U. S. Court Lighted Returning To Honolulu By Glow Of Kilauea

(Special Bulletin Wireless) Hilo, Feb. 4.—The Federal Court has adjourned until Monday, because the defendant in the only case to be tried cannot be found. It is believed he went to Honolulu. He may be returned by the Claudine.

Hilo, Feb. 4, 2:30 p. m.—Federal term adjourned. The defendant was not found and bail was forfeited. Dole, Breckons, Hendry and many jurors went to the volcano Saturday. They will return by Claudine, leaving this afternoon.

The Japanese, Alno Yoshido, who jumped his bond and failed to appear for trial before the United States District Court at Hilo, has not yet been caught. The Court has evidently given the matter up as a bad job, and is re-

The above cable was received by the Governor this morning and indicates that Hawaii is faring pretty well at the hands of Congress this session. Governor Carter promptly called back to Kuhio his congratulations.

SEVERAL NEW BILLS NOW READY TO BE SUBMITTED

The Republican Central Committee will take up some of the bills drafted by its sub-committee on legislation, at its regular monthly meeting, which will be held at the headquarters on Merchant street at 7:30 o'clock tonight. It is expected that a large number of the members of the coming Legislature will be present. Among the bills which will be submitted by the subcommittee, will be the proposed primary law, which it is said is a very strict one in all its provisions. The tax commission bill and the bill providing for the payment of income tax by corporations in the county wherein they actually do their business will also be submitted. The educational bill has been completed as far as the county board is concerned, but the agricultural college feature has not been completed.

MANY DELINQUENT IN TAX RETURNS SAYS NEELEY.

The number of those delinquent in paying their taxes in this tax division this year is approximately 1,600, according to a statement made today by Deputy Tax Assessor Neeley. What is the amount of property upon which tax returns have not been made cannot yet be ascertained, as the Tax Office has not had time yet to go over the books.

The collectors are being sent out now to bring in the money and the department is busy getting this matter into shape.

Mr. Neeley stated today that he believed that one of the chief causes of delinquency here is the fact that the law requires the delinquent tax list to be published in a weekly paper instead of in a daily. Most of the circulation of the weeklies, he says, is on the other islands, and consequently Honolulu taxpayers have little fear of many people here seeing their names in the delinquent list. Therefore they do not worry much about whether they become delinquent or not. It is more a matter of pride than anything else with many of them, and so long as nobody knows anything about it they are content to have their names on the list of those who have not paid their taxes. It was for this reason that the delinquent list for 1906 was published in a daily paper.

Mr. Neeley believes that a change in the law requiring the list to be published in a daily paper instead of a weekly, would result in a much smaller delinquent list.

Four hundred shares of O. R. & L. Co. stock were sold on the Exchange this forenoon by the Waterhouse Trust Co. for a San Francisco client. It was bought at $92 by local people in three lots of 250, 100 and 50 shares respectively.

The Supreme Court this morning listened to the arguments in the matter of Mills vs. Walker. The case was submitted on the arguments, and a decision will be handed down later.

A list of the officers elected to serve for the ensuing year in the Kwong Yee Society is published in this issue.

CLEAN CERTIFICATES WILL BE THE RULE

It is the intention of those interested in the Rapid Transit & Land Co. to propose an amendment of the by-laws at the adjourned annual meeting of the stockholders, which will take place Feb. 16, whereby "clean" lost stock certificates will be issued. It is the proposition to issue certificates of stock in lieu of such as have been lost, by having the owners testify that the original certificates have been lost, advertise the fact for a certain length of time, and finally furnish an indemnity bond amounting to double the par or double the market value of the stock, if it sells above par.

The lost stock certificate matter became one of importance, when the San Francisco fire caused the loss of many certificates of stock in local corporations. The corporations issued new certificates, but stamped them across the face showing them to be re-issues. While these stocks were as good as ever as an investment, bearing dividends as well as the originals, their negotiability became practically nil, and the Stock Exchange held a meeting at which it decided to exclude these stamped certificates from the Exchange, and a committee was appointed to see what it could do with the corporations towards securing unstamped or "clean" certificates. At first the corporations did not seem to want to issue those, but now it appears they have changed their position, and it is expected that all the prominent corporations, most of which hold their annual meetings within the next month, will do as the R. T. & L. Co. proposes to do.

OLDEST VOTER IN HAWAII IS DISCOVERED

The oldest voter in the Territory of Hawaii has been discovered. At least, it there is an older, he has not been heard from to date. Elna Kikalaeka, who voted at the last election, was at that time 103 years old—and he was able to write his name very legibly.

Bernard Kelekolio, in the Governor's office, was this morning going through a lot of registration affidavits when he came across one that made him stop and look at it twice to make sure that he had seen correctly. Sure enough, it was there, the application for registration of Elna Kikalaeka, born in Hawaii and a resident of the Territory for 103 years. The application was dated October 8, 1906.

Kikalaeka lives at Halaula, North Kohala. He is said to be the father of Rev. Timoteo.

When men speak ill of thee, live so that nobody will believe them.

There is no safety in under-the-mattress security; you never can tell who is going to learn your secret hiding place for your valuables. But when you have your papers and valuables in a safe deposit vault you need not care who knows it. Four dollars a year with us.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 4.—Orders have been issued that the Naval Squadron in Pacific Coast waters be consolidated. The fleet is to be under Admiral Brownson and engage in maneuvers looking to the protection of the Pacific Coast and Pacific dependencies.

