THE LUMBER TRUST CASE ARGUED AGAIN

After gathering midweek for many years in the archives of the federal court, the so-called Lumber Trust case was brought forth this morning and stood up before Judge Dole. The contemplated early departure of the judge from the Territory made occasion for something being done about the matter.

Argument on behalf of the government was presented by William T. Rawlins, Assistant District Attorney, Judge W. L. Stanley and Hon. W. R. Castle appeared for the defendants.

Mr. Rawlins submitted that when the late District Attorney Baird brought the suit, about ten years ago, and for some time prior thereto, the defendant lumber corporations of Allen & Robinson, Lewers & Cooke and Wilder & Co. were engaged in an unlawful combination in restraint of trade. Upon being warned by the United States attorney, Wilder & Co. cancelled the subsisting agreement between itself and the other firms, issuing an independent price list of its own.

Allen & Robinson and Lewers & Cooke then issued a new list, but the prices thereon corresponded almost exactly with the Wilder list. There was evidence to show that when Mr. Cathcart, the Wilder manager, would propose a raise in price on a certain article Mr. Lowrey of Lewers & Cooke and Mr. Muhlenhoff of Allen & Robinson would agree, and forthwith it would go the price. It was the same way when the initiative would come from Mr. Lowrey or Mr. Muhlenhoff. There was one exception shown in the testimony which was to the credit of Mr. Lowrey, when that gentleman said Lewers & Cooke had a considerable stock of the article in hand, imported before the advance in price advised by cable, and he considered it would be unjustifiable to raise the price in such case.

Judge Stanley interrupted with a remark that the defendants would welcome interruptions when it came their turn, when made for the purpose of clearing up the facts as conveyed in the testimony. His purpose now was to ask if the government counsel was not arguing on a state of things that existed prior to the bringing of the suit by Mr. Baird.

Mr. Rawlins answered that while there was an apparent end to the combination following the correspondence of District Attorney Baird, the defendant firms continued to act together for preventing competition right up to 1905 or 1906. He went to the extent of characterizing their conduct as a subterfuge. Instances to show a continuance of unlawful combination, as derived from the testimony, were related.

While the three firms might have engaged in some competition for large contracts, they almost invariably quoted identical prices for small contracts.

There was testimony of division of business in supplying lumber to the board of health. The three firms would bid on different articles, avoiding competition on any particular article.

The American-Hawaiian Steamship Company was brought in as having aided the unlawful combination. It was charging $11 and $12 a thousand feet to other lumber firms, while an arrangement was made whereby the defendant firms had their lumber carried for $7 a thousand.

In answer to opposite counsel Mr. Rawlins said that this freight arrangement went to prove the existence of the combination. H. Hackfeld & Co. were agents for both the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company and the Pope-Talbot Lumber Company of Puget Sound. It had been shown that Mr. Morse, manager for the agents made the proposal of a $7 rate exclusively to the defendants. It was on condition that not less than 150,000 feet of lumber should be given the A-H-S. Co. to carry each month. As the arrangement worked out these firms combined their orders so as to bring the quantity up to that condition. There was no chance given for the Oahu Lumber Co., C. B. Reynolds, Peter High or any small importer to take advantage of this arrangement. They all had to pay $11 or $12 freight against the $7 paid by the combine.

Judge Dole requested the views of counsel on the question of whether it was necessary to show an absence of rivalry to the bitter end as proof that there was not an unlawful combination. In other words, was a friendly understanding to secure mutual benefits, such as reduced freight rates, contrary to the intent of the law.

Mr. Rawlins replied that he would not regard arrangement of comity between firms in a particular line of business, such as keeping each other posted on matters of their common welfare, but the testimony in this case showed a combination between the defendants which excluded other firms in the same business from certain advantages and tended to destroy freedom of competition in this particular trade.

APPROVE HILO ELECTRIC ROAD

The Hilo electric railway franchise, Senate bill 39, passed the upper house this morning on third reading, without a dissenting vote. The bill was read throughout without any further amendments, the committee having amended by including the provision that the promoters of the railway put up five thousand dollars bond to go ahead with the work.

House bill 32, the proposed new registration law, giving better opportunities for registrations generally, went through the Senate on final hearing, unanimously.

Committee report on Senate bill 55 is favorable to the proposition of giving to irrigation companies those rights of eminent domain and rights of way enjoyed by railroads though the form of the bill is changed without injuring the spirit of its intent.

Senate bill 81 came from committee practically rewritten, because it needed it but not lost as to motive. This has to do with gambling, and authorizes the seizure of property involved in gambling, and the use thereof as evidence in court. Committee reported that the city and county attorney's department had been consulted in the revision.

Committee report on Senate bill 54, recommended turning public parks over to the counties and the report was adopted.

House bill 116 created a little amusement. This looks for the protection of certain personal property essential to the making of a living, allowing, for example, laborers and doctors to be exempt from seizure of their vehicles and the animals necessary to the drawing thereof. Makekani wanted an amendment to allow doctors in Hawaii county to be protected as to two horses, instead of one, including harness for two. This carried on second reading.

SENATOR BROWN CALLS A HALT

Senator Cecil Brown this forenoon registered a strenuous objection, in the Senate, to educational matters being made a first charge on the territory's exchequer to the extent, as seemed to be allowed in the bill, of the limit of educational appropriations not being defined.

"I am not against education receiving all the money the government can afford to give for that cause," said the Senator, "but I do object to the board of education being, as it were, the preferred creditor of the Territory to the possible exclusion of other important matters."

"Education should take its proportion. It appears that this bill provides, practically, for the taking of unlimited amounts from the treasury. If such is the case, why the legislature might as well shut up and let the board of education take its place. The treasury might as well be moved alongside the education offices."

This followed the report of the education committee on Senator Chillingworth's bill, Senate bill 18, to provide for the maintenance of the public schools, the report which had been delayed owing to the absence of a member of the committee.

Senator Fairchild of the ways and means committee, took up the cause

POI ACT DISCUSSED, AND PAUOA SPRINGS PLAN REVIVED

"If bread had been stopped as the poi was stopped, there would have been riots in this town."

This remark by Sheldon in declaratory key is a fair specimen of the oratory that surged around the poi bill in the House this morning.

Tavares thought the requirement of cement floors in poi factories amounted to an edict devoting the poor to starvation.

Amendments came flying across the floor to the clerk's desk, only to be permanently laid thereon when they were voted on.

There was clamor for committee of the whole, for a public hearing, for postponement to a future day, but ultimately further consideration of the bill on third reading was deferred till this afternoon.

DEFENDANT OBJECTS TO NOLLE PROS

There was quite a little argument in the police court this morning as to the right of a defendant to object to a nolle prosequi being entered by the prosecuting attorneys. Nathan Charlis was charged with having sold opium without a license, to which he pleaded not guilty. Then Deputy City and County Attorney A. M. Brown asked that a nolle prosequi be entered and to his application Attorney Douthitt added a request that the defendant's objection to the nolle prosequi be also put on record.

But Brown objected, contending that no such objection could be raised, arguing that it had been held by the court times out of number that right up to the swearing of a witness the prosecution had a right to ask for a nolle prosequi.

Judge Wm. B. Lymer thought there was no question as to that, but he desired to know the reason for a nolle prosequi.

Brown then stated that he made the application for the reason that the prosecution did not wish to expose its hand. The matter was not dropped for good and all.

Douthitt contended that the defendant also had the right to make an objection. He was brought to court on a criminal charge and was entitled to an acquittal or a conviction. While Douthitt had no doubt that the prosecuting officers had a right to ask for a nolle prosequi at certain stages in the case, he argued that after issue had been joined by the defendant pleading not guilty a certain situation in law arose and defendant had the right to note an objection. His reasons for asking that the objection be

UNIFORMS IN THE THEATERS

The local naval authorities have just received a copy of a resolution passed by Congress in which proprietors of theaters and public places of amusement are ordered to treat all boys wearing Uncle Sam's uniforms with respect. It is entitled "an act to protect the dignity of the uniform of the United States," and reads: "Hereafter any proprietor, manager or employee of a theater or other public place of entertainment or amusement within the United States, who shall make, or cause to be made any discrimination against any person lawfully wearing the uniform of the army, navy, revenue cutter, service or marine corps of the United States, because of that uniform, and any person making or causing to be made such discrimination, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine not exceeding $500."

MAY BE MURDER

As the result of a row which took place last night in Auld's Lane a woman named Annie Hall was so severely injured that she died at ten minutes to three this afternoon. George Myhre was arrested in connection with the assault on the woman and he is being held by the police until the matter is investigated.

CALIFORNIA OIL DECISION

LOS ANGELES, March 13.—Judge Ross, sitting in the United States Circuit Court today, sustained a demurrer of the defendant, and threw out of court the suit brought by George E. Roberts and others to dispossess the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of thousands of acres of valuable oil lands located in the Midway and Marricopa fields, in Kern county.

The lands are valued at many millions of dollars. Other similar suits are pending in the same court as well as suits by the United States Government for the same purposes. The court intimated in its decision that the Government and not individuals could prosper by bringing such suits. The grounds for the dispossession suit was alleged false entry.

Reason for Decision.

Judge Ross, in his opinion, says: "Undoubtedly, if the lands in the suit were known to be mineral lands at the time they were applied for by the railroad company under the congressional grant, and if the patenting of them was, as alleged by the complainant, procured by means of false affidavit of its land agent or through any fraud on its part, the Government or anyone in privity with the Government could justly complain and, by suit, brought within the time fixed by Congress for that purpose, procure a cancellation of such patents. "But this is not such a suit. Neither the Government nor any one in privity with the Government title is here complaining."

WATER AND SEWER COMMISSION BILL.

A bill to create a board of water and sewer commissioners for Honolulu, somewhat as suggested by City and County Treasurer Shingle the other day, was introduced in the House by Representative Correa yesterday afternoon. The Governor is to appoint five commissioners—two members of the board of supervisors, and the remaining three a physician, a business man and a civil engineer.

