Secretary Of War Taft

WILLIAM H. TAFT.

The Merchants' Association in its efforts to secure an appropriation for fortifications in Hawaii, cabled Delegate Kuhio asking him to urge the matter upon the Secretary of War. The fact that the Senate put back the half million item after the house had knocked it out would indicate that Secretary Taft has a lively appreciation of the need of fortifications in Hawaii.

JAPS DEMAND THEIR OARS

WENT TO LIVE FISH OFFICE AND ASKED FOR RETURN OF THEIR "COLLATERAL."

Acting on the advice of their attorney a number of Japanese fishermen went to the live fish company's office at Kakaie this morning and demanded the return of their oars and rudders which Edmunds' men had secured from them as security for alleged indebtedness for mooring privileges.

They were told to dig up $3. They refused and then the man at the fish company's office asked that they give receipts for the articles. The Japs refused claiming that they received no receipts for the things when they had been taken in the first place. Their things were not returned to them so they assert. Further steps will be taken tomorrow by the Japanese to secure their oars.

A FIGHT IN AN OPIUM DEN

REMARKABLE DISAGREEMENT OF CHINESE WITNESSES IN AN ASSAULT AND BATTERY CASE.

Ho Chong has taken an appeal to the circuit court from a sentence of District Magistrate Dickey ordering him to pay a fine of $15 for assault and battery on Ah Sam, alias Wong Hing. The trouble occurred on March 1 in a joint which some of the witnesses declared was a regular opium joint, with five bunks for smokers to sleep in, and Ah Sam's criticism of the brand of dope Chong was selling is stated to have brought on the fight.

Chong runs an establishment on Pauahi street, behind the Chinese theatre, which is stated to be an opium den. It has quite a Chinese trade and when the trouble with Ah Sam occurred there were several Chinese in them. Two of them stated that they had gone there to buy and smoke opium and were lying in the bunks enjoying the drug.

Ah Sam had bought some opium the day before, and he came in and remarked that the opium wasn't good. According to three witnesses Chong then declared that Ah Sam was hurting his business and made an attack upon him.

According to the defendant and three other witnesses Chong's place is not an opium joint and no opium was had there. The same witnesses swore that Ah Sam never spoke a word about opium, but began a quarrel about a "family matter," also that he made an attack on Chong, instead of Chong assaulting him.

PORTO RICAN CAUGHT

A telephone message received this afternoon from Honolulu Plantation store by the police stated that two Porto Ricans had broken into Dr. McGrew's residence at Alea and that one of them had been captured. The other Porto Rican escaped and the last seen of him he was hurrying along the railroad track toward Honolulu.

Detective McDuffie went to apprehend the man. The police were not informed whether the Porto Ricans had robbed the place of any valuables.

Attorneys Object To Little's Action

The refusal of Circuit Judge Little to allow Chester Doyle to act in his court as Japanese interpreter has been made the subject of a protest to the attorney general's department and the governor, and efforts are being made to force Little to change his attitude. Carl Smith, attorney for the prosecution in the Funokoshi case has made an affidavit stating that Doyle's services are necessary there being no acceptable substitute in Hilo and the case being a very important one, but it is said that the Circuit Judge cannot be forced to change his position.

On the other hand Little is accused of carrying a personal row into court business and he is considerably criticized for taking such an attitude. His quarrel with Doyle is a personal one, while the attorneys involved in the Funokoshi case claim that it is being allowed to interfere with the course of justice. Little is in the midst of a campaign for a reappointment as circuit judge, and his latest plitika is thought to injure his chances.

Chief Justice Fear of the Supreme Court has general control of the interpreters of the courts, and Doyle has

Treasury Refuses It's Own Warrants

Treasurer Kepoikai is the author of a new order in the tax office, by virtue of which the government is refusing to take its own paper as payment for taxes. Assessor Holt is under orders not to receive registered warrants of the government for taxes, putting the government in the position of refusing to accept its own legally drawn drafts on the treasury, which it at the same time hopes to have the banks take.

There is considerable kicking generally among financial men over the handling of the warrant question, which is declared to have been illegal, and the refusal, to take warrants at the tax office adds a new source of complaint. It is claimed that the order system of discriminating in favor of one class of warrants at the treasury office is without any legal authority. The law says that warrants which the treasury is unable to pay shall be registered as they come in and paid in turn by number, as nearly as possible. Instead of following this plan the treasurer has been registering all the current expenses warrants, whether he had money or not, and paying salary and pay roll warrants.

"The banks will not be ready to take warrants," said one of those who are taking up the matter, "until they know that the treasury de-

Associated Press Cable to the Star.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 17.—Russia does not regard Korea as a belligerent during the present war. The report that Russian troops and Koreans forces had clashed in Korea near the Yalu river gave rise to the report that Russia might regard that fight as an overt act on the part of Korea. The Russian Government has had this issue under consideration and the announcement of her position regarding Korea has just been made.

PROGRESS OF THE WAR BY LATER COAST FILES BROUGHT BY THE STEAMSHIP TEXAN

The steamship Texan, arriving this morning from Tacoma and Seattle, brought two days' later news files than those received by the last steamer. Here are some of the most interesting dispatches they contain concerning the progress of the war:

SEOUL, Monday, March 7.—The Russian soldiers operating in the vicinity of Anju are committing all manner of excesses, maltreating the native women and perpetrating robbery upon every opportunity.

Korean soldiers attacked a body of the invaders on Friday last the 4th instant and succeeded in killing thirty of them.

It is reported that as the result of a collision between Russian and Korean soldiers at Kan Ge, the Russians were driven beyond the Yalu River.

VLADIVOSTOK, Monday, March 7.—Last night passed quietly. The inhabitants and troops are in unusually high spirits. A strict search is being made throughout the town for Japanese. The police have posted placards on the walls offering a reward for information as to the whereabouts of the Japanese and threatening trial by court-martial of any person found guilty of concealing them.

LEAVE BUSINESS TO NURSERYMEN

GOVERNMENT TO ABANDON FREE DISTRIBUTION OF PLANTS—REFORESTING NUUANU.

Resolutions to abandon the free distribution of plants and to cease efforts at reforesting upper Nuuanu were considered yesterday afternoon by the Board of Agriculture and Forestry. The members were disposed to support both resolutions but deferred final action to allow time for discussion and expressions of public opinion. The resolutions were reported by a committee consisting of L. A. Thurston and A. W. Carter and were based on investigations by the committee and by Forester Hosmer. The report of the committee said:

"Gentlemen: Your Committee on Forestry and Nursery has had under consideration two subjects, viz: (1) The proper policy concerning the Honolulu Nursery and the free distribution of trees and plants. (2) The policy concerning the reforesting of upper Nuuanu valley.

