MUST SUE IN CALIFORNIA.

JUDGE BAHRS ISSUES A STIFF INJUNCTION.

The Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company Cannot Come to Hawaii to Sue Americans.

There is now pending in the courts of Hawaii a suit brought by the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company against Claus Spreckels, says the Call of November 22d, involved in which is the ownership of 16,000 acres of land on the island of Maui. The Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company is formed and incorporated under the laws of this State. The other plaintiffs, Russell J. Wilson, Mountford S. Wilson, Charles S. Wheeler, Rudolph Spreckels and B. J. Hoffacker, are citizens of this State, and the defendant, Claus Spreckels, is a citizen of this State. The defendant, under these circumstances, has a right to have a case against him tried in the State of which all parties are citizens, and Mr. Spreckels has invoked the aid of one of the principles of equity which guarantees this right. He has secured an injunction from the Superior courts of this City, enjoining the plaintiffs in the suit in the Hawaiian courts from bringing any proceedings against Mr. Spreckels in that far-away land, and compelling them, if they must sue, to sue in the courts here at home.

The principle of law and equity which forms the basis of the proceedings in court yesterday is that which gives the courts of equity in any country jurisdiction over the persons of the citizens of the land. The court here cannot prevent the Hawaiian court from trying the case, should it wish to do so, and if that were possible in the absence of the plaintiffs, but the courts of this City can enjoin any one of the citizens here from proceeding in such a suit; and if, in defiance of the court's injunction, they should continue on they would all be liable for contempt of the local tribunal.

The same principle was applied by Gus Spreckels, about a year and a half ago, in his suit against his father to prevent the foreclosing of some island mortgages. Claus Spreckels intended to foreclose through the island courts, but his son secured an injunction upon the very rule, and proceedings had to be transferred to here.

The suit being brought in Hawaii, although apparently only for the possession of 600 acres of land, does include in truth the entire relations of Claus Spreckels to the company which he formed.

Prior to 1878 Claus Spreckels went to the islands to investigate the possibility of establishing a sugar plantation on the island of Maui. On his return here he formed the Hawaiian Commercial Company under the laws of this State, associating with himself Herman Schussler, ex-governor Frederick F. Low, William Babcock and Herman Bendel. That company was succeeded in 1882 by the defendant in the suit filed yesterday. As one of the laws of the Hawaiian kingdom was that no foreign corporation should hold lands in the islands, it was decided that whatever property the company procured should rest in the name of Claus Spreckels, he to hold it in trust for the corporation. One of the possessions of the company was at that time 16,000 acres of land in the Ahupuaa of Wailuku, held under lease from the crown. The entire tract, known as the Ahupuaa of Wailuku consists of 24,000 acres.

The crown lands of the Hawaiian kingdom, and they include valuable acres in every one of the islands, had two claimants. King Kalakaua claimed them by right of royal power, and as the successor to King Kamehameha; the Princess Keelikolani, daughter of one of the Kamehamehas, claimed by right of heirship. The Princess was deeply in debt, and in 1880 she sold her interest in these crown lands, wherever situated, to Claus Spreckels. He paid her $70,000, $10,000 of which was in cash and $60,000 in the nature of a loan. She had been paying 12 per cent interest on her debts, but as part of the consideration for the purchase Spreckels assumed the debts for 6 per cent per annum. This was a personal transaction between Claus Spreckels and the Princess Keelikolani.

Having purchased an interest in all of the crown lands, the titles of the crown and those of Spreckels were continually becoming entangled. So, two years after, it was agreed that Spreckels would release all claims upon the crown lands elsewhere if King Kalakaua would release the crown's interest in the Ahupuaa of Wailuku and transfer it to him. This was done by royal patent and by a special act of the Hawaiian Legislature in August, 1882. Spreckels then turned over to the company, on September 25, 1882, all property he held in trust for its benefit. The company had by that time been organized under the name of the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company. On February 27, 1885, Mr. Spreckels sold to the company 18,000 acres of the Ahupuaa of Wailuku, included in the tract being the 16,000 acres the company had originally secured by lease from the crown before the land itself came into Mr. Spreckels' possession. The deed to the 18,000 acres was made by Mr. Spreckels individually under the direction of the company's attorneys, and was accepted by it as wholly satisfactory. The remaining 6000 acres are the ones in dispute.

