

THREE YEARS FOR WRIGHT

JUDGE DE BOLT DENIES THE MOTION FOR A NEW TRIAL AND IMPOSES A SENTENCE OF THREE YEARS IMPRISONMENT—COUNTY AFFIDAVITS AS TO THE ALLEGED STATEMENTS OF CAPTAIN BLACK ARE FILED.

H. H. Wright was sentenced this morning by Judge De Bolt to three years' imprisonment at hard labor. The court listened all morning to arguments by defendant's counsel, in behalf of their motion for a new trial. Davis presented the matter of Captain Black's alleged misconduct as a juror and then Dunne presented arguments in support of the contention that the verdict was contrary to the instructions, Cathcart replying briefly. Judge De Bolt ruled at noon, refusing to set aside the verdict.

"It is an unpleasant duty to pass sentence in this case," said the judge, "but nevertheless a duty. The defendant is an intelligent man and he knows that the object of the law is not revenge. I believe that the administration of law should be free from harshness, and everything that savors of it. A person who has incurred the penalties of the law should not be made to feel that 'Abraham D. Bolster, being first duly sworn, says: That on Wednesday, February 25, 1903, at the recess of the court at 12 o'clock noon, I left the Judiciary Building in the city of Honolulu, in company with James H. Black; that together we went to the Royal Hawaiian Hotel on Hotel street in said city, where we remained a few minutes, going then out of the hotel grounds onto Alakea street; we walked together down Alakea street to Hotel street; then along the mauka side of Hotel street until we got a little ways past Fort street; then we crossed over to the makai side of Hotel street and walked along that side of Hotel street to Bethel street; then down Bethel to King street; then along King street to the First National Saloon on King street, Ewa of Nuuanu street where we ate our lunch. After our lunch we left about 1 o'clock p. m. and walked up King street towards the Judiciary Building. We walked slowly—stopping a few moments to look in and comment on the new stores of Lewis & Company and Lewers & Cooke. I then stated to the said James H. Black that he had better hurry to court, it being then a few minutes after 1 o'clock, and he went on to the court house; that I was with the said James H. Black during the entire noon hour as aforesaid, and that the said James H. Black did not talk with any one between the Hawaiian Hotel and the First National Saloon; that he did at no time speak to any one about the above entitled case, except that he told me when leaving the Judiciary Building that the court had instructed the jurors not to discuss the case even with themselves; that the said James H. Black did not speak to any one about the jurors or jury; that I have read the affidavit of M. T. Furtado, filed herein, that the said James H. Black did not say to any one during that noon hour in front of the Columbia Saloon, or at any other place, the words attributed to him by said M. T. Furtado in his affidavit, not anything of like character or substance; that I am not acquainted with said Furtado by name nor do I believe by sight, but that said Black did not stop or speak to any one during our walk from the Hawaiian Hotel to the First National Saloon, unless he might have given a good day to same acquaintance in passing."

Black himself swears to a similar statement, and adds: "And that the statements made in the affidavit of said Furtado, are absolutely and entirely false in each and every particular, unless it be true that said Furtado is an attorney-at-law, and, as to that your affiant has no knowledge; that my answers to the questions propounded to me by the counsel for the territory and for the defendant Wright on my examination upon my voir dire were each and every one true; that I was absolutely unprejudiced and unbiased and had no opinion as to defendant's guilt or innocence; that I was entirely impartial and reached my verdict solely upon the evidence given in court and the instructions of the court, and not otherwise."

NEEDED A BATH.

A sad case came up at Baltimore the other day. A woman summoned the health department officials to force her husband to take a bath. She declared he had not bathed for two years. The city legal authorities have been appealed to to see whether there is any law by which the health warden may forcibly administer a bath to the husband.

BOYD ON TRIAL

The trial of James H. Boyd on one of the indictments against him for embezzlement was begun this afternoon before Judge De Bolt. A. G. M. Robertson and Frank E. Thompson appeared for the defense and John W. Cathcart for the prosecution. The court is now engaged in the selection of a jury. Captain J. H. Black and several other Wright case jurors are among the first twelve called for examination.

ALASKAN TREATY RATIFIED

THIS TREATY WAS NEGOTIATED BY SECRETARY HAY AND EMBASSADOR HERBERT, AND PROVIDES FOR AN ARBITRATION OF THE ALASKAN BOUNDARY—THE AMERICAN COMMISSIONERS.

Associated Press Cable to the Star.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 3.—The Senate today ratified the Hay-Herbert treaty providing for a commission to finally determine and fix the Alaskan boundary, a question that has been in dispute for many years. The American commissioners are ex-Secretary of State John W. Foster, Secretary of War Root, and Senator Turner of Washington. The treaty contains the unusual provision that the whole boundary matter is subject to the decision of the arbitrators, though the United States has been exercising jurisdiction over most of the territory in dispute uninterruptedly for many years.

SAW FIRE IN THE VOLCANO

Reports From Kilauea are That the Volcano is Again Showing Activity—Other Hawaii News.

According to advices brought this morning by the steamer Mauna Loa, the party that left today on the steamer Kauai for the volcano will be apt to witness some activity at Kilauea. The officers of the Mauna Loa saw smoke coming from the volcano during all of their stay along the Kau coast.

