Christmas in Honolulu.

Here, as elsewhere throughout the civilized world, this anniversary is kept as a religious and festive day, to which the young look forward with eager anticipation, and almost the only day in the calendar worth remembering; while the older portion of the community strive in a thousand ways to make it as pleasant as possible to every member of the household.

Canadian Reciprocity.

The Canadians have pleaded loudly and long for a reciprocity treaty with the United States. We suppose that most Americans have been willing that such a treaty should be contracted, but in such a manner that it should not be like the bargain of the white man and the Indian, in which the white man was to have the turkey, and the Indian the turkey buzzard.

Volcano Hours, Kilauea.

It was ten o'clock when we mounted our fresh and well-shod horses, and left Hilo, bound to the volcano. The details of the ride are an old story, and we skip over them, with the remark that every traveler bound to Kilauea should be well provided against the cold rain which is invariably met on the road.

Editorial Correspondence—No. 3.

December, 1874. It was ten o'clock when we mounted our fresh and well-shod horses, and left Hilo, bound to the volcano. The details of the ride are an old story, and we skip over them, with the remark that every traveler bound to Kilauea should be well provided against the cold rain which is invariably met on the road.

PRESIDENT GRANT'S MESSAGE.
Important Legislation Recommended.

WASHINGTON, December 7th.—To the Senate and the House of Representatives: Since the convening of Congress one year ago, the nation has undergone a prostration in its business and industries, such as has not been witnessed with us for many years. Speculation as to the cause for this prostration might be indulged in without profit, because as many theories would be advanced as there would be independent writers; therefore I will call your attention only to the fact, and to some questions as to which it would seem there should be no disagreement. During this prostration two essential elements of property have been most abundant—labor and capital. Both have been largely unemployed. Where security has been undoubted, capital has been obtainable at very moderate rates. Where labor has been wanted it has been found in abundance at cheap rates compared with what the necessities and comforts of life could be purchased with the wages demanded. Two great elements of property, therefore, have not been desired; a third might be added: Our soil and climate are unequalled within the limits of any contiguous territory, under one nationality, for its varieties of products, to feed and clothe a people—in the amount of surplus to spare to feed less favored people. Therefore, with these facts in view, it seems to me that wise statesmanship at this session of Congress would dictate ignoring the past and distributing in proper channels, these great elements of prosperity to all people. The debt abroad is the only element that can, with always a sound currency, enter into our affairs to cause any continued depression in the industries or prosperity. A great conflict for national existence made necessary for temporary purposes the raising of a large sum of money from whatever source attainable. It was wise, necessary, in the wisdom of Congress—and I do not doubt their wisdom in the premises regarding the necessity of the times—to devise a system of national currency, which it proved to be impossible to keep on a par with the recognized currency of the civilized world. This begot a spirit of speculation involving an extravagance and luxury not required for the happiness or prosperity of a people, and involving both directly and indirectly foreign indebtedness. The currency being of a fluctuating value, proved to be unsafe to hold for legitimate transactions requiring money and became a subject of speculation in itself. Those two causes, however, have involved us in a foreign indebtedness contracted in good faith by the borrower and lender, which should be paid in coin, and according to the bond agreed upon when the debt was contracted—gold or its equivalent. The good faith of the Government cannot be violated toward creditors without national disgrace. Our commerce should be encouraged, American ship-building and carrying capacity increased, foreign markets made to seek for the products of the soil and manufacture, to the end that we may be able to pay these debts where a market can be created for the sale of other products, either of the soil, the mine, or the manufactory—a new means is discovered of utilizing our idle capital and labor to the advantage of the whole people.

THE JAPANESE INDENTURE SHOULD BE APPLIED
 I submit the propriety of applying the increase of a part, if not the whole of this fund, to the education in the Japanese language of a number of young men to be under obligations to serve the Government for a specified time as interpreters at the legations and consulates in Japan. A limited number of Japanese youths might at the same time be educated in our vernacular, and mutual benefit would result to both governments. The importance of having our own citizens competent and familiar with the language of Japan to act as interpreters and in other capacities connected with the legation and consulates in that country cannot readily be overestimated.

