FAIR A SUCCESS.

Wray Taylor Plans for More Exhibits Throughout the Year.

Honolulu, August 4.—"Yes, I consider our first Agricultural exhibit under the territorial government an eminently satisfactory one," said Commissioner of Agriculture Wray Taylor. "Of course you must remember that it was only a beginning, following exhibits will have the advantage of all the experience and advertising of this one. We were disappointed in a few things and we could not arrange the displays exactly as we wanted to, but the fair succeeded I feel sure, in its primary object, that of arousing and increasing the general interest in the agricultural products of Hawaii.

"Before we go any further, I want to say that whatever interest was aroused will not be allowed to die down. We are not going to rest on our oars until next year but try and keep things moving in the interim. I intend in about four months from now giving an exhibit in the government nursery grounds, not on a large scale at all, indeed limited to one or two subjects. The nursery is admirably adapted in many ways for such a display. The grounds are very pleasant and, planted as they are with varieties of rare shrubs and trees, very instructive. We are now having labels placed on the trees so that he who runs, may read. There is a large space there that could readily be roofed over with an awning, benches could be distributed about the walks and instead of the afternoon band concert at Emma square some afternoon, we will hold it at the nursery.

"Such an exhibit would emulate in a small way, the dahlia and chrysanthemum show of other countries. With our climate the flower display of Hawaii should be wonderful under proper interest. Mr. Perkins has got a fungus that acts very energetically on the Japanese beetle pest and we are rapidly finding enemies for our flower destroying pests. The first exhibit might be confined to carnations, the next to ferns and so on.

"Forester Haugh's miniature forest has been taken to the nursery and placed under a big tree where the young trees are doing splendidly. There were not slips as many seemed to think but seedlings taken out of the nursery pots [up Nuuanu valley. There were six varieties in all. The silk oak, eucalyptus, acacia melnoxylon (a sort of foreign koa), Monterey cypress and catalpa.

"To return to the fair. Everything went along very smoothly and the chief elements of the success, the exhibitors themselves, seemed highly pleased. Many of them expressed surprise at our capability in displaying the exhibits as well as we did. There have been a large number of "if we had only known" laments from people who had good exhibits to make but refrained for various reasons. One exhibit of naval oranges and another of green figs and big banana bunches will come in next year if they still have the goods to deliver.

"We disappointed in not getting a big display of rice, paddy and sugar cane. The idea of an agricultural exhibit in Hawaii without sugar cane! I would have made them from the department but we expected them to come in. Then guavas; there are lots of guavas in Kalihi valley yet that could have been brought in. And such local products as tobacco sauce, poha jam, preserved papaia, guava jelly, should all have been presented.

"I was unable to get the exhibit of natural woods completed in time, but next year we must show the public what beautiful decorative woods we have here. I hope, too, there will be tourists in town or at least a coast steamer here. Of course there were many fruits eliminated through the season, but there are plenty that can yet be shown. Native flowers, too, can be brought in, lantana barred of course.

"I have great hopes from the legislature—Senator George Carter was an exhibitor and is an enthusiast and Senator Crabbe is also much interested. Next time we ought to get a good appropriation and then the grazier's association can work in hand with us. The interests of both, in questions of forests and fodder supply, lie very closely together and a fair with poultry and cattle would be very interesting. All our benches we still have ready for future occasions. We have kept within the appropriations all right, indeed some of the exhibitors who were entitled to money have stated that they would prefer the diplomas which really are more valuable to them as certificates of merit, so that we are that way too."

ATTACK OLD WILL.

Robert William Holt Heirs Seek to Break Old Testament.

A most remarkable will case has just been instituted, being nothing less than to break a will admitted to probate in the Supreme Court forty years ago.

It is the last will and testament of Robert William Holt, who died in Honolulu on July 6, 1862, and whose will was presented for probate four days later. The deceased left surviving him three sons—James R. Holt and John D. Holt now living and Owen J. Holt the elder now deceased—and a daughter named Elizabeth, then the wife of William A. Aldrich, both of whom have since deceased, as well as a widow, Wali Holt, since deceased.

