Among the incidents of childhood that stand out in bold relief, as our memory reverts to the days when we were young, none are more prominent than severe sickness. The young mother vividly remembers that it was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured her of croup, and in turn administered it to her own offspring and always with the best results. AMENDE HONORABLE.

The BULLETIN has never held itself responsible for the opinions of correspondents. At the same time this journal knows that it is responsible for the protection of private character and reputation from unjustifiable injury at the hands of anybody who contributes to its columns. Several communications have been published in this paper, reflecting on official American Representatives, relative to the wrecked ship Wm. A. Campbell. So far as such communications have been honest even if severe expressions of public opinion, without evident malice or personal prejudice, they have been published here in accordance with one of the cardinal principles on which the BULLETIN was founded and has in the main always been conducted—namely, that a public journal should afford a medium for the expression of the people's views upon any matter of public interest. An organ of public opinion should, however, be ready and willing to make honorable amendments for any wrong committed, inadvertently or carelessly, in its columns. In one of the communications referred to above, we are satisfied that expressions were used toward the United States diplomatic representative of a personally offensive nature. Although we were made aware of a high state of resident American feeling on the subject, it was a lapse of editorial discretion that allowed that feeling to take such offensive personal liberties in our columns. We therefore freely and frankly apologize for having permitted the publication of the obnoxious expressions in question. As to the main question, the United States officials at Honolulu are responsible to their own Government at Washington and not to residents of foreign countries. Yet their own Government might be unable, any more than the representatives of any other Government, to judge of their entire conduct if all local expression of opinion regarding their course, under all circumstances, were to be suppressed. A powerful section of the American press compelled the recall of Sir Lionel Sackville-West, British Minister at Washington, in 1888 for an undue meddling with the politics of the country to which he was accredited. Legitimate criticism of public men, however, should not imply license for acrimonious personalities. We therefore again express deep regret for the offensive remarks in the published letter mentioned, as well as for any other anonymous reflections upon American officials, with regard to their course in dealing with the case of the shipwrecked crew, which may have exceeded the bounds of legitimate criticism.

OUR POSITION.

Referring to the "Amende Honorable" in these columns to-day, it seems necessary to remove some current misconceptions of this journal's position. The BULLETIN is neither the property nor the "official organ" of the Hawaiian Government. It is published by a chartered corporation as a business enterprise. If it has contained more of the official advertisements of the Government than its English daily contemporary, since the change of Ministry in 1890, that has only been in accord with the practice of all Ministries in Hawaii of throwing the major part of their patronage into the journals most friendly to them. The Advertiser who has contained more of the official advertisements of the Government than its English daily contemporary, since the change of Ministry in 1890, that has only been in accord with the practice of all Ministries in Hawaii of throwing the major part of their patronage into the journals most friendly to them. The Advertiser who has contained more of the official advertisements of the Government than its English daily contemporary, since the change of Ministry in 1890, that has only been in accord with the practice of all Ministries in Hawaii of throwing the major part of their patronage into the journals most friendly to them.

With reference to the communications on the wrecked ship Wm. A. Campbell matter, we confess we accepted them from the first reluctantly and only from a sense of duty toward public opinion. Reluctantly, in view of the fact that political capital was being falsely made against the BULLETIN on the ground that it was in opposition to the established interests of the United States in these islands. The communications, were, however, accepted as being what they were, in truth, the utterance of the sentiment of resident American citizens—the only exception being that one of the calmest of the productions, which seized on the incident as an argument against annexation. If the Advertiser chooses to hold the BULLETIN responsible for the utterances of its correspondents, it should pull down its own antiquated sign. "We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our correspondents," without flaunting which it is afraid to give any humble citizen a hearing.

If the Advertiser chooses to hold the BULLETIN responsible for the utterances of its correspondents, it should pull down its own antiquated sign. "We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our correspondents," without flaunting which it is afraid to give any humble citizen a hearing.

