptions were noted by J. J. Dunne the United States attorney in the case, and notice of appeal given.

GOVERNOR MIGHT MAKE SAM GO

ORDER FOR THE RIFLE TEAM, NAMING THOSE SELECTED, ABOUT TO BE MADE.

A general order will probably be issued this afternoon from the Adjutant General's office of the National Guard of Hawaii naming the rifle team which is to leave Honolulu on the Alameda on Wednesday for Camp Perry, Ohio, to represent the Territory in the national match which is to be held there under supervision of the War Department. It is understood that the following are on the schedule to go, although there is the possibility of one or two changes being made:

Major William R. Riley, 1st Infantry, team captain and disbursing officer.

Lt.-Col. Arthur Coyne, 1st Infantry. Major James W. Pratt, Signal Corps Department, N. G. H.

Major Gustave Rose, 1st Infantry. Captain Thomas P. Cummins, 1st Infantry.

Captain Charles M. Coster, 1st Infantry.

Capt. Arthur W. Neely, 1st Infantry. First Lieutenant Orlando J. Whitehead, 1st Infantry.

Sergeant A. R. Phillips, Company F, 1st Infantry.

Sergeant Jose Ferreira, Company F, 1st Infantry.

Corporal Jose Gouveia, Company F, 1st Infantry.

Corporal John Stone, Company F, 1st Infantry.

Private Luther A. K. Evans, 1st Signal Company, N. G. H.

Private Eugene Duvauchelle, Company G, 1st Infantry.

Private William S. Chillingworth, 1st Signal Company, N. G. H.

Private Sam Pinao, Company B, 1st Infantry.

Private Thomas J. Evans, 1st Signal Company, N. G. H.

Private Charles Brede, Company G, 1st Infantry.

There has been a disposition on the part of some of the men to criticize Governor Carter for not having exercised his authority in the matter of Col. Sam Johnson, who, it will be observed, is not on the list of those to go, although he holds the highest record as a marksman, and his loss will count fearfully against the team in the competition. The Board of Supervisors, under which Col. Johnson, as Road Supervisor, is employed, objected to allowing him to go, and Johnson refused to insist. The Governor, under both the laws of the Territory, and by Federal statute, is empowered to order the attendance of any member of the National Guard at any place and at any time he may see fit, and any one preventing response to such orders is subject to a severe fine.

CLOSE UP FOR POLO

All of the local banks and trust companies have agreed to close at 1 o'clock next Wednesday afternoon, for the polo game at Moanalua. There is a movement among other big establishments to close at the same hour, in order to allow employes to attend the game.

NINE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

SANFORD B. DOLE.

Nine years ago today, Sanford B. Dole, as President of the Republic of Hawaii, formally turned over the islands to the United, at flag-raising ceremonies held at noon at the Capitol, in the presence of an immense gathering.

Addressing Minister Sewell, President Dole said: "A treaty of political union having been made and the cessation of the Territory in the national match which is to be held there under supervision of the War Department. It is understood that the following are on the schedule to go, although there is the possibility of one or two changes being made: Major William R. Riley, 1st Infantry, team captain and disbursing officer. Lt.-Col. Arthur Coyne, 1st Infantry. Major James W. Pratt, Signal Corps Department, N. G. H. Major Gustave Rose, 1st Infantry. Captain Thomas P. Cummins, 1st Infantry. Captain Charles M. Coster, 1st Infantry. Capt. Arthur W. Neely, 1st Infantry. First Lieutenant Orlando J. Whitehead, 1st Infantry. Sergeant A. R. Phillips, Company F, 1st Infantry. Sergeant Jose Ferreira, Company F, 1st Infantry. Corporal Jose Gouveia, Company F, 1st Infantry. Corporal John Stone, Company F, 1st Infantry. Private Luther A. K. Evans, 1st Signal Company, N. G. H. Private Eugene Duvauchelle, Company G, 1st Infantry. Private William S. Chillingworth, 1st Signal Company, N. G. H. Private Sam Pinao, Company B, 1st Infantry. Private Thomas J. Evans, 1st Signal Company, N. G. H. Private Charles Brede, Company G, 1st Infantry. There has been a disposition on the part of some of the men to criticize Governor Carter for not having exercised his authority in the matter of Col. Sam Johnson, who, it will be observed, is not on the list of those to go, although he holds the highest record as a marksman, and his loss will count fearfully against the team in the competition. The Governor, under both the laws of the Territory, and by Federal statute, is empowered to order the attendance of any member of the National Guard at any place and at any time he may see fit, and any one preventing response to such orders is subject to a severe fine.

President Dole remained as president during a "transition period" up to June 10, 1909, when the Territory was organized and he became first governor thereof, retiring nearly four years ago to take his present position as federal judge.

The flag which was used on this occasion is still preserved in the capitol here.