Returning tourists from the volcano report that they saw fire in the crater last Friday. There was a marked display of fire. In fact the activity in this respect was the most noticeable since the outbreak last November. There was no steam to be seen, however, about inner crater.

Reports from the officers of the Mauna Loa are to the effect that there is a shortage of the water supply at Hutchinson Plantation. This shortage is reported also to have caused the mill to be shut down at Honuapo.

Good weather was experienced throughout the trip by the steamer. The weather was so delightful and calm along the Kau coast that the natives celebrated the event last Saturday with a big luau at Honuapo.

The steamer Kauai is expected to come to Honolulu with 4,000 bags of Honokaa sugar and 2,280 bags of P. S. M. sugar.

DEATH OUTRACES THE COPTIC

WALTER B. CORY AN INVALID BOOKED TO SAIL DIES JUST AS STEAMER ENTERS HARBOR.

Death outraced the Coptic. Walter B. Cory, whose anguished mother expected to sail with him by the Coptic yesterday died during the afternoon.

A somewhat unusual question will arise when the Coptic reaches San Francisco. The remains of the late Walter B. Cory who died yesterday afternoon were shipped by the Coptic, a British vessel, from this port, so that the question of the fine to be paid for violating the coastwise shipping laws will arise over a somewhat gruesome consignment of freight.

Mr. Cory had been in the islands for some time seeking recovery from a complication of illness which included dropsy. For a time he seemed to improve in health. He was accompanied by his mother and a trained nurse. A day or two ago however the patient began to fall rapidly and visibly and it was then decided that Mrs. Cory, passage with him on the Coptic, weak as he was, in the hope that he might reach his home in Rochester, N. Y. before he died. Passage for all, including the nurse was secured, the intention being to pay the fine of $200 which would be inflicted at San Francisco for carrying passengers between this port and that on a British bottom. But Mr. Cory sank rapidly and died just about as the Coptic arrived in this harbor about 1 o'clock in the afternoon. It was then decided that Mrs. Cory, his mother should return and take the remains with her. Accordingly arrangements for this were made. The body was embalmed by H. H. Williams, and was put aboard shortly before the steamer sailed last night.

The Coreys are a prominent and wealthy family of Rochester, New York. Mrs. Corey will be met at San Francisco by another son and a daughter to whom a cable message was sent asking them to come on to San Francisco to meet their mother.

ANDROMEDA IS FUMIGATING.

The bark Andromeda is being fumigated at the Quarantine wharf today. She will sail tomorrow for San Francisco where the repairs on her will be completed.

Influenza is always more or less prevalent at this season of the year. This disease is very similar to a severe cold and if allowed to take its course is liable to cause serious results. The best treatment for influenza is to avoid exposure and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This medicine gives immediate relief and if used as directed, will ward off all dangerous consequences. MONEY SAVED IS MONEY EARNED
Yes, remarked one of Honolulu's old residents I never have saved a cent out of my salary until I joined the Pioneer Building & Loan Association and now this comfortable home you see is the result of money earned by Pioneer Building and Loan savings. The interest earned for 1902 was 11 1/2 per cent. Pioneer Building & Loan Association, Judd Building, Merchant Street. J. L. McLean, President; A. V. Gear, Secretary.

TO TAX SUGAR

An act to provide revenue by the imposition of a tax on sugar was announced in the House this morning, by Representative Oili. The House had a good working session and much was accomplished, all the members showing a disposition to do business.

Senate bill number 17, relating to special malt liquor licenses, was quickly started on its final road to passage. Kumalae moved that it be taken up at once and it passed first reading by title.

Senate concurrent resolution No. 2, asking Congress for a special appropriation for education in Hawaii, was unanimously passed.

The executive committee's resolution regarding citizen labor was laid on the table on motion of Chillingworth to be considered with an act already introduced dealing with the matter.

A petition was presented by Haia from W. K. Keoho of Kipahulu who asks $700 for damages sustained by reason of the government having seized some of his land for a government road. Keoho says that the opening of the road damaged his property and that the bones of his ancestors were dug up by the laborers employed.

House bill number 26, amending the law regarding bicycle lights, etc., was also reported by the printing committee.

Kupihea gave notice of an act to authorize sale of gas for light and power on Oahu and it passed first reading. He also announced an act to amend the law regarding children being on the streets after sundown.

Knudsen announced an act to encourage diversified industries.

Chairman Kupihea of the Committee on Public Lands and Internal Improvements reported in favor of the petition of 29 lessees of government land of Makaoku asking that they be given permission to buy the land. The committee recommended cutting the amount in the petition for a road from Kinau wharf to Waiakea from $3,000 to $2,000. An appropriation for a road from School and Liliha streets to Kamehameha Fourth road was approved; $3,000 instead of $5,000 was approved for lighting King street to Moanalua, and $45,000 instead of $60,000 for a road from the Palikalahine to Puaahuku, Waipio Valley.

Damen gave notice of an act to revise the qualification required of persons who hold office.

Pulaa offered a resolution asking for $65,000 for roads in his district.

Pulaa's act to repeal sections 1481 and 1482 of the penal laws passed first reading.

