RECEIVER NOW WANTED IN THE HIND-LOW SUIT

HIND SAYS RELATIONS ARE STRAINED, AND ASKS THE COURT TO PLACE A MAN IN CHARGE OF THE BUSINESS—ACCORDING TO THE PETITIONER, LOW CLAIMS EVERY THING IN SIGHT—CONTEST LIKELY TO BE LONG ONE.

The partnership contest of Hind against Low was revived this morning by the filing of a motion by Hind for a supplementary decree, placing in the hands of a receiver who shall be instructed to close up all the business of the concern. Hind says in his affidavit in support of the motion that he and Low are not on good terms any more and cannot work together, and that Low is doing all in his power to prevent the dissolution ordered by the court. The affidavit says:

"Petitioner alleges that the relations between plaintiff and defendant are very much strained; that defendant is bitterly opposed to a dissolution of the co-partnership and is bitterly opposed to a sale of the partnership property; that plaintiff and defendant differ as to the method of winding up said partnership property, and also as to what constitutes partnership property. Plaintiff specifically alleges on information and belief that defendant claims the homestead purchased in his name by the co-partnership existing between plaintiff and defendant and which has been used as partnership property; and further that plaintiff claims that certain shares in the Metropolitan Meat Co. referred to in the pleadings, is the property of said co-partnership, and that the defendant should account for the same. "Plaintiff further alleges that he is now excluded and for several years past has been excluded from participation in the partnership affairs and from control and direction of the same; that such exclusion from participation in partnership matters is still maintained by defendant; that plaintiff differs from defendant in the management of the partnership affairs, and that it would be injurious to Hind to have Low remain in charge, "for that plaintiff and defendant have lost confidence in each other and for that defendant is at this time resisting every necessary and proper step to close up the affairs of the co-partnership."

The court recently made an order as prayed for by Hind, ordering the co-partnership dissolved, and the new order is asked for the purpose of carrying out the old one. The partners own valuable property here and on Hawaii. The case is still being fought, and the contest is likely to be a long one. The report of J. F. Brown, as commissioner in the partition suit of William W. Hall vs. George R. Carter, guardian of Annie Hall, minor, was filed this morning. It shows that the real estate is valued at $92,242, and Brown recommends that it be divided. Hall is the youth who was placed under a spendthrift trust by Gear and made vigorous efforts to get freedom from Humphreys.

TO OUST BRIGHAM IS THEIR DESIRE

"Whose picture is that?" "That's Father Damien—and a greater rascal never lived!" The above conversation between Professor William T. Brigham, director of the Bernice P. Bishop Museum, and a visitor from a recent steamer, has been made the basis of a request by local Catholics for the removal of Professor Brigham. The remark objected to is said to have been made, together with a number of other scandalous remarks about the dead father and others at the leper settlement, to a party of tourists, among whom were several Catholics, who at once carried the professor's sayings to the local mission. Professor Brigham's statements revive the old bitter controversy in which Robert Louis Stevenson came so vigorously to the defense of the father whose remains lie beneath a monument at Kalaheo. Tourists whose indignation was aroused by the remarks of Brigham were members of a party of nine, who went through the museum last week. Professor Brigham assisted them in examining the various relics and when they came to a portrait of Father Damien the inquiry was made by one of them as to whose portrait it was. There happened to be four Catholics in the party, and Brigham's comment, "a greater rascal never lived!" resulted in questions and discussion. In response to further queries Professor Brigham is said to have most scandalously attacked the memory of the late priest. The sisters at the settlement were also slandered, according to those who bring the charges against the museum director, and as soon as they left the museum the Catholics in the party paid a visit to the Catholic mission, to hear what the fathers had to say regarding such statements from Brigham, attacking both the dead and the living.

HAVE SAVED SCHOONER ADA

LITTLE VESSEL REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN FLOATED AT KAHANA YESTERDAY.

The little island schooner Ada which was piled onto the beach at Kahana last week has been successfully floated. Alec Lyle of the marine railway is the man who attended to this work. The vessel was gotten off the beach yesterday and according to reports, was started for Honolulu. When the vessel parted her lines and was swept onto the beach at Kahana, those aboard kept her nose headed on so that she did not drift over to either side of the bay and strike against the rocks. A line was also kept astern and this morning kept the vessel from broaching to. The sea was very rough at the time of the wreck and had on to the beach the masts would soon have been pounded to pieces. It was at first reported that the keel had been broken. Evidently the vessel was not so seriously damaged as had been originally reported as she was hoisted and gotten under way for Honolulu. No attempt would have been made by Mr. Lyle to sail her north from the northern side of the island to Honolulu had the vessel been damaged to such an extent as to make her unsafe or to render the work of repairing her impracticable. When the vessel arrives in Honolulu she will probably be put on the marine railway and there repaired and then be put back into commission. The result was a meeting at which it was decided to ask the trustees of the Bishop Museum to remove Brigham as unfit for his position. The Catholics bitterly resent the charges and much indignation was expressed. A letter was sent yesterday to the trustees, setting forth the charges against Brigham, and offering to produce witnesses who would testify that he had made the statements set forth.

ALAMEDA WILL BE LATE. The S. S. Alameda will be a day late in arriving at Honolulu from San Francisco. She sailed a day late from the Coast and will not reach here until Saturday.

IDAHO TO PAY SUGAR BOUNTY

Associated Press Cable to the Star. BOISE CITY, Idaho, February 10.—Representative Dell has introduced a bill in the State legislature providing that the state of Idaho shall pay a bounty of one cent a pound on beet sugar introduced in the state. The measure has been vigorously agitated for some time, and there is much opposition to it. The opponents of Dell's bill declare that the beet sugar industry in Idaho is already so prosperous that it is not in need of a bounty. It is said that at least a million dollars will be invested in the business here at once, if the bounty of one cent is granted.