APPROVE KILAUEA PARK.

Seattle Post-Intelligencer: In Hawaii there is a movement on foot to induce the federal government to have the district which includes the volcanoes of Kilauea and Mokuawewe set apart for a national park. The suggestion certainly should be followed. If it is done, this government will possess a national park the like of which cannot be found anywhere else in the world.

Representative Nye of Minnesota has much of the wit of his lamented brother, Bill Nye, says the Washington Star. Himself a lawyer, Representative Nye said at a lawyer's banquet in Minneapolis: "Lawyers have grand reputations for energy and perseverance. A lad said to his father one day: 'Father, do lawyers tell the truth?' 'Yes, my boy,' the father answered, 'Lawyers will do anything to win a case.'"—Kansas City Star.

Over the Teacups

By Lady Gay

To a man who has gone the rounds of society, till the novelty of its thrills has subsided into a routine of respectable monotony, till the temporary exhilaration of unexpected pleasures producing in him the inspira- tion of brilliant wit and repartee has become more dreaded than antici- pated, till each new advent into his particular set only represents one more obligation perfunctorily demanded, a rollicking, happy, carefree, frank, defiant girl is a fascinating and alluring novelty.

The social coward, who inwardly quakes at any unusual situation, who fears her neighbors even more than she loves herself, which being inter- preted means that she fears them very greatly indeed, who willingly seeks unworthy refuge in deliberate and unnecessary rudeness to escape obvious explanation, is a well known, and unhappily familiar type.

The woman, who is so secure in her financial and social status that she has nothing in society to fear, and of whom no apologies are required for any whim in her conventionally regulated career, is rare indeed, and is hailed by all classes and ages, including those who would emulate if such were possible.

There is a young lady visiting Honolulu just now, who is blessed with a delightfully easy conscience and abandon.

The boys all love her for her gracious natural charm and her genuine, unaffected sense of humor, two very formidable assets to her who seeks admiration and popularity in a realm where too few natures undisguised are known.

She was en route to a moving picture show with a young fellow of her acquaintance last week, when she uttered a little cry of real delight at a huge bunch of American Beauty roses on display on a handcart outside of a small florist shop on Fort street.

The young man veered his wheel, suddenly bringing his chugging motor car to a stop beside the cart.

"Give this young lady a couple of bunches of those roses," he told the Jap in charge.

The girl realized her spontaneity had proved a trifle more serious than she had expected it would be, and brave, and sensible, she began to make amends.

"Wait a moment!" she cried leaning out.

"How much you charge us for a bunch?" she inquired.

The Jap eyed the flowers with an eye to mercenary advantage possi- ble from this class of customer.

"Six dollars one dozen," he replied, fawning, in mock politeness, "I give you two dozen for ten dollar."

The girl snuggled back under the big comfy rug.

"Drive on honey," she admonished her escort. "I'd much rather have a big fat bag of peanuts!"

Mrs. E. K. Rice of Cleveland, Ohio, who has been the house guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. M. Whitney on Punahou street for the past year, will leave in the next Wilhelmina for her home in the States, after a very en- joyable visit in the islands.

Mrs. Rice, a charming woman, has made many friends in Honolulu, who will all greatly regret her departure.

Very attractive is the itinerary of Miss Grace Robertson, who left with her sister Mrs. George W. Wallace, on Tuesday for an extended trip to the other islands.

Miss Robertson will spend some time as the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace, at Honokaa after which she will tour Hawaii by motor and horseback.

A visit will be made at Kona, as the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. John McGuire, thence to Kapapala and the volcano.

A month or six weeks will be spent on tour.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marlin Hepburn entertained informally a jolly little week-end house party at the McCandless bungalow near the Pall. A very happy time was enjoyed by this congenial group of young people.

The bungalow is one of the beauty spots on the pali road, snuggling at the base of soaring mountains and compassed by velvet lawns and a riot of geranium beds.

Those in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Sheedy, Lieutenant and Mrs. Roy Smith of the navy, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marlin Hepburn.

Mrs. J. M. Whitney entertained on Tuesday at her home at the Peninsula, a complimentary to Mrs. E. K. Rice.

The party went down by train in the morning, spending the day at this beautiful spot where a delicious buffet luncheon was served under the tre s.

Later sea bathing was a feature of the afternoon, the party returning to town in the five o'clock train.

Those present were Mrs. E. K. Rice, Mrs. Roderick O. Matheson, Mrs. Hud- son, Miss Florence Yarrow, and Miss Carrie Gilman.

The ladies of the original Service Bridge Club were entertained yester- day afternoon at the quarters of Mrs. Smith of Fort Shafter.

The bungalow itself is very pic- turesque, and Mrs. Smith proved a charming and artistic hostess.

In the living room and library where the two tables of bridge were played an arrangement of brown and gold nasturtiums and foliage in Japanese brown baskets proved unusually attractive.

Several small tables surmounted by these were in evidence, a larger derneath, creating very charming souvenirs.

Those present at this delightful gathering were Mrs. A. N. Sinclair, Mrs. J. J. Green, Mrs. E. C. Williams, Mrs. C. O. Hottle, Mrs. Canning, Mrs. L. A. Wilkins, Mrs. J. F. Chalmers, Miss J. Kelley, Miss J. Gault, Miss H. Smith, Miss Roby Case, Miss R. Soares, Miss M. Armstrong, Miss Ger- trude McCarrison, Miss Mabel Light- foot, Miss Anne C. Hadley, Miss P. M. Dyke, and Miss Edith Nichols.

Kohala Midget: On Friday evening Dr. and Mrs. Bond entertained at dinner for Mr. and Mrs. John Hind, who leave for Europe next Friday. The other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Levi Lyman, of Hilo, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Hind, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Renton and Mr. Henry Hind. Green was the color used in the table decorations, in honor of St. Patrick's Day.

Examiner: Mrs. Henry St. Goar and her daughter, Miss Erna, will be mis- sed from the summer gaudies, as they are preparing to join the Baron and Baroness Von Turcke at Honolulu. Much to the regret of new-found friends the distinguished travelers from Germany are to sail on the Chiyu Maru tomorrow for the islands on their tour of the world.

Chronicle: Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Roberta Augusta Roberts of San Jose and Stanley Richardson of Honolulu, which took place last week. The bride is a graduate of Stanford University, and a member of the Alpha Phi. Richard- son was graduated from the Univer- sity of California and later from Yale. He was a member of the University of California football team and a fratern- ity man.

Miss Mabel Lightfoot entertained on Tuesday evening at her home on King street, in honor of Doctor and Mrs. A. N. Sinclair.

"Progressive Peanuts" formed the feature of the evening.

Golden coreopsis in great quantities filled the rooms, many palms and bowls of maidenhair being inter- spersed.

Twenty-four guests were bidden to this delightful evening.

Six tables, as for cards, were ar- ranged, four guests being seated at each table. A bowl of peanuts placed in the center proved the incentive for great endeavor and amusement, each guest in turn stabbing with a hatpin at the peanuts.

At the bell, the "catches" were counted, she who having the greatest number of peanuts at the conclusion of the evening, winning a prize.

The lady's prize, a beautiful Chinese fan was captured by Miss Harandin, while Mr. J. F. Chalmers won a book of toasts as the gentleman's prize.

The consolation prize, a box of "Peanut Creams" tied with white satin ribbon was awarded to Mr. Hobert.

At the conclusion of the game dancing was indulged in till a late hour, when light refreshments were served.

The guests were Doctor and Mrs. A. N. Sinclair, Mr. and Mrs. C. Birds- eye, Mr. and Mrs. Hobert, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Chalmers, Mrs. F. W. Car- ter, Miss Parsons, Miss M. Armstrong, Miss Eileen McCarthy, Miss Harandin, Miss Carrie James, Miss Edith Light- foot, Mr. Taylor, Mr. Fowler, Mr. Mc- George, Mr. Longley, Mr. Neill, Mr. James, Mr. Clarence James, and Mr. Bert Lightfoot.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Fargo, North Dakota, entertained Captain and Mrs. Frederick Ramsay and Lieutenant Kil- gore last evening at dinner at the Mo- ana Hotel.

The table was adorned by a center- piece of white marguerites and golden illusion, tiny golden electric globes completing a very artistic ensemble. After dinner the hosts and their guests attended the dance given by the management of the hotel.

WHAT WE MIGHT ENJOY.

If the management of the water, sewer and garbage systems of Honolulu was a private affair, a board of, say, five unpaid directors would supervise it and a good business man would work out the details as superintendent, at an operating cost to the company of less than 33 1/3 per cent of the expense now charged against the revenue.

Certainly a larger saving would be made in the road department of the city and county, if that, also were a private matter. It is by roads, culverts and bridges that the taxpayers suffer most from extravagance; and those who have looked into the question are of the opinion that the annual waste in carrying this department on is at least sixty per cent.

Now neither the waterworks, sewers nor roads nor any other constructive system of government, county or territorial, can be turned over to private control; but it would be practicable, under a simplified form of government, instead of the amplified one we are all the time getting, to apply those principles of business to public administration which accent the virtues of such control.

The whole trouble is that we have too much government and always had; at least, too much paraphernalia of government. Mark Twain was right, forty years ago, when he said that Hawaii had the machinery of the Great Eastern, packed into a sardine box. This defect was emphasized when we got county governments added to territorial. We did not need those governments any more than a big railroad system needs to give every section of its line the oversight of a local board of directors. They were organized for spoils and they have added $590,000 a year to public expenses without giving more administrative efficiency. And the municipal feature has enhanced the mischief. We are literally governed to death, and, with honorable exceptions, are badly and expensively governed; and the business man who said a year or two ago that a million dollars could be saved by the application of business principles to our public affairs probably understated the financial gain.