Among those who took part in the ceremonies and were mentioned in press accounts as specially prominent in bringing about annexation, who are still prominent in local affairs were Dr. John S. McGrew, L. A. Thurston, F. M. Hatch, W. A. Kinney and P. C. Jones and the following names from the original roll of membership of the Annexation club: George W. Smith, J. S. Martin, C. T. Wilder, J. L. McLean, Professor Scott, L. C. Ables, P. B. McStocker, T. S. Lansing, J. S. Kennedy, J. W. Jones. The Hawaiian Ministers with President Dole,—Henry E. Cooper, J. A. King, W. O. Smith and S. M. Damon—were also leaders in the events of the day. The National Guard took part with Col. J. H. Fisher commanding during a "transition period" up to June 10, 1909, when the Territory was organized and he became first governor thereof, retiring nearly four years ago to take his present position as federal judge.

LOST ONE DAY AND FOUND THE NEXT

On Saturday, Robert Wallace, whose real name is A. L. Miller, was discovered as missing from the Occidental Hotel and was supposed to have killed himself. Chief of Detectives A. P. Taylor went through his effects and found that Miller was his right name. Yesterday he was located by a special officer who is a newspaperman, and had enlisted in the Twentieth infantry at Fort Shafter. This fact was cabled by the Chief of Detectives to Mrs. Miller at Willoughby, Ohio. Miller has several hundred dollars when he came here, but lived beyond his means.

OCEAN VOYAGE IMPROVES BOOZE

THE REASON WHY LOCAL IMPORTERS HAVE WHISKEY IMPORTED BY WAY OF THE HORN—TIME SPENT ON THE ROLLING DEEP COUNTS FOUR TIMES AS MUCH IN AGING LIQUOR AS SHORE TIME.

Not everybody knows that a sea voyage is good for whisky, but this is a fact, according to a well known local U. S. Revenue officer, and one which is taken advantage of by whisky manufacturers and dealers to a considerable extent.

The beneficial effects comes from the fact that the motion of the ship and consequent agitation of the liquor in the barrels, produces the effect of "aging" much more rapidly than under the normal condition of storage in warehouses. This aging is necessary before whiskey is considered fit for consumption, four years being considered the minimum time for the purpose, every year additional improving the quality. Time appears to produce certain chemical changes by which certain oils become neutralized so that a properly aged whiskey of a test which is fresh from the still would be like so much molten lead, and would produce not very unlike effects on the human anatomy, becomes "mellowed" and "smooth," so that the connoisseur does not grab for a "chaser" of ice water as soon as he downs his eye-opener in the morning.

Time spent on the ocean is estimated to be equally to fully four times that on shore for aging liquor, and consequently much whiskey intended for the Pacific coast is shipped from the big Kentucky distilleries to New York by rail and thence on sailing vessels around the Horn, the three months or more required for the voyage being considered equal to a year of other storage.

For the same reason a great deal of whiskey is regularly shipped from this country to Europe, and afterwards brought back, this sometimes being repeated several times. In Germany, especially there are a number of big warehouses owned by big whiskey dealers, in which liquor is constantly being brought in from America and taken out for re-shipment back again. The cost is not so heavy as it would seem since it is shipped as ballast or low rate freight on slow vessels—sailing ships when possible—and the principal cost comes from handling.

Some of the big wholesale liquor dealers in Honolulu have most of their whiskey shipped around the Horn for the principal reason that it improves so greatly by the voyage.

Some of the big distilleries have lately taken advantage of the fact that motion appears to improve whiskey, by constructing great rocking chairs in their warehouses which are kept in constant motion by machinery.

In former years it was the custom to store a great deal of whiskey in Honolulu to be afterwards reshipped to the United States, both for the reason that it benefitted from the sea voyage and because it was cheaper to store it here than on the mainland. In recent years, however, changed conditions have made this less profitable, and it is not often done now.

JAPAN PLACES AN EMBARGO ON COAL

OPERATORS ALLOWED TO LOAD NONE OF FUEL FOR EXPORT FROM THE COUNTRY.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 23.—According to British naval officers who arrived from the Orient on the Empress of China en route to England from the China station, the Japanese Government has placed a positive embargo on the export of coal from Japan. Operators have been instructed to load no coal for export and steamers are supplied with only sufficient to complete the return voyage to Japan. This is said to be the reason why the Canadian Pacific railroad, which had several special ship loads of coal ordered during the Canadian coal strike, received but one. It is also stated on the best authority that the government has been inquiring for large shipments of Australian and Welsh coal the latter designed for coaling stations remote from Japan and probably in the vicinity of the Philippines.

The officers also state positively that the Japanese going to Mexico through Hawaii are all service men and veterans of the late Russian war.

OLYMPIA CLUB FIRES A MEMBER

MAN WHO RESENTED CALHOUN'S PRESENCE AT A BANQUET IS EXPELLED.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 3.—The directors of the Olympic Club at a meeting last night expelled Dr. Charles A. Clinton from membership in that organization on a charge of conduct unbecoming a gentleman, which disturbed the harmony of the club and impaired its good name. The charges grew out of an incident at a dinner given recently in the club, with a view to increase its membership. Patrick Calhoun, president of the United Railroads, was present as the guest of Dr. W. B. Coffey. While the guests were filing out of the banquet hall Dr. Clinton started a demonstration against Calhoun. The committee in charge of the banquet, consisting of Jack Cunningham, L. A. Wittenmeyer, F. M. Spencer, A. J. Welch and Sam Joseph, preferred the charges against Dr. Clinton and last night was set for the hearing.

