PACIFIC FLEET IS BOUND TO MANEUVER IN THESE WATERS

COMMANDER CLARK OF U. S. S. ANNAPOLIS BELIEVES HONOLULU WILL BE OFTEN VISITED

"I believe you may expect the combined Pacific squadrons to frequently call at Honolulu," said Lieutenant Commander Clark of the U. S. S. Annapolis this morning.

"Although," he continued, "I, of course, have no knowledge of what the maneuvers will be, the position of Honolulu is everything in favor of the fleet calling here often in its movements from coast to coast. It is a short run from San Francisco and other California coast ports to Hawaii—waters for such vessels and the Pacific is a great field for maneuvers.

"It seems almost certain that you will frequently have visits from the fleet. The admiral will maneuver as he sees fit and it would be hardly possible that Hawaii could escape often entertaining the squadrons. This is the strategic center of the Pacific and of the utmost importance. The fleet is bound to come."

U. S. S. ANNAPOLIS HERE FOR ONE WEEK

WILL RELIEVE MIDWAY MARINES. RETURN HERE AND THEN DO DUTY IN SAMOAN WATERS.

Carrying a beautiful new ensign, her decks holy-stoned to dining-table perfection and everything about her yacht-like body glistening and spotless, the thousand-ton United States gunboat Annapolis arrived this morning, nine days from San Francisco, docking at the naval wharf at 7 o'clock.

She sailed from the Coast on April 7 and her trip down was entirely without incident, says Lieutenant Commander Clark. Aboard are 26 marines for Midway. After remaining here a week, taking aboard about 150 tons of coal, the Annapolis will proceed to Midway and land the detachment of marines which is to relieve the detachment now there. The men thus relieved will be brought by the Annapolis to Honolulu after which the gunboat will go to relieve the station ship Adams in Samoa waters.

The Annapolis has recently been overhauled at Mare Island, being put into commission again on March 25. Commander Clark is making his first visit to Hawaii. He formerly commanded the supply ship Celtic. During the Spanish war he was aboard the Detroit in Cuban waters.

This morning, shortly after the ar-

Get After The School Board

MADE AN INQUIRY YESTERDAY INTO THE RECENT APPOINTMENT OF MISS HADLEY.

There was a meeting of the committee from the legislature with the Board of Education yesterday relative to the action of the Board in appointing Miss Hadley principal of the Lahaina school over the recommendation of Superintendent of Public Instruction Babbitt and his inspectors. The school superintendent and his inspectors had recommended Mrs. Gannon for the place.

It appeared from the statements of members of the Board that Bishop Registrar and Sister Albertina had been interesting themselves in the appointment of Miss Hadley. In reply to questions by the members of the legislature, the members of the school board stated that they had disregarded the recommendation of the superintendent and named Miss Hadley, because they felt that she as one of the subordinate teachers in the Lahaina school should be promoted and given an opportunity for an advance in her position in the schools. The outside interest in her favor had not however influenced them in the least.

The Superintendent explained that he had favored the appointment of Mrs. Gannon because she was, he thought, better qualified and in every way competent to be principal. The members of the Board who were present, Mrs. Dowsett, W. R. Farrington, C. J. Hutchins and F. S. Dodge, passed a resolution reconfirming their previous appointment of Miss Hadley.

The purpose of the members of the legislative committees was to ascertain the charges of favoritism that have been preferred against the school department. The conference took place in consequence of the resolution introduced by Representative Pali in the House yesterday. The committees will report later. They may recommend that the school board be abolished entirely.

WARM DEBATE ON LEPER TREATMENT

BILL TO PERMIT ANYONE TO TREAT LEPEERS GOES THROUGH THE HOUSE AFTER HOT DISCUSSION—BILL TO PROTECT OWNERS OF BOTTLES ALSO GETS LEGISLATORS IN HOT WATER—SEVERAL BILLS BECOME LAWS.

HOUSE FORTY-SEVENTH DAY. MORNING SESSION.
The House was called to order at 9 o'clock by Speaker Holstein. After a prayer by the chaplain the minutes of yesterday's sessions were read and approved.

THIRD READINGS.
House bill 123 granting permission to anyone to go to Molokai to treat lepers for two years, came up for a third reading.

Sheldon offered an amendment cutting out the imperative command to the Board of Health, by inserting the word "may" in lieu of "shall" as regards granting permits to persons to treat lepers.
Kalana and Kalelopu argued that the amendment killed the intent of the bill and as soon as the strong arm of the legislature was removed by the adjournment of the session, the Board

PIONEER MILL'S BILL BEFORE THE SENATE

IT WAS INCURRED IN PROTECTING ITS OWN PROPERTY FROM RIOTERS AND SENATORS THINK IT ONLY PROPER THAT THE COMPANY SHOULD STAND IT—KANIHIO'S VISIONS OF A SENATORSHIP ARE RUDELY DISSIPATED.

FORTY-SEVENTH DAY. MORNING SESSION.
Senator Woods of the special committee on House Bill No. 5, to alter the boundaries of the district of Hawaii into two senatorial districts. The report was signed by all of the senators from Hawaii who had been on the special committee. The report recommended that the bill be tabled. This report was adopted, killing the bill that Kanihio in the House had hoped would return him a senator next election.