IS A VOLUNTARY PRISONER. SALT LAKE, Jan. 25.—Freedom has no charms for Frederick C. Sims, who has just completed a twenty-year term in the Salt Lake penitentiary, reduced by good behavior to eleven years. Rather than go out into the world again, his own master, with its stringent rules and discipline. He made an appeal to the warden and to the Governor that he be permitted to remain. The request has been granted, and Sims will continue to look after the chickens and ducks that roam around a portion of the prison reservation. A free man, with money in the bank, Sims never leaves the inclosure, wears the garb of a convict and conforms strictly to the rigid rules and regulations of the institution.

DISCOVERED SOME THING NEW. BERLIN, January 28.—Professor Ferdinand Braun of Strasburg University, whose application of LeViden jars in propagating electric waves is said to have enabled Marconi to telegraph without wires across the Atlantic, announced yesterday that he had discovered a method of producing electric energy of unlimited volume and projecting it into space in the form of electric waves, to any desired distance. The new method secures greater accuracy of transmission through a more perfect attunement of the transmitting and receiving instruments. He thinks he has reached a method of transmitting exclusively to one point of the compass, thus avoiding interference by other waves.

LONDON, February 10.—A St. Petersburg dispatch says that all the officers of the Russian army reserves have received orders to be in readiness to rejoin their regiments at once. It is felt here that the peace of Europe is seriously menaced by the Macedonian affair, and every move is closely watched. The news received from Constantinople is of a most disquieting nature, and the Turkish Government is believed to be preparing actively for military operations.

GRAND JURY TO SIFT THE DOLE DIVORCE CASE

AN ALLEGED VIOLATION OF THE STATUTE TO BE INVESTIGATED—IT IS CLAIMED THAT COLLUSION CAN BE SHOWN—AT ANY RATE, THE SECRET FILING OF THE DIVORCE PAPERS WILL BE GONE INTO—BOTH PARTIES TO SUIT ARE ABSENT.

The Grand Jury is said to have before it the matter of the action taken in the E. P. Dole divorce case, in which a suit was brought the case heard and a decree entered all in a few days and with the legal papers kept secret until the close of the case. It is stated that the jurors have received a communication inviting them to take up the matter, and that a thorough investigation will be made. The features which the jurors may inquire into are the evidences of collusion in securing the divorce between the parties most interested, and alleged violation of the statute as to service of summons. The communication in question contains references to these matters and gives reasons why it might have been suspected that there was collusion between Mr. and Mrs. Dole, in the form of an agreement to allow the husband to secure a divorce.

The Dole divorce suit was filed on January 29, in the afternoon, and the summons was served on Mrs. Dole that day. On Saturday she signed an answer containing a general denial, and on the same day she also signed a withdrawal of the suit for maintenance, in which she had just won a complete victory in the Supreme court. The same day, and before either the complaint, the answer or the withdrawal had been allowed to become public, she took the China for San Francisco, without having booked in advance. The case was partially heard on this Saturday afternoon at the Hawaiian hotel, by the taking of the deposition of Mrs. Estee, but no one knew of it except the parties concerned. It is claimed that these circumstances show collusion. The Hawaiian statute on the subject says regarding divorces: "If there shall be any reason to suspect collusion, or that important testimony can be procured which has not been procured, it shall be the duty of the court to continue the cause till the next term, and so from term to term, while such reason for suspicion continues, and the Attorney General and parties not of record shall be heard, to establish the fact of collusion or the existence of testimony not produced." The law also says "No consent of parties shall warrant the court in hearing divorce causes, or any part thereof," except during regular sessions of the court.

It is claimed that the circumstances of the Dole case indicate that there was an agreement between the parties, by which Mrs. Dole was to accept a stated sum and withdraw the suit for maintenance, which she had won by an order requiring Dole to pay her $150 a month and her attorneys $250 and was also to abstain from fighting his suit. At the hearing there was practically no defence and no denials were made of the many charges against Mrs. Dole contained in the testimony of E. P. Dole. She was at sea when the testimony was given and Dole is now at sea himself.

THE COLONEL'S COSTLY ERROR

THE GALLANT LEGAL WARRIOR HAD SIGNED A RECEIPT WHICH DENIED FUTURE FEES. Col. Thomas Fitch's application for a fee in the case of J. O. Carter et al vs. Sybil Carter was denied this morning by Judge Gear. Fitch asked for a fee of $200, but when the petition was heard it developed that on receiving $200 some time ago he had signed a receipt "for all services rendered and to be rendered." The colonel was surprised to hear that this was the receipt he had signed, and thought he had another fee coming for his work on appeal. Another mistrial was scored in the First Circuit Court this morning, when the jury in the case of Charles Kammer, charged with assault and battery, reported to the court that they could not reach a verdict. Kammer was charged with assaulting old Adolph Kunst, otherwise known as Oom Paul Strauss prosecuted and S. F. Chillingworth defended. The jurors stood eight-four for acquittal, and when they told the judge that there was no chance of an agreement, the court ordered a mistrial, and proceeded with another case. Jane Doe Chilton, charged as an accessory in the matter of the abduction of Margaret Place, for which young Chilton was indicted, appeared in court for indictment. The bond was fixed at $500 and she was ordered to plead tomorrow. W. T. Rawlins defends her. The court appointed W. L. Whitney to defend Ignacio Fraga, charged with larceny. C. L. Clemons was named to defend H. Blanche from a similar charge. Frank Andrade appeared for Antonio Fernandez, also charged with larceny. In the case of Frank Caldera, Crook was appointed. J. Costa, charged with violation of a Board of Health regulation, failed to appear and his bond was ordered forfeited. A bench warrant was issued for Hatayashi, charged with selling liquor without a license. The trial of Kuhia, charged with fishing with giant powder, was begun and a jury was impaneled in the case.

TO STOP THE ABUSE

The editorial in last evening's Star on the abuse of overloading sailing vessels and the necessity of immediate reform in that line has met with universal approval among local seafaring people. That the abuse of overloading vessels is too common an occurrence among American shipping interests was declared by all to be too apparent. The necessity of some action on the subject by Congress meets with the hearty endorsement of seafaring men. In a communication to the Star a well known captain expresses his approval of the Star's sentiments in the following words:

In reference to your editorial of the 9th inst. on the overloading of vessels, I wish to congratulate you on the taking up of a matter that has been criminally neglected by the American people; the jeopardizing of the lives of "the men who go down to the sea" in ships, not alone in the matter of overloading but in the equipment necessary for the saving of the crew and passengers in case of the vessel foundering or taking fire or in any other way becoming untenable.