The claim is made that the transactions which finally led the Ahupuaa of Wailuku into Mr. Spreckels' possession were by him as agent for the company. At the time of the negotiations with the Princess Keelikolani and subsequently with King Kalakaua Mr. Spreckels was not a director in the company, nor did he act in any way as its agent. From 1882 until the time the suit was brought there was never any question as to first his ownership of the 24,000 acres of the Ahupuaa and afterward of the 6000 acres which the company did not buy.

The prayer of Claus Spreckels' complaint asked that said defendant, the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company, be enjoined from further prosecuting its aforesaid action in the courts of the republic of Hawaii, and that the defendants, Rudolph Spreckels, Russell J. Wilson, Mountford S. Wilson, Charles S. Wheeler and B. J. Hoffacker, the directors of said Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company, be enjoined from passing any resolution, or doing any act or thing in furtherance of said action; and for such other and further relief as to equity may seem meet; and costs of suit. The injunction was granted by Judge Bahrs and it now rests with the defendants in the injunction suit to obey the court's order or move for its dismissal. In the latter case the writ will be tried in the courts here.

V. V. Ashford has had a setback in his condition. In trying to cross the room without his cane he fell to the floor and was seriously injured, being confined to his bed ever since. C. W. Ashford is well pleased with his business venture, but on the advice of Dr. Martin, formerly of Honolulu, will not send for his family until warm weather sets in.

JUSTICE BICKERTON DEAD.

HIS END COMES AFTER A LONG ILLNESS.

An Honorable and a Useful Career Closed—Enterprising, Gentle, Faithful and Upright.

First Associate Justice Richard Frederick Bickerton, of the Supreme Court, passed away at 10:45 o'clock last night at Wai-kiki. For years he had not been in the best of health, but several months ago he was taken seriously ill and was not expected to recover. Taking a turn for the better a few weeks ago, he gradually improved until one day last week he was able to come to his chamber in the Judiciary building, as the BULLETIN was much gratified in noting on the particular day. An attack of pneumonia, however, laid him low again and ended in death as stated.

Mr. Justice Bickerton had long been a resident of these islands. He was born at Greenwich, England, on April 3, 1834, which made him more than fifty-one years of age. When eleven years old he emigrated with his parents to Melbourne, Australia, where he was educated. When a young man he was devoted to dramatic art and traveled with a company to different points in the Pacific, until he found himself at Victoria, British Columbia. From there he went to San Francisco, where he engaged in some business operations.

Mr. Bickerton came to Honolulu in 1864, not intending at first to remain, but he did and went to work on the Kaula sugar plantation on this island. He became manager in two or three years and afterward bought the controlling interest from the firm of Janion, Green & Co. This enterprise was not profitable, however; and Mr. Bickerton gave it up, but he afterward held some paying sugar stock.

In 1872 Mr. Bickerton began to read law in the office of W. C. Jones and was admitted to the bar in 1875. Being diligent and careful he won a large practice. He was appointed Judge of the Honolulu Police Court in 1882, and displayed good ability in that office. He at the same time continued his practice as a lawyer in the high courts. His style in pleading was agreeable, and fluent often to a degree of eloquence. The writer remembers him as being very tenacious of his points, while scrupulously deferential toward the occupants of the bench. On one occasion remembered he had an adverse ruling withdrawn after bringing up his points in varying form again and again.

Mr. Bickerton was appointed a Justice of the Supreme Court along with the late Mr. Fornander in 1886, under a change in the Judiciary Act increasing the number of Justices from three to five. This law was repealed by the Reform Legislature, but the appointments of Justices being for life vacancies by death brought the subject of this action forward, some years ago, to the position of First Associate Justice. Under the Judiciary Act of 1892 the Supreme Court was given exclusively appellate jurisdiction, but before that time Justice Bickerton had made a good record in presiding at jury terms in Honolulu as well as the country circuits. His presence on the bench was commanding of respect, as with noble features and erect bearing he looked every inch a judge. He was strict in regulating the expressions of members of the bar, mildly though firmly rebuking anything that seemed to detract from the dignity of the court. In his charges to the jury he was practical, direct and clear as a bell. His decisions were marked with the same characteristics, and his brethren on the bench seemed to allot to him the writing of banco opinions in cases involving property interests in which his former industrial experience made him as it were an expert. His dissenting opinions clearly set forth his views that were contrary to the majority, often leaving a doubt in the mind of the reader as to whether the prevailing opinion was good law.