The petitioners for revocation of the will are: James R. Holt, John D. Holt, John D. Holt Jr., James L. Holt and John F. Colburn, whose respective rights as suitors are set forth in the petition.

William A. Aldrich, son-in-law of the testator, was appointed executor of the will, after whom came divers persons acting as administrators or trustees, the present trustee being Henry Smith who succeeded Bruce Cartwright. The trust at present comprises land on this island of a value exceeding $10,000 and personal property of the value of about $27,000.

The petition asks: That the order of the Supreme Court on July 26, 1862, admitting the will to probate, may be revoked, annulled and cancelled.

That the order appointing William A. Aldrich as executor may be revoked, annulled and cancelled.

That the subsequent orders appointing in succession James W. Austin, Henry Thompson, James W. Austin, A. Francis Judd, A. J. Cartwright and Bruce Cartwright, as administrators or trustees, may be severally revoked, annulled and cancelled.

That the order of the Circuit Court on June 4, 1900, appointing Henry Smith as trustee be revoked annulled and cancelled.

That said Robert William Holt be declared and decreed to have died intestate, and that an administrator of his estate be appointed.

That Carlos A. Long or some other suitable person, acceptable to petitioners, be appointed as administrator.

That the usual orders for publication be made, and the parties interested be cited to appear.

C. W. Ashford and Elia A. C. Long are attorneys for petitioners.

Utilization of Wastes.

The census bureau has issued a report on the utilization of wastes and by-products in manufactures. The report denies that the profitable employment of wastes in manufacture has reached its highest degree of attainment. Instead it predicts further developments even to the extent of converting by-products into the main product of an industry. The most conspicuous instance of such reversion in the last decades of the nineteenth century is in the revelations of coal tar and the highly developed utilization of its many by-products. In the course of a resume of the subject by industries the report says, among other things, that from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 worth of wool fat and potash are run down the streams and wasted annually in the United States, and similar lost opportunities for utilizing waste material are pointed out.—Washington Star.

Pennsylvania Town Is Rent With Scenes of Riot and Terror.

Harrisburg (Pa.), July 30.—Governor Stone has ordered the Eighth and Twelfth Regiments and the Governor's troops of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, in command of General J. P. S. Gobin, to proceed immediately to Shenandoah, in response to an appeal from Sheriff Beddall.

"Shenandoah (Pa.), July 30.—William A. Stone, Governor: Deputy Sheriff and two assistants surrounded and one killed; three of mob shot by Sheriff; three local policemen shot, one possibly fatally. Town is without police protection and local government terrorized; threatened by mob if they sign petition. Feeling running very high. Mine workers admit foreign element beyond their control. Mob is beyond control; situation requires greatest haste. Sheriff powerless for want of sufficient assistance.

S. ROWLAND BEDDALL, Sheriff."

Subsequently the following message was received from the Sheriff:

"Pottsville (Pa.), July 30.—William Stone, Governor, and Adjutant-General Thomas J. Stewart, Harrisburg: Bloodshed and riot in this country; property destroyed, citizens killed and injured. Situation beyond my control. Troops should be sent to Shenandoah immediately.

"S. ROWLAND BEDDALL, Sheriff."

Shenandoah, July 30.—A reign of terror, compared with which the scene enacted during the riots of 1900 seems insignificant, holds Shenandoah in its grasp tonight.

Since 6 o'clock this evening Center street, one of the prominent thoroughfares, has been in the hands of infuriated mobs.

Four of the borough policemen were shot, one perhaps fatally. Joseph Beddall, a leading merchant and cousin of Sheriff Beddall, was clubbed to death, and about forty strikers whose names could not be ascertained were shot by the policemen. It is expected that many deaths will result. Sheriff Beddall arrived from Pottsville at 7:45 o'clock this evening, when Deputy Sheriff Thomas Beddall attempted to escort two non-union workers through the strikers' line of pickets. The workmen were dressed in their street clothes, but one of them carried a bundle under his arm, and this aroused the suspicion of the strikers. The bundle was torn from him, and when it was found to contain a blouse and overalls the man was taken from the deputy and beaten almost to death.

