JUDGE KINGSBURY INSTRUCTS JURYMEN

To Expect Fair Treatment and to Beware of the Tactics of "Smart Attorneys"

Gentlemen drawn as jurors: You are of those listed for jury duty during this calendar year, and now have been regularly drawn and summoned for this June term of this Court, during which you are to act as judges of matters of fact and to be in this respect the Court.

It is for you, the sworn, to be as such judges and to hear evidence, to weigh it, to judge of the credibility of witnesses, to listen to argument of counsel, to consider, to judge and to decide. Your functions are judicial and you are in effect the Court as to the facts in cases tried before you.

Government in its very nature is divided in Legislative, Judicial and Executive branches.

In absolute monarchical governments all these powers and functions are vested in one and the same person called an Emperor or King.

Our form of government is self-government. The people reign and rule. By necessity this is done by their chosen representatives.

And now in the ancient capital of Hawaii, where the first written Constitution of these Islands was recommended in the year 1839, you are met to exercise that function of government called Judicial, which deals with right and aims at Justice.

Thus acting, you are one of the three coordinate branches of this Government; and in your sphere of office and function as a jury, you are independent and absolute in your rule.

Your office is most honorable: your power great and your duty equal to your power.

Of late years, there has grown around and now clings to our jury system such a mass of abuses as has caused many good men, both lawyers and laymen, to question and to doubt the wisdom of keeping up the jury system. And many say "Better do away entirely with juries and try all the cases before the Judges."

This is a hasty and most erroneous conclusion, arrived at in disgust created from viewing not the jury system but the abuses of the system.

Gentlemen, we will have the jury system as long as we have a benevolent government and are a free people.

It is the most prominent, the most necessary, the most in use of those governmental functions included in President Lincoln's definition of our grand system.

"A government of the people, for the people, by the people."

Trial jury is a coordinated member of our governmental Trinity, without which benevolent self-government for us could not exist and cannot continue to exist. All right government is founded on the need of the governed, together with the position and power in the ruler to rule.

Rights should be protected; duties should be enforced, that justice may be done; and here is the need for the exercise of judicial governmental power, and the jury has the position and the power and the duty to supply this need by exercising this judicial control.

Of the three forms or kinds of supreme power essential to government, the judicial has most of dignity and seems most sacred. It calls for the highest elements of moral character. We need legislation to lay down rules of conduct; we need the executive department to keep the wheels of state in motion; but we must rest upon the judicial branch in full faith and confidence that our properties, liberty and lives will be protected; and with the jury only and alone can we put such faith and confidence, without which there is neither sense of security or hope of happiness.

By reason of its duties; by reason of its exercising within its sphere of action of supreme power; by reason of its absolute necessity; by reason of its being the highest exponent of self-government; by reason of its duty and power to dispense equal justice; by reason of its being the greatest and surest safeguard of our liberties, and by reason of the fact that at each term the jury is called upon to consider and dispose of the most important matters in life, it is that the position of jurymen ranks very high in the estimation of all correctly thinking and well disposed persons.

Yet, there has grown up so many abuses, and, abuses of such character that many men dislike to serve their country in the capacity of jurymen and do not appreciate the power and honor of the position.

There is an article in the January number of Scribner's Magazine by Joseph H. Coates, entitled: "Some Difficulties of Jurymen," which gives many reasons why the position is unappreciated. We quote from the article as follows:

"But the jurymen from his first entrance in response to the court's peremptory summons finds little in his treatment to impress him with an idea of special dignity in his positions even if he has no overt cause of complaint. He is herded with his fellows, ordered about by the tipstaves or bailiffs of court, addressed in peremptory tones; sometimes, if in his unfamiliarity he is going the wrong way, he is grabbed by one of these gentry of the badge and hustled as if he was the prisoner in the dock. He sits in the court room with an ever present sense, if he be sensitive, that he must be careful not to get into trouble; the feeling of liberty is gone, he is enveloped in an atmosphere of restraint. Really he is placed more on an equality with the prisoner at the bar than with the judge on the bench, yet he is as essentially a part of the court as that august potentate and may have at any time a greater responsibility imposed on him.