Some 25 years ago the same state of affairs existed in Great Britain. There was a man of the name of Samuel Pilsbry (a shipowner himself) member of Parliament for the City of Bristol. He had seen owners deliberately overloading vessels which were heavily insured with the hope that they would never arrive at their port of destination. He had seen ships leave with boats that would sink as soon as they were put into the water. So he said to himself "this is murder pure and simple, and it has got to stop and I am going to stop it." He spent thousands of dollars in collecting accurate information and in framing his bill.

"When it was presented in the House of Commons there was a roar. Many of the members who were shipowners could not find words strong enough with which to upbraid him and on his appearance as candidate to represent as member the greatest shipping port in Great Britain—Liverpool, he was pelted with rotten eggs. But he lived through it and lived to see the day when his loading mark being cut into her side, where any one could see it, and every boat and other life saving apparatus fit for immediate use. The other maritime nations of Europe soon followed suit. But the powers that be failed and failed to pass the shipping subsidy bill through our Congress last session have up to now, blocked the passage of such laws in the United States.

"The other day I had business on board a certain American vessel and in talking with the captain this same question came up. Being a sort of inquisitive case, I said 'Let us go and look at your boats.' 'All right' he said. Hanging over the stern was a beautiful boat. 'How many men would she carry?' I asked. 'Well, two in smooth water,' he replied. The other boat was on skids forward. When we stood under her, could see daylight all through her. 'For goodness sake what do you carry this thing for?' I exclaimed. 'Well see's handy, we hang up cabbage and pumpkins under her coming down and bananas and pineapples going up. 'Suppose you could patch her up, have you got a mast and sail and oars etc. for her?' 'Nary mast, sail nor anything else, but look here, it's just like this—if I refuse to take this ship out as she stands there are fifty masters in San Francisco ready to take her—and I have wife and family and I risk my life every day at sea to get them bread and butter.'

"Of course these abuses will be righted in time. The Hawaiian Islands are a small part of the United States but the small end of the wedge is frequently valuable. Public opinion will do the rest as it did in the case of Samuel P. Pilsbry. The condition has only to be ventilated. When the American people realize the enormity of the injustice that is being done a lot of rascally shipowners will not be allowed to stand in the way of just legislation. I am pleased and proud to see the Hawaiian Star taking up this very important matter. Action should not be delayed any longer where the lives of seafaring men are concerned."

Important Reasons

Why Herring-Hall-Marvin Safe Co.'s Safes and Locks are the Best?

The concrete filling makes these safes absolutely Fire-Proof and positively Damp-Proof. The solid angle corners add greatly to their security in time of fire, and form the only solid corners made. The patent Bolt Work is superior to any in use and does not require the constant oiling, cleaning, and repairs that is acknowledged in other makes of safes. That although 600,000 of these safes are now in use and many thousands have been tested by some of the most disastrous conflagrations in the United States, THERE IS NOT A SINGLE INSTANCE ON RECORD WHEREIN ONE OF THEM EVER FAILED TO PRESERVE ITS CONTENTS PERFECTLY. They make safes for county treasurers, county recorders, county clerks, jewelers, Hotels, residences, churches and corporations. We have a large assortment of safes on hand and will be pleased to show same.

NEW YORK, January 23.—The comparatively small naval tug Fortune, a sister craft of the tug Leyden that was wrecked on Wednesday off Block Island, is now on her way around Cape Horn from Culebra, West Indies to Bremerton Navy Yard, State of Washington, a distance of more than 14,000 miles. Only once before has a small tugboat attempted the feat of rounding the Horn. The Fortune's gross tonnage amounts to only 378. From stem to stern she measures but 137 feet with a beam of 26 feet. She has, however, strong engines with an indicated horse power of 340. She is 45 years old.

HOW TO STOP A COUGH.

A simple but effective remedy is the following: Breathing through the nostrils, inhale a full breath as slowly as is possible without causing fatigue. Exhale the breath in the same manner and repeat the operation ten times. This will stop the coughing for about a quarter of an hour. Take a dose of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy during this lull and the medicine will have a better opportunity to act. It will speedily effect a complete cure. It always cures and cures quickly. OUR SUPREME COURT.

The decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit in the Hawaiian Income Tax case might serve to illustrate some objections to another of the recommendations of the Mitchell commission. This relates to appeals from the Supreme Court of Hawaii to the Supreme Court of the United States, the commission having favored appeals in all cases where as much as $5,000 is involved.

If appeals from the decisions of courts were never taken except on reasonable grounds and with at least a fair chance of success, the theory of having the highest court in the nation decide every case would be right. But it is well known that appeals are very often for no other purpose than to force compromise. A litigant who sees his enjoyment of the fruits of victory in a lower court postponed for months, perhaps years, is often willing to give away something for a speedy settlement, even though quite confident that he need not do so if he waits for courts to act.

The most important case appealed from Hawaii to the United States Supreme Court is the Osaki Mankichi case. Everyone is familiar with its tortuous course through the courts to a hearing at Washington. Delayed by other cases having the right of way, by the deaths of Supreme justices and by waits for the sickness of other so that a full bench might hear it, the case is at last about to be argued. It will be decided no one knows when. Such a delay in a $5,000 suit would be an absolute denial of justice. A rich litigant to whom the ready money was of no consequence might simply force a poorer opponent to forego his rights, by confronting him with a delay of a couple of years.

In the Income Tax case, a number of merchants have probably lost the added penalty of ten per cent of their income tax, for delinquency, simply because an appeal had to go to the Mainland from Judge Estee. In federal cases this cannot be remedied. But in ordinary Territorial cases Congress provided a system for us that left no chance for such miscarriage of justice. That justice is done twice when it is done quickly might be said, just as it is said that he gives twice who gives quickly. The slowness of the law that is unavoidable often prevents justice. The Mitchell commission seems to want to make matters worse.