THE WAR IN CUBA
 The deplorable strife in Cuba continues without any marked change in the relative advantage of the contending forces. The insurrection continues, but Spain has gained no superiority. Six years of strife give the insurrection a significance which cannot be ignored. Its duration and the tenacity of its adherents, together with the absence of manifest power in its suppression on the part of Spain, are not controverted, and make some position stand on the part of other powers a matter of self-necessity.

TREATIES RATIFIED.
 Since my last annual message the exchange has been made of the ratification of treaties of extradition with Belgium, Ecuador, Peru and San Salvador—all of which have been duly proclaimed, as has also a declaration with Russia with reference to trade marks.

THE ARMY.
 The report of the Secretary of War herewith attached, and forming a part of the message, gives all the information concerning the operations, wants and necessities of the army, and contains many suggestions which I commend to your special attention. There is no class of Government employes who are harder workers than the army officers, and none who perform their tasks more cheerfully and efficiently, and under circumstances of greater privations and hardships. Legislation is desirable to render more efficient this branch of the public service.

THE NAVY.
 The efficiency of the navy has been largely increased during the past year under the impulse of the foreign competition which have threatened us at the commencement of the last session of Congress. Most of our efficient wooden ships were put in a condition for immediate service, and the repairs of the iron-clads were pushed with the utmost vigor. The result is that most of these are effective and ready only to be maintained and set in commission to go at once into service. Some of the new sloops authorized by Congress are already in commission, and most of the remainder are already launched and will only be a few days from the time when they will be ready to take their places as part of the effective force in addition for service, and with the advance in the science of torpedo warfare, the American Navy, comparatively small as it is, will be found at any time powerful enough for the purposes of a peace-keeping force.

Much has been accomplished during the year in the aid of science and to increase the sum of general knowledge and further the interests of commerce and civilization. Extensive and much needed soundings have been made for hydrographic purposes, and to fix the proper routes of ocean telegraphs. Further surveys of the great Isthmus Canal have been undertaken and completed. Two vessels of the Navy, now employed in conjunction with those of England, Germany and France, are making observations connected with the Transit of Venus, a useful and interesting to the scientific world. The estimates for this branch of the public service do not differ materially from those of last year, for the general support of the service being somewhat less, and the appropriations for improvements at various stations rather larger than the corresponding estimate made a year ago. The regular maintenance and the steady increase in the efficiency of the most important arm in proportion to the growth of our marine intercourse and interest, in this continent, especially the tributaries of the two great rivers of South America, the Orinoco and the Amazon. Nothing prevents, under existing laws, such exploration, except that the expenditures must be made in such expeditions beyond those usually provided for by the appropriations. The field designated is unquestionably one of interest and one capable of a large development of commercial interests, advantageous to the people reached and those who may establish relations with them.

The Radical Club of Boston is reported absolutely. The causes assigned are the too great proportion of ministers and preachers, giving too much of a "theological twist" to the discussions, and their purely speculative character. The talk was brilliant, but the frosting was better than the cake.

The lathers of San Francisco have formed a combination to double the price of lathing the Palace Hotel, which has resulted in the proprietors employing a large number of boys, who, under a competent foreman, are doing this work.

THE SEA MOOSE.—The sea moose is one of the prettiest creatures that live under the water. It sparkles like a diamond and is radiant with all the colors of the rainbow, although it lives in the bottom of the ocean. It should not have been called a moose, for it is larger than a big rat. It is covered with scales that move up and down as it breathes, and glitters like gold shining through a frothy down, from which fine silky bristles wave that constantly change from one brilliant tint to another, so that, as Covier, the great naturalist says, the plumage of the hummingbird is in no more beautiful. Sea mice are sometimes thrown up on the beach by storms.

A MORTIFIED BRIDE.—A Brooklyn bride's hair fell down and fell off during the ceremony in church the other evening. There was an instant's pause, but nobody was brave enough to stoop down and pick up the mass of blonde stuff and hair pins. The bride left the church heaving heavily on her husband's arm. Her face was very red, and she had a look (possibly eleven hairs in all) stuck out at the back of her head, tied with a bit of shoe-string. And now her pa is man enough to refuse to pay the poor hair-dresser's bill.