Palee announced an act to reorganize the Board of Health and to repeal act 60 of the laws of 1892 and chapter 72 of the laws of 1892.

Kumalae gave notice of an act to grant licenses to sell liquor in restaurants in Honolulu, Hilo, Wailuku and Lahaina, also an act to provide for the redemption of property sold under foreclosure.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH REVIVAL

The audience last night at the Christian Church by its size and attention indicated an interest in the revival services that is very encouraging to the pastor. There was one confession and baptism. The subject for tonight is "Hearers and How they Should Hear." This is the second of a series of seven connected evangelistic addresses on "God's Part and Man's Part in Salvation," illustrated by chart and black board diagrams. The pastor invites all to come with their friends and drop a question in the question box. Services short, beginning at 7:30 sharp.

The company is highly regarded, judging by the criticisms of the papers in the Orient, and comprises Miss Janet Waldorf, the young American Actress, Mr. Noreval McGregor and twenty-two other artists. The pieces to be presented will be Sweet Nell of Old Drury, "The Lady of Orend," "Magda," "Zaza," "The Wrong Mr. Wright," "A Royal Divorce," "Facing the Music," "Camille," "Sherlock Holmes," "Pygmalion and Galatea," "Romeo and Juliet," "Twelfth Night," and other successful plays.

A RIDE WITH A MIND READER

To see a blind-folded man drive at a gallop through crowded streets following a course that men with their senses alert had followed; dodging vehicle of all sorts; meeting no accidents in his wild ride; picking out a small American flag from where it had been hidden and then retracing the way to the starting point, was the spectacle that brought out a crowd of a good many hundreds yesterday afternoon. If McVortyndall had announced that he would perform this psychological feat, and he had no lack of interested spectators to see him do it.

The start was made at the Hawaiian Hotel at 4:30 o'clock. Prince David, Mana Wideman, Lieut. H. W. Newton, Alexander Lindsay, W. H. Willis and Dr. Cooper were selected as the committee. The committee first drove in a carriage loaned by J. C. Quinn by a tortuous route leading through all the principal streets of the city to the government storage yards near the naval station where they hid the flag in an ash barrel and then drove back by another route to the hotel. All this was done while Dr. Tyndall remained at the hotel blindfolded. When the committee returned Dr. Tyndall got in the carriage with Prince David, took the reins and while Prince David held his wrist and concentrated his thought on the route taken, the doctor drove at a gallop over the exact course, halted at the ash barrel, picked out the flag reentered the carriage and drove back to the hotel following the route taken by the committee.

DIED. COREY.—At Walkiki, Honolulu, Hawaii March 2, 1902, of dropsy, Walter B. Corey aged about thirty years. He was a resident of Rochester, N. Y., and the remains were embalmed and forwarded to Rochester for interment by the Coptic last evening.

KAAI.—At Honolulu, Hawaii, March 2, 1902, Mrs. Becky K. Kaal, a native of Oahu, aged about forty-one years. She leaves one son, Ernest Kaal, and a brother William H. Kaholokahiki. The remains lay in state at the undertaking establishment of H. H. Williams this forenoon. Many friends came to pay the last token of respect. Wailing and moans in the Hawaiian style were continued throughout the earlier part of the day. The casket was buried beneath flowers and leis. The funeral will be held this afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock.

SAW THE WHALER GAYHEAD. Captain Mosher of the steamer Waialeale which arrived this morning from Kilauea, reports that he saw a whaling bark about 30 miles off Anahola point yesterday, steering northwest. This sailing vessel was evidently the bark Gayhead which was reported off Kailua last month by the steamer Mauna Loa.

Important Reasons

Why Herring-Hall-Marvin Safe Co.'s Safes and Locks are the Best?

The concrete filling makes these safes absolutely Fire-Proof and positively Damp-Proof. The solid angle corners add greatly to their security in time of fire, and form the only solid corners made. The patent Bolt Work is superior to any in use and does not require the constant oiling, cleaning, and repairs that is acknowledged in other makes of safes. That although 600,000 of these safes are now in use and many thousands have been tested by some of the most disastrous conflagrations in the United States, THERE IS NOT A SINGLE INSTANCE ON RECORD WHERE ONE OF THEM EVER FAILED TO PRESERVE ITS CONTENTS PERFECTLY. They make safes for county treasurers, county recorders, county clerks, jewelers, Hotels, residences, churches and corporations. We have a large assortment of safes on hand and will be pleased to show same.

THE MASTERY OF MYSTERY

WONDERFUL DEMONSTRATIONS OF PSYCHIC PHENOMENA BY DR. ALEXANDER M'IVOR TYNDALL.

Dr. McIvor-Tyndall, the "Marconi of the Mind," as he calls himself, gave a thoroughly enjoyable entertainment to a large house at the Opera House Saturday evening.

Dr. Tyndall is a student and demonstrator along the lines of thought transference and mental telepathy, and in those phenomena which for want of generally accepted information relating to their laws, are grouped under the classification of "psychic phenomena."

One of his most interesting experiments was one that Washington Irving Bishop gained much of his fame by doing. This was to pick out a word in a book which the committee had selected, giving page and line, and even the number of the word on the line.

