SCOTT IS APPOINTED

MADE TEMPORARY RECEIVER OF KONA.

Advices from Hawaii Yesterday Tell of the Selection of M. F. Scott as Receiver for the Plantation.

Advices received yesterday from Kona announce the appointment of a temporary receiver for the Kona Sugar Co. M. F. Scott was appointed to that position by Judge Edging, before whom the proceedings were begun. This appointment was made it is understood as the result of an agreement among the various creditors of the Kona Sugar Company and those concerned in the appointment of a receiver. His bond was fixed at $50,000. S. M. Damon is still at Kona, investigating the situation, and is expected home on the Mauna Loa tomorrow.

It is regarded as likely, that Mr. Damon will take favorable action regarding the advancement of funds for taking off the crop, for Mr. Scott is said to have been satisfactory to him.

The new mill of the Kona Sugar Company has been completed, and it is expected that grinding will commence tomorrow. The mill was tested and works well. The idea in starting the grinding tomorrow is, in all probability, to give the field hands a chance to get a sufficient quantity of cane hauled to supply the mill. For the present, the capacity of the mill will be 12 tons a day, of 12 hours, but as soon as the triple effect will have been added to the mill, the capacity will be doubled.

INJURED LITTLE BOY

APPARENTLY FLAGRANT CASE IN COURT.

Chinese Hack Driver Alleged to Have Knocked Down and Run Over Japanese Child Saturday Night.

Goa Wai, a Chinese hack driver, was before Judge Wilcox this morning to answer to a charge of having driven his horse, heedlessly and furiously last Saturday night on Alakoa street near Kane. According to the statements of a native named Kane, the case is a very flagrant one.

Kane says that he saw the Chinese driver back along Alakoa street at a very rapid rate of speed, and when near the corner of King street, the hack struck a small boy, knocking him down, one of the wheels passing over the child's face.

Instead of stopping to see if the child had been seriously injured, and offering to do anything for the little fellow, Kane states that the Chinese driver, who he meant by running over the little child, and then hurriedly without trying to see if he could injure the child. The Chinese is also alleged to have replied that it was not his fault and a Japanese and then begged Kane to let the hack continue. Kane is said to have so and, in company with a Japanese, placed the Chinese in the hack and drove him to the police station. The case was continued by Judge Wilcox until tomorrow.

The police fined three drivers $5 each for running for having left their horses unattended.

INDISCREET MAN WAS INDISCREET.

J. K. Makoelani was before Judge Wilcox this morning, to answer to two charges of violating the liquor laws. Deputy High Sheriff Chillingworth went to the saloon of Makoelani yesterday and bought a glass of gin. He assumed as Makoelani had only a beer license, it is alleged that he violated two sections of the liquor laws, one by violating the beer license provision, as well as selling liquor on Sunday. The cases were continued until tomorrow.

LEPERS SAY KALAUPAPA IS UNDERMINED.

Claim They Can Hear Water Washing Under Their Homes, Hundreds of Yards from the Sea.

According to the statements of residents at the Leper Settlement, there is danger of the whole peninsula disappearing. From what they say, the entire district especially in the vicinity of Kalaupapa, has been undermined by the ocean and it is a question of comparatively a few years before the land caves down into the sea.

The basis of such an opinion is the fact, so they claim, that they can distinctly hear the working of the water underneath the peninsula. This peculiar noise can be heard before and after a high tide and when there is a very heavy surf running. Lepers who reside at Kalaupapa some distance away from the ocean, say that they can hear the noise of the water, underneath the land.

They have noticed this strange noise for some years past. At first, no attention was paid to it, but finally some one, with a more inquiring turn of mind than his neighbors, studied the noise and finally made out that it was due to the action of the waters, as they rushed underneath the land from the sea. This noise is not always distinguishable but by paying attention, especially during the heavy surf, just preceding and just after high tide, the peculiar murmur can be detected.

When this statement was first made by the lepers, it was suggested that perhaps the noise of the waters might have been due to those in the old crater which lies between Kalaupapa and Kilauea. This crater is a little over a mile from Kalaupapa, and the water which lies at the bottom is affected by the tides, rising and falling according to the action of the ocean waters.

While this was the original starting point of the theory, it is said that the internal noise of the waters, is not due to the movements of the comparatively small amount of water which rises and falls in that crater. The water is believed to have begun to undermine the leper peninsula, from the point by the crater and now, at the end of many years, has gradually worked inward toward the high cliffs, until the structure under the settlement, is little more than a marine cave.