NO DECISION YET IN CRAWFORD CASE

The Supreme Court seems to be having difficulties with the Crawford matter. It was expected that a decision would be handed down this morning in the matter of the question as to a directed verdict, upon which the case is up before the Court. But no decision was handed down. Neither was there any intimation as to when one might be expected.
In the meantime Judge Gear, attorney for Crawford, has consented that the Circuit Court may go ahead with other matters, pending the action of the Supreme Court in the case. This morning accordingly the trial of Yokayama was begun. Yokayama is accused of selling liquor without a license. He was convicted in the District Court and appealed to the Circuit Court. He was again convicted, but was granted a new trial by Judge De Bolt.

Delegate Would Bring Visitors

A communication received by Secretary Paris from Mr. McClellan, private secretary to the Delegate, contains the reassurance of the fact that the $500,000 for Honolulu and Hilo harbors is safe.
It is very evident, from the close watch Mr. McClellan is keeping on matters local, that he has the interests of Hawaii at heart.
The Delegate is desirous of inviting about twenty members of Congress with their wives to visit Hawaii, sometime during June or July, and has a letter on the way to Governor Carter to that effect, expressing his wish that the visitors come as guests of the Territory.
He further states that not a member of the Rivers and Harbors, or Territories Committee of the House or the Senate Committee on Pacific Islands has ever visited Hawaii.

That's right, five—there are others, but these are the important ones for you and your eyes:
WHEN
—you frown or squint in looking at an object;
—your eyes show an intolerance of light;

—objects swim or become dim;
—you have frequent headaches;

MANY PASSENGERS ON THE SIBERIA
Three Days Of Rough Weather Met By The Liner

The Pacific Mail steamship Siberia arrived this morning from the Orient, bringing a large passenger list and cargo. She brought eight first class passengers for this port but her through list is very large and includes Lorrin Andrews, formerly Attorney General of Hawaii, and Porter Boyd, formerly shipping commissioner in this city and now located in Shanghai.
The entire cargo of the Siberia amounts to 6239 tons, of which 1386 are for this port. The Honolulu freight consists of the usual merchandise, rice, sake, and also being the predominant articles.
Unusually rough weather was met for the first three days out of Yokohama and the passengers suffered a good deal from mal-de-mer but after the storm was over nothing but the finest weather was experienced. The transport Thomas was sighted on February 1 by the Siberia and was passed by the liner. She was headed for Honolulu and should reach here this evening or tomorrow morning.
There were 637 Japanese on the Siberia for this city and about 400 will leave on her this afternoon for the Coast.

ANDREWS HERE FROM SHANGHAI
Tells How Judge Wilfley Annihilated Bar In China

Former Attorney General Lorrin Andrews arrived this morning from Shanghai. He is a through passenger in the Siberia for the mainland. While Andrews has just been ousted from practice in the new United States court of China, together with F. M. Brooks and many others, by Judge Wilfley, his trip around town this morning was a veritable triumph procession. From all sides friends flocked about Andrews asking him about the now famous examination, and expressing their opinions of the learned Judge and his actions in no uncertain terms.
"I would rather say nothing about the whole affair," said Andrews, when approached by a reporter. "The situation is a very delicate one, and the chances are that it may readjust itself. As a matter of fact the matter of being excluded from the United States court does not amount to much in a financial way, but it is the loss of prestige attending it, which is of course a serious matter. The report that those who have been debarred from practice in the United States court were also debarred from the other courts in Shanghai, is erroneous. We can practice in all the courts except that of Judge Wilfley, and possibly the British Supreme Court, as the British barristers, who have for a long time been jealous of the American lawyers, who invaded their courts, will probably do all they can to get them excluded."
"Judge Wilfley gave out officially that the results of the examination was the only reason for keeping us out, and that it had nothing to do with our morals or characters. However, since the examination took place he has let it be known, I understand, that the main object of his action was to weed out a number of "undesirable characters," who were members of the American bar.
"I do not think that any steps are being taken to take the matter to Washington, and, as I said, there are prospects that the whole thing will settle itself. I am going to San Francisco to appear in the case of United States vs. Price, which was appealed from Shanghai. I shall also go to New York, and possibly to Washington. Yes, if I do go to Washington, I may do something about the examination matter then."
A number of attorneys flocked about Andrews while he was uptown, and these were especially entertained at the character of the examination questions propounded by Wilfley, which a layman could not fully appreciate. Andrews fired a bunch of the questions at a group of legal lights about him, including some of the brightest young attorneys here, and each one of them threw up his hands in horror and acknowledged himself "stuck."
In this connection Andrews told an amusing incident connected with the examination. One of the candidates was Lammie, a California ex-judge and one of the best known American practitioners in the Orient. Lammie had had personal differences with Wilfley in Manila, and therefore knew that his fate was sealed. One of the questions was: "What is the doctrine of cy pres?" "You have spelled it wrong," wrote Lammie. "It ends with another S. Cyprus is a tree which is much used at funerals. It is therefore particularly appropriate for this occasion."

Charlie Falk To Give Up H.A.C. Management

TOO MUCH BUSINESS IS HIS REASON

Charlie Falk made the announcement this morning to the writer that he was about to give up the management of the H. A. C. baseball team. He stated that he had so much to do in his other business that he was unable to find time to attend to the many duties which he was needed for in connection with the team. Rather than let either suffer from his lack of time he said that he would drop the baseball.

Falk has been manager during the recent triumphant baseball career of the H. A. C. and has had as much or more of a hand in seeing that the club led at the end of the season than any other member of the club. His services are sure to be missed and who will fill his position has not yet been decided. Pat Gleason, the captain of the H. A. C.'s, will look after the welfare of the club till a new manager has been selected.

The H. A. C.'s will play an exhibition game against the Diamond Heads on Washington's birthday and the full line-up of the team has not yet been decided on. A number of new players will have to be called in on account of the men who have left the club to play with the D. H. outfit, and Captain Gleason is not overlooking any available material. He will have a hard time to pick up as strong a team as he had last year, but does not seem to have any doubt about its being done before the season opens.