"The Superintendent of Forestry has investigated thereon to the committee, making recommendations. Irrespective of the merits of the question of the propriety of the Government competing destructively with nurserymen we are of the opinion that under existing financial conditions, the general good will be better subserved if the money now spent in gratuitous production and distribution of trees and plants is used in some other manner.

"Reforestation in upper Nuuanu is a much desired end; but, owing largely to the excessive winds, the results so far obtained have not justified the outlay. At a later date, when the surviving trees have provided sufficient protection from the wind, it may be desirable to resume planting. Until such time we think planting should be suspended."

Hosmer's report stated that he did not think the results obtained by free distribution justified the outlay. About two thousand plants a month are being given out at a cost of from 4 to 10 cents each. The report said:

"There is another objection to the free distribution of ornamental plants and fruit trees. The free distribution of such plants makes it practically impossible for a nurseryman in Honolulu to deal in these species. This limits their activity strictly to floral plants and probably it prevents a larger number from engaging in this business. I believe that conditions in this Territory are now such that those persons who really desire ornamental plants for their grounds are able to pay for them and it does not seem to me wise that the Government should keep out so desirable a class of business men as the nurserymen as a rule are.

"The free distribution of fruit trees is open to the same objection. This also is a class of trees which the nurserymen would probably find it profitable to handle. Experiments with varieties new to these islands should be continued, either by this Board or by the Federal Experiment Station, but after a tree has been found to do well here it should be turned over to the nurserymen.

"In the matter of forest trees it would be wise to keep on and for the present enough of the more common kinds to supply those who wish only a few trees. Persons desiring to plant extensively should be encouraged to grow their own trees. To this end the Division of Forestry stands ready to assist private owners as far as time and appropriations permit, by advice and suggestion or in person as the case may warrant, and will, I believe, result in much greater good than the sending out of trees from the Nursery.

"Having carefully examined the plantations which have been made near the head of Nuuanu valley and inspected the work now in progress I believe that it would be wise to discontinue for a time the re-forestation of that area.

"The problem of planting such a windswept area is at best a difficult one. Only by well conducted trials can the best trees and the proper methods of planting them be determined. This knowledge has not as yet been reached in Nuuanu. I therefore recommend that when the present stock on hand is exhausted in the plantations already under way, that extensive planting be discontinued, and that when it is again undertaken in this valley or elsewhere, that it follow the lines laid down in carefully prepared planting plans to be made after a personal examination of the ground by a competent person.

"Very respectfully submitted, "RALPH S. HOSMER, Superintendent of Forestry."

READY TO BUILD THE ASYLUM

BOARD OF HEALTH FORMALLY APPROVES THE PLANS AND ORDERS COMMENCEMENT.

The plans for the new asylum for Insane were formally approved yesterday by the Board of Health and a resolution was passed to have the work go ahead, the building to be constructed within the appropriation of $75,000 provided in the loan appropriation bill. The plans were submitted by F. W. Breadslee, the architect. The building is to be on the grounds now occupied by the asylum.

President Cooper reported that he had seen the Japanese Consul, Miki Saito and told him it was proposed to close that portion of Makiki cemetery used by his countrymen, and the Government would not sell any more land there for cemetery purposes. The consul said he would see the committee and on Saturday let the president know the result of consultation. The president suggested that a committee be appointed on the question of directors of cemeteries keeping records of burials and marking graves. By common consent the matter was left in his hands.

Superintendent Holloway notified the Board by letter that sewers were laid and houses might now be connected with them, in the following places: Nuuanu avenue from Kukui to Vineyard street, Kukui street from Nuuanu to Fort street, Fort street from Kukui to Vineyard street and Vineyard street from Fort street to the flush tank east. Dr. Pratt reported a bad condition of cesspools in the vicinity of Dowsett lane, Palama saying the garbage collectors were unable to abate the nuisance. The remedy suggested was connection with the sewers.

President Cooper suggested as means of regulation and revenue, the prescribing of a charge for permit to keep ducks on the same line as the pig permit rule. Cooper was engaged to see the Attorney General on the matter.

COURT NOTES.

T. R. Walker et al, trustees of St. Clement's church in their suit for summary possession against Gouvela, have given notice of motion to be made before Judge Gear on Monday next that the appeal of defendant be dismissed for laches and want of prosecution, because plaintiffs and their successors have been in possession since November, 1899, and no rights of the parties remain to be adjudicated, and because it does not appear that the appeal was duly perfected.

C. K. Al petitions for letters of administration on the estate of Chang Yee Tong, deceased as the nominee of the widow. The estate consists of personal property valued at $200 and cause of action for damages for death of deceased by wrongful act of the Mutual Telephone Co. and of the Honolulu Rapid Transit and Land Co., value unknown. R. W. Breckons and J. J. Dunne are attorneys for petitioner. Goo Shee, widow of deceased is living in China.

BROKE A PLATE GLASS WINDOW.

Considerable excitement was created on Fort street about nine o'clock this morning by the breaking of one of the big plate glass windows in the front of Pearson & Potter's store. A Porto Rican named Antonio Roich was driving down the street in a two-wheeled break, and just in front of Pearson & Potter's store met a Fort street electric car. The horse got scared and became unmanageable, and backed the rig right into the window. The boy works for a white man living at Punua.

BELLINA IS OWNER.

Charles Bellina and his brother W. E. Bellina have secured the entire stock of the Club Stables and will conduct the business as their own in the future. The interests bought out are those of C. Boite, E. K. Bull, John Sullivan, John Buckley, D. P. R. Isenberg and Gus Schuman. Bellina has been manager of the stables with the exception of one short interval since March, 1894, when Gus Schuman bought the business at receiver's sale for $6,300 and put Bellina in as manager. In 1897 a corporation with a capital of $15,000 was formed to control the property. Later a new building was erected, and in 1900 the Hotel and Pantheon Stables were bought. There have been successive increases of the capital stock, it now being $50,000.

PORTO RICO.

Porto Rico, with close on to one million inhabitants does nothing like the trade with the mainland that Hawaii does. The commerce between the United States and its dependency during the year 1903 amounted in round numbers to 22 millions of dollars. The commerce between the Territory of Hawaii and the mainland during the same year was 43 millions of dollars, and this with a population of 154,000. Moreover the whole of our trade is practically done with the mainland, while Porto Rico does a trade of six millions of dollars with the outside world.