Dr. Clinton was present and was in a defiant mood. All the members of the committee also were present and gave their version of the affair. After a long discussion the directors voted unanimously to expel Dr. Clinton from the club. They adopted the following resolution, covering his case:

"Whereas, a statement in writing was filed with the club on July 23, 1907, charging Dr. C. A. Clinton, a member of the club, with conduct unbecoming a gentleman, and thereby disturbing the harmony and impairing the good name and injuring the prosperity of the club; and

"Whereas, said charges came on regularly to be heard before the board of directors on the second day of August, 1907, at 8 o'clock p. m., proof having been first made of due service of said charges upon the said Dr. C. A. Clinton as provided by the laws of the club; and

"Whereas, Dr. Clinton personally appeared at said hearing and filed a statement in writing constituting his defense to said charges, and evidence, both documentary and oral, having been accorded the said Clinton, the board of directors being fully advised in the premises, do find:

"First—That Dr. Clinton did at the time and place alleged in the said charges conduct himself in a manner unbecoming a gentleman and calculated to disturb the harmony and impair the good name and prosperity of the club.

"Second—Said Dr. Clinton made statements to certain of the newspapers of San Francisco regarding his actions and conduct at the time and place specified in said charges; that said statements so made were not and are not true and did disturb the harmony and impair the good name and did tend to injure the prosperity of the club; now therefore, be it

"Resolved, that said Dr. Clinton be and he is hereby expelled from membership in this club." The directors elected William F.

MONDAYAUGUST 12, 1907

Nine Years Ago To-day

Today is a very important anniversary in Hawaii,—the ninth birthday of American sovereignty in the islands. The islands have passed through many changes since the day when the Stars and Stripes arose, amid impressive scenes, on the Capitol flagstaff. In some lines we have made vast strides. The sugar industry, probably because it is handled with skill and scientific application not to be surpassed by any in the world, as much as because of its dominance, has developed wonderfully and it still advances by use of the same liberal intelligence in study of methods and experiments. Others have not made the progress we hoped for. On the day of the flag-raising in 1898, The Star said editorially: "Small as these islands are, they are fertile enough to support a population ten times as large as now inhabit them, and with the boom that is coming the country will rapidly fill up. . . . The agricultural resources of the country are by no means fully developed. There are small industries which will spring up on every hand, of which we have no idea at the present time. There are large tracts of country which will yield an admirable living if only capital and energy are applied. And we shall get that capital and energy now."

How much of this has come true? The boom came,—and stopped. There are some signs now of a revival,—of an end to the constant drain of population by departure,—and a turn of travel this way. But it would be idle to deny that in many respects we have not, so far, fulfilled reasonable expectation. The problems of why this is so, and of what can be done to give us the population and the prosperity our fertility of soil naturally entitles us to, have been forced to the front by hard times, and the people of Hawaii are more than ever active in working out solutions. The prediction of nine years ago still stands, and it will yet be verified.

Labor's Battle Nearing Crisis?

The cables from Chicago telling of a proposed "general strike" indicate the commencement of a struggle which will be of far reaching effect, and will stir the American nation most profoundly. It may be the great, long-decided trial of strength between Union labor on the one hand and capital backed by independent labor on the other. A Chicago general strike means organized labor's effort to tie up industry of all sort, to paralyze a great city and throw it into a condition of practical anarchy. Up to Saturday the reports told of a strike of telegraph operators which had already spread to sixteen great cities of the continent, from Chicago to San Francisco and from New Orleans as far north as Helena. The strike in these big centers necessarily carries with it thousands of smaller cities between them. San Francisco and New York are both about to join.

These happenings seem to presage a struggle that will be historic. Chicago, where the general strike was declared for, is the city which a couple of years ago led in the formation of the "Citizens' Alliance," an organization of employers now existing in most of the big cities west of Chicago, for the purpose of combining employers of labor to resist the constant encroachments of unions. The organization has been active in San Francisco, where it maintains headquarters and publishes advertisements inviting those who suffer from the unjust demands of unions to call for aid.

It may be that the selection of telegraph lines for the starting point of the general strike has a significance of grave import. The very life of organized resistance to strikes is often in rapid communication, by means of which capital can shift large bodies of strike-breakers, and call for aid of troops when necessary. General strikes in such tremendous centers of population as Chicago, accompanied by a widespread organization to back them and possibly duplicate them, mean martial law and bloodshed. There are several whole states in the affected region,—Idaho and Colorado; for example,—which are dominated by miners' federations essentially revolutionary in their policies,—in spite of the acquittal of Haywood probably most of the country believes that the inner circle of the Western Federation of Miners was guilty of campaigns of assassination. So we may look for some stirring events if the striking spreads much further.