What would the business method be? We can tell some things about it. No man would be hired for his politics and the tenure of every employee would depend on his own industry and efficiency, and not upon his pull. Two men would never be employed to do one man's work. Citizenship would have no control over either the wage-rate or the personnel of day labor. In road-making the mistakes of one administration would not be repeated by the next; there would be no return to the worst material for highways after the best had once been found; no employment of tyros and loafers. The contract system of road-making would be preferred. And every dollar of health outlay would be saved by turning the sanitation of this port and the care—and cure—of the lepers over to the United States. The rentals of public lands would be made to bear the whole expense of the schools; and the resources of the war department would be sought to defray the cost of such enterprises as belt roads, and central highways, which would be needed for military purposes in war time.

If the power that governs the District of Columbia so well ever takes hold of the City and County of Honolulu and of Hawaii, it will give us a government, half the expenses of which Congress will bear, from which no responsible resident here would ever consent to turn. Such residents of Washington want no change in the system by which they benefit; only their feed-trough politicians ask for it. Here, once well-governed, practically untaxed, the port kept in sanitary shape, all details of public administration looked after by experts, Honolulu, as a commercial port, a tourist resort and a city of pleasant homes, would thrive as it never thrived before.

THE CONDITION OF DIAZ.

President Diaz must have grown senile indeed to let his Minister of Finance talk so freely about the need of reform which he has so long resisted to such personal and political gain. In Europe Senator Limantour spoke out with precision on this matter and for better government, and now, on his return to the City of Mexico, he talks like the master of the situation, declaring that the first reform must be in the election laws by means of which Diaz has kept his old supremacy, and without which he could not have forced himself upon the nation for a fourth term. And Ramon Corral, the right-hand man whom the president long ago picked out as his successor, sits by with nothing to say.

Age is surely telling on the Mexican war lord. Else there would be no tolerance of Limantour's compromising talk; and from one end to the other of Mexico would resound the federal notes of preparation. But not a brigade is in the field as such. Only small columns, generally without artillery, are moving to attack. Those famous horsemen have made no charges. Besieged garrisons find relief unduly slow. Suppressive measures drag. This is not like Diaz as the world has known him, Diaz the soldier and imperator. Is the fierce chieftain now but a doddering old man who takes slipped ease in the castle of Chapultepec, indifferent to the thunderous knocking at the gate?

If so, the revolution will win; for the Diaz government without Diaz must be as impotent as the Bonaparte empire was when Napoleon kissed the colors farewell and turned his face on Elba.

THE SUICIDES.

Most of the suicides occur among middle-class people who, when in great trouble, are too proud to beg for help. The very poor, the indigent, more rarely kill themselves, for they know where to turn. They have trodden the path to charity and are not ashamed. For them are organized benefices, well endowed; watchful and helpful friends; the more hungry and ragged they are the more their need proves itself to the compassionate looker-on. But it is different with the man who has had some standing and some chance and is still comfortably dressed and housed. When such a man finds himself in a blind alley of fate, he cannot bring himself to shout for help; his pride makes him keep his condition to himself; and finally he reaches for the bare bodkin, for there is no other means of relief that does not humiliate him.

Everyone who has had anything to do with eleemosynary work knows that it is the stricken man who has done well and deserved much, and who keeps up appearances when trouble comes, that most needs help and whose desperate plight is hardest to discover and relieve. He hides by instinct; if anyone comes near he either makes no sign or he misleads his questioner and all the time the grip of circumstance tightens about his heart; all the while the hour is growing nearer when he will seek refuge in the silences.

A poor fellow killed himself yesterday, a good mechanic. "What private griefs he had, we know not, that made him do it," but whatever they were there was hope for the man if he had only let his plight be known. But like the victims in the Hall of Eblis, who went about each with a deep sore on his breast, but covering it with his hand, he made no confession, gave no confidences. Money and food and work were at his disposal, for Honolulu lets no man suffer without relief if she knows where to find him, but he kept his sorrows to himself until they weighed him down and caused him to seek quick refuge in that undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveller returns.

THE LIMIT sneezes; another thinks a dose of squills would cure all such diseases. One tells me I should go to bed, and drink some warm molasses. Another says: "Go, soak your head—that will dispel the gases." And every man who's sick endures this brand of mortal anguish; beneath a thousand kinds of cures he has to weep and languish. But patience still abides with him until he meets the duffer, who cries, with loud and brutal vim: "You only think you suffer! Get up, get up, and cease your groans, abandon this confusion! You have no aching head or bones—it's all a cheap delusion! Why have the doctor make a trip, and bring his train of nurses? There are no things like cold or grip, or sneezes, coughs or cures. Don't sit around and weep and sigh, and say things wild and woolly; swear you are well, though it's a lie, and you'll be feeling bully!" Such language jars me to the quick, when I am weak and ailing; what fun is there in being sick, if one must quit his wailing?

And now the President has apologized to the Mikado for another newspaper yarn. It's getting a bit tiresome. Plenty of anti-American canards are started by the yellow press of Japan, but the Emperor is yet to send a hurry call to Ambassador O'Brien to assure him he had nothing to do with them.

California's working women will probably value an eight-hour day more than they will the suffrage.

You have to put your ear to the ground now to hear any sound of public enthusiasm over Roosevelt's latest tour.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

DR. C. RAMUS—I hope that all the another department with more sal- quarantine restrictions will be lifted. There is nothing difficult about by the 31st. Of course, it is up to running the waterworks that need Washington, and we hope for the best, both an ordinary business man, and the present management is all right.

E. A. DOUTHITT—I have rarely heard a more unanimous indorsement of any local project than that which followed the proposal to turn public sanitation here over to the United States.

C. A. COTTRILL—For a few weeks I won't be able to get around to see much of this island. But when the opportunity arrives I hope to take in all Oahu's many attractions.

T. J. RYAN—If the sugar interests or their fool friends persist in "monkeying" with the present public land law, they are likely to get some more Democratic amendments which they don't seem to like very well.

CHARLES M. GRAHAM—Sure, there are plenty of Rugby players among the service men and good ones at that. Men who have played the game in England before joining the American army.

R. W. BRECKONS—I was examining a man in my office the other day, and in reply to a question he said, "Now, Mr. Breckons, I'm not going to answer that question. You know I need not discriminate myself." All right, I said, no discrimination goes.

JUDGE W. M. B. LYMER—Heretofore I considered anti-vivisectionists more or less sentimentalists, but last night I changed my mind. I had the adhesive tape round my sprained ankle pulled off, and can now fully appreciate the cruelty and pain of vivisection.

J. W. HARVEY—I think Rugby football is better than the inter-collegiate game, though I haven't seen a game of Rugby for eighteen years. When in England many years ago I saw the barefooted Maoris play All England; it was a stirring game. Hope to see Rugby played here.

E. A. BERNDT—I am going to protest against the proposal to have a water works commission. We have altogether too much government now, and I don't see any sense in creating

THE WALL AND E. O. HALL CUPS

Two games were played in the Wall Cup Tennis tournament yesterday afternoon on the Beretania Club's courts. In the first game C. G. Bockus (acc.) was beaten by P. R. Bartlett (rec. fifteen), 6-3, 6-2, and in the second game Al. Castle (owe fifteen) beat K. B. Barnes (rec. fifteen) 6-1, 6-2. Bartlett played a very nice game, while Castle, who is playing better than ever, put over some magnificent shots. A. M. Nowell, who has not played a singles game for six months, defaulted to R. Cooke, which leaves three men still in the tournament. This afternoon Dick Cooke will meet Bartlett, and the winner of this game will play Al. Castle for the right to challenge Atherton Richards.

IRWIN TELLS OF PAAUHAU

S. F. News Bureau: At the annual meeting of stockholders of Paauha company, held March 4, President William G. Irwin, in reply to an inquiry made by several stockholders as to when the payment of dividends would be resumed, advised that this would depend upon the price of raw sugar, which at the present time is quite low, but he believed that with the largely increased tonnage of sugar coming off in 1912, when the payment of dividends is resumed they would be much larger than had been paid in recent years.

As to the tonnage of sugar expected from the plantation under the new irrigation system, he stated that the manager of the plantation had made a preliminary estimate of approximately 11,000 tons for the 1912 crop, or from 30 to 40 per cent more than the plantation had produced heretofore. In response to an inquiry concerning the contract for water, the president said that a contract had been signed with the Hawaiian Irrigation Co. for the delivery of 20,000,000 gallons of water daily from the lower ditch, and that there is some 2350 acres of cane land which will eventually come under irrigation. About one-half of this is already under irrigation for the 1912 crop. He remarked that instead of 3 to 3 1/2 tons of sugar per acre it is estimated that under irrigation the production will range from 6 1/2 to 7 1/2 tons per acre.

The board of directors were re-elected as follows: William G. Irwin president; Albert Meyer, vice-president; Daniel Meyer, treasurer, and H. W. Thomas, secretary.

TAKE THE TWO DAY TRIP.

Much is to be seen during two days absence from Honolulu. And the expense is trifling. The Oahu Railway and Land Company runs parties to Haleiwa, stopping the afternoon and night at fascinating Haleiwa, and the next morning takes them in carriages through the great pineapple plantations and within sight of Schofield Barracks at Wahiawa, where the train is taken for Honolulu, arriving in the city at half past five the second afternoon. Thousands have made the trip and testify to the comfort and delight it affords. The Hotel at Haleiwa is one of the finest on the island.