Of the total of 22 million dollars between Porto Rico and the United States, $11,424,313 was domestic products of the United States shipped to Porto Rico, $9,986,782 domestic products of Porto Rico shipped to the United States, $395,582 foreign products shipped from the United States to Porto Rico, and $166,141 foreign products shipped from Porto Rico to the United States. To other parts of the world Porto Rico sent domestic products to the value of $4,267,910 and foreign products to the value of $127,932, while from other parts of the world Porto Rico imported $2,119,523 worth of merchandise.

Comparing the commerce of 1903 with the preceding year, the figures show that the trade between the United States and Porto Rico slightly increased, the exact figures for 1903 being $21,872,818 and for 1902 $21,828,224. Shipments from the United States to Porto Rico in 1902 amounted to $12,194,073 and in 1903 to $11,819,895. Shipments from Porto Rico to the United States amounted in 1902 to $9,634,151 and in 1903 to $10,152,923.

Among the shipments from the United States to Porto Rico, it is noticeable that liquors are not put down as a prominent factor, whereas in the trade between this Territory and the mainland they are a very prominent factor, and the same may be said of the trade between the Philippines and the United States. The main articles of import are the necessities of life such as flour, cotton cloths, provisions such as salt pork, lard, bacon, hams, cheese and butter. Then there has been a large importation of iron and steel manufactures, under which are classed boilers, parts of engines and various tools.

These facts show a population singularly poor, for the luxuries of life are not imported. It also shows from the importation of machinery and tools that American energy is beginning to tell upon the island, and that more advanced methods are being used both in the cultivation and in the manufacture of the island products.

Of the articles shipped from Porto Rico to the United States, raw sugar amounted to $6,813,854; cigars, $1,441,196; leaf tobacco, $255,814; oranges, $314,094, and coffee, $610,982. Porto Rican coffee is evidently growing in favor in the United States, the total quantity shipped in 1903 being 5,461,631 pounds, against 1,906,106 pounds in 1902. Porto Rican tobacco is also apparently enjoying increased popularity, the total quantity of leaf tobacco shipped to the United States in 1903 being 1,268,060 pounds, against 417,478 pounds in 1902.

The specimens of Porto Ricans that we have here, are not a proper sample of the inhabitants of the island. According to a gentleman who has recently visited the dependency the Porto Ricans of the country districts are industrious, honest and law abiding. The upper class are cultivated, and broad-minded. He drew a very favorable comparison between the people of Porto Rico and the people of the Philippines. While in the Philippines it is a rare thing for the American officials to marry a Filipino, and a man loses cast thereby, in Porto Rico marriages between American officials and Porto Rican ladies are by no means uncommon. But then this class of Porto Rican is nearly, if not entirely pure Spanish.

Comparing Hawaii with Porto Rico, it is evident that as far as value is concerned, the former is worth much more to the United States than the latter. Hawaii is in proportion a far greater consumer of United States products than Porto Rico is, and Hawaii sends to the United States practically everything it produces. Hawaii has no market, save on the mainland. Porto Rico has markets in France, in Spain, in Cuba, and even in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

Porto Rico is certainly flourishing. All accounts point to a signal prosperity. Hawaii on the other hand is suffering from a depression. Yet the per capita returns of commerce and agriculture in Hawaii are infinitely superior to those in Porto Rico. It is worth while to think this over and find out why.

REDUCTION.

Bringing the expenditures within the income of the Territory is going to entail a good deal of hardship upon many people. But in these matters it is best to meet a difficulty and be done with it entirely, than to allow things to drift and go from bad to worse. Governor Carter saw the true financial condition, and he has had the courage to take the matter in hand boldly. It was no time for shillyshallying. The knife had to be applied and it has been applied.

Such changes often fall hard upon the individual, but the individual always has to give way to the exigencies of the state. In government as in business small leaks are what get away with the money. There has ever been an idea here that government and business were as wide apart as the poles, and there may have been reason to think so, considering on what lines it has been conducted. But Governor Carter has determined to put the government upon a business basis, and however unpleasant the process he will succeed.

When a business is found not to be paying, the head of it puts on his considering cap, and sees what can be done. He looks at his expense account. Is the staff too large? Possibly. He checks over the various members, discharges two or three, and saves on salary. He may find that even this saving is not sufficient, and he is obliged to cut down the salaries of the remainder. If they do not like it they can retire, and others will come in and fill their places. It is no use running a business at a loss, because sooner or later bankruptcy will come.

Just in the same way it is no use running a government at a loss, because sooner or later there will come a time when it is impossible to raise money, and the officials will have to go unpaid. Work will come to a standstill and supplies will be unobtainable. That is the condition which Governor Carter has had to face. The evil day has been put off and put off, but it has ever been impending, and now the Governor is going to clean up as it were. Many things which we desire we shall have to do without. Many men who have had easy berths will find themselves hunting for jobs. There will be many complaints. But Governor Carter has done the right thing and he will have the entire support of those who want economic government, well administered.

Thomas Morley, of Nottingham, England has applied to the World's Fair authorities to be placed in charge of the Burns cottage during the exposition. He makes his request on the ground that he was the last lessee of the property, residing in the cottage from Martinmas 1877 to Martinmas 1882. Two of his daughters were born in the cottage. The story was circulated at the commencement of the war that there was the greatest enthusiasm for the war among the Russian populace, and that the Jews and the Finns were volunteering. The nonsense of this was pointed out in these columns at the time. The Russians in the United States promptly took steps to get themselves naturalized and took out their first papers. Now comes the story that close on to 2,000 Russians arrived in New York yesterday, fleeing from military service. On the other hand the Japanese abroad are fleeing towards Japan, seeking military service. There is mighty little enthusiasm among the Russians over the war. The enthusiastic populace spoken of in St. Petersburg is like a stage crowd, only instead of being drilled by a stage manager, it is drilled by the police. It is enthusiasm to order.

Russia's naval operations seem to be confined to looking after contraband of war passing through the Suez canal, and keeping as far away from Japanese guns as possible. When Port Arthur has been settled and the Vladivostok squadron discovered, Japan will have a chance to talk to Mr. Ruski in European or African waters. Meantime Japan can get her supplies from America and Australia.

