DEATH OF A JOURNALIST.

Daniel Lyons Expires Suddenly—The Father of the Hui Kalaialana No More.

Yesterday morning at 3 o'clock, Daniel Lyons drew his last breath, at the Queen's Hospital. The deceased was well known in Honolulu. He arrived in the beginning of 1882 and was connected with several newspapers during his residence here. His first enterprise was the "Daily Hawaiian" which did not prove a financial success. In 1884 Lyons was made the manager of the native newspaper the Elele, which was the property of F. H. Hayselden. He conducted that paper for several years and was at one time the editor of it after its being issued in the English language. The deceased was an intimate friend of the late W. M. Gibson, and one of his faithful followers during the troubles of 1887. Dan Lyons organized the Hui Kalaialana, a native political society, which at one time was a power at the elections in Hawaii. He was for several years the president of the organization. Imbued with republican ideas he succeeded in making the society advocate the election of all public officials. This measure was not accepted favorably and Lyons lost his prestige among the Hawaiians. About six years ago he met with great misfortune through the death of his wife and three children from diphtheria. The unfortunate man was completely stricken down, and for a while it was thought necessary to place him under restriction at the Asylum. Dan Lyons had undoubtedly been a clever and bright man in his best days. He was a kind father and a good friend and was well esteemed in this community. He had been ailing for a few days and his friends at the American League through the advice of Doctor Wood had him removed to the Queen's Hospital where he expired. The immediate cause of his death was apoplexy. The deceased was nearly 60 years old and leaves behind two children of tender years. It was in the palmy days of his manhood that Dan Lyons was best known.

The news of his death will be received with deep sympathy and sorrow by many who knew and loved him in Virginia City and Nevada in the early days of the Comstock excitement. Well-known and respected by the men who have become multi-millionaires from the mines of that region, he was the more beloved and esteemed by the young writers of the press, many of whom have won fame and moderate fortunes by their pens, and they who have passed away have left their memories green. Among them the names are hastily recalled of "Mark Twain" (S. Clemens), Bret Harte, Sam Davis, Ed. W. Townsend ("Major Max" and "Chimmie Faden"), Arthur McEwen, Col. Shaw, Ambrose Bierce, John P. Cosgrave, Dan. O'Connell, R. M. Duggett, Ex-Minister Merrill, McClatchy of the Bee, Tom Flynn, Dr. Hart and others of the same grade whose names have escaped. Among the dearest to his memory of the passed away were the Brothers Dennis and Jack McCarthy of the old Virginia Chronicle. His manly life on the Comstock as newspaper man, legislator, county and city official, fireman, and in other pursuits will now be pleasantly recalled by his former associates, and many a kindly word will be said and written of him throughout the United States, and many a pungent and witty anecdote narrated of one of the bravest, kindest and honest hearted men of those pioneer days.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the American League and Sharpshooters, and was attended by numerous friends. The pall bearers were: Captain Kidwell, Senator McCaulless, T. B. Murray, Walter Wall, James Sheehan, and Harry Evans.

THAT SCHOOL BILL.

There appears a letter in the Advertiser this morning about the dead school bill. It is signed, "One of the Board." The Board consists of W. R. Castle, W. D. Alexander, M. M. Scott, Judge Perry, Mrs. B. F. Dillingham and Mrs. F. S. Dodge. Which of them is responsible for this precious addition to our literature we don't know, but we advise the rest to promptly disclaim all knowledge of the elaborate concoction—that is if they wish to have any claim to being considered as having any education at all. Anyone who will claim—even with the most illegible of handwriting—that "extending" is a misprint for "enforcing," either makes a mock at the intelligence of newspaper readers, or desires to put the blame on the long-suffering shoulders of the unfortunate but patient printer for his own ignorance of the English language and its force.

The gentle author of this priceless epistolary communication states "One who reads the Act must know the school laws to understand it." Minister Damon was for years a member and vice-president of the Board of Education. He said, after reading it ten times he still could not comprehend it. "One-of-the-Board" then states that Minister Damon does not know the school laws. Does "One-of-the-Board" understand or even know them? His letter gives no evidence of any but the slimmest acquaintance with them. The truth is, apparently, that "One-of-the-Board," reading casually over the school statutes, discovered the one permitting the establishment of independent schools at the request of parents. He thought that the power of the Board was not sufficiently autocratic and despotic. To his jaded mind parents shouldn't have any right to have schools their own way—whether in primary or in higher branches—unless the Board (above described) should be agreeable. By the way no parent should want to educate his child in any way different from what the above Board would like, and should never desire any teacher for it except such as the Board would consent to allow.