THE NEW YORK MONEY MARKET

Dun's Review, March 4: So plentiful has the supply of money become that a new minimum for call loans was established this week even in the face of preparations for the disbursement of large sums in connection with the March interest and dividend settlements. That a 1 per cent. rate should be named at the time these arrangements were in progress clearly indicates the extensive accumulation of idle funds, and there is nothing in the general situation that appears to suggest the possibility of any immediate change of present conditions. On the contrary, it is freely contended that a protracted period of cheap money is in sight, although some of the prominent lenders still adhere to the belief that it will not be long before accommodation will bring more remunerative returns, at least for time facilities. Just now, however, everything favors the borrower, as offerings are abundant at 3 1/2 per cent. for six months' facilities, and even at these attractive charges the absorption remains indifferent. The marked improvement that has occurred in the local banking position was emphasized by last Saturday's report of the associated institutions showing the strongest surplus held at this date since 1897, while the same healthy expansion of deposits over loans was again revealed—the difference under the actual figuring now being nearly $45,000,000. Favorable monetary conditions also prevail abroad, and in response to further receipts of new gold by the Bank of England, private discounts at London fell to about 2 1/2 per cent., of a full 1 per cent. below the rate maintained by that institution. This declining tendency was reflected by an accompanying recession in quotations for foreign exchange, although trading in this department of finance was generally dull and without special feature.

FAVORABLE NEWS FROM OIL FIELD MAINLY OWNED HERE

Jon L. Clark, president of the Norris-Midway Oil Co. whose shares are mainly held in Honolulu, has received very encouraging letters from the oil fields, with respect both to his own company and to the Humamau Oil Co. in which Jas. A. Kennedy and other local men are heavily interested. As Humamau stockholders have been growing somewhat impatient over lack of specific information lately, the following excerpts from a letter written by Frank M. Payne, the man who got up the Humamau enterprise, will be gratefully received. Mr. Payne has frequently visited the company's territory and he says: "We are underreaming our 12 1/2 inch hole so as to get in our pipe. It has been hard drilling with us and it takes time with a big hole in hard ground to make very fast progress, besides which the weather has been against us in our boring, as it has snowed and rained the greater part of this year. "It still looks good to me and I am not offering any of my stock for sale. We are now over 1300 feet and can go 5000 feet, if we have to, in order to get the high gravity oil that has been found here in the sands by test wells. "The oil game is looking better. There is a great deal of activity in the field. The consumption is now greater than the production and they are drawing on their reserves. Prices are 45 cents and up at the wells." B. W. Wathington, secretary and manager of the Norris-Midway company, writes to Mr. Clark about that enterprise in part as follows: "We are getting along fast on the field and making fifty feet a day. We shall need a 12 1/2-inch casing now in the next ten or twelve days, say 1000 feet. "The oil business is looking much better and prices of oil getting firmer. "They have struck oil out at EDK hill, so the territory will be pretty wide. We are getting our water at a better figure. It will cost us $75 to $85 a month." (Mr. Clark states that it has cost $100 heretofore.) "Our two drillers are considered among the most experienced in California, and this fact makes me feel safe when away. We are now to a point where the most necessary thing is casing. The 10-inch casing should finish the well to 1600 to 1800 feet." Mr. Clark says that all the comparative data practically assures a strike at about 1700 feet depth.

Times of the tide are taken from the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey tables. The tides at Kahului and Hilo occur about one hour earlier than at Honolulu. Honolulu standard time is 19 hours 30 minutes slower than Greenwich time, being that of the meridian of 157 degrees 30 mins. The time whistle blows at 1:30 p. m., which is the same as Greenwich 9 hours 0 minutes. The sun and moon are for local time for the whole group.

General.
The Mauna Loa leaves tomorrow at noon for Maui, Kona and Kau.
The Oceanic str. Sierra is due tomorrow morning from San Francisco.
The lighthouse tender Kukui is at Quarantine Island receiving her annual fumigation.

The Claudine is now loading for Maui and Hawaii ports. She leaves tomorrow at five o'clock.

The Canadian-Australian steamer Makura is due here on Tuesday next from Australia via Fiji.

The A-H. S. S. Mexican is due to leave at five o'clock this afternoon for Salina Cruz via Port Allen.

The barkentine Coronado is en route to Honolulu with a cargo of freight. Messrs. Brewer & Co., the agents for this vessel, expect her next week some time.

The W. G. Hall leaves tomorrow night for Kauai at five o'clock. Today is her regular sailing day, but owing to the arrival of the Sierra her departure, as usual, is postponed a day.

The Lurline leaves for San Francisco on Saturday morning next. She has a full passenger list and over 6,000 tons of sugar. She will also take 6,000 cases of canned pineapples, 1,700 bags of coffee, 1,000 bags of rice and 4,000 bunches of bananas.

Wailalee from Mahukona.
The Wailalee arrived from Mahukona this morning with 9,280 bags of sugar, ten empty gas drums, and ten mules. Purser Thornton reports very moderate weather on both the outward and inward trips.

Sierra Slows Down.
The O. S. S. Sierra which left San Francisco on Saturday last for Honolulu, wireless in to the agents, Brewer & Co., that at eight o'clock last night she was 502 miles off port, experiencing moderate north-easterly winds and a moderate sea. The weather was partially cloudy; the barometer read 30.124, with a temperature of 70.

The Sierra has slowed down, evidently, to bring into port tomorrow morning, instead of late tonight, for yesterday she only ticked off 353 miles, equal to fourteen an hour, while the previous day she did 386, fifteen an hour.

The Kiyo Maru From Orient.
The T. K. K. S. S. Kiyo Maru arrived off port this afternoon after a protracted run from Yokohama. She is en route to South America, and will not enter the harbor. She is anchored outside the harbor, and will continue her journey at an early hour. So far as is known there are no passengers or freight for this port.

Duplicate Booking.
Managers of steamship companies take the trouble caused by people booking at several companies philosophically, as they consider this the safest way to meet it. They admit that they cannot guarantee berths on departing steamers, so naturally people leave their names at all the agencies in order that they will make sure of getting away on one of the vessels about the time that they wish to depart.

Movements of A. H. Vessels.
C. P. Morse, general freight agent for the American-Hawaiian S. S. Co., has received advice that the Missouri has sailed from Seattle yesterday. She is due here on March 31. She will be followed by the Columbian to sail from Seattle on March 31. The Virginian sailed from Hilo on Monday last with a full cargo of sugar for Salina Cruz.

TELEGRAPHIC.
San Francisco—Arrived Mar. 22, S. S. Tenyo Maru, hence Mar. 16; sailed March 23. Bark. Iringard, for Mahukona.
Hilo—Sailed Mar. 19 Sch. Mindoro, for Redondo.

HOW LOCAL RECORDS COMPARE WITH POSSIBLE VISITING TEAM

In view of the possibility of a field and track team from the mainland visiting Hawaii in the near future it is interesting for purposes of comparison, to note the times and distances made in recent meets on the coast. On the 11th inst. the University of California track squad held a number of special try-out races, but the times do not compare favorably with those put up at the recent meet here. For instance, the 100 yards was run here in 16 1/5 seconds by Bill Rice; Woods, of California, took eleven seconds; the 220 yards dash was run here in 23 1/5; Stern, of California, took 25 3/5 seconds; the quarter-mile was run here in 57 seconds; Ashley, of California, cut the distance out in 55 3/5; the half-mile was run here in 2 5/5; Catkins, of California, made 2 8/5 seconds; the 220 hurdles was run here in 27 4/5 seconds; Emerson, of California, took 28 3/5 seconds.

SPORT NOTES

Boxing Items. Speaking of Tommy Burns' protegee, the Call (S. F.) says—"The youngster, for he's nothing more, is a Tom Sharkey the second in height, build and general appearance. Judged from a quick glance, Lester possesses all the requirements of a heavy-weight idol. He is not twenty years of age, yet he has something like forty knockouts to his credit. Ever since he was a school-boy the Washington giant has been dallying with the mitts, has fought many times with his bare fists, and he doesn't know what defeat signifies."

Johnny Coulon, bantamweight champion, has been matched to meet George Kitson of New York, before the Akron Athletic Club, of Akron, O., on March 22. The stipulated weight is 114 pounds at 6 o'clock and the distance fifteen rounds. Coulon beat Kitson at New Orleans about a year ago, and since that time the easterner has been clamoring for another match.

Johnny McCarthy and W. Ritchie, two clever lightweights of California, fought a four-round draw on the 10th inst. McCarthy had the better of the closing rounds, but Ritchie had scored enough points in the earlier stages of the contest to break even. McCarthy is matched to meet Antonio La Grava before the latter fights Wolgast.

Another fight between Ad Wolgast, lightweight champion, and "Knockout" Brown of New York will probably be staged in California within the next three months. In view of the excellent work of Brown against the champion in their two recent engagements in Philadelphia and New York a finish fight is looked upon as a proposition likely to attract widespread interest.

Featherweight Champion Abe Attel, Paeky McFarland and Owen Moran have all expressed a burning desire to fight Wolgast for the lightweight championship title. "One Round" Hogan is expected to fight Wolgast at the Madison athletic club, New York, on April 18, and this will probably be the champion's last battle in the east this spring.

Bob Moha of Milwaukee was given the popular verdict over Mike (Twin) Sullivan of Boston at the end of a 10 round bout at Milwaukee on the 10th inst. Moha had the better of nearly every round.

"Tony" Biddle, the millionaire pug, was a hero for a few minutes on March 9th, after he had made Charles Burkhardt of Salem, N. J., the "hope of the white race," as introduced by Jack O'Brien, quit in the second round of a six round battle, at Philadelphia. Burkhardt stands 6 feet 3 1/2 inches and has a reach of 84 inches. "Tony" managed to reach the "hope's" stomach twice and he quit. Following this bout "Tony" took on O'Brien, and reached the stomach of Jack just once. Then Jack cut loose, and before he remembered it was a friendly bout had blackened both of "Tony's" eyes and knocked two teeth down the red lane of the millionaire.

