LOWELL for HARVARD

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 13.—Prof. Abbott Lowell has been elected president of Harvard College to succeed the venerable President Eliot, resigned.

"Who's Who" gives the following: Abbott L. Lowell was born in Boston December 13, 1856, and was educated in the Harvard College, graduating in 1877. He then entered and graduated from the Harvard Law School in 1880, practiced law in Boston, 1880-87; lecturer at Harvard, 1897-9; professor science of government, Harvard, 1900; trustee of the Lowell Institute of Boston, 1900. Author: Essays on Government, 1889 H5; Governments and Parties. In Continental Europe, 1896 H45; Colonial Civil Service (with Prof. H. Morse Stephens), 1900 MI, and (with Judge Francis C. Lowell) Transfer of Stock in Corporations, 1884 L6; The Influence of Party Upon Legislation in England and America, 1902.

THOUSAND TROOPS COME TO AUGMENT GARRISON

Nearly 1000 troops arrived here this morning to augment the permanent military garrison. The first and third squadrons of the Fifth United States Cavalry, numbering 499 officers and men, were the first to arrive; a couple of hours later four full companies of the United States Marine Corps, numbering 440 officers and men reached here.

The cavalrymen were brought by the United States Army transport Thomas; the marines came on the U. S. S. Buffalo.

The arrival of the large force marks the beginning of the great increase in garrison which the War and Navy Departments intend making here. Permanent quarters are being prepared for all of the soldiery, and by the end of the week the new arrivals will be firmly established in their quarters.

Nearly One Thousand.

The total commissioned and enlisted force, which arrived this morning, numbers 929. Added to the Army and Marine Corps garrison already here—one full battalion of infantry, one company of engineers and one company of the marines—the new arrivals make the garrison one of the most important, in point of size, in the entire United States.

The Marines will be stationed at Kaakukui, just makai from Camp Very, the present marine encampment. The troops will go to Lilehua, the new cavalry cantonment just completed by Captain Castner, makua of Pearl Harbor.

Battalion Post.

With the arrival of the marine reinforcements, Camp Very ceases to exist as a one-company post, and will be merged into the enlarged battalion encampment.

Honolulu now can boast one of the largest Marine Corps garrisons in the United States. Not only are there four full companies here, but each company has its allotted three officers—an exceptional state of affairs in this country, where all branches of the service are woefully short-handed as far as commissioned force is concerned.

Though the Fifth Cavalry is not as well off as the Marine Battalion, as far as officers are concerned, the two squadrons are in far better condition in that respect than they have been in times past. All of the troops have two officers, and some have their full three.

Many Bring Families.

The enlarged garrison means a decided increase in population for Honolulu. Fourteen of the officers and eighteen of the enlisted men of the cavalry are accompanied by their families, while later transports will bring wives and children who were unable to get ready in time to sail with the troops.

LEILEHUA POST WILL BE GARRISONED TOMORROW

The cavalrymen will probably be sent out to Lilehua tomorrow. Colonel Schuyler, the commanding officer, this morning issued orders to the effect that the men should remain on board the transport tonight, some little time being needed to arrange for their transfer to their new post. It is probable that an early start may be made tomorrow morning, however.

With the exception of the stables, the Lilehua cantonment is in complete readiness to receive the cavalrymen. Corrals have been erected for the horses, so that the animals will not suffer any discomfort pending the completion of their permanent homes.

The officers and men will live under canvas for some time to come, it being the intention to keep them in tents until the completion of the permanent post.

All of the tents have been floored, streets have been laid out, and the post is practically a canvas city.

Equipment is On the Ground.

With the exception of the personal equipment of the troopers, everything has already been sent out to Lilehua. All of the heavy supplies, issued by the quartermaster, are on the ground, and quartermaster's teams will be put to work this afternoon getting out the equipment brought on the Thomas.

It will be necessary to transfer the equipment from the transport to the O. R. & L. station by wagon. At the station it will be loaded on board train and shipped to Lilehua. There it will again be loaded onto wagons and conveyed to the cantonment.

Schuyler in Command.

The Lilehua cantonment will be under the command of Colonel Walter S. Schuyler, commanding officer of the Fifty Cavalry. Colonel Schuyler is one of the most distinguished cavalry officers in the Army, and has a record not only for efficiency, but for personal bravery in action as well.

His military career not only includes honorable and distinguished services in the war against Spain, but a fine record in Indian fighting as well. His service blouse is ornamented with a long string of service ribbons, and it is generally considered that his long service in the Army, and his wide experience under varying conditions, make him the best possible officer to command an important garrison like that at Lilehua.

Record Time.

Captain Castner has gotten Lilehua into readiness for its garrison in record time and, though he has been very busy since his arrival here, it is doubtful if any two-squadron cantonment was ever built and equipped so satisfactorily in so short a space of time.

Tomorrow the present garrison of workmen and mechanics will be routed out, and the soldiery will replace them.

The strains of the cavalry bugle will mark off the day's routine, while the fertile plateau will afford grazing ground for 500 cavalry horses.

A Complete City.

Lilehua will be as complete a city as any in the country. There will be everything needed to supply its inhabitants, not only with the necessities, but with the comforts of life. There will be an administration such as no city under municipal government can boast. The Mayor will be the Colonel.

TRANSPORT DANCE AT THE SEASIDE HOTEL

A dance in honor of the officers and ladies of the Transport Thomas will be given this evening at the Seaside Hotel. A special dinner will also be served. Music for both dinner and dancing supplied by the Kaal Glee Club. Fifth Cavalry Band will play from 6:30 till 8.

ATCHERLEY ACCUSES DR. WAYSON IN COURT OF INSULTING HIM, TAKING OF DRUGS, PINKHAM TROUBLES, AND BOARD OF HEALTH ACTION ARE DRAGGED INTO THE CASE

The afternoon session of the Police Court was taken up with the affairs of Dr. Atcherley, who had been the leading figure of the whole forenoon.

Chief of Detectives Kalakela was called.

Catheart—Are you acquainted with Dr. Atcherley?

Answer—"Yes."

Catheart—"When did you have your last conversation with Dr. Atcherley?"

Answer—"About two months ago?"

Question—"Where was this?"

Answer—"In my office."

Question—"Why did he come?"

Answer—"He complained that somebody was threatening him through the sewers."

Dr. Atcherley's drug-taking, fancied insults by Dr. Wayson, alleged lies by Pinkham, voices from the sewer, pistol shots, and Board of Health ancient history ad nauseam was the bulk of the testimony taken

No Jurors For Calhoun Under Knife

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Jan. 13. The work of securing a jury to try President Calhoun of the United Rail ways for bribery began today. No jurors were accepted.

H. P. Baldwin underwent an operation for appendicitis at his home at Paouene, Maui, this morning.

A wireless telegram received this noon stated that the physicians found a very seriously inflamed condition and there was no doubt that the operation was timely action to ward against worse results. Mr. Baldwin's condition is as favorable as could be expected. His friends were very much worried yesterday afternoon, but they anticipate that the operation will put him speedily on the road to recovery.

MANY BIDDERS FOR PEARL HARBOR DOCK

Washington, Jan. 2.—There are evidences that there will be keen competition for the contract for the construction of the big concrete drydock at the naval station at Pearl Harbor. The Bureau of Yards and Docks is in receipt of applications for plans and specifications from twenty-four prospective bidders. Proposals will be opened on February 13.