Whether this theory, which is suggested by some of the few who have paid attention to the alleged noise of the undermining tides, is correct, can not be stated. The theory, on its face, appears plausible but whether the alleged undermining of the peninsula, has attained the degree, which would be indicated by hearing the noise of the washing tides, is a matter which many will doubt.

Those who have observed the matter, however, seem certain that the days of the peninsula are numbered, and are beginning to think that they will all cave into the sea some of these days.

NEW ROAD ORDERED

A road jury consisting of J. H. Soper, Frank Harvey, T. J. King, Thomas Wall, Charles Falk, and T. E. Peck, accompanied by High Sheriff Brown, visited the premises of Mrs. Ward in Kawaio this morning, for the purpose of deciding on the advisability of ordering a road cut through from King street to join Ala Moana, or the Beach Road. After wading about through the mud and having a disagreeable time, the jury decided that the road should be cut through. Mr. Boyd, of the land department, accompanied the jury and explained the purpose of opening the road. It is understood that Mrs. Ward donates the right of way.

LAWYERS KHEDD.

In the petition of Mrs. Lennie Hopper Barth against W. H. Barth her husband, charging him with cruelty and non-support, and praying for relief, it is alleged that W. H. HOME RULERS WANT DREIER

CLAIM THAT THEIR CANDIDATE IN THE FOURTH DISTRICT IS QUALIFIED.

SECRETARY COOPER AND THE BALLOT PRINTING.

Home Rulers Have the Right to Nominate Again if Dreier Can Withdraw From the Fight.

The Home Rule Republicans are opposed today to stand by the nomination of August Dreier, and if Secretary Cooper decides not to print Dreier's name on the official ballots they will probably ask the courts for a writ of mandamus to compel him to do so. It is claimed that the section of the law under which Dreier appears to be ineligible is unconstitutional, also that his provisions were intended to apply to voters and not to candidates.

Under the section in question, which provides for special elections in the registration list of the next preceding regular election shall be used, many voters in the fourth district are deprived of the franchise. It is well known that there have been many changes in the population of the district since the last registration. A lot of voters have left and many more have come in. Lorvin Andrews stated at the Republican meeting on Saturday that the Young Men's Republican club had been investigating and had found that a very large portion of the voters of the last election were not in the district now. All the newcomers are deprived of a vote by the law which the Home Rulers would like to knock out.

This morning there were a number of conferences between Home Rule leaders. Prince Cupid said that the party would stand by Dreier, and was of the opinion that Cooper ought to keep out of the proposition altogether. It is claimed that as the nomination has been regularly filed and accepted and endorsed as filed by the Secretary there is nothing for him to do but go ahead and print the tickets accordingly. Prince Cupid said that it was a matter which the legislature might settle for itself.

It is even more certain that each has acknowledged right to decide as to the qualification of its members. C. A. Long and other leaders stated that it was almost certain that the party would insist upon Dreier running as the party candidate. The party will be left to the attorneys to settle, and if the Home Rulers are advised that they are in the right, they will ask for a writ of mandamus to compel Cooper to put their candidate on the ticket, if he does not do so of his own motion.

Cooper stated this morning that he was looking up the law on the proposition. The question was brought up in the meeting of the Executive Council, but no decision was reached. If August Dreier should legally withdraw as a candidate for the legislature in the Fourth District, the Home Rulers have the right to make another nomination. This may be done at any time before the election though the name of a new candidate cannot be printed on the ballot, the law having provided that should Dreier withdraw, the Home Rulers might make another nomination, and the name of the candidate would be officially posted at the polling places.

There is some question as to whether Dreier can make a legal withdrawal. It is not a candidate at all, as is claimed by the Republicans, he cannot withdraw, and the Home Rulers will not even be able to name another man. The provisions of the election law on the subject are as follows:

"Upon receipt of the Interior Office of a nomination of a candidate, the day, hour, and minute when it was received shall be endorsed thereon.

"Provided, however, that in case of the withdrawal or death of a candidate, a new nomination by the party may be filed or withdrawn, may be made irrespective of such limit of time, with the inspectors of Election of the Districts in which such death or withdrawal has taken place, and the fee herein required deposited with them.

"In such case a voter only, while voting, may write the name of any such new candidate upon the ballot, and for it as herein provided.