Justice Bickerton was appointed a member of the Privy Council of State by Queen Liliuokalani upon her accession. Mr. Bickerton represented Hamakua in the Legislature of 1878. He was twice married, first in 1871 to Miss A. Hughes, whom he lost by death four years later, leaving him three children. In 1878 Mr. Bickerton married Miss Frances T. Spencer, daughter of Mr. Frank Spencer, now an estimable resident and large stock raiser of Waimea, Hawaii. The Spencer family were bound from Australia for San Francisco, but being shipwrecked here settled down to life in these islands. One child was born to the second marriage. The lamented gentleman's sons were in college at Tacoma. A daughter was lately married at the same place.

Justice Bickerton was an exceedingly genial man socially. Of entirely unassuming manners he was yet dignified in both action and repose, and had nothing counterfeit in his honest manliness. He will be greatly missed as a citizen as well as a jurist.

JUDICIARY JOTTINGS.

Two Mortgages Declared Fraudulent—Order to Receiver Jones.

Ten days' additional time has been granted to E. Woodward for filing his exceptions to conviction for seduction.

In the case of C. Bosse, assignee in bankruptcy of J. A. Alfonso, vs. Isabel Vintura Rezeintes and J. A. Alfonso, Judge Whiting has rendered a decision to the effect that a mortgage given by Alfonso to Mrs. Rezeintes was a fraud, and that the mortgage is set aside and declared null and void, as to the creditors and as to the assignee.

A similar decision is rendered as to the complaint of the same plaintiff against Manuel Briauco and J. A. Alfonso. Hatch and Dickey for plaintiff; Thurston for defendant.

In the case of Bishop's Bank against the Gibson Estate, the receiver, P. C. Jones, is authorized to pay $750 wages to employes of the Lanai sheep ranch and to collect from the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Co. all sums due the estate for sheep manure.

L. Ahlo has appealed from the decision against him of E. P. Aikue, Commissioner of Private Ways and Water Rights for Koolaupeko, in his suit against J. P. Mendones.

Cecil Brown has filed an inventory of the estate of W. C. Lane, his ward, showing it to be worth $12,536.

THE MAKE-UP OF A CIRCUS.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE WIRE AGGREGATION.

They Are All Old Performers and Have Been in the Ring from Childhood.

How many of the citizens of Honolulu know how a circus is conducted? A few do, certainly, for among our citizens are several old performers. One or two of our leading business men have "done their turn" for many a night under the crowded canvas. But it is probable that the major portion of the public have but faint ideas as to how a "show" is conducted.

When a circus comes to town, the members of the company having been provided with suitable accommodations for board and lodging, by the management, the next thing in order is a location for the erection of the tents. Likely spots of vacant ground are hunted up, all over the place, and the most promising, from the points of utility and convenience, is rented. Then the baggage wagons deliver their loads of canvas, poles and properties of different kinds. Next the best place for the ring is decided upon, an iron rod is stuck into the ground in the exact centre of the circle within which feats of strength, agility, fearless horsemanship and daring are to be performed. A cord attached to the rod is measured off the required length, which is the semi-diameter of the ring. Another rod attached to the outer end of the cord is drawn round and round, scratching a perfect circle in the previously leveled off earth. Experts with the pick and shovel then give the interior a slight slope toward the centre to accommodate the horses, while a bank of earth is thrown up around it.

In the middle the tall centre pole is then planted, the outer line of stakes driven and the great tent is hoisted to the top of the pole. Main ropes and guys are stretched, the canvas laid out upon the former and in an hour from the time the ground is broken, the circus tent is in position. Trestles for the seats are then lashed firmly to the outer supports, the boards are laid, a platform is built for the reserved chairs and the main canvas is ready for occupancy.

Meanwhile another lot of canvasmen have erected the two dressing rooms, for ladies and gentlemen respectively, separated by the dressing room entrance to the arena and, generally, the animals' quarters, or stable tent. At the public entrance a long corridor of canvas, with a handsomely decorated exterior has been put up.