Auto Laws Only Half Alive

The automobiling business will have to be better regulated. The car which met with an accident yesterday narrowly escaped a collision which might have cost several lives. As it was the car which was guilty of the worst speeding, and its driver, were the sufferers. But what might have occurred? Suppose there had been pedestrians walking along the road at the point where this high power car was racing along, or supposed there had been a slow-moving horse and buggy or wagon? What chance would they have had to get out of the way? If there are to be speed races here, let them be provided for by setting apart certain roads for a certain period and having an adequate watch of police to keep the roads clear.

The penalties for violating the automobile law ought to be increased. A small fine as a rule does not matter much to one who is able to own a racing machine. But above all, the law ought to be enforced impartially and in this it is to be feared that the local police have made a very miserable showing. In the case of the last accident, the amount of evidence immediately available to show that there were violations of the law was enough to place the matter beyond argument. Yet nothing practical was done. Sheriff Iaukea did some polite questioning and then said he would pass the matter up to the county attorney for a decision. The public is drawing the contrast between this and the action police usually take in such cases. A car conductor meeting with an accident is often placed under arrest on the spot even in cases where he is blameless. In cases of fast driving by ordinary persons common police officers take the guilty parties into custody without ceremony. Why so much ceremony in the Littlefield case?

The Star does not say that the automobile which injured Littlefield,

SAD STORY FROM THE COLUMBIA

MISSING YOUNG WOMAN POSSIBLY IDENTIFIED — APPEARS GRAY HAired AND OLD.

SAN FRANCISCO August 9.—The investigation into the Columbia disaster yesterday revealed one of the saddest mysteries connected with the wreck. W. T. Hume, an attorney of this city, came to ask Captain Hansen for news of this promised wife, Mrs. Blanche M. Gordon. Of all the persons picked up by the schooner San Pedro after the collision, Mrs. Gordon was the only one not yet accounted for. Mrs. Gordon became separated from her 13 year old daughter and was taken on board the San Pedro. She was laid in a bunk in one of the lower cabins and there she fainted. Mrs. Otilie Liedelt, who was with her, became frightened and hurried on deck to get assistance. One of the deckhands was sent to look after Mrs. Gordon, but reported that she was not to be found. Captain Hansen says that he made a personal inspection of the vessel to see that none was left behind when the passengers were taken on board the Elder.

The body of a woman was washed ashore at Eureka and a photograph of the remains was sent to Hume for identification. Despite the fact that the photograph shows an aged, gray haired woman—while Mrs. Gordon was young and comely, with dark hair—Hume believes it to be a picture of her. He thinks that the shock of being parted from her daughter, which he believes caused the strong woman to faint, and the sufferings of that dreadful night might have blanched her hair and drawn lines in her face.

Mrs. Gordon's brother, Fred Baldie of Tacoma, has gone to Eureka to get news of his sister. He said that he would spare no effort or expense to find her body if she were dead.

How the woman could have been lost from the San Pedro becomes a greater mystery the more conditions on the schooner are studied. It is true that the water came up so high that the unconscious woman might have been drowned where she lay in the bunk, but in that case her body would have been found, as the water did not rise high enough to wash her out through the companionway.

Mrs. Gordon, for more than three years had been engaged to marry Attorney Hume. The wedding was postponed on account of the illness of Mrs. Gordon's little daughter, who claimed her mother's undivided attention. After the death of the child a short time ago Mrs. Gordon and the other daughter went on a recreation trip to the north. Hume was to have met her at the dock upon her return and they were to have been married immediately. He has suffered keenly from the uncertainty and has been unwilling to give up hope. Mrs. Gordon's daughter was saved in this city.

The taking of testimony regarding the wreck was virtually closed yesterday, although Captain Birmingham will examine any survivors of the who may come to the city and who may be able to add anything to the information he already possesses. The investigation has been very searching and Captain Birmingham will take some time to weigh the great volume of testimony adduced.

NOT THIRTEEN

The members of the Stock Exchange who gathered at the Commercial Club at noon today for a luncheon following the annual meeting of the exchange would never do for members of a Thirteen Club. After all were seated it was suddenly discovered that there were just thirteen at the table. At once the members began casting about for more. At the right moment C. J. Hutchins and E. N. Campbell happened along and were enthusiastically hailed and called to make the party larger. A very pleasant luncheon was then enjoyed with R. W. Shingle as host.

NOT MERE TALK

Some of the advertisements appearing in the papers are considered as hot air. This is true of but one and that one is justifiable, but with any statement made relative to Haleiwa Hotel there is no occasion for the usual grain of salt with which similar statements are taken. There is no place violating the law. It knows, however, that several witnesses say such was the case, and that one is reported to have called attention to overspeeding before the accident occurred. And it knows that such facts as these call for the usual investigation. Apparently our esteemed governor himself was violating one comparatively unimportant rule by running on the wrong side of the road. Doubtless he would rather pay a fine for such a bit of thoughtless ignoring of the law than be placed in the position of advocating rigid carrying out of the laws against others while minor officials overlook them for his benefit. Doubtless the driver of the more unlucky car was far more willing than a somewhat weak kneed police administration seemed to think, to take the proper consequences of whatever error of judgment he may have made in handling his car. The point is that for the sake of public safety, and to protest automobile owners from public prejudice, the law must be impartially enforced.