Here again, as in the case of the public lands and the leper settlement, the commission seems dissatisfied with our present system. So are many people here. But that is no reason for making the matter worse. We can devise a new means of filling vacancies on the bench in some more satisfactory way than by calling lawyers to sit, or we might have the court enlarged so that it could sit without a judge who happened to be disqualified. But if it is to be possible to take every case to Washington, many gross injustices will result.

The Supreme Court whose decisions are final is our one feature of Statehood. It corresponds to the Supreme Court of a State, as distinguished from that of a Territory. The proposed change is therefore a backward step towards the status of an ordinary territory, and away from statehood.

A MEDAL FOR GOOD-NATURE.

A medal for pure and unmitigated good-nature was awarded, not many days ago, to a youth in a public school. He had not made a noteworthy record for progress in learning; he had not even reached a point beyond the average among his fellows; he had simply eclipsed them all in amiability of the kind that accepted rewards or punishments with urbane and equal philosophy. And the fact that a medal was deemed not too honorable for him under the circumstances is significant evidence of the high esteem in which good-nature is held. How it does oil the creaking wheels of life to be sure! How smooth it makes the path! What a comfortable and comforting companion a truly amiable person is, if he is only a dog! When everything and everybody else have ruffled one the wrong way, and made every individual set of injured feelings one possesses stand up like quills upon the fretful porcupine, how soothing to step into the atmosphere of the amiable person! Serenity enters, peace sets in, you laugh, he laughs, the world turns rose colored again. Amiability accomplishes what no sermon could. It is therefore, with satisfaction that we note the presentation of a medal to the good-natured boy.—Harper's Magazine.

CENSORSHIP OF THE PRESS.

If it is true, as so many affirm, that happiness is simply a matter of comparison, then the makers of American newspapers would seem to have cause to be joyous indeed, says the Augusta (Ga.) Herald, when they read of the difficulties encountered by publishers and editors in Russia, where the newspaper man stands literally between the devil and the deep blue sea. A writer in the World's Work commenting on Russian newspapers says: "According to the experience of the last twenty years in Russian journalism, if a paper succeeds it will be suppressed; if it is not suppressed it must forego success. Even the most liberal sheets must at times spread the cloak of reaction over their columns in order to save themselves from annihilation."

"The censored papers have neither influence nor a large number of readers. Financially they lead a very precarious existence and are never heard of outside their immediate neighborhood." In commenting on the foregoing the Editor & Publisher, a bright class paper says: "It seems to be very difficult for some persons to recognize legitimate news; and, when such news touches them even remotely, they resent it bitterly, although they may be the first to rejoice in such news of others. It is a notable fact that the very critics who affirm that such and such items should not appear in a newspaper are the original sources of false stories connected with the same events that would not be repeated in detail by any respectable newspaper. We hold that a newspaper should make use of great delicacy in handling certain news items, but we have still less patience with those who repeat questionable stories with absolutely no reservation of facts or embellishments, and then condemn the newspaper that refers cautiously to the more obvious circumstances connected with the disagreeable episode."

"It is a recognized fact that when some business disaster engenders suspicion that everything has not been fair and square, that the surmises and the suggestions inaugurating the unearthing of the scandal never begin with the newspaper, but with the men and women who declare their desire to see established a censorship of newspapers even while they eagerly buy the journal containing most sensational developments in connection with the matter in which they are secretly interested."

"A censorship is needed, most imperatively needed, but it is a censorship of the tongue, not of the press. Turkey and Bulgaria may have a mix-up. The unspcakable Turk may be wiped off the map."

Local people who were hypnotized by Tom Pritch will now have a chance to pay their income taxes.

The suggestion that every voter must produce a tax receipt to complete his identification seems to meet with favor, particularly after reading the delinquent list of 1902.

Secretary Cooper declares that relic hunters are mean enough to steal the hands from the clock now in the Executive Building. After the various raids on the public offices in the same building, who can say that "relic hunters" are the guilty ones? George Davis, as a "next" friend, decides to boost the pay of circuit judges. In connection with the question of judicial salaries it has been well said that for competent men the present pay is inadequate, but for incompetent men the salary allowed by law is more than enough. But Hawaii has several judges who are entitled to good salaries, the most prominent among them being Judges De Bolt and Robinson.

The Sultan of Bacolod is warlike again, and calls us "American hogs." But the Sultan should remember Spain's adventure with the "Yankee pigs."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

The Sultan of Moro, in mighty wrath, calls the Americans hogs. When he becomes a little more Americanized himself doubtless he will be able to call us something worse than that.—Grand Rapids Herald.

The Sultan of Bacolod, it seems, has been calling our soldiers pigs again. The Sultan of Bacolod will find himself rooted out of his hole pretty soon if he keeps up that sort of thing.—Syracuse Herald.

The benighted Sultan of Bacolod is obviously ignorant of the fact that nobody but Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan is allowed to assume that haughty and defiant attitude toward the government of the United States.—Detroit Free Press.

The Sultan of Bacolod is too insulting. He not only calls the Americans swine, but denies to them the common feelings of a hog by saying that they eat hogs. As he is a Mohammedan he could be well punished by a long term in the Chicago stock yards.—Terre Haute Express.

Do you not find that at this season the grass grows almost as fast as you can cut it, and that your yard man is complaining of a broken down Lawn Mower that he is obliged to use? Do you realize the time that is saved by using the proper tools? Several years ago we introduced in this market a Lawn Mower called the New Model, and the demand for this article has increased each year.

We would like to explain the mechanism of our special mower demonstrating the simplicity, durability and easy method of sharpening. No Comparison.