"Section 27. Any candidate may withdraw before an election, by giving notice to the Minister in writing.

"If a candidate shall withdraw after the printing of the ballots such candidate shall also notify in writing the inspectors of election of the precincts in which he was a candidate; and the inspectors shall post before the opening of the polls on election day a notice of such withdrawal, or of the death of any candidate, and also the name or names of any new candidates, at the polling place."

MANY FIRE ALARMS

THE WHISTLE WILL BE BUSY TOMORROW.

Electrician Hesson to Test the New System by Turning in Alarms From All the Boxes.

The fire alarm system of automatically registering boxes installed on the Guinness system is now completed and ready to turn over to the authorities. A final test will be made tomorrow by City Electrician Hesson who will visit the sixty boxes scattered through the town limits and possibly test each and every one of them by turning in an alarm. This will be done in the same manner that any citizen may do hereafter, by turning the lever projecting on the outside of the box to the right, opening the door of the box and pulling down the handle exposed inside. The directions are also on the outside of each box in embossed metal lettering. The alarm will be promptly answered by the blowing of the whistle presented by the local Board of Underwriters and installed at the Electric Light works. The number of blasts will designate the district from which the alarm has been turned in and towards which the fire engines will be, by the time the whistle has sounded its last blast, galloping at full speed.

Tomorrow the fire engines will stay at home unless there is a genuine alarm, but the whistle will answer the test calls and may be expected at frequent intervals throughout the day. The whistle, which is loud enough to be heard to the suburban limit, is automatic in action and will in future join the chorus of down town time-tellers at noon.

The police system is practically complete, needing only some finishing touches before handing over. They keys to the various boxes which cannot be opened without unlocking, will be placed in the hands of well known citizens, several to each box, and the list will then be published and possibly posted upon the boxes. In those boxes which need unlocking before an alarm can be turned in the key cannot be withdrawn from the lock until the police wagon or an officer arrives to gather necessary details and restore the key with a master key of his own.

The location of the fire alarm boxes and their numbers are as follows:

TURNED INTO A BOG

KING STREET OPPOSITE DEPOT LAKE OF SLUSH.

Public Works Board Has No Filling Material Since the Quarry Was Forced to Shut Down.

The streets in the immediate vicinity of the railroad depot are liquid mud from curb to curb, where there is a curb, this morning after last night's heavy rain. The tram rails of the main cars are completely under the mud and horses splash along the road like water buffaloes in a rice field while foot passengers, crossing the road without getting ankle deep in the slush, which comes over even the stilted Japanese storm shoes, is an impossibility. Commencing from the middle of the King street bridge, the street up to where the hill commences half way opposite the depot is in the condition as described. The road leading to the jail is in similar plight, the ground each side of the railroad tracks being turned into miniature lakes of mud. The short street joining King and Beretania streets just before their union is also more like a bog than a road.

Until the sun dries up the filth, there is no apparent escape for the slush, which fills in the valley between the bridge over Nuuanu stream and the rising ground towards Palama. Assistant Superintendent Marston Campbell states that there is a dearth of filling material to be obtained at present on account of the shutting down of the quarry near the lunatic asylum. Without filling in of some description the stretch opposite the depot will have a surface, even when dried, of dirt that will become liquid again with the lightest shower. There are also several small ponds on top of the dredger deposits being used in raising Aala park.

The Rapid Transit rails, being raised above the general street level are guarded against the mud and the cars run without trouble. Phil's office are used to cross slowly along with the bulk of the traffic. A path has been made across the street opposite the depot entrance but this has been worn away and those wishing to cross to or from the cars are forced to walk a block or so up the road in an endeavor to get across without having the mud come in over the edge of their shoes.

DOUTHITT WAS THERE

MADE FIRST APPEARANCE IN POLICE COURT.

Is to be Specially Detailed in Committal Cases in Judge Wilcox's Court—Japanese Examination Continued.

Assistant Deputy Attorney General E. A. Douthitt made his first appearance in the police court, this morning. There was little necessity however for his attending the session of the district court today as no cases which required his presence were heard. In future, Mr. Douthitt will attend the police court in order to become acquainted with the cases for committal. Deputy High Sheriff Chillingworth will continue to prosecute the offenders as usual and the addition of the prosecuting officer is made for the purpose of enabling the attorney general's department to become thoroughly familiar with the details and evidence of the various cases, where the offenders are committed for trial at the circuit court. The business of prosecution in the district court will be conducted by Mr. Chillingworth.