In the meantime Beddall opened fire on the mob which had gathered and emptied his revolver. Two of the shots took effect, one man being shot in the leg and the other in the foot.

The deputy and the other strike breakers were now compelled to fly for their lives and took refuge in the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad depot. The depot was soon surrounded by an angry mob of 5,000 men which was becoming more threatening and demonstrative every moment.

Joseph H. Beddall, a hardware merchant, was seen making his way through the crowd, and the mob divining that he was carrying ammunition to those inside the depot, seized him and beat him with clubs and billies into insensibility.

Boer Commander is Lionized.

London, July 29.—General Lucas Meyer, formerly commander of the Orange Free State forces, is being lionized in London. He has dined with Alfred Rothschild and will lunch tomorrow with Earl Roberts, commander-in-chief of the British forces. Anxiety in Constantinople.

Constantinople, July 30.—Considerable anxiety is felt in diplomatic circles here over the increasing unrest in Macedonia and Albania as a result of renewed activity of the revolutionary committees.

EARTHQUAKES AT LOS ALAMOS.

Twisting Temblor Tumbles Buildings and Chimneys.

Los Alamos, Santa Barbara county, July 31.—At 1:20 o'clock this morning the most severe earthquake felt here this season almost demolished the town. The Presbyterian Church, a large and handsome brick structure, was raised to the ground, and a similar fate befel the general store of W. S. Wickenben, also a brick building.

It is believed that not a chimney is left standing nor a window unbroken. The people are panic-stricken. They have deserted their ruined homes and are congregated in the open, where they cannot be injured by falling walls.

At this time it is impossible to ascertain if any lives have been lost, but the completeness of the ruin on every side warrants the prediction that daylight will bring discovery of fatalities.

The temblor lasted about thirty seconds, and was of the "twister" kind. People were thrown from their beds by the shock, and in the houses left standing the furniture is wrecked and jumbled.

It was the fifth earthquake felt here since July 27th, and it is feared that the end is not yet.

Santa Barbara, July 31, 1:20 a. m.—An earthquake lasting ten seconds has just been felt here.

Hanalei To Laysan.

Honolulu, August 5.—Today about noon, H. Hackfeld & Co., concluded its negotiations with the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Co. with the result that the steamer Hanalei will be sent to Laysan Island as soon as possible. As this steamer has been lying in the row for some time and therefore will have to be furnished with boats, sails, etc., before she can start, she will probably not be able to depart before Friday morning.

The principal reason for dispatching the steamer is that it is feared that the inhabitants are getting short of provisions which the firm had expected to send by the Ceylon had she been in port in time. The Hanalei will take a large load of supplies and rice for the Japanese laborers on the Island, of whom there are about forty. These supplies will be sufficient to last the population of the small island throughout the winter.

Mr. Isenberg of Hackfeld & Co., stated this morning that the Hanalei was not sent because the firm felt any anxiety for the Ceylon, but entirely because the firm wants to be sure that the people get their provisions in time.

In the meantime, the Hanalei will of course keep a sharp lookout for the overdue bark. The Hanalei will take a load of about 800 tons of fertilizer with her from Laysan.

ENGLAND'S PRIME MINISTER.

The public life of Prime Minister Balfour reads like a romance written by a romancer unacquainted with cause and effect. The very qualities which would have chained other men forever in the dungeons of obscurity, have worked in Balfour's case to pedestalize him. It is one of the note worthy characteristics of the history of English statesmen, that some of the greatest of them have risen to the top and swayed the destiny of the empire, in spite of personal defects, early in life, which would have elsewhere insured them oblivion. Who can explain the prodigious power required for Disraeli to overcome his own defects? Yet what strength he had left to him after mastering self, to devote to the empire. Balfour's career presents a similar enigma.