Barney Joy Not Likely To Play On The Coast

In all probability the negotiations between the San Francisco team and Barney Joy will come to naught and Honolulu will still have the big pitcher of last year's H. A. C.'s as the star man of the local diamond for another year. Joy has written to the Coast in regard to his contract, but as yet no definite answer has been received, and if everything is not satisfactory he will remain in this city.

Joy would certainly be foolish if he left Honolulu without a good guarantee that he would get the best of treatment. He has a good position with the Honolulu Iron Works which pays him more than he has been offered by the baseball magnates on the Coast, and he can pick up a little outside coin with his playing here. To stray far from home and friends with nothing good in sight would be asking a good deal of the local man.

There is another matter to be considered. Joy is a good pitcher, as all those who have battled against him have found out, but he would not be certain of making good in the Coast League and then there would be plenty of trouble for him. He would have to pay his own fare back here and then get his old job back, which would be embarrassing to say the least.

So Sue will not go to the Coast according to the latest reports. The San Francisco team has picked up a number of utility players from the smaller teams of California and will go without the services of the local boy. The Honolulu fans will be glad of this, as there is not a ball-player in this city who does cleaner-cut work than En Sue. From the time a game commences till it is over he is digging all the time and the little bunts which he drops alongside of the plate are a joy forever to the lovers of the game.

If Joy stays in Honolulu, he may change his allegiance and be seen in another uniform. He stated to a friend the other day that he was not anxious to play with the H. A. C.'s for love and that unless there was something in sight which would repay him for his trouble he would just as lief take on with some other organization.

WATER POLO PRACTISE

There will be all sorts of sport at the Hotel Baths this evening. George Cooke will give the Diamond Heads their first lesson in water polo. The Healan swimming team will have a work-out. Cotton and Beckert will try for a place in the Hawaiian Swimming Club. To become a member of this Club you must qualify by doing some "fast swimming" before a committee who report to the Club.

Both the Healan and Myrtles are training hard for their coming meet, which takes place on the 16th and 23d of this month.

There are many swimmers developing at the new Baths and in another year some records will surely be broken.

The Healan team will suffer by the loss of Hustace, who has gone to Kauai for his health.

TO GIVE MEYERS CUP AS RUNNING TROPHY

New York, Jan. 13.—An event that is attracting widespread attention in the athletic world is the special race at 600 yards, to be held at the grand indoor meet of the Pastime Athletic Club, February 9th, at Madison Square Garden. Melvin W. Sheppard, the Irish-American Athletic Club star; Harry Hillman of the New York Athletic Club, and Eli B. Parsons of Yale University and the New York Athletic Club, have been invited and are expected to compete.

An incentive to the men is the fact that G. M. L. Sachs, an old-time patron of track and field athletics and sole possessor of all the trophies of the celebrated "Lon" Myers, the world's greatest runner, has offered to the winner one of the cups won by Myers, and this, it is thought, will make the men run their hardest.

STORM DOES GREAT AMOUNT OF DAMAGE

Will Cost Ten Thousand Dollars To Repair Injuries

Ten thousand dollars would not suffice to repair the damage done to the roads of Honolulu and to the bridges and ditches by the heavy rainstorm of Saturday night, said Road Supervisor Sam Johnson this morning. "I could spend ten thousand dollars on the work of repairing the roads this month, if I had it to spend. But I haven't. I have only $2,000 to spend this month, so the repair work will have to be extended for four or five months, as there is money available for it."

Almost every part of the city, Johnson says, suffered from the storm. The most serious damage was done by the flood which poured down Nuuanu creek. The waters swept over the retaining walls near Kukui street, causing them to cave in. This, Johnson says, means a big job for the road department.

The retaining walls of the Makiki ditch between Hastings and Dominis streets were also broken and the water flooded a large part of the Makiki district, doing a considerable amount of damage. Yards were flooded and in some instances the water came into the houses, making the dwellers scurry around to get their damagable goods out of the wet. The bridge over the Makiki ditch was carried away. The concrete retaining walls of the flume, however, stood well, although the water poured over them. The Makiki fire station was almost flooded out, the straw bedding of the stalls being carried away.

Great boulders were carried down Kapiolani street as if they were chips and the street damaged to a considerable extent.

Kowalo was flooded, of course, as always happens when there is a heavy rain.

Punchbowl drive was badly washed out and the road was almost impassable.

All over the city the roads were injured to a greater or less extent, the top dressing being washed off, holes cut in the roads, culverts washed away, etc.

High Sheriff Henry reports that a bridge on the Kailua road between the Fall and Waimanalo, was carried away, rendering the road impassable.

Sam Johnson states that he has about fifty wagons working around town today, clearing away the most immediate effects of the storm. His men worked all day yesterday and nearly all night last night. Johnson was out himself about 11 o'clock Saturday night, riding out toward Makiki, and he says that he could hardly get along at all. The wind was blowing so that his horse had to lean away over to keep from being blown off his feet.

Practically nothing is being done today in the way of new work. The wagons are all busy clearing up the streets, and there is none available to haul cement. The new work will probably be at a standstill all of this week for that reason.

What amount of damage was done to the Nuuanu dam Assistant Superintendent of Public Works Howland could not say this morning, as he had received no complete reports. However, he thought it probable that considerable injury had been done. The water poured over the curb wall and everything else. Mr. Howland went out to the dam this morning to see for himself what effect the storm had had upon the work.

