GENERAL DEBILITY and Indigestion

Made Her Life Miserable, but She is Cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Read the testimony of Mrs. E. G.
Monro, Coburg, Victoria, whose portrait is also given:

"Some few years ago I suffered terribly with indigestion and general debility. I could not sleep, and my condition was such as to make my life miserable. None of the many remedies I tried did me any good, and I despaired of ever getting better. One of my friends told me of the blood-purifying and strength-giving properties of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and I began taking it.
Before I had finished the first bottle
I felt better, and was thus encouraged to give the medicine a thorough trial. In all I used four bottles, and then was perfectly cured of the grievous trouble which had afflicted me. I now recommend, to anyone suffering as I did,

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA

SALISBURY AND ARBITRATION.

Upon being installed as Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports, the Marquis of Salisbury made remarks in favor of arbitration which have received glowing eulogiums from the press.

The Pall Mall Gazette concludes a column leading article with the following remark: "Mr. Balfour's and the Marquis of Salisbury's arbitration statements have caused unfeigned satisfaction to thousands of members of our common Anglo-Saxon stock, on both sides of the Atlantic."

The St. James Gazette says the country will receive the arbitration news with the greatest satisfaction, but refuses to believe that the Marquis of Salisbury will "be so feeble as to yield to Secretary Olney's demand for the inclusion of the settled districts of Venezuela in the arbitration schemes."

The Globe, while completely indorsing the arbitration movement, remarks: "The new arrangement, whatever its details, should certainly define in the most exact terms, those cases which lie within and without the Monros doctrine."

POLITICS IN GERMANY.

Berlin newspapers continue to comment in severe terms upon the dismissal of General Bronsart von Schellendorff, the Prussian Minister of War. The National Zeitung says: Several leading Generals have refused the post vacated by General von Schellendorff.

The Vossische Zeitung says:
The absence of a stable government must be of great detriment,
so far as Germany's foreign relations are concerned. No foreign sovereign or statesman will be willing to begin important negotiations with a chancellor likely to be removed at any moment.

that Chancellor Hohenlohe has actually resigned. It asserts, however, that Emperor William had made an earnest plea asking the Chancellor to remain in office until after the Czar's visit.

THE PRINCE MOBBED.

Prince Louis of Savoy, Duke of Abruzzi, and a party of officers and some of the crew of the Italian warship Christoforo Colombo, were attacked in the streets of Valparaiso on the 16th of last month by a Chilean mob, and would have met with violence such as did the men of the United States cruiser Baltimore had not some of the Italians been armed,
thus enabling them to stand off the mob until the police came to their rescue.

The Prince was hurried into a store out of harm's way. Several of the seamen were struck with stones and some knocked down with clubs. They fought back, pulled their knives, which they luckily had with them, and held the mob at bay until a body of police came charging down the street. The mob soon scattered.
A number of arrests were made.

The Chilean authorities lost no time in hurrying an apology to Prince Louis. Every reparation was promised. The affair was spoken of as "disgraceful and one which would cause every true Chilean to blush." The Colombo's crew was not used up very badly, and as there were commercial advantages to be obtained for their countrymen the Italians agreed to accept the apologies.

WHAT THE JAPANESE STEAMSHIP
COMPANY IS DOING.

Breaks a Bargain with the Pacific
Mail Steamship Company at Both Ends and the Middle.

Some days ago the BULLETIN gave an account of the way in which the leading steamship company of Japan had dumped the Pacific Mail Company. From the San Francisco Bulletin of August 14 the following further particulars on the same subject are obtained. It will be remembered that the principal reason given for the establishing of its own line to America by the Japanese Co. was the direct importation of raw cotton for the Japanese mills.
Nearly all of the cotton comes from the South, and has heretofore been shipped via Liverpool on account of high transcontinental rates. A contract has already been closed between the Nippon Yusen Kaisha and the mills of Osaka and Tokio wherein it is provided that a certain number of bales of the commodity must be transported to Japan by the steamship company each year. Iron will be another item in the honoward freight of the line. Extracts from the San Francisco Bulletin's article follow:

The desire of Collis P. Huntington to confer personally with
S. Asano, president of the Toyo Yusen Kaisha, the Japanese line of steamers, is explained by a little document that is held by the railroad magnate, which paper is signed by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, the big Japanese line that has closed a deal with "Jim" Hill of the Great Northern railway.