About the only case for committal, which was called was against Sakimoto. The Japanese is alleged to have cut another Japanese with a knife. The case has been continued for some weeks, owing to the victim of the alleged assault being too ill to appear in court. This morning, Mr. Chillingworth announced that it looked as if the case would have to drop, for he understood that the prosecuting witness had been "squared."

Judge Wilcox was evidently wearied with cases being settled out of court, and he said that a subpoena should be issued for the missing witness. This was done, and the case was set for tomorrow. According to the information given to the police, the defendant is said to have paid $25 to have the case dropped by the other Japanese.

Smothering Spells,

awakening at night with a sense of suffocation, often having to sit up in bed gasping for breath, or rushing to an open window to get fresh air, are sure signs of heart disease. Other signs are palpitation, irregular pulse, pain in left side, fluttering of heart, weak or hungry spells, fainting or sinking spells, swelling of feet and ankles, etc. There is one remedy for a weak or diseased heart, which, if taken in time, will completely restore it to its natural, healthy condition. It's

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure

"My heart was weak and would palpitate at every little noise. I could not take any exercise without causing my heart to pound and throb in a dreadful manner. I could not sleep at night, my feet were badly swollen and I began having smothering spells so severe that I thought I should die in one of them. The doctors failed to give me any relief and seeing an advertisement of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure I sent for my druggist for a bottle and began its use. Improvement began at once and in a few weeks I was as well as ever."

OLD REVOLUTIONIST

A MAN WHO WANTS TO UNITE CENTRAL AMERICA. Domingo Vasquez, Once President of Honduras—Now a Fugitive From His Native Land—His Scheme.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—No one looking for a Central American revolutionist could pick Domingo Vasquez out of a crowd. He has a long and honorable record in the matter of inciting insurrections, but he looks like a prosperous business man whose soul would turn a handspike at the thought of bloodshed. He is small and spare of figure, with straggling white whiskers, and he wears clothes that fit him. It is only his eyes that in any way stamp him as a man out of the ordinary. These are keen as those of a hawk and steady as a leveled gun.

When Vasquez was President of Honduras some years ago he thought out a plan to unite his own country with Guatemala, Costa Rica, Yucatan, Salvador and Nicaragua, and create one powerful republic, with himself as its chief executive. His official duties were slight and he had plenty of time to work out the details. But as soon as he began to put the scheme into practice he encountered opposition of a sort that led him to take the first available steamer for San Francisco. It is said of him that he still instinctively dodges when the door is abruptly closed or the hotel waiter drops a dish.

From a distance Senor Vasquez surveyed his field, and time served only to increase the ardor of his ambitions. So he set sail in the Tucapel, met with disaster in Corinto and is back again. He will not say just what he would have done had the President of Honduras caused his arrest, but he is frank in the matter of his future intentions. "If Central America has any future at all," he said yesterday, "it lies in a combination for mutual benefit. The interests of all the republics are identical and there is no reason why they should not—what you call it?—pool them."

Asked if the office he had held was won in this way, the senior replied, speaking his whiskers with a contemptuous air: "Well, no. I have seen something of revolutions, but I went in on a popular vote myself." A story was printed once that a President of Honduras he had caused the execution of a prominent citizen, one of whom was an Englishman, in order to discourage a threatened revolution. He was reminded of this, and his bright eyes glittered when he replied that the tale was false.

"I do not believe in bloodshed," he continued. "I am a lawyer and not a fighting man. I believe that the union of Central American republics can be brought about by peaceful methods, and I shall devote my life to accomplishing that end. I go East from here to consult with some influential gentlemen who are planning to do so. What we want to do now is to reach the people. We recognize that nothing can be done with the officials, and we will make no further effort to deal with them. Any of us going to Central America to-day with such a suggestion would be put in jail as I was."

"Did you give your promise not to stir up further discord when President Zelaya released you?" was asked. "Senor Vasquez said that was a matter he did not care to discuss," he added. "I was a prisoner but the local constabulary was instructed to take good care of me." He would not tell what the next move in his curious campaign would be. It is said among the many Central Americans in this city that it is not unlikely a well equipped expedition will leave some Eastern port this summer to start an insurrection that will involve the whole country from the Mexican border to the South American line. The report is that the money to pay for such a venture is already raised, and a smile goes round when it is suggested that a policy of moral suasion and beneficent assimilation is to be adopted.