WORRIES SOON END MUTINY OF CHINESE

ANXIETY IN THE CAPITOL ABOUT APPOINTMENTS UNDER GOVERNOR FREAR.

Attorney General Peters is back in his office today after being away on a vacation for about two weeks enjoying the simple life on the sea beach beyond Diamond Head. His presence in the office for the next two days will be largely formal, as his resignation takes effect on Thursday with the outgoing Governor Carter.

Peters is about the only one of the department heads of the present administration who wears a perfectly cheerful expression, for the reason that he is the only one who has no hopes of re-appointment. Long ago he announced his intention of retiring from public office when the new administration begins, and straight way showed his sincerity by fitting up an office in the McCandless block and giving every body to understand very definitely that he would not accept a reappointment.

All the other department heads want to be reinstated by the new Chief Executive of the Territory and while there has been nothing to indicate that they will not be, still there has been a little of a positive assurance that they will. Explained, therefore the abstracted and careworn expression on many faces about the Executive buildings, for the strain of uncertainty is bound to tell a little on the nerves, and to be reflected from the subordinate staff of the various offices.

In the meantime Chief Justice Frear is not saying a word, but is presumably sawing wood.

THIRTEEN OF THEM MAKE A RAID ON CAPTAIN'S CABIN ON VALDIVIA.

Thirteen Chinos at the Captain's door, Yo-ho, heave ho! Thirteen buckets of dead men's gore, Yo, heave ho, my hearties!

Marine Police Officer Reeves sauntered into the police station late Saturday night humming something to the above effect. There had been mutiny aboard the good steamship Valdivia, Britisher, Captain Reid, from Newcastle, "with coals."

It was from the Valdivia when she was last here that a Chinese cook escaped and Captain Reid had to put up a bond to return and face the U. S. District Court and it will cost him $500 fine if the Chinese is not returned. There seems little chance of his being returned.

Since arrival in this port, on August 6, Captain Reid has refused to give the Chinese crew, numbering thirteen, any spending money. He expects to lose $500 on account of the Chinese cook who deserted and he proposed to the thirteen Chinese of his crew that they promise to make up the $500 fine between them in case any one of their number should follow the cook's example and clear out. His suggestion was not met favorably by the Oriental sailors and they refused to organize themselves into an insurance company for the benefit of the captain. Whereupon the captain refused to allow them any money to spend.

On Saturday the crew wanted cash to pay for tobacco and other articles of luxury and necessity purchased from a Chinese storekeeper ashore. Captain Reid refused to dig unless they guaranteed him against loss by any further desertions.

The thirteen Chinese, in a body, mutinied and went to the captain's cabin. He closed and locked the door. They pounded on the door and created a great disturbance, making dire threats. The captain got a messenger to the police station and Officers Reeves and Apana went to the ship. There a council was held, Apana acting as interpreter. The Chinese still refused to protect the captain against any of their number deserting and the captain was firm in refusing to allow them money. However, the peace conference was more successful than any Hague affair and this morning the Chinese returned to work, probably awed by the suggestion of irons and handcuffs and the danger of pounding on a door behind which might be a loaded gun.

At one of these inconvenient places the careless driver got his carriage too far on the outer edge of the road, as all of a sudden it took a tumble down of twenty-foot embankment. Mr. Kinney saved himself by jumping as soon as he felt the carriage careening but Mrs. Kinney not realizing the danger remained in the carriage and was hurled along with a shower of each and stones. Mr. Kinney found her stunned at the bottom of the gulch, but closer examination revealed that besides some very painful bruises she had received no serious injury. It seems almost a miracle that she was not killed outright considering the side of the bowlders and their rush right in her wake.

Judge Kepaeha of Koloa is laid up with a sprained leg as a result of a runaway a week ago.

He and Deputy Sheriff Ellis of Lihue were driving to Waimea together Saturday afternoon with the intention of attending the meeting of Sunday school at Waimea the following day. They were using a horse belonging to the judge which on several occasions has showed himself to be of a skittish temper.

Coming along the Waiawa road the animal became frightened at some imaginary object and veered suddenly to the side, overturning the buggy and throwing the occupants to the ground. Sheriff Ellis was soon up again and on examination found himself while and sound. Not so with the judge who soon discovered that something had happened to his leg. The buggy and the harness were in ruins and the horse had gone nobody knew where to.

Ellis brought another and safer conveyance from Koloa which brought a telephone message from Sheriff of the judge back to his home. The doctor found that no bones were broken but the leg had suffered a severe sprain that will keep him from his official duties for a few days.

WOOLLEY ADMITTED

THE DISTINGUISHED PROHIBITION ADVOCATE NOW A MEMBER OF THE LOCAL BAR.