Though national in its character, backed by the treasury of the Mikado's realm and supported by nearly all the large mills of Japan,
the Nippon Kaisha looks lightly upon the American system of specified agreements, and has seen fit to completely dethrone Huntington and dethrone Hill. King James of the Great Northern is now busily engaged in smiling in the vicinity of his cuff button.
However, "he who laughs last laughs best." King Collis may regain his scepter.

A special contract has existed for a number of years between the Pacific Mail and the Nippon Yu-sen Kaisha. The Japanese line agreed to furnish the Pacific Mail
all the passenger and freight traffic it controls from Japan, China, Siberia and Corea. The Pacific
Mail in return agreed to do no coasting trade in Japan, and to turn over to the Japanese company
all the freight and passengers it transports from the United States destined to Oriental ports outside of Hongkong and Yokohama. The contract in question has not expired, and by the withdrawal of the Nippon patronage
the Pacific Mail will be left minus its Oriental feeders. It can now, of course, run steamers up and down the coasts of Japan and China, but it would have to do so at a great loss. It is neither subsidized nor blessed with as cheap help as is the Nippon. Its position is truly a desperate one. Another fact, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha has further violated its agreement and has promised Hill that its ships will put into Honolulu.

To save itself from commercial annihilation the Pacific Mail must make some sort of a deal with the Toyo Yusen Kaisha, the Nippon Yusen rival. By offering the Toyo overland traffic inducements a combination may be made which will permit the Pacific Mail, "O.
& O." and Toyo companies to operate in harmony, the latter line to act as a feeder for the Japanese coast trade, and also as

ARRESTED IN OAKLAND.

JAMES CAMPBELL'S ASSAILANT BEHIND THE BARS.

Arraigned on Indictments for Robbery and Assault with Intent to Commit Murder.

Winthrop, one of the men who assaulted and robbed Jas. Campbell, is behind the bars. He was captured in Oakland on August 17th by Detective Cody of Captain Lees' force.

Captain Lees tells a graphic story about his magnificent work and the cleverness of his officers in effecting the capture of Oliver Winfield Winthrop.

The veteran detective was quite anxious to give Charles Cody, his man, due credit for efficient work; but it must also be understood that Cody was under instructions from headquarters to do just what he did.

"Yesterday," said the captain, "I got matters down so close that I concluded to send two men to Oakland. I picked out Charley Cody, who has been on the case from the start, and Patrolman Samuels, a bright officer.

"Samuels went off on one end of the thread that I expected would lead up to important developments, and Cody went his way on another thread which eventually landed him up against Winthrop.

"It was a clever piece of work. Cody was going down Sixteenth street, east of Broadway, Oakland, when he noticed a smooth shaven man, apparently lame, walking along. The stranger wore dark blue glasses and his general appearance gave Charley a 'hunch,' if you can believe in such things, that there was the man he was looking for.

"He drew up to him and in a pleasant tone said:

"Excuse me, sir; I mean no offense; please give me your name, sir."

"My name? It's Brunson." "Where from?" "San Jose." "When did you get here?" asked Cody.

"Yesterday. I came to visit my sister, Ella Brunson, and my brother."

"What's your brother's name?" "It makes no difference; let it go at that. His name is Brunson."

"As much from the tone of the man's voice and his way of answering questions Cody was sure he had the right party. Making a sudden move, he raised the blue goggles and saw the fellow's eyes. He knew him then.

"You're Winthrop," he said. "I place you under arrest."

"But," demurred Winthrop, "you're mistaken; I'm Al Brunson." "No, I'm not mistaken. You are Oliver Winthrop and you are my prisoner."

"The jig's up, I suppose," Winthrop said, and he accompanied Cody to the nearest telephone station, whence I got this significant message:

"I've pinched your man. What shall I do?"

"My answer was to bring him over immediately.

"Cody took his prisoner to the jail, where Detective Holland was found. Holland went to Winthrop's room at the Clarendon Hotel, searching it, found only a razor and a leather brush.