TRACKS UNDER WATER. At six o'clock last evening the Oahu Railroad Company's tracks at Sinal and near by were reported under water and the result was that the water bound cars brought them in to Honolulu three hours behind time. The baggage car left the track but the engine succeeded in running through the water to Ewa mill, where news of the freshet was telephoned and lack secured for raising the baggage car to the tracks. A freshet brought by a thunder storm late in the afternoon and accompanied by large hail stones swept through Ewa plantation removing all the trash and movable cane and occasioned the delay.

MAURICE LOUISOON.

The commercial continuity of Honolulu has suffered a loss in the death of Maurice Louisoon, who for half a life time did business here. Mr. Louisoon was a conservative, careful, honorable merchant. He belonged to the old school of merchants who came to the United States over 100 years ago, and who have founded some of the most powerful financial houses in our country.

In the long record which Mr. Louisoon has made here, containing as far back as 1864, there has never been a word said about his utmost purity of commercial integrity. In his career he came into contact with various cases, but all give him the highest praise that can be given to an honorable and yet a progressive trader.

The business side of Mr. Louisoon's life is naturally better known to the outsiders of his day, but he had a kindly and generous side which few people, except those actually brought into contact with him in such matters would know. His purse was ever open to the calls of charity, and was dipped deeper into than those of others who made an ostentation of charity.

Maurice Louisoon was a typical good citizen. He brought up a large family, and established their well in the world. He helped to build up the prosperity of the city and country in which he had made his home. He was the most kindly hearted of men, and he has left a reputation behind him which is an honor to his widow and his children, and an example to many citizens who might do well to follow in some of his footsteps.

THE ELECTION.

One reason for excluding August Dreier has been discovered, while there is another cause which would cut him out from any chance of representing the Fourth District, but as the present disability has been discovered, it is no use erasing the other which would be fatal. Sufficient for the day is the evil thereof. Candidate Dreier's goose is cooked and a very unsavory goose he will find it when he comes to discuss it.

This use of putting forward a candidate like Mr. Dreier is on a par with everything the Home Rule party does. As a fact it is not a party, it is a set of overgrown and in many cases grey headed boys. The Home Rulers never stop to think whether a thing is legal or not. That is the last thing that they have any consideration for. John Emmelhuth suggested a member to run for the Fourth District in the interest of the Home Rulers, and the gentleman, unfortunately for himself, accepted Mr. Emmelhuth's nomination. But Mr. Emmelhuth was turned down with a dull sickening thud, and Mr. Emmelhuth along with him. Both must feel very kindly to the Home Rulers. Their fate ought to be warning to others who follow in their footsteps, but no such wisdom will be learned. There is always some half baked fool with good ideas and no power to use them, who will affiliate himself with such a party as the Home Rule party and wreck his political and frequently his financial fortunes along with people who will throw him over like a squeezed orange when they have done with him.

Then it is stated that the representatives of the Democratic party endorsed Mr. Dreier. The Democratic party in the Hawaiian Islands is small. But small as it is one does not believe that it is made of fools. That the Home Rule party should put forward a man who was utterly ineligible, by law, is no wonder. That the representatives of the Democratic party should endorse the ineligible nominee of the Home Rulers is a surprise. The only deduction one can make from the conduct of the committee is that there are no true Democrats on it. And this deduction is a true one. The trouble with the Democratic party here is that it is not a true Democratic party, but that it is anti-Republican not in the political it is in part an old Royalist party. It is sense, but anti-Republican as against popular government. It will be seen through in its latest development.

The thoughtful and true Democrats would never fuse with the Home Rulers. Home Rule principles are as diametrically opposed to true Democratic principles as they are to true Republic can principles. The result of the action of the Democratic committee would have been to drive the true Democrats either to vote with the true Republicans, or to abstain from voting at all.

The Republican committee, in spite of the disability of the opposing candidate, intends to make a regular campaign just as if there were a candidate to oppose. It will be a genuine good practice for the various committees, in that where there is no fight it is hard to bring your troops up to the attack. Two old dyes in the wool politicians, the gentlemen who are ready to "vote early and vote often," will be on hand, but it will be no easy task to get out the ordinary voter where there is no strong incentive for him to go, and no excitement to whet his appetite.