Dr. McIvor-Tyndall gives two more entertainments at the Opera House of his wonderful powers and of his wonderful control of the laws of such phenomena. These are tonight (Tuesday) and Thursday evening.

CREW OF ALEXANDER McNEIL.

The Coptic had aboard Captain Jorgensen and eight members of the crew of the American bark Alexander McNeil which foundered on Pinnac Reef about 160 miles south-east of Hongkong the night of December 23.

The first mate and four men went in a boat to inspect four other wrecks that lay on the reef. The mate's boat went back to the McNeil for provisions and when supplies were refused as Captain Jorgensen feared evidently that they would desert the others, the small boat was towed away and nothing has since been heard of it.

THE CUBAN TREATY.

The Cuban Treaty has caused a very great deal of friction already, and there seems yet to be trouble looming ahead. From the point of view of the sugar raisers of the United States, whether beet growers or cane growers, the prospect of a free sugar from Cuba, the greatest cane growing country in the world, could only appear disastrous. From this direction, therefore has come a strong opposition.

Were Cuba an integral portion of the United States, governed by the same laws concerning labor, the matter would be entirely different. But Cuba is not an integral part of the United States. It is an independent Republic free to make its own laws regarding labor, free to make its own treaties without regard to the United States. This puts the sugar growing portions of the United States at a decided disadvantage.

There is nothing to prevent Cuban planters from running in as much cheap labor from the Orient as they may desire. To those unacquainted with the population statistics of the West Indies it would be a surprise to learn how large the Oriental population is. There is nothing in the world to prevent a contract system being adopted by the Cuban Republic. In point of fact with a treaty such as that proposed the Cuban planters will have no handicap while every sugar producer in the Union will be seriously handicapped when he comes to run against Cuba.

The President, in his dealing with Cuba, has shown a sentimental side, which few would give him credit for. Cuba gave him military fame throughout the world, for whatever the Rough Riders did or did not do in the Cuban war, their name overshadowed the names of any other regiment engaged in the war. Then his intimate connection with Governor Wood made him still more sympathetic towards Cuba. It may be an unconscious sentimentalism, but it undoubtedly is the one soft spot in the President's armor. He regards Cuba from the Cuban standpoint and not from that of the United States.

The Cuban Sugar question, moreover, does not merely affect the sugar growers of the United States, but it affects other sugar countries as well. The Cuban Treaty will discriminate against countries which already have commercial treaties with the United States, and these are beginning to look after their commercial interests, already secured, and will naturally desire equal facilities and immunities as Cuba may enjoy. All this will add considerably to the difficulties of the situation, and we may feel satisfied that the ratification of the Cuban treaty will meet with considerable opposition in spite of the call for an extraordinary session, unless the party strings are drawn very much tighter than at present appears possible. Moreover the Senate very much resents any action which savors of coercion.

DIPLOMATIC LANGUAGE.

French continues to hold its own as a diplomatic language when the many tongued European powers meet for discussion. French is to be the official language of the Hague tribunal. The day will come when English and not French will have to be the international language. The use of French as a diplomatic language dates from the time of Louis XIV, when French fashion, French literature, French cooking were all eagerly copied, and French influence and French art alike dominated every court in Europe, great or small.

In those days were built dozens upon dozens of palaces modelled upon Versailles. One can see these imitations of French grandeur in every country in Europe, for the admiration for such models remained long after the Great Louis was in his grave. You note it in the name of Frederick's Sans Souci, you can still see it in the mildewed palace of the Hanoverian kings, you can trace it in the imperial garden of Peterhof, but it finds no home in Great Britain.

With this over shadowing of French standards, came the over shadowing of French language. Latin had been the diplomatic language of Europe, and Latin Secretary was an important post in every government, as through his hands passed all diplomatic correspondence, and under his eye came all correspondence from abroad. Milton was Latin Secretary of England during a part of his life. French replaced Latin, and it became a necessary part of the equipment of any person of culture to speak and write French. Whatever else they might not know, at least they had to know French, and some fearful and wonderful French it was, as a reference to documents and correspondence of the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries will show.

Of late years the tendency has been away from the French language, but when European polyglotism meets some common vehicle of speech has to be chosen, and French still holds its lead. By the end of this century that lead will be lost in all probability.

CANNOT GO HUNTING.

President Roosevelt Followed by Too Many Correspondents.

President Roosevelt does not expect the pleasure of any hunting this year. It is a great disappointment to him, but he is getting tired of that kind of sportsman's hunt with red-fire accompaniments and vivid newspaper stories. Those who know him realize that his is the true spirit of the hunter. The thrilling ride or dash after the game, the quick shot in the solitude of the woods, and communion with nature as exemplified in the trees, in the noises of the birds and the animals, and otherwise, are what he longs for. He sees no way of getting it, however, because of the persistence with which he is followed by newspaper men, and he does not want to "play to the galleries." It is absurd to him, and while his whole nature yearns for a few weeks of complete disappearance from public affairs, public men and the newspapers, he has not been able to evolve any plan that will secure him just what he wants.