Upon searching Winthrop the first time Cody found clippings of the Chronicle dated August 6 and 8, a clipping of The Call; also extracts from the Post and Report of the same date. They were all inside the man's drawers, near his ankles. All these clippings related the details of the Campbell affair.

"He also found $7 and a few nickels, a pocket looking glass, two memorandum books one of which was inscribed 'Brunson,' an open faced nickel watch, a knife and the latch key to his home at 354 Grove street.

"I sent Detective Seymour across the bay to join Cody and the prisoner, and when they got here Seymour again searched his man.

"Rolled in paper he found one

"I am not at liberty to go much further into the details of this case, although it is most interesting because there is still another man to be captured.

"All I can say now is that Winthrop left this City on Thursday morning for San Jose. I traced and followed him there. On Saturday he left San Jose and landed in Oakland, stopping at the Clarendon Hotel, which he was leaving this morning when Cody placed him under arrest."

Soon after his man had arrived, Lees served on him two bench warrants, and at 4:30 p. m. had him taken from the detectives' room in the City Hall to the City Prison, and there formally charged with robbery and assault with intent to commit murder. Winthrop was cool and unconcerned, but there was a nervous twitching of his clean-shaven lips which betrayed his emotion and distress. After being booked, he asked to be put in the same cell in which he had been previously confined, as he evidently thought it would again prove lucky.

When Campbell was brought into the room with Winthrop the prisoner inquired casually of his Hawkshaw vis-a-vis, "Who's that?"

And then the Hawaiian patriarch, lifting his hand dramatically, said thrice, "That is the man. That is the man. That is the man."

Winthrop did not flinch. Instead he coolly bit a piece from the plug of tobacco he carried.

When interviewed his first statement—in fact, the sentence that alternated with every other one—was, "I've nothing to say."

Winthrop's trial is now going on before Judge Wallace. Attorney Bell, who successfully defended Winthrop on his murder trial, is again defending him and so far the only proceedings in court have been the attempt of the defense to attack the sufficiency of the indictment.

Sure to Win.

The people recognize and appreciate real merit. That is why Hood's Sarsaparilla has the largest sales in the world. Merit in medicine means the power to cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures—absolutely, permanently cures. It is the One True Blood Purifier. Its superior merit is an established fact, and merit wins.

Hood's PILLS are easy to take, easy to operate. Cure indigestion, headache.

Pabst is Its Name.

Climate of every variety exerts a different influence on the desires of mankind for a stimulant. In colder zones beverages of great alcoholic strength are used to a very much larger degree than in the tropics. Beer is best suited to our climate and none found in the market is better than that bearing the brand of "PABST, MILWAUKEE." It is brewed from the best of malt and hops and is a great thirst quencher and invigorator and stimulates the nerves and muscles. At the Royal, Cosmopolitan and Pacific saloons it may be found, cold and pure. Interchangeable checks are issued which may be used at any of the three resorts.

Easily Remedied.

MORROW FOUND GUILTY.

Judge Perry on the Bench—Various Probate Matters.

H. W. Schmidt & Sons were awarded $400, the amount claimed, against the Royal Insurance Company. Notice of appeal was given by defendant.

W. P. Morrow was found guilty of assault with a deadly weapon, three jurors dissenting, on Friday afternoon.

Judge Perry, who arrived from San Francisco last night, presided in the Circuit Court today, for the trial of M. S. Carter and others vs. Manhattan Life Insurance Co. Kinney & Ballou for plaintiffs; Robertson for defendant. After four jurors had been excused for cause, and two by the plaintiffs and one by the defendant, the following jurors being found satisfactory were sworn: S. I. Shaw, Wm Chamberlain, W. C. Wilder Jr., E. M. Marshall, F. Hustace, C. H. Atherton, C. B. Huston, H. Davis, G. S. Harris Jr., Fritz Rowald, W. W. Dimond and T. M. Starkey. The suit relates to the disposition of the amount of insurance on the life of the late Charles L. Carter, who was killed in the first encounter with the rebels of 1895.

A nolle prosequi was entered by Deputy Attorney General Dole in the case of H. Cook, charged with selling liquor without a license.