This sapient and dictatorial "One-of-the-Board" states also that "Wise publicists do not make laws when they are not necessary." My dear boy, that is just what the Senate thought when they killed your school bill. They are the wise publicists who do not make laws when they are not necessary. He also states, "There are reasons, and they appear sufficient to the Board of Education as well as to a number of other educators in the country," for this proposed law. Well, we have before given the reasons, but no one but the Board of Education and the other educators who find their schools diminishing from lack of proper culture, both moral and mental, who are satisfied with those reasons. The actions of the Board have been so utterly autocratic and utterly indefensible on all but the ground of "we have the power, and we mean to use it whether it is good for the country or not" in the past, that no sane body of men would entrust them with still greater despotic power till they amend their past actions. Again, if the Board are so anxious to educate the Chinese in English as it appears they are, why is it that the mission and Sunday schools not bringing them into competition with the English-speaking residents fast enough? Or, is it the desire to save the pockets of the mission contributors, and saddle the country at large with expense, in defiance of the express provisions of the Constitution and the wishes of Constitutional Convention? There is a nigger in the fence—in this case a Chinaman also—and "One-of-the-Board" had better resign and apply for a place as prison warden, despotic monarch, or Minister to Washington or some other place where his autocratic disposition can find free play unchecked by legislatures, common sense, or the will of the people.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

The Honorable William R. Castle, Minister Plenipotentiary to Washington, tried his best at getting even with teachers who would have nothing to do with him as President of the Board of Education, and was "hoist with his own petard." The School bill, intended to define by law what a school is, and the accompanying letter of explanation were read, re-read and read again, by such brainy men as Messrs. Damon and Wilcox of the Senate, and then given up as an unsolvable proposition. Imagine Mr. Castle composing a despatch to the scholarly and masterful Secretary of State at Washington. However, Frank Hastings is still Secretary of Legation and may be able to explain what his Minister means in case of need.

The Government Survey department is misnamed—it should be styled the Government History Factory, for the Surveyor General is employed in the manufacture of history to buttress Mr. Stevens' republic. Fortunately the historian has qualms of conscience at times and some truths may be told. We are credibly informed that Mr. Alexander, after reading over his testimony before Mr. Morgan's committee, said that he had made statements under excitement in the committee room which he should qualify if he had the opportunity.

We are requested to respectfully ask the Chief Justice when it will please him to publish the decision of his Court in the Wailuku Water case.

In our paper of the 11th, we published statements made by Mr.

O'Brien Moore, Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Republic, which intimates that President Cleveland's administration proposes to bring Great Britain to book for moving the land marks of Venezuela. The correspondent closes in the following paragraph. "I am sure that our government has prepared itself to contend and to insist on its contention that Great Britain has no right to a foot of territory claimed by Venezuela. As soon as the British Government serves notice that it will not submit the Venezuelan case to arbitration, then our Government will make known to Venezuela our understanding of the question, and Venezuela of course, will proceed to occupy the territory now occupied by Great Britain. This will bring the question to a head." This is a very clever plan, but we respectfully suggest to Mr. Cleveland's administration that it would add greatly to the moral weight of their contention with Great Britain on behalf of Venezuela, if the wrong done to the Queen and the people of Hawaii, by agents of the United States, was first righted. We know that the action of a jingo senator, from partisan motives, tied the hands of Mr. Cleveland's administration in the attempt to right the admitted wrong; but with men with fertility of resource a way may be found if there is the will to do so.

The Advertiser states in its columns this morning that the late Dan Lyons brought the first white compositors to these islands. This is another display of the ignorance in regard to Hawaiian affairs which the imported editors (save the mark) persistently present to a long-suffering public. Dan Lyons arrived here in 1882. How does the editor of Advertiser think his paper, the Polynesian, the Friend, and other ancient publications were set in the dark ages? Does he expect that Captain Cook or the first missionaries found a well regulated printing office with accomplished native compositors? Or does he refuse to call E. O. Hall, H. M. Whitney, B. Grieve, J. H. Black, the Bolsters and the Brashes, etc., "white" compositors? Why can't these newcomers confine themselves to writing what they know about—that might not fill the paper though—instead of making idiotic, absurd and misleading statements. Let them understand that they know nothing of Hawaii and evidently lack sufficient brains to learn.