The Supreme Court was in session for a brief time this morning, with Chief Justice Frear presiding on the bench. The only matter of interest which came up, however was the admission to the bar of the Territory as a practicing attorney, of Hon. John U. Woolley, the nationally famed temperance advocate, who came here some time ago at the instance of the Anti-Saloon League to help in the fight against the liquor traffic in the Territory.

Woolley took the oath in the presence of quite a number of attorneys who had gathered to see the ceremony, and he afterwards paid his fee of $10 and received his certificate from Deputy Clerk James A. Thompson, remarking as he did so that he must now get out and hustle up a client from whom he may get his ten dollars back.

Woolley stated that he expected to take up a private practice in Honolulu. "Of course I have one client," said he. "And that is the Anti-Saloon League. I haven't had time yet to get in full touch with the liquor situation here as yet, but I have read the liquor law, and think that it is a fairly good one. No, from the reading I made, which was not the most careful, I do not think that it will be easy to overthrow it on constitutional grounds."

Woolley stated that he believed the law should be upheld and expressed a desire to be fair in the matter to both sides. Regarding the Miguel case which is now in the courts to test the constitutionality of the law, Woolley stated that he had not been advised, and did not know whether or not he would be called upon to take a part in the case.

WAS HERE WITH THE CONGRESSMEN

The World Today contains an extended account of the Hawaiian tour of the Congressional party recently here, by Alexander Hume Ford, a New York writer who was with the party. The following are the main features.

A few days' rest and investigation at Honolulu and then the "grand tour." Molokai and its leper settlement were passed at night. It was scarce daylight when the landing was made by barge at Kahului on the island of Maui.

Here and at the little town of Wailuku, a mile or so away, the company were domiciled in hotels and private houses. For the most part, these were in reality Chinese and Japanese villages. One had to search diligently for the residence or hut of a native Hawaiian, although these latter were well represented at the great stone school-house that is the finest building on the island. The schools on the Hawaiian islands are usually the most modern of all structures and the teachers are better paid than on the mainland, while the proportion of those who read and write is probably larger than on any other spot on the globe, New England not excepted. The event of the first day ashore at Maui was the visit to the school. The congressional party was seated on chairs placed upon the spacious lawn: Behind them were gathered the Hawaiian fathers and mothers, before them the five hundred school children of a dozen different nationalities stood upon the spacious porch and splendid stone steps, to sing the national songs of America and Hawaii.

A little Chinese girl stepped forth from the ranks to recite a speech of welcome, to which one of the Congressmen responded, and then a Hawaiian lad came forward to remind the visitors that Hawaii was not an island possession, or a captured province, but that the island had sent L. A. Thurston to Washington to bring back the American flag, and he had done so. Even the Congressmen joined—as best they could—in the singing of Hawaii Ponoi, after that boyish speech that reflected the true patriotic spirit of the Hawaiians. Portuguese, Porto Rican and Korean children also bade the visitors welcome, and when the closing song "Aloha Oe" that plaintive, stirring appeal, composed by the Queen herself lifted itself on the air, there were few dry eyes. The children marched indoors to the closing strains for after Hawaii Ponoi, the national song and "Aloha Oe, till we meet again," no other song is ever sung in Hawaii—it is the great doxology of the islands.

Two native luau were in store for the visitors at Maui. There was a ride up the Iao valley, one of the most beautiful in the world, and half way up in the open forest, was spread a grass in the form of a horseshoe, and upon these the feast was spread while the guests sat upon the grass and dipped poi with their fingers and ate roast pig that was dished up fresh from the underground ovens close by where it had been cooked with red-hot stones wrapped in damp ti leaves. In the center of the horseshoe, speakers fanned on the floor of the capitol, and local Hawaiians spoke to each other, each with his interpreter to make his words known to all.

The other luau at Maui was at the parting. It was given by a local Hawaiian judge and the natives, under an open roofing built for such events. Here the party made its acquaintance with raw fish, cuttlefish, live shrimp, real seaweed, and many other dishes served only at the native feasts. Native girls decorated one and all with the emblematic lei of the island, and maids of honor kept the flies away with royal feather wands. Native women and sedate congressmen sat side by side and dipped their fingers into the same gourds of poi. Every one became young again, and until the speeches began no one would have believed that there was a serious soul in the assemblage.

The time came when some of the party wearied of luau. Climbing the mountain to the crater of Haleakala, a hungry group of congressmen came upon a ranch house where lunch was to be served. No one was enthusiastic until Congressman Norris, who had glanced in through an open window, threw up both his arms and cried wildly: "Thank heavens something to eat at last a real beefsteak. No more luau's for me." There was a wild scramble for seats at the table and ever after, in the congressional party, the native feasts were studied to advantage.