Lawyer George A. Davis has been suspended in the Territorial Court for unprofessional conduct. Judge Dole has treated him with remarkable leniency, but the sentence marks the Judge's opinion of Davis' course in the Summer case. It will stand a mark against him throughout his life. Meanwhile Davis is looking round to see if he cannot find some other lawyer who can be placed in a similar predicament.

The Edmunds case seems to be a regular mix up. Evidently the man has managed to get some kind of a control of the harbor. One can hardly credit the statement that Superintendent Holloway said that the Government might get $50 a month for moorings, but that Edmunds could have it for $25, as the collecting of the $50 would be more trouble than it was worth.

The war news seems to be at a stand still. Port Arthur is in a quietest stage, and no one seems to know the whereabouts of the Japanese fleet or the Russian squadrons. It will all come with a rush one of these days.

Japan has an excellent finance minister. To meet the expenses of the war out of the resources of the country, without contracting a loan is no easy task. Yet there seems every prospect of this being done during the ensuing eighteen months at least. Whatever extra taxes are needed the Japanese

They no doubt go up to make the quota of spies which the Russians are talking about so much.

St. Patrick's day will be well celebrated by our Irish fellow citizens, and they are numerous. The green of Erin has been much in evidence throughout the day. The Star wishes the followers of St. Patrick as merry a time as even a Tipperary boy would delight in.

Russian students in Germany must behave themselves, as well as they do in their own country. In Germany if they misbehave they are sent out of the country. In Russia if they misbehave they are promptly packed off to the Siberian convict settlements.

MORE MONEY THAN EVER FOR MILITIA

THE STATE LEGISLATURES ARE STRENGTHENING THEIR NATIONAL GUARD.

EDITOR STAR.—The Advertiser in its issue this morning attempts to again mislead the public in its article commenting on the militia, trying to carry out the idea that the tendency of the State Legislatures is to cut down the active force or militia. Yesterday it tried to make good the assertion that the "Taxpayers" (meaning thereby Congress) were trying to cut down the active force of militia, going back over a period of 86 years, to wit, from 1812 to 1898 to sustain its contentions. When confronted with the fact that Congress has appropriated for the militia in 1903 $3,000,000, being three times as much as it had appropriated in 1902, and had also made a charge of $300,000 for militia against the Regular Army appropriation, or a total of $3,300,000 for 1903, it abandons its ground that the "Taxpayers" as represented by Congress were making such an attempt and admits that Congress is doing all in its power to strengthen the militia. The Advertiser now attempts, however, to shift its ground and pins its faith on the State Legislatures, in its attempt to make good its assertion that there is a tendency to cut the active force of militia among the States and Territories.

If the Advertiser would read up on current history it would find that the United States of America has grown very considerably from 1898 to the present time, having acquired Hawaii, the Philippines and Porto Rico, and also acquired a strip of territory across the Isthmus of Panama, and its policy in regard to its Regular Army, the Navy and the Militia of the several States tially to a desire not to betray the position of the batteries.

It is now thought that the attacking squadron consisted of a battleship four armored cruisers and two unprotected cruisers.

VLADIVOSTOK, March 6.—A fleet of five Japanese battleships and two cruisers appeared off this place at 1:25 o'clock this afternoon and bombarded the two end shore batteries for fifty-five minutes.

The fleet approached from the direction of Askold Island, at the east entrance to Ussuri Bay and about thirty-two miles southeast of Vladivostok. Entering Ussuri Bay, the enemy formed a line of attack but did not approach to a closer range than a mile and one-third.

They directed their fire against the shore batteries and the town, but no damage resulted, as most of their 200 lydlite shells failed to burst.

The Russian batteries commanded by Generals Vernotex and Artamonoff did not reply awaiting a closer approach of the enemy.

The Japanese fire ceased at 2:20 p. m. and the enemy retired in the direction of Askold Island. Simultaneously two torpedo boat destroyers appeared near Askold Island and two more near Cape Middel. The Japanese ships were covered with ice.

The attack resulted in no loss to the Russians but cost the enemy 200,000 roubles ($100,000) in ammunition. Most of the projectiles were six and twelve inch shells.

The populace of Vladivostok was warned this morning of the presence of a hostile fleet and the prospective attack during the day, but it remained tranquil.

TO PROSECUTE THE CEMETERY

The Attorney General's department is preparing to prosecute the Catholic Cemetery Association at the request of the Board of Health, for violation of the rule which prohibits disturbance of corpses after they have been buried. The case will serve to test the board's power to enforce its orders to close this and other cemeteries. Burials have continued in the King street cemetery in violation of the board's order it is claimed.

In the case which is to be brought against the keepers of the cemetery it is stated that no less than six old-time corpses were disturbed by the gravediggers in preparing for an interment.

The King street cemetery contains hundreds of graves which are wholly unknown. Its records run farther back than do those of the Board of Health, as it was started before there was any such board in the islands. The bones which are disturbed in digging graves are usually very old ones and rotting coffins are repeatedly broken into. The grave stones or other marks above ground if there ever were any have long disappeared and no one can know whose are the remains the grave diggers shovel up.

A new rule will probably be adopted by the board requiring that some sort of a lasting stone or headmark be placed at every grave. This will keep record of where corpses are lying, so that the same spot will not be used twice.

The board has also decreed that burials must stop in the Japanese part of Mokiki cemetery. This burial ground is said to be so crowded that corpses are lying only a few inches apart in some parts. As it is an government ground the power to close it is not open to question, and the Japanese are making arrangements to secure another place.

DIMOND'S EXECUTION.

W. W. Dimond and Company's case against Prince Kalaniana'ole was decided by the Supreme court yesterday. In a decision which denied a writ of prohibition to stay an execution which the company secured against Kalaniana'ole for $282. The judgment was obtained by default in the district court and then an appeal was taken on legal grounds, to stop the execution. The court, Galbraith dissenting, sustains the execution, Galbraith holding that the summons was not legally served.

BABY WOOLERS OF FICKLE GODDESS

According to Judge Dickey it is a greater offence for small boys to gamble than for men to commit the same offence. Certainly there was such a disparity in the sentences inflicted in these relative cases that considerable comment was caused this morning about the police station.

Three little lawboys were before the court this morning to answer to charges of having been present at a place where gambling was conducted. It appears from the statement of the police that the boys were caught playing "China" some infantile form of gambling for nickles. The court found them guilty and sentenced them to the reform school during their minority. The eldest of the crowd was not over 15 years so his sentence meant virtually six years at least for having been guilty of wooing the fickle Goddess of Fortune.