It has been suggested to him that Secretary Cortelyou communicate with the three press associations of the country and with all the leading newspapers and ascertain if they will not agree to call their correspondents off the trail of the President long enough to let him disappear into the Yellowstone Park with a few close friends and there enjoy himself as he did years ago, before he became President. Something of the kind may finally be done, but there is not one to make promise for the hosts of smaller newspapers and for independent newspaper and magazine writers who would follow close after the President, and necessitate the maintenance of a guard to prevent access to him. The President does not want to do this. It would look too much like monarchy for his democratic nature, and yet there is a longing in his whole make-up to get one more chance at the bear family, many of the relatives of which so completely evaded him when he slipped away into the Mississippi swamps last November. There are bears in abundance in the Yellowstone, and western senators and representatives are placing before the President the most alluring stories of the fine sport he would have if he should go there.

The President has promised to go west and to the Pacific coast this spring and summer, and he will begin his journey in April, going first to St. Louis to assist in breaking ground for the great exposition. From there he will journey slowly westward, making a longer trip than that of the late President McKinley nearly two years ago. To breathe the atmosphere and freedom of the western plains and mountains and yet be deprived of a hunt will be a sore punishment to the President, and his friends are almost sure to try to arrange a plan by which he can escape the glaring headlines and the sensational stories of newspapers.

The President recognizes the deep interest that would attach to his movements and the desire of the public to keep track of his doings, but he does not think it is necessary that everything he does should be chronicled minutely each day, especially full details of the escape of every bear.—Washington Star.

burglar in evening dress, who suddenly appeared in her rooms on the Boulevard de Port Royal without knocking at her door or being announced by her servant. The actress was preparing to retire for the night when she heard strange noises in her drawing room. Going in there she found herself face to face with a tall dark man in evening dress and soft slippers, who appeared to be about 40 years old. As the actress entered the stranger dropped on one knee and made a declaration of love. He said that he had watched her on the stage with admiration, that he had tried to see her at the theater and having failed to do so had resolved to enter her residence, even at the risk of being taken for a burglar. The actress was much annoyed, but believing the man's story allowed him to go away without raising any alarm. The stranger disappeared quickly when the door was opened for him and the actress subsequently found that before she had laid her footsteps in her salon he had broken open her Louis Quinze table, there had abstracted from the drawers all her money and some jewels.

The Dreamer.

He sat alone in his attic room. His head was bowed, his face tense and hard, his eyes seemed to look into the unfathomable depths of the future. In the gloom of the dying day he too seemed to feel that even as the warring light was fading away so was his sun of hope and ambition setting forever. Failure after failure had been his unjust reward, yet even as he felt the presence of the spectre then at his elbow, waiting until he should say "I fail," a new light seemed to shine from out his wearied eyes. Visions passed in quick succession, the dark visaged phantoms of failure faded slowly away; new forms appeared before him; he saw a ray of the sun of success shine upon the dark shadows; again he saw almost within his grasp the god of his hopes. He sprang suddenly to his feet, his whole life seemed to be on fire. Then summoning all his strength he cried: "Eureka! The Douglas Patent Closet is guaranteed against leakage and the annoyance of running water."

THE AWFUL PUBLICITY.

A pathetic story is semi-officially published in Washington concerning the president's desire to go hunting. He would like to take another trip after bears this year, but he has almost abandoned the idea owing to the impossibility of leaving newspaper reporters, "magazinists" and the camera brigade at home. The awful publicity of the last bear hunt in Mississippi is an experience that the true hunter never covets. In this crisis, almost of despair, it has been suggested to the president that his secretary open negotiations with the newspapers and press associations to induce them to ignore the next bear or lion hunt. The suggestion has a plausible look, but the more it is examined the more difficult it is to believe in its practicability. If the newspapers should call off their reporters, the field would be left to the "magazinists," who would follow in a drove the president's trail and would serve up the hunt as a "coop," a month afterward. If the president's adventures are to be chronicled at all, let us have them day by day.—Springfield Republican.

MANY NEW BILLS IN THE HOUSE.

Kaniho's Plan to Make Many Lawyers—Acts to Amend Civil and Penal Statutes Are Introduced.

A number of new bills and notices of bills made their appearance in the House yesterday afternoon. Kaniho gave notice of an act fixing the punishment for illicit distilling at $500 fine and imprisonment for not more than one year; an act to provide that none but citizens shall be employed on public works, and an act to provide for a Commissioner of Transportation, to have supervision of all transportation companies. All passed first reading by title.

Pulaa introduced bills fixing the penalty for larceny in the first degree at a maximum of ten years and for second degree larceny at nine months' imprisonment and a fine not exceeding $1,000. An act to define penalties for malicious injury was also introduced by Pulaa.

Knudsen gave notice that he would introduce bills providing for the reorganization of the judiciary department, by amending sections 2, 5, 6, 15, 22, 26, 30 (as amended by act 19 of the laws of 1901), 31 (as amended by act 6 of the special session of 1895), 33 (as amended by act 2 of laws of 1898), 36, 37, 38 (as amended by act 56 of the laws of 1898), 49, 53, 56 (as amended by act 12 of the laws of 1896), 59, 71, 74 (as amended by section 2 of act 4 of the laws of 1898), 75 and 80, and repealing sections 25, 28, 34 and 35 thereof.