I was one of the advance guard that slept on the mountain's summit at the edge of the crater. It was a wonderful ride up horseback, through a stratum of clouds, then above the great field of rolling waves that stretched out as far as the eye could reach, great rolling billows of snowy white that made one and all feel that he was perched upon the north pole with an interminable field of snow and ice on every hand. Then the sunset and the sea of white turned to crimson and gold. Some of the congressmen took out their notebooks to jot down impressions, but

MRS. KINNEY HAS NARROW ESCAPE

TWO ACCIDENTS ON KAUALI, ONE OF WHICH WAS NEARLY A SERIOUS AFFAIR.

The Garden Island prints the following: Mrs. W. A. Kinney met with an accident last week that might have resulted very seriously, but fortunately was limited to a severe sprain and a number of bruises.

The Kinneys had been spending the day with Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gay and had been taken home by Mrs. Gay in her automobile, that is to say, as far as the road leading down to the Lawai beach house. Here they employed a Japanese hack driven to bring them home. The road winds along the side hill and at some places has rather steep brinks dropping off to the bottom of the gulch.

At one of these inconvenient places the careless driver got his carriage too far on the outer edge of the road, as all of a sudden it took a tumble down of twenty-foot embankment. Mr. Kinney saved himself by jumping as soon as he felt the carriage careening but Mrs. Kinney not realizing the danger remained in the carriage and was hurled along with a shower of each and stones. SPORTS BASEBALL GAMES OF ALL SORTS

Yesterday afternoon at Aala Park the first two games in the new Kalaianole Baseball League were played and the Kaiaias and the Kamanuwaia were the victors. "Jack" Atkinson with a double circle of his mighty right sent the first ball over the plate and President Vierra caught it fair on the end of his bat and with a powerful swing sent the ball over short for the first hit in the new league. The team was made up of the officers of the new league and the first baseman was about half the size of the glove which he wore. Bandmaster Berger kept the crowd amused with his lively tunes and the games throughout were fast and well played. The following is the line-up of the teams:

The base ball game between the Diamond Heads and the Kams on Saturday was one of the poorest specimens of base ball that has been seen for many a day. The Diamond Heads had a number of has been on their teams, but the team work of the regular team was very poor. W. Chillingworth, Darcy and Jonah were absent and their places were filled by Crook, Clark and Henry Williams. The Kams played a fair game throughout, but nothing like the game they ought to play. The Diamond Heads seemed to play without any life, and any attempt in their part to pick up was fruitless. In the ninth Davis made a good hit over second, and Kamalopili's error brought Davis and two other men in. Taking it all in all the Kams played fair and fast ball, the hitting of the Kams being very good. The following is the line up and score: Reuter pitched a very good game.

The baseball game between the teams...

tatorse were surprised at the action of the umpire but he was right according to rules, although they thought that he was countenancing Hampton's action. Gleason acted with the best of judgment and his action was very sportsmanlike throughout. The rest of the Punahou team and their supporters acted with a great deal of self control. After the inning was over the Punahou team came in from the field and for a minute it looked that there would be trouble between the two teams, but better and cooler judgment prevailed. Chief of Detectives who was sitting in the bleachers asked Hampton if he had thrown the ball intentionally, to which Hampton replied "What if I did? I have the right to throw the ball any where on the field I wish to." There would have been more talk and possibly action but that better council prevailed. The request of Frank Thompson, Dr. Monsarrat and others who were connected with the league had the crowd that had gathered about the scorers table sent back to their seats, and during the rest of the game very little talking was directed to the players out of good taste. It was thought that Hampton's anger was directed to Jimmy Thompson who was coaching from his position behind the benches, but that is not known as a fact. Hampton has always been one of the cleanest and best players in the league and his outburst of passion is all the more to be regretted. The following was the line up of the Saints and Puns:

AUTOMOBILE RACE TOO SLOW

ENDURANCE RUN YESTERDAY WAS SLOW, BUT SEVERE TEST FOR MANY.

The automobile endurance run for the trophy given by the von Hamm Young Cup was run yesterday and with the exception of an unfortunate accident to Captain Barneson's car, was a great success. The day was all that could be desired.

The race started at eight o'clock sharp at the Capitol buildings and before eight thirty all the cars were off on the trip around. With the exception of one or two places on the windward side of the island the roads were in fairly good condition. The time allowed by the committee between controls was entirely too slow. A number of cars had to go at the very slow speed to keep from being penalized.

Henriques in his Winton had to make eight miles in 53 minutes and before Kahuku was reached had to circle his car two or three times to avoid getting there too soon. His car ran into Haleiwa two minutes past the time allowed thus making a perfect score to that point. On the way back every thing went well until Wahiawa was reached when his front right tire went. A stop was made there for a change and only twelve minutes was consumed in putting a new tire on.

Jordan in his Maxwell finished with a perfect score. The last half of the trip was anxious on a very bad tire, showing how anxious he was to finish with

The committee stated that in the next run the time was to be cut down very much. The trip was a good endurance run with the exception of the slow time between controls.

The second race will be run in a few weeks, and it is hoped that more cars will be entered, and that the drivers will be allowed to make faster time, so that the test will be more severe.