It may be truthfully said that one of the frailties of Democracy is that it affords no opportunities for the development of such unusual characters as those of Lord Beaconsfield and the present Prime Minister of England.

FRIAR'S MUST GO.

Rome, Aug. 1.—According to statements obtained from reliable sources, it is the intention of the Vatican that the friars of the Augustinian, Dominican, Franciscan and Recoletto orders now in Manila, who number about 450 men, shall leave there in small numbers at different times, so that when the moment comes to resume negotiations between Governor Taft and the apostolic delegation all the friars will have left the archipelago in such a way that the friar question will have solved itself without the necessity of further discussion.

SINCE it appears that Porto Ricans are not citizens, there is no use to spend any time or money in corraling the P. R. vote.

THE ADVERTISER says the TRIBUNE'S political gossip last week was offensive. The kernel of truth has ever been a bitter pill for that journal.

WOULD the Advertiser kindly outline its own pet program of harmony in order that the 'sow's ears' may tuck themselves away in the folds of the silk purse?

It is indeed an aggravated instance of "the end justifies the means," if all this man hunting is merely for the purpose of running undesirable residents out of town.

If the Matson Navigation Company continues to purchase vessels at the rate they have been doing the past year, the line will soon comprise the most formidable fleet on the Pacific.

In disposing of the Friar question in the Philippines, the President, Secretary Root, Governor Taft and His Holiness the Pope, have proved themselves true disciples of Twentieth Century civilization.

THE coming of Prince Cupid will at least demonstrate that political enthusiasm can be aroused in Hilo in some quarters. If his presence stills the troubled waters and appeases all dissatisfied hearts his coming will be hailed as that of a deliverer.

The convention met at 11 o'clock a. m. and formed a temporary organization, electing W. C. Cook of Papaikou, chairman and W. S. McLean of Hilo, secretary. After passing on the credentials of candidates, the following permanent officers were unanimously elected. P. Peck, chairman; J. F. Clay, vice-president; secretary W. S. McLean; treasurer, J. Vierra. The executive committee consists of J. D. Lewis, E. W. Bernard, W. Kaumana, W. C. Cook, J. K. Dillon, A. Lidgate, M. V. Holmes and J. G. Jones.

The convention adjourned at which hour the platform committee was ready with its report which was as follows:

PLATFORM ADOPTED BY DISTRICT COMMITTEE OF THE FIRST REPRESENTATIVE DISTRICT OF HAWAII.

The Republican party of 1st District of Hawaii, in convention assembled, urge all good citizens to unite with the republican party and support the following Declaration of Principles and Platform:

We heartily re-affirm the Principles of the Republican party.

We request more speedy improvements of our harbors, wharfage and landing facilities throughout this Territory.

We should give our attention not only to the diversified industries, but as well to the workshop and the factory that they may be established, grow and prosper as elsewhere under the American flag.

We favor the employment on all Public Works of only qualified voters and citizens of the Territory.

We recommend continued liberal appropriations for the maintenance and comfort of our unfortunate fellow citizens at Kalaupapa Molokai.

We favor the establishment of county and municipal government as soon as practicable.

We oppose all trusts and monopolies and all combinations tending to control supplies and prices.

We approve of the use of the Hawaiian language in legislative debates.

We recognize the necessity of reforming our system of taxation and to this end favor careful consideration of the whole subject with a view to adjusting the public burden so that it shall be least felt by the poor.

Relying upon the wisdom and support of the voters of the Territory of Hawaii, more especially to our Hawaiian fellow citizens and the guidance of Divine Providence, we shall earnestly strive to carry out the foregoing declarations and to do whatever else may be necessary to perpetuate upon our soil a government of the people, by the people and for the people.

W. G. WALKER, J. F. CLAY, JAMES D. LEWIS, J. K. DILLON, GEO. H. WILLIAMS.

The matter of making nominations for the House and Senate was discussed and finally deferred until a meeting in September to be called by the chairman. The place of holding the District Convention was sharply debated and the vote showed almost an even break between Hilo and Laupahoehoe with a narrow margin for Hilo.