Murata also wooed the fickle goddess but he did not run against such a Calamity Jane hoodoo as did the little boys whose names were Johnny Medeiros, Johnny Silva and Joe Martin. Murata was caught with a lottery ticket in his possession. He claimed that he had been in a store and that the ticket had some how gotten into his possession—his statement was not very clear on this score for his memory was evidently cloudy. Murata admitted that he must be guilty—just a little bit. Judge Dickey smiled that expression of cordial hospitality as he invited Murata to pass a couple of days at the county jail at the expense of the Territory.

NINE CHALLENGES

The ninth peremptory challenge in the Jones murder trial was exercised this afternoon by Attorney Robertson for the defense and the jury list was again exhausted. Emil A. Berndt was excused by Robertson. Court adjourned to tomorrow morning, when the members of the Grand Jury will be discharged from their present duty and called for the case. After that the court will have none left on the entire list for the year, and will have to issue open venire for whomsoever the sheriff can find.

Joseph Aea was excused for lack of language qualification. He is a member of the band and said he understood Captain Leger, but he didn't show that he understood enough English to be a juror. Henry Cooke was passed for cause, making the jury box full until Berndt was excused. James Armstrong was excused because opposed to the death penalty.

MAY WITHDRAW EDMUNDS PERMITS

High Sheriff Brown stated this afternoon that he was going to have a conference with Superintendent Holloway and R. W. Breckons, the attorney for H. W. S. Edmunds, regarding the latter's case.

The police are inclined to the opinion that the Superintendent of Public Works can not give an exclusive privilege to anybody to use the harbor waters for mooring purposes. It is not unlikely that the two permits which were granted to Edmunds will be withdrawn by Superintendent Holloway.

They may be modified however so as to permit other people independent of the live fish association to use the waters for mooring purposes, without the payment of rent.

FIRE INQUEST CALLED TODAY

A fire inquest was called at noon today and held in session until this afternoon late, to determine the cause of the fire at Lau Chip's dry goods store on Nuuanu street Saturday morning.

The most sensational testimony was given by A. R. Gurray of the Underwriters. He testified that after the fire he had examined the interior of the store and discovered a number of books partially burned. All of these books had been saturated with coal oil.

Evidence was introduced to show that coal oil was kept about twenty feet distant from the books.

Until last month Lau did not carry very heavy insurance on his stock, but in February he had taken out three new policies bringing the insurance up to $5,000. The stock in the burned store was claimed to be worth $1,000.

RELIEVES THE POTATO FAMINE

The S. S. Texan arrived this morning from Tacoma and Seattle after a very disagreeable passage. Nothing was broken or carried away but the vessel was a day longer making the trip than usual. She is the speediest of the American-Hawaiian fleet, but the wind blew a hurricane for ten days and drenched her. The vessel brought between 4,000 and 5,000 tons of freight for this port. The vessel looked as if she had nothing aboard as she was high out of the water. The Texan has relieved the potato shortage and now the community can enjoy some luscious Irish potatoes. It is quite a coincidence that the famine of Irish potatoes should be broken on St. Patrick's Day.

The Texan is docked at the Ewa end of the Railway slip. She will take on 5,000 tons of sugar at this place for Delaware Breakwater. She will probably get away for Kahului Monday evening. She is to take 2,000 tons of sugar at Kahului and 2,000 tons more at Hilo.

The vessel left Tacoma March 6 and Seattle March 7, so brought two days' later files of Puget Sound papers, the last paper received here being March 5 by the S. S. Dorie.

A CALAMITY HOWLER.

EDITOR STAR: Really, some one must muzzle Berrey and his commercial report. Berrey has been a calamity howler for a year or more. He is constantly "knocking" the business community. Whenever a client gets the best of Berrey, the business horizon becomes blue, and the editor of the report thinks that the country has gone to the dogs. Berrey is constantly predicting failures and throws out hints of dire distress, but business houses are still doing business at their old stands, notwithstanding Berrey's "knocking Commercial Report."

partment is going to follow the law. If that is done the bankers will know where they stand and can figure on a definite basis."

The order to Tax Assessor Holt, directing him not to receive warrants in payment for taxes, went into effect March 1, and adds another peculiarity to the financial situation. Owing to the fact that all warrants except for salaries and pay rolls had been ordered registered, said the treasurer, none but salary and pay roll warrants should be taken for taxes.

This leaves the taxpayer without any chance at all to use warrants for what the government owes him in paying taxes. The only warrants which anyone would want to use that way are those which are being registered. Others are the same as cash.

The tax office up to the time of Kepoikai's order was taking registered warrants as cash, from the holders. Anyone who owed the government money for taxes could make good by using what the government owed him, if anything. Now this is stopped. If the government owes John Smith $100 it gives him a warrant, registers the warrant and leaves him to whistle for cash. Then it demands that he pay any taxes he may owe in spot cash, or else suffer the severe penalties which the tax law imposes on delinquents. It is a great skin game in the eyes of the sufferers and is one of the unpleasant features of the present pilikia.

The law on the subject of registering warrants does not allow any discrimination, it is claimed, but requires that all shall be paid as presented as long as there is cash on hand. The Audit Act has the following on the subject:

"Section 26. Every lawful demand upon the Treasury, duly audited as hereinbefore provided, shall in all cases be paid upon the date authorized by the Minister of Finance and enforced thereon if there be sufficient funds at that time in the Treasury applicable to the payment of such demand; and upon payment all warrants shall be cancelled and proper entry be made thereof, but if there be not sufficient moneys so applicable then such warrant shall be registered in a book kept for that purpose by the Minister of Finance.

"Section 27. Warrants shall be paid by the Minister of Finance as far as practicable in the order of their number and date of issue, and whenever in his judgment there are sufficient funds in the Treasury, he shall issue a call for outstanding registered warrants in the order of their numbering and date of issue. Such call shall be made by publication for one week in two or more daily newspapers in Honolulu published in the English and Hawaiian languages, and interest shall cease upon all such called warrants ten days after the publication of the first notice."

EDMUNDS AND HIS RENTALS

The case against H. W. S. Edmunds, the manager and promoter of the live fish company, was on the police court calendar this morning, but the case of gross cheat against the defendant was continued until tomorrow, by stipulation of counsel. No additional charges against Edmunds have been made by the Japanese however. The outcome of the present case will be waited before any other action be taken against him.