JAPANESE PAPERS WILL REPORT LEGISLATURE

Since the meeting of the white liquor dealers relative to the proposed liquor law which will be brought up at the coming session of the Legislature, the Japanese community have decided that they must do something towards protecting their rights as tax payers of the Territory. To this end, they have decided to watch the doings of the representatives in the Legislature.

During the session, it is said, some local Japanese newspapers will issue English editions, either weekly or bi-weekly. The Hawaii Shingo will be written by Editor Shizawa and Negoro, a graduate of a mainland university; the Hawaiian-Japanese Chronicle will be represented by one of its directors, and the Nippo will be edited by Y. Sosa, its proprietor and editor. The Jiji's editor is, it is said, looking around for a man to write its English weekly. Judging from the boom in the newspaper business the legislative hall will be crowded by a cosmopolitan set of reporters, English, Hawaiian, Japanese and probably Chinese.

It is reported from the Home Rule headquarters that its English weekly will be published preparatory to the opening of the Legislature. J. M. Poyne will write for The English Home Rule Kookoa.

HAWAII AND NEGOTIATIONS WITH JAPAN

The Bulletin trusts that the lawyers of Honolulu ruled out by a freak exemption will be able to overcome the follies of an obviously erratic judge. Their statement, however, that the judge cannot disbar them, recalls the story of a man placed in jail. He called in a lawyer, who, after hearing "Why they can't arrest you for that, it is unconstitutional. They can't put you in jail." "Hell," said the client, "but I'm here." That's why Andrews is wise in going to headquarters to see about it.

Read in the light of what has been officially stated during the last few days, the Associated Press dispatch from Tokyo this morning has shattering possibilities.

If it be a correct expression of the attitude of the Japanese Government, it means that the statements heretofore given out have not correctly pictured the delicacy of the situation between the two governments.

If it be merely an epitome of opinion as reflected by the unispired newspapers of Tokyo it represents what the Japanese government has to deal with among a fraction of its own people when contemplating any modification of the treaty with the United States.

A dispatch of this character is either exceptionally pertinent or so absolutely far from the mark that it means nothing. Either news is being manufactured by irresponsible conversationalists, or the Japanese government is indulging in a style of diplomacy shaped with the specific purpose of bringing the United States into a conflict. It is not the latter, unless Japan has the moral backing of Europe, which would not be slow to take a fait-out of the Americans if a cat-paw were available to bear the brunt of the trouble. The dispatch as worded here is put in a style to fire rather than pacify the citizens of the Pacific Coast.

Aside from this single unofficial telegram, however, every statement, direct and indirect, from official centers points to deliberations, amicable exchanges between the two governments to secure a mutually satisfactory regulation of the emigration of Japanese laborers to the United States.

This means Hawaii. So far as the intentions of the Government have been made public the purpose of the new treaty or new regulation is to shut off all Japanese laborers from the United States, and deal with Hawaii as if it were contiguous territory.

This Territory is in one way a small factor in the affair, the difficulty having assumed full sized national proportions. That is not a reason why Hawaii should keep quiet. If there be

NEW YORK DIVINE COMES ON SIBERIA

Has Investigated Many Of the American Missions

Dr. H. A. Johnstone, of New York, one of the best-known divines in the United States, and formerly pastor of the Madison Avenue Church of New York, arrived this morning on the Siberia accompanied by his wife and daughter. He is on his way home from a trip which has lasted nineteen months and which was for the purpose of investigating missionary work throughout the world.

Dr. Johnstone will probably take the Kaimo tomorrow to Hilo, where he and his party will visit the Volcano, returning to this city on Saturday. The next week will be devoted to work in this city, where many meetings will be held and announcements of which will be made later. The program will be in charge of Rev. E. D. Turner and Rev. Doremus Scudder.

When talking with a Bulletin reporter this morning at the dock, shortly after the Siberia came in, Dr. Johnstone said:

"I am on my return trip to the United States after a trip which has consumed 19 months and has taken me through many of the countries of Europe and Asia, in which we have our missionary workers. I left New York in June, 1905, and after a short stay in England traveled through Europe by rail. The first place where I came into contact with missionary work was Turkey.

"The conditions are improving gradually. This is being brought about by the fact that the Powers are more and more taking up the functions which have been neglected by the inefficiency of the Turkish Government. The Government is gradually losing its grip. I never saw such an atmosphere of hopefulness as pervades the entire country. The situation is very complicated. There are five parties altogether—the Government, Greek, Armenian, Bulgarian and Young Turkey parties.

"All the members of these parties pay taxes to support the Government and also to support the party to which they belong and this is rather a hardship. There will be a struggle there soon and what the outcome will be is hard to say on account of the many complications.

"From Turkey we went to Palestine and Syria, taking in most of the points of interest, though we did not visit Gallilee. In November we were in Egypt, then going to India and Ceylon, where we spent three months. March saw us in Siam, a very interesting country, where the conditions are very hopeful. There are some fine things being worked out there and they are working out their own problems in a very interesting and satisfactory way.

"I spent three months at work in China and also took a two-month rest while there. In Japan there is no talk of war except in the newspapers and even then the entire trouble is centered in San Francisco and there is no discrimination against Americans. When I was asked where I came from and said New York they were most cordial to me. There naturally was some feeling against the Pacific Coast, but the people do not show it.

"The last part of my visit was in the Philippines and Southern China. The conditions in our new possessions are very interesting.

"I expect to visit Hilo this week and will then return to Honolulu, where I will spend a week."

Andrews To Act For Territory

Former Attorney General Lorrin Andrews, who is a passenger on the Siberia, on his way to Washington, will represent the Attorney General's department before the Supreme Court of the United States in the Hawaiian cases now pending before that body. Arrangements were made with him to this effect this morning.