KUHIO WRITES ON CIVIL SERVICE

Editor Evening Bulletin: Referring to recent newspaper mention of certain civil service appointments available for Hawaii, I wish to make the following statement for the information of those who may be interested in such positions:

A limited number of civil service appointments can be secured for bona fide citizens of the United States, having their legal residence in Hawaii, as vacancies occur from time to time; most of these positions pay only from $720 to $1000 per year to begin; occasional positions paying from $1,200 to $1,100 are available but these are exceptional. As a rule, promotion in the civil service is very gradual and it requires several years to work up to a salary of $1800 to $2000.

It should be clearly understood that these positions are all filled through the Civil Service Commission, and I can do nothing whatever toward securing any one a position until he has passed with proper credit a regular civil service examination.

M'CLELLAN CHARGES RECKLESS FINANCE

Punches Logan's Plan of Expenditure Full Of Holes

"Without reference to any of the legal questions involved," said Supervisor McClellan, "I opposed the appropriation bill the Republican majority seem determined to enact upon the ground that it is bad finance in the first place, and that it sweeps away or tends to sweep away most of the checks and safeguards against extravagance and improvident expenditure, which the Municipal Act seeks to create. It makes it easier for the spirit of extravagance to have its way. It makes it harder for the spirit of economy and of carefulness in the expenditure of money to make itself felt."

"In the first place, this is a new government. It succeeds, in general, to the functions and duties of the County of Oahu, it is true; but it is nevertheless a new government. The Supervisors, therefore, it seems to me, ought to have gone carefully into the matter of the duties and obligations imposed by law on the new government, considered every expenditure it ought to make, every service it was called on to perform, the grade of ability required in each particular part of the public service, and hence the reasonable compensation that ought to be allowed. The sources of revenue and their amount ought to have been studied, and a general system of municipal finance studied out that would have provided for a suitable treasury balance always to be carried to meet emergencies, and to provide that there shall always be money on hand to pay warrants when presented, so that neither employees nor those who furnish materials or supplies need have to register their warrants nor discount them."

"This could have been done either in a conference of all the members of the Board, and in consultation with the Auditor and Treasurer as to the finances, and with other elective officers and heads of departments as to public needs. Or it could have been done by a committee appointed for that purpose, which was what I proposed last night."

"Instead, however, there has been no such study of the situation that I can learn of. Certainly I was given no opportunity to take part in any such consideration with other members of the Board, or to present any ideas I might have to a committee."

"As a matter of fact, the appropriation bill, though presented by Supervisor Logan, was drawn up entirely outside of the membership of the Board of Supervisors, and practically without any member of the Board having taken anything more than a nominal or acquiescing part in its formation; at least that is my information, and I have not heard it denied."

"The custom and practice of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Oahu was taken without any inquiry as to whether that practice or custom was good or not or whether it was the best custom or practice for the City and County to adopt. Salaries seem to have been adopted from those paid by the County without any investigation of the appropriateness of the salary and services to each other."

"In short, instead of entering upon an independent study of the subject, and framing an appropriation bill on the basis of that study, the bill presented is one that Supervisor Logan in presenting said he was not familiar with, and which the introduction of a supplementary appropriation bill last night shows was not framed after anything like a thorough study of the situation."

"But, in my opinion, worse than this, is the inevitable tendency in the financial system the Republican majority are inaugurating to make economy hard and extravagance easy. The two appropriation bills they have now introduced appropriate considerably more than the estimated revenue for the six months, and make no provision for a treasury balance. So that if all the appropriations made by these bills are spent, the City and County will come out at the end of the six months having spent more than its income for the six months, and not only with no treasury balance on hand, but with an empty treasury, and in debt."

"I know the argument used last night was that it did not necessarily follow that because this amount of money was appropriated that it would all be spent. But if it is appropriated it may be spent, and all experience shows that it is almost certain to be all spent. The argument was used last night that after all, the Board would authorize expenditures from month to month, and would therefore control expenditures. But the rules which the Republican majority of the Board has seen fit to adopt to guide it give their several committees power to expend money up to the full amount appropriated, so where is the check the Board has? But, anyway, the experience under the County Board was that the monthly estimates were very often exceeded. They are just as likely to be under the City and County, and as long as the appropriation, which is an over-appropriation as it is admitted, is not exceeded no one can be called to account. For instance, supposing the estimates for road work in Honolulu for any month are fixed by the Board at $10,000, but the Road Committee goes ahead and expends $11,500, what can be done by the Board? Nothing, absolutely nothing; because there has been appropriated $11,500. But if only $10,000 had been appropriated, and more had been spent, then those instrumental in expending it would have been liable under the law itself. This shows that by over-appropriating, the checks the law designed to put on expenditure are lost. If the Board only appropriated what it knew it would have to spend, keeping well within its revenues, and a sound system of finance, then there would be the check of the law on over-expenditures, and as time progressed and it was seen that more money could be expended for roads or other purposes, it could easily be appropriated by short appropriation bills for that purpose without great expense for publishing such bills—not a title of what is morally certain to be spent in excess of estimates under the system the Republican majority propose."

"The entire system of finance and expenditures the Republican majority propose is vicious and abolishes any reasonable hope of economy in the administration of the affairs of the City and County."

in the Police Court this morning, when the case of Dr. John Atcherley of Wallach leper-cure fame came up. Atcherley has, since he fired a bunch of shots at Dr. Wayson's house last Sunday morning, been declared insane by Drs. Emerson and Sinclair, and the hearing this morning was to decide as to whether he should be committed to the Insane Asylum or not."

The most interesting feature of the case was that Dr. Atcherley took a prominent part in the cross-examination of the witnesses, especially of Dr. Wayson, and this brought forth a mass of Board of Health matters, on which Atcherley based his fancied wrongs. Atcherley's questions were clear and concise in form, and his counsel, J. A. Magoon, was apparently quite satisfied to have him take the matter out of his hands."

A large crowd had gathered to hear the case. Dr. Atcherley was brought from below and was seated at a table with Attorneys Thompson & Magoon.

"This case," said Thompson, "was continued until today for two reasons—first because I wished to find out if Dr. or Mrs. Atcherley could pay me my fee, and secondly because I wished to find out the facts of the case. I now wish to withdraw because Mr. Magoon will do for nothing what I would do only for compensation."

Magoon asked that all witnesses be excluded from the court room.

"If Mrs. Atcherley is to be a witness, she will have to be excluded also," said the Court.

Magoon answered that he did not intend to call her, though he might later find it necessary to do so. He did not wish her to withdraw, and the question as to whether she could testify or not could be thrashed out, if it should come up. Cathcart said he would raise no objection, and Mrs. Atcherley was allowed to remain.

Bicycle Patrolman Manley Anderson was the first witness called by the prosecution. He said that last Sunday morning he heard a report of a revolver, and, on going to investigate, found Dr. Atcherley outside Dr. Wayson's house firing at it.

"I placed him under arrest," said Anderson, "and he said that his name was Dr. Atcherley. Dr. Wayson, he said, had been calling him names and that was why he was shooting. He kept repeating this."

The revolver was offered in evidence.

Anderson was subjected to a lengthy cross-examination by Magoon and re-direct by Cathcart, the details regarding Atcherley's position, and actions at the time of and directly after the shooting being the subject.

Fred Laukea testified that Atcherley had come to him when he was police station clerk at the station one evening about six or seven weeks ago.