Having decided to make the running, however, it is the duty of every Republican to cast his vote to show the strength of his party. The Republican party has been steadily increasing its ranks since last election, and when the next registration comes there will be an immense accession to its ranks. But these recruits are not available now since the election must be held under the old registration. But of the old registered voters many who voted for the Home Rulers at the last election will certainly not vote for the Home Rule candidate now. They will either not vote at all or will vote for the Republican candidate.

In making their choice of a candidate the Republicans have put a young man into the field, and the younger men of the party have promised to work for him tooth and nail. This is a most healthy sign. It is the young men whom we desire to come forward in our party organization. The old war horses who have been through the fighting which has brought about the present condition of affairs are getting somewhat stiff in the legs. They were fine mettle chargers in their days, and ran and won their races, but the days of their activity are over. They can vote, then can think and they can advise, but the running round, the house to house canvass, the hunting up of errand voters, must go to other and younger men. It is a good thing to see the young men so eager and active, and argues the strength and stability of the party. Though the coming election will be a walk over, it will also be a revelation of Republican strength to the Home Rulers.

MISUNDERSTANDING.

The people of Guam want a remodeling of their form of government, or it may be that the Governor desires it. The people of Tutuila seem perfectly satisfied with their condition. The people of Guam have unfortunately been under Spanish rule and are consequently less fit for political liberty than the people of Tutuila. It is the aftermath of Spanish civilization which is causing trouble in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines.

To counteract Spanish influence and Spanish ideas of duplicity will take years of our own downright plain dealing. Our very freedom of speech is misunderstood and translated into the Spain saturated mind in very different shape in what it appears to us. This is the cause of much misunderstanding of the situation between the Democratic and the Republican parties by people educated under Spanish influences.

A man in our country expresses his views freely upon the action of the government of the day, yet he would as freely give his life to support that government were it threatened by any outside power or by insurrection. This is the thing that the man educated under Spanish rule cannot understand. He has been taught to believe that anything said against the existing government is an act of treason. Therefore the moment he begins to criticize the policy of his governors, he begins to feel himself a conspirator. Conspirators and conspiracies are attractive to young people, as could be shown by countless instances from the time of Herodias and Aristogiton, the thick headed fools who followed Caligula, down to the silly boy Spiridon in Brussels who tried to shoot the Prince of Wales, now Edward VII.

Spanish rule has not improved the people whom it has had in its hand. American rule will improve and elevate the people who have the good fortune to have its sturdy sway. But to pass suddenly from Spanish oppression and terzification to the pure air of Americanism is too sudden a change. The wine of freedom cannot be put into the old leather bottles of imperialism, and if the attempt is made, the bottles burst.

Tomorrow will be marked with a white stone in the Protestant Episcopal Church. Its days of obscurity will cease and it will blossom forth into the brilliance which it ought to have enjoyed for twenty-five or thirty years past. That the fortunes of this popular church should have been wrecked has been due to the peculiar temperament and the peculiar bent of mind of the Bishop. That Bishop Willis was perfectly honest in his views, that he had his own peculiar code of honor, that his sophistical arguments were well meant cannot be denied. But Bishop Willis did not belong to his time. His intellect was medieval, though brilliant, and medievalism has no place in the West. Not even Savonarola would find much support in the West of today, however powerful he became in the Florence of the middle ages. There may be places where Bishop Willis can do good. In this community in spite of his blameworthy and semi-aesthetic life, in spite of his undoubted scholarship, and in spite of his keen intellect, he has only been a source of strife and a center of contention from the moment he put his foot on these shores, till he quits them forever.

TOO LIBERAL.

The Shanghai Mercury says: We are informed by those who ought to know that Mr. Tsai, who was lately the popular Taotai of Shanghai, and who is noted for his entertainment of foreigners, has written to Peking advising that students be not sent to Japan to study, as they become corrupted with ideas of liberty and popular government. In response to this, we are told, Prince Ching and Wan Wen-shao have given orders to Liu Kung-yi to set under Tsai's advice. We will know if this is true, if the students about to start for Japan do not go.

FOUR WHEELED AVENGER.

It is an old story that comes from France, the revenge of Edward Foster. Foster is said to be a rich Tennesseean, whose wife and child were killed by an automobile searcher. Foster sought legal redress in vain, and then had built a big heavy automobile, equipped with a hook like the ram on a battle ship, and named the avenger. With this he made war on the racing automobiles, smashing them right and left. Finally he wrecked the motor carriage of Count Mirapal and was arrested and sentenced to six months in prison. The court had so much sympathy with him, however, that he was paroled.—Springfield Republican.