For the first time in the history of the boxing game in San Francisco a Japanese was to star in the main event at the Columbia club's show on the 14th inst. The person in question is one Yujiro Watanaba, a real lightweight from the land of the Mikado, and he will endeavor to subdue Archib Stewart, a promising youngster. The Japanese exponent of the noble sport of Queensberry was discovered longers, will all have to go to Australia for the preliminary and semifinals. Three Californians have been chosen to play with Champion Larned on the tennis quartet which will defend the honor of America against the world in the International tennis cup tournament. They are Maurice McLoughlin, Tom Handy and Melville Long. The selection of this trio is an acknowledgment by the eastern experts that California's racket wielders are superior to all the players of the east except Larned, the Irvineite.

McFarland's Victory. Over Owen Moran. "Paeky" McFarland, the Chicago lightweight, outpointed Owen Moran, claimant to the English lightweight championship, at every stage of their ten round fight before the Fairmount athletic club, New York, on March 14. It was a clean, hard fought battle throughout, in which the Chicago boy fully demonstrated his superiority in boxing over the Englishman. McFarland was always there with a clean punch, and when Moran reached for him he found the Chicago boy most elusive.

by Rufe Turner, the old time colored lightweight of Stockton. Turner has been carefully teaching the Jap all the fine points of the great game, and he pronounces Yujiro to be fit and ready to furnish a surprise.

GENERAL NOTES. Edward Lany, the indoor and outdoor national amateur skating champion at all distances, will find himself at out and out professional on the ice next winter. This is because he is also a baseball player and has signed a contract to play with the Mansfield professional team of the Ohio state league this summer.

Harvard to Cut Out Navy. A change in the schedule for the Harvard crew is under consideration here. It is proposed to drop the April race with Annapolis and row Cornell six instead of four weeks before the Yale race. The new plan has the advantage of allowing the coaches to make the Cornell contest an event in itself. The proposed arrangement will probably have an important bearing in the race at New London. Cornell ordinarily succeeds in winning at Poughkeepsie. Therefore, should Harvard manage to defeat Cornell, the Yale contest would assume a truly championship character, according to Harvard's point of view.

Two American Rhodes Scholars won an event each in the meet between the Oxford varsity team and the London Athletic club on March 11. R. L. Lange of Oklahoma won the 100 yard dash in 10 1/5 seconds and George E. Putnam of Kansas captured the hammer throw with a mark of 152 feet 9 inches.

Athletics Are Best Bet, Declares McGraw. "The only good bet on the card," said Manager McGraw of the New York Nationals on March 8, as he looked over the prices laid against the clubs of both big leagues by a Louisville future book concern, "is the 6 to 5 offer against Connie Mack's Athletics in the American league.

"Most of the other prices are false odds. They have the Giants quoted as 8 to 5 favorites in the National league, while we ought to be about 4 to 1, with the Cubs at the top of the list.

"Just because Chance's team was beaten in the world's championship last fall is no reason why they should not have first call in the betting this fall. I may have different ideas on how the race will result, but on past performances the Cubs should be favorites.

"Six to five, though, is not too short a price against the Athletics. They won the American league pennant and the world's championship last year without half trying and with a team that ought to be even better this season. The Tigers, though they finished third a year ago, are naturally second choice.

"Chase has what looks like a rattling good ball club in the New York Americans, but Detroit is the logical betting choice for second place."

Davis Cup Drawing Disappointing. Lawn tennis players in New York are not pleased with the situation in regard to the International Davis cup matches. In the drawing the United States and South Africa were selected to compete in the first preliminary. This, according to the American officials, leaves the situation in nearly as bad a tangle as last year. America is not likely to go to Africa nor will Africa come here or go from England to America. The English association has suggested that America and South Africa meet in England, where the preliminary and semifinals could be played, the winner to go on to Australia. It looks, however, as if America, England and South Africa, the three challengers, will all have to go to Australia for the preliminary and semifinals.

Three Californians have been chosen to play with Champion Larned on the tennis quartet which will defend the honor of America against the world in the International tennis cup tournament. They are Maurice McLoughlin, Tom Handy and Melville Long. The selection of this trio is an acknowledgment by the eastern experts that California's racket wielders are superior to all the players of the east except Larned, the Irvineite.

McFarland's Victory. Over Owen Moran. "Paeky" McFarland, the Chicago lightweight, outpointed Owen Moran, claimant to the English lightweight championship, at every stage of their ten round fight before the Fairmount athletic club, New York, on March 14.

It was a clean, hard fought battle throughout, in which the Chicago boy fully demonstrated his superiority in boxing over the Englishman. McFarland was always there with a clean punch, and when Moran reached for him he found the Chicago boy most elusive.

McFarland depended chiefly on body blows, reaching Moran with right and left below the heart. At close quarters he had a distinct advantage over the Englishman. Neither suffered much punishment until the seventh, when McFarland reached Moran with a stiff body blow and sent him reeling across the ring. Following this with two rights to the jaw he had Moran staggering. But Moran rallied and came back after more.

Moran worked his wide left swing for all there was in it, and did his most effective work after the manner of "Knockout" Brown. Occasionally McFarland got in a right to the head, but principally he kept hammering at Moran's body, right and left, with vicious punches.

Although outclassed, Moran put up a good fight and gave McFarland a stiff go, but could not land. McFarland, time and again, jumped away from his punches with a smile of assurance.

Spalding's Official Baseball Guide for 1911, containing rules and records, as well as a wealth of other information regarding the great game, can be obtained from E. O. Hall and Sons. As in past editions the Guide is admirably arranged.

J. W. Harvey, of E. O. Hall and Sons Sports' Department, is an old soccer player of more than ordinary merit. He was many years ago a member of the famous Tottenham Hotspur team, whose name is writ large on the English records of the game. Though Harvey's playing days are over he still retains considerable interest in the game and has a brother playing for Clapham, which team has won the English Amateur League for several years. Young Harvey has played in four finals in England, winning twice.

A third effort will be made by the Hawaiian Gun Club to decide the championship this afternoon. On the first occasion there was only a meager attendance, last Thursday the weather was unfavorable, so this afternoon another shoot will be made. The championship is free for all, fifty birds, and will commence at five o'clock.

The three runners who are to meet in the twenty-mile race on Sunday next at Athletic Park are reported to be in good condition. Soldier King ran eighteen miles yesterday in good time and feels confident that he will not only finish the twenty-mile distance but that he will lead the other two runners home. Sam Hop is sanguine that Tsukamoto will make a good showing, and a fine performance is expected from Frank Scharsch. The five-mile bicycle race will precede the foot-race, and it also promises well.

A series of boxing contests were fought at Leilehua last night. Armstrong, who was seen in action some time last month in the Asahi theater, beat Zink and is now looking for a match with Fink. Massey fought a draw with King. Kradaik put Hill out, and Terrien won the third contest against Arrelianes on a foul. Reports from the reservation indicate that the contests were all interesting.

More Money For You

Greater productiveness of trees—larger, cleaner, and finer fruit—more money. Isn't that fruit growers' reasoning? Nothing will contribute to this end more than effective spraying. And Effective Spraying can best be attained with Bean Magic Spray Pumps Effective spraying means High Pressure Spraying and till the advent of the Bean Magics a high pressure could not be maintained with a hand pump for any length of time, on account of the body-racking effort needed to operate it. The Bean patent spring divides the work between the two strokes of the handle and works against only one-half the pressure shown on the gauge and saves exactly one-third the labor. We have these pumps in stock and will be pleased to show them. We cannot recommend them too strongly. E. O. Hall & Son, Ltd.

MONGOLIA'S FAKE CASTRO

S. F. Call: The probably misplaced energy of a Honolulu reporter was responsible for an international comedy of errors on board the liner Mongolia, which arrived here yesterday from the far east.

It was a red-hot story for Honolulu, and when the reporter's paper appeared next morning a picture of the former dictator of Venezuela covered part of the front page.

The Honolulu paper with the Castro picture came on board just before the Mongolia sailed. Within a few minutes Benevides was being pointed out as the ex-president of Venezuela.

As Benevide's English was as indifferent as the Portuguese of his fellow passengers, he was unable to put them right. The constant rubbering annoyed him, and through a fellow countryman, Judge Jose M. Vidal of Macao, he explained to as many as would listen that he was not Castro.

When the liner arrived here yesterday Benevides was in a state of nervous irritation that lent color to the report that he was Cipriano. It was learned that at Hongkong he had given his birthplace as England, at Honolulu he told the immigration people that he was born in Turkey and on the Mongolia's manifest he is described as a native of Portugal.

SUBSCRIBE! Once upon a time, a man who was too economical to take a paper, sent his little boy to borrow the copy taken by his neighbors. In his haste, the boy ran over a four dollar stand of bees, and in ten minutes looked like a watery summer squash. His cries reached his father, who ran to his assistance, and, failing to see a barb-wire fence, ran into it, breaking it down, cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and ruining a five-dollar pair of pants. The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence, got into the cornfield and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the racket, his wife ran, upsetting a four-gallon churn full of rich cream into a basket of kittens, drowning the whole "flock." In her hurry she dropped a seven-dollar set of teeth. The baby, left alone, crawled through the spilled milk into the parlor and ruined a twenty-dollar carpet. During the excitement the oldest daughter ran away with the hired man, the calves got out and the dog broke up eleven sitting hens. Moral—Subscribe for our paper. THE HAWAIIAN STAR NEWSPAPER ASS'N. OBEYED TO A "T."
 "Now, William," said the old farmer to his new apprentice, "I want thee to mind what I do say to thee, to be sharp and attentive, and to obey me in carrying out my instructions."

"Ay, ay, zur," replied William.
 "First, now, I want thee to take out the old white mare and have her shod."

"Ay, ay, zur," said William, and separated.
 He returned two hours later and the old farmer questioned him.

"Thee hast not been quick, lad," he said, reprovingly, "but if thee hast done thy work as I ordered thee thou shalt be forgiven. Didst thee have the mare shod, as I telled thee?"