"In some court rooms, when disengaged from the actual trial of any case and awaiting summons to the jury box, the juror is often forced to sit among criminals, witnesses, loafers, and ill-smelling persons attracted to the court by business or curiosity; though in some court rooms separate seats are provided for the temporary disengaged jurymen."

I don't think jurors of this country have all these things above-mentioned to complain of, but they have enough else, and there is with us a work to be done in Hawaii which will eliminate many factors that enter into the making of trial by jury generally distasteful to the jurymen, unsatisfactory to litigants and distrusted by others.

Especially is this true in regard to the trial of criminal cases. Let every elector of Hawaii read the article in the April number of Mc-

Supervisors In Session

Defers Date of Enforcing Water Meter Measurement

The Supervisors of the County of Maui met in regular session Wednesday, June 8th, and adjourned Friday afternoon of the 10th, after passing a resolution to defer the date of enforcing collection of Wailuku water rates on the 7½ cents per thousand gallon basis to October 1st next.

County Engineer Howell was instructed to draw up plans and specifications and make an estimate of the cost of a new concrete bridge at Maliko gulch, including the approaches, and present the same to the next meeting.

The road from Puuomalei to Kahihiko was ordered to be reconstructed.

A call for bids for laying the six-inch mains for the Lahaina water works was ordered to be advertised for, also bids for constructing a second-story to the County-office building Wailuku. These bids are to be opened at the next regular session of the board.

The County Engineer was authorized to go ahead and procure three drums calcium chloride to be used for road making purposes. This material is said will pack hard and give the surface of dry country roads a smooth finish, and will probably be tried on the pali road between Wailuku and Lahaina.

The county farm for tuberculous patients was reported to be ready for occupancy, and the management of the institution was placed in the hands of a managing board consisting of Chairman Pogue, H. A. Baldwin, and the Medical Superintendent. Dr. Sawyer will be offered the position of Medical Superintendent of the institution.

The bids called for moving the Kaupo School house were as follows: Albert Trask, $1600, time 65 days; H. K. K. Defries, $1725, time 40 days; Cyrus T. Green and Alton, $993.85, time 90 days; J. W. Kawaakoa, $1197, time 50 days. Awarded to J. W. Kawaakoa as his bid complied with the time limit requirement.

Bids for Keokea teachers' cottage were as follows: H. H. K. Defries, $1695, time 40 days; Albert Trask, $1800, time 65 days; J. A. Aheong, $1555, time 90 days; Cyrus T. Green and Alton, $1547.20, time 90 days; A. H. Landgraf, $1542, time 75 days. Awarded to A. H. Landgraf.

Bids for Kaunakakai teacher's cottage were postponed.

Owing to impossibility of having water meters installed in time to enforce the new water rates from July first, the board adopted a resolution changing date of enforcing same to October 1st next, as it is expected by that time all of the water privilege holders will have water meters installed on their premises.

The committee appointed at last Wednesday's public meeting waited on the supervisors Friday afternoon presented the resolution adopted by the meeting protesting against water meters and increased charges for water, and was informed of the action of the board postponing date of the new rates as above noted.

Application of the Maui Racing Association for the use of the road department carts and teams was granted with the proviso the Association pay the wages of the men.

O'Rourke's horse St. Ivon will run against Major Collier in the mile and a quarter race.

Farewell Reception

Tendered to Rev. and Mrs. Ault at Wailuku Town Hall

That the retiring pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd is very highly respected by the people of Maui, among whom he has faithfully labored in the past goes without saying, if the turnout to the reception held in honor of Rev. and Mrs. W. Ault at Wailuku Town Hall, Monday evening last, is any criterion to go by.

The hall was decorated with potted ferns, and the Laniuma Club furnished pleasant music while the reception was in progress.

After the formal handshakings and introductions were over a pleasant social time was had. Light refreshments of ice cream and cakes were served, and with a smooth floor and inviting music the younger people were soon tripping through the mazes of the waltz and two steps.

Water Meters If appearances are anything to go by the town of Lahaina seems quite willing to take water measured out through water meters and presumably will be willing to pay for water by the new thousand gallon rate.