PERFECT HARMONY.

Steamship Official Says Homeward Freights are Demoralized.

London, July 29.—Richard Henderson, presiding at a meeting of the Anchor Line today, said that homeward freights in the American trade had been demoralized for the past eighteen months and that there was small prospect of speedy improvement. There had been great disappointment at the small maize crop. The general American freight outlook was unpromising. Mr. Henderson said he did not think the Morgan combine would injuriously affect the Anchor Line, since the lines had working agreements. All interests involved, he said, were now working in perfect harmony.

No Strength

Are you easily tired? Is your work a burden? Do you often feel weak and faint? Is your appetite poor? Are you easily discouraged? Then your nerves are weak and your blood impure. Sickness is not far away.

Mr. Frederik Devigne, of Claremont, Cape Colony, South Africa, sends his photograph and this letter:

"My blood often becomes impure, causing eruptions on the skin, and my general system gets all run down, causing indigestion, and great debility. STANDARD OIL COMBINE.
Interests Are United to Control the Markets of the Earth.

London, July 30.—In its issue of this morning the "Daily Mail" declares there is no longer any doubt that the three monster oil interests of Rockefeller, Rothschild and Nobel have entered into a working agreement.

"Thus," says the paper, "without any publicity the greatest trust the world has ever seen has sprung into being."

"This combination has been hinted at in messages from Batoum and Moscow, and it has been more clearly shown in the offers made to Russian oil exporters by representatives of the Nobel and Rothschild interests for the absorption of the whole of the output.

"The exporters have been bidden to sell through the agencies of these interests at a price arranged by them, or to fight the combined forces of the three oil giants."

The offer was made independently and with the idea of maintaining prices, and it has been refused, the Russian exporters preferring to fight.

"It was doubtless this combine," continues the "Daily Mail," "which induced the Russian Government to issue invitations to an anti-trust conference.

"The spokesman of the great combines declare it means a fight to the death and that the independent exporters cannot hope to win."

In December, 1901, the oil magnates who controlled the Amalgamated Copper Company challenged to war the gigantic aggregation of European money represented by the Rothschilds. It was a war for the control of the copper mines of the world, and when Mr. Rockefeller went into it he made as his battle cry, "The Standard Oil Company has never lost a fight." That war cry has evidently been carried to victory in this case and there is little doubt that the amalgamation of the oil interests represented in this new gigantic deal also means a combination of similar powers in the world's copper markets.

The new combination is by no means one of the present days, but extends over years. As long ago as 1896 the Standard Oil Company sought to control the petroleum trade of Germany and met as its chief opponents the Rothschild interests. As the next move a number of shares of the Nobel Brothers, the great Russian oil merchants, were quietly secured, and with these as a lever the Standard made again its fight on the German markets.

The Russian product was poured into Germany and the effect of Russian competition, engineered by the Standard, was soon felt. The deal with the Nobels was soon followed by an announcement that the Russians and the Standard had signed an agreement practically dividing the petroleum world between them. This announcement also had its effect and the Rothschilds soon intimated that they were ready to talk business.

The agreement in some way fell through and then came the war by the Standard people against the Rothschilds through the medium of the copper mines, and this latest move is, as has been said, the result of that shrewd dealing.

The Standard has long absolutely controlled the oil market of France; and as the Russian field of supply includes the great Asiatic territories of Sumatra, Java and Tonquin, it can be said that as a literal fact the new deal controls the markets of the world.

The last consolidation of the interests is a remarkable example of the persistent way in which the Standard has narrowed the markets of the world until but three great sources of supply or control were left, and now this trinity has been consolidated in unity.

MOURNERS CLUBBED.

Riots in New York and Brooklyn on the Occasion of a Funeral.

New York, July 30.—Rarely in modern times has there been such a remarkable demonstration of grief as was witnessed in this city at the funeral of the late Jacob Josephs, chief rabbi of the orthodox Hebrew congregations in the United States.