Among the countless and admirable works of Mark Twain there is one that will always drive away the frowns of "blues." It is but a sketch but Mark Twain wrote it. That's enough. This sketch carries the title "Mr. Blake's Item." To wit it down Mr. Blake wrote an item of a "Distressing Accident" but he forgot to tell what the accident was. Mr. Blake could never be found and the public still wondered what the "distressing accident" could have been. Far be it from us to place ourselves near the abilities of Mark Twain. Comparisons in this case would truly be odious. Nor shall we follow Mr. Blake and leave no point. If there must be a comparison we desire to ask the reader to compare the DOUGLAS PATENT CLOSET with every other closet. Bath, the plumber will be pleased to hear your verdict. The Douglas is the name.

NORTH POLE IS THEIR GOAL.

PARIS, January 16.—Dr. Jean Charcot has announced the plans for an Arctic expedition under the patronage of the Academy of Science and the Ministry of Public Instruction.

A ship for the voyage is now under construction at Saint Malo. It will be specially equipped to resist ice. The party will leave France May 15 for Spitzbergen, and thence will start for Franz Joseph land. Expedition will be exclusively French. Lieutenant de Gerlach, who commanded the Belgian Antarctic steamer Belgica, will probably be a member of the party, which will also comprise several scientists.

Dr. Charcot says France has hitherto left Arctic exploration to foreigners, and he hopes to recall French attention to the subject.

BEET GROWERS WILL ORGANIZE

PLAN AN ASSOCIATION OF THOSE WHO IRRIGATE—CALL WILL BE ISSUED LATER IN YEAR.

SALT LAKE, January 25.—An organization of beet growers is to be formed this year if present plans are carried to maturity. Representative George Austin of Lehi, who is in charge of the agricultural department of the Utah Sugar Company, is one of the leaders in the movement. He and others interested in beet growing will probably issue a call for a convention of all sugar beet growers in the irrigation, to be held in Salt Lake later in the year. The convention will probably be held shortly after the session of the National Irrigation congress in Ogden beginning September 8.

"The idea is to organize all the beet growers who use irrigation," explained Mr. Austin yesterday. "The object is to study the different problems of beet culture, exchange ideas and take concerted action wherever necessary for the good of the beet growers. It will be a good business proposition for every farmer interested in raising sugar beets, for if he can learn how to get more beets and a higher percentage of sugar, it will come back to him promptly when he sells his crop, more than making up for any expense he might have in attending a convention.

"Utah is the pioneer in raising sugar beets, and I hope that permanent headquarters will be established in Salt Lake. In my opinion it will not be advisable to take in states where irrigation is not used, but practically all the beet growers west of the Missouri river use irrigation and should join the new organization. The time will be ripe to talk the thing up and bring it to a focus when the national irrigation convention is here. We can show the visions a few things that we have done in Utah along these lines, and I believe we can start out the organization with a big membership."

CAUSED SENSATION.

Porto Rican Abuses Court That Jailed Him.

A Porto Rican vagrant caused considerable of a sensation in Judge Wilcox's court yesterday afternoon. Fauto was the name of the prisoner. He was charged with vagrancy. The court sentenced him to serve six months in jail at hard labor. Fauto flew into a rage when sentence was pronounced.
He cursed the court, vented his anger on the judge and asked to be shot. So violent was the youth that he was removed from the court room. He tried to choke himself by using the lining that had been taken from his hat. He was handcuffed and put under restraint.

Santiago and Jacinto Selch Porto Ricans were also given six months at hard labor. Santiago had been posing as a bootblack. A Porto Rican named Antonio is reported to be conducting a fake employment establishment from which his countrymen were purported to be supplied with bootblack outfits.
The court did not think much of this establishment and said so. Selch was charged with trying to extort money from Police Officer Ah Oh. The latter adopted the child of Selch. Selch went to Ah Oh's place recently and demanded the return of the child or else money.
Selch was accused in court of the theft of two watches. It was alleged that he had given the watches to a Porto Rican named Pacheco. The latter was later put under arrest.

WHAT WERE THE PRIZES?

The newspapers every little while speak of "winning out." Here is the Boston Journal with a full-face catchline, reading "Scholars win out!" and underneath, "The scholars would win out." On whose? If they win, what more can there be to the business?
Northampton Gazette.

THEY MUST BE BACK DRIVERS.
Boston seems to be proud of her 12 aldermen who spent $9,185.50 of the city tax-payers' money for carriage hire in seven months. They are being re-elected just as fast as they come up.
Cleveland Plain Dealer.

WOMEN WANTED TO VOTE

The Boston municipal election this year opened with the thermometer at 10 below zero. Many timid citizens stayed at home. So far as can be judged, the woman carried good deal more to voting their full registration than the men; but it will be some time before the exact figures of the women's vote can be ascertained. The Boston papers are lamenting the "apathy" of the male citizens; but it is not suggested that those male citizens who showed public spirit enough to wish to vote ought to have been debarred from doing so because of the apathy of their neighbors. That sort of reasoning is applied to women exclusively.—Woman's Journal.

HEAVY COMPANY'S EXPENSES.

penses a Marion county candidate reports that he paid his wife 50 cents for getting up and making the fine five times. Thing must be coming to a terrible pass in Kansas. We want to

A VILLAGE TO MOVE.

The village of Benton, Neb., has decided to move. This does not mean the inhabitants alone. The buildings, houses and stores, besides all the personal effects, will float down the Platte river for three miles. Benton was built on its present site many years ago with the expectation that when a railroad came that way it would pass through the town. Finally, when a railroad did come it was found impracticable to go nearer than three miles, and as a compensation the officials of the Union Pacific road offered inducements to the people of Benton to move.
This was accepted.

FARMS IN THE NORTH.

A large tract of the Peace and Atha-bazas valleys is good farming land, and alluvial lands, even to the delta of the Mackenzie, are fertile in the winter sunshine. Agriculture, stock-raising and other industries might be followed, but there are so many localities yet unoccupied that it will be a long time before they will be thickly peopled. In climate and capabilities much of this region might be compared to Finland.

HALF A MILLION ARE STARVING

FINNS DIE OF HUNGER AND IM-MEDIATE HELP IS NEEDED—GRAPHIC PICTURE OF FAMINE.