Pacle was given leave to introduce bills, which passed first reading, as follows: Defining and providing for any influencing or attempting to influence voters; providing qualifications for persons elected or appointed to offices in the Territory.

Wright gave notice that he would introduce a bill giving the government the right to condemn waste or uncultivated lands and to make them a part of the public domain. This is an adaptation of the New Zealand land law.

Andrade gave notice of and was permitted to introduce bills as follows, they passing first reading by title: Amending the act relating to exemption of wages, making one half such wages exempt; providing for collection of debts from government beneficiaries; relating to divorce, separation, and annulment of marriages.

Knudsen also introduced the bill for reorganization of the judiciary.

Kaniho also introduced a bill providing that all persons having had licenses to practice in district courts for three years preceding shall be given a license to practice in all the courts of the Territory.

Wright gave notice that he would introduce a bill providing that 25 per cent of all government realizations be set aside as a sinking fund for purchasing private lands for homesteads.

Fernandez introduced his bill, which passed first reading, providing for a right of action for damages for death caused by wrongful act, neglect or default.

pressed satisfaction with the present system and spoke against any change to the district system. The petitions were referred to the Committee on Health and Education.

A CONTENTED WOMAN.

Aside from form or features, she has an attractiveness all her own. The bloom on her cheek, the elasticity in her step, the ring of her voice, her enjoyment of life—all these are magnets which draw others to her side. Wonderful and valuable as it is, health is not so difficult a thing to obtain as some discouraged ones think. Most of the troubles of women arise from impure blood, impaired nutrition, low vitality and general debility. Modern science furnishes the most successful of remedies for these conditions, namely WAMPOL'S PREPARATION. It is palatable as honey and contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. Taken before meals it improves the appetite, makes fat, restores vitality, enriches the blood and cures those weaknesses peculiar to the sex, which are the seat of their troubles. It is a blessing to Tired Wives, Nursing Mothers and Girls growing into womanhood. It colours the pale faces and rounds out the hollow chests. In a word, it nourishes and develops the entire body, and brings happy surprises to feeble, hopeless and discouraged sufferers. Dr. E. J. Boyes says: "I have found it a preparation of great merit. In a recent case a patient gained nearly twenty pounds in two months' treatment, in which it was the principal remedial agent." It is the typical medicinal success of our age, for time has proved our claims are supported by results, and a remedy which acts in harmony with nature's own efforts and processes. No demand has been made upon it for relief and cure, that has not met with instant response. Effective from the first dose. "You cannot be disappointed in it." At chemists.

PERTINENT AND TO THE POINT

A VERY PERTINENT AND ALSO A REASONABLE QUERY. WHY?

Don't the managers buy all the stock themselves, if the Phoenix is such a good money-making proposition? Is what a great many people ask, when we speak of our director list and the immense financial standing and profits of this company. This question has been asked us thousands of times, and when we find one interested sufficiently to ask these pertinent points we know that they want stock. It is the one question above all others that shows interest in the matter and that they are a thinking person.

First: We would not allow them to buy all of the stock.

2d: If our directors and other large financiers and bankers took all of the stock, who would borrow the money? Do you suppose they are in the banking business to borrow money from themselves? No.

3rd: In offering the same inducements to the small shareholders as to the large and giving an equitable distribution of the profits to all, we are extending our field of operations for loans, which is the life of the business. A great many people save up for a few years until they have sufficient, with what money they obtain from us, to buy a house and lot for themselves and own it complete in a few years more.

4th: If you were a stockholder in any of the good banks in the United States would you advise a man to go to a different bank if he should ask you regarding a deposit or a loan? No. Well, then, why should not the shareholders of the Phoenix throw all their influence towards their own company, when they know that it increases their dividends, rather than throw it somewhere else?

5th: The best advertisement that we can get is the selling of this stock to such a large number of people (up to a certain limit) as the fact of being able to buy co-operative bank stock on installments is something the average man seldom thinks about until it is brought to his attention by our manner and method if doing so, and he, in turn, would not throw anything in the way of someone else taking the stock. Don't you think so?

6th: The distribution of the stock of this company over a large area of territory (over 500 localities) to such a large number of individuals in small lots. No maturities of large amount due at a time make it far safer than money placed among a small number of individuals in large lots, and such a large quantity due at one time would compel us to keep cash on hand which would not be earning anything (something we avoid always), and would also make us not so safe as we are.

7th: The distribution of this stock over such a large area of territory gives us a distributive class of loans, so if dull times come in one territory good times in another would overbalance it. This keeps money from going to a point we watch very closely, and prevents any quantity of property where we have loans from coming back.

8th: The demand for loans created by our large membership, secured by selling to others besides the managers is more than the money received from the monthly installment stock. This enables our managers to make additional purchases of stock also. This partly explains one of the main objects in putting such an attractive proposition before the public.

There is only one way to accomplish above results, that is, to give each member from the smallest to the largest an equal division of profits according to amount invested.