"He asked me if Dr. Wayson was locked up," said Laukea. "I said 'No.' He said: 'He ought to be.'" asked: 'Why?' He said Dr. Wayson had tried to steal his medicine. He then asked me to have an officer accompany him to his home in order that he might hear neighbors who were talking about him from the sewer pipe. I told him to see Kalakale."

On cross-examination, Atcherley, who had been busy taking notes, pitched in with a question to Laukea about these statements, and as to whether there was anyone else present at the time.

"Isn't it rather an unusual thing that the police station should be deserted at that time?" he asked.

"No," answered Laukea. "I was there. There was nothing unusual."

Dr. Wayson said on the stand that last Sunday morning he had heard the report of a firearm, and had later on examined his house, finding that the grass had been ploughed up by bullets in three places, and that both the office and the house had been hit by bullets, one bullet going through the window and lodging in the door frame. There was also a bullet embedded in the porch rail. Dr. Wayson had heard shots fired on several previous nights of that week.

"What were the relations between you and Dr. Atcherley?" asked the Court.

"I can honestly say not otherwise than those of friendship," said Wayson. "I always considered him a gentleman, a bright man and a friend."

Wayson added that a couple of months ago Secretary Charlock of the Board of Health had told him that Atcherley had told him that Wayson was his enemy. Later on Atcherley called on Wayson, who assured him that he was not his enemy and that he would do all he could for him personally and to see that he received justice from the Board of Health.

"I told him," said Wayson, "to get those wheels out of his head. He answered in a very dignified manner that he had no wheels in his head. I will tell you just how it is, doctor," he said to me. 'At night time I hear voices whisper to me from the air, and they tell me you are my enemy.'"

Magoon announced that Dr. Atcherley would now conduct the cross-examination, and, in answer to questions by Atcherley, Wayson was made to repeat the above testimony.

"Do you remember a resolution passed by the Board of Health forbidding me to attend certain leper patients except under certain very stringent conditions?" asked Atcherley.

Wayson answered in a general way that he had always tried to get justice for Atcherley before the Board, but Atcherley referred to a specific resolution, and a document setting this forth was produced by Mrs. Atcherley from a voluminous package. This was passed up to Wayson, who said that it had been passed by the Board. The resolution provided that the medicine given to and the treatment of patients at the Kailhi station should be subject to examination and inspection of a Board committee.

"Did you approve of that?" asked Atcherley.

"I said that anything I could do for you, I would do," answered Wayson. "I said I would assist Dr. Atcherley to get permission to treat the patients."

"Yes, after you had learned all you possibly could about my treatment," said Atcherley.

"You are simply adding new insults to your previous ones," said Atcherley to Wayson later, when the latter did not answer to suit him.

"You are simply evading my questions," said Atcherley.

"I think my answers perfectly straight," said Wayson.

"They are certainly straight," quoth Atcherley. "Both very straight and very insulting."

More Board of Health letters and resolutions were produced by Magoon and Atcherley, who took turns at asking questions. Cathcart finally objected to their introduction as immaterial, but Magoon said that it showed whether Wayson as a member of the Board was friendly or unfriendly toward Dr. Atcherley. They were finally allowed, and Wayson was asked if he considered his action as a member as friendly, Wayson answered that the Board minutes would be the best evidence of his attitude. There was more cross-examination.

"I do not consider any act which I have ever done, officially or otherwise, as unfriendly toward Dr. Atcherley," said Wayson finally, to clinch matters.

"Why did you consider that I was unfit for re-appointment as Government physician of South Kohala?" Wayson asked. "Did I not ask you about that at the meeting at your office?" asked Atcherley.

"No, you did not ask me?" said Wayson.

"Did you not say then that Pinkham was a liar?"

"No."

Again a long chapter of Board of Health history was waded through.

"Did you not give information to Pinkham that I used drugs?" asked Atcherley.

"I have no recollection of that."

At this point the noon whistle blew, and Magoon moved for a recess. The Court wanted to finish the case before adjourning, but Magoon said this was impossible. Wayson said he was busy and wanted to get through.

and the Court ordered that his examination be finished.

"What did you tell people you treated me for when I was your patient?" asked Atcherley.

"I told them I treated you for alcoholism and morphinism."

"Why did I take it?"

"I don't know."

"Don't you know why I took them?"

"It never interested me how you acquired the habit."

"Did I not tell you I had middle-class disease?"

"Yes."

"And you did not think that was sufficient reason?"

"I simply treated you for the habit. That was all you came to me for."

"I did not."

Wayson stated to Magoon that all he was trying to do was to break Atcherley of the morphine habit, and Atcherley's reasons for taking it were immaterial.

At this point a recess was taken until 1:45 p. m.

CENTRAL UNION CHURCH SUPPER TONIGHT

By an unfortunate slip of the pen on the part of those handing in the copy it was announced in the morning paper that the Annual Supper of Central Union Church would be held tomorrow night. It should have said tonight. As this is one of the largest attended affairs in the church year, it is hoped that no one will be confused by this mistake, but that all who intended to come will be on hand at 6 o'clock tonight. After the supper there will be short, snappy reports from all the different departments of the work of the church. Come one, come all.

At a meeting held at the residence of Young Nap last week a baseball club was organized and the following officers elected for the coming year: President, C. Y. Mark; vice president, K. Y. Lee; secretary, Young Nap; treasurer, Lee Bat; captain, K. C. Ahana; manager, C. K. Yen.

"The Board can pass this over my head," retorted Fern, Aylett brought up a matter of mule feed which had been up before the Roads and Bridges Committee.—News Item.

The incident of mule-feed is good. Now we know what makes the great men great.

There is further interesting reading in today's section of Governor Frear's statement before the Senate Committee on Pacific Islands. Don't fail to give it your attention, for every word has a bearing on the proposed change in the laws under which Hawaii is to be governed.

ONE THOUSAND AMERICANS ARE WELCOME.

The arrival in this city today of upwards of one thousand enlisted men of the Army and Navy is merely the forerunner of the things which are to come.

Honolulu has been talking of what is to be, and more than one of our citizens persistently inclined has stamped the ardor of the enthusiast by suggesting that it would "all end in talk" and the present generation could hardly expect to realize on the actual facts of speedy expansion. Those who have retained their confidence in the country and remained loyal to the city are now to have their feelings.

Like all good things, Honolulu will have the plans for development all culminating at once. The arrival of one thousand citizens of the United States to remain as permanent residents of this island is the greatest single influx of American blood that the Territory has ever received. Equal and larger numbers have passed through or remained for a period, but this is the largest permanent addition. And this is only the beginning.

In the wake of these cavalrymen and marines will follow at least an equal number of American civilians, who will not only live here but exercise all the rights of citizenship in this community, taking an active part in the affairs of the City and the Territory.

These people, these American citizens, will help Honolulu grow. And coming from the mainland, fresh from the atmosphere of the public school, the town meeting, the cities and towns of patriotic, frugal people, they will help Honolulu to grow along traditional American lines, as well as help in material strength figured in purchasing power.

This city welcomes the cavalrymen, the marines, the officers, and the families of all. Whether this is to be a garrison town, or a seaport town, we want it, first, last, and always, to be an American town. With steadily increasing numbers of the right kind of people it will be more thoroughly American than it has been, and it has not been especially backward on that score.

LIVE FISH MARKET.

