WILL SUFFER DEATH For Damon Murder By HANGMAN'S HAND

Judge Gear Sentences Jose Miranda To The Gallows For Causeless Killing --Man Begs For Life Sentence --Governor Notified.

"Jose Miranda, it is the sentence of this Court that you suffer the penalty of death—that you be hung by the neck until you are dead—and may God have mercy on your soul."

In criminal court this forenoon Judge Gear sentenced the murderer of Samuel Edward Damon to the gallows. A great and a mixed crowd filled the court-room.

Sentence was set for 10 o'clock and the murderer was in waiting in the law library, adjoining the court-room, in charge of Special Officer McDuffie. He was handcuffed and closely watched. It was discovered that there was no Porto Rican or Spanish interpreter on hand and sentence could not very well be passed without the prisoner understanding what was going on. Deputy Attorney General Prosser immediately sent out for an interpreter. There is no regular Spanish court interpreter, owing to the economy measures of the last Legislature, and it became necessary to scour around for somebody to do the work. After forty minutes' delay Interpreter Gomez was secured and sworn in.

Jose Miranda was brought before the bar. He was exceeding pale and he appeared as one long without sleep. Dark rings encircled his eyes and he stood with head slightly bowed and hands crossed as if he still wore the handcuffs which had been removed before he was brought into court. "Jose Miranda," said the Judge, "the Grand Jury duly found against you an indictment for murder in the first degree, for the killing of Samuel Edward Damon. You pleaded not guilty and were tried by a fair and impartial jury. The Court appointed to defend you two of the most able and learned counsel of the Bar. After due deliberation, considering all the evidence, the jury returned a verdict of murder in the first degree, for which the law provides the penalty of death. "Jose Miranda, have you anything to say at this time why sentence should not be passed upon you?"

Miranda spoke in a low tone, hastily and nervously to the interpreter and the latter stated that he had said: "I am not satisfied that I should be sentenced, for I was drunk when I did this thing."

"You were allowed to take the stand in your own behalf," said the Court, "and you told your story to the jury. They considered your story with the evidence and found you guilty."

"You may find me guilty, but I do not find myself guilty," said the murderer.

"Well, that's a matter for your conscience and with your God," said Judge Gear.

Continuing, the Court said: "Jose Miranda, it becomes the duty of this Court to pass sentence. It is the sentence of this Court that you suffer the penalty of death—that you be hung by the neck until you are dead—and may God have mercy on your soul."

"I am not satisfied with the sentence," said Miranda, according to the words of the interpreter. "I ask the Court to punish me by imprisonment for life."

NOT REAL WAR BUT MERELY A PREPAREDNESS

W. G. Irwin, one of the directors of the Honolulu Sugar Company, and the head of that plantation agency, said to a Bulletin reporter this morning regarding the report that that plantation will refine its entire sugar output and market it through its own agents on the coast: "I do not understand it to be the purpose of the sugar company to fight the trust or to sever business relation with it. So far as I know, the refining feature is being installed at the mill primarily for the purpose of protection to ourselves. Our present contract with the Sugar Trust expires shortly and we are getting in shape to take care of ourselves should the Sugar Trust not be willing to make a new contract with terms satisfactory to us. That is as far as we have gone in the matter."

Mr. Irwin stated that the refining plant would be capable of handling an output of 22,000 tons next year.

BECKLEY WILL SPEAK.

Admiral Beckley has had a conference with the Republican managers of the campaign and has pledged himself to make a few speeches, later on, for Delegate Kuhio and the Republican ticket. He will probably make his first speech in Hilo.

CLOUD OF WITNESSES IN "MORAL" CASES ABOUT FEDERAL COURT

A crowd of almost one hundred Japanese and Chinese are camped in the halls of the Judiciary building and on the lawns of the grounds, awaiting their turn as witnesses before the Federal Grand Jury now in session. A large number of these witnesses are women, Japanese women. Some wear babies on their backs after the manner of their kind; family groups are taking comfort in the shade of the palm trees and cultivating patience.

The cases in which they are to be called are many and varied. Just at present the Grand Jury is handling a variety of matters; one is a liquor case from the other side of the island. In this Deputy Sheriff Lane and other important witnesses are interested. Matters of immorality have largely to do with the crowd filling the corridors, cases left over from the crusade against the ten-dollar club. The sale of women as chattels, the stealing of wives and alleged conspiracy to violate Federal moral statutes generally are involved. District Attorney Hreckson has his hands full and Marshal Hendry is kept busy running after witnesses as they are needed.

TO HELP THE BOYS

The committee in charge of the Boys' Clubs of Honolulu are making an effort to raise funds to be used for further needed improvements in the field of Liliha street. The sum needed to make improvements and to pay running expenses for the next twelve months is figured at $3,500. Over $500 of this sum is in sight and a subscription list will be circulated to secure the balance. The money is needed for painting the Trade School building and for putting the Liliha street grounds into shape.

T. B. Lyons, formerly connected with the office of the Territorial Auditor, is this afternoon on the witness stand in the embezzlement case against E. S. Boyd. He is testifying in regard to certain leases involved in the accounts of the land office.

News has been received at the Naval Station that the cruiser Buffalo will be sent to Midway. No reason for this trip was given in the cablegram, which was of an unofficial nature.

Judge Gear is still occupied with I. Rubenstein vs. H. Hackfeld & Co., the "Little Joker" tobacco controversy.

Nomination Papers Tied Up For A Few Hours

Will Charles Notley be able to get his name on the official ballot?