The BULLETIN might, as it had a right to do, have editorially discussed the question raised as to searching for the distressed American mariners, but that it presumed the American officials know their duties better than a Hawaiian newspaper. At the same time when American citizens sought our columns to express their views on the matter they were not turned away nor are their expressions of a legitimate tone apologized for. In their own country they make free to criticize the course or the conduct of their President, and this is rightly esteemed one of the most valuable privileges of an American citizen, one of which tends greatly to keeping the administration perpetually honorable. It would be indeed hard if Americans in Honolulu, forming the largest alien colony of civilization here, were debarred from a like freedom of honest expression regarding the conduct of their national representatives appointed by the President. Both the diplomatic and consular representatives of the United States have often placed the BULLETIN under a debt of gratitude and esteem for courtesies such as journalists highly value. Personally, it holds both of them, as well as their subordinates, in the greatest friendly regard, and would deeply regret if any of them have been led to misunderstand its position as an independent newspaper.

A petition was presented to the Legislature this morning, from persons engaged in fruit-raising, praying for certain encouragement to the establishment of a canning and preserving industry. It is asked that a law be passed "allowing the free importation of tools and machinery to be used in canning works and the containers or material for making the same, when imported by such canning company. Also to remit the taxes on such canning plant and on canned goods held for export, during the continuance of the 35 percent duty on these imports into the United States." These are only reasonable concessions to be granted by the Legislature, as the industry intended to be established ought to become an important one.

The Legislature was occupied chiefly with reports of committees this morning. Our report is laid over on account of early publication of the paper. A report from the committee on Water Works recommended $46,000 to be appropriated for additions to the system, whereby it should be made reasonably certain in its action. An item of $8645 is recommended for running expenses, for which the Government should recoup itself by an increase in rates. Probably the public will be heard from on the proposition of an increase in the price of this prime necessity, particularly in these pinching times.

Many people have evinced surprise at the course of the Advertiser with regard to the dredge. When the dredge started work on the bar, and up to a few days ago, that paper made the machine and all connected with it a subject of ridicule. Now that the dredge has accomplished the work for which it was designed, so far as the harbor entrance is concerned, that paper goes to enormous expense to show that the authors of the work knew what they were about and that it (the Advertiser) had been making a fool of itself. It reminds one of a fish rarely seen called the "sucker."

More Opium on the Castle. C. L. Crabbe, Port Surveyor, has been keeping a sharp eye on the barkentine S. N. Castle, since the day the police captured the carpenter coming ashore from that vessel with 102 tins. Yesterday there were symptoms exhibited about the vessel of a projected attempt to land some of the stuff. A strong watch was maintained all night in hope of catching a possessor as well as the opium itself. This morning, however, the Port Surveyor concluded that further delay might endanger chances of catching even the contraband. He therefore sent officers on board, who made a big find right on the deck. In a kerosene tin were packed 134 half-pound tins of Hongkong opium, worth at retail $1500 to $2000. The opium was taken to the Custom House.

What May Be Looked For Next Saturday.

The Ladies of Honolulu are Asked to Support the Scheme--An Open Letter on a Subject of Interest.

TO THE LADIES OF HONOLULU. The Management of the Temple of Fashion wish to state that, as many have been unable to gain admittance this week because of the large crowds thronging the bargain sale, special arrangements have been made for their accommodation Saturday.

The Temple of Fashion will be closed all day on Friday; positively, no goods will be sold on that day. The entire force of the store will be engaged in arranging for a special sale for Saturday.

On Saturday no dress goods (except silks), no calicoes, ginghams, or wash goods of any description will be sold; no foot-wear or head-gear will be disposed of. Special bargains in special lines will be the text for Saturday.

Our entire stock, all shades and colors, at your own price. A full line of laces, embroideries, trimmings, insertions, etc., will be marked down; prices clear out of sight. No reserve.

Everything in this line at McKinley prices. Hosiery, silk and cotton—white, black and colored, at instantaneous prices. Remember this point.

Our whole stock will be slaughtered. All styles and grades. If you want handkerchiefs, step in on Saturday. If you desire to see some astonishing prices on muslin underwear, children's dresses, etc., drop in Saturday.

Those who come to look remain to buy; very few dollars pass us. A large stock of ladies' under-vests at any price; they must be closed out.

Everything must go—and must go quickly. Saturday is to be a day of slaughter in fancy dry goods, and bargains will cover our counters in endless profusion. We will endeavor to have a sufficient force of clerks engaged to attend to any and all without delay. We have set aside next Saturday, by request, to allow the ladies of Honolulu to inspect our stock of fancy goods, and examine the prices, which are all marked in plain figures.