"Ay, ay, zur!" replied William, beaming. "Didst thou not hear the gun? I shot her myself and I've just buried her."—Answers.

EXCURSION ABANDONED

Secretary H. P. Wood reported to the Promotion Committee today regarding the Chicago excursion which was to come here on the steamer Minnesota, as follows:

"The abandonment of the Oriental Excursion of the Chicago Association of Commerce was a great disappointment. Nearly, if not quite two hundred people had booked for the trip including some of Chicago's foremost business men.

"A report to the effect that the Mongolia and the Tenyo Maru had been substituted for the Minnesota was found, upon cable inquiry, to be erroneous. The official excursion has been definitely abandoned. We learn, however, that as a result of the publicity given to the matter and the splendid work of the Committee in charge that a wide interest has been created in the trip and that both the Mongolia and Tenyo Maru due at Honolulu March 27 and April 18, respectively, will each have from thirty to fifty Chicago people on board, as through round trip passengers."

POLICE COURT

There is only one Hawaiian named Kalaeokakoi in the Territory of Hawaii, according to Fred Weed, police court officer. Kalaeokakoi was charged with drunkenness and the court records indicated that he was a constant visitor to the jail. But Judge Lymer thought there might be some doubt as to the defendant's identity and appealed to Weed, who emphatically responded that there was only one person of that name in the Territory. Kalaeokakoi was sent to jail for thirty days.

JAMES SCOTT, a one time well-known kamaaina, has been appointed to the position of manager of the Mindora Development Company's mills and railroad, in the Philippines Islands. Mr. Scott came here from England many years ago to attend the erection of the Hawaiian Sugar Co.'s factory at Makaweli. Later on he attended the erection of the Olaa Company's plant, and subsequently he became manager at Kila. After the absorption of that company by the Hawaiian Sugar Co., he went to Formosa, to superintend the erection of sugar factories there, turned out by the Honolulu Iron Works, and from there he entered the employ of the Mindora Development Company to superintend the erection of their plant, and the news that he has been appointed to the important position of manager will be pleasing to all his old-time friends in the Territory.

IMPROVEMENTS AT THE UNION.
 The Union Barber Shop has been thoroughly renovated and enlarged to meet the rapidly growing patronage. This shop under the management of Mr. Vierra has doubled up in the number of chairs in use. The improvements makes it the most inviting shop in the city.

HAVANA CLEAN AND WITHOUT MOSQUITOES AS A RESULT OF FEDERAL SANITARY WORK

S. F. Post: The ten years of this century have wrought great changes in Havana. It used to be known as one of the dirtiest cities in the world. As a consequence, in spite of the innumerable flock of vultures that cumbered the streets, yellow fever was almost ever present.

The authorities now take great precautions. The vultures are seen no more, as there is nothing for them to do and consequently no living for them.

The bay once infested by mosquitoes now knows this pest no more.

We slept with stateroom windows all open and never heard a hum nor felt a bite. But a company of doctors came on our ship and made a special diagnosis of all who intended to go ashore to see that no case of infection got to land. But all the features of the old regime have not been removed.

We might have gone ashore immediately after breakfast, which would not have been early, as the ship's time for this repast was 8 o'clock, and the meal was not over before 9. But the Cuban doctors were not yet on board, nor did they get there until 10 or later. It was 11 before the inspection was over.

There is no mole at Havana to which a large ship can come. It is only lately that such a convenience has been in Vera Cruz.

The trouble of going ashore and getting back in a small boat is quite enough to make one wonder why the Cubans, or the people of Havana, rather, do not construct a mole to which large vessels may come.

Must Lighter Freight.

Not only this, but all the freight must be lightened out. Our ship took on there 1400 tons of coal, and all had to be put into scows, then hauled alongside and then the coal rehandled. This is what delayed us. There were half a dozen ships waiting to be coal and these appeared to be accommodations to supply only one at a time.

And the cost of this coal. I was told it cost $7 per ton in the ship's hold. It was really coal dust almost as fine as flour, with less than fifty pounds of lump to the ton. The price of this, assuming that it was correctly reported to me, was one of the greatest surprises I have encountered. It came down from Philadelphia. The ship burned about 100 tons a day, so the cost of fuel was $700 a day.

Twenty years ago Los Angeles could get coal from Australia by the cargo at no higher price, and it was coal, not dust. The ship's officer said the dust was as good as coal if properly handled, but cost a little more in the way of labor to feed the fires.

The thought was natural that these ships should be converted into oil burners.

The oil from Mexico at Tampico or Vera Cruz should cost much less, and as oil fires are automatically fed the cost of shoveling coal would be saved.

Finally shore was reached and the view of the city made one's heart rejoice as he realized that our countrymen had done so much for this naturally beautiful city. President Taft, General Wood and the other Americans who were here from time to time accomplished a wonderful work indeed.

No city in America, not San Francisco nor Los Angeles, nor Portland, can show better-kept streets than these. In the tropics it is easy to tell from the harbor if a city be clean or the opposite. The horrid flocks of vultures in the air and on the house-tops are the unerring signs of filth, their absence the index of cleanliness. There are none at Havana.

Uncle Sam's Wards.

Our assertion of the Monroe Doctrine in so emphatic a manner makes it incumbent on America to see that fair play prevails in these small, turbulent states. The better classes of people there and all foreigners look to the United States to maintain order. They think we are not emphatic or energetic enough in dealing with unrest and riot in that part of the world.

I pointed out to those who expressed such opinion the danger of arousing the misgivings and jealousy of Latin-Americans generally unless we moved with great caution in our dealings with these small republics. For the most part these persons thought there was not much to fear in this way.

The view is becoming quite general that the United States does not desire to acquire an acre of territory in any of these republics or elsewhere, that we desire stable government for the purpose of trade, to protect our people in their investments, personal liberty and lives.

Clean and Beautiful.

Havana is not only a clean city. It is also a beautiful one. These Spanish-American cities have all learned from their founders how to make a city beautiful. The artistic sense is innate in these people.

Long before Havana was a clean city it was beautiful. Its parks are models. They are as near nature as a city park can be. Trees, flowering shrubs, straight and serpentine roads and walks are all there is to a park here. If there is any addition it is in the way of fountains or monuments, the former usually mythological, the latter holding up to the emulation of youth the great men of the city or the nation.

Nature is the predominating feature of all Latin-American parks, and anything man does is not in the suppressing of nature, but simply to put a little embellishment to nature's features.

So walks, granite copings and all that suggest the architect or builder, are kept out of sight. There is an admirable simplicity in all that is done, and the expense is of the lowest, excepting as money is spent for fountains or monuments. These are often the gift of some wealthy and patriotic citizen who thus adds to his popularity or perpetuates his memory among a grateful people.

I have seen no Latin city in my wanderings where these features did not make one wish our civil officials in American cities were always men of travel who had had before their eyes examples of the parks kept close to nature and made at the least cost to the public purse.

Fine Highways.

Just outside of Havana, Cuba has a start in a system of fine highways. I am told that some of these roads run far afield, and that they are beginning to be found in many parts of the island. They are always aligned with noble trees. Of course tropical growth is so fast, and the foliage so rich, that this is not difficult to accomplish.

There are between 7000 and 8000 Americans in the island, out of a total of 200,000 foreign-born whites. Of the younger generation of natives who vote, those educated in some degree are somewhat more than the illiterates. This is encouraging, as in the total population of voting age illiterates predominate.

Business With Cuba.

Fifteen years ago our exports to Cuba were worth $12,800,000 and our imports from the islands $52,870,000. The year before our war with Spain the value of our exports to Cuba was close to $9,560,000 and the imports $15,200,000. This was due to the turmoil prevailing.

Since the island became free through our intervention business between the two countries has grown rapidly. In exports to Cuba 1907 was the best year, with a record of $49,300,000, and in imports from there 1907 also shows the best, with a record of $97,440,000. The commerce shows a quite steady course. The last year for which statistics are at hand, 1909, has exports from our country to Cuba put at a value of $43,900,000, and imports from there of $96,700,000.

This beats Porto Rico by twice in exports and nearly four times in imports.

It is nearly three times the export business we do with Hawaii and ten and a half times the imports compared with the Philippines, with their large population. Cuba buys four times as much of our goods and we get from Cuba eleven times as much

INTER-ISLAND HAPPENINGS

KOHALA, March 22.—A new telephone line, with metallic circuits, is to be installed to the Volcano House, from the Kau side, which will lessen the induction and make conversation with the Volcano House much easier.

The metallic circuit is to be installed all over the islands as rapidly as possible so that, before long, it will be possible for one to converse over the wires without overhearing the cooing of every lovesick chap, or the tongue-lashing the manager is giving his luna. The trouble now is that when so many wires are strung on the same pole induction carries the sound from one to another.

Hamakua Cane Fire.

HAMAKUA, March 22.—A Japanese wahine, resting for a brief period from her industrious labors growing cane in a pail, threw away the end of the burning weed with which she had been regaling her jaded energies, among the dry trash of a field of almost mature cane belonging to the plantation. While enjoying her peaceful siesta in blissful unconsciousness of any danger, a conflagration arose which, fanned by a gentle breeze, quickly assumed large dimensions and awoke the sleeping beauty from her slumbers. One of the lunas, seeing the smoke, hurried to the place, but before the fire could be cut off several acres of cane had been burned.

A Kona Legend.

Kohala Midget: While in Kona Miss Bond picked up, at Mr. Maguire's, this folk-lore tale concerning the lava flow which winds like a huge black serpent down towards the sea, near the house.

Two Hawaiian women lived in a house standing at a spot where the flow is seen to have divided, leaving an island of unscathed land. One evening as they were roasting fish, a strange visitor called and asked them for whom they were cooking.

One of the women answered: "For myself, to be sure." The other one, when questioned, answered that she was cooking for Madame Pele, the name for the fire goddess of the Hawaiians.