The Advertiser states a controversy is going on between English and American missionaries as to the respective value of their work on a dollar and cents basis. Perhaps it is. It says such a controversy is unique. Also perhaps. But what made American claims to these islands, but the dollar and cent basis of its missionaries' expenditure? And how often has that been cast up here in the last few years?

It may not be generally known that Dan Lyons has left behind him a valuable collection of scrapbooks containing information gleaned from the local press of every event of interest in the political, social, economic and commercial life of our Hawaiian burgh. Not only this but he devoted some years of arduous labor and not a few dollars in compiling from the Hawaiian and English newspapers from the earliest dates to recent times, from official documents and especially from those in the possession of the Roman Catholic church, material for a complete history of the Hawaiian Islands which he had fondly hoped to see in print before his death as a perpetual monument to his industry. It is understood that the M. S. S. is in the hands of Mr. F. H. Hayselden or Mr. J. S. Walker.

In his younger days Dan Lyons was one of the most successful and prominent dancing and department teachers in New York and a most capable musician. When times were very gloomy with him here he, for a short time, returned to his old profession.

Dan Lyons was a grateful and faithful follower and admirer of the late Walter Murray Gibson. It was he who, in the darkest hours of the revolution of 1887, when Mr. Gibson's life appeared to be wavering in the balance held, by would-be cowardly lyceum, school watch and ward over him and frustrated the attempts of a few irresponsibles. He had determined to protect the life of his friend and chief with his own and was fully prepared for every emergency. His precautions were so well taken that for some hours none knew except himself and a small special body guard where Mr. Gibson really was. Sufficient to say that Mr. Gibson was not in his own home when the searchers felt assured that he was fast asleep in his own bed.

Prof. Yarndley has written an anthem words and music. The latter is a cross between "High in the belfry" and "Way down upon the Swanee ribber." The former isn't a cross between anything. It is pure bred rot.

A fresh report of the Labor Commission has been handed in, signed by Emmeluth, Vivas and Severance. It states 4884 contracts are to expire by Mar. 31, 1896; of whom 4068 are Japs, and 53 out of 56 plantations want 3690 new laborers between now and then, distributed as follows: Hawaiians 6, Portuguese 440, Chinese 1368, Japanese 1843, others 23. These are the figures from their own returns. What more can you ask?

There are three kinds of leases under the Land Bill, so Senator Schmidt says. The bill is therefore unconstitutional.

Timely Topics.

Honolulu, July 9, 1895.

Lord Rosebury is out and Lord Salisbury is in. The change is of course of the greatest importance and it is proper to look into the causes which led to the speedy downfall of the Liberal party. The majority of the Liberals will say that the retirement of Gladstone from the premiership made his party weak, and that Rosebury could not hold the different factions together. Others will claim that the vacillating foreign policy pursued by the Liberal government made the party which it represented and for which it gained its power unpopular. The English people are always preaching peace themselves, but they do not allow their government to do it and they are jealous of any real or imaginary attempt to infringe on their dignity as a nation by any "blasted turner." The vexed question of Home Rule has also been blamed for the downfall of the Liberals, and there is no doubt that the failure to solve that question has something to do with Rosebury's defeat. It is finally said that the ex-premier's inclination for race houses made him unpopular among the very Christian middle classes who consider betting on the track and all the other paraphernalia of a horse race as works of His Sacred Majesty. And that is the real mistake made by Lord Rosebury. If he had possessed sufficient wisdom he would have dropped horse racing and horses and he would have purchased a Monarch Bicycle and gone out wheeling. We are now expecting a fresh invoice. It took only one month to sell the first lot imported by us. We have only two wheels left and they are both intended for ladies. The wheel is becoming so popular and so fashionable in Honolulu that very shortly everybody that knows enough to be in the move will own a Monarch and spin a long streets and roads. As long as you sit on them you can't fall off. The Monarch is as intelligent as a horse and carries you perfectly safe, and it never sheds. We suggest to all persons who now ride or who intend to do so to leave their orders for a Monarch now. Our invoice will be here in the "Australia" and it may be too late to secure a wheel after the steamer arrives. Orders are now pouring in. Remember that we are the Sole Agents of the Monarch in the Hawaiian Islands, and that the wheel cannot be purchased elsewhere in Honolulu.

The Rev. Dr. Haweis has written a pleasant account of his recent visit here to a late number of the Irish Weekly Times. He speaks in the highest terms of Bishop Willis and the Sisters of St. Andrew's Priory.