Residents in the vicinity of Alapai and South streets are complaining about the stench which emanates from the wash house and poi house at the junction of those streets. The odor from the wash house is horrid and is enough to breed sickness. The attention of the health authorities has been previously called to this nuisance.

Some kind friend in Washington has favored the BULLETIN with different numbers of the "Grand Army of the Republic" edition of the Washington Daily Post. It is splendidly gotten up, with illustrations above the average for a daily newspaper. Not only is everything and everybody connected with the G. A. R. encampment elaborately set forth, but the paper is replete with fresh war stories not taken from any book.

The Glade's Voyage.

The German bark J. C. Glade arrived yesterday, 148 days from Liverpool, and was docked at the P. M. S. S. wharf. The Glade left Liverpool on May 12 and had fine weather to Cape Horn, when she experienced very rough weather. Had W. S. W. gales from July 23 to August 3, making only 240 miles between those dates, thirty-five days. From 50 S. Atlantic to 50 S. Pacific had very cold weather. Crossed the line in the Pacific in 127 W. on Sept. 19. Sighted several vessels homeward bound, but could not identify their names. The Glade has a general cargo of merchandise and coal, consigned to H. Hackfeld & Co. It was intended to fumigate her cargo, but at noon to-day Hon. D. Dayton, President of the Board of Health, notified Hon. A. S. Cloughorn, Collector of Customs, that the cargo would not be fumigated, as the vessel had been out five months.

A Notorious Jail Breaker.

Andrew Fisher, the notorious jail breaker, broke away from the prison gang at work on Wylie street on Thursday afternoon, carrying a ball and chain with him. Police Officer George Baker was informed yesterday that Fisher was secreted in a building near the Chinese Y. M. C. A. Baker went to the place and found Fisher taking things coolly, having by some means severed the chain and ball. Fisher was brought to the Police Station and will be given an extra sentence on Monday, although he has several years to serve yet on former similar charges.

Something New in Ranges.

The PACIFIC HARDWARE CO., (L'd.), have just received an invoice of the M. & D. WROUGHT STEEL RANGES which are superior to anything of the kind yet invented. They have been adopted by the United States Navy and are in use on the Charleston, San Francisco and Boston and other new vessels. Also on several of the new vessels lately built for the trade between San Francisco and this port. An examination of these Ranges will at once show their many advantages over all competitors.

To the Reformatory School.

A young native named Maui, aged ten years, was sentenced to the Reformatory School yesterday at the request of W. O. Smith and H. Waterhouse, trustees of the Lunailo Home, for five years. Maui's father is a leper at Molokai, and he had been taken charge of by his grandfather, who was an inmate of the Lunailo Home. Maui has become so unruly that it was decided to send him to the Reformatory School. Hon. W. O. Smith and H. Waterhouse appeared in Court.

Heavy Rains on Hawaii.

The steamer Kinan, which arrived this morning, brought the news of a heavy downfall of rain at Ookala, in fact all over Hawaii on Tuesday. At Ookala the crane near the beach was washed away. At Hilo there was a plentiful supply of rain and the sugar crops were in a flourishing condition. The crop this season, it is believed, will be a large one. No further news of the missing boat of the wrecked ship Wm. A. Campbell.

THE LEGISLATURE.

103d DAY.

FRIDAY, OCT. 7, 1892.

Afternoon Session.

The Assembly reconvened from recess at 1:42 o'clock and consideration of the bill (157A) to restrict Chinese immigration was proceeded with.

Section 2. Relating to conditional permits to immigrants on requests of employers of labor. The section was amended by Minister Neumann and Noble Peterson and was then passed.

Section 3. Relating to penalty to masters of vessels for illegally landing of Chinese. Passed.

Section 5. Minister of Foreign Affairs to make regulations for identification of applicants for landing permits. Passed.

Section 6. Fee of one dollar to be paid for every above certificate. Passed.

Section 7. Employer to register name and occupation and all changes of employment. Passed.

Section 8. Charge of 25 cents for each registry; $50 fine for each failure. Passed.