If, as the apologists of the new methods are saying, the seven and one-half cents a thousand gallon rate for water is only an experiment, let the board of supervisors try out the new rates and new methods on the Lahaina water privilege holders, and perhaps the example of having residents of Lahaina contentedly paying for water measured out to them through water meters is all that Wailuku needs to become tractable, cease protesting and submit to allow the new to take the place of the old.

The fact that the meter installed on the premises of an Oriental resident of Lahaina registered a daily average slightly over 500 gallons of water drawn is being quoted as an argument in favor of installing water meters, but the fact that the other seven Lahaina privilege holders furnished with water meters registered an average running from 1,100 to 17,000 gallons of water daily is never mentioned at all.

After all water like air is nature's gift and for sanitary purposes the supply must be plentiful, and in well favored places, ought to be free to all. Bearing this fact in mind water rates should never be assessed at a higher rate than what will be enough to defray the running expenses of the water works and a reasonable percentage for ordinary wear and tear or depreciation of the plant.

Carrying Mails Congressman Sheppard has at last suggested a way on Aeroplanes. for making practical use of the aeroplane by authorizing the Postmaster General to use flying machines for mail carriers. The experiment will be watched with interest, and if by chance it proves a success, the aeroplane will cease to be only an expensive toy, and will have become a practical vehicle for adding to the comforts of our prosaic mundane existence. But if it takes $10,000 to induce the master of one of these airships to make the hundred mile trip between Albany and New York, and presuming that to be the proper inducement for a hundred mile flight, it will be seen at a glance that mail carrying by air routes will be quite expensive.

At present postage rates it will require the total amount of the entire postal charges on over 30,000 pounds of first class postal matter to pay for carrying it a hundred miles, presuming the aeroplane will make the trip both ways for the amount, and the weight of the postal matter will be so great that when strapped to the aeroplane the chances are all against its ever being able to rise in the air at all, even if the parcels were divided up into ten separate lots, and the charges for the trip cut down to one thousand dollars per flight, the burden will still be too great to allow of its being successfully carried over the heads of the people to its destination. So it seems the possibilities of harnessing aeroplanes to sordid uses appear as fatuous as the attempt to hitch the mythical steed Pegasus to the peasant's plow.

Sporting Items and the Races.

Major Collier is a fine horse, and shows up well on his trial runs around the course. He has a pretty stride and a long reach which sends him flying round the track.

Cyclone will be entered in the race for named horses.

The Hawaiian bred trotter Naniwa is in training and will be among the starters on the Fourth of July.

A wild steer roping contest would be a taking card if it could be managed to have one between races.

J. O'Rourke will enter four of the finest and fastest horses for the Fourth of July races, and knowing ones seem to think O'Rourke has the winning cards, which is perhaps putting it a bit strong as there are others with good animals, which when conditions are right, are not to be sneezed at.

Mr. Morell's fine racer, a mare, is in the paddocks at Spreckels Park and will take part in the events. In fact all of the good and very best racers in the Territory will try conclusions with one another on the Kahului track the coming Fourth of July.

There was a concert last Saturday evening at Lahaina Hall, for the benefit of the Latter Day Saints' Church. After the music there was a social dance, and refreshments were served.

A meeting of the Lahaina Relief Society was held on June 10, at 9:30 a. m., at the Latter Day Saints Church.

The Rev. William Seymour Short, who will soon take charge of the Church of the Good Shepherd at Wailuku, was in Lahaina on Wednesday afternoon last week. He is a graduate of Trinity College, Hartford, Conn.

An Expression of Brotherly Faith.

Members of the Aloha Lodge K. of P. gave Rev. Mr. Ault a fairwell reception Saturday evening last and the sentiments of those present were voiced in the following expression of esteem and regard:

"If the heads of every denomination regardless of sect, creed or religion differences, would preach and exemplify, like the Rev. W. Ault, the teachings of the greatest man that ever lived and died for humanity, what a glorious and beautiful world this would be, with the County of Maui a veritable garden of Eden, before its fall owing to a transgression of the divine law."