That was a question which worried the Home Rule leaders and puzzled the officials at the Capitol building who have to interpret Hawaii's crude election laws. It was also a question highly interesting to the leaders of all parties, for with Notley out of the race, it was a mooted question whether Kuhio or Laukaea would profit most.

The question arose by reason of Notley's failure to file his nomination papers yesterday, which was the last day before the thirty day period prior to election day.

The question was settled this afternoon by an opinion of Attorney General Andrews that the papers should be accepted. He said nominations for Delegate should be accepted up to the latest date at which it would be possible to print the name on the ballots. Accordingly Clerk Buckland accepted the fee this afternoon and the prospective knot was straightened out.

When Notley's friends realized this morning that a hitch might arise in the matter, there was a hustle among the Home Rulers. David Notley, brother to the Home Rule candidate for Congress, went to W. A. Kinney, the family's attorney and borrowed twenty five dollars with which to pay the filing fee. With Senator Kalaupapa and David Notley went early to the Secretary's office to file the belated papers.

C. R. Buckland, chief clerk of the office, Secretary Atkinson being absent with Governor Carter on the other side of the island.

Mr. Buckland refused to take the money and returned the papers, passing the question up to Secretary Atkinson, who will return tomorrow. Mr. Buckland did not have a decided opinion one way or the other, whether Notley's papers could be legally filed now or not. He said there was an opening for wide divergence of legal opinion and did not wish to pass on it before consulting with the Attorney General and the Territorial Secretary.

JURY SECURED IN BOYD EMBEZZLEMENT CASE

But little difficulty was experienced in securing a jury for the trial in Judge Robinson's court of Former Land Commissioner Edward S. Boyd, charged with embezzlement of land funds. The case was commenced yesterday and the trial is now under way with the following gentlemen in the box: Percy Lishman, Chas. P. Osborne, J. J. Sullivan, L. C. King, Willard E. Brown, J. C. Cohen, Patrick Ryan, Norman Watkins, Harry A. Wilder, Wm. T. Erving, J. R. Moniz and C. J. Falk.

Attorney General Lorrin Andrews is personally conducting the prosecution and Attorney S. F. Chillingworth is defending. J. J. Dunne was originally engaged in the matter with Chillingworth but has withdrawn.

Jacob F. Brown was the first witness called for the Territory. The defense was strenuous in its objections to the introduction in evidence of receipts given for various amounts taken into the land office when Boyd was Commissioner.

records show that two years ago, both Kuhio and Wilcox filed their papers thirty days before election.

The law regarding the filing of nomination papers was enacted long before any thought that Hawaii would have a Delegate in Congress entered the minds of local lawmakers. There was no office to be filled for which the candidate would stand for votes on all the islands. The provision was made therefore that:

"Such nomination shall be deposited with the Secretary of the Territory not less than thirty days before the day of a general election, or twenty days prior to a special election, except on the island of Oahu, where such nomination shall be deposited not less than ten days before the day of any election."

The difference in the date for filing was made to give the election commissioner time to get out the official ballots and forward them to the outside districts.

The Organic Act provides that the Delegate shall be elected in conformity with the local election laws.

If Mr. Notley construed that he is entitled to file his papers up to within ten days of election, on the ground that he is a resident of Oahu, and holds them out till that time, it would be impossible to have his name placed on the ballots which go to the other islands. The election law is vague and inexplicit and the question is one for legal construction.

On the street among the politicians there was difference of opinion as to the effect the retirement of Notley would have on the candidacy of Kuhio or Laukaea. W. A. Kinney, leader of the Democratic party, refused to talk on the legal phase of the subject. Democrats generally believed that if Notley's name came off the ticket, that Laukaea's election is a certainty. Republicans were equally confident the other way.

No reason was given why the papers had not been filed at a day when no question could have been raised, except that Mr. Notley was too busy talking to think of this very essential detail.

A protest is entered to the Public Works by the von Hamm-Young Co. against awarding contracts for electric machinery and lamps to the Hawaiian Electric Co. and F. E. Richardson on the ground that the articles to be supplied are patented and there is presumably a restriction on competition.

NOEAU'S BOAT MET ACCIDENT WHILE AT NAPOOPOO

The steamer Noeau, which arrived early this morning from Hawaii ports, had quite an unpleasant experience yesterday while she was at Napoopoo, Kona. The vessel was engaged in taking on board a load of cattle from the Paris ranch. To this end a boat was sent ashore connected to the steamer with a surf line. The boat was lying quite close to the shore, the crew and the cowboys being busy taking the cattle from shore and attaching them to the gunwale of the boat when the proceedings were interrupted by an accident. Three steers had been tied by the horns to the boat when the very heavy swell which was running caused the surf-line to break.

The huge rollers immediately swept the boat ashore, washing it up on the beach, where it was overturned. A great mix-up resulted. The cattle which were tied to the boat and a couple of Japanese sailors who were in the boat when the surf-line broke were imprisoned together under the overturned craft. In spite of the frantic kicking of the wild steers the Japanese escaped unhurt. One of the steers had its spine broken and died. The Hawaiian boat steerer, who had charge of the boat, had his ear badly cut. The boat was soon righted and again connected with the surf-line and the rest of the work completed without accident.

Correct Clothes for Men

There are more reasons for this than there is space in which to tell them. Take BENJAMIN Spring Suits as an example. The fabrics are rich, varied, and exclusive; the fit is individual and perfect; the styles, like Poole's of London, are conservative but correct; the tailoring is equal to that of the best London and New York custom-shops; the prices are reasonable and right. Is it strange that BENJAMIN Clothes have enjoyed public confidence for so many years? Is it any wonder that ALFRED BENJAMIN & CO. are to America what Poole is to England—leaders in sartorial art? REPUBLICAN MANOA RALLY.