In the dressing rooms the properties in the way of costume boxes and all the paraphernalia for the mounting of an act are unpacked and the trapezes, bars, tubs, stools and the thousand and one articles used during the performance are placed each in its most convenient location. Actors and actresses are rapidly divesting themselves of their out-of-door attire and rehabilitating their persons with the tights, skirts, trunks and spangles in which they grace the ring.

The orchestra is seated, the overture is played and now comes the grand entry. It takes the average performer from five to eight minutes to change his or her costume. It requires from six to fifteen to pad a horse.

LADYBIRDS AND SCALE.

State Entomologist Craw Upon Their Work in the South.

State Entomologist Craw does not agree with the report of the Horticultural Commissioners of San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties, which appeared in the Chronicle on Saturday, relating to a species of ladybird sent to clear out the black scale from the orchards of those counties. The results as obtained by the commissioners are so much at variance with results in other places that Mr. Craw does not believe they have fully considered the matter or have seen the work accomplished by the ladybirds.

Some time ago a colony of ladybirds was sent to one of the commissioners, whose name is attached to the report. Three weeks after receiving the colony the man wrote back that his orchard was as badly affected as before and that the ladybirds had failed to do the work. From the immediate neighborhood, notably from the orchard of Alfred Wright in San Bernardino county, Mr. Craw has received the most satisfactory letters, showing the ladybirds have done their work well. In fact, from all over the States comes a similar report, as shown by letters on file in the office of the State Board of Horticulture. Mr. Craw sententiously sizes up the situation as follows: 'The scale and the ladybird are so much alike in appearance that it requires some knowledge of both to tell which is which.'—S. F. Chronicle.

A Cheerful Lie.

Literary audacity runs rampant in certain places in Shanghai, and the following story from our Tientsin contemporary reminds us very much of a certain individual we once, unfortunately, had on the staff of our paper; he always wrote everything that found favor. The story of our northern contemporary runs as follows:

"I underwent a curious experience the other day," writes a correspondent, "which it may interest your readers to hear about. You may remember that I once contributed to your columns a little sketch which was fortunate enough to meet with public as well as editorial favor. There was nothing much in it, I must confess, looking back at it from this distance of time, but it was my first essay into the domain of the Muses, the bantling of my own assiduous incubation, and in the words of Touchstone, "a poor thing, Sir, but mine own." I was not ashamed to acknowledge its paternity, and to receive the congratulation of my friends. Well, I was dining out the other night, when my neighbor introduced the subject of your paper, and, in the course of conversation, referred to my little composition, and asked me what I thought of it. Proud to think that it should have stood the test of time, but at the same time feeling that I should be the last to bestow unqualified praise upon it, I expressed what I considered to be an impartial but absolutely just opinion of its merits. Imagine my astonishment when he remarked, in a confidential tone, "I wrote that!" Now, Sir, I leave it to you to judge between us which is the more audacious perverter of truth, he or I, for the whole of this story is pure "invention from beginning to end!"—Shanghai Mercury.

Mandarindom in China.

It is Mandarindom that is responsible for the misgovernment of China, by its negligence and its corruption; and it is the Mandarins who are the most furiously opposed to the presence of the foreigner, because in the European—be he English, French, or German—they detect the force which in the end will strike them down. Hence their connivance at outrages on missionaries, if not their actual instigation of these crimes. It is not their Christianity but their Occidentalism which is the unpardonable offence of the missionaries in the eyes of such persons as Li Ping-chang, the now degraded Viceroy of Szechuen. The fanaticism of the mob of the Chinese cities is carefully inflamed and stimulated by their efforts. The ignorance of the people is easily played upon. The medical services of the missionaries gives a convenient handle to the official calumniator. As the Times' special correspondent says today:—"Medicine in China is still largely looked upon as a black art akin to sorcery, and when one remembers of what loathsome ingredients the healing drugs of the Chinese medicine-man are often made up, one need not wonder at the readiness with which the ignorant masses are made to believe that remedies so efficacious as those administered by the foreign devil must be compounded of unutterably fiendish substances. That cans of preserved milk are the boiled down brains of Chinese children, that the eyes and other parts of the human body are the most potent substances employed in the European pharmacopoeia, presents nothing incredible or even improbable to the ordinary Chinaman, and when placards, issued with the explicit or implicit sanction of the local yamen, declare that a foreigner has actually been caught red-handed in his barbarous laboratory, when, as was the case the other day in Szechuen, an official message is sent by the provincial authority over the Government telegraph announcing that living proofs of these horrible practices have been produced in open court, can one be surprised at the results? Whilst a mad-dened populace wreaks a brutal vengeance in atonement of its imaginary wrongs the mandarin either personally supervises, or is conveniently blind to, the scene of arson, pillage, and bloodshed which he or his superiors have prompted."