The misunderstanding which led the Maui Racing Association to hold up the bars against Mr. Gross' trotter Maui have been amicably adjusted between the owners of horses, entered for the race for Named Horses. Mr. Gross' horse Maui is entered for the race which promises to be an interesting event in more ways than one. The entries are Cyclone, Harry Hearst, Rivetta, Maui and Denny Healy.

Judge Kingsbury Instructs Jurymen.

Clure's Magazine by Honorable Chas. B. Brewer, LL.B., entitled, "Some Follies in Our Criminal Procedure."

Many things therein complained of are found in Hawaii, and the reforms suggested are needed here. A study of that article by us with patriotism will effect much for the uplifting of our jury system, and help to free it from unwarranted abuses.

To this end there is a work for us all,—a work for the legislature,—for the executive,—for the supreme court,—for the trial courts,—a work for the members of the bar, and a work for the electors who are subject to this service.

This question of getting rid of abuses affecting trial by jury is being discussed by our best and most eminent men in the United States and the consensus of opinion is that there is demand for a change that will place the jury on a higher plane, surround it with more honor and dignity and clothe it with freedom and power or rather recognize in this respect its actual legal position and inspire for it the respect which for our own good it should command.

All this need is also being generally recognized here in Hawaii, as may be seen in the opinions and decisions of the Supreme Court and in the published paper read before the Social Science Association by Chief Justice Hartwell.

We may feel a great degree of confidence that others will do their duty in this respect and may now ask ourselves what we can do and should do to abate the abuse of the jury system.

It is a work that in some respects must begin in our Circuit Courts. In some respects those courts must take the initiative. But the establishing of the right road must be by our Supreme Court, whose opinions and decisions regarding acts of trial judges will be as lighthouses along the coasts of our sea of judicature.

The trial judge can show his respect for the jury system by his treatment of those drawn for jury duty; he can set apart for their use the best seats in the court room and segregate them from those not in position of such honor and duty. He can, to some extent, effectually induce officers of the court, members of the bar and others to treat jurors with great respect. He can prevent their being ordered about and treated as prisoners and he can hear their excuses patiently and give them polite and careful consideration and in many other ways inspire in their minds greater respect for their services and for the office by himself feeling and showing them great respect and consideration. The members of the bar can aid in this work even more than can judges. There is reason for full confidence that the bar will do this. The most learned and eminent in the profession best appreciate both the great glory of the jury system and the present need of freeing it from the burden of abuse that is pressing it below the surface of the enlightened judicial plane until its necessity and power for good are out on the common field of vision.

Some attorneys would do well to change their manner towards and their treatment of jurymen when examining them on their voir dire. In this connection please consider that all I say with regard to attorneys is concerning the subject generally and as the practice is throughout the United States as well as in Hawaii and that I have no special reference to attorneys of this jurisdiction or to any attorney of any outside jurisdiction.

For example, when examining on their voir dire for the attorney for the defendant to ask over again the same questions asked and answered on the examination by the prosecution is bad for many reasons; it takes up valuable time; it seems to doubt what the jurymen has already stated, or to show inattention to his sworn statements. Then to examine each juror for a long time after he has shown he is not disqualified by any knowledge or by any prejudice or bias and to examine him in a way that seems to say to the jurymen "You are trying to deceive me" or "You are too ignorant to understand the simple terms like 'Bias,' 'prejudice,' 'duty' and other such terms" is hardly polite or fair treatment for an intelligent man who is forced into the place, who is honest and who is upon his oath. And then after such long, tedious and suspicious-appearing examination, wasting much time and exhausting the patience of court and jury and after having shown no respect for the feelings or standing of a jurymen in every way the equal of the attorney and of the judge to peremptorily challenge him in such a way as to show all present that the attorney's object was not to get able, intelligent, honest men on the jury but to endeavor to get men of a different class, if possible, is as poor policy as it is impolite. What can an attorney gain by challenging those jurymen that he apparently thinks are the best educated, most intelligent and most upright of the men summoned? Certainly it is no compliment from such attorney to be allowed to remain in the jury box.