The Republican rally at the home of Jack Kuamoo in Manoa valley last evening was an enthusiastic political meeting. It was the second meeting of the campaign in the valley and there are few Home Rulers and Democrats left now. Music was furnished by the Republican quintet club. W. W. Harris presided at the meeting and the following gentlemen made addresses: E. F. Bishop, Jack Kuamoo, Wm. Aylett, John Lane, Senator Achi, Frank Anderson, E. W. Quinn, Lorrie Andrews, E. K. Liliakalani.

ROOF GARDEN DANCE.

The ball on the Young hotel roof garden last night in honor of the officers and ladies of the U. S. A. Transport Sheridan was a gay affair. The evening was cool and but for the occasional soft drizzle of rain was perfect for a roof garden fete. The dancing was in the makai pavilion and the floor was crowded at the call of every dance. The guests of the evening, the transport people, and especially Colonel Tucker and Major Hardin, were delighted with the hospitality extended by Manager Lake.

Republican Round Up At the Reservation

The "Roosevelt Reservation" will be a blaze of glory tonight. The illumination will be by electricity with ornamental pyrotechnics thrown in. The committee is making every arrangement for a big meeting tonight at the stand adjacent to the Fourth District headquarters.

The two prize campaigners of the year, E. Faxon Bishop and J. M. Dowsett will speak, as well as half a dozen others. W. C. Achi will have an interesting story to tell. The committee will invite C. W. Booth to make a speech at this meeting and if he accepts the audience will hear the sound reasons on which a business man based his adoption of the Republican side in this campaign and his alliance in active work with the party he has hitherto fought.

There will be good music at the Roosevelt Reservation.

MAUNA LOA ARRIVES

The steamer Mauna Loa arrived from Maui, Kona and Kau ports at 5:09 o'clock this morning with 3199 bags H. A. Co. sugar, 4938 bags H. sugar, 32 head cattle, 1 donkey, 470 bags coffee, 231 bags taro, 162 bunches bananas, 57 cases fruit, 48 bags ginger, 37 boxes fish, 27 bags awn, 31 kegs butters, 19 boxes fruit, 17 pigs, 17 bundles hats, 16 bundles hides, 10 bags tea and 158 packages sundries.

Purser Conkling reports as follows: On the outward trip had smooth sea and little wind to Kau. At Punaluu the weather was bad, there being a heavy swell and at times high winds. This weather lasted during our stay at Kau.

The steamer Nocu arrived at Honouliuli with laborers and mail Saturday afternoon. She left immediately after discharging same and was loading cattle at Napoopoo when we left there. A remarkably high tide was noticed at Napoopoo during our stay. The wharf was at times awash with water. Crossing the Hawaii channel moderate N. E. swells and trades.

The bark Albert at Kaanapali was to go to Kaanapali Wednesday to take ballast. The schooner Aloha will leave Kaanapali in ballast on Wednesday. The General Fairchild arrived at Kaanapali Wednesday with coal.

SCHEDULE CHANGES.

The following changes have been made in the O. & O. and the P. M. S. S. Co. schedules: The Siberia will arrive from San Francisco October 14. She will leave this port for San Francisco on her return trip November 3. The Gaelic will sail for the Coast November 28 instead of November 29. The Mongolia will sail for San Francisco December 10. Instead of December 13 and the Siberia will arrive from the Coast December 24.

Yachts Will Cruise To Rabbit Island

The scheduled events of the year for the Hawaii Yacht Club having passed, the active members of that organization have planned a cruise to Rabbit Island October 22-23. The yachtsmen expect to arrive at the island on the evening and spend the night on the shores of the sandy islet, returning home the next day. The distance of Rabbit Island from Honolulu is between twenty and thirty miles. There is good anchorage, smooth seas and a sandy beach on the leeward side.

The yachts will sail as a squadron in close order, with Commodore Cooper in charge. The invitation to participate in the cruise is extended to all the members of the club. It is hoped by the promoters of the idea that at least thirty members will go.

The Paloma, Gladys, Hawaii and Spray will sail October 22, reaching Rabbit Island before dark. Should the weather be prohibitive of a trip to Rabbit Island, a cruise to Pearl Harbor with a chowder at night will be substituted.

SMOKER FOR FORESTERS.

The members of Court Camoes No. 810, A. O. F. will give a smoker at Antonio hall this evening. The event has been heralded in the following proclamation:

Wilderness of Honolulu, Tenth Moon of the Steenth Year of Our Origin.

Beloved Brother:—Life at best is a pretty dull proposition. Full grown men—that is, life-sized men—require a little excitement occasionally, to relieve the monotony of an otherwise rusty existence. The fence dividing boyhood from manhood is very easy to jump over. For that reason, when men are tired of being men, they cross over to the boyhood pasture and romp and frisk around until, the dignity of their manhood asserting itself, they (we men) reluctantly cross back to their enclosure, stiffen their backbone and hold their nose up in the air as though held by a check-rein.

Of course, the above has nothing to do with the Prize Smoker! to be given on October 11, by Court Camoes. Except in so far as to remind you that on that occasion you are expected to leave your dignity at home (in the stove, so as to keep it warm) and join with the rest in a good old time.

Remember that it costs fifty cents to see the elephant—peanuts free.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set the imprint of my right hand foot, in proof of the genuineness of the "wise" words hereinabove set forth.
M. C. PACHECO,
Big G.

BEAT THE TWILIGHTS.