Senate Bill No. 98, requiring County officials to make biennial reports to the legislature, passed third reading. House Bill No. 31, the measure modifying the health laws relative to the commitment of lepers, was called on third reading. On motion of Lane action was deferred. Lane said that it was an important measure and he wanted all of the senators to be present. The chair called his attention to the fact that only one (Chillingworth) was absent. Lane said he wanted all the votes he could get on the measure, so consideration was deferred without argument.

House Bill No. 23, giving Counties 50 per cent of the various taxes and fines and costs in criminal cases, collected in their respective districts, came up on third reading. Makekau moved to amend the bill giving the Counties the same pro rata of license tax paid to the Territory. The amendment was adopted and the bill then passed.

Senator Dowsett for the Ways and Means Committee reported on House Bill No. 161, making special appropriations to pay claims against the Territory incurred to June 30, 1905. The report recommended their passage of the bill with the following additional items as follows: To Hilo Tribune, $2. The claim of J. H. Kamio in payment for street widening damages was cut from $200 to $150, while the item of $1543.12 to pay the Pioneer Mill Co. for expenses incurred during the Japanese strike in 1905 was recommended to be

THE MUNICIPAL BILL WILL HAVE HARD SLEDDING IN THE HOUSE

AT LEAST SUCH IS THE TIP GIVEN OUT NOW—MANY AMENDMENTS ARE READY.

Senate bill 42 the municipal act to incorporate the city of Honolulu, came up in the House this morning for a 3rd reading. The bill which is 66 pages in length occupied about an hour and a half of the time of the House to read and Clerk Wise was about worn out when the job was finished. After the reading of the bill Rawlins took the floor in opposition to the measure. He expressed himself as favoring an incorporated city government for Honolulu, but he had found numerous defects in the charter which he considered vital.

Rawlins objected to the section of the bill giving the Board of Supervisors of the city power of condemnation of property.

He also thought the bill to be in conflict with the Organic Act, relative to one bill containing but one subject.

Another objection which he found was that no provision had been made for the new city's assuming any of the liabilities of the present county government, which it would supersede.

He then moved that the vote on the bill be deferred until tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock; which carried.

There was no further discussion of the bill, but it is understood that various amendments will be suggested tomorrow and there is prospect that the bill will have rough sledding before it reaches the governor's hands.

RESIGNATION OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARIAN

MISS BAKER SEVERS HER CONNECTION WITH THE HONOLULU LIBRARY—IS TO BE MARRIED.

Miss Gertrude Baker, Librarian of the Honolulu Library, has resigned.

Her resignation is an incident in a very pleasing matter.

When she came here it was with the expectation both on her part and on the part of the trustees that she would remain a year. But to the surprise of the Board of Trustees at their last meeting her resignation, to take effect next month, was presented.

There was no official explanation of the change of plans, but there was an unofficial one which could not fail to satisfy the Board, and call for their congratulations. Miss Baker is to be married.

Miss Baker was engaged when she came here, it seems, but there was an understanding with her fiancé that the marriage was not to take place for a year. But absence makes the heart grow fonder, and now Mr. Phillips, to whom she is to be married, is expected here by the Siberia, May 17. They are to be married and go to Japan for a wedding trip.

Miss Helen Hillbrand, Miss Baker's predecessor, resigned only a short time ago to be married. She is now living in Portland.

HONGKONG MARU WITH WEEK'S MAIL

FROM SAN FRANCISCO AND SAILS FOR ORIENT AT 10 TOMORROW MORNING.

Shortly after noon today the T. K. K. S. S. Hongkong Maru, Captain Bent, arrived from San Francisco, from which port she sailed on April 10, docking at the Hackfeld wharf. She brings one week's mail. She sails for the Orient at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Fair weather was experienced all the way down. An unusually pleasant trip, at this time of the year, says Purser Chapman.

Aboard the Hongkong Maru is W. H. Avery, prominently identified with the Toyo Kisen Kaisha line and in charge of arrangements for the two new oil-burning vessels for his company. He is bound for Yokohama and is joined here by his wife. His secretary, J. B. Duncan, accompanies him.

There are two little children on the Hongkong Maru, Miss Helen Kingsbury, aged 10, and Master Willard Kingsbury, aged 5, who are en route to join their missionary father in Nagasaki, the Rev. W. D. Kingsbury. Their mother died recently in the mainland States and they are going to the Orient in care of the stewards.

A Life Preserver

Usually this sea of life is not so rough but what we can swim along all right. Sometimes, however, the wind blows hard against us and big waves come up. Then we have to use every bit of reserve strength to make headway or even to just barely hold our own. Many times we go back, once and awhile we go down. These big waves are "accidents," and a policy in the STANDARD LIFE AND ACCIDENT CO., is surely a life preserver.

FROM VERY SOBER TO PARALYED DRUNK

TESTIMONY OF WITNESSES VARIES IN HEARING AS TO CONDUCT OF RITCHIE

"Was the captain walking by himself of did you assist him?" This question was asked one of the sailors of the British ship Loch Garve "Well, I didn't do any walking for him," was the reply of the little Irish A. B.