A recent cable message to the Star called attention to the condition of Finland and that the inhabitants would appeal to the United States for aid.
The following was recently published in Chicago by the Scandinavian, the Norwegian newspaper. The picture drawn is graphic and shows that the famine extends not only over large portions of Sweden, but over Finland as well.

The statement, under the title "Save the Perishing People of Finland," and a letter on which the editorial is based are as follows:

"Last year the crops of Finland were a total failure and starvation has now begun its full harvest among the stricken people.
"The famine in Finland is the most severe in a century. A late spring, followed by unprecedented rains and early frosts, destroyed the crops almost completely. Grains, peas, beans, potatoes and other vegetables rotted in the ground. The people of many of the northern provinces were left entirely destitute to face the approaching winter. Bread of unripe grain, husks, straw and bark was their only means of sustaining life. No person can describe their suffering. In the great Finnish famine of 1867 100,000 people died from starvation. According to reports from reliable sources 400,000 people, or one-sixth of the population of Finland, will die from hunger this winter unless relief is extended to them.

"Russia has her own starving millions to take care of and can do little for Finland. But we are assured that the Finnish department of the imperial government accepts gratefully America's aid. The appeal to America will not be in vain. There is no people today in the world who can supply the succor of the Christian world than the destitute people of Finland. Their virtues, fortitude and heroism gleam through the sad gloom of Finnish history as one of the precious heirlooms of all mankind. But never before have they faced a crisis like the one we present. The letter from a Finnish minister printed recently reveals the sad fate of the most unhappy of all its horrors. Bereft of the staff of life and denied the right of free speech they are doomed to suffer and die in silence.

"But their stifled cry of distress has reached the American people and touched the American heart. Let the work of Finnish relief be properly and promptly organized, and money and food will pour forth from our cities, workshops and farms. Let the bankers, business men and railroad men of Chicago take the matter in hand, and the people of the west and northwest will respond with generous contributions. Let the railroads furnish cars and the farmers will load them with grain from their bounteous crops; the mills of Minneapolis, Duluth and St. Louis will supply flour; and the large packing houses of Chicago, Omaha and Kansas City will contribute provisions in abundance.

"Let the precious gifts be hurried to the seaboard and across the sea to relieve the perishing people. America has the power to supply the needs of the hunger-stricken people of the world.
Let her do the same for the stricken people of Finland. And let action be taken at once for the long-suffering, heroic Finlanders are perishing; the very heart of the Finnish nation is dying from hunger and cold in the grasp of a fierce winter."

SUGAR CONSUMPTION.

According to statistics prepared by White & Gray, the total consumption of sugar in the United States in the year 1902 was 2,566,108 tons, against 2, 373,316 tons in the preceding year, or an increase of 192,792 tons. Of this total the amount imported from foreign countries was 2,092,657 tons, against 1, 927,339 tons in 1901, an increase of 165, 318 tons. The total amount of domestic sugar consumed was 473,451 tons, against 439,951 tons in the year before, an increase of 33,500 tons. Of this amount the domestic beet sugar furnished 148,528 tons, against 124,859 tons in 1901, an increase of 23,669 tons. The total domestic cane consumption was 324,923 tons, against 315,092 tons in 1901, an increase of 9,831 tons. Of the domestic cane sugar Louisiana produced 280,000 tons and Texas 16,000 tons, against 285,000 tons and 7,150 tons respectively in 1901. The consumption of sugar per capita was 72.8 pounds in 1902, against 69.7 pounds last year. The total consumption of sugar in the United States in 1902 increased 8.16 per cent, and the average increase for twenty-one years has been 4.77 per cent.

A FOOLISH OLD IDEA.

It was once thought that a medicine was all the more beneficial for having a nasty taste and smell. We now know that such an idea is perfect nonsense.
There is no more reason why medicine should offend the senses than why food should do so.
Therefore, one of the greatest chemical victories of the past few years is what we may call the redemption of cod liver oil.
Everybody knows what a vile taste and smell this drug has in its natural state. No wonder most people declare they would rather suffer from disease than take cod liver oil, and the emulsions are quite as foul and abominable as the plain oil, no matter what may be alleged to the contrary. Now it is one of nature's laws that a medicine which dis-tastes the nose and the palate, and also sickens the stomach, can have no good effect as a medicine, because the system cries out to be delivered from it. In WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION the desired miracle is wrought, and we have the valuable part of the oil, without the other. This effective modern remedy is palatable as honey and contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry.
The palate accepts it as it does sugar, confectionery or cream.
Taken before meals it goes to the very secret stronghold of digestive disorders; prevents and cures Nervous Dyspepsia, Scrofula, Throat and Lung Troubles and all diseases due to impurity of the blood. Dr. G. C. Shannon, of Canada, says: "I shall continue its use with, I am sure, great advantage to my patients and satisfaction to myself." Has all the virtues of cod liver oil; none of its faults. Effective from the first dose. Sold by all chemists.

DRUID ALTAR EXCAVATED.

Mr. Reshard, the well-known Swiss archaeologist, who has been carrying on excavations in the village of Choez, canton of Valais, has discovered a beautiful Druidical altar entirely made of marble, says the Baltimore American. The altar, facing toward the east, is at the extremity of a large underground amphitheater where the crowd collected to view the human sacrifices. In the center is situated a huge stone statue of the god Thor, which is reached by a stone staircase.
It was from the foot of this statue that the priest dealt out justice and taught the people. On each side of the god Thor there are four other statues in stone representing minor divinities.
The amphitheater is surrounded by chambers cut into the solid rocks, where the prisoners of war were confined prior to the sacrifice. Facing the stone slab is an immense fireplace, having a closing door, and able to contain ten persons at a time. It was here that the priests burned their victims.

THE QUESTION AMONG MANY

People who save is whether the financial institution in which they deposit is safe or not. For information of many who probably do not know, we submit an extract from the by-laws, charter, etc., of the Phoenix Savings.

"One hundred thousand dollars of the Capital Stock of the Association is set aside as reserve fund stock, which is a nonwithdrawing permanent capital and guarantees to the holders of all other classes of stock that the Association will comply with the contracts made between itself and shareholders.