By 10 o'clock fully 50,000 men, women and children in somber garb packed the narrow streets from curb to curb, and the air was filled with a vast chorus of lamentations. Sergeant McSweeney and thirty policemen from the Madison street station tried to keep the crowd in order, but they were unable to cope with the surging multitude and Captain Thompson arrived with fifty men.

The police charged upon the crowd and a pitiful panic followed. Many women fainted. Children were torn from their mothers' arms and tiny boys and girls were stamped on by the multitude. Scores of injured people were taken from the surging mass and carried to their homes. None of them, however, had been severely hurt. At length when the ceremonies in the house had been brought to a close, a crowd of fully 100,000 filled Henry street.

At 1 o'clock the procession, headed by the police, was passing the big printing press factory of R. Hoe & Co. at Grand, Broome and Sheriff streets, when a shower of bolts, screws and iron scraps, as well as oily waste and other offensive missiles, descended on the crowd and instantly there was the wildest excitement. The throng of mourners, frenzied by what they considered an insult to their illustrious dead, bombarded the factory with bricks and the same missiles that had been hurled at them, and in a short time they had succeeded in smashing every window in the immense establishment. Many of the windows were of plate glass and the breakage entailed considerable loss to the Hoe people.

The employees of the factory then turned several streams of water on the angered crowd from the windows of the factory. A riot call had been sent to the police headquarters by the Hoe people and reserves from a half-dozen downtown stations arrived in a hurry. Then followed a scene more turbulent than any that had taken place.

Another riot occurred while the procession was passing the axle works of former Mayor Wurster of Brooklyn, at Kent avenue and South Sixth street. Some one hurled a heavy block of wood from an upper window into the crowd and a repetition of the bloody affray on this side of the river was narrowly averted. The large force of police who were called out did not hesitate to use both fists and clubs.

SEA CAPTAIN MURDERED.

Cabin Boy of Fred J. Wood Fatally Assaults Captain on High Seas.

Honolulu, Aug. 6.—Yesterday at about 2 o'clock in the afternoon the four-masted schooner Fred J. Wood was sighted off Diamond Head. The Wood was bound from Portland for China with a load of lumber and her arrival at this port was a surprise. The vessel anchored outside the harbor flying signals of distress and Dr. Holt of the U. S. M. H. service went out to her.

The pilot had already boarded her and to the ears of the shore people on board told an awful tale of how the captain of the vessel, J. J. Jacobson, had been foully murdered by the Japanese cabin boy during the voyage.

When these facts became known ashore, Deputy Sheriff Chas. Chillingworth was dispatched by the High Sheriff to go on board the vessel, take charge of the prisoners and investigate the case. The deputy sheriff immediately left in a launch, taking with him Chester Doyle, Harry Flint and customs officer Raven. He boarded the vessel shortly before 5 o'clock and proceeded to do his work.

On the deck load of lumber fastened to a log chain running from the mizzen mast to a piece of timber lay the offender, the cabin boy Tanbara. His hands were handcuffed behind his back. His clothes were still smeared with the blood of the dead captain.

The story of the murder is briefly as follows, the details being brought out fully in the statements made in the vessel's log book which follow:

Tanbara, the Japanese cabin boy, was shipped in Portland, which port the vessel left with a load of lumber for China. He and the cook, Oto, soon became very chummy and the cabin boy soon showed himself to be a very bad character. On the 30th of July, the captain went into the donkey room which adjoins the galley, where Tanbara was. This was the last seen of him alive, for a few minutes later the sailors found him dead from wounds inflicted by a knife wielded by the murderous Japanese.

The men on board immediately tried to do what they could for the captain, but he was dead, and their efforts were of no avail. The murderer was chained and would have met instant death at the hands of the crew had the first mate, H. Meyer, not interfered.