The inquiry into the conduct of Captain Ritchie when his vessel went ashore on the Kamalo reef the first week in March was continued at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon before H. B. M. Acting Consul Forster and Captain Combe and Pearson. W. A. Kinney appeared for the master of the Loch Garve and Judge Stanley for the crew.

Purser Friel of the S. S. Mauna Loa was the first witness called and Stenographer J. A. Combes was told to have his testimony ready for signing this morning, for Friel must go out in the Mauna Loa today.

Friel told of the Loch Garve's captain boarding the Mauna Loa when that steamer went to the rescue of the Loch Garve. He asked if there was any champagne aboard and secured a pint. He mixed his champagne with brandy, only a little. He appeared to know what he was doing and there was no sign of drunkenness, said Friel.

Chief Tollefsen, sent for by wireless by Kinney, testified to having seen Ritchie on Molokai. He said that the captain had not criticized the liquor available on Molokai. He drank whiskey and was not under the influence. He was naturally affected by his vessel being on the reef and was suffering from a wounded hand.

Mr. and Mrs. McCorriston also gave their testimony. They had seen Captain Ritchie write a note to one of his men in a manner clear and legible. Neither believed that the captain had been under the influence of liquor. Throughout the hearing the testimony in regard to the captain's condition has ranged from "very sober" to "paralyzed drunk." Here is the schedule as per various and varying witnesses:

Very sober.
Sober.
Breath noticeable.
Quite himself.
Rational.
Not drunk.
Quarrelsome.
Under the influence.
Shaggered.
Drunk.
Very drunk.
Paralyzed drunk.

WEEKLY WEATHER BULLETIN

For the Week Ended April 13, 1907, Honolulu, T. H., April 15, 1907. GENERAL SUMMARY.

Unusually cool, windy weather obtained generally throughout the week over the entire section. The majority of stations on Hawaii and Maui report mean temperatures from about 1.0 deg. to somewhat more than 3.0 deg. lower than those of the preceding week, and at all but one station on Oahu they were from 2.1 deg to 4.3 deg. lower. All stations on Kaula report mean temperatures 2.4 deg to 3.5 deg. lower, and on Molokai from 1.6 deg. to 3.2 deg. lower than last week's.

The following unusually low minimum temperatures were reported: Honolulu and Ponahawai, Hawaii, 55 deg. on the 8th; Kaunama, Hawaii, 50 deg. 8th; Pahala, Hawaii, 56 deg., 9th and 57 deg., 10th; Koolakekua (Davis), Hawaii, 67 deg., 8th; Huelo, Maui, 56 deg., 9th, and Ewa, Oahu, and Lihue, Kauai, 55 deg., 8th.

Rains were frequent on the windward side of the several islands and few on the leeward side. Rainfalls in amount ranging from about 2.00 to 6.38 inches occurred in the Puna, Hilo, Hamakua and eastern portion of the Kohala districts of Hawaii, and in the Koolau, Koolauloa and Koolu-poko districts of Maui. In the remaining districts of the section the amounts were generally less than 1.00 inch. Makaweli, Kaula, and Ewa and Waialae, Oahu, report no rainfall during the week.

At stations having a record of ten or more years the total amount for the week was above the average at Honolulu, T. H., April 15, 1907. The following table shows the weekly average of temperature and rainfall for the principal islands and for the group:

	Temperature.	Rainfall.
Hawaii.....	68.5 deg.	2.49 inches
Maui.....	69.3 deg.	1.89 inches
Oahu.....	70.9 deg.	0.41 inch
Kaula.....	68.6 deg.	0.48 inch
Molokai.....	68.4 deg.	0.84 inch
Entire group.....	69.2 deg.	1.71 inches

At the local office of the C. S. Weather Bureau in Honolulu, clear to partly cloudy, cool weather obtained, with a maximum temperature of 78 deg., a minimum of 63 deg., and a mean of 69.3 deg., 2.9 deg. below the normal for the week and 2.8 deg. lower than that of the preceding week. Measurable rainfall occurred on three dates and amounted to .68 inch, 55 below the normal and 12 less than last week. The mean relative humidity was 62.2 per cent; the average cloudiness 4/10ths and the prevailing wind direction N2, with an average hourly velocity of 11.6 miles. The mean daily barometer ranged from 30.04 to 30.14 inches, with a weekly mean of 30.06, .06 inch above the normal for the month.

For The Capture Of Gas Pipe Thugs

A rather interesting adjudication recently took place in San Francisco. It was that whereby the Clearing House Association awarded and distributed the $1,000 reward that was offered for the capture of the gas pipe murderers who killed the manager of the Japanese bank and wounded his assistant, as well as killed several other persons. These gas pipe murderers, as is known, were John Siemsen, a native of Hawaii, Louis Dabner, and a man named Kearney.

The bulk of the reward was given to Henry Behrendt, the jeweler who was attacked by the three men and who, resisting held Dabner until help arrived, and through him Siemsen was captured.

Much conflicting testimony was offered by the several claimants, by James Colon, part owner of the saloon opposite Behrendt's house, and by J. J. Brady. All seemed to agree that Behrendt had fought manfully with all three thugs and that he had held Dabner. All agreed that he had been beaten until he was covered with blood and looked, as one witness poetically expressed it, "like a rosebud." There the agreement ceased.