MEN TOO RETURNING.

LONDON, March 15.—The movement to make room for British women in political and professional fields grows apace, apparently without much assistance from the opposite sex. At the annual meeting of the Birmingham Society for Promoting the Election of Women Guardians one of the women speakers said: "The only complaint we have to make against men is that they are a little retiring."

Lieut.-Gen. Phelps, who was present somewhat gallantly replied: "Where women are so capable of doing the work it would be superfluous to intervene."

Timely Suggestion from Florida—An Ostrich among Whiteheads at Night.

An ostrich as watchman is the latest dubbed warden that Florida has produced. A correspondent of the Brooklyn Eagle says that this unique bird can be seen every night carefully and thoroughly making its rounds through the pens of the Florida ostrich farm near Jacksonville. About eight months ago the owners of a herd of ostriches established their farm at this place. Previous to this time, and since 1885, they carried on their extensive farm in California.

It is well known that among ostriches, as among nearly all wild animals, there is one always chosen as a sentry. He carries the camp every little while, giving at intervals his cry for all to fall silent. This is done throughout the entire night. Moreover, if anything should alarm the sentry, his knowledge of it is communicated to his companions in a series of yells, uttered as he advances to the attack.

Acting on this knowledge, it was decided to leave the farm in charge of an ostrich, and Napoleon was the bird chosen for the position. Napoleon stands nearly 10 feet high and weighs over 100 pounds. This gives him sufficient weight and reach, and his courage and temper being of the most highly developed order, made him all the more adaptable to the position of sentry. During the daytime he is violent enough for ordinary purposes, but at night he seems to take on the character of a demon. He is friendly with no man. Even his keeper, who has occupied this position for years, uses a large stick to protect himself whenever occasion necessitates his entering Napoleon's pen.

The proof that the choice of guard was correctly made has already been given. One night a little before 12 o'clock the attendants were awakened by the most terrific noises. Mingled with the roars of Napoleon were the agonizing shrieks of a human being. These, ear-splitting shrieks, about, was a negro, and at his heels followed Napoleon.

"The ostrich would strike and roar, the negro dodge and yell. Finally reaching the fence, he made an effort to get over, but the bird, with a final effort, struck him, and the blow caught the negro squarely in the forehead, killing him. The ostrich caught him a glancing blow upon the thigh, but medical attendance saved him.

The fame of this exploit of Napoleon has caused the quarters to be guarded by other ostriches. Napoleon still makes his rounds, and his roar for "All's well" has acquired a double meaning among the dusky folk of the neighborhood.

PROHIBITION.

A prohibition journal claims that fully 20,000,000 of the inhabitants of the United States, or more than one-third of the entire population, are now living under prohibition, either by state law or by local option. Forty-one states are included in the enumeration, either in whole or in part. Kentucky, in spite of its notoriety, has 90 out of its 116 counties under prohibition's sway. The four exempt states are Idaho, Nevada, Utah and Wyoming.

A NEW HEADLIGHT.

A powerful new locomotive headlight, recently tested by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, has a range of from five to 10 miles, according to atmospheric conditions. On a straight stretch of track the headlight proper serves to illuminate the track for great distances. Beating, however, that all track is not straight, the inventor has taken advantage of the sky as a means of carrying his signals. An opening at the top of the headlight sends a powerful ray upward, and even when the locomotive miles away is hidden behind hills and curves a bright disk can be seen in the heavens and the train located.

BIG MAILS.

An account has been published in Berlin of the average number of letters daily received by European sovereigns. The paper breaks the record, as his daily average of letters and papers reaches the enormous number of 22,000 to 25,000. Thirty-five secretaries are kept fully employed with his correspondence. King Edward must find his daily quota of 1000 letters and 2000 newspapers a heavy tax on his attention. The czar and the German emperor receive from 600 to 700 a day; the emperor of Russia receives 500; the king of Italy gets 500, and the young queen of Holland struggles under the daily burden of between 100 and 150 letters.

THEATER EXITS.

The London county council has recently given the theatergoers considerable attention. It is now asked to extend its supervision to minor theaters and chapels, which are often crammed to suffocation, and whose means of exit are lamentably deficient. Some of these have only one exit, and take at least 10 minutes to empty when people are going out in the ordinary way.