The H. A. C. baseball team—not the H. A. C. of the League but the Hearts baseball club—defeated the Twilighters in a lively game of baseball, played on Sunday at Makiki grounds at 1:30 p. m. The score by innings follows:

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9

H. A. C. . . . . 1 0 0 0 4 2 0 3—13

T. A. C. . . . . 4 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 5—9

Struck out—By Red 6, by Patrice 3, by Evers (Elks shortstop) 8.

Three base hits—Evers, Soares.

Two base hits—Joe Abrew, Fogo.

Sacrifice hits—Noar, Silva, Kila, Ferria, Willie.

Stolen bases—Evers, Red, Joseph Soares (Sub. of H. A. C.).

Umpire Bushnell.

Time of game—1 hour 49 minutes.

KALIHI MEETING.

The Republicans of the Fifth District invaded the ballcock of Frank Harvey last night, holding an enthusiastic meeting at Kalihi, mauka. The six Representative candidates made speeches. Mr. and Mrs. Kekaha also spoke. The audience, which was a large one, was noticeably pronounced in support of the Republican side.

Still they come. C. W. Booth was too sensible a man to be long following false political gods.

Now that Secretary Hay has begun negotiations over the Chinese exclusion treaty we shall soon know whether the Chinese mean what they say when they talk of reciprocity in exclusion.

If Notley is wise he will continue to forget the filing of his nomination papers and thus escape the certainty of defeat at the polls.

London's rumor that Stoessel says he will surrender unless relieved by December reads like a "delayed in transmission" yarn from Chefoo.

Dispatches from the centers of war might suggest that Kuropatkin is setting out for the relief of Port Arthur. If Stoessel keeps the Japanese out till the relief arrives he is looked for a siege that will last for years.

Announcement that Hill, Harriman and Morgan have reached an agreement on the peaceful cooperation of railway properties, puts the people on the watch for a later story on what new method this combination has devised to get around the anti-trust laws.

STRAIGHT VOTE AND SCHOOLS

High standard in the schools does not interest Maui alone. It is a first consideration of every thoughtful citizen in every section of the Territory. Our people take a very proper pride in the standard of efficiency already established in the Territory, and the majority, like The Bulletin's Maui correspondent, are not prepared to stand still. The experience of today can be used for the progressive improvement of tomorrow. The record of the past is good. The active citizens of the Territory will move to make that of the future better.

There is no politics in the schools. At the same time, the schools must depend for improvement to a very great extent upon the attitude of the leading political parties.

Republicans alone have taken an aggressive, clear-cut position on the school question and the party declarations should receive the careful attention of the voters, the men whose children depend on the public schools for their education.

The Republican platform says: "We staunchly support the principle of the best education for the youth of the Territory in the public schools in order that they may become good citizens and intelligent voters, and the party pledges itself to provide appropriations sufficiently liberal to maintain the schools in the highest efficiency. We have secured liberal appropriations for the permanent improvement of school houses, thus providing for the proper accommodation of the scholars. Our constant endeavor has been to secure capable educators and to give the people the best possible educational system."

This part of the platform is to a certain extent a generality which some may claim might mean something or nothing so far as practical progress in higher development of the school system is concerned. It shows the right spirit, however.

The Republican platform does not stop with generalities. It presents a definite program, a promise of legislation, a guarantee to the people. This promise in the platform reads as follows:

"We express our approval of a law creating a permanent school fund to be devoted to school purposes only, which shall be a guaranty of ample moneys to meet the demands of the broadest and most advanced educational development."

Every Republican candidate is pledged to legislation that will place our public schools beyond the reach of the vicissitudes of hard times or selfish plans that would sacrifice the improvement of the schools to the demands of other departments.

There is not an intelligent citizen who would vote against such a program. He will vote for it. And the means offered him to register his approval is a vote for the straight Republican ticket. A vote for the opposition or a split ticket is a negative vote on the question of public school progress.

ASTOR AND CITIZENSHIP.

Editor Evening Bulletin:—I observe amongst your comments in yesterday evening's paper, a paragraph alluding to the loneliness and friendless condition in New York, of William Waldorf Astor, "the man who prefers allegiance to King Edward." The inference is that Mr. Astor forfeits all claim to the respect of Americans because he has changed his nationality. May I ask whether you consider that a German, making his home in the United States, should lose the friendship and respect of all Germans, if he becomes a citizen of the country in which he has chosen to live? What is sauce for the goose is surely sauce for the gander.

Yours respectfully, RESIDENT ALLEN. Honolulu, Oct. 11, '04.

If the German were born and reared in Germany, grown to full manhood in Germany, been fortunate in amassing or increasing a great fortune in consequence of his share in the benefits of German enterprise, and had then chosen citizenship in a foreign country in order to kowtow to a spirit of aristocracy utterly foreign to the institutions of his native country from which he draws his sustenance, if the German's case were parallel with William Waldorf Astor, we should most certainly put him down as undeserving the respect of his native country or that of his adoption. Astor is a blood sucker. He considers his native country good enough only for furnishing the bounty, which he uses to satisfy a lust for associations he thinks his money can buy. The degree of his success is to the everlasting discredit of the country of his adoption, and the degree of failure of his ambition in this respect equally to its credit. He does not add to the fund of virile, patriotic manhood of any nation. We know of no parallel case of such a German, Englishman or any other nationality who has adopted American citizenship and if there be one, that citizen certainly is not an acquisition to arouse a sense of pride among Americans.