James Colon of the saloon of Tierney & Conlon claimed that he had been the first to reach the scene of conflict after calling the men in his saloon. Policemen Colon and Lambert conceded that James Colon was the first, but that they came before any of the other men in the saloon; that Lambert subdued Dabner by drawing a "gun" on him, and that Colon handcuffed the thug.

Foley and Smith, two hodcarriers, who were also in the saloon, were equally sure that they were the first to reach the scene of the conflict, while W. H. Brown was just as positive that he was ahead of anybody else. J. J. Brady also felt that he had some part in the capture, but did not put in a formal claim.

Policemen Welsh claimed that he had arrested Dabner. The judges decided on giving $750 to Behrendt and $50 each to W. H. Brown, Policemen Lambert and Conlon, J. H. Smith and Charles Foley.

A Radical Decision

A most remarkable decision was rendered lately by Judge S. R. Artman of Indiana, in which he held the liquor traffic the state of Indiana had no power to license it, that because of the character of and that a statute providing for the license of saloons was invalid. This is probably the most sweeping decision ever rendered in all the litigation which has been carried on in the attempts of those opposed to the liquor traffic to curb it and in the attempts of those interested in the traffic to spread it. The decision is that of a circuit court and is therefore not final. It will doubtless be appealed to the supreme court of the state and of the United States, so that a final decision on this issue is likely before so very long.

The facts of the case are briefly these: At the January session, 1907, of the Board of County Commissioners of Marion County, Indiana, Albert Soltan filed his application for license to conduct a saloon in the tenth ward of the City of Indianapolis. Schuyler Young and William J. Treiz, voters of that ward filed a remonstrance. The Board nevertheless granted the license and an appeal was taken to the Marion County Circuit court, and by change of venue to Judge Artman. Before Judge Artman the remonstrators filed an amended remonstrance. In this they denied the power of the Board to grant a license or the court to order a license granted, "because the sale of intoxicating liquors at retail, to be drunk as a beverage, is destructive of the public morals, the public health, and the public safety, and is therefore, inherently immoral and unlawful, and cannot be licensed under the constitution of the State of Indiana, or the constitution of the United States." This objection was stated in other forms, and other objections to the validity of the law authorizing licenses were made.

Judge Artman in rendering his decision waived aside all other questions than that of the right of the state to authorize the issuance of licenses. The existence of the statute and of all the other prerequisites to a license were admitted. He confined himself to the question of whether the state had the right to authorize the license of the liquor traffic and therefore whether the statute was a valid one.

It was contended by the applicant for the license that the right of the legislature to authorize the granting of saloon licenses is absolute and unqualified under the police power of the state. As to what the police power of the state is, the court quoted from the decisions of the supreme court of Indiana, in one of which it is thus defined or described: "The police power of a state is recognized by the courts to be one of wide sweep. It is exercised by the state in order to promote the health, safety, comfort, morals and welfare of the public. The right to exercise this power is said to be inherent in the people in every free government. It is not a grant derived from or under any written constitution."

Discussing this definition the court concludes that whatever contravenes this law of self preservation and the public good by being destructive of the good order, the safety, the peace, the health, the morals or the welfare of the people is unlawful and cannot be made lawful. The question then arises, the court says, what would be the legal status of the saloon business if there were no statutes on the subject. In other words, is it one of the inherent common law rights of citizenship to engage in the saloon business? On this question the supreme court of Indiana has expressed itself both ways. The earlier decisions held that it was a common law right and that license statutes were in restriction of this right. But the later decisions, Judge Artman says, hold the contrary and the United States Supreme Court in Crowley vs. Christenson, 137 U. S. 86, said: "There is no inherent right in a citizen to thus sell intoxicating liquors at retail; it is not a privilege of a citizen of the state or a citizen of the United States."

As the business is not one of inherent right of citizenship, but if legal must be so by statute, Judge Artman then proceeds to consider whether the state in the exercise of its police power can license any business whose inevitable tendency is opposed to the good order, good morals, peace and safety of the state. He quotes voluminously from supreme court decisions of many states and from the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States. The supreme court of Indiana has held that the legislature of that state cannot authorize of Health was likely to do as it pleased if a discretionary bill were passed.

Hughes thought that the bill wouldn't hold water at all, and by putting it on the statute books would simply be filling them with so much dead timber. The bill says that anyone shall be permitted to treat lepers, and then gives the Board of Health permission to prescribe conditions and qualifications. It also specifies that the permits shall be good for two years; and then makes them subject to revocation at will by the board.

Correa moved that the amendment be tabled. This carried and the amendment was killed.

Rawlins thought the bill was not well drawn. He insisted that it prevented persons held as suspects, from receiving any treatment which they might desire, until they were declared to be lepers.

Kalepou said that was what was not desired. He said that he didn't want to see people condemned on the word of one man. That is the trouble now. Hundreds of people, he declared, are in Molokai now on the word of the bacteriologist, who have no leprosy. If the bacteriologist should have a grudge against a member in the house he might at present seize and inoculate him and give him the leprosy, in order to get him out of the way. He declared that he knew several persons personally who had been sent to the settlement who were not afflicted with leprosy. He did not want to see experiments on leprosy. If a person thinks he can cure the disease he should be allowed to work on genuine lepers, and not on suspects.