Why not a market for Honolulu that sells live fish?

This city offers to the public the best fish, for table use, to be found in any market of the world, and the majority of the fishing boats are equipped to keep the catch alive—until the fish are displayed in the market. At this point it is necessary to guard the public health by careful inspection, and the fish that spoil must involve a heavy loss in the course of a year.

That live fish in the market is not a new departure is shown by the following very interesting report transmitted by Consul Norton on the fish industry of Saxony:

The problem of conveying the living fish for long distances to remote markets has assumed considerable importance. For several years past fresh water fish have been imported in casks of water from various points to the cities, at some considerable expense. The living fish can be purchased daily in the markets of Dresden, Chemnitz, and other cities and are naturally preferred to fish transported on ice. Living sea fish are also transported, to a less extent, in salt water tanks. They are to be found thus far only in a few of the larger cities.

The desirability of providing cheap means of transporting Saxon carp to distant points reached by fluvial routes has led to the introduction of ingeniously devised river craft for the purpose. They consist of scows 65 feet long and 18 feet wide. The interior is divided by partitions into thirty compartments. In the bottom and sides of a scow, as well as in the inner partitions, cracks are left open, so that when floating in a river there is a continual circulation of fresh water. The buoyancy of the wood composing the craft allows the upper portion to project slightly above the surface of the water, and to sustain a small cabin for a crew. These scows are fastened together in pairs floating down the River Elbe to Hamburg, and being towed up stream to Saxony by steam tugs. Such a pair of scows conveys a cargo of 40 metric tons (44,1 short tons) of living carp at a cost but a trifle to transfer the fish from the grow carp ponds to the scow.

The city of Hamburg demands very large quantities of carp, especially in the autumn, and this economical method of bringing the living fish from the remote breeding places will do much to increase the demand. These craft made the first journey down the river during the month of September. Similar craft could possibly be utilized with advantage on some of the larger American rivers and on the great lakes for conveying living fish to leading American cities.

The post commissary sergeant will open his supply depot and run, for the benefit of officers and their families, a combined grocery store, meat market, and vegetable market. The post quartermaster sergeant will dispense the necessities of life other than edible.

Hospital Equipment.
There will be a municipal hospital, under the direct supervision of a doctor, skilled not only in the treatment of diseases, but in all matters relating to sanitation as well, and he will be able to prevent sickness by seeing that the inhabitants of the city obey the laws of health.

There will be a police force which will maintain perfect order. The most reckless shallows—he who delights to make grimaces at a warning police officer—will think twice before he sticks out his tongue at Uncle Sam's iron-gloved authority.

Doubtless the post will be a center of interest for citizens of Honolulu and visitors as well, for all time to come.

A Dashing Spectacle

The cavalry plain, given up exclusively to the evolutions of the troops mounted, will furnish a sight such as few folk who have not lived near a large cavalry garrison have ever been able to witness. Two full squadrons of mounted men, madly galloping through the evolutions of the school of the regiment, each individual unit responding instantly to the strains of the cavalry trumpet, is always an imposing sight.

For years the Fifth Cavalry has been so scattered that regimental, or even squadron drill, has rarely been possible. Last time it will now be made up for, and the troops will be put through their paces in a manner which must stir the blood of the patriotic citizen. The railway company will probably find traffic pretty heavy on days when squadron or regimental drill is scheduled.

THOMAS REACHES DOCK AT EARLY HOUR THIS MORNING

'Twas barely 7 o'clock when the big, white transport Thomas slipped into her berth alongside the Immigration wharf this morning. Despite the early hour, there was an impatient throng on the wharf, awaiting a chance to greet the troops.

Captain Berger had planned to have the Hawaiian band at the dock when the Thomas arrived, but though on hand before his handsmen arrived, most of them not having expected the ship in so early.

Captain Falls, United States depot quartermaster here, Captain Castner, constructing quartermaster in charge of the Lethan cantonment work, and Captain W. C. Fay, U. S. M. C., were on hand to extend an official welcome to the soldiers.

Rush for the Dock.
Hardly had the gangway touched the dock, when the officers, closely followed by the newspaper men, made a dash for the deck of the ship. There was an excited shaking of hands and many old acquaintances were renewed. Both Mrs. Falls and Mrs. Castner were among the passengers and two happy family reunions were soon in progress.

Many of the older officers of the Fifth Cavalry had been here on prior occasions, and they hastily began searching out remembered points of interest on the shore. Enlisted men, on the decks below, crowded to the rails and gazed with intent interest at the shore line.

There was a general demand for newspapers and information, and all those who had boarded the ship were inundated with questions.

In the mean time, the late handsman having arrived, the Hawaiian band began to play.

The word was passed around that it was the "Royal Hawaiian Band" that was playing, and there was a general rush for the starboard rail. When the band finished its first selection, it was heartily applauded, the listeners testifying to their appreciation by a violent waving of handkerchiefs.

Less than a half hour after the gangway was lowered, the men were being sent ashore and lined up on the wharf. Officers hastily buckled on their side arms, and the Thomas was once more a troop ship. Orderlies hastened to the upper deck and reported to the officers. Colonel Schuyler gave permission for men to stroll about town, and soon there was a general exodus toward the city.

Will Sail Tomorrow.

Just when the Thomas will proceed on her way to the Orient is not certain. It was announced this morning that the ship would not sail before 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at any rate. As soon as the steamer reached her wharf this morning, she began taking on the coal needed to complete her voyage.

ADD ARMY RANKING OFFICERS OF THE FIFTH U. S. CAVALRY

The ranking officers of the two squadrons of the Fifth Cavalry, now here, are as follows:

Colonel Walter S. Schuyler, commanding regiment; Lieutenant Colonel George K. Hunter; Captain John M. Jenkins, commanding first squadron; Major Foster, commanding third squadron; Captain William B. Forsyth, regimental adjutant; Captain Clarence H. Day, regimental quartermaster; Captain Harry O. Willard, commanding Troop K; Captain Wallace B. Seales, commanding Troop M; Captain Chas. H. Haight, commanding Troop I; Lieutenant Daniel P. Quinn, commanding Troop C; Lieutenant Charles C. Winland, commanding Troop D; Lieutenant Robert M. Barton, commanding Troop A; Lieutenant William E. Wheatley, commanding Troop L; Lieutenant Albert B. Doekery, commanding Troop B.

THE OLD FIFTH CAVALRY.

The Fifth Cavalry has one of the most distinguished records of any regiment in the service. It was organized as an Act of Congress of March 3, 1855. On August 3, 1861, its numerical designation was changed to the Fifth Cavalry.

Throughout the great Civil War it bore its full share of the brunt of the fighting. With the close of the war, the regiment was sent out onto the frontier and, for two decades, it was kept busy fighting roving Indian bands. It was the Fifth Cavalry that Captain Charles King, the noted author of stories of Army life, spent most of his active service.

Officers' Record.

Colonel Schuyler, the commanding officer of the regiment, entered the United States Military Academy at West Point in 1866. In 1870 he graduated and was commissioned second lieutenant in the Fifth Cavalry. In '87 he reached his captaincy, became Major in the Ninth Cavalry in '99, Lieutenant Colonel in '02 and colonel in 1906.

During the war with Spain he served in the volunteers. On May 12 he was commissioned Major and Assistant Adjutant General, resigning in the following July to accept the command of the 203rd New York Volunteer Infantry. In 1899 he became colonel of the Forty-sixth United States Volunteer Infantry.