Astor is not "making a home" in England in the sense that German and British immigrants "make homes" in the United States. He is merely butting in on English aristocracy, trying to make money do what, as he considers it, the misfortune of his birth didn't. The editor of the Bulletin confesses that he admires men—men who make homes, men whose character and ability add to the fund of national patriotism and strength—and despises, with the old fashioned English-Irish-American hatred, individuals like Astor, whose ambition is centered in aristocracy based solely on luck of birth or wealth. There is more refinement, more self respect, more to be admired in the home of the hard working, honest farmer, mechanic or day laborer than can possibly be gathered from Astor's record or those like him. An aristocracy of honest manhood is open to all classes and conditions, and wealth of character is the qualification of its members.

NO POLITICS IN THE EAST.

[Des Moines Capital.]

There is no political excitement in any of the eastern States. In the hotels, on the trains and elsewhere not a word is heard in relation to the campaign. The political contest is as dead in the east as it is in the west. The Democrats have been trying to awaken some enthusiasm in New York State with poor success. Judge Parker arrives and departs from that great city and the masses never know or care anything about it. They allow him to come and go unnoticed. The usual Tammany picnics are not largely attended and are lacking in enthusiasm. In the city of New York there are more Roosevelt banners than Parker banners visible and Republicans appear to be more active than their opponents. The Democrats have made a strong endeavor to nominate a candidate for Governor who would please all factions and in the endeavor took another judge but, as in the case of Judge Parker, they selected a man who had been a political manager and manipulator before he became a judge and one who continued his political activity after putting on the judicial ermine. The Republicans agreed upon a man for Governor who will poll the full party vote, an honest, clean man, and to his support all Republicans will finally rally. Governor Odell, who is chairman of the Republican committee of New York, will manage the entire city and State campaign in person, for the Republicans, and all concede his ability. The national Republican headquarters are also in New York, and a visit to the headquarters is a little like a visit to Montana, in December, but it is predicted there will be a little more warmth later on.

The fact is the country is going to elect Roosevelt and Fairbanks and even the Democrats all over the east know it. They may talk for Parker a little, but they are buying goods as if they expected Roosevelt to be elected. Their conduct speaks louder than their words. They are like the minister who received a call to a neighboring city at a greatly increased salary. Some of his parishioners called upon him to learn what he intended to do. They found him deeply engrossed in prayer for divine guidance. Meantime his wife was upstairs boxing the goods ready for shipment.

The Democrats are talking as if Parker were to be elected, but their clerks and bookkeepers are transacting business on the supposition that Roosevelt is going to win.

GEAR CALLS FOR MAN TO HANDLE MURDER DEFENCE

CATHCART HAS DONE HIS SHARE. FIVE HOMICIDE MATTERS ON THE CALENDAR—TALK OF RUSH MADNESS.

Judge Gear this morning called the case of the Territory against Yoshi-kawa Dengiro, a Japanese, charged with murder in the first degree. Deputy Attorney General M. F. Prosser responded "ready" for the prosecution, but there was no answer on behalf of the defense.

On the calendar the names of Attorneys Charles Creighton and Henry Hogan were down as representing the accused. Neither of the gentlemen were in court. It was understood that they have now nothing further to do with the matter. This case was continued from last term and comes down from the Fifth Circuit on a transfer. E. A. Douthitt, then connected with the Attorney General's office, happened to be in court; he prosecuted the case before Judge Hardy.

Prosecution was ready but there was no one to defend the man charged. It was up to Judge Gear to appoint counsel, as Creighton and Hogan were believed to be no longer appearing for Dengiro.

The court let his eyes travel around the choice array of legal talent in the court room, seeking for some person deserving of the choice. He observed J. J. Dunne.

"Mr. Dunne, I appoint you to defend the accused," said the court.

Haleiwa Limited.

The most attractive day's outing is that afforded by the excursion down the railroad line. The HALEIWA LIMITED, a first-class train, leaves Honolulu every Sunday morning at 8:22 o'clock, making the run in two hours, the rate for round trip being only $2.00. From 10:22 a. m. until 8:10 p. m. is spent at the beautiful HOTEL HALEIWA, with fresh and salt water bathing, tennis, golf, drives and walks, shooting or fishing, and you are back in town at 10:10 o'clock in the evening.

Dunne was on his feet in a moment. He appeared not only surprised, but shocked and grieved.

"Really, your Honor," said Dunne, "I am very, very busy. I have several matters to present to the Federal Grand Jury and I am already engaged in numerous cases. Your Honor knows that I am retained in the Naone (murder of his wife), case. I see several other attorneys here. Besides, I think I have already done my share. I would refer your Honor to Mr. J. W. Cathcart."

It was Cathcart's turn to arise. "This is not the first time Mr. Dunne has recommended me to your Honor's attention as a candidate for appointment in such cases, after Dunne himself has declined to be appointed," said he. "This time he does not do it in quite such glowing terms as he did last time. I think, as a matter of fact, may it please the court, that I have about done my share of this sort of thing for this term."

"Mr. Cathcart has certainly done his share," said the court; "I don't exactly know what Mr. Dunne means by having done his share. This Court has not appointed him this term to represent anybody. You are just about to enter upon the representation of a man (Naone, murderer) who is charged with a crime similar to that with which Dengiro is charged, Mr. Dunne."

Dunne remarked, in the course of the exchange of words, that there seemed to be a rage and a madness abroad in the land for rushing murder matters. He thought it was a very serious thing where a man's life was at stake and that there was a deliberate way of conducting such affairs quite as effective as the method which he characterized as rushing.

"I may even have to withdraw from the Naone case," said Dunne.

"This Dengiro case has been pending for a year and a half," said Prosser. "I do not think there has been any rush about it."