Some attorneys may also show more respect for the jurymen by not so plainly showing that they think that they can fool the jury. Attorneys may reasonably infer that our intelligent electors liable to jury duty have read the case of Bardell vs. Pickwick and are on the lookout for nascent Buzz fuzzes and so may wisely leave out "the chops and tomato sauce" and "the warning pan." In short both honesty and wisdom recommend to attorneys the treating of our jurymen as intelligent and equal in education on general subjects to themselves.

Our jury commissioners in Maui, have been, and we hope always will be, so careful in selecting from the great body of our electors such men for the jury list that our juries are an encouragement to those endeavoring to place trial by jury on the high plane it should occupy both in actual practice and in the estimation of the people. And this remark applies especially to the men on the present jury list of this jurisdiction. We can rejoice in having heard attorneys lament over the fact that our jurymen are not easily fooled.

Again it seems to me that both judges and members of the bar too often act as if our juries were composed of dull, dishonest or foolish men when we so often exclude them from the court room simply because some law point regarding the admissibility of evidence is to be discussed and decided. Does this not, in effect, say to the jury that if the matter is not admissible as evidence and not received that yet they are so weak or dull or dishonest as to consider it and receive as evidence what they have overheard and be affected by it in rendering their verdict? This sending out of the jury whenever some little question relating to admissibility of evidence is to be discussed is a belittling of the jury.

Too much importance is given to the charging of juries. We ask and we give too many charges and often seem to treat the matter as if the jury knew but little and would be too much affected by an erroneous charge or too surely lost by not being charged. Again sometimes attorneys who are defeated are so affected that they openly complain of and condemn the jury, charge it with ignorance or with dishonesty. There is no form of contempt of court more to be frowned down upon than that shown by the complaints made against a jury by a defeated attorney because he is defeated. It is as wicked as it is mean. The jurymen are forced to act as judges of the facts and generally unwillingly; they are obliged to judge and to be condemned for their action on account of disappointments is a very mean contempt of court. It is different regarding the actions of the judge. From his acts and decisions they may appeal and his acts are within the sphere of criticism. But the jury, as to facts, are supreme; the law has made them so and the same law has forced them to act. Every member of our most honorable profession should show disapproval of such course on the part of a defeated attorney and not counteract him in blaming or in being disrespectful of the action of the jury.

We can as a rule confidently expect the members of the bar to do their full part to eliminate abuses clinging to trial by jury. Surely there can be no success along these lines unless the lawyers as a rule join in the work. Their assistance will be most efficient as their education and experience best qualify them for the work, and their honor is by the very nature of the work appealed to; an appeal that is never made without effect to the great body of the American Bar. Our electors must also do their share. In, with, and, by them must be established correct public opinion on the subject which no law will become an efficient rule of action in our free and independent self-government.

Electors must honor the office and the service and must see and feel its power and its importance. When summoned as jurors, they must look upon it as an honor and be reminded of the fact that they are called upon to exercise one or the coordinate branches of supreme rule by the people.

They should not seek to be excused except for the gravest of reasons. They should attend on the court with a knowledge of the importance of their judicial office and should as much as convenient segregate themselves from the common crowd about the court. They should let it be seen by their conduct and bearing that they are the jury and are to rule.

While acting in any case they should be even more careful with whom they associate and should mix as little as may be with outsiders. Magnify the office and service of jurors and teach others to do so. If treated by an attorney, judge or officer or if dull intellect then open their eyes by your keen insight and correct judgment. Let them not succumb by trickery, by befogging you, or by tactics of what is styled "a smart attorney." Force all to address you on a high plane intellectually and morally. Should an attorney seem to endeavor to get off from the jury the men in his opinion are of most ability, highest education, greatest experience and of undoubted high moral character, then consider they have done you no compliment by letting you remain on the jury and look to it that they do not win a bad cause by intended sharp practice followed by successfully befogging the jury.

Look deeply into every act and attempt of parties and their attorneys and judge of their cause and character in part at least by their apparent candor, fairness and honesty.

No great lawyer will try to deceive or fool the jurymen—great lawyers are good men without an exception.