Colonel Schuyler was brevetted first lieutenant on February 27, 1890, for gallant services in action against Indians at Muecho Canyon, Ariz., September 23, 1872, on Lost River, Ariz., June 26, 1873, at Salt River, Ariz., April 28, 1874 and in the Red Rock Country, Ariz., on May 1, 1874. At the same time he was brevetted captain for gallantry in action against the Indians in the Big Horn Mountain, Mont., November 26, 1876.

Lieut. Col. Hunter was appointed to West Point in 1873, graduating in 1877. He reached his captaincy in 1891, was made major in '91 and lieutenant colonel of the Fifth Cavalry on June 30, 1906.

Major Foster graduated from West Point with the class of 1872, became second lieutenant of the Fifth Cavalry the same year, captain in 1896 and major in 1904.

Captain Jenkins graduated from West Point in 1883 and reached his present rank in 1901.

Captain Willard graduated from West Point in 1892 and began captain in 1902.

Captain Day graduated in 1893 and reached his present rank in 1903.

Captain Seales graduated from West Point in 1894 and was commissioned captain in 1904.

Captain Haight graduated from Columbia University with the degree of B. S. in 1898. He served in the war with Spain in Squadron A, New York Volunteers was commissioned second lieutenant of artillery in 1898, was transferred to the cavalry and reached his present grade in 1905.

Four full companies of marines, each numbering about 127 men, will equip the new marine garrison here. The troops arrived this morning on the U. S. S. Buffalo, and will probably go into camp some time tomorrow.

Major C. G. Long, U. S. M. C., will command the battalion. The present company at Camp Verry, will cease to exist as a unit and the men will be assigned to the other four companies.

Captain W. G. Fay becomes post quartermaster and ceases to be a company commander.

The officers who arrived on the Buffalo this morning are as follows:

Major C. G. Long, commanding battalion; Capt. H. C. Snyder, Company A; Capt. W. W. Low, Company B; Capt. C. Campbell, Company C; Capt. F. A. Ramsey, Company D; 1st Lieut. R. O. Underwood, 1st Lieut. F. D. Killebrew, 1st Lieut. L. T. Pinkston, 1st Lieut. R. B. Farquharson, 1st Lieut. L. R. Willis, 1st Lieut. E. P. Moses, Adjutant; 1st Lieut. M. E. Shearer, 1st Lieut. C. Ancrum, 2d Lieut. John M. Sheridan.

PHIL SHERIDAN COMES WITH CAVALRY TROOP

Lieutenant Phillip H. Sheridan, Fifth Cavalry, U. S. Army, who arrived here this morning on the transport Thomas, is the son of the late General "Phil" Sheridan, the noted cavalry leader of the Civil War.

Sheridan was appointed to West Point in 1898, graduating with the class of 1902. He was commissioned second lieutenant in the Ninth Cavalry on June 12, 1902, and was transferred to the Fifth Cavalry on May 2, 1903.

SPECIALTIES FOR SATURDAY NIGHT

In addition to the regular musical and dramatic program for the benefit there will be several specialties that will prove very entertaining. Mrs. McLennan, whose ability in the dramatic line is well known in Honolulu will give readings of character parts in which she is especially good.

Mrs. Hensbary will do a very fetching song and dance with a sextet of pickaninies to a banjo accompaniment. The "pickaninies" are all well known people, and many will recognize familiar faces through the blackening. Tickets for the entertainment are selling fast. Many reservations were made today at the Helestrom Music Co., but there are still many good seats left.

A movement for the amalgamation of all labor unions on the Great Lakes was started at a conference of interested organizations in Cleveland.

Catarrah of Hot Countries.

In cold countries catarrah usually affects the head, throat or lungs.

But there is a form of catarrah quite as serious and usually of a more acute form, which holds sway in hot countries, such as Texas, Mexico and a large portion of South America. This form of catarrah affects the alimentary canal. The stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys are the principal organs affected.

While it is true that occasionally in hot countries catarrah of the nose or catarrah of the head occurs, it is also true that in cold countries during the warm seasons catarrah of the abdominal organs is frequent.

It remains a fact, however, that catarrah of the respiratory organs is characteristic of cold countries, while catarrah of the alimentary canal and abdominal organs is characteristic of hot countries.

Words of Gratitude.
Mr. M. S. Rodriguez, Yaguas, S. L. P., Mexico, in a recent letter to The Peruna Drug Mfg. Co., writes:

"Since the age of eight years I have suffered with chronic catarrah."

"I consulted different well-known doctors and took many remedies, but nothing helped me permanently."

"Finally one of your booklets, 'The Ills of Life,' reached my hands, and seeing that other cases just like mine were being treated with Peruna, I decided to take it."

"After taking three bottles, I considered myself entirely well."

Leaders In Each District Change Today Like a Kona The Ballots Pour In Contest

ONE YEAR SUBSCRIPTION WOULD PLACE MANY AT HEAD OF LIST

No Combinations Allowed In This Contest; Votes Are Not Transferable

Are you tired of the struggle you have been making the past few days? Does it seem folly to keep on? Have you decided that the game is not worth the candle? Well, before you give up your ideal or relinquish your hope, stop and think the matter over again. Take a fresh start in your contest work. Believe in a loving guidance. Ask your friends for votes and, above all things, believe in yourself. The above lines do in no way apply to the contestants in the Bulletin popular voting contest, but the following verses may help to encourage some of the young women who feel that they have no chance to win:

The Discouraged
"If all the end of this continuous striving
Were simply to attain,
How poor would seem the planning and contriving,
The endless urging and the hurried driving
Of body, soul and brain."

"But ever in the wake of true achievement
There shines this glowing trail:
Some other soul will be spurred on,
conceiving
New strength and hope, in its own power believing
Because thou didst not fail."

"Not thine alone the glory of the sorrow
To gain or win the goal,
Undreamed of lives in many a fair tomorrow
From their weakness or their force shall borrow,
On! On! ambitious soul!"

Take a fresh start in the contest. The contest is no even today that one full year's subscription, paid in advance, would put many contestants in the lead. The young women are working hard and their friends are rallying to their support royally. All the districts changed leaders today and the vote all along the line has increased materially.

The contest is of short duration and every day counts. As soon as the contest closes the winners will be announced after the judges have passed on the ballots.

Interest in the contest is keen and the young women who are working hard for the victory are enlisting hosts of friends in the fight for the grand prize trips to Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition.

No Combination Here.
Some candidates fear that there will be a combination between other candidates at the last moment to enable them to win, but that will be impossible, as votes once issued are NOT TRANSFERABLE and are only good for the one to whom it was first issued. Each ballot issued on subscription is marked NOT TRANSFERABLE and the ballot is always filled out before leaving this office. Candidates withdrawing from the contest are not permitted to transfer their votes to any other contestant, therefore when they withdraw the votes issued are dead. All ballots taken from the big ballot box daily are counted and stamped VOTED and kept on file for future reference if need be.