"Dunne again addressed the court, asking that he be excused from defending Dengiro, saying that he was handicapped by his duties in the Federal Court. "I doubt if I can even defend Naone," he repeated.

Judge Gear drew attention to the fact that there are five homicide cases on the calendar awaiting disposition. However, he continued the matter of settling upon counsel for Dengiro until the afternoon session of court.

SILVERWINGS' GOOD RACE.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—With but a slight touch of fall weather prevailing racing enthusiasm took a tumble today, though a fair crowd made its way to Hawthorne.

The feature event, the Excelsior stakes, went to Talbot Brothers' Prince Silverwings, held in the betting at 4 to 1, black down from 5.

The colt ran one of his best races and never let anything else get close enough to endanger his chances. Going to the front with the release of the barrier, he made his own pace all the mile and a furlong and at the end was going handily two lengths in front of The Lady. Miss Crawford was back third, while Flying Torpedo was beaten off.

WEIGHT-THROWING RECORD.

New York, Sept. 10.—The Pelham Day Field day has given the world a new weight-throwing record. John Flanagan, the world's champion, threw the 56-pound weight a distance of 38 feet, 7 3/8 inches. The former record was 36 feet, 9 1/2 inches, and was held by Flanagan. Flanagan also won out in throwing the 16-pound hammer, covering 167 feet, 6 1/2 inches, many feet better than his nearest competitor.

WILL SUFFER DEATH

"The law provides for death as the penalty for murder," said the court; "several days must elapse between the passing of sentence and the day of execution and, Jose Miranda, if you have not already done so, you had better make your peace with God. Mr. Clerk, you will notify the Governor that sentence of death has been passed on Jose Miranda."

Governor Carter has the death warrant to sign and he must fix the day for the execution. At least fourteen days must elapse between the sentence and the hanging.

Miranda was removed from the court-room by way of the library, where the handcuffs were again adjusted and he was taken below by way of the lavatory. The lower element of the crowd rushed out of the court-room to head off the officers with the condemned man at the head of the stairs leading into the main hall of the Judiciary building. When the prisoner was arrived at the main entrance of the building, waiting for the police wagon, Officer McDuffie stood him cringing in a corner, the better to guard him, while hundreds of the curious gathered round and jostled to get a view of the death-doomed. For five minutes the mob waited for the wagon. If the wagon had been an hour in coming the morbid mass would have maintained the same attitude and stared the murderer out of countenance, so intent were they upon feasting their eyes on his abject misery.

The curtains of the police patrol were down and as Miranda was hurried to Oahu prison he was little noticed by persons in the streets.

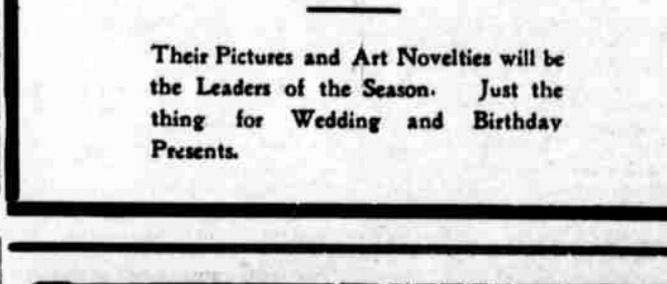

At the hour set for the sentence of death Judge Gear's court-room was packed to overflowing. The doorways were filled and, in the back of the room, men were standing on the benches to get a glimpse of the murderer's haggard face over the heads of the close-packed throng in front. Rarely has so mixed a gathering banished the pure air from the spacious chamber. There were many who had business there—attorneys, police, the press, court officers, and a few others, but the great majority of those who were present were morbidly curious men desirous of experiencing the sensation of seeing a fellow man condemned to be hung by the neck until his body swung limp and lifeless.

Some, to be sure, were actuated by no mean motives, but there was a goodly representation of that element which constitutes the dregs of humanity. There were hard faces in the crowd, faces which have already looked from behind the bars, faces which will again be framed by rods of iron. Jammed close in one part of the room was a cluster of faces which would look at home in any roguery gallery, a regular jail delivery of talent, it seemed. Perhaps a certain sympathy for a fellow degenerate animated some of those beings who came to hear the fatal words passed; perhaps many wanted to see how the convicted murderer would act under the awful words; perhaps, who knows, wondering how they themselves would behave under like conditions.

As Miranda stood before the Bench, guarded by officers of the law whose eyes never for a moment left the miserable candidate for the gallows, a solemn stillness reigned. There was not a whisper, not a cough, not a shuffle of the hundreds of feet. All eyes were on the slayer. No sound but the slow, deliberate, horribly impressive words of the Court could be heard. And when the fearful sentence had been pronounced, for a second it seemed that the stillness deepened; and then the awesome tension was relieved. First by a whisper—the comment of some distant witness—then by the scraping of shoes and the tread of feet as the condemned man was removed by the officers; then by a general breaking into conversation of scores of voices until the bailiff had to raise for order again and again.

Miranda will now occupy a condemned cell in Oahu penitentiary until the law takes his life. The death watch will begin and the doomed man will be jealously guarded lest he be tempted to cheat the hangman by his own hand.

Miranda is the third man Judge Gear has condemned to death, but, as yet, none of his sentences have been carried out. The gubernatorial prerogative has been exercised in the two previous cases, and yet there are fools who swear the Judge is not severe enough.

Jose Miranda, Porto Rican, is twenty-three years of age; below the medium height, but of a very sturdy build. His forearms are almost worthy of a blacksmith. At first glance he does not appear to possess a vicious face. Closer scrutiny reveals the low forehead, the undeveloped cranium, the desperate jaw, the cruel eyes.