Wouldn't you like to be a partner with the men whose names are at the end of this article, and know that they are managing your money by side of their own? They have been singularly successful in business, and the judgment of competent, successful men is better than of an individual successful man (if you have been successful), why not try one of several classes of our stock. Class A, sixty cents share, payments limited to one hundred to make $100.00. (Soon to be withdrawn). Another stock to take its place, 70 cents per share (ten different options on this class). Class C, $100 per share, 6 per cent per annum, payable semi-annual.

A Bad Skin

Prick your skin with a needle. You will see it is full of blood, full all the time. But what kind of blood? Rich and pure? Or thin and impure? Pure blood makes the skin clear, smooth, healthy. Impure blood covers the skin with pimples, sores, boils, eczema, eruptions, tetter, salt-rheum.

Mr. Frank Hewett, of Kailoortle, W. A., sends his photograph and tells what cured him. "When a boy my skin broke out in bad sores about my hands. After trying a great many remedies in vain, I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla and was quickly cured. Recently I was troubled again with severe boils, but one bottle of the same old remedy completely cured me. It's the greatest blood-purifying medicine in the world."

SCHOOLS OF THE TERRITORY

SOME OF THE INTERESTING THINGS IN THE REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION—ADVANCE OF THE SCHOOLS—NATIONALITY AND NUMBER OF PUPILS.

The annual report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction has been submitted to the Governor by the Superintendent, A. T. Atkinson. The working of the department is clearly set forth in detail in a large number of tabulations. Among the interesting features of the report are the following:

As far as the intellectual work in the schools is concerned it is a pleasure to report that it has been most satisfactory throughout the group. The Inspectors report a great interest in all branches of school work, the teachers devoting themselves to advancement in their profession and in consequence bringing before their pupils better and more highly cultivated ideas. The various Reading Circles and teachers' meetings have very largely helped towards this excellent result and the Inspectors are to be congratulated upon their work in organizing these circles, and in inspiring the teachers with the desire for self-improvement.

But if our actual school work has kept improving, the condition of our buildings is far from satisfactory in many cases. The last legislature failed to appropriate money for the most necessary buildings, and the consequence is that some places have had to go without schools, and others have had to do the best they could with the veriest make-shifts. In addition to this the Department having, as the other Departments, been placed upon a small pro rata per month, it has been unable to carry out some buildings for which the funds have been appropriated. The total funds asked for building purposes by the Superintendent's report amounted to $185,000 and $20,000 additional was asked for the new buildings of the Industrial School to be established at Waileale. The amount voted by the legislature came to $51,500.00 for new school buildings, and $15,000 for the Industrial School; of this sum there has been expended $7,214.20, leaving a balance of $44,285.80 unexpended. Of this it is to be hoped that the Treasurer will find means to allow the Department at least $20,000 for absolutely pressing needs. There are places in the country districts which are destitute of schools, but without money they cannot be helped.

The total enrollment in all schools of the Territory is 17,518. The enrollment in all public schools on June 20, of this year, when the schools closed for vacation was 13,189, the largest number ever reported. In 1892, the enrollment was 7,148, so that there has been an advance of say 6,000 during the decade. These pupils are instructed by 380 teachers. The enrollment of the private or independent schools is 4,329 as against 3,012 in 1892, an advance, say, 1,300 in the decade. These schools receive instruction from 229 teachers.

The nationality of pupils in the schools is varied, there being no less than eleven divisions. The comparative table will show that while the Hawaiian school children of unmixed blood have somewhat decreased, the Hawaiian children of mixed blood have increased. Ten years ago, in 1892, the number of Hawaiians of unmixed blood numbered 5,353 and the Hawaiians of mixed blood, or part-Hawaiians, reported 1,866, or 7,218 in all. At the present time, 1902, there are 4,904 Hawaiians and 2,869 part-Hawaiians, making a total of 7,772, an increase of 500 children who claim Hawaiian ancestors.

In the same period of time the Portuguese children attending school have increased from 2,253 to 4,125, or have practically doubled, the increase being close on 2,000 during the ten years. The increase of Portuguese children attending school has been four times that of those of Hawaiian descent. On the other hand, if we eliminate the Hawaiians of pure blood, we find the increase of the part-Hawaiian to be very close to the increase of the Portuguese, the part-Hawaiian showing an advance of 1,297 children in school during the ten years. This increase, of course, does not come from importation, but from the natural increase of families born and brought up here. On the other hand, among the Japanese a number of children were born in Japan and brought here.

Some idea of the increase of Japanese population can be gathered from the fact that in 1892 there were but 60 Japanese children in school, while in 1902, ten years later, there were 1,933. Chinese children have increased in the decade from 853 to 1,395. These form the main source from which our schools are recruited. The Porto Ricans, though only about two years in the country, show up to the number of 596.

To instruct this heterogeneous mass of pupils the public schools employ 380 teachers, and the private schools 229. This gives an average of 34 pupils to each public school teacher, and an average of 19 pupils to every teacher in the private schools. The public school work, therefore, is a great deal harder than the work in most of the private schools.