DECEMBER 7, 1895.

In every account of weddings, receptions, anniversaries and dear knows what there is always a description of the floral decorations but never a word about the pots that hold the plants and flowers. There are two reasons for this: One, because the pots are usually such common-place affairs that they are not worth mentioning; the other is because they escape the reporter's eye.

Heretofore there has been only one place in Honolulu where genuine majolica vases for plants could be bought. Now, there are two. Ours is the other one, and we think it is the best because the stock is larger and the assortment more varied. Today is a good time to come down and make your selection.

There used to be only two or three places where you could buy a decorated chamber set and the ones they sold were indifferent as to quality or style; they contained a certain number of pieces and they managed to pretty well cover a wash stand. Ours were selected first for their usefulness and next for their beauty. You never saw their equal in this country and you may never again—the odd shape will strike your fancy and the price, $5 to $12, will settle it so far as you are concerned. There's nothing cheap about them except the price. If you were in the States you would pay twenty dollars for them and never murmur. We don't want the earth but we want your trade.

In the same room with the chamber sets you will notice a lot of whatnot ornaments for holding flowers. Most anyone would appreciate one of them as a gift at this season, because they are pretty and useful, and you will enjoy giving one of them away because they are inexpensive. The assortment is larger than you imagine. If you prefer giving away cut glass and do not feel that you can spend much money buy a piece of English cut glass. It costs about half what the Dorflinger American does, but it is genuine.

We have the Dorflinger too.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co.,
Gentlemen:—I was very much run down, had no appetite at all, was very nervous, had no sleep night or day; to sum it all up, I WAS PERFECTLY WRETCHED. But thanks to Paine's Celery Compound I can now eat and sleep and work just as well as I could before I was taken sick. When I commenced taking the Compound I weighed 136 pounds; I now weigh 168 pounds and do all the work for my family of five. I have recommended the Compound to three families already and they are very much pleased with it. I am now taking my fifth bottle, and would RECOMMEND IT TO ALL WHO ARE SUFFERING WITH STOMACH TROUBLE OR NERVOUS TROUBLE.

WEDNESDAY - DEC. 11, 1895.

CAPITAL BEGGING.

British capital is at present coming in to the great northwest very freely and is actually begging for investment propositions. City properties such as water, electric tramway and light franchises and other solid enterprises of a similar character seem to be preferred, although English syndicates are also purchasing timber claims.

The heaviest transaction which ever took place in British Columbia in a single day was consummated through London brokers on November 22d, an English syndicate purchasing for an enormous price the Vancouver Electric Tramway Company, the Vancouver Electric Light Company, the New Westminster and Vancouver Inter-urban Electric Tramway and Light Company, running a distance of twelve miles, and the New Westminster City Electric Tramway Company. A half million pounds will be spent in utilizing the water-power of the Seymour River to run the entire system.

An English syndicate has also bought the Victoria (B. C.) Tramway. Two English companies—one with £500,000 and the other with £1,000,000—have organized in London to develop British Columbia mines and a is on foot whereby an English syndicate is to buy up all the canneries on the Fraser River not already owned by English capital.

OBSERVATIONS.

London has decided to convert into parks and play grounds for children its 173 disused graveyards.

It is estimated from the returns of the eleventh census of the United States that 95 per cent. of the wage-earners of that country own less than $10,000 each.

New York is the wealthiest of the States. The value of its real and personal property reaches the enormous aggregate of $2,651,940,000.

According to the San Francisco Bulletin it is now asserted by Eastern experts that potassiumorthodinitroresolate is destructive to plant parasites, and certainly it is easy to believe any insect that gets it in his mouth will die of lockjaw.

With reference to a supposition given publicity in yesterday's BULLETIN, to the effect that McEvoy instigated the arrest of Underwood and others, it is proper to say that Minister Cooper told a representative of the BULLETIN—too late for that paper—that McEvoy had nothing to do with the action taken by the Government upon this alleged fresh conspiracy against the Republic.