H. Leonard has sued Dr. McLeannan for $1000 damages for malpractice. As the doctor was leaving for Karotonga by the Monowai, he gave a bond for $1050, with Thomas Rain Walker, Alfred Willis, W. S. Luce and M. G. Silva as sureties, on account of the suit.

Judge Carter has appointed M. P. Robinson as administrator of the estate of the late James J. Robinson under bond of $2,000, on the petition of the widow, Kahoakano for petitioner.

Kabanunaikei, administrator of the estate of Mele Koomoeupule of Waialua, deceased, has rendered his final account and asked for discharge. Receipts $2000, payments $171.40.

Mrs. Karen Sorenson and Olaf Sorenson have presented their first and final account as executors of the will of the late Thomas Sorenson and asked for discharge. Receipts $3462.65, payments $2999.25, balance $462.80.

S. S. Monowai.

The S. S. Monowai left San Francisco Aug. 20 at 8:15 p. m., discharged pilot at 9:5 same day, and arrived at Honolulu on the 27th at 10 p. m. The steamship was 6 hours late in leaving San Francisco, having to wait for the English mail. Fine weather was experienced throughout the voyage. Besides a large passenger list, she brought 15 crates onions, 32 crates apples, 30 sacks potatoes, 9 cases fruit, 10 cases ice-house goods, 1 ice chest and packages of merchandise. The consignees are Lewis & Co., P. G. Camarinos, Hawaiian News Co., Wall, Nicolls Co., Thos. G. Thrum.

Captain John Bermingham, U. S. Supervising Inspector of Steam Vessels, has rendered his decision as to the cause of the loss of the steamer Colombia, which went ashore at Pigeon Point, July 13th. Captain Clark, who was in command, has been found guilty of unskillfulness and negligence as a navigating officer, and as a punishment his license has been unconditionally revoked, and he is forbidden to exercise the duties prescribed in his master's certificate. —S. a transpacific line which will come in for a share of the Japanese Government's subsidy. The three companies would form a strong union which would give the Nippon and the Great Northern Railroad a sharp fight for trade and prove a good thing for San Francisco.

Another San Francisco paper says the Nippon Yusen Kaisha or Japan Mail Steamship Company has opened an office in San Francisco and is competing for both passenger and freight business. The schedule of passenger rates from Seattle to various Asiatic points has already been issued. It shows a most marked reduction from those of the Pacific Mail and the Occidental and Oriental Steamship companies from San Francisco to the same points across the Pacific. The rates from San Francisco to these Asiatic points, via Seattle and the Nippon Yusen Kaisha's steamers, are made up of the local rate from San Francisco to Seattle, and the rate from Seattle to the point of destination.

BRACKENRIDGE AGAIN.

Enquiries Received About the Crook from Michigan.

Peter High, proprietor of the Enterprise Planing Mill, received a communication by the Monowai this morning, asking as to the social and financial standing of Mr. Brackenridge, the all-round swindler who left here some eight months ago.

The letter is from Mr. F. W. Parker of Algonac, Michigan, and states that Brackenridge represents himself as assistant Attorney-General of the Islands, claims to own vast coffee and sugar plantations and to have control of much coin and its equivalent.

The wily worker of other people's sympathies and credulities seems to be flourishing and happy and as able to beat people out of their money as he was when in Honolulu.

When he was down here he tried to work a BULLETIN man for money and recommendations but he got—nit.

THE GAELIC STRANDED.

She was Due at Honolulu Today—Will Be Some Days Late.

News was received in San Francisco on August 17 that the O. & O. S. S. Gaelic, from Hongkong on the 8th for San Francisco, via Yokohama and Honolulu, had gone ashore on the 16th near Shimoneseki, Japan, and was not floated until next morning. She was towed to Nagasaki and would have to go on the dry dock. There was twelve feet of water in her forehold and some of the shipments were damaged. The Gaelic was in charge of Captain Pearne. She was due to arrive at Honolulu today, bringing labor immigrants.

The Gaelic had a large cargo of tea for San Francisco, much of which is believed to be damaged by water. It is likely the docking will delay her voyage a few days.

A Long Swim.