Some time ago Edmunds made application to the High Sheriff for a special officer's badge for the watchman that the live fish company proposed to have stationed at the Kakaako mooring grounds of the concern. The High Sheriff says he "smelled a rat" and refused to grant the application.

The Japanese will bring to the notice of their consul the matter of Edmunds' trying to force them into giving his company their entire catch of fish and also charging them for mooring their boats. When such action is taken Consul General Saito will probably bring the matter officially to the notice of Admiral Terry, the commandant of the Naval Station, and then the latter will take some cognizance of the alleged charges of improper and unfair methods that have been lodged against Edmunds. Admiral Terry has the power to eject Edmunds' fish company and its effects from the waters at Kakaako, and should he decide to take such action, it would prove a deadly blow to the concern, as considerable money has been expended in that locality by the fish company.

Another question that has not yet been settled is whether the Superintendent of Public Works has the right to charge rental from Japanese for simply using any particular section of the harbor in which to moor their boats. Another issue which will probably be threshed out is whether the Superintendent could give Edmunds a tenancy at will to any section of the front whereby Edmunds might secure a monopoly of the mooring grounds and collect fees.

There is one very significant fact in all of Edmunds' communications to Admiral Terry and Superintendent Holloway, and this is that not a single reference to the charging of fees is made. So far as any statements in the communications are concerned both Admiral Terry and Superintendent Holloway received no intimation of the intention of Edmunds to charge Japanese for using any particular waters in which to moor their boats.

The fish concern has secured the greater portion of the mooring space at Kakaako section, and how this was accomplished without disobeying the instructions of Admiral Terry is not clear. The Admiral warned Edmunds that the right to moor boats and drive mooring stakes in that section would be granted to him for the boats of his company, but that other people who were there must not be interfered with. For years before Edmunds ever started his fish concern, the Japs have been mooring their boats in that vicinity, and in exactly the space that the fish concern now seeks to monopolize. By what particular means or influence the original users of that space which is the best space and most convenient part of the mooring grounds, were persuaded to surrender to the fish company has not been ascertained. Probably Consul General Saito will take this matter up and ascertain what influences and persuasion, if any, were brought to bear on the Japs and others to join the company or else surrender the mooring grounds.

So far as any written agreements between Edmunds' concern on the one hand and the Japanese on the other are concerned, there is absolutely no scratch of a pen to show that any agreement was made. The "gigantic" company that Edmunds has tried to promote may turn out to be like some of the vast "mergers" that J. Pierpont Morgan has promoted.

OBJECTIONS TO DAVIS' ACCOUNT

M. T. Simonton, guardian ad litem of Rita Tewksbury, has filed objections to the final accounts filed yesterday by George A. Davis as trustee and to Davis' petition for discharge. Simonton points out a number of particulars in which he claims that Davis has not accounted properly and asks the court to refer the accounts to a master for proper settlement.

The objections to the accounts are on the ground that there is no detailed statement of the income from investment of funds held by the trustee; the vouchers are in improper form; the trustees without authority expended $623; an item of $15 for drawing a deed is repeated, and a proper statement is not made of the handling of the principal funds of the estate.

For these reasons Simonton asks the court not to allow the discharge asked for by Davis, but to refer the matter to a master. The case is to be heard by Judge Robinson on Saturday.

All Run Down

When your vitality is low, you are miserable all the time. Your nerves are weak and your appetite is poor. You have no ambition, and you are languid and depressed all the time.

What you need is a good strong tonic, as described by Mrs. H. Austin, of Wellington, New Zealand. She sends her photograph and says:
"I was so weak and tired all the time that I could not sleep at night. Or, if I did sleep, I was as tired in the morning as when I went to bed. I was all run down. I then tried Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After taking two bottles I found myself greatly improved, and soon I was completely restored to health. I think it is a great family medicine."

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

There are many imitations "Sarsaparilla." Be sure you get Ayer's.
You will improve faster by using Ayer's Pills with the Sarsaparilla. Take just enough each night to have one good, free movement of the bowels the day following.

An inventory of the late Senator Hanna's estate restores it to the original estimate of over $7,000,000 instead of the $3,000,000 reported to the probate judge after his death. His holdings in the Cleveland electrical railway company alone amount to $2,000,000, and he was also interested in the American ship-building company, the Pittsburg coal company, the coal and iron firm of Hanna & Co., and the Cleveland and Pittsburg railroad. He used to call the Cleveland street railway his savings bank. He evidently had large ideas of the essential savings which a person should maintain.—Springfield Republican.

STARTING AN ANTI-IMMORAL CRUSADE

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 1.—The post office department has begun a crusade against the printing of objectionable advertisements and stories in newspapers and periodicals throughout the country. The action is based on section 3893 of the revised statutes, which imposes a fine of not exceeding $5,000 or imprisonment for not over five years, or both, for any person depositing in the mails, or aiding in circulating through the mails, of any obscene print, pamphlet, etc. It is proposed to amend this law to include vulgar advertisements and other printed matter. Under the new policy a number of papers containing questionable matter have been thrown out of the mails, under telegraphic orders to the postmasters, and a campaign will be waged against objectionable medical advertisements, which are being widely published.

LOVE MAKING AS A COLLEGE COURSE.

Startling Invocation Suggested by an Address by a Lady Teacher in Elocution.

Love-making is the new course of study for Northwestern university co-eds in the Cumnock school of oratory, which is knocking for entrance to the college curriculum. The proposed course already has the recommendation of Miss Ellen Pease, an instructor in the oratory department—not to speak of seventy-five co-eds who are learning, incidentally, to be elocutionists.

- Flirtations.
- Ardent wooings.
- Leap year proposals.

Classes in the above subjects may be included under the general course of love-making if the advice of Miss Pease is followed by the Methodist university faculty. Lectures, of course, are to be given behind locked doors, and the whole study conducted sub rosa.

"You cannot adequately depict love scenes unless you have felt love," said Miss Pease lately to her class in elocution. "To know love you must experience its emotions, I advise you to gain the experience. Know what it is to love, to have love returned, or to have it unrequited."

Gasps from the class of co-eds followed. The astonished young women, some of whom are preparing themselves for the stage, could scarcely control their excitement while they plied pencils in their notebooks.

Every oratory so-called in Cumnock hall, the young women's dormitory, was busy discussing the lecture last night. Love potions and love charms were concocted in the seclusion of the co-eds' rooms, while many a young man who heard of the news, that rapidly leaked out onto the campus, prepared to steel himself against threatened onslaughts of Cupid.