The visitor promised to stop and eat when she should return from the beach. She returned in an incredibly brief time and taking the second woman aside instructed her to separate all her property, that night, from the property of the other woman, and move her belongings to a certain side of the house.

She did so, and that night Madame Pele visited the house in a destructive flow of red-hot lava which, just before it reached the house, divided into two streams, burning one-half the house, but leaving untouched the half belonging to the woman who had cooked for Pele.

General Items.

Kohala Midget: Whether the Kukui ran down the Moi Wahine, or the Moi Wahine knocked splinters off the Kukui, the proposal to buy Captain Sam a new schooner by popular subscription is a good one. The Midget will chip in.

The following wirelesses were exchanged after the signing of the bill appropriating money for Mahukona landing:

BRODEK DIES IN LOS ANGELES

Henry E. Brodek, formerly of Honolulu, died on March 7 in Los Angeles, where he had been staying for about a year past. He was well known in Honolulu, having lived here about ten years. His last local position was that of assistant postmaster, which he took after resigning as bookkeeper and postmaster at Waiakoa plantation. He was a member of Honolulu lodge of Elks.

PERSISTENT COLDS.

There is no reason why a cold should hang on for weeks, or until some chronic throat or lung trouble is developed, and it will not if you take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. By its remarkable cures of colds that remedy has from a small beginning acquired a world-wide sale and use. You may know that a remedy that has constantly grown in favor and popularity for almost forty years has more than ordinary merit. For sale by Benson, Smith & Co., agents for Hawaii.

OH, YOU CEREBELLUM.

One thing about the professor's lecture at the village hall, on "The Wonders of the Human Body," seemed to Mrs. Goppinger to be not quite clear, and after her return home she was still pondering upon it.

"I understood everything he told us about the nerves and the way they act, and all that," she said, "and how we couldn't get along without them, but I just could not understand why he called that part of the brain where the nerves all center the Sarah Bellamy. Was Sarah Bellamy the name of the woman doctor or surgeon who discovered it? I can't seem to find anything about her in the dictionary."—Youth's Companion.

Must Protect Beet Sugar.

Sugar is the one crop of Cuba which is likely to be a strong competitor in our markets. Cane sugar is so cheaply produced that, speaking broadly, the beet sugar product must be protected or be beaten in the race.

Our government has shown a very friendly feeling for Cuba in the last ten years. Products of the island come in at very favorable rates. We should in all ways cultivate this friendly feeling.

MISS KROUT RECALLS HAWAII

Miss Mary H. Krout, who is well known here, having spent a long visit in the islands, has published a book entitled "Platters and Pipkins," in which there are various references to Hawaii. In a chapter on the dining-room is the following recollection of the outlook from one such room in Hawaii:

"From that wonderful window seat (overlooking the edge of a cliff high above the sea) the great Pacific ocean, blue sapphire or gray as a cloud, reflecting the tropical sky above it, stretched to the horizon and on and on, the waste of water unbroken by a single island to South America. Sails shone in the offing, and occasionally a great man of war dropped anchor in the harbor, and far away, ethereal as a dream, rose the snow-capped peak of Mauna Kea. To the north were groves of dark-folaged palms and mangoes of exquisite grace, their broad leaves swaying slowly and fitfully in the trade winds." Then follows this comment: "My friends might have selected another part of the house for their dining-room—one to the rear or overlooking the road, but they did not, and I have always thought that their close companionship with the great and mysterious ocean must have had a real influence on their daily lives. For without laboring to be cultured, they were people given to high thinking, of sweet and tranquil dignity and natural gentleness of speech and manners."

Miss Krout recently addressed a Chicago Club on "American Influence in Hawaii," and she contemplates publishing a book of historic miscellany and anecdotes about Hawaii.

BOOSTS PACIFIC CONGRESS.

Examiner: The tourist world is to be informed of the beauties of the Pacific and of the lands that are touched by its waters. John L. Gamm, who attended the Pan-Pacific Travel Congress recently held in Honolulu as a representative of the California Development Board, returned yesterday on the steamship Sierra.

He brought a glowing account of the possibilities opened by the congress, and of the campaign of education that is to be carried on to induce travelers to visit the islands and the Far East.

Delegates from China, Japan, the Philippines, Ceylon and Australia attended the conference.

CHOLERA HURT PROMOTION; CLEVELAND EXCURSION TO BE HERE NEXT FLORAL PARADE

The following is from Secretary H. P. Wood's weekly report to the Promotion Committee:

"I am pleased to be able to report that the lectures on Hawaii being given throughout New England by the Rev. Rowland B. Dodge, Pastor of the Walluku Union Church, are attracting the attention of many travelers.

"Mr. Loyd Childs continues to do good work for Hawaii. His company of singers known as the Hawaiian Septette are booked well ahead on a leading vaudeville circuit, and are gradually moving eastward from Omaha. They appeared before large houses nightly for upwards of a week at Grand Rapids, Mich. The moving pictures of scenes in Hawaii taken by Mr. Bonine are a feature of each performance, and Mr. Childs reports that they continue to attract great attention, leading to many interviews.

"Mrs. Headlee writes under date of March 11th, in part as follows: Los Angeles is having the most successful season of travel in its history and our lecture hall is crowded every day. I regret to say, however, that many who were expecting to go to the islands have cancelled their bookings on account of the cholera scare and I was glad indeed to be able to give publicity to your cable stating that the slight epidemic was a thing of the past. We are having a meeting this afternoon to carry your suggestions of a year ago that we organize a Society of Hawaii to affiliate with the other local State Societies which I trust will result in some good team work for the islands."

"J. Walter Scott, our distributing agent on the Pacific Coast, reports an increased demand for our folders and asks for five million copies for the ensuing year to supply the demand west of the Rockies.

"There is also great need for Albums of selected photographic views. We should, as soon as possible, arrange to secure at least one hundred to place in Railway and Steamship booking offices, hotels, etc.

"The Pacific Coast Manager of the Hamburg American Line, as well as the Agent for this Company in Chicago, state that they will do their utmost to get the S. S. Cleveland into Honolulu in time for the 1912 Floral Parade. They are making every effort to advance the time of the steamer's arrival by a couple of days.

"We are in receipt of word that the General Passenger Agent of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railway is planning to visit Hawaii within the next few months."

SCIENTIFIC STUDY OF LEPROSY ADVANCED IN LOUISIANA

(Correspondence New York Sun.)

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 4.—The discovery, isolation and culture of the bacillus of leprosy just announced by Drs. C. V. Duval and Maurice Courret of the pathological department of Tulane University of this city and the experiments made with bacilli shed a great deal of new light on the origin, spread and contagion of leprosy and promise as an early result a serum that will give protection against the disease.

In the worldwide investigation which has been carried on for years into the nature of leprosy physicians in Louisiana have had an important part. They have had good opportunities for research because the State maintains a leper hospital at Indian Camp in Iberville parish. No where has greater progress been made in the extermination and cure of leprosy.

The disease was very prevalent in Louisiana in Spanish and French days. Then nothing was done but to chase the lepers into the swamps, la terre des lepreux, as it was called. Even after the civil war a very large colony of lepers was collected on the levees or swampy portions of Bayou Lafourche and in several sections of the Acadian country in southern Louisiana.

Louisiana Has Less Now.

Twenty years ago the leper hospital was established, and a law passed segregating the lepers and compelling them to go to the leper home. Much difficulty was encountered at first in enforcing the law, through mistaken sympathy with the lepers, but the home was made so comfortable that the prejudice against it has passed away, and it has latterly received all persons found to be affected with the disease. In this way leprosy has gradually been eliminated in Louisiana, and new cases are rare, numbering not more than one or two a year.

Some forty lepers are now gathered at Indian Camp, and all except a few are steadily improving in health. Three years ago Dr. Isadore Dyer, the physician of the home and one of the best authorities on leprosy in the world, announced that four of the inmates had been cured. Altogether eight have been dismissed as cured.

The treatment has been simple enough, consisting of good living conditions, good food, frequent hot baths and a few of the medicines recognized as beneficial to lepers. At the present rate of progress another ten years will probably see the end of leprosy in Louisiana, through the cure of the milder cases and the death of the few patients in whom the disease is too far progressed for effective treatment.

Scientists Investigate. While this work of treating and curing leprosy was being carried on the physicians have been investigating the disease itself to learn its cause, to discover its bacillus and to find a serum that would cure or prevent it. This investigation has been conducted in a dozen different parts of the world, but under most favorable conditions in Louisiana, where alone in this country the disease can be studied at first hand.

From time to time discoveries have been made. As a matter of fact, there has been a very strong disposition to accept the conclusion of Dr. Jonathan Hutchinson of England, presented by him to the International Leprologist Convention of 1890, held at Berlin, that uncooked or putrid fish was the means by which leprosy was transmitted to man. This fact was apparently demonstrated by all the conditions under which the disease prevails, leprosy being restricted to peoples living on the coast, whose principal diet is fish, especially raw or more or less putrid.

Claim Proved Fish Theory.

But while this theory was generally accepted, it was not scientifically proved. This Drs. Duval and Courret have finally demonstrated and the proof will call for some experimentation only to provide the serum.

The germ of leprosy is said to have been discovered as far back as the '70s, and its discovery has been announced from time to time since, but the experiments were never carried to a conclusion. It was found impossible to isolate and cultivate the germ and therefore to provide a serum. Now the experiment has been carried to its full limit and the remedy ought soon to be in sight.

Drs. Duval and Courret experimented with fish, mainly goldfish. They found that the germ rapidly spread among them, and the fish showed no bad effects and swam as comfortably as their brethren. Isolating the germ, they found it very long living, and through their discoveries learned the manner in which the malady is propagated.

The habitat of the germ is not the human body; that is, the disease does not originate in man and is not hereditary, as has often been believed. The human body is not well adapted to it and the germ multiplies very slowly in it; in other words the disease is not easily communicated to man, as is generally believed.