When the barkentine S. N. Castle sailed from San Francisco for Honolulu, Captain Hubbard took a well bred pointer to sea with him, but while the vessel is now nearing this port the dog is back ashore. About noon of the day the vessel left San Francisco Dave Crowley and R. Sennett of the Golden Shore were within a couple of miles of the whistling buoy on the outlook for the incoming ships. Suddenly they saw something swimming in the water, and in pulling toward it discovered a pointer dog. They pulled it on board, and then discovered that the poor brute's hind quarters were almost paralyzed. They rubbed and worked over it, and finally after two hours' labor they brought it around. The Castle went out on the early morning tide, and the dog must have been four or five hours in the water before he was picked up.

ON CREAM SEPARATORS.

A short time ago we introduced the De Laval Cream Separators to the notice of the public through this column but we were compelled to change our advertisement in a few days as the demand created by it soon exhausted the supply of Separators we had on hand.

We have just received a fresh supply and again call attention to their merits.

Have you one or more cows? If so, what is your purpose in keeping them? Is it your object to get the most money from them, with at same time some comfort and satisfaction? Are you doing it?

Have you kept pace with the improvements in dairy apparatus? Have you ever stopped to consider the benefits of the Cream Separator,—not to the world, not to your neighbor, but to you personally and individually?

If not, you cannot do anything better, and the sooner the better. Everybody now understands the principle of centrifugal creaming. Gravity causes the cream to rise in the old way. The separator simply adds centrifugal force to gravity. It merely uses two natural forces instead of one only. It effects the complete separation of cream from milk, which is not possible in any other way, and in the most all around practical manner.

The De Laval Cream Separators are in almost universal use the world over. They have revolutionized dairying methods. The State Colleges and Experiment Stations all use and advocate them. More than 85,000 have been sold. All practical creameries have long used them. Progressive dairy farmers do so in all sections. There must be many users around you. No user of a De Laval machine ever did otherwise than endorse it.

The De Laval "Baby" or Dairy Cream Separators are now made in six different styles and sizes. They range in capacity from 150 lbs. per hour to 700 lbs. per hour. Capacity means separating capacity per hour. They are made for all requirements from the household buying its milk, to the dairy of from one cow to one hundred.

The De Laval machines are Hand machines. They are designed and constructed for hand use. Women and children run them. They are used almost wholly in such way. Still they may be attached to any sort of light power, from dog tread to engine.

We have also a smaller type of the same machine, which is designated as the "Humming Bird," especially intended for household use. It is very small, very compact, extremely simple, easily understood and cared for, safe and durable. It possesses every advantage to be found in any of the larger "Alpha" machines.

Why Hang On

to your type printed visiting card, when it is so easy to get the correct thing right at home.

No card but an engraved one is acceptable; others are considered shoddy and should not be used.

We know the correct thing, and any work turned out by us, will place you right in the swim.

Every effort is being made by us to keep this work at home, and if a strict adherence to San Francisco prices, combined with good clean work is any inducement to place orders here, we will get all your work from now on.

Bear in mind that we are not trying to meet the cut rates of Eastern Department stores for inferior work; but are doing good work, using the very best of material, and adhering closely to ruling rates in San Francisco.

Nor is the work confined to Cards alone, but Wedding and Society Stationery, Business Cards, Announcements, Bill Heads for Professional men, Embossing, and the general run of work coming under that head, have the same careful attention.

You may not need anything now, but it is well to bear in mind when the time comes, and save the expense of sending away for it.

THIS AFTERNOON'S FIRE.

James Lyle's Barn Was Totally Destroyed.

The alarm of fire at 2:15 this afternoon was turned in from the corner of Pensacola and Wilder avenue. The fire was in the barn recently erected on the premises of James Lyle on Spencer street. There was one horse and a buggy in the stable which were saved. The fire originated in about a ton of loose hay which was only put in yesterday. Neighbors discovered the flames before Mr. Lyle's family were aware that anything was wrong. Fortunately the barn was situated some distance from the residence and the wind blowing in a contrary direction. Mr. Lyle states that he had no insurance but the barn was not worth much.

Engine No. 2 took the Kapio-lani street hill and had a hard time getting round the Hackfeld premises. After it got to work a length of hose blew out, but the fire had about burned out by that time.