"Jack" Atkinson will study law at Ann Arbor. The popular young gentleman has for some time been in the employ of F. H. Davis & Co. and his many friends wish him all possible success in the career that he intends to enter upon.

A coffee mill, the first completed in the islands, was shipped to Kailua, Hawaii, in the W. G. Hall and is now being erected by the Honolulu Iron Works. The mill belongs to the Hawaiian Tea and Coffee Company of which F. A. Schaefer & Co. are agents.

The executive committee of the Hawaiian National Medical Society (what an indigestible title) held a meeting last Saturday night for the purpose of prescribing a constitution and administering by-laws. No autopsy was held on the names of the members of the committee.

The prize of $30 offered by the Fourth of July committee for the barge race was given to David Crozier's crew of boat boys last Saturday. The race was declared off on the Fourth and should have been rowed over on Saturday. The police crew failed to appear and the boat boys got the money.

At 7:30 this evening Mr. J. F. C. Hagen will be married to Mrs. Eliza Hugo. The groom is a relation of Consul J. F. Haekfeld and is employed as book-keeper in the Fertilizer Company. The bride is one of the fairest and most estimable daughters of Hawaii. A reception will be held during the evening at the residence of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Lizzie Mana, at Pauoa.

David Crozier's boat crew says it is willing to match any crew, Captain Parker's included, in a four-oar outrigger race. As Captain Parker has said that he is willing to match any crew, there should be no more difficulty in getting up a race than there generally is in getting a prize fight arranged between Corbett and some other muscular professional. Lots of jaw, but no action.

An officer in the police force treated a little dog with great brutality this morning. He was called to task by turkey Harry Evans and in spite of the sacredness of the precincts showed fight. The appearance of Captain Parker prevented blows and bloodshed. It is rumored that the members of the police force nowadays frequently indulge in entertainments which on other occasions and by other people are stamped as affairs.

THE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.

The Senate met as usual this morning. J. W. Robertson, Her Majesty's Chamberlain, presented a petition for $2750, balance of appropriation for his office passed by Legislature of 1892. Referred to committee. Petition from residents of Hamakua asking for $5000 for roads and bridges was referred to Committee on Lands and Internal Improvements. The act relating to bonds in appeal cases was referred to Judiciary Committee. The Land Bill came up for its third reading (It appears from the bill wharves and landings are not public lands as defined by the act.) Senator Schmidt wanted to know if Kapiolani Park lots, and lots in Pauoa, etc. were town lots under the meaning of the act. Senator Brown said the question was unnecessary as all reference to town lots, building lots, and suburban lots had been struck out. When Section 17 came up Minister Damon moved to amend by not allowing land to be sold in parcels of over 1000 acres each. He did this to prevent pressure from wealthy corporations who ask for land in large tracts, have it put up, and buy it outright. In times past immense tracts have been put up this way through pressure when the government was financially in a hole and the land sold at low prices; probably less than its true value. Senator Baldwin said under the section it was not obligatory to put up lands in whole ahupunas under the section. If we can't trust the commissioners with the consent of the executive to do their duty, is there anybody in the country we can trust? He didn't want the commissioners bound hand and feet. Minister Damon: What we are here to-day for is to prevent wealthy individuals and large corporations from getting immense tracts of land for nothing. It is a set back to the government to-day the state of affairs. Look at Australia. To day they are doubling their taxes to burst up the large landholders; practically confiscating their estates. We ought to make a fresh start with small holdings. Nothing short of a revolution ever makes the large land holders divide up their estates—to let go their ownership. If we are sincere in what we have been saying about land holdings now is the opportunity to prove it. Senator Brown thought the section sufficiently guarded as it was. Minister Damon said he made his amendment because he knew of the pressure that would be brought to bear from past experience. Once the Government parted with its fee simple it would be difficult to get it back. Senator Baldwin said the lessee might pick out the best 1000 acres and leave the Government the worthless rag end of the land. Senator McCandless said the only way was to adopt the New Zealand graduated land tax system. He supported the Minister. The amendment passed to prevent the Government from at any time selling more than 1000 acres of land in one parcel by 8 to 6. Baldwin, Brown, Hickling, Rice, Wilson and Noley voting against it. No further discussion took place till section 23, when Senator McCandless moved an amendment allowing the Commissioners to require the surrender of the whole lease by Crown or Government lessees if they desired to purchase apart. Senator Lyman made a verbal amendment. Both amendments were lost. McCandless's after 3 votes, one a rising one, and then only on the casting vote of President Wilder. They are still reading the different sections.