Of the nationalities employed in the teaching force of the public schools 58 are Hawaiians and 59 are part-Hawaiians, making 117 teachers of Hawaiian descent, every one of whom has passed through the schools of the Territory, and the majority holding certificates from the Board of Education, obtained by examination, or from the Territorial Normal School after a three years' course. American teachers, however, head the list with 188 individuals. Of these, while many come from the mainland, a large percentage are supplied from those born and brought up on the Islands, and some of the most useful and progressive of our teachers are the product of our own public schools and Normal School. The Portuguese and Scandinavians employed as teachers in the public schools have mostly all been brought up in the Territorial schools. They are the descendants of immigrants who came here as laborers in the first instance. They all earn good salaries. There is a case here of a Portuguese young lady, whose parents came to work on the plantations, receiving wages of $20 to $25 a month. She distinguished herself in school, studied and passed her examinations for a first-class certificate, and having occupied positions as assistant is now principal of a large school at a salary of $1,000 a year, and a good prospect of future advancement.

T. THOMAS FORTUNE AND HIS MISSION

THE WASHINGTON POST STRONGLY TRAVERSES FORTUNE'S THEORY OF NEGRO LABOR FOR HAWAIIAN PLANTATIONS—CALLS HIM SOME STRONG NAMES.

The following regarding T. Thomas Fortune who was recently here as a commissioner to investigate the labor question of Hawaii, is published as an editorial in the Washington Post of February 16:

It seems that the activities of Mr. T. Thomas Fortune, the colored commissioner sent by the administration to Hawaii and the Philippines to inquire into the conditions there as regards negro labor from the United States—it seems, we say, that his activities are bearing fruit. We all remember, of course, that a few days after reaching Honolulu Mr. Fortune told the local newspapers that Hawaii offered the most-halcyon opportunities for the American negro, and declared that 10,000 or more of them could be at once provided with profitable employment—the other millions to come on later. The Post promptly took issue with the commissioner, even venturing to say that Mr. T. Thomas Fortune, a resident of New York, was no more qualified to pronounce upon the needs of the Southern negro than upon the proper interpretation of the cuneiform inscriptions. The man is a professional negro leader, a politician, and a "journalist." He is not in sympathy with the laboring masses of his race. He knows nothing about them, their ideas, their environment, or their aspirations. And it was a triumph of effrontery on his part to proclaim, as he did, that Southern negroes could be transported to Hawaii with advantage to themselves or benefit to the country.

Now, it appears, Mr. Commissioner Fortune's absurd proclamation has produced the natural and logical consequence. It has been passed around in newspapers and discussed by the negroes throughout the South. The poor, credulous creatures, still impervious to the teachings of experience, still easy victims of the most vulgar and transparent imposture, have evidently accepted Commissioner Fortune's picture of El Dorado and are ready to follow the first pioneer to another disappointment and disaster. Here is an extract from the Hawaiian Star of January 22:

"CAN SEND NEGROES.

"At the meeting of the Merchants' Association yesterday the following letter was read by Secretary W. W. Harris:

"Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 25, 1902. 'The Merchants' Association, Honolulu, Hawaii.

"Dear Sir: I note in today's press dispatches a communication from Hon. T. Thomas Fortune, special labor commissioner sent to your islands by Hon. Mr. Shaw, Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, in re scarcity of labor with you for the plantation. If you will place me in touch with the proper parties, who would be willing to advance transportation from this section to your country, and in addition allow me a reasonable per capita remuneration for my services in gathering them together, I can furnish from 1,000 to 10,000 of our Southern negroes, the best farm laborer in the world. Hoping to hear from you, I am, very truly yours, S. K. WILLIAMSON."

"This letter was referred to the Hawaiian Planters' Association as being the organization to which the information it contained would be of the most interest."

The sinister ferment is at work. Negro agents have begun to run about, telling the ignorant and the trustful that the land of promise awaits them, holding out glittering visions of plenty and ease and exaltation; of course, demanding the usual retainer in advance. This Williamson we know nothing about. But the evil effect of Commissioner Fortune's activities are only too apparent. He has set in motion a machinery of deception and extortion, of false hope and bitter disappointment. The Hawaiian sugar planters do not want the class of negroes that are willing to leave their homes in this country. The kind of negroes ready to embark upon such an adventure are not worth their salt. Surely there must be some way of arresting the pestiferous mischief. Surely Mr. Commissioner Fortune's suggestions can be neutralized, and and innocent negro rescued from the scheme of plunder which has been outlined only too clearly.

It is difficult to deal effectively with a class so credulous, so innocent, so utterly surrendered to superstition. Our duty, however, is clear before us. We must save these helpless people if we can.

AFTER THE EWA POLICE. The Hawaii Shippo recently made charges that certain of the police of the Ewa district were engaged in a scheme to fleece ignorant and helpless Japanese. The acting Japanese consul investigated the report as did Editor Shigezawa. The matter was also brought to the attention of the attorney general and high sheriff. The latter stated that he had not completed his investigation. He had found certain evidence that tended to corroborate to an extent, the claim that some of the police were not doing their duty properly. The custom with officers of that district has been whenever a man is arrested and it is desired by the prisoner to avoid going all the way to the Ewa court house, that friends of the prisoner deposit cash bail for him with the officer. The latter turns in this money to the department. Many Japanese seem to think that the money is held out by the police. Twenty-five cents pays for a Want ad in the Star, A bargain.