This affords a solution of the difficulties that have created an awkward situation for the Attorney General's department and for the Territory. As has been stated before, no member of the department has been admitted to practice before the Supreme Court, and on account of the fact that there are no funds available for travelling expenses, the department has been unable to send anyone to Washington to be admitted. As a consequence, the department has been unrepresented before the Supreme Court of the United States, greatly to the detriment of the Territory's interests.

There are several matters pending before the U. S. Supreme Court in which the Territory is interested. One is the Labanshina case, in which the right of the Territory to that school property is at stake. A second case is that of Kaipu, upon the result of which depends the police power of the Territory to segregate lepers.

The tax appeal cases of the Rapid Transit Company are also up before the Court. All these cases are set for some time next month. The Territory is fortunate in being able to secure representation before the United States Supreme Court with so little trouble.

Lam Wo Sing, administrator of the estate of Lam Yate, has filed his final accounts and petitions for discharge from further responsibility. He is not encouraging. In the eight years in which we have been in charge there the improvement has been enormous and when you compare the progress which has been made in this length of time there with the eight years of progress made by England, France or Germany in their possessions in the East we have far surpassed them.

"People say that we have had no experience in colonization, but I disagree with them. We have colonized California, Texas and the Northwest and have learned how this should be done, and the result shows in the Philippines, where we have done truly wonderful work.

"In Luzon, the commercial conditions are fine and are better than they have ever been in the history of the islands. The trouble in the provinces which I had always supposed came from mismanagement is due to the rinderpest, which destroys the working cattle, carbon and water buffalo. Over ninety per cent of these animals have been destroyed and you can imagine the distress which has been occasioned by this. But now conditions are becoming more settled. They are using steam plows in the rice fields, for instance, and in a single day accomplish more than could have been done by old methods in a week and the people are beginning to wonder whether they really need the cattle after all.

"The greatest progress is being made along the lines of education. There have been precautions taken there that there shall be no over-education, however, and the ordinary schooling is only for three or four years. Of course those who intend to take up teaching or the study of medicine or law go beyond this. There are very good industrial schools, too, which are doing a great work.

"I expect to visit Hilo this week and will then return to Honolulu, where I will spend a week."

turning on the Claudine, which arrives tomorrow.

Deputy Marshal Temple received a wireless from Marshal Hendry, instructing him to notify Makino that the prisoner's bond has been declared forfeited. Makino, however, declares that he is no longer on the bond, but that another Japanese is now bondsmen for Yoshido. Marshal Hendry is bringing four prisoners back with him. Diligent search has failed to discover Yoshido on this island. Hendry has visited all the places near Hilo where he might be hiding and is confident that the Japanese is not there. All outgoing steamers will be watched and the man nabbed if he attempts to make a getaway from Honolulu.

perintendent of the Wailuku water works, while at the intake of the water works up Iao Valley, had a narrow escape from a sudden freshet, caused possibly by a cloudburst in the valley. He fortunately saw the wall of water rushing down in time to scramble to higher ground before it reached him. The water swept over the new wooden bridge built over a narrow gorge twenty feet above the bed of the stream, and nothing but the fact that the freshet subsided in ten minutes saved the bridge from being washed away, after it had seriously undermined the approach from the makai side.

Yesterday the County officers moved into their spacious new quarters in the Wailuku jail building. But the recent rains have been so unprecedentedly heavy that every room in the building leaked. It is hoped that the County Supervisors will spend a little money on it to make it water tight. It seems that the contractor was not required to put in a water-tight concrete wall and roof.

WATER FRONT NOTES

Yesterday was reception day on the French cruiser Catinat and a number of the town people took advantage of the opportunity to look over the little craft. There had been a slight attempt made to clean the vessel but she hardly a slight of beauty by any means. The officers of the Catinat fail to realize the fact that their ship is not in the state now to godliness and think they have been badly treated by the newspapers in having her condition commented on.

The loading of vessels direct at Kaula for the mainland ports will be continued in the case of the Floating Suez, which is now out 79 days from New York. The Floating Suez will take her cargo of 1700 tons for the Delaware Breakwater at Eleele. As has been previously announced, some of the American Hawaiian steamers will also take their cargoes direct at Kaula instead of picking up the sugar from that island here.

The steamer W. G. Hall, arriving from Maui yesterday, reports the steamer Helene weatherbound at Kihui and the steamer Mikahala in the same fix at Waimea. The Hall got her share of the rough weather and was unable to land her freight for Koloa and Eleele on this account.

The sugar available for shipment on Kaula, as reported by Purser McNamara of the steamer W. G. Hall, is: K. S. M., 6990 bags; V. K. 150; Mak., 1331; G. & R., 1382; Mell., 24,625; K. P., 2090; Lihue, 2800; H. M., 12,988; K. S. Co., 1060; M. S. Co., 8000.

The Sonoma, which was delayed in Sydney by a strike of her crew, has sailed with non-union men and will be at least five days late in reaching this port.

The Californian should sail for the Tehuantepec Isthmus via Maui ports, on Wednesday afternoon.

The barkentine Jane L. Stanford has nearly finished unloading her cargo of coal at Kahului.

FRENCH CRUISER VISITED YESTERDAY

The French cruiser Catinat was very kindly thrown open for inspection by the public yesterday. Many ladies and their escorts were among the visitors. By far the largest number of visitors of one nationality was Japanese. They made a very minute inspection of the fighting machine throughout. The big guns and small arms came in for a very large share of their scrutiny. Quite a number of the officers and crew of the cruiser have orders to leave the ship at Australia, where they will be relieved by their successors, now waiting at that port.

The cruiser will remain in Pacific waters for another two years.