ED. THE INDEPENDENT:—

The following appeared in the Star:

PARKER TALKS.

"Captain Parker is willing to back his police crew for any amount up to one thousand dollars against the boat boys for a fourteen-oared bargain. He is satisfied that the Haua koki cannot beat the Aloha with a ten-oared crew."

If Capt. Parker would also kindly train a police crew to protect ladies and gentlemen on band nights from the insults and bad language they have to put up with from the Portu guese hoodlums, it would be conferring a great favor on the public of Honolulu as well as visitors.

MAUI.

ED. THE INDEPENDENT:—

Can you allow me a little room in your columns? It seems to be all a mistake that there is not a society, or a fund, or a something by which Bishop Willis could be paid a moderate salary, to remunerate him for the valuable time he spends in correcting the blunders of other people. Every reader of his articles must concede at once that they are written in the spirit of fairness and Christian charity—convincing and calm in tone and color as a bishop's words should be. His complete analysis and unfolding of an error not only helps the blind to see, makes crutches for the lame, and opens the ear of the deaf, but they also are public educators in a way—"English undefiled." It has been said, you know, that to read the London Times daily for two years is a liberal education.

We may determine, folly, not to like a man nor his counsels, nor even the daily example of his life, for more than twenty years, say, but we certainly ought to relish a dish of extra good English, when, too, it costs us not a cent. If somebody cannot send the Bishop a cheque (bishops, you must understand, are not easily checked nor "checked") a quantity of good stationery would doubtless be useful.

A famous French Count has said: (the Comte de Saint-Anlaire) "Les sottises sont fait pour que les hommes d'esprit les reprenent."

And so the Bishop must even "dress his waird" and go on repairing the next "sottise."

HONOLULU.

The display of ladies' hats at L. B. Kerr's show rooms on Queen street is drawing a large crowd. The variety in shapes and fashions is unequalled in Honolulu. The prices bring the hats within the reach of all.

Saus Souci.

The most lovely spot on Oahu is Saus Souci. This favorite seaside resort, which has been immortalized by the pen of Robert L. Stevenson, who resided there for months, is only four miles from Honolulu and within easy reach of the trams. The surroundings and bathing at this famous resort are superior to anything found in the Hawaiian Islands. Cottages and board can be obtained on easy terms. The table set by the manager is better than any offered here at other hotels. For picnics, bathing parties and outings the best accommodation can be secured by giving notice to the manager.

L. B. Kerr has opened a large invoice of flowers and feathers for trimming of hats. The flowers are of the finest quality and look perfectly natural. The feathers can be obtained in many different variety.

GOVERNED BY THEIR WIVES.

A Case Where All the Justices of the Supreme Court Changed Their Minds

It was a matter of some surprise that Justice Shiras of the United States Supreme Court should have changed his mind within a few weeks upon a matter of law, but it is not many months since the whole court changed their mind on such a matter, and that in the course of a few days.

The case before the court was one arising out of a customs decision at this port, and the counsel arguing against the decision of the Custom House was a New York lawyer, then for the first time before the Supreme Court. The case turned mainly upon the question whether an article of importation should or should not be classed as a sauce. The Custom House had called it a sauce and taxed it accordingly. The Government maintained this contention, and, of course, the New York lawyer sought to show that the article should not be classed as a sauce.

When the Supreme Court came to consult upon the case their unanimous opinion was favorable to the contention of the Government, and one of the Justices was instructed to prepare a decision in favor of the Custom House. The Justice, on returning home, told his wife of the case, and indicated the ground of the decision; whereupon the lady told him in plain words that the Justice of the Supreme Court did not know what they were talking about, and had agreed upon an unjust decision. The lady was entirely clear that the article in dispute could not properly be called a sauce, and openly ridiculed the court.

The perplexed Justice, instead of preparing the decision in accordance with the instructions of his brethren, did nothing in the matter, but at the next opportunity unfolded to the other Justices his wife's view of the matter, and asked them to seek domestic counsel on the case and report. At the next consultation came round the Justices, having taken feminine counsel, all reported against their original view that the article involved in the case should be classed as a sauce, and accordingly the Justice originally charged with the task of preparing a decision in favor of the Government was now instructed to prepare one in favor of the New York lawyer's client. It thus happened that the lawyer won his first case before the Supreme Court because the wives of the Justices knew more than the court itself.—N. Y. Sun.

No insinuations relating to Hawaiian matters are made here.