In the evening of Tuesday, September 27th, just two weeks ago, Miranda, accompanied by Marie Antonia Colonna, a notorious woman, and another young Porto Rican, nicknamed "Chito", had some words on the Moanalua road with S. Edward Damon over a red light which Miranda had stolen from the roadside and which Damon requested him to replace, that travelers might be warned of a dirt-pile in the highway which had been marked by the red lantern. Miranda, without ever the motive, fear of arrest, or sudden passion, or imagined attack, drove a five-inch blade into Damon's abdomen and fled, leaving Eugene Sullivan, who arrived on the scene of the tragedy about that time, to take the dying man to town. Miranda was arrested shortly after. On Wednesday morning he was indicted and arraigned. On Thursday he pleaded "not guilty" and Judge Gear appointed Attorneys Geo. Davis and Frank Thompson to defend him. The getting of a trial jury was begun, occupying two days. The trial itself occupied another two days and the jury returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. The Court set this morning for sentence. Attorney General Andrews and Deputy Attorney General Prosser conducted the prosecution.

SHORT STORY FOR EVENING HOURS

UNAPPRECIATED INVENTION

Really it was a great invention which Hornsby proposed to the Ministers' Alliance at their regular monthly meeting. It was right in their line, too. It surely wasn't in Hornsby's, for he was only too glad to let each man bug his favorite sin. And it was in no spirit of reformation that he perfected the invention which he exhibited, but rather it was for the purpose of placing his financial conditions on the solid rock.

Unlike the vendor of the famous Sibylline books Hopsby did not leave any part of his invention, but when his proffer was declined he put the whole thing to the bad and utterly refused to have anything further to do with the sins of his fellowmen, so long as they did not intrude themselves upon his sphere of action.

Like many other good men, Hornsby drifted into the newspaper business and, fascinated by the work, he stayed long enough to become so inoculated with the virus that he had no inclination to go into any more lucrative calling.

It should be mentioned that one of the fads of Hornsby's was the photographic art. It was from this that his invention grew until he himself believed thoroughly in it, whether anybody else did or not.

In brief, his invention consisted in the production of plates so sensitive that they recorded, like the X-ray, not the features, but the thought of the subject. The impression was recorded on the plate and by an ingenious scheme somewhat similar to the phonograph, the thoughts were formulated into word pictures.

Acting on the belief that those who were charged with keeping the forces of evil in check would welcome an invention which made the evil thinker afraid to face his fellowman for fear that in an instant some "fend" would take a snap of his thoughts, he brought his invention to them. If the fear of publicity deterred men from doing evil, then by the same token the fear of being discovered in thinking some evil scheme would in like manner cause the wicked to bridle their mental concepts. And thus keeping company only with high thoughts the erstwhile sinner would be reformed without knowing just how it all happened. This was the way Hornsby looked at it—a most reasonable view, he thought.

For some weeks after the perfection of the kodak Hornsby made a careful test of its powers. The results were dumfounding to him, and had he not had actual proof of the truth of the disclosures he would have been a doubter himself.

On one occasion he had caught the expression of a bank cashier, and when the plate was developed and interpreted it told that the man was thinking of decamping with the funds of the bank. Within a few weeks of the snap shot the papers told of a big hole in the bank's deposits. Another plate showed the impure love of a man and sure enough it was not long before he ran away with a woman, leaving his wife and children to bear the disgrace. Some of the plates failed to develop properly, while others showed up clear.

An unusually hard financial crisis in the affairs of Hornsby made him anxious to realize on his invention, and in thinking over the best place to place the proposition he figured that the preachers would find the little machine their best ally and would accordingly be anxious to secure it. Approaching one of the prominent members of the Alliance, Hornsby intimated that he had something good to bring before the next meeting, without stating what it was. So it was arranged that he should be given a hearing. For the ministers were curious enough about the matter and were at a high state of expectancy by reason of the fact that only hints had been thrown out that something very unusual was to be shown.

Rev. John Joslin presided over the meeting before which Hornsby was to get a hearing, and the meeting itself was the best attended in the history of the alliance.

"Brethren," said Dr. Joslin, after the routine business was disposed of, "as you all know this morning we have with us Mr. Hornsby, who is known to most if not all of us in his capacity as a member of the Daily Whirl. He has an invention which he claims will be of great benefit to the ministry and which he desires to exhibit to us now. All eyes were turned towards Hornsby, who had with him an apparatus resembling in general appearance a photographer's outfit.

Some what exhilarated by the magnitude of the proposition which he was about to bring to the attention of the attentive gathering, the inventor rose to his feet and began:

A prominent Southern lady, Mrs. Blanchard, of Nashville, Tenn., tells how she was cured of backache, dizziness, painful and irregular periods by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Gratitude compels me to acknowledge the great merit of your Vegetable Compound. I have suffered for four years with irregular and painful menstruation, also dizziness, pains in the back and lower limbs, and fitful sleep. I dreaded the time to come which would only mean suffering to me.

"Better health is all I wanted, and cure if possible. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me health and happiness in a few short months. I feel like another person now. My aches and pains have left me. Life seems new and sweet to me, and everything seems pleasant and easy.