"FATTY" KEPAHA DEAD

"Fatty" Kepaha has broken jail. He received assistance from the outside, but his accomplice will not be apprehended. Death stepped in and released him yesterday.

Fatty was for many years a trusty at the police station and well known to every member of the force.

In a heat of passion he killed a Japanese on Kaula during a spell that he was employed on the Inter-island boats. It was but a short time ago that he was transferred from the police station to the jail under Dr. Emerson's orders on account of ill health. His death was quite sudden.

ANNUAL MEETING FARMERS' INSTITUTE

Agriculturists Welcomed By President Horne

LANTERN SLIDES USED TO SHOW CROP PEST

HONEY AND TOBACCO PROMISE BIG RETURNS—OLD STYLE STOCK EXHIBIT ADVOCATED

The fifth annual meeting of the Farmers' Institute of Hawaii was held last night at Kamehameha Schools. The inclement weather was responsible for a small attendance, but many well-known agriculturists and planters were present. The program was opened by President Perly Horne, who in an address of welcome to the institute, expressed his appreciation of the work the organization was achieving for the agriculture of Hawaii. He also advocated strongly the undertaking of work which would appeal more directly to the public and suggested the inauguration of an old-time New England stock show, at which not only agricultural products would be shown, but also stock and dairy produce and such industries as bread and butter making. He emphasized particularly the latter feature, as by this the ladies of the community would be interested.

Jared G. Smith, chairman of the institute, then gave a brief account of the progress which had been made in agricultural pursuits in Hawaii during the five years the institute had been in operation. Five years ago, the sole crop of the islands was sugar. Today a mere enumeration of the new industries in successful operation would occupy more time than he had at his disposal. It was not, of course, claimed that the Farmers' Institute was solely responsible for this wonderful development, but it had been a most efficient factor in it. Good work had also been done by the three scientific cultural institutions, viz.: The Planters' Association, the Territorial Bureau of Forestry and the Federal Experiment Station. Upon these three establishments probably $100,000 was annually spent, and he ventured to say that no equal sum of money, either public or private, was spent so well, or brought in such a return. Jared Smith then briefly enumerated some of the most important of the new Hawaiian crops.

Sisal was one of the older of these new ventures. Hawaiian fibre was second to none and outclassed the Florida and Mexican product completely. Not only could Hawaiian sisal command special prices but he believed that it would compete directly with Manila hemp, which was regarded as the best fibre in the world for the purposes for which it is used. A great development of this industry was anticipated.

Rubber was now well established here. The future of this industry is bright with promise. It will be one of the great things of the future and will without doubt prove exceedingly profitable.

Tobacco experiments have now been conducted for four years. They have proved conclusively the possibility of growing high grade tobacco. Tobacco countries are always "rich countries" and Mr. Smith predicts not only the making of much money from this undertaking but asserts that it will be one of the principal instruments in developing a permanent white population. We have the proper climate and soil requisite to a tobacco country and we only need the "know-how." As the growing of tobacco is one requiring special knowledge, the training of an intelligent class of people in this profitable industry will add greatly to the resources of the Territory.

Honey is a most promising industry. The money invested in this has quadrupled in four years, and there seems every prospect of its continuing to attract more capital. It is most encouraging to know that we in Hawaii probably know as much or more about the production of our honey as is known by any other country on the question pertaining to bee products.

Silk is now shown to be a most promising industry. Several experiments have been made with this fabric and it has been demonstrated that the cultivation of the silk worm can be undertaken with profit. Hawaiian silk is of an especially fine quality.

Much important work has also been done in the past few years relating to insect control and plant disease.

At the conclusion of Mr. Smith's paper Dr. Cobb gave an illustrated lantern lecture on various insect and fungoid pests. He first showed the error of the common belief that any organic substance contained within itself the capacity of disease or rot. The ripe fruit will remain indefinitely in a condition of preservation if not attacked by external foes. These evidence themselves as "rots" of different kinds. We are so used to the condition of "rot" attacking various organisms—fruits, flowers and animal bodies—that we look upon this term as a complete and satisfactory explanation of the condition, and are satisfied that the rotting process is inherent and unavoidable. Such is not the case. Our own bodies would continue much longer if not attacked by bacteriological diseases introduced from without. Fruits would be preserved, leaves and flowers would not wither if protected from fungoid diseases and insect pests.

Dr. Cobb then illustrated by lantern many of the pests now affecting our crops and causing "rot." He in particular called attention to a recently observed root disease, which if not checked was likely to cause incalculable loss, as in some countries it had caused whole banana plantations to be abandoned. As it was known to attack over sixty crops, it was very urgent that farmers be taught to recognize its presence and be ready to stamp it out before it became established.

L. G. Blackman then read a paper on camphor, which in part was as follows:

So many new agricultural enterprises have been advocated of late that one is somewhat reluctant in suggesting another. Still it seems expedient that the Territory should exert every means to develop to the full the production of its available land, and in view of the very great diversity of conditions offered by our various soils and different elevations, this can only be accomplished by recourse to many different industries. At present the production of camphor is a monopoly of Japan, which country jealously regards the processes of cultivation and manufacture. The export to Europe and America is about eight million pounds per annum, valued at approximately from two to three million dollars. As the production of camphor has been unscientific and imprudent and has been achieved only at the total destruction of the tree, there has been a gradual and appreciable diminution of the available supply. At the same time the manifold uses of the commodity have greatly increased. These two factors combined, which have a close parallel in those affecting the rubber market, have caused a marked advance in the price of camphor, which will certainly continue in the near future. Indeed, as the Formosa forests become exhausted and the demands of the celluloid smokeless powder makes increase, it is impossible to predict to what extent prices may advance until the production of camphor by scientific cultivation has greatly extended. Demand, however, has attained such a start in the race against supply that many years must elapse before an economic balance between the two is established. There appears to be no present prospect of low prices and the producer of camphor has at least an attractive incentive as is held out to the rubber planter. As the camphor which is now produced is practically confined to the Orient the establishment of the industry in Hawaii is particularly promising, as it would be able to supply the home market.