QUEER BOOKS GIVEN AWAY

By J. A. Breckons.

(Special Correspondence of The Star.) WASHINGTON, Mar. 15.—Who has not annually received a bound volume weighing from four to six pounds, sent out from Washington under the frank of a member of congress, which upon being opened discloses its title to be "The Phylogenetic Interrelationships of Recent Tetrapodous Batrachians" or something equally comprehensive to the average mind? And who has not wondered why he or she was selected as the recipient of this massive volume, too plain to make a good appearance on the bookshelf and far too tough to burn? How many citizens of far-away Oregon, for example, have received gold-lettered, black bordered volumes containing the eulogies delivered in congress over the demise of the late Jonathan Abner Spuda of Florida—and then sought in vain for a reason why he should be made the recipient of this lugubrious violation when the late lamented's existence had not heretofore even been suspected.

It's the result of a system of distribution of government publications, and a special committee on printing has been at work on the problem for over two years—trying to work out a plan whereby the people may receive the benefit of these publications without unnecessary waste. Under the present plan, each member of congress is entitled to a certain number of every document printed, and they are sent to the document room subject to his order. This frequently results in the member from Montana finding himself in the possession of several hundred copies of "The Interferogenic Perambulations of the Humanognifer Orthinologese, Commonly Known as the Chestnut Tree Pest." The member from Florida will receive notice from the document room that he has to his credit 150 copies of "Some Recent Observations on the Hartville Uplift in Wyoming."

Recently the document room had a housecleaning, and each member was sent several tons of accumulated documents for which he had no use whatever. But there they were, and the franked envelopes were handy. The result is that many a Utah elector soon found himself in the possession of a six-pound copy of the "Hymenoptera from the Philippine Islands," and Colorado citizens revealed in the four-pound edition of the thriller, "Scales of Mormyrid Fishes of Africa, with Remarks on Albulas and Elops."

The new plan will save the government many thousands of dollars. It will require a member to make application for such numbers of every document as he can use, instead of forcing him to accept those of no interest to his constituency. This will enable him to secure more of these he really can send out to appreciative citizens in his district, and incidentally relieve the mails of much of the matter enumerated above. The public is demanding more and more in the way of documents, and no small part of the present member's duties is to secure these publications for his constituency. It is the policy of the government to spread this information as widely as possible, and by the economical system soon to be introduced whereby the absurdities above will be eliminated, the country will greatly profit.

AT THE THEATERS

The Savoy.

Elks, thousands of them, will be conspicuous on the stage of the Savoy theater tonight, appearing in a feature film which is very long and interesting throughout. The film will be run each night until Saturday. It shows the meeting of the Grand Lodge of Elks at Detroit in 1910 showing many city organizations and drill teams. The Grand Lodge officials appear and then the drill teams. Boston, which was awarded first prize, is shown, and then follow the teams of New York, St. Louis, Los Angeles, Denver, Chicago, Battle Creek, Brooklyn, Buffalo, Rochester, Covington, Cleveland, the Cherry Pickers of Toledo, Akron, Fort Wayne, Colorado Springs, Cincinnati. The photograph is very clear.

Hessie, the eccentric juggler, will appear tonight as "Willie Sims, the Silly Kid Juggler," in a new line of juggling with comedy running throughout. Hessie has caught the gallery. In contrast to his funnyisms, are Jourdain and Gervaise, with their artistic rendition of operatic selections. Tonight they will put on Indian characterizations in costume singing American Indian melodies.

The Empire.

Tuneful and melodious are the selections of Whittier and Crosson at the Empire theater. They have been recognized by Empire patrons as artists and have become favorites. They draw upon scenery to accentuate their songs. Tonight they will have new songs, while Whittier will give a new monologue.

The two little picannettes will be heard in new songs, dances and dialogue, and will be aided in their efforts by Miss Regina Reed, the tall young artist, whose voice blends well with those of her darky proteges.

Matinees are given every afternoon and these are almost as popular in point of patronage as the evening performances. The moving picture films will be unusually good this week.

The Bijou.

One of the catchiest acts put on at the Bijou will be that tonight by the Five Columbians, the entire company appearing in operatic features, followed by dances and songs, with Lew Pistel in blackface comedy, while Tom Heath will sing a Spanish song with dance accompaniment by two of the pretty Miller girls. Little Marilyn will introduce her most famous imitation, and will appear as Eva Tanquay, the famous actress. Her imitation of Bessie McCoy was letter perfect. The act will conclude with a farce in which the entire company appears. The Millers have a large and varied stage wardrobe, and this will be drawn upon for the new act. They conclude their engagement on Saturday night. Amateurs tomorrow night.

TAKE THE TWO DAY TRIP.

Much is to be seen during two days absence from Honolulu. And the expense is trifling. The Oahu Railway and Land Company runs parties to Haleiwa, stopping the afternoon and night at fascinating Haleiwa, and the next morning takes them in carriages through the great pineapple plantations and within sight of Schofield Barracks, at Wahiawa, where the train is taken for Honolulu, arriving in the city at half past five the second afternoon. Thousands have made the trip and testify to the comfort and delight it affords. The Hotel at Haleiwa is one of the finest on the island.

This fact puts the investigators to a great deal of trouble. Guinea pigs and rabbits, the usual standbys of the laboratory in experiments of this kind, were found to be immune. The leprosy germs in them died the moment after injection and left no infection. Experiments with monkeys and mice proved more successful. In man the progress of the disease was found to be very slow indeed, but in fish very rapid. The conclusion reached was that the original habitat of the disease was fish and that it was communicated originally to man by eating infected fish. With the isolation of the germ it was possible to carry the experiments much further. The germ resembles the bacillus of tuberculosis, being about the same size and the same general shape and appearance. In the human body, however, it becomes elongated and leathery, the latter condition being a defensive one against adverse circumstances.

Further experiments showed that the germ of leprosy will stand a heat of 156 degrees Fahrenheit, indicating, as supposed by physicians and scientists that the disease is due to eating raw fish, a practice that prevails in all countries where leprosy exists. The germ lives in putrid materials for months and withstands many antiseptics that will destroy other bacilli. Here is the second source of infection, which has probably given rise to the belief that the disease ran in a family, not in all its members, but liable to show itself in the second or third generation.

A house occupied by a leper is poisoned for many months afterward, the germs given forth by him finding lodging in the walls and the woodwork or elsewhere. Hence the tendency of members of the same family to develop the disease, or its appearance in a family which has moved in afterward and before the house has been properly disinfected.

With these facts known it will be a far easier matter to protect against leprosy and to prevent its spread, and it ought to be possible to top the conditions which the Berlin congress found, that the disease is growing more prevalent in European and American countries.

Search For Serum.
 There is still the unsolved problem of the discovery of a serum or preventive, but with the new light now shed on the subject this ought not to be far away. Dr. Duval himself said: "The experimental work points to the solution of the cure problem. It indicates that a serum is possible, and we have good reason for believing that the immune serum will come as the direct result of our experiments."

The first step in the discovery at Tulane was made a year ago when Dr. Duval succeeded in isolating the leprosy germ. This was very difficult and accomplished only with special food-stuffs, a problem worked out by Dr. Gustave Mann. The further fact now made known that fish when filled with leprosy germs give no indication of it is evidence of the danger of the disease and how easily and unsuspectingly it may be introduced into the human system. It is hoped by the time the next leprologist congress meets to lay before it not only the discovery but also a possible serum that will prevent or cure the disease, and thus rid the world of one of the oldest and most dreaded diseases.

NOT AS REPORTED.

The late Thomas Lowry of Minneapolis was a great wit and a great story teller, as well as a great financier. He needed $1,000,000 one time for one of his railroad enterprises, and he went to New York to get it. On the morning of his arrival a friend met him at his hotel and asked: "What are you doing, Tom?"

"I am going down town to get a million dollars."
 "Can you do it?"
 "My boy," said Lowry, impressively, "in the bright lexicon of youth there is no such word as fail."

That night Lowry came back to his hotel after a hard day. The same friend met him. "Did you get the million?" he asked.

"No," replied Lowry. "I didn't. I opened that bright lexicon of youth and the word was in it."—Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

TALKS ON TUBERCULOSIS.

Dr. W. C. Hobby addressed members of the Legislature and many private citizens, in the hall of the House of Representatives yesterday afternoon, on tuberculosis. He was preceded by former Governor Carter and followed by Dr. Martin R. Edwards with remarks on the subject. Chairman Coney of the House committee on health and police was in the chair.

JUIJITSU SHOW IS A PUZZLE

Amid almost continuous silence, disturbed only by the thuds of the Jiu Jitsu students as they struck the ground with a heavy thud, and occasionally by a round of applause started by the caucasians among the audience, the first of the Jiu Jitsu contests were pulled off at the Asahi theater last night.

The house was well-filled and quite a number of white men and a few ladies were present. The bouts seemed interesting to the Japanese, but to the majority of the Americans present they were slow. Nobody knew what was going on, who were the contestants, what they were striving for, and nobody seemed to care. Bout after bout was started and finished, in some cases the contestants leaving the mat without a round of applause, in others one of the men was ceremoniously handed what looked like a kalemono, or wall hanging. Which of the contests were of the elimination series and which were only exhibitions the writer knoweth not.

Still the sport was interesting, even if only by reason of the opportunity it afforded of comparing Jiu Jitsu with the civilized method of wrestling. How much more interesting it would be if the managers of the series took the trouble to inform the Americans in the audience just what was going on remains to be seen, but it would certainly add to the attractiveness of the bouts. It can hardly be expected that residents of Honolulu who are unfamiliar with the Japanese tongue are willing to pay to sit and watch two men writhing on a mat without knowing the object of the struggle, the methods employed by one to defeat the other, and so on. These suggestions are thrown out to the managers, for if they wish to attract the general public they should consider the public's convenience.