A Good Show.

The benefit Saturday night to the regiment tendered by the Elsie Adair company assisted by local talent promises to be one of the finest performances ever presented in Honolulu. The members of the Adair company, who are all first class performers, will render new specialties that have never been given before in this city, and the best local talent will assist in making the evening an enjoyable one to all who attend. As the benefit is for the militia and that organization is the mainstay of good order in this country, enough tickets should be sold to leave a handsome profit. Tickets are on sale at Jacobson's jewelry store, where reserved seats can be secured at the usual price.

DOWN THE FLUME.

The snow lay deep in the Cour d'Alenes—yes, more than that, the mining camps were "snowed in." I had not been long in the camp, and it was all new to me, so I naturally tied to Governor Bill, foreman of the Last Chance, during the exciting days of the great snowstorm. The miners gave him that name because he had gone to college with a governor of one of our eastern states. He was educated for the bar, but drink made him a miner, and now that he was reformed the company made him a foreman. When the storm commenced, the mills were all shut down and the water which furnished the power was turned from the various flumes.

The day following the one of the heaviest snowfall it was reported at the lower end of the gulch that an immense snowslide had occurred during the night at the upper end. I procured a pair of snowshoes and hurried to the scene. The manager and Bill were superintending the working of scores of miners—in fact, all the available men. "What's the matter, Bill?" I inquired. "The men at the upper mill are buried in this mountain of snow," he answered. "What! How many?" "Four. You see, the miners at the boarding house there below escaped, but those who slept in the loft of the mill at the head of the gulch had no chance to leave."

Those who have visited the Cour d'Alenes will recall how steep the buttes rise from the narrow gulches. At places you can scarcely scale them, and even the hardy pines can barely gain a footing.

The wind was now blowing in gusts, carrying clouds of snow from the buttes above, swirling down the slopes, eddying through the gulches and banking the white powder at the very feet of the miners. Shovels were powerless, but the men worked on in the firm belief that they would reach their comrades. But no one knew whether the old building had stood the strain and that the poor fellows were alive.

"It's no go, Mr. Bardon," Bill dependently said. "There is no telling how long the storm will keep up, and even if it soon subsides it will be days before we can reach them. Moreover, they cannot live long in that small building without air."

"I fear you are right, Bill. But it is all we can do," slowly replied the manager.

There was a momentary lull in the storm, when the governor remarked, with an anxious face: "Look at the streak down the butte. That must have been the path of the slide."

"Yes, it originated on the smooth flume." A blinding rush of snow from over the mountains shut out the view. "The wind keeps the flume bare near the top of the slope," added the manager after we had shifted our positions, for the snow was drifting about us.

All day long the men toiled, and all that night reliefs were working, but progress in the shaft was slow, as the snow continually caved in or was carried in by the wind. During the following day and night there was no let up in the work. To me affairs looked more hopeful, for the storm had spent its fury and was now subsiding. That night I asked Bill how deep he thought the snow was where the men were working.

"It's a hundred feet if an inch," he replied, "and we have not made more than 40. Thirty more feet should bring us to the roof, but, you see, it becomes harder the deeper we get."

Evidently Bill did not take as hopeful a view of affairs. I had moved my bunk to the office building, and early the following morning I was aroused by a loud knocking at the door. It was the governor. He looked very determined and hurriedly said that he had planned a scheme, a side issue, during the night and wanted me to join him. Bill had not slept or eaten much since the slide, so worried had he been and anxious to rescue the buried men. He had several hundred feet of small, strong rope with him, and after a hurried breakfast at the officers' mess five of us set out on snowshoes.

"Which way, Bill?" "To the flume," was all he said. I did not urge him; it only irritates a strong man to ask him to disclose his plans in time of action. I decided to follow and await developments.

The ascent of the precipitous butte in the gray of morning was no easy task, but by taking a somewhat circuitous route, which followed a "hogback," we avoided the steeper slope and before long reached the exposed portion of the wooden flume.

"And now," said Bill, "we'll move down as far as we can along the flume." We did so, and after traveling a short distance below the point where the snow first covered the planking we dug several feet and cleared the boards.