The results were as follows: J. D. Kennedy, Winton, disqualified. Bruce Kennedy, Ford, disqualified. Fred Damon, Ford, disqualified. E. Henriques, Winton, penalized. Captain Barneson, Peerless, accident. S. R. Jordan, Maxwell, perfect score. James Quinn, Buick, perfect score unless penalized for stopping at the time of the Barneson accident.

JOHN D. TELLS HOW TO GET RICH

The American Sphinx, presumably the richest man on earth, "honorary" head of the Standard Oil Company, which has just been fined nearly $300,000 for violations of the law, has taken occasion to unburden himself of a much-sought secret and has told a group of reporters how they can acquire millions. The recipe is most simple; John D. Rockefeller says so. Merely: "Be conscientious and do right."

As may be seen from a glance at the accompanying portrait, made in Chicago while the oil dealer was attending court before Judge Landis, the long upper lip bit off of the words of advice he was giving to the newspaper men, while his right hand tenderly jingled the coins in his pocket. This is the best photographic portrait study of Mr. Rockefeller ever made and shows his facial and physical characteristics to an extraordinary degree.

WANT DONATIONS FOR HAWAII YACHT

COMMITTEE ASSURED OF FUNDS BUT WANTS CITIZENS GENERALLY TO TAKE PART.

The chance of the new yacht being built to represent Hawaii in the coming ocean race next year seems to be very good. McInerney, one of the committee of the Club, when asked about the new defender, stated that it would be built, and that the subscription list was now open and any one who wishes to give something can do so at once. The plans that have been chosen by the Committee were drawn by the expert designer, Crowninshield of Boston, who has designed many of the yachts of note in the last decade. It is modeled after the famous fishing schooner Tartar of Boston and should prove to be a very fast and seaworthy craft.

The yacht does not belong to any one person, says the Committee, and the entire community has just as much right to say what they want as the Committee. This new defender is to be Hawaiian all the way through, and is to be given a distinctly Hawaiian name.

Any one who wishes to have the honor of naming the yacht can do so by paying the sum of $500 which will be put in the treasury to go towards building the new racer. Any one who wishes to give any part of the rigging of the new yacht can do so.

Crowninshield has taken into consideration the weakness of the other coast yachts and has strengthened the weak points of the Tartar and the new yacht that will represent Hawaii will be all that the designer can do and the only thing that will be wanted is pretty strong winds, and the race will be Hawaii's, so one of the most enthusiastic yachtsmen stated.

MARRIAGE MADE IN COURT NOT HEAVEN

Deputy United States Marshal Winter on Saturday afternoon arrested Alexander Garner and Mary Garner, on charge of living together in unlawful co-habitation contrary to the Edmunds Act. Both of the parties are negroes, and had been living together in Kakaako district. Garner was locked up and the woman, whose other name was not known, was cited to appear this morning. In the marshal's office this morning, on their expressing a willingness to get married, the charges against them were dropped. Garner was thereupon allowed to go out to secure up a dollar with which to buy a marriage license, and the marriage was afterwards performed under official supervision.

AUTO MEN TELL OF THE ACCIDENT

NARROW ESCAPE YESTERDAY FROM A VERY SERIOUS COLLISION AT MOANALUA.

That Captain John Barneson, of the San Francisco firm of Barneson-Hibbard, and the three other occupants of his "60" Peerless machine were not killed yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock at Moanalua, on the return to town from Haleiwa, appears almost miraculous. In attempting to pass "Jim" Quinn's Buick machine the Barneson car just struck it and then hit the fence and turned over four or five times before it landed in the stream, thirty-five feet below.

Captain Barneson sustained a broken rib and sprained ankle while the others escaped with nothing more than a severe shaking. Those in the car besides Captain Barneson were his son, Harold, Mr. Brady and David Kamaooha, a Hawaiian employed in von Hamm-Young's garage.

The Barneson car was very badly damaged, the front seat being carried away, one wheel gone, the back seat but double, the steering gear twisted and the engine severely strained.

Kamaooha, who was in the front seat with Captain Barneson, says the machine was going at a good rate. It was about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The Quinn car was ahead and one of the occupants was very much under the influence of liquor and was continually beckoning to the Barneson car to come ahead and pass the Quinn car, at the same time, it appeared, directing Quinn to turn first to the right and then to the left. Kamaooha believes that this passenger, whose name he gives as Hamilton, from Seattle, confused the driver. On the other hand Quinn had the right of way and declares that Barneson had not sounded his siren or his horn.

The Quinn machine had been ahead of the Barneson Peerless from the time of the collision. The photographer, who was called upon to make some photographs of the deceased, and who, among other creditors now wants his pay from the estate of the dead man. This consisted of cash to the amount of about $360.

He planned it all out; his wife was to have all his property until his children became of age; then it was to be divided equitably among them all, but instead of putting his last will on paper, he put it off, got killed, and the lawyers got the estate. If he had gone to the Henry Waterhouse Trust Company, Ltd., he could have had his will drawn without cost, his affairs would have been taken over by them, and his wife and little ones would have been protected in their rights.