All real estate acquired by the Association under foreclosure will be assumed by the Reserve fund stock, and any loss occasioned by such foreclosure will be charged to said stock, thus protecting shareholders of other classes from possible loss."

We also submit a clause which is in every certificate and bond that we issue as follows, "In addition to the other assets the entire reserve fund capital stock guarantees the faithful performance of this contract on the part of the Phoenix Savings Buildings and Loan Association."

We also submit a list of the people who compose the Managers, directors and reserve fund stockholders of the Phoenix Savings Building and Loan Association.

All of this is for your careful consideration whether you are saving money or not. If you are not saving money you should do so.

We accept from $3 per month paid monthly up to $10,000 paid at one time.
Would you not be satisfied to have the men whose names appear below landing your money side by side with their own and the reserve fund in addition guaranteeing you against loss? The reserve fund is worth over $155,000.00 at the present time.

Can't Eat

You certainly don't want to eat if you are not hungry. But you must eat, and you must digest your food, too. If not, you will become weak, pale, thin. Good food, good appetite, good digestion,—these are essential.

Mr. Robert Venus, of Lancaster, Tam-manic, sends us his photograph and says:
"I suffered greatly from loss of appetite, indigestion, pains in the stomach, weakness, and nervousness. Several doctors tried in vain to give me relief. A friend then induced me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for it had done him much good. The first bottle worked wonders for me. Soon my appetite came back, my indigestion was cured, and I was strong and hearty."

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Be sure you get Ayer's.

Keep your bowels in good condition by using

A NATION OF SKATERS.

THE PEOPLE OF HOLLAND REJOICE WHEN COLD WEATHER COMES AND THE RIVERS AND CANALS FREEZE OVER—THE WHOLE POPULA-TION TURNS OUT AND GETS ON ITS SKATES.

Truly, the Hollander is of a rare disposition. Everybody re-joices when the mercury drops down in one night to 20 Fahrenheit and remains there. The newspapers come forward with cheering statements that "the cold will last," and only hope that it may be as consistently cold as it was in the year 1511, when the first thick ice was as early as November and lasted for 14 weeks.
Or they say, "Remember the record of six years later, when it began to freeze the night of November 15 and the period of frost lasted until three weeks after S. Palusdag, which brought it late into February before the thaw set in."

All this is received with rejoicing, and why? The nation has to skate! To see Holland at her best, the traveler should come when the ice is here. Then there is life in the people. The cheerful tone in which one will greet another by saying, "Het heet van nacht gevoren!" (it froze last night) is uniquely amusing.

They will further continue the weather talk with, "The rivers are fast filling with ice. Already the drawbridge at Schoonhoven is out of use; the bridge of boats at Hedel has been taken apart.
At Andel the River Maas is full of ice, and above the bridge by Kampen the River IJsel is frozen over. Even the Zuyder-Zee is frozen 'thick' by Edam and the Gouwzee." All this information and especially this last, which sounds the keynote of pleasure, is a word of command that all boats stop at home or lie for a time wherever Jack Frost has headed them off. It is useless to attempt further navigation.

In Friesland when it begins to freeze solidly the governor of that province, in order to prevent trouble, issues an order that no ice shall be broken up by boatmen, which is a precautionary measure, for otherwise the boatmen and their boats might be broken up.

Two days or so after the hard frost I chanced by the canal which leads into the Haagsche-Bosch (the park). It is a small and not much used canal. Some men were in a boat and were cutting ice for selling. A regiment of boys of various ages stood on the shore. They were there to protect the boys who were taking their turn on this small canal. They pelted the boatmen with any and everything they could lay their hands on, each boy yelling his ideas as to the best means of heading off the encroachment. The policemen—two were there—stood by laughing, their only interference being mild injunctions to the boys not to throw big stones. The men in the boat regarded it also as a huge joke and would call out to the boys on the ice with much good humor: "Keep at it till the sledge-hammer catches you," or "Improve your time, jongers!" Then they would return a bit of ice to the crowd on shore with the remark: "Take that home and skate on it," or "Was that a hard thump you got?" when a bit of ice carried its weight against a boy's leg.

This scene, with the accompaniment of at least 50 small dogs, all barking and all running in and out of the crowd, will give an idea how it is when the ice is here and how young Holland behaves when he thinks his rights are being usurped.

Along the rivers—the lake ponds—in the Bosch, which is a park of The Hague, the scene is very gay this year. More people than usual dress in bright colors, and there are many skating costumes to be seen. These were few and far between in former seasons. Inasmuch as the queen is fond of skating, the young daughters of the court people must also be perfect in the sport.
So one sees a better class on the ice than was the case a dozen years ago. The merry way in which they all go in squads of four, six, eight or ten is very graceful.

They stand one behind the other, and under the left arm of them all a long, gayly-colored painted pole, with a ball at each end, so that the end man cannot slide off. By the support of this stick the skater can lean sideways to an almost distressing angle, to the looker on. The stroke is long, and when they rise to go on the other foot it is a most fascinating and graceful motion.

The children, too, go together in this way. Just now there are many skaters out, for the season being so far settled for skating, prizes are offered by the various clubs. In January, if the ice holds good, home and international skating races will be held.
Also, at some village on the Zuyder-Zee a vast ice palace is to be built, and there small carnivals will be held.

I have spoken of how the people protect the ice against the hammer of the boatman. The following will show how serious a stand is sometimes taken by the tjslefebbers (lovers of ice), as such are termed:—

An Alien an ice plow with a large boat in tow was driven back by a large crowd of inhabitants of Alfen, and the plow was obliged to return to Oudshoorn, while the people pelted the boatmen with all kinds of missiles. The boat lay near by Alfen over Sunday, and a large force of police were sent down to protect it.
The villagers hearing of the action taken, assembled by hundreds along the Rhine bank, and though they did not resort to any violence they held the ground, or rather the ice, and the boat was seen to pull away in the direction of Gowda, a town near The Hague, and thus continue her course over the high waterway to Amsterdam, where she was far too late to meet the steamers, for which she was bound with her cargo.