A late exchange notices the finding of a gigantic specimen of the Arctic rhinoceros which has lately been discovered frozen up in an iceberg which stranded at the Lena Delta. This specimen was seven feet taller than the largest variety of the rhinoceros of today, and was armed with two nose horns, the shortest of which was three feet and two inches in length. The animal doubtless belonged to an antediluvian species of rhinoceri, and his immense size gives some idea of the enormous and terrible beasts which inhabited this planet in the "days when the earth was young." The creature's body was entirely covered with very long thick hair, which proves that the Arctic regions were his natural habitat.

The editor of the Hawaiian has said, in speaking of criticisms on his magazine, that the editor of one of the most prominent newspapers in Honolulu had told him he could go only so far and then the bell was rung. The Advertiser has declared that there is not a single bell in its sanctum and implied that if there is one no person would dare ring it but the editor. The BULLETIN has no hesitancy in saying that bells do not form any part of the office furniture in its sanctum or business department. Without wishing to cast reflections upon the editors of any of the Honolulu papers and with a desire to hear the opinions of the men who have failed to express themselves on the subject we charge, and without fear of contradiction, that the bell is in the office of the Independent or The Time.

ABOUT LARRY DEE.

His Family and Friends are Not Worrying About Him.

Mrs. L. H. Dee desires the BULLETIN to contradict the statements made in this morning's Advertiser concerning her husband, as the same are utterly devoid of truth.

Since leaving here Mr. Dee has written by every mail until the last Australia, and being now at the Sound his letters would not come by way of San Francisco. Mr. Dee reached San Francisco after a long voyage but had no trouble in landing his state carriage or getting it through the Custom House. Neither his family nor friends are anxious about his safety or fear that any accident has befallen him, and they expect him back just as soon as he completes the business for which he left.

THE MAKE-UP OF A CIRCUS.

Wirth's circus, embracing twenty-three people, has a number of celebrities in its make-up. Mr. Wirth is a veteran circus man; athlete, rider and tumbler. He is, like most of the company, an Australian by birth, of German and English parentage. For many years he has followed circus life as actor, manager and proprietor.

J. J. Cameron, the manager, has been with circus companies for twenty-seven years, starting in at fifteen years of age as an acrobat. A serious injury compelled him to quit that branch of the business and since his twenty-first year he has either owned or managed other shows.

The duties of manager are extremely arduous. All the details of superintendence devolve on him, and after making a new stand, the advertising, buying of supplies, direction of the preparations for giving a performance, the properties and the entire financial arrangements he must look after personally.

P. H. Montgomery has a record of twenty-six years of active circus life as trainer, rider and all round athlete. At fourteen he ran away from his home in Australia and joined a company traveling throughout the colonies. His first employer was named Ashton, with whom he stayed seven years. After leaving Ashton he joined a troupe under Chiarini, world-famed as a rider. Five more years with Chiarini and then during the balance of his life he was with many companies in China, Japan, the East Indies and the South Pacific Islands. His has been an eventful career, rife with interesting anecdotes.

A. St. Leon is the son of M. St. Leon, an old time showman, and has been a performer in general lines since he was four. Until the present tour, he was never outside Australia, excepting the Tasmanian and New Zealand circuit. He joined Armstrong's aggregation some years ago and with the same married his present wife. He is well known throughout the Colonies as an excellent performer.

Lahl Sing, whose excellent riding has gratified thousands in Honolulu during the past week, is a native of Calcutta, where his brother owned a circus. At the age of twelve he went into training and throughout the whole of southern India, Java, Ceylon, China, Japan, Australasia and Polynesia he has performed. His principal trainers were old W. C. Barlow and John Lee, two men who were famous in the western and eastern continents. Lee died some two years ago and Barlow three.

Space does not admit of present mention of the other members of the company, but suffice it to say that each and every one deserve it. The life of circus people is exciting, generally healthful and by no means the degrading one that it is supposed by some to be. Who ever saw more ladylike or gentlemanly appearing people than are now among us with Wirth's circus?

"THE FREE AD" AND THE SUPERIORITY OF THE TRIBUNE WHEELS OVER THE STEARNS.