Rawlins made a motion to defer action on the bill till tomorrow. The motion lost.

A vote on the passage of the bill carried by a vote of 16 to 11 as follows:

"Ayes"—Alawa, Correa, Joseph, Kahuana, Kalona, Kalepou, Kalana, Keouli, Lelele, Mahoe, Moanualu, Nalima, Nukakaka, Paoo and Sheldon.

fighting. In Kentucky it has been held that the state cannot license gambling. In conclusion Judge Artman holds: "In view of these holdings, it must be held that the state cannot, under the guise of a license, delegate to the saloon business a legal existence, because to hold that it can is, to hold that the state may sell and delegate the right to make widows and orphans, the right to break up homes, the right to make misery and crime, the right to make murderers, the right to produce idiots, and lunatics, the right to fill orphanages, poor houses, insane asylums, jails and penitentiaries, and the right to furnish subjects for the human's gallows." He therefore refuses to authorize the granting of a license to the applicant.

The decision is probably one of the most radical and far reaching that has ever been rendered in the contest that has waged so fiercely and for so many years, and over such an immense extent of country, between the forces aligned against the liquor traffic and those aligned in its support. If it shall be sustained by the higher court, it will probably prove an epoch making.

The Pioneer Mill's bill for money expended to protect its own property from a riot of its own laborers, and expenses which it had had specifically agreed to pay, would seem to be about the limit of effort to get the public to foot the bills.

President Pinkham oughtn't to take it so hard. Communities that stand for Dowies, Schlatters and all the "herbalists," "oriental healers," "Shaker Rocks," "Indian remedies" and that sort of thing in the whole catalogue, are not going to put us under the ban just because Wallach claims he can cure leprosy.

It's a pretty drastic remedy that abolishes a board of education just to get rid of one teacher.

Pot measures in the legislature which haven't the favor of the Governor are getting into a parlous state.

office of County registrars, was called on second reading and was referred to the special County committee, as was House Bill No. 89, which provided for the establishment of the offices of these new officials.

House Bill No. 196, the arson measure, passed third reading.

House Bill No. 144, relating to garnishments, was referred on second reading to the Judiciary Committee.

Senate Bill No. 106, providing for the protection of the remains of certain of the sovereigns and high chiefs of Hawaii, passed second reading.

Senate Bill No. 107, relating to fees of witnesses and jurors being made taxable to the losing party in a suit, subject to the direction of the court in accordance with equity practices, was referred on second reading to the Judiciary Committee.

The Senate then took up the second reading of House Bill No. 191, the deficiency appropriation bill. The Ways and Means Committee had, earlier in the morning, reported against paying Hackfeld's claim for expenses of quelling the Lahaina riot.

Hayselden moved that the report be adopted on second reading, except as regarding cutting out the item of Hackfeld & Co.

Hayselden spoke against cutting out the item due H. Hackfeld & Co. in connection with the quelling of the riot. He said it was not right to force a single taxpayer to bear the expenses like this. If that strike had not been quelled when it was, it would have spread all over Maui and the damage would have been done to all other property as well as that of Pioneer plantation. Had that riot succeeded it would have extended all over Maui as well as possibly to the other islands. It was not justice and equity to ask the single firm to bear this expense. All of the taxpayers should bear the expenses and not a single plantation.

Smith said it was a question of maintaining law and order, and the militia should be at the disposal of every part of the community. Riots should be suppressed. He felt that it would not be just to refuse to buy the claim.

Dowsett said that the committee had been informed that much of the money had been used, not for the militia but for arming private men to guard the cane fields and property of Pioneer plantation. Hackfeld & Co. had agreed to stand the expenses of the trip of the militia, and it seemed rather late to come in now and ask the legislature to reimburse it, when the legislature had been in session at the time that the trip was made. The trouble had been due to some dispute between a luna and a laborer. In answer to a question by Bishop, Dowsett admitted that if Hackfeld & Co. had not guaranteed the steamship fare of the party of militia to Lahaina, the militia would not have gone.

Coelho explained that the reason that no money had been appropriated by the last legislature to pay this item was because Governor Carter had told W. W. Harris of the House, that it was not necessary to make the appropriation as it was understood that Hackfeld & Co. had agreed to pay the expenses.

Hayselden said that the reason Hackfeld & Co. had guaranteed the expenses had been the fact that the steamship people had refused to send out their boat with the militia unless they were guaranteed the payment of the trip. If Hackfeld & Co. had not guaranteed the money the party could not have gone. He explained that the trouble arose between a contractor and some Japanese. The speaker felt that it was a shame if taxpayers had to defray the expenses of maintaining order when it was the duty of the entire community to check riots. The arrival of the militia had checked a most serious riot. Hayselden said that he understood most of the claim had gone toward defraying the actual expenses of the militia on that trip.

Chillingworth admitted that it was the duty of the country to put down riots but he did not favor appropriating money to stop riots that had been caused by a lack of tact on the part of plantation employees. He thought that if a plantation by a lack of tact on the part of its employees, caused a riot, they should have to pay the expenses of causing the uprising. There had been a far more serious riot at Waipahu in 1904 than the Lahaina strike and the presence of 250 armed men had been necessary to put the riot down, yet there had been request that money be appropriated to defray the expenses of that riot.