Short Contest
The contest is of short duration and will close some time about the middle of March. The exact date will be decided upon in a few days. This will be the shortest contest the Bulletin has ever conducted and is made short, in order that the work will not become tiresome to the contestants. Each contestant should commence today to ask their friends for support and tell them to help you now and not stand you off with promises of support, as it will be hard for you to call on them again. Each contestant is furnished with receipt books and those who have not secured a book as yet should call on the Contest Manager and secure one and have your friends pay you their subscription and you bring the money to the office and the ballots will be issued to you in person; don't depend on your friends to come to the office and pay but have them pay you on your first visit, and it will be easier for all concerned to roll up a large vote. Contestants are not limited to the district in which they are entered, but are allowed to secure votes from any other District, County or State.

friends may mean all right when they tell you they will vote for you later, but something may happen that they will neglect to come to the office and secure their subscription, to call on them at once and ask them to pay you in person, and you are then sure of the votes.

How To Vote
Subscribers who depend on the office to bring their subscriptions to the Bulletin office, must always state whom they want their votes cast for; always mention the contestant's name and whether you want the votes published at once or returned to the contestant. It is best to return all ballots to the contestant and she will then know who is voting for her and can keep track of her friends who have voted, and then will have more time to call on those who have not paid their subscription and in this way she can make a thorough canvass of all her friends, and it will make the work much easier for her. Send your subscription direct to the Contest Department and the votes will be issued for the one you state and they will be returned to the contestant with your name on it, and she can hold the ballots back until the close of the contest, but ballots will not be issued unless the contestant's name appears on same, which makes it a safe-guard against all combinations, which often arise in contests of this nature and makes it absolutely fair for the contestant, as no contestant can then withdraw from the race and transfer her votes to someone else.

Subscription Blanks
Candidates should call on the Contest Manager at once and secure subscription books, and there are a number of things he would like to tell you, in regard to the best way of securing votes. Call at once at the Bulletin office.

THE FIVE TRIPS WILL BE APPROPRIATED AS FOLLOWS:

District No. 1 includes the City and County of Honolulu.

District No. 2 includes the County of Hawaii.

District No. 3 includes the County of Maui.

District No. 4 includes the County of Kauai.

The fifth trip will be for the chaperon, who will be chosen by the young woman securing the highest individual vote, irrespective of district limitation.

You may take the trip any time you choose, singly or in groups.

Four Separate Contests.
The Evening Bulletin is conducting four separate and distinct contests at the same time.

The young woman who receives the highest number of votes in District No. 1 will be given first-class transportation both ways, and hotel accommodations while in Seattle and San Francisco.

The young woman in District No. 2 will receive the same trip to Seattle and San Francisco, with the same accommodations as the one in District No. 1.

The young woman in District No. 3 will receive the highest number of votes will receive the same trip as the young women in Districts Nos. 1 and 2.

The young woman in District No. 4 receiving the highest vote will receive the same trip and accommodations as the three above mentioned districts.

To Abolish Land Court

Judge Weaver of the Land Court has in his report to Chief Justice Hartwell recommended that the duties of the Court of Land Registration be transferred to a Judge of the Circuit Court. He says as follows:

"Another matter of amendment of greater importance, I recommend, not as an improvement in the working of the act, but as a measure of economy.

"The experience elsewhere is that better and quicker results are had from a separate court which we have adopted here. So far as I have been able to learn, whenever the ordinary courts have had this work added to their duties, it has been because of the constitutional limitations on the power to create new courts.

By giving the duties of the Judge of the Court of Land Registration to one of the three Judges of the Circuit Court of the First Circuit, and making the clerk of his court the Registrar of the Land Court, salaries of a special Judge and clerk will be cut out. Judging from past experience, by cutting out these salaries and reducing slightly the fee allowed to examiners of titles the cost can be run at no expense to the Government. The costs deposited and turned into the Treasury will balance the amount drawn. The policy of paying out a salary for part of his time to a Judge of a separate court is not apt to induce experienced attorneys to accept the position. The present Judge of the Court has felt the duty to maintain the Land Registration Act until it had proved its usefulness and practicability. It has now done so and the future will only add to the present experience.

"Therefore I recommend that the Act be so amended as to transfer the duties of the Judge of the Court of Land Registration to a Judge of the Circuit Court, with the confidence that the public have learned to benefit by the Act and that the procedure is established and known.

"The Court has been used here as a modern improvement over the ancient machinery of trying title to land, for over five years, whereas California is just awakening to its use. New York will be able to use this modern process in February of this year.

"If this amendment becomes law, I can give up my office with the feeling that Hawaii has learned to use modern methods in matters of title to land and will continue to use them more and more as the transactions in real estate increase.

"Dated at Honolulu, January, 1909.
Respectfully submitted,
(Signed) "P. L. WEAVER, Judge."

An Essay on Cats

When a man wants to make a wise remark, concerning a mining stock that he knows nothing about, he says, "Another Wild Cat." A man reading one of my advertisements the other day remarked, "Another D— Wild Cat," meaning, I presume, "Another Dear Wild Cat." I know that all "wild cat" propositions are dear at any price, and I wish he would not speak of my proposition in that endearing way.

H. H. Williams, the man who undertakes to embalm you after you are dead, owns a handsome cat of the Thomas variety, possessing marked intelligence. You go into Mr. Williams' office and you say to his cat: "Tommy, shake hands," and Tommy will gravely put out his paw to be shaken. Then you say, "Tommy, shall I buy MAYFLOWER Stock today?" and Tommy will say "M-e-o-w," which, I presume, means Yes. At least Tommy knows just as much about Mayflower as the man who calls it a "wild cat" without giving it a particle of investigation. I repeat, Mayflower is a legitimate proposition. It's a mine. BUY "MAYFLOWER" STOCK. BUY IT NOW! When I first came to Honolulu, Mr. Williams, riding by in his automobile, was pointed out to me as a "wealthy planter." Do not think I am trying to advertise his business. He is a good friend of mine, but I like to see his business dull and quiet. Of course I would just as soon Williams would plant me under a Kukui tree, when my time comes, as any other man in his line. He is bound to get us all sooner or later. May it be later, and "Mayflowers" bloom (and pay dividends) for many decades, ere he gets any of us. Selah! which is scripture for See!

In conclusion I want you to cat-ch on to these facts: The Mayflower Mine is in the Nevada City-Grass Valley mining district, Nevada Co., Cal. This district is said to contain more rich quartz veins than any similar area in the known world. It is so richly mineralized that the U. S. Government Geological Survey have published a Special Folio of this District. I can show you a copy of the Folio at my office. The Mayflower ground has eight quartz veins. In addition it has a rich gravel channel. It has a modern twenty-stamp mill. It owns its own water power. It has two miles of underground development. The North Star is down a mile. We need money to go down to greater depths. Our stock is a good buy at 25 cents per share. Don't procrastinate. Take on a block today. Don't wait till by and by. BUY "MAYFLOWER" STOCK. BUY IT NOW!

GOVERNOR TALKS ON LANDS AND EXPENSES

INTERESTING TALK BEFORE COMMITTEE

SENATOR FORAKER EVIDENTLY SURPRISED AT LARGE AMOUNT HAWAII PAYS TO FEDERAL GOVERNMENT THROUGH CUSTOM HOUSE—TAXES, BONDING, AND OTHER MATTERS

Governor Frear—I can give you names; I could not give you areas. The Campbell estate owns 60,000 acres. Mr. Aubrey Robinson owns an entire island; I would not want to say just what the area is, but over 60,000 acres. Mr. Charles Gay owns an entire island of about 100,000 acres. Mr. Samuel Norris owns a tract of 184,000 acres. A firm known as Gay & Robinson owns a large area; I could not state what the area is. Mr. H. P. Baldwin is another owner of large areas. Certain corporations own large areas, the Haleakala Ranch Company, for instance.