In our last advertisement in this column we called attention of the public to the Stearns wheels which are now being sold in this city. We stated without fear of contradiction that they were back numbers, manufactured in 1894 and shipped to the Pacific Coast as up to date wheels when they are not. We reiterate that assertion more forcibly in this ad. It has not been denied and cannot be, and we again caution buyers not to be deceived with antiquated machines which are represented as containing all the latest improvements.

An ad of the Stearns agency in an afternoon paper, praising the Tribune wheel and giving it a good send-off, refers to a letter written by H. F. Terrill, the well-known scorch, concerning the Tribune wheel. In spite of their assertion to the contrary, we deny that the agents of the Stearns wheel have seen or read the private letter of Harry F. Terrill to the Tribune rider here (meaning Tommy King) but as there is nothing secret about it we print the whole of it relating to bicycles below. If the Stearns agents can get any satisfaction out of it they are more than welcome. Mr. Terrill says: "I am riding a Stearn, 16 lbs. Say, Tom, the Tribune wheel has an awful good reputation through the East. I did not think much of it before I came East. It is considered one of the best mechanically constructed wheels in the world."

The balance of the letter refers to private matters but the Stearns agents may peruse the whole of it at any time. The explanation of Terrill's riding a Stearns wheel lies in the fact that he is under contract with the manufacturers to do so, consequently he cannot ride a Tribune although it is evident he would if he had the choice.

In our last advertisement we asked any intending purchaser to take one of the Stearns wheels to any first-class mechanic and have him take it apart and compare it with the corresponding features of the Tribune wheel. We knew that an honest opinion would be that the Tribune is by far the better wheel and hence made the challenge. We renew that challenge and intend to keep it before the public. It has not been accepted and it will not be.

We expect those Tribune Tandems on the Australia and if they arrive they will probably be seen in the New Year's races.

Don't purchase a bicycle of any kind without first examining the Tribune.

The Pacific Cable.

We are glad to see that Mr. Chamberlain is taking an active interest in the Pacific cable scheme, the object of which is to connect Canada with Australia by means of a submarine cable, which would afford much quicker and cheaper telegraphic communication between Britain and our great Australasian colonies than is at present in existence. The scheme, of which a great deal has been heard some time back, has recently been in abeyance; but the new Colonial Secretary has now taken the matter up, and is likely, we understand, to open up negotiations with the Australian authorities at an early date, with a view to carrying the plan into effect. It happens that though Mr. Chamberlain is thus taking an initiative in the project the Agents-General for most of the Australian colonies are also contemplating action in this direction, and have agreed to seek the assistance of the Colonial Secretary, though they have not actually approached him at present. We learn that it is likely that the Agent-General will meet to discuss the scheme before approaching Mr. Chamberlain. Foreign and Colonial Importer.

System Broken Down

Distress—Pains in the Back

New Life and Strength Given by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass."
"Dear Sirs: I do not think there is any other medicine on the market so good as Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have taken only three bottles and am now in better health than for three years."

My System Was Broken Down
so that my friends remarked upon my falling away. I could not keep anything on my stomach and I suffered terrible distress, especially in the left side. I had a severe pain in my back all the time so that I could not work.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

Before I had taken one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla the pain in my back was gone, the first time for two years. I can eat anything and keep it on my stomach without distress afterwards. The trouble with my back is over and

I Can Work All Day
as years ago. When people remark upon the change in my looks I tell them Hood's Sarsaparilla did it." SEWARD TAPPIN, N. Volney, N. Y.

Quick She Tumbled.
The collapse of China in presence of the British ultimatum has, to all outward seeming, exceeded the wildest hopes. The Chinese Government has not even taken advantage of its fourteen days of grace. Within twenty-four hours of the British demand the offending Viceroy has been degraded by Imperial edict, and declared incapable of ever holding high office again. That is swift work, perhaps even a little too swift for some ambitious China merchants, who had hoped that the present trouble might afford the pretext for a large assertion of British influence. But is it real work as well as swift work? The Times is of opinion that the exemplary punishment will be felt throughout the whole governing class. But we turn over the page to the special article of the Times (written before this last event), and find the following note about Liu Pingchang, the degraded Viceroy:—"Liu Pingchang, the real author of the Szechuan outrages, has been officially suspended from the viceregal Yamen at Cheng-tu more than a year ago, and a high official had been despatched from Peking to take over from him the seals of office. We know, however, that in spite of his formal disgrace he was still at the beginning of June the virtual ruler of the province, and in all the scenes of violence enacted there at that time his hand has been clearly traced.—Westminster Gazette."