Smith and Hayselden spoke in favor of the measure, but on motion of Chillingworth consideration of the measure was deferred until 2 p. m.

A report from the Conference Committee on House Bill No. 187, the general license measure, was made by Dowsett. The report of the committee was not adopted so a new committee will be named.

Consideration of House Bill 34, the measure that provided for the treatment of leprosy in its incipient state, was then called for consideration on third reading on motion of Lane.

Lane made an amendment to provide that the treatment of the patients at the receiving hospital a Kalihii during the incipient stages until they were cured or were declared incurable which he later withdrew.

Smith moved to amend the bill by striking out the section that sought to allow the patients to be confined at the proposed Kalihii hospital and to permit their friends and relatives to visit them subject to restrictions by the Board of Health. He spoke strongly in favor of the motion. He contended that the station was not the proper place. The patients, if they went to the settlement would be better treated and have more pleasant surroundings. The detention at the Kalihii hospital would, on the contrary, be most depressing. He said that Hawaiians did not fear leprosy as they ought and they did not take the proper care and precautions in their meetings with lepers. He pointed out the danger of infection if this feature of the bill to permit these meetings of relatives, were enacted. He said that it would not be acting in good faith toward the Federal government which was establishing hospitals at the settlement. He said that the patients would have better facilities for treatment at the settlement than at the station.

Chillingworth at this point asked to be allowed to make certain amendments which he thought would meet with the approval of Senator Smith. The latter yielded the floor to Chillingworth who offered his amendments. The amendments provided that the patients who were to be treated at the Kalihii hospital, could remain there no longer than a period of six months. Under the provision of the original bill they might be kept there for an indefinite time.

Smith secured a further modification of the bill by striking out the provision relative to the persons hiding lepers. The bill sought to qualify the existing laws so that a person was punishable if they housed or secreted persons who might transmit the disease. Under such a provision an indefinite amount of litigation might ensue. This provision was, therefore, on motion of Smith, knocked out and the statutes on this score left as at present. The bill then passed third reading.

At noon the Senate took a recess until 2 p. m.

IN THE HOUSE

On motion the bill passed first reading in the House. This bill prohibits the placing of advertisement bill boards in any vacant lots or vacant lands, or on fences under penalty of a fine of $10 to $100.

The Senate also reported the passage of House bill 103 with an amendment to make the appropriation $12,000 instead of $15,000. This was concurred in by the House. The bill is to build a stone embankment on the Waimea river.

The Conference Committee on House Bill 187 relative to licensing various industries and occupations, and recommended the striking out of the provision requiring peddlers to be furnished with a metallic tag. The report was adopted.

House Bill 207 to protect the owners of soda water and other bottles, was submitted to a third reading. The bill provides a fine of 50 cents for each such bottle sold unlawfully.

Kaleiupu moved to make the fine 10 cents, but lost. He then moved to indefinitely postpone action on the bill on the ground that it will work a hardship on people who make a business of selling these bottles.

Coney explained that only marked bottles came under this law, and would not effect any body handling plain bottles.

Castro suggested a compromise amendment making the fine 15 cents. This carried.

Rawlins then introduced some amendments requiring the publishing of a description of the bottles, in English and Hawaiian languages, in newspapers, which carried.

Kalei moved to amend the bill by making the imprisonment not to exceed three days instead of ten as in the bill. This also carried.

The bill finally came to a vote, considerably after the regular hour for the noon recess had arrived, and it passed by a vote of 18 to 10. The measure which is simply for the protection of bottling concerns which use expensive bottles, and was unobjectionable, but caused almost as much row as one of the appropriation bills.

The Governor reported to the House the signing of House Bill 159, providing for County laws, and House Bill 160 providing for the purchase of County Bonds by the Territorial Government.

The House took a recess at 12:15 until 2 p. m.

IN THE SENATE

FORTY-SIXTH DAY.

Senate bill No. 28, giving people not physicians, the right to treat lepers sanathies or consumptives came up on third reading. The measure caused a great deal of discussion, Coelho favored the measure. Smith moved to postpone the bill. He urged that it was a very serious thing to open the doors to the wholesale treatment by persons not trained in such practice.

Bishop made a most convincing speech against the bill. He said it went as far in one direction as the other bill did in another. It would be very unwise to publish to the world the fact that we were giving the right to any person to practice. It was wrong to advertise the fact that any one like this miserable perjured wretch of a Wallach was permitted to go among the lepers and practice his alleged cures.

Such a thing would mean that instead of the patients there being considered with the sympathy that was shown them under the present control by the Territory, it would mean that the sexes at Molokai would be segregated. He had been asked in Washington by a prominent official there if the sexes were not segregated at the settlement and when told that they were not, had expressed the utmost astonishment and said that it was outrageous. Bishop urged that they should go slow with the bill under consideration and expressed the hope that the bill as well as the other measure be laid quietly away. He urged that the motion be carried.

Coelho moved to defer further consideration so that the measure could be considered with House bill No. 91. His motion prevailed.

Senate bill No. 87 providing for the protection of birds passed third reading.

House bill No. 47, creating more holidays was on third reading indefinitely postponed.