No class of men aid so much to establish the right, redress the wrong, sustain the righteous law as do the lawyers of every civilized land. Give to the good lawyer your attention and expect not to be misled by him; and remember he can aid you much by placing before you the evidence in such way that you can come to a right conclusion as to the great fact in issue. You cannot too much respect the able, honest, fairminded lawyer or too much despise the tricky petti-fogger. Your attitude towards these classes respectively should be such that all will learn to treat properly the jury that has commanded the respect due the office you are now about to enter upon.

The jury is not wholly sacrificial; there are great compensations. You will have the happy complacency that follows patriotic right-doing. There rings in our ears the words of Mr. Taft, saying: "I grieve for my country to say that the administration of criminal law is a disgrace to our civilization."

Your knowledge that here in Maui a better condition exists and a still better condition is coming, and being brought about by your service, is a great matter for satisfaction to you, increase your self-respect and your respect for the jury system, commands the respect of others for juries and for trial by jury. Convince yourselves and others that you are praise-worthy and teaches the real position, power and duties of electors when summoned as jurors. You are teachers and you are also yourselves pupils in the high school of this land where as jurors you are learning of the highest principles of justice, of the established rules of law, of the necessary forms of legal procedure and of the way rights and duties are correlated.

There are always compensations for us whenever we deny ourselves to serve our country. Such service every good citizen is ready to make; be it either to enlist in the army to carry a gun or to enlist in the cause of the administration of justice.

Self-government means readiness to serve in either of these capacities. When such readiness leaves our people, then self-government ends.

But character, the devotion to civic duty and the high standing of the jurors of this jurisdiction is a sure promise that benevolent self-government will endure and that trial by jury will continue to be its highest exponent.

THE CAR OF THE AGE

Mitchell Automobiles Have Stood at the Front Season after Season

Not a year has passed that the MITCHELL has not demonstrated its extreme reliability

IT WAS NOISY IN THE PAST: "YES."

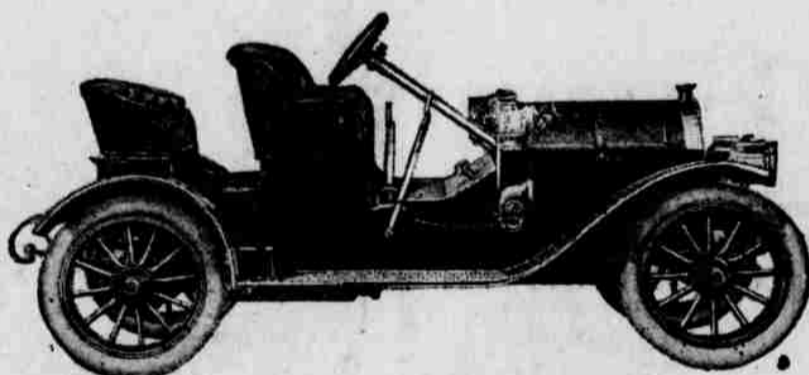

This noise displeased certain fastidious people, but what did that amount to? Was there not a feeling of confidence engendered by hearing the operation or listening to the purring of the engine?

It was said the "MITCHELL" is a good car, but noisy. We assert the "MITCHELL" is more than a good car. It is the last word in automobile construction for 1910.

We claim boldly, but confidently, that there is not a car on the market today which equals it at or near the price.

The 1910 Models are Silent as the Foot of Time

Look
Three Magnificent Models

Think of it. For $1100 at the Factory, we give you 30-35 horsepower, 100 inch wheel base and all the luxuries of a $2000 car.

This model with full equipment and ready to run $1450.

For $1350 at the factory, we give you a large, powerful Touring Car, which has speed, comfort, style and low cost of operation.

Price, with full equipment, $1700.

This powerful, speedy, stylish six cylinder car, will do everything that a $4500 car will do. Sixty miles an hour, fast on the hills, quiet, smooth running, it will stand comparison, point for point, with every standard six on the market, and is victor in the comparison, not "price considered," but in respect of price.

Price, with full equipment, $2450.

Our next carload of Mitchells will arrive early in June. We can demonstrate now and will gladly do so to prospective purchasers.