The Chairman—Were those large estates acquired since annexation or before?

Governor Frear—Almost entirely before.

The Chairman—Has there been much acquisition of land in Hawaii by Americans since annexation?

Governor Frear—Not as much as could be desired. In 1899 a good many Americans settled there. They went into the coffee industry, which had a boom then, but it did not pan out as was expected and many of them had to throw up their holdings. More recently we have, through private enterprise and the work of the federal experiment station, the territorial bureau of agriculture and forestry, the planters' experiment station, and other means, developed other industries than sugar—industries that are more suitable to the small proprietor, such as the production of pineapples, rubber, sisal, tobacco, cotton, and so on, and these are giving much promise of success in the settlement of lands by Americans, particularly the pineapple industry.

The Chairman—Do you produce the same kind of cotton there that we produce in our Southern States?

Governor Frear—I think not. We produce the sea-island cotton.

The Chairman—The other is long staple.

Governor Frear—That industry is only just beginning this year. It has not gone very far.

Coffee Production
The Chairman—There is not a great production of coffee there. About how much coffee do you produce there now?

Governor Frear—It varies greatly. I can not give it to you in pounds, but in value it varies from perhaps $150,000 to $250,000 worth a year.

The Chairman—And is that production increasing since annexation, or diminishing?

Governor Frear—It remains about stationary.

The Chairman—It is about standing still?

Governor Frear—Yes.

The Chairman—As to sugar, how much of that are you producing now as compared with the period prior to annexation?

Governor Frear—This last crop, which was 80,000 tons larger than any previous crop, was 520,000 tons.

The Chairman—That is cane sugar altogether?

Governor Frear—Altogether.

The Chairman—You have no beet sugar?

Governor Frear—No beet sugar.

The Chairman—Are these large estates devoted to sugar or coffee?

Governor Frear—Some of them, on the lower portions of the land, particularly; the arable parts are in large measure leased to others.

Small Farm Land
The Chairman—What are lands that are occupied there by small farmers—if that is what you call them—worth on an average? What are average farm lands worth?

Governor Frear—They vary, but not infrequently if they should be put up at auction and sold without conditions of residence and cultivation they would bring $100 an acre—unirrigated land.

The Chairman—You refer now to these government lands?

Governor Frear—The government lands.

The Chairman—One hundred dollars an acre?

Governor Frear—No; we are not. Five years ago the Territory got behind about $700,000, when a special session of the legislature was called to cut down expenses. They cut down the school teachers 20 per cent, who were paid little enough anyway, and so all around. This went on until the last session of the legislature, when the Territory had recovered and had accumulated a surplus of $313,000. Since then we have been running behind. This last year our expenditures exceeded our receipts by $147,000 and by the 1st of next February we will not have a cent in the treasury.

The Chairman—Was that caused by an increase in expenditures or a falling off of revenue?

Governor Frear—No; simply the last legislature restored the expenditures to where they were four years ago.

The Chairman—And of course that increase of expenditures put you behind again?

Governor Frear—Yes.

Senator Flint—Why was it necessary to make such a radical change in one session from a condition of affairs where you had a surplus to a condition of affairs where you had such an enormous deficit?

Governor Frear—Well, one reason why an increase was desirable, if it could be afforded, was because the appropriations had previously been cut too much—as a matter of necessity—owing to lack of funds. There was also another reason. The legislature there does not always hold itself down to the estimated revenues. It has for years been in the habit of appropriating considerably more than the estimated revenues, with the result that the executive is obliged to select between appropriations as to what shall be spent. But in the case of salaries the executive can not cut down. When it comes to other expenses we cut what we can.

The Chairman—Can the Governor veto an item in an appropriation bill and let the bill stand?

Governor Frear—He can veto specific items. But an item to which he objects can be passed over his veto by a two-thirds vote.

The Chairman—All your customs receipts are paid into the United States Treasury?

Governor Frear—Yes.

The Chairman—What do they amount to?

Governor Frear—Last year they amounted to $1,550,000.

Tariff Duties Collected
The Chairman—I refer now to tariff duties on importations into Hawaii.

Governor Frear—Yes.

The Chairman—They amounted to how much?

Governor Frear—Last year they amounted to over a million and a half dollars. That is besides internal revenue. For the eight years under territorial government the customs receipts have amounted to ten and a quarter million dollars.

The Chairman—That has been paid here into our Treasury?

Governor Frear—Paid into the United States Treasury.

The Chairman—In addition to the internal revenue that has been collected?

Governor Frear—Yes.

The Chairman—What do the internal revenue receipts amount to?

Governor Frear—They have varied. At present I think they amount to about $50,000 a year. While the stamp duty was in force they amounted to perhaps $100,000 a year.

The Chairman—Is the internal revenue tax chiefly on tobacco?

Governor Frear—Not very much on tobacco, because very little is raised there, but on liquor distilling and selling in the Territory, and various special taxes.

The Chairman—Is there much liquor business there?

Governor Frear—There was until recently, but under the new act it has been greatly reduced.

The Chairman—How do you regulate the traffic in intoxicating liquors there?

Governor Frear—A board of commissioners of five members is appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate, for each county. This board has very wide discretionary authority in the matter of granting licenses. They decide, for instance, how many saloons a place ought to have, or whether it has enough saloons, and whether they should be merely places for the sale of liquor not to be drunk on the premises or whether they should be ordinary saloons, and so on.

The Chairman—So you have a license system. I do not care about the details.

Governor Frear—Yes; a high-license system.

The Chairman—How much?

Governor Frear—According to the class of business it is from $250 to $1,000.

The Chairman—I infer from your remarks that the prohibition wave has not reached you yet.

Governor Frear—No; but there has been some agitation of the question of local option.

Land Laws Again
The Chairman—Is there anything further you want to say about the provision as to your land laws? Section 5 contains the important provision you spoke of.

Governor Frear—Yes.

The Chairman—It is in the form you would like to have it passed?

Governor Frear—Yes. This matter has been given a great deal of study, not only by myself but by others in Hawaii, including a commission appointed by me to look into the whole question, and it has been gone over also by persons familiar with the land laws in the United States.

The Chairman—Has it been scrutinized by our Interior Department?

Governor Frear—Yes; by the Secretary of the Interior and also by the Director of the Reclamation Service.

The Chairman—Mr. Garfield was in Hawaii during the last summer?

Governor Frear—Yes; last June. Mr. Newell, the Director of the Reclamation Service, was there for two months also.

The Chairman—And both of them looked into this matter?

Governor Frear—Yes; both have gone through the entire bill and approved it.

The Chairman—I have not had a chance to read the bill. Is there anything you want to tell us about in addition to the provision affecting your land laws? Is there anything that you think we will need to have explained to us?

Governor Frear—There is one section here in regard to bonds, section 3, amending the portion of the organic act limiting the bonded indebtedness of the Territory and its political subdivisions. This does not alter the amount of the indebtedness that may be incurred either in any one year or in the aggregate, but it is amended chiefly in two respects. First, it makes the bonds payable in not more than thirty years, instead of making them as at present redeemable in not more than five annual payments, and whether they should be merely places for the sale of liquor not to be drunk on the premises or whether they should be ordinary saloons, and so on.