"Of course, we won't have classes in this subject," said Miss Edna Donley, an interested co-ed, lately. "But Miss Pease thinks experience will help us to be better elocutionists, why, you see, we can't very well avoid trying to gain it."

"I never shirk a lesson," said another young woman in Cumnock hall. "All the girls are modest, though, you know, about beginning this one."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

PREFER SILK TO COTTON.

Chinese ladies never rejoice in the dainty fashions of pretty cottons, as their European sisters do, but year in and year out they are attired in silk, for cotton is of no account in the celestial empire, being considered fit only for the coolies, who dress in it entirely. Chinese dress does not call for any great ingenuity on the part of the makers, for in form it is always the same. A lady's first garment is the plain piece of silk fastened around the waist to form an apron, which laps over at the back. In the place of this poor women wear a sort of cotton "front," which covers the chest but has no back. Next come the underjacket and the overjacket, the trousers, the apron and the footgear. The last consists of bandages and tiny shoes for the "little-footed" or a "cotton boot" and shoes of sensible size for the uncrippled peasant women. In cold weather the number of jackets worn is increased, the heaviest being outermost, which is padded and quilted or fur-lined. For outdoor wear a sleeveless overjacket known as a "front and back," is issued.—Chicago Daily News.

KOREAN TRADE.

Korean commerce amounts, according to the Department of Commerce, to about fifteen million dollars per annum. Imports materially exceed exports, and according to the best statement that the Bureau of Statistics is able to obtain, amounts to about ten million dollars, and the exports to about five millions. While in the case of China the foreign commerce of the country is carried on chiefly, almost exclusively, through the "treaty ports," this is not the case with reference to Korea, only about one-third of the foreign commerce above alluded to passing through the treaty ports.

American products, both manufactured and otherwise, are popular in Korea, but the very large proportion reach that country through China and Japan, and the direct trade of the United States with Korea is extremely small. It is only within a comparatively short time that the direct trade of the United States with Korea was of sufficient importance to justify a separate record. In 1897 the exports from the United States to Korea were $509 in value; in 1898, $125,000; in 1902, $251,000, and for the eleven months ending with November, 1903, $366,919, indicating that for the entire calendar year 1903 the total exports to Korea from the United States will amount to about $400,000.

While this is a rapid growth, it does not show by any means the entire value of merchandise from the United States entering Korea. As above indicated, many of these articles from the United States consumed in Korea are sent first to Japan or China and from those countries shipped into Korea. The value of American petroleum consumed in Korea in 1901 is stated at over $300,000; machinery and supplies, $250,000, and electrical goods and lumber, $236,000. These importations of merchandise from the United States were due in part, largely, perhaps, to the presence of Americans engaged in mining operations in Korea and the purchase by them in the United States of machinery and supplies for that work.

With Korea under Japanese dominion, and developed with Japanese energy, the trade of the United States will grow rapidly. New wants will be created and they will be supplied by us and not by Russia.

WHEN FIRES ARE STARTED.

When a woman gets up early in the morning, and skurries out to the kitchen to light the fire, she glances over to the neighbor's, to see if there is a light in her kitchen. If not, the pride that her beacon light is first causes her to almost forget the cold. One by one these kitchen lights flash out, and women who haven't a speaking acquaintance begin a day with friendly signals and rivalry that each one understands. We say this happens when "women" start the fires, for the reason that the men never start them. They think they do, but they don't.—Atchison Globe.

Paint is to a Building

what clothing is to the body. It is just as important. You should take as much care in selecting the paint to clothe your property, as you do in selecting the material to clothe your person. Paint preserves the building. Paint gives beauty to the building. In painting the labor costs more than the paint. There will be a large waste if the right paint is not used.

THE SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT

Is made for painting buildings. It is not a low-priced paint, but it is cheap because the best. It is made of the purest materials—that wear the longest. The colors are bright and handsome.

THE LONG BASE BALL SEASON

TRUSTEES OF THE BASE BALL PARK FEAR IT IS NOT IN THE BEST INTERESTS OF THE GAME.

The trustees of the base ball park at their meeting yesterday declined to give the use of the park to the Mailes and Honolulu Athletic Club for an exhibition game prior to the beginning of the season. The reasons were, partly, that it was thought necessary to give the turf all the time possible to form a sod, and the ground to dry out thoroughly before it was used, and partly that it would make an already too long season longer. D. P. R. Isenberg was appointed a committee to confer with the league and try and get it to shorten its season in the best interest of the sport, it being believed that a seven months season would prove too long.

The reserved seats in the grand stand will be numbered and tickets with corresponding numbers will be sold this season. The height of the barbed wire will be increased on top of the fence around the grounds, to prevent the large number of free admittances over the fence that occurred last season. Special officers to preserve order will be on duty this year.

The archdeacon will hold three meetings daily while here and his visit to Hawaii is being eagerly looked forward to by the members of the church.

"AULD SCOTCH SONGS"

The entertainment announced for Monday evening in the Opera House by the Scottish Entertainers, promises a rare musical and literary treat. While the "Auld Scotch Songs" will appeal especially to Scots, it should not be forgotten that among these "songs" we have the production of the best poets and song writers of their time. Burns, Scott, Hogg, Tannahill, Byron, Ingelov, and, in later years, Weatherly, have all contributed and the result is a collection which cannot fail to please even the most fastidious. The romantic career of "Bonnie Prince Charlie" furnishes the theme for many a song. His landing, almost unattended, the wonderful rally made to his standard, his brief but glorious triumphs and then the day when he had to flee, a fugitive with a price upon his head, are all sung and resung. The hold he had upon the Scottish hearts of those days and how loyally and faithfully he was guarded even in the hour of defeat is better told in Scottish song than it could be in the prose of the most gifted historian. Mr. Spence's powerful and melodious tenor voice is heard to great advantage in the martial songs of Scotland, which he sings with great vim and spirit, while Miss Donaldson's beautiful soprano seems especially adapted to rendering the tender and romantic love songs. As one critic puts it "Never have we heard the songs of Scotia sung with such tenderness and pathos as by Flora Donaldson."

The booking office is at Wall, Nichols, and a large portion of the house has already been reserved.

HIGH CLASS DRUGGISTS AND — OTHERS.