Section 9. Relating to laws affected by this law; Section 10, law to take effect on date of approval, and title and enacting clause were passed.

A motion was made that bill be passed to engrossment and that the third reading be deferred until after the Constitutional amendments relative to Immigration and the Registration bill had been acted on.

Minister Neumann (interpolating) desired leave of absence. There had been considerable said in the House relative to the affairs of the Marshal and he wished to look the matter up; he would ask for leave of absence for the afternoon and to-morrow. Granted.

Rep. Smith (speaking to the motion previously presented, relative to the proposed disposition of the bill just passed its second reading) said that he considered that this bill should be passed right along to its third reading without waiting for action on the constitutional amendment.

Noble Peterson said that before this bill passed to its third reading it would be well to know the fate of the constitutional amendments. There was a division of opinion amongst lawyers as to the constitutionality of this Bill 157A. If this act should become a law and after passing the House the Supreme Court should say that it was unconstitutional the country would be in a pretty fix, as there would not then be one law to affect immigration, as this law repeals all the others.

Noble Marsden desired to know what portion of the bill was regarded by Noble Peterson as unconstitutional, was it in the last sections? Noble Peterson said no, the first section was the one spoken of.

Rep. Smith did not consider that the first section was unconstitutional or that it would be declared so. It would expedite business to have this bill passed to its third reading so that it could be engrossed while they were discussing the other bills. He would like to know what the point was in the section referred to.

Noble Peterson said it was that portion relating to the conditional entrance.

Rep. Smith thought that the Kingdome had a perfect right to make laws in that respect.

Noble Peterson said that not from himself had he said that this law was unconstitutional, but that there was a division of opinion with this regard amongst the best lawyers in the city. If the Chinese come in they can stay without having to fill the conditions imposed.

Noble Baldwin said that he considered as long as the contracts were made here and signed by the employer that the laws could be enforced; it would be different if signed in a foreign country.

Noble Peterson said that he had heard one half of the lawyers in the city say that the bill was unconstitutional and the other half that it was not. It is a known fact that many laws have been passed in the Legislature, but the Supreme Court had declared them unconstitutional. He personally wished that the bill could be said to be constitutional but the doubt existing he thought it would be advisable to wait.

Rep. White coincided with the ideas of Noble Peterson; it was advisable to be cautious and wait as there was a Constitutional amendment to be disposed of first. We want laws made to stand the test, not like those passed by the Legislature of 1887, when the House was filled with lawyers, and a lot of the laws were declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

Rep. Smith desired to know from Noble Peterson what his action would be on this bill if the Constitutional amendment did not pass.

Noble Peterson said that he would examine the bill carefully and be prepared to give his opinion; as it was he had not read the bill and was not prepared to give his personal opinion; he had only repeated the opinions of other lawyers of excellent ability.

Rep. White asked Rep. Smith to commend Noble Peterson for the wise way in which he "looked before he leaped" (laughter).

Noble Peterson moved an amendment to the motion that the bill be ordered for third reading on Tuesday next to the effect that the further consideration of the bill be deferred until after that of the Constitutional amendments to Articles 83 and 55.

Two rising votes were taken on the amendment resulting in a tie each time, viz., 18 to 18 and 19 to 19. On motion the ayes and nays were taken, resulting in the amendment being carried by a vote of 22 to 20. The following members not voting: Ministers Macfarlane, Gulick, Neumann; Nobles Cummings, Cornwall, Thurston; Reps. Bipikane, Ashford, Kaunaloa.

Noble Marsden said that the planting industries were languishing for want of labor it was advisable to know whether planters were to pick up their traps and get out or to start afresh with better hearts. To that end he would move that the consideration of the Constitutional amendments to Article 83 and 55 be the order of the day for next Thursday. Carried.

The same member made a motion that the Registration Bill be considered on Monday next. Carried.

At 2:35 the regular order of the day the Appropriation Bill came up for a few brief moments but the report of the Oceanic Steamship Subsidy Committee being lacking no business was transacted in connection with the Bill.

On motion Bills on third reading came up as follows:

Bill 142 prohibiting the introduction, keeping or breeding of the mongoose. Considerable discussion was indulged in especially relative to the supposed opportunity for fraud in the claim for bounty for scraps and also on account of the depleted condition of the Treasury to pay any bounty. The bill finally passed without change.