The Chairman—So that the total bonded indebtedness would not exceed 10 per cent of the valuation of the property for purposes of taxation?

Governor Frear—Yes.

The Chairman—That is the limitation you are under now?

Governor Frear—And it remains the same. That is not altered in the least.

The Chairman—This simply gives a political subdivision, the county, if you call it that, a right to issue bonds?

Governor Frear—Yes.

The Chairman—Up to 3 per cent.

Governor Frear—Yes.

Salaries
The Chairman—Is there anything else you want to bring to our attention?

Governor Frear—No.

APPROPRIATION BILL PASSED OVER MAYOR

High Finance Explained By Supervisor Logan

The Logan appropriation bill passed third reading at the meeting of the Board of Supervisors, but only after strenuous objections on the part of the Democrats, who wanted to know what sense there could possibly be in passing a bill which was known to be considerably off in its estimates. Logan, Quinn and Aylett qualified as high finance experts, explaining things to the Mayor and McClellan, but with no effect, and the bill finally had to pass over the Mayor's head. In connection with this matter Logan made some mysterious hints, which sounded much like a threat, to the effect that if the Mayor kept on refusing to act there would soon be something doing.

smaller amount. I think we should place this in the hands of a special committee.

Quinn said it made no difference, since the money could not be spent, if it was not available. It did not affect the bill.

Logan said the bill was merely a basis, the actual finances being governed mainly by the monthly estimates. The bill saved great advertising expense. The Territorial Government had always overrun its expenses, though in this case Logan did not approve of it, as it put the power of spending the money in the hands of the executive. In this case the Board always had its hand on the purse-strings. "The bill is perfectly safe," he said. "It is only a rough estimate."

Fern said he understood that the balance left by the old Board was shy four to five thousand dollars. He believed in monthly and not six-monthly appropriations. "The Board has taken the matter in its own hands, appropriating $250,000," said Fern, "and still we don't know if we are going to get the $18,000 in January, so I myself think that the bill should be referred to a committee, or if the majority does not see fit to do so, I shall overrule the motion."

PRESIDENT TAFT'S LOVE FOR PHILIPPINES

MR. TAFT ENJOYING GEORGIA SUNSHINE AND COUNTRY HOUSE WHICH HE OCCUPIED THERE. The Territt cottage, where Mr. Taft and his family resided until he started on his Panama trip, stands on a hill about 200 feet above Summerville, a mile from Augusta, Ga. The cottage is surrounded by the residences of the winter tourists who visit Augusta regularly. It is situated just in the rear of the Bon Air Hotel, where the Taft family took their meals. Vice President-elect James S. Sherman and family were among the prominent guests at the Bon Air this season. Mr. Sherman was in Augusta for a few weeks, but his family remain there all winter. A ride along the country roads and several hours on the golf links constituted Mr. Taft's daily outdoor routine while in the South.

The extreme loyalty of President-elect Taft for the Philippines is evidenced by the following, published in the latest issue of Collier's Weekly:

That William Howard Taft, who has been chosen by the American people as the next President of the United States, once deliberately and formally resigned from the Cabinet of President Roosevelt is a fact known to but few people. Indeed, it is safe to say that aside from the President and his former Secretary of War there are not a half-dozen people in the world who have ever heard of Mr. Taft's resignation and Mr. Roosevelt's characteristic declination thereof, but the private letter-press of these distinguished men will entirely substantiate the facts here given, facts which constitute an important if brief chapter in the history of the nation because of the striking example they afford of the timber of two of its most prominent statesmen.

Had the fact of Secretary Taft's resignation been known to the general public during the exciting days of the campaign just ended there would have been fewer people who feared that President Taft would be too greatly under the influence of ex-President Roosevelt, but apparently the only person otherwise in a position to relate the incident in print was pledged to confidence until after November 3, 1908.

It was during the campaign of 1904 that Mr. Taft, with many expressed regrets, formally resigned his position of Secretary of War because his loyalty to the best interests of the Philippines forbade his ceasing to advocate the reduction of the duty on Philippine sugar and tobacco and his loyalty to the President seemed to demand the cessation of such advocacy by a member of the Cabinet.

Secretary Taft was requested by George B. Cortelyou, then chairman of the Republican National Committee, to make several speeches in support of the Republican national ticket, and Mr. Cortelyou's request was urgently seconded by President Roosevelt. Accordingly, Mr. Taft went up to Connecticut, where his standing as a Yale alumnus has long been made him exceptionally popular, and delivered a forceful speech in support of Roosevelt and Fairbanks. In the course of his remarks, Mr. Taft dwelt upon the subject of Philippine progress and the solemn duty of the American Congress materially to reduce the duty on Philippine sugar and tobacco. In his audience were many Connecticut farmers, who, under the guidance of Secretary Wilson, had invested their all in the cultivation of tobacco, and they had conceived the idea that any reduction of the tariff on Philippine tobacco would seriously jeopardize their profits. Reports of their disapproval of the sentiments expressed by the Secretary of War reached Chairman Cortelyou, and he proceeded immediately to indite a lengthy epistle to the President, in which, in his most diplomatic manner, he submitted the facts and suggested that, at least until after election, it might be wiser for the Secretary of War in his public addresses to refrain from dwelling with any considerable emphasis on the plain duty of the United States to the Philippines, and especially in so far as the tariff was concerned.

When President Roosevelt received Chairman Cortelyou's letter he scribbled across one corner: "Respectfully referred to the Secretary of War," and sent the communication by special messenger to that official.

As soon as Secretary Taft had read the letter he gave instructions that he was not to be interrupted for any cause, and set to work on the difficult task of composing a letter of resignation which would adequately express his feelings. So delicate did he consider the undertaking that he employed no stenographer, but laboriously penned first a draft and then a final copy. He assured the President of the deep sorrow with which he found himself confronted with the necessity of such action, of his absolute unwillingness by any act of omission or commission to jeopardize Mr. Roosevelt's political welfare, but, on the other hand, of his unwavering loyalty to the people of the Philippine Islands, his unshakable conviction that it was the plain duty of the American Congress to grant the tariff concessions he had advocated, and of his own inability to perceive a course whereby he might, without sacrifice of loyalty to one or the other, cease from urging a reduced tariff or avoid injury to Mr. Roosevelt's political fortunes. Under these circumstances he felt compelled in deepest sorrow to sever his connection with the Roosevelt Cabinet, his resignation to take effect as soon as might prove convenient to the President.

The composition and double inscribing of this long and delicate communication proved no easy task, and it occupied the greater part of Mr. Taft's day, so that it was nearly midnight when a special messenger carried the document to the White House.

It required barely two minutes for Mr. Roosevelt to compose and inscribe his reply, and his answer may be recorded as one of the most comprehensive and pertinent epigrams in history. Across the corner of Secretary Taft's carefully penned communication the President wrote these words: "Dear Bill: Fiddleedee-dee.—T. R." "That was all; but it was sufficient, and William H. Taft understood that his resignation of the portfolio of War had been promptly and emphatically declined.

Mr. Taft has never ceased his earnest advocacy of the reduction of the tariff on Philippine sugar and tobacco, and it is a safe prediction that unless the National Legislature shall already have granted the urged concession it will play an important part in his first annual message to Congress; but during the campaign of 1904 Chairman Cortelyou did not again assign the uncompromising Secretary of War to speak in any section where the growing of sugar or tobacco constituted one of the important industries.