House bill No. 123, regulating the license for hunting with fire arms passed third reading. House bill No. 192 requiring that owners of and dealers in fire arms and deadly weapons supply the county clerks with information concerning the same passed third reading.

Senate bill No. 105 repealing the recently enacted law granting fees to witnesses in criminal cases was referred on second reading to the Judiciary committee.

Consideration of House bill No. 163 appropriating money for the embankment of Waimea stream, Kauai, was on third reading deferred until 2 p. m.

Smith introduced a bill relating to court costs. It was given first reading by title.

Senate bill No. 79, relating to trusts and punishment for violations of the laws thereon, came up on second reading. Chillingworth moved to defer for one week, Dowsett to indefinitely postpone. Hayseiden lay on the table. The latter motion prevailed.

House bill No. 94 came up on second reading. Action was deferred until 2 p. m.

Notice of the appointment of a conference committee from the House to consider Senate amendment to House bill No. 187 the general license measure was received.

Dowsett, Hewitt and Hayseiden were appointed a conference committee on the measure.

At 11:45 the Senate took a recess until 2 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION

House bill No. 162 appropriating $15,000 for the Waimea river embankment, Kauai, was made $12,000 and passed third reading.

House bill No. 154 providing for the sale or lease of property, went on second reading to the Judiciary committee.

House bill No. 156 relating to coroner's inquests passed second reading. House bill No. 190 defining arson and changing the statutes so as to include traps and their cargoes passed third reading.

Senate bill No. 191 the anti-ster board bill, came up on third reading in consideration with the Judiciary committee report. The amendments by the committee were adopted and the bill then passed third reading.

Senate bill No. 103 appointing money to pay the claims under the public lands department involving $3,225, was referred to the lands committee on second reading.

House bill No. 153 appropriating $2,000 to assist the Hawaiian experiment station, passed second reading.

Senate bill No. 104 the irrigation measure went on second reading went to the Public Lands committee.

House bill No. 94, on second reading came up. This is the bill that regulates the practice of medicine and surgery. It was considered in connection with the majority and minority committee reports.

House Bill No. 91, the medical practice measure, was called on second reading and considered in connection with committee reports. Dowsett moved to amend the measure so that the use of hypnotism and water in treatment of sickness could be used

AFTERNOON SESSION, FORTY-SIXTH DAY.

The Senate reported the passage of House Bill 139 as having passed a third reading in that body. This bill provides a license fee of $5 for any one hunting with firearms on the Island of Oahu.

The Senate also reported having passed House Bill 192 with slight amendments. This bill provides for the registration of fire arms and ammunition by owners of same. The amendments were immaterial to the sense of the bill and were concurred in by the House.

House Bill 211, relating to laundries and prescribing what premises may be used for public washing, came up for a third reading.

Rawlins moved to amend by striking out the penalty of hard labor for violation of the law, which carried.

Action on the bill was deferred till tomorrow.

House Bill 208, establishing a fee for licenses to sell awa at $500 for Honolulu, $100 for South Hilo, Wailuku and Lahaina, and $50 for each other taxation district, was passed at a third reading with two votes opposing.

Senate Bill 70 appropriating $5274 for additional use of the department of Public Works, was passed a third reading without opposition.

A communication from the Executive department reported to the House that the Governor had affixed his signature to House Bill 91 relating to costs of courts, and House Bill 86 relating to powers and duties of the Board of Supervisors. These bills are now laws.

Senate Bill 72 to exempt lepers in the County of Kalawao from taxation, passed at a third reading.

Senate Bill 85, appropriating $25,000 construction and maintenance of College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts, passed a third reading in the House without opposition.

House Bill 204 providing exempting from taxes for ten years, irrigation systems, other than in Honolulu came up for a third reading.

Kalelopi moved to indefinitely postpone action on the bill. He spoke at some length against the bill which he said was favoritism, and would work ill to the public.

Rawlins supported the measure. He said it was as just to exempt irrigation works as railroads, for which laws are already passed.

Castro moved to strike out the clause making exemption under the bill only applicable to systems 5 miles or over in length. The amendment carried.

A vote on the passage of the bill resulted 21 in favor and 8 opposed. The opposing votes were: Alawa, Kahua, Kaleo, Kalelopi, Kalana, Keonui, Mahoe and Nalima.

The House concurred with the Senate in amendments to House Bill 49 permitting railroads to use other than steam for motive power.

The Health and Police Committee reported on House Bill 193 permitting the treatment of lepers by any body who wants to try it, recommended the passage of the bill by a majority report.

Coney, Chairman, filed a minority report recommending the tabling of the bill on the grounds that the bill was not specific enough, and would give admittance to people who had other objects than treatment of leprosy. The bill, he stated, would permit any one to go to the settlement for two years, on their simple statement that they wish to treat lepers. The Board of Health would have no discretion in the matter.

The minority report was defeated, and the majority report adopted.

Senate Bill 82 was recommended to be tabled by the majority of the Health Committee, Coney filing a minority report recommending the passage of the bill on ground that it would expedite business of the office, when the President of the Board of Health. The bill provides for the appointment of a vice-president of the Board of Health.

Kalelopi opposed the bill. He said no vice-president had ever been needed and the department had been operated satisfactorily. While no salary is asked for this office, he believed that it would in a few years be asked for a salary for it.