Motherhood.
One morning fair, my baby
Climbed up into my bed,
And down upon my shoulder
She laid her little head.
She had her precious dolly
Clasped in a close embrace;
She told me how she loved it,
She kissed its battered face.
I asked her if she couldn't,
For only one short day,
Give me her precious dolly
To take with me away.
She slipped her arm around me,
And tears came to her eye,
She battled with them bravely
And sweetly said, "I'll try!"
"But, mamma, while my dolly
Is gone away from me,
Is there some other dolly
Whose mamma I can be?"
I wondered if as bravely
My sorrow I could bear
If asked to give my darling
Back to my Father's care.
—Midland Monthly.
An English Churchman writes to the Church Times protesting against according the full rites of the church to Prof. Huxley, an agnostic, and particularly resenting the epitaph which has been placed on Huxley's tombstone. And if there be no meeting past the grave. If all is darkness, silence, yet 'tis rest. Be not afraid, ye waiting hearts that weep, For God still "giveth his beloved sleep," And if an endless sleep He wills—so best.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

STEAMERS IVALANI AND KAALA GO TO WINDWARD.

Kilauea Hou with Cattle-Items from Foreign Ports-Inspector Severin's New Job-News Alongshore.

The harbor front is deserted. The Kilauea Hou goes to Hamakua Friday afternoon.

A small sloop arrived in this morning from Maui.

The steamer Kaala took a light freight to windward Oahu ports this morning.

The steamer Kilauea Hou with 30 head of cattle arrived from Hawaii yesterday.

The schooner Transit and barkentine S N Castle and S G Wilder will load merchandise in San Francisco for this port.

During Commissioner of Agriculture Joseph Marsden's visit to Hawaii, Customs Inspector Theo P. Severin will search for light posts on the water-front, having received his appointment this morning.

The four-masted schooner built at Humboldt Bay are of the following net tonnage: Muriel 481 (she carries a foreyard in addition to her fore-and-aft spars), Bangor 485, Ethel Zane 471, Salvador 444. The three-masted Florida Vance and Oceania Vance are each 415 tons.

The schooner Ethel Zane, which arrived at Port Townsend from Petropavlovsky recently, brought interesting news of the fishing industry in Russia's desolate domain. The water in the bay of Petropavlovsky fairly swarms with salmon and herring in the summer, and two salmon canneries will be built at that point next season. They come in from the open sea and circle around and out again. Since the trans-Siberian railroad is to be opened it is proposed to establish large fish canneries and ship the product direct to St. Petersburg and other parts of Russia. The captain of the Ethel Zane says he never saw a place where salmon were so plentiful.

TO ALL WHO USE PAINT:

The undersigned, L. C. Ables and H. P. Walton, purchased from Charles J. Wagner, the inventor of Peerless Preserving Paint, the exclusive right to manufacture, use and sell the PEERLESS PRESERVING PAINT in the Hawaiian Islands.

Patent for Peerless Preserving Paint. On the 26th day of September, 1895, the Republic of Hawaii granted to L. C. Ables and H. P. Walton, a patent No. 110, granting them the exclusive right to make, use and vend PEERLESS PRESERVING PAINT throughout the Hawaiian Islands.

Trade Mark for Peerless Preserving Paint.

The Republic of Hawaii has also granted to L. C. Ables and H. P. Walton the exclusive use of the words PEERLESS PRESERVING PAINT as a trade mark throughout the Republic of Hawaii for the term of 20 years.

Imitation.

Certain parties in San Francisco have recently been sending to Honolulu under the name of PEERLESS PRESERVING PAINT a spurious article not only inferior to the genuine paint, but one which is positively injurious to any metal to which it may be applied.

Beware of Fraud.

We hereby warn all persons against being defrauded into using any but the genuine PEERLESS PRESERVING PAINT, which can be obtained only of Ables and Walton.

Warning Against Infringement.

We also hereby warn all persons against buying, selling or using any article under the name of Peerless Preserving Paint, except that sold by us, as such buying, selling or using will be a direct infringement of our patent and trade mark, and a violation of our rights, subjecting the persons buying, selling or using such paint to a claim for damages by us in accordance with the Hawaiian Law.

L. C. ABLES, H. P. WALTON.