The better class of druggists, everywhere, are men of scientific attainments and high integrity, who devote their lives to the welfare of their fellow men in supplying the best of remedies and purest medicinal agents of known value, in accordance with physicians' prescriptions and scientific formula. Druggists of the better class manufacture many excellent remedies, but always under original or official names and they never sell false brands, or imitation medicines. They are the men to deal with when in need of anything in their line, which usually includes all standard remedies and corresponding adjuncts of a first-class pharmacy and the finest and best of toilet articles and preparations and many useful accessories and remedial appliances. The earning of a fair living, with the satisfaction which arises from a knowledge of the benefits conferred upon their patrons and assistance to the medical profession, is usually their greatest reward for long years of study and many hours of daily toil. They all know that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative remedy and that it gives universal satisfaction, and therefore they are selling many millions of bottles annually to the well informed purchasers of the choicest remedies, and they always take pleasure in handing out the genuine article bearing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package. They know that in cases of colds and headaches attended by biliousness and constipation and of weakness or torpidity of the liver and bowels, arising from irregular habits, indigestion, or over-eating, that there is no other remedy so pleasant, prompt and beneficial in its effects as Syrup of Figs, and they are glad to sell it because it gives universal satisfaction.

Owing to the excellence of Syrup of Figs, the universal satisfaction which it gives and the immense demand for it, imitations have been made, tried and condemned, but there are individual druggists to be found, here and there, who do not maintain the dignity and principles of the profession and whose greed gets the better of their judgment, and who do not hesitate to recommend and try to sell the imitations in order to make a larger profit. Such preparations sometimes have the name—"Syrup of Figs"—or "Fig Syrup" and of some piratical concern, or fictitious fig syrup company, printed on the package, but they never have the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of the package. The imitations should be rejected because they are injurious to the system. In order to sell the imitations they find it necessary to resort to misrepresentation or deception, and whenever a dealer passes off on a customer a preparation under the name of "Syrup of Figs" or "Fig Syrup," which does not bear the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of the package, he is attempting to deceive and mislead the patron who has been so unfortunate as to enter his establishment, whether it be large or small, for if the dealer resorts to misrepresentation and deception in one case he will do so with other medicinal agents, and in the filling of physicians' prescriptions, and should be avoided by every one who values health and happiness. Knowing that the great majority of druggists are reliable, we supply the immense demand for our excellent remedy entirely through the druggists, of whom it may be purchased everywhere, in original packages only, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, but as exceptions exist it is necessary to inform the public of the facts, in order that all may decline or return any imitation which may be sold to them. If it does not bear the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, do not hesitate to return the article and to demand the return of your money, and in future go to one of the better class of druggists who will sell you what you wish and the best of everything in his line at reasonable prices.

APANA RAIDS A GILDED PALACE

PLUCKY POLICE OFFICER CAPTURES LARGE CROWD CELESTIALS—SUSPECTED GAMBLERS.

A big raid of gamblers was made last night by Officer Apana, assisted by Officer Joe Luahiwa and Stephen Parker. The raid was made in a building near the See Yup Society on King street. Much ingenuity had to be displayed by the officers in making the arrest and much credit is due to Apana for the part he took in the work.

The place was carefully guarded. There were five heavy doors through which visitors had to pass in order to reach the room where the alleged gambling was held. Apana reached the gambling room by means of strategy. He saw four Chinese about to enter the building. He shoved his hat over his eyes and joined the quartette. The watchman supposed him to be one of the patrons of the resort so admitted him, so did the watchman at the second door, so did the watchman at the third door, and then presto Apana stood alone in the gilded palace of Mammon.

The place was thronged with Chinese—men who had come to gamble, men whose brows had but a few hours before damp with the honest sweat of the rice fields; men who had deserted their loving wives and families in Chinatown; men who had forsaken the dope pipe to join the wild, gold-maddened crowd that thronged the room and surged and struggled and gesticulated wildly around the gambling tables.

Apana was alone. He felt that awful loneliness that one feels when in a crowd. Incidentally he felt lonely when he contemplated the prospect of raiding that place of gamblers single-handed and alone. He saw hazy visions of his body stretched on the ground and the hurrying Celestials making a corduroy road out of him as they rushed from the place. So Apana felt even more lonely. He gazed around on the bright animated scene and then he reflected how much more animated the gambler would become when they began to thump the dickens out of him.

Apana resolved himself into a general staff and decided how to act. He first sauntered out of the room in an aimless, careless way, just as if he had gone broke. Little did the unsuspecting gamblers and bankers realize the police serpent that was in their midst. That neglected, quiet man was not a broken down gambler whose last had been wagered—he was Apana, the keen-eyed, who was there throwing his gig lamps around and gathering evidence.

At last the time for action arrived. Apana acted. There were fully 100 Celestials in the room including the bouncer. Apana quickly announced himself and began to surround the crowd. Thirty of them escaped, but he was able to surround 69 of those in the room and hold the door against all exit. He shouted for help. It was nearby and came—Stephen Parker and Joe Luahiwa, both brave and efficient officers responded. They arrived in time to help Apana surround the 69 alleged culprits a second time. The coup was complete. Apana had secured the gambling outfit as evidence, his police-mane instinct guided his hands to where the money lay and he was able to secure that important commodity as evidence.

The cries and lamentations of the captured Chinese were pathetic. The noise even aroused sleeping police officers and watchmen from their rest. The crowd was in the police court this morning to answer to charges of being present at a place where gambling was conducted. The cases were on motion of their attorney, continued until next Wednesday.

A RESULT OF HANNA'S DEATH.

Since 1870 the Republican party has become more and more a party of commercialism. The last great speech delivered by a great Republican leader in the effort to hold the principles of human rights was delivered by Roscoe Conkling in New York city, in the Garfield campaign in 1880. It was a powerful address,—a fair climax to the long line of addresses the stalwart senator had made in the House of Representatives and the federal senate for human rights in the broadest sense. But even at that time the commercial principle had begun to get a hold upon and demoralize the politics of the Republican party.

By a gradual process of evolution Marcus Hanna became the chief representative of commercial Republicanism. He used William McKinley as his masterpiece and made him president. The influence which Mr. Hanna exercised in the councils of the Republican party has been greater than that of any other man since the foundation of the party.

The fight against President Roosevelt by the interests represented by Senator Hanna, while he seemed not to countenance it, really threatened the life of the Republican party. His death has for the moment demoralized the commercial Republicans, and it may be that the renomination and election of President Roosevelt will serve to bring the party back closer to the great mass of the people of the republic.

Commercial republicanism stands for capitalism; republicanism stands for the best interest of all the people. Mr. Hanna represented the first; President Roosevelt represents the second. We stand with the Roosevelt idea.—New York Age.