The majority report was adopted.

The Committee on Agriculture reported on House Bill 187 providing a bounty of 10 cents per head for mungoes, in an effort to exterminate what has become a pest on the Islands, reported by persons other than regular physicians. This motion carried. The bill was finally tabled. Senate Bill No. 93, which was practically the same measure was also tabled on third reading.

Senator Chillingworth introduced a bill relating to liquid explosives and fixing the flash test for gasoline. Hayseiden introduced a bill to abolish the commissioners of the department of Education. Dowsett opposed the measure and favored rejecting the bill. After some discussion it was decided to read the bill by title and allow it to go to the printer, Dowsett withdrawing his motion.

The Senate then adjourned.

KAALI MUSIC SCHOOL RECITAL.

On Saturday evening, April 20th, at the Alexander Young Hotel pavilion, Ernest Kaali, the gifted artist and teacher, will delight all lovers of music to a grand recital by his talented pupils. The entertainers comprise the children of tender ages, the intermediate Miss, and the more matured debutantes, all uniting with one purpose, to better and excel many of its previous recitals. There are many new soloists who have never appeared on any stage before and besides the club work of the little ones is a rare treat. The mandolin clubs of three schools in this community will also take part, and the feeling as to who has the best club is creating a great deal of interest among the participants, and hence they are practicing with untiring efforts to secure the honor. Every stringed instrument, such as violins, mandolins, guitars, banos, ukuleles, zithers, will be brought out, introducing the principal feature of the Kaali music school.

TWO PINTS OF CHAMPAGNE ONLY, DRUNK

THE STORY OF THE ROYAL SHANDYGAFF IS MUCH MODIFIED—LONDONERS AND CHAMPAGNE.

D. B. Maconachie says that in the report of his testimony before the Loch Garve investigating board as published in the Star yesterday some mistakes were made. It was stated that "Mr. Maconachie told of the master of the Loch Garve boarding the steamer (the Mauna Loa) and refreshing himself with some of those aboard with sparkling champagne in generous quantities." Mr. Maconachie states that only two pints in all were drunk and that Captain Ritchie shared the first pint with one other, and the second pint with two others.

Captain Ritchie says it is very common for Londoners to put brandy in their champagne, as he had done on this occasion.

ATKINSON GOES TO MAUI

GOES TO CONFER REGARDING ENTERTAINMENT OF VISITING CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE.

Secretary of the Territory Atkinson left today for Maui to confer with the Maui people over the plans for entertaining the Congressional party. The local official will after completing the necessary arrangements with the Maui people, return to Honolulu by the Claudine day after tomorrow. Champ Clark the famous Democratic leader will, in all likelihood be one of the party. Delegate Kuhio has not received a complete list of the various Congressmen in the party but it is likely that his private secretary, George B. McClellan, will forward that information by an early mail.

Ah Hoy Makes Bad Accusations

SAYS THAT J. H. RAYMOND OF MAUI GOT HIM OUT OF HIS BUTCHER SHOP AT WAILUKU.

Jim Ah Hoy, by his attorney, George D. Gear, has brought suit against J. H. Raymond, Phoebe Raymond and the Waterhouse Trust Company, trustees of the Raymonds. Rather sensational charges are made against Raymond.

It is alleged that the plaintiff had a butcher shop at Wailuku and he contracted to purchase meat from Raymond. This contract went into effect in 1905. The Chinese claims he always paid his bills. On November 23, 1905, Raymond is alleged to have given a typewritten paper to the Chinese to sign, representing that the paper was a power of attorney, giving Raymond the authority to collect bills of the Chinese. On March 4, 1906, Raymond is alleged to have ejected the plaintiff from his latter's butcher shop and to have conducted the establishment ever since. Jim says that instead of the typewritten paper being a power of attorney, it was a bill of sale to the butcher establishment for $813, which was to be applied as part payment on a debt of $1250 which Jim was alleged to owe the Waterhouse Trust Company for the Raymonds. A debt that he denies ever having incurred.

Jim claims that he signed the document without knowing the nature of its contents. It was never explained to him and he, not being able to read, took Raymond's representation of its nature. A representation that he says was false. Jim now wants to have the bill of sale cancelled, to be given back his shop and to have such other relief as the court in equity may decide.

VENTURA SIGHTED UNDER SLOW BELL

S. S. HONGKONG MARU PASSES OCEANIC BOAT FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

The S. S. Hongkong Maru, arriving from San Francisco this afternoon, sighted the S. S. Ventura bound for the coast last Friday afternoon. The Ventura, for some reason unknown to the people aboard the Hongkong Maru was poking along at about 7 knots. The Ventura was ideal and no head winds or rough seas prevailed.

Big Values In Jardineres

The American as well as the European Manufacturers have produced some very striking and highly artistic specimens this season, the best of which we are now showing to the delight of our customers.

The low prices at which some styles (and they are all good) can be bought obviate the reason of economy for makeshift coverings for unsightly flower pots; coverings which do not insure against accidental musses from over-watering.

No flower pot should be without its jardineres—when it costs so little and means so much practically and artistically.

ALL SIZES IN DIFFERENT STYLES. W. W. Dimond & Co., Ltd. 59-67 King Street, Honolulu, T. H.