The word camphor is found with various alterations throughout all Oriental languages and this similarity points to the belief that the knowledge of the value of the tree has long been known and has been derived from the same source. It is first mentioned in Asiatic literature in the sixth century and Marco Polo relates that he saw large forests of the tree. One rather interesting phase of the subject is the different uses to which this valuable gum has been put in different ages. In the middle ages it was regarded chiefly as a rare perfume. It was afterwards taken with many other ingredients, generally more repulsive and less useful, by the medieval compilers of the pharmacopoeia, and it is now being used in the manufacture of the two very modern products, smokeless powder and celluloid.

Camphor is a vegetable product obtained generally by wood distillation. It exists as a white crystalline mass of a pungent odor and a disagreeable taste. It is tenacious and practically impossible to pulverize. It burns with a yellow flame and leaves no residue. It is volatile and almost insoluble in water. It floats on the latter fluid on which small particles of it rotate until oil is added.

The uses of camphor are many. In medicine it is used internally as a stimulant and antispasmodic, and is valuable in cases of fever, inflammation, insanity and asthma. It is used externally in rheumatism and as a vapor bath, and it forms an ingredient in many lotions and tooth powders.

The wood of the camphor tree is in great demand for cabinet work. It is of a beautiful yellow color and possesses a soft silky texture. It has the property of resisting the ravages of insects and its aromatic odor enhances its value for receptacles for clothes.

The camphor of commerce is produced by several different species of trees, chief among which is cinnamon camphor, a native of Eastern Asia. This may be regarded as the true camphor tree. It is a handsome, ornamental evergreen which reaches a height of over one hundred feet, and is cultivated in Ceylon, India, Australia, Florida and California.

Another though less known camphor yielding tree is the Sumatra variety, which produces what is known as Malay camphor. The crystals are found in clusters under the bark and in fissures in the heart of the tree. In order to obtain it, the trees are destroyed by the natives who procure upwards of ten pounds from an old tree.

Formosa camphor has hitherto been shipped to Chinese ports, from whence it was re-shipped to Europe and America. For this reason it is more generally known as Chinese camphor. It is produced by a crude process of distillation, billets of the wood being boiled in water in large containers. It reaches the market in an impure and moist condition in lead chests, each containing about 150 pounds.

Japanese camphor generally reaches the market in Batavia, which gives it the name of Dutch camphor. It is generally of larger grain than the Chinese camphor, dry and of a light pink color. It is packed in tins containing about 125 pounds each and is also known as tub camphor.

The process of refining was long kept secret and was for a long time a monopoly of Venice. It is now well known and is carried on in many large cities. The method as I have seen it conducted in London is as follows:

The camphor is first broken up and about 3 per cent. of slaked lime and 2 per cent. of iron filings being added, is placed in glass flasks imbedded in sand. These are then gently heated for 24 hours. The flasks are then corked up and the sand is removed from the upper half of the flasks, where it condenses in pure white crystals. The flasks are finally broken and the camphor is removed in bells about twelve inches across. The cultivation of the camphor tree is attracting considerable attention in Ceylon, where it is found to flourish readily. As the leaves and young trees are rich in camphor the days of total destruction of the tree are practically past, and certainly no plantation now planted could be conducted in this wasteful manner. In experiments conducted on a small scale 47 pounds of clippings have been obtained per tree. As each tree may be clipped four times a year this gives a total annual yield of 188 pounds per tree. Planted twelve feet apart over 50,000 pounds of green clippings would be obtained from each acre. The yield of camphor from fresh leaves is about 1.12 per cent., giving a return of 177 pounds per acre. Taken at a value of 50 cents per pound the annual crop per acre would be worth about $275. It is estimated that the cost of planting, weeding, distillation and fuel would be about $75, giving a net return per acre of $200. The present price of camphor is now in excess of that on which these figures are based, and as the uses of this article are increasing and the supply tending to diminish, the price to be obtained in the future should be still more. However, taking the moderate price of our estimate, adding one-third more to the cost of labor and reducing the prospective return, a net return of about $180 should be secured. On a small plantation of five acres a venture well within the reach of almost everyone here present, an income of nearly one thousand dollars per annum should be secured in about four years.

Open Letter From Pacific Department Royal Insurance Company of Liverpool

Many of the Companies which at the memorable meeting of June 12th voted in favor of a horizontal deduction of "not less than 25%" have, as we predicted, found it impossible to settle their San Francisco losses on that basis and have been forced, though reluctantly, to pay considerably more than an average of 75% of their claims. Some which voted to adjust every claim on its merits and pay the same "Dollar for Dollar," have fallen away from that high and correct standard and have submitted their policy holders to sharp deductions from adjusted claims. Others, while paying in full here, in accordance with Eastern usage, exacted a cash discount in lieu of sixty days' time in which to make payment.

The "ROYAL" has paid every claim as soon as the amount of loss has been agreed upon with the assured, in full, in cash, without a cent of discount. Comparatively few companies have pursued as broad and as liberal a course.

We have refrained from commenting upon the conduct of any individual company, believing it better to extol the virtues of our own. The ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY of Liverpool has paid to date 2,369 claims, aggregating $5,850,635.88. We have remaining but a few unsettled losses, and these are chiefly awaiting authorization of claimants abroad, probate proceedings, or further investigation as to actual amount of fire loss.