SOLDIERS' BONES.

An unpleasant sensation was caused in the House of Commons by the statement that the bones of British soldiers killed in the Afghan war of 1842, were announced to be sold at auction in London. Mr. Ritchie said that, assuming the sales were genuine—a large assumption—no breach of the law would be committed by their sale. He had no power to interfere. Such a sale, however, he considered highly improper, if not indecent and he would take care that a view of the matter reached the attention.

GOOD FOR CROUP.

It is a popular belief in London that the air of the underground roads is good for croup, whooping cough and various other ailments. A physician who was traveling on one of these roads recently noticed that a woman in the compartment almost yanked down the window when they entered the tunnel and held outside a child whom she was carrying, so that the youngster might get the full benefit of the full atmosphere, and when he asked the reason of this extraordinary performance, she told him that "tunnel air" had been found to be a complete cure for the croup.

WONDERFUL OF ALL CHANGES WHAT THE INVENTOR CLAIMS FOR IT.

Respective Long Exposure - But Ten-Seconds Every Day and Color in Nature - Instantly Fixed for Still Life.

Despite down falling rain and threatening skies, Easter services were more than well attended yesterday in every church in Honolulu, irrespective of creed or nationality. While the universal mandate of the social world that orders new forms, fashions and apparel generally for Easter Sunday, was observed universally despite the rain. The churches were decorated elaborately and appropriately with special services of song, recitation and prayer.

From early morning at the two cathedrals of the catholic faith, the Anglican and the Roman, until after midnight, services were held by thronging congregations, while supplicated choirs led the singing and officiated around the altars. At the Anglican church, for the last time, an Anglican bishop conducted the service while the American representative Bishop Nicholson sat as a visitor in the church. Divisions of opinion were forgotten and for the first time for many weeks the church was crowded with a large assembly of the first and second congregations whose differences of opinion were glossed over for the occasion.

Central Union Church was beautifully decorated with flowers and tapers, while every seat in the large auditorium was filled. The music was also unusually elaborate. At the Methodist Episcopal church the throng was the same, every member of the congregation, not deterred by imperative duty, being present.

In the afternoon, the uniformed Knights Templar of the local commandery marched in dignified procession to the Central Union church and held a ritualistic service commemorative of the doings of the crusading knights of their brotherhood, who with the emblem of their faith, emblazoned on their breasts sought to free the home of Christianity from the defiling touches of infidels.

With the Salvation Army also services were well attended and two announcements of interest to all those friendly to the movement made. The Army's annual self denial week commences next Sunday and Colonel French, Pacific Coast division commander is expected on the Alameda to help inaugurate the movement.

The beautiful little chapel of St. Charles at Punaluu was made very far and lovely to keep the Easter festival. On the altar were masses of lilies and ferns, and surrounding the screen, which was wreathed with ferns, was a large group of white carnations. In every part of the church were graceful and appropriate arrangements of flowers and ferns. There were also several permanent furnishings and decorations used or invited for the first time yesterday. A very handsome brass altar cross, from Cox and Vining of New York was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Fosberg. On the east wall are large illuminated domes by Hugo Jacobson and beneath them a wall of wood made in Gothic style. The altar hangings of white brocade are also from Cox and Sons, and were presented by the Women's Guild as also was a new set of altar linen and a silver chalice, vest and buret. These must be examined to be appreciated, being perfect specimen of ecclesiastical needlework. A brass altar rail, and an embroidered antependium for the lectern complete the list of Easter gifts, which are all according to correct church usage and in the quiet good taste which marks the equipment of St. Clement's.

The music was all of a bright and festive character and exquisitely rendered by the choir. The midday service being very long, Mr. Osborne did not preach a regular sermon but merely spoke for a few minutes upon the great doctrine of the resurrection of the body. At 1 o'clock all the seats were taken as well as the extra chairs in the aisle and several people being unable to gain admission remained in the porch or the vestry. The early celebration and the evening service were also well attended, notwithstanding the storm going on.

One incident of the mid-day service was noticed by many as strikingly beautiful. Just as the communion service began, the clouds which had overcast the sky, cleared away, and a bright ray of sunshine streaming through one of the windows rested on the altar.

At the Christian Church there was a large congregation at all services. The Church was appropriately decorated and the sermons were on Easter themes.