The scheme had gradually unfolded itself to me. I saw it all now. Bill was going to have himself lowered down the flume and, if possible, through the 24 inch metallic conduit, which prolonged the flume at a short distance from the mill. Then he would trust to luck at getting through the turbine and into the building. And this was the man who,

This is because it possesses greater medicinal merit and produces greater cures than any other. It is not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that Tells the Story.

All advertisements of Hood's Sarsaparilla, like Hood's Sarsaparilla itself, are honest. We have never deceived the public, and this with its superlative medicinal merit, is why the people have abiding confidence in it, and buy Hood's Sarsaparilla almost to the exclusion of all others.

Customers Want Hood's.

"We order Hood's Sarsaparilla in large quantities and it is the only blood purifier which a druggist can buy in large quantities without risk. It is selling very rapidly and customers who buy it once are sure to call for Hood's the next time. We believe Hood's Sarsaparilla must possess true merit in order to retain its popularity. Its sales exceed all similar preparations and its praises are often heard." L. SOMMER & SON, Springfield, Illinois. Thousands of druggists say the same.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Gentlemen:—I cannot speak too highly of Paine's Celery Compound. I have just purchased the third bottle, and am sure that the medicine, with God's blessing, has relieved me of a serious affection of kidney and brain trouble and a stubborn case of rheumatism.

I feel very grateful that I was so fortunate as to learn of this medicine that makes people well.

during the tumultuous troubles of a preceding summer, had stood loyal to the company, and with a few brave men had kept these same miners at the lower end of the gulch away from the company's works.

An ax opened the passageway and revealed a dark space of about 2 feet by 4 feet in dimensions. Bill fastened the rope under his arms and lashed his revolver to the inner side of his right leg.

"It will be a close fit in the conduit," said he, "but I will need the pistol to alarm the men, should I get to the mill. When the rope is pulled, haul away, and I hope each time you will have a heavy load."

We lowered away, and he disappeared. I felt peculiarly uneasy at seeing the generous fellow leave, though the scheme seemed so feasible that I could not see any danger involved.

On arriving at our elevated position overlooking the gulch I had noticed a decided change in the weather. A "chinook" was blowing—those southerly winds which temper the climate of the west, changing within a few hours winter into spring, snow into water.

Bill reached the turbine safely, but had no room to spare the conduit. He told the men below that he felt very peculiar while making this part of the descent, fearful that by some chance he might be fastened there.

On reaching the turbine he fired a shot, but no reply of any kind was made. Then he fired two in succession, and soon the joyful answer, in the shape of hammering on the metallic pipe, greeted his ears.

At first, they afterward told me, it had not occurred to them that any one came down through the conduit. They thought a shaft had been sunk and that the first object encountered was the conduit.

Weak and exhausted they worked with desperate eagerness, and after some time removed the turbine. Down dropped Bill among them.

"Thank God, it's Governor Bill!" said Emma Joe. And then these rough, reckless men sobbed with joy.

"What's that, Bill?" Joe inquired. "It's the snow settling. There is a 'chinook' above. Come, hurry, you fellows, and we will leave this place."

The first man to go attached the rope, pulled at it and was hauled upward. And the snow continued to settle.

Then two more were roped and the rope returned. "Go ahead, Bill!" "No, you, Joe. Hurry!" "Why, old man, so anxious?"

"Just because the fellows above want to see you, Joe," he almost pleaded. Joe afterward said that Bill looked pale at this time and assumed indifference.

"The heavy snow might crash the flume, Bill." "It won't crush it." "Well, then, here goes. Goodby."

When Bill replied, Joe said that he smiled like a woman. Joe barely passed the point where the wooden flume was united to the conduit.

The normal strain was separating them, the angle between them was becoming sharper and sharper, but he bent his body and thus passed through. Then with a horrible feeling he thought of Bill.

PURIFINE

Is the disinfectant that the world is talking about. In the United States its merits are becoming known. The people are using it. Purifine possesses many points in its favor over other preparations. It is odorless, and in employing it as a disinfecting agent, does not create another odor as offensive as that which it subdues. Non-poisonous too. That's an advantage—children will meddle; servants misunderstand; then there's trouble. Some one is poisoned.

Those who use it speak its praise in convincing language. Here's one from the Department of Medicine in the University of Michigan.