The mate on this occasion showed himself to be a man of nerve, and had his wits about him. He organized a regular court and entered the statements of the witnesses to the tragedy in the log book. These statements, which give the facts of the case in a most complete manner, are as follows:

July 30, 1902.—At 6:30 a. m., Captain Jacobsen was killed by the cabin boy, J. Tanbara, by a stab in the right groin and cut in the forehead. I, the mate, then took charge of the vessel and set the course for Honolulu. Position at that time by dead reckoning the day before, Lat. 34.07 N. Long. 157.16 W.

At about 6:30 a. m., I, the mate, was called by the cook, Oto, saying that the cabin boy had stabbed the captain. I ran up on deck at once, where I met Louis Samuel shouting, "Mate, Mate, cabin boy stabbed captain!" I ran forward at once, following Samuel. When I came to the mainmast I heard the second mate's voice from the donkey room shouting for help. I ran down there at once. The captain was then lying on the doorstep to the donkey room with one hand holding onto the cabin boy's shoulder and the other hand holding onto the cabin boy's left hand.

The cabin boy was lying partly underneath the captain inside of the donkey room with a big carving knife in the captain's groin. The second mate was lying with his knees on the top of the cabin boy's chest, trying to get the knife from the boy. Jean More was then trying to pull the captain clear of the cabin boy.

I took hold of the captain at once and helped lift him up on the doorstep. The captain was by all appearance dead by that time. The second mate, after getting the knife out of the wound, put his hand over it to stop the blood that was oozing out from the wound. I told one of the sailors to watch the boy and not let him get up.

The second mate threw the knife away and helped take the captain on top of the deck load. All the sailors were around by that time. When we got the captain on top of the deck load, the blood had stopped running and the captain was dead by that time. We could not do any more for him. I then got handcuffs and put on the boy and took him down in the pump-hole and handcuffed him to a chain around the mizzen-mast. I then ascertained the position of the vessel, jibbed the ship, and set the course for Honolulu.

Afterwards we washed the body of the captain. Put alum all over his body. Got some alcohol down his throat. Put some clean sheets around him and put him in a box covered with canvas outside. Coal-tarred the canvas and the box inside; caulked the box outside and puttied the seams, trying to preserve the body until we arrived in Honolulu.

As I considered the cook an accomplice of the boy, I took him out of the galley and put one of the sailors as cook, intending to keep the cook helping on deck daytime and locked up in a room forward night-time.—H. MEYER, Mate.

CLAUDE MORE'S STATEMENT.

Between 6:30 and 7 a. m., it was my watch below at that time. I heard the captain saying: "Give me that knife." He repeated that several times. I opened the scuttle from the fore-castle to the galley. I saw the captain grappling with the boy, bleeding from a wound in the forehead. They were at that time in the door between the galley and the donkey room. I crawled through the scuttle to assist the captain. They were grappling then. Both fell down, the boy having the knife in the captain's groin. I tried to get the knife away from the boy and had my hands cut in the attempt. The second mate came shortly afterwards. When the mate came I helped lift the captain's body up on the doorstep to the donkey room. The mate then did give me a topical and told me to watch the boy and not on any condition let him get up. When I crawled through the scuttle, the cook was in the donkey room to her deck.—

CLAUDE MORE.

Pestilence in Orient.

Honolulu, Aug. 2.—Dr. Cofer's report on health conditions in the Orient was as follows: July 18, two cases of cholera at Kanagawa; July 9, one death from cholera at Tokyo; two cases of cholera at Nagasaki, no deaths; July 16, cholera epidemic in Shanghai, one new case of smallpox and twenty-nine deaths from that disease; July 13, 215 cases of cholera at Amoy; July 20, seven cases of cholera and five deaths from cholera in Kobe; July 12, eleven cases of cholera and seven deaths at Hongkong, one death from smallpox and one new case, sixty-two cases of plague and fifty-one deaths. Dr. Cofer reported that despite the precautions of the Japanese health authorities cholera was spreading in Japan, and Honolulu could not be too careful in the matter of public health and safeguards to prevent the entrance of the disease.