"Six bottles brought me health, and was worth more than months under the doctor's care, which really did not benefit me at all. I am satisfied there is no medicine so good for sick women as your Vegetable Compound, and I advocate it to my lady friends in need of medical help."—Mrs. B. A. BLANCHARD, 422 Broad St., Nashville, Tenn.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

A Severe Case of Womb Trouble Cured in Philadelphia.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been cured of severe female troubles by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was nearly ready to give up, but seeing your advertisement I purchased one bottle of your medicine, and it did me so much good that I purchased another, and the result was so satisfactory that I bought six more bottles, and am now feeling like a new woman. I shall never be without it. I hope that my testimonial will convince women that your Vegetable Compound is the greatest medicine in the world for falling of the womb or any other female complaints."—Mrs. MAY COY, 2660 Birch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Remember, every woman is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about her symptoms she does not understand. Her address is Lynn, Mass., her advice is free and cheerfully given to every ailing woman who asks for it.

"Gentlemen, I have with me an invention which I believe to be one of the greatest agents for good ever discovered," were the introductory words.

"To explain briefly and in a very few words, I would say that it is a method of photographing the thoughts of a person, so that a record may be taken and read of all men. It is a kodak which photographs thoughts into pictures. Thus, a man with murder in his heart is betrayed by the use of this little instrument, and the same way with other evils.

"Of course, you gentlemen being in the business of reforming the world, have often laid great stress upon the necessity of pure thoughts as a condition precedent to leading pure lives. Now, with the certainty of the discovery, how many men do you think would harbor such thoughts? And having secured a greatly bettered condition in that, would not the world be greatly improved?"

Within the meeting the ministers discussed the invention. "Brethren," said one of the members, "you must recollect that some of our folks might make a promiscuous use of the invention—ah, that is, you know, to our own very great discomfort. I think it needs no more, and it is my opinion that we should have nothing to do with this fellow."

THIEF QUICKLY TAKEN

JAPANESE STOLE COIN AT RIVER STREET HOTEL

ARRESTED BY OFFICER KANE ONLY FEW HOURS AFTER HE HAD COMMITTED THEFT.

Nishimoto, a Japanese, appeared in the Police Court this morning, charged under two charges of larceny in the first and in the second degree. He was arrested last night by Officer Frank Kanne, Kanne, while he was on the River street bent last night, noticed a Japanese acting in a suspicious manner. The fellow finally disappeared in a Japanese hotel on Eoretania street near River street. A few hours later a Japanese, named Kawabata, reported to Kanne that someone had entered his room and stolen $48 and a watch from his trousers pocket while he was asleep. Kanne at once remembered his suspicious character and went to the hotel which he had seen him enter. Here he soon found the man he was looking for.

This man, Nishimoto, denied that he had anything to do with the theft. He said that he had money of his own and produced money to prove it. Kanne took the money and asked Kawabata the nature of the money of which he had been robbed. Kawabata described the size and denomination of each of the coins. His description tallied exactly with the coins in Nishimoto's possession. Kawabata also described the watch of which he had been robbed. A watch fitting this description was found on Nishimoto.

Nishimoto was tried on the charge of larceny in the second degree. He pleaded not guilty but was speedily convicted and sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for six months. The charge of larceny in the second degree was nolle prosequi.

Willie Hall, better known as "Spendrift Hall", appeared on a charge of disturbing the quiet of the night. He asked that his case be continued until tomorrow, which was granted.

Miliona and Puni, both young Hawaiians, were picked up by the police as being members of the crowd which stoned Mounted Officer Sam Hook last Thursday night. Both said they were so drunk that they could not remember what had happened. They were accordingly charged with drunkenness. Miliona was fined $6 and Puni $4 and costs.

The case of Frank Woodbridge, charged with larceny in the second degree, was continued until tomorrow as the defendant was before the Circuit Court for arraignment.

Takata, alias Tasaka, a Japanese hack driver, was fined $10 and costs for heedless driving. Kanaichi and Iwanura, both charged with larceny in the second degree, had their cases nolle prosequi. Joe de Mello was fined $3 and costs for profanity. The cases of Lau Gin, charged with gambling; Clarence Robertson, charged with vagrancy; and of Yoshida, charged with assault with a weapon, were all continued.

A poacher, writing in the County Gentleman of London, says: "When I left home at night to go poaching I always left an end of a candle burning in a saucer of water in my bedroom; this was arranged so that it would sputter out about 10 o'clock just as if I had extinguished it and retired for the night. This I did because I discovered that the keepers were given to watching my house for signs of my leaving, and it was a long time before they found that a candle could go out without human agency."

Maru Arrives At Coast In Safety

Any fears which may have been entertained for the safe passage of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha steamship Ameri-ka Maru can now be set at rest. The swift Japanese liner arrived at San Francisco last Sunday morning. A cablegram reporting her arrival there was received yesterday afternoon. At the time the Maru left this port for the Coast there was some apprehension lest she should be snapped up by the Russian war vessel which had been reported near Vancouver and which was supposed by some to be lying in wait for the Maru, which would be a valuable prize for the Russians. The cablegram merely reports the arrival of the Maru and gives no details of the voyage.

SHIP WITH A RECORD.

New York, Sept. 21.—Rapidly being loaded, preparatory to sailing for Australia, the four-masted steel bark Falta of Garry lies at McCormick's elevator, Atlantic dock, Brooklyn. Several men who had the temerity to raise the bark from the bottom of the Pacific Ocean, where she had lain a wreck for four years, were made wealthy by salvage by buying her while she was still at the bottom for $375, and selling her after she was repaired for $350,000. She is the same vessel, beam for beam, mast for mast, that went ashore on the coast of New Caledonia, the French penal settlement in the Pacific Ocean, twenty degrees south of the equator, nearly eight years ago. Rising gently with the swell at her Brooklyn dock, her brasswork glistening like crystal, her stiff steel masts testifying to the strength of her keel, one can hardly imagine that she endured for so long a time the wear and tear to which she was subjected during the years she lay submerged.