The "ROYAL" continues to be the leading Fire Insurance Company of the world. Its annual income is over $15,000,000. Its San Francisco gross losses were not very much more than one-third of one year's premiums, and its surplus, after all losses are paid, will exceed the surplus of any other Company in the world.

It has been building up its reserves for years against just such a disaster as came to San Francisco and was therefore able to meet its great losses with equanimity. It will continue to pursue the even tenor of its way and will doubtless be more popular than ever with insurers.

You are perfectly safe in putting your business in the "ROYAL," knowing that it will under all circumstances be able to fully and promptly meet its contracts and that it will not resort to any quibbles or shifty maneuvers to avoid its obligations. Now is the time to make use of your opportunity.

There is no eluding the issue; there are "Dollar for Dollar" Companies; there are "Six-biters" and there are "Welchers." There are also Companies strong, and Companies weak, financially.

No Company can offer a better policy than the "ROYAL," few as good.

LAST DOWNPOUR THE HEAVIEST

The storm which raged early yesterday morning was the heaviest, for the time being, in the memory of the "oldest inhabitant." During two hours a trifle under three inches of rain fell.

The most serious damage done was the flooding of several houses on River street by the overflowing of the Nuuanu stream.

The Makiki flume was not equal to the occasion and the hill streets suffered accordingly. Nearly all of the loose macadam being washed down to Beretania avenue, where it lodged on the Rapid Transit tracks, delaying that line for some time.

A resident on River street reports that the water in his house rose at the rate of an inch a minute until nearly a foot of water was swirling about the rooms. At some points the overflow water reached three feet in depth, and several small houses were floated on their foundations.

A large algaroba tree, in the grounds of W. J. Dyer, on Wilder avenue, became so loosened by the washing away of the soil, that it fell, destroying quite a long strip of fence.

The fire station at Makiki was flooded and a goodly sized lake occupied the Kaahumanu school grounds.

Quite a number of people living on Kinau street were compelled to place their most valuable household goods on boxes and chairs to keep them out of the water.

Residents along the beach were considerably exercised over the rapid swelling of the streams that emptied into the ocean. No serious damage occurred, however, as the streams proved equal to carrying off the heavy rush of water.

The waters inside the reef between Diamond Head and the city assumed a dark coffee color as a result of the large amount of residue and mud being washed into it from the streets and hills of the city.

Despite the heavy rain the streets are not in a bad shape except a few in the outlying districts which have not been top dressed with macadam.

PRINCE FUSHIMA MAY TOUGH HERE AGAIN

General Prince Fushimi of the Imperial Household has been selected by the Emperor of Japan to represent the nation before the Court of St. James, England. His mission to England is to return the royal courtesy in the name of the Mikado for a visit made last year by His Royal Highness Prince Connaught, accompanied by Admiral Seymour. Those who have been delegated to accompany the Prince are Baron Admiral Yamamoto Gombel, formerly Minister of the Navy; Capt. Zaibu, Imperial Navy; Commander Kato, Imperial Navy; Baron General Nishi Kanziro; Col. Matsushiro, Imperial Army; and Lieutenant Uda, Imperial Army.

Aside from the military and naval officials, the country will be represented by a famous statesman in the person of General Yamamoto. He is a fluent English speaker and is well versed in international law.

While the date of departure from Japan is not as yet fixed, Prince Fushimi, it is said, will be given a fleet of Imperial warships to travel on. Report has it that the fleet will touch Honolulu, but no definite advice has been received to that effect.

EZERA DID GUSS FUTURE OF WAILUKU

[Special to the Bulletin] Wailuku, Maui, Feb. 1.—Rev. J. M. Ezera has folded his tent and left Wailuku, a very much disgusted prophet. Some of his much tried and harried converts backslid and refused to leave fruitful Wailuku, where poi is plenty, for the potato belt near Ulapalaka. As some of the older members of his flock put it, to go there would mean empty stomachs, and they declined to go.

However, before leaving Wailuku, Mr. Ezera launched a deep and terrible curse against Wailuku, after the style of prophets as described in old books. He said an inundation or deluge was to come and wipe the unbelieving town of Wailuku from the face of the earth. Perhaps the would-be prophet was inspired to make this announcement in order to urge some of his hesitating converts to part with their little homesteads and join him in his heira to Ulapalaka.

Kamehameha Boys Show Ambition

S. H. Robinson, a graduate of the Kamehameha Boys' School, class of '94, arrived as an officer on the steamship Siberia from the Orient this morning. He said that he would stick to his job until he could get an engineer's certificate. Shortly after his graduation, Robinson worked for the Hawaiian Electric Co. for a while and on seeing an opportunity, he applied and secured a position on the Siberia. He has already made two trips to the Orient and on his arrival this morning he was the recipient of congratulations from his schoolmates.

Edward Aikue, son of Judge Aikue of Koolau, is reported to be now an engineer on one of the steamships. He started as an officer and is now one of the trusted engineers in the company employ. Many of the boys who have studied trade at Kamehameha, but who are not now actively engaged, are preparing to leave the islands for a broader field.

POLICE INSPECTION

Sheriff Iaukea held his first inspection of the police force yesterday morning, the entire department being drawn up in the court of the police station. The occasion was also utilized for the photographing of the foot police.

The Sheriff made a short speech to his officers in which he gave them good advice in the matter of carrying out their duties. Loyalty to their superiors and faithful obedience to the laws of the Territory were firmly impressed on the men in the talk and the Sheriff instructed his men to preserve the utmost secrecy in regard to all the doings of the department, both internal and external.

Before the ceremony was completed all the men were called upon to take an oath to support the Constitution of the United States and the laws of the country and Territory.