There are not many towns now in Holland that cannot be reached on skates when the ice is thick. Naturally, as skating is cheap, the people frequently take a day off and skim up the canals for 50 miles to see their friends. Old men and old women go, too. Many a man or woman of 70 gets on his or her skates and sets off with a basket of goodies to take to some old school-mate miles away, whose rheumatic tendencies prevent indulgence in the national sport.

In Dordrecht there lives a delightful old gentleman, whose years are far beyond 70. He is watched over by the most careful of children. I chanced to call one afternoon when the River Maas, which flows around Dort—as it is locally called—was splendidly frozen. There was a great disturbance in this always quiet and well-regulated family. I was uneasy, feeling myself somehow "de tro."

"No, but these young people here think I am not fit for anything more. The Maas has not been frozen like this for nearly five years, and now I mayn't go skating." With that he put on his hat and marched off to the club, walking on all the slippery places he could find.

Another old gentleman of my acquaintance went off to Friesland yesterday to do what is called the 12 towns. These towns are situated along a broad spread of water, with canals leading off. The expert skater does them in 12 hours. It is a picturesque and comfortable skating route. The trip is made by a good class of people who live elsewhere, and good accommodation for meals and beds is readily found.

The lover of the picturesque, who is also a skater, can pass a month of continual delight in Holland in the winter. It is the time to see the best side of the Dutch people, and it seems always to have been so, for in an old volume, "Lettres sur la Hollande," written in 1778 from The Hague, this passage occurs: "And what an excitement goes on during the season of ice. This is the carnival of the Hollander. He then only enjoys life, arranging fetes of all kinds. These are the people's operas, their 'bals masques,' their gambling halls. Then, at last, do they abandon themselves to dissipation."

Another amusing account is given further written by a representative from Morocco, in the days when Holland was a big power, and received ambassadors from far-distant lands. His dusky "excellency" had never been north before, and his impressions of what the Hollander did for his pleasure are so amusing that they are in these days scarcely to be believed. But I quote: "Imagine that in certain times of the year when one here calls winter all the water becomes covered with a crust of ice like that of sugar on a cake. Then there come on it crowds of people, who bind on to each foot a sharp piece of iron, and then go walking. They go so fast that an ostrich would get out of breath trying to keep pace with them. Yes, I have seen them myself start out from the bank, and before you could see them start they seem to have reached the other side. They were the swiftest, and one out of 40 men won the prize by half a minute. It is wonderful, and had I not seen it, I would never have believed it."

THE DAILY REVOLUTION.

Associated Press Cable, Morning Service.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail states that war has been declared between Guatemala and Salvador and Honduras.

Honduras and Salvador have been undergoing small revolutions during the past few weeks. The new president of Honduras had to organize a revolution in order to gain his office from the last incumbent.

There has been trouble between the republics since the Republica Major de Central America, which comprised Honduras, Salvador, and Nicaragua, broke up in 1898.

A dispatch from Panama on Jan. 20 stated that Generals Louisa Varino and Manuel Rivas had organized a force on the frontier of Guatemala and had started a revolution in Salvador but just what connection this has with the present outbreak of hostilities is not stated in the cable message.

The President-Dictator of Salvador, General Thomas Reglado, left his capital early in January with a strong force to put down this row.

Salvador and Guatemala combined can put an effective force of about 60,000 men in the field, while Honduras has a regular army of less than 1,000 men and less than 30,000 men in her militia.

The Kona-Kau Line Purchased by a San Franciscan.

The Kona-Kau railroad has been sold by Jacob Coeper and his associates to President Wilson, of the contracting firm of Wilson, Lyons and Company, of San Francisco. The new owner will leave for San Francisco at once, organizing a construction company and push the completion of the road.

The purchase by Wilson includes Coeper's holdings in the Kona Sugar Company. Of Kona-Kau railway stock the purchase amounts to $2,720,000. Wilson also acquires Coeper's interests in the suits the latter has brought in the Kona Sugar company matter. It is said that over $300,000 were paid for the interests purchased by Wilson, and the latter is confident that he can secure the capital needed for completing the road, in San Francisco.

Ex-Interpreter Harbottle made his initial appearance in Judge Wilcox's court this morning as a practitioner, to defend Awaya, a Japanese, charged with assault and battery. BROWN INJUNCTION SUIT.

Being Heard by Judge Gear—Estate Bella D. Friel.

The case of C. A. Brown et al vs. A. W. Carter et al was begun this morning before Judge Gear. Cobby Brown being called as the first witness. This is the suit in which Brown is seeking for an injunction to restrain the other Holloway interests in the John II estate from adopting by-laws which would enable them to remove him from the position of manager. A. W. Carter was also called as a witness.

In the case of Hamilton McCubbin vs. Mary J. McCubbin, Judge De Bolt granted a divorce on the ground of desertion. An order for an attorney fee of $40 was made in the case of Haiti Gallagher vs. Ben Gallagher.

A petition for letters of administration of the estate of Bella D. Friel, one of the victims of the Nuuanu valley fire of last October, was filed by E. B. Friel, asking that E. W. Macfarlane be appointed administrator. The deceased left no will, and her estate is declared to consist of an interest in the Adelia Cornwell estate valued at $21.47. The heirs are J. L. Friel and Georgiana N. Friel.

What Skeet-Go Is

This unique device rids rooms of mosquitoes and flies. There are no disagreeable features of burning powder the old way. It brings out the pleasant aroma of the flowers from which our powder is made. It is far more effective and economical to use. It does not trouble the eyes, parch the throat, nor leave the clothing or room with smoke odors.

We ask you to try it and if you are not perfectly satisfied bring it back. You take no chances. Once learning its value you would not be without one.

Price complete, with Brass Lamp and Chimney, $1.

To insure best results get the SKEET-GO Powder put up by us. This is a superior mosquito powder made from the flowers and is very popular.

This is a cogent reason why The Star's advertising columns are so generally used and so widely read.