"We use Purifine and find it very good for deodorizing sinks and boxes, etc., and for washing sponges used about subjects for dissection."
W. A. CAMPBELL,
Demonstrator of Anatomy."

PURIFINE is for sale by the HOLLISTER DRUG CO. in 25c., 50c., 75c. and $1.50 bottles. The "AUTOMATIC DISTRIBUTORS" are for rental. Our Agents will call upon you and explain the merits of "Purifine" and the "Automatic Distributors."

It being desirable to coal the steamer on the port side, the S S Monowai was turned round before hauling up to the wharf last night. Owing to the narrow space to maneuver in, it took some time to get the old craft round.

James Mills, the managing director of the Union Steamship Co. of New Zealand, is a through passenger in the Monowai. He has been to Glasgow looking after the construction of a new steamer. Mr. Mills is accompanied by his wife and maid.

A military passenger train bound for Havana was wrecked by the insurgents, although it had a military escort. Six soldiers of the escort were killed in the fight with the ambushed rebels, and twenty-one wounded were brought to Havana by a relief expedition.

In the Spanish Chamber of Deputies a Carlist member asked what measures the Government had taken to demand redress for the outrage reported to have been inflicted upon the Spanish flag by the people of Key West, Fla., recently. The Minister of the Interior in reply said that this was not the moment to discuss the matter. Thereupon the Carlist deputy retorted that the Government always invoked the patriotism of the Chamber in order to impose silence upon the Deputies when awkward questions were asked.

COLD BLOODED LOGIC.

How the Mean Man Took a Base Advantage of His Wife.

She had about recovered from the agitation caused by a caterpillar which had crawled up on her shoulder. He had brushed it away, but had not shown a great deal of emotion.

"Ugh!" she exclaimed. "Cold?" he inquired. "No. I was thinking about that caterpillar."

"Haven't you got over being scared at them? I should think you'd be kind of used to them by this time." "As if anybody could ever get used to them!"

"What is it about a caterpillar that you dislike so much?" "Oh, they are so big and brown!" "They are rather brown."

"And so furry!" "Yes, they're pretty furry too." They walked on in silence for a time. Then he observed:

"Matilda, women are popularly supposed to be inconsistent. I don't think, though, that you are so much so as most of them."

"I'm never inconsistent," was the prompt answer. "I'm glad of it. You said that you dislike a caterpillar because it is big and brown and furry."

"I did. And I fail to see why you should expect me to take it back."

"I don't expect you to take it back. I don't want you to take it back. I was just thinking that according to what you have said you won't want any seal-skin sack next winter because a seal-skin sack is ever so much bigger and browner and furrer than any caterpillar that ever grow, and I tell you, Matilda, it takes a great weight off my mind."

She did not make any reply, and, judging by the expression which the electric light revealed on her face, it was just as well that she did not.—Detroit Free Press.

The Mystery Solved.

"I've discovered why the conductor always pulls the bell twice when you get on a Broadway cable car," said the tall man as he swung himself on the footboard while the car sped on at the rate of ten miles an hour.

"Why, of course," said the fat man after he had got his breath, which had gone astray during a similar acrobatic feat, "it's to tell the gripman to go ahead again."

"That's absurd, because you know perfectly well the gripman never stops at all. No, I've been studying on this thing a good deal, and now I fancy I've solved it."

"Well, what does the double ring mean?"

"It's this way: The conductor, when he sees a would-be passenger make a leap for the car, pulls the bell once. Do you know why that is?"

"To stop the car, of course." "Not a bit of it. That's an ambulance call."

"You surprise me!" "Fact, though. Then when the passenger escapes sudden death the conductor rings twice to indicate that the ambulance call is off. See?"

And after a deep silence the fat man came to the same conclusion.—New York Journal.

A Vague Guess.

"Whu's dish ere 16 to 1 business?" asked one colored man.

"Don' yeh know whu dat is?" "No'indeed. An I bet er razzeh yeh don' know neider."

"Yass, I do; yass, I do. Sixteen ter one—er—um—16 ter 1 is what all de white folks is talkin' 'bout 'cause dey dono get tired o' Trilby an de X ray."