Bill 93 to define the duties of Cabinet Ministers in the purchase of goods for the Hawaiian Government.

Rep. Smith was not in favor of the Bill for the reason that he could not see the propriety in charging the Government 15 per cent more than other manufacturers.

Noble Williams the introducer of the bill, considered that the price was only in accord with the wages paid mechanics here which were 25 per cent more than in the United States. It should be the desire of the Government to assist in keeping skilled labor here. That could be effected by having Hawaiian bridges built by Hawaiian bridge-builders, Hawaiian mechanics employed on Hawaiian boilers, engines and other machinery, Hawaiian masons and carpenters on Hawaiian buildings.

Noble Thurston was opposed to the bill because it proposed to tax the whole group for the benefit of a few firms in Honolulu. The petition was signed by fifty people in Honolulu. It was a proposition to make the Government pay 15 per cent more for that which it could get elsewhere for less money. The sole result of this bill would be to pay bonuses into the pockets of a few manufacturers. Large industries abroad were built up not by their general but their special lines which they can produce at low figures. He did not consider that it was for the benefit of Maui (which he represented) to subsidize the manufacturers of Honolulu simply to give employment to fifty men, did not care how good they may be.

Noble Horner considered that the spirit of the bill was wrong. It seemed to him mysterious that the whole country should be taxed 15 per cent for articles which the Government wants just for the gratification of thirty or forty individuals in Honolulu. He would move the indefinite postponement of the bill.

Rep. Nawahi considered that the economical view was not the one to take now. It were better to give the labor wages such as would keep the skilled ones in the country. Even if the expense of Government material, and it is only that it effects, was 15 per cent higher it benefits the laboring classes and keeps money in the country. There are a great many mechanics now out of work, it would be eminently proper to make such expenditure for their relief. The law requires tenders for various articles; he knew of wire-pipe that had been obtained abroad and for which the lowest tender was not accepted. He would say that he believed that the reason the firm obtained the bid was because it supplied the largest wants for the pockets of the Cabinet or probably for that particular Minister. He favored the bill; it would keep money here and give people here a chance to compete with one another, and thus the industries would be strengthened and supply employment to a great many people. There were a great many young people growing up here learning trades; if there was no work for them they would have to leave or starve.

Rep. Kaunaloa favored the bill; he judged the world would have a poor opinion of a woman that would labor for bread to give sustenance to a strange child and allow her own to starve. It was not wise in a Government to act like that heartless woman.

Noble Baldwin liked to see the industries of the country prosper but thought that this bill was tying the hands of the Government, and that was a dangerous step. He thought that the Government should be allowed to purchase wherever they could make the best bargain. He considered that the mechanics should be willing to work for less wages than before.

Minister Macfarlane—They are! Noble Baldwin (continuing)—He thought that the Government should be left free. If the contract prices were not more than 15 per cent he favored giving the work here, if more then the work should go abroad. He knew that the Government in the past had tried to act in the spirit of the bill and had given out contracts at higher rates here than abroad. He could hardly bring himself to vote for this bill; did not think that the Government should be hampered and trammelled at this present time.

Minister Macfarlane stated that he desired to speak on the bill but as the hour was getting late he would move that the House adjourn.

The motion carried and at 4:05 the Assembly rose.

A little boy of Mrs. McDonald's, living near here, fell against a red hot stove and was fearfully burned. The pain was terrible, and it was thought the burn was so severe as to scar the child for life. I sold the lady a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which, after greasing the sore, she applied. It soon removed all the fire and eased the pain, and in ten days the boy was well, no trace of the scar remaining. J. D. McLaren, Keaysport, Clinton county, Ill. For sale by all dealers. "German Syrup"

"We are six in family. We live in a place where we are Edom, Texas, subject to violent Colds and Lung Troubles. I have used German Syrup for six years successfully for Sore Throat, Cough, Cold, Hoarseness, Pains in the Chest and Lungs, and spitting-up of Blood. I have tried many different kinds of cough Syrups in my time, but let me say to anyone wanting such a medicine—German Syrup is the best. That has been my experience. If you use it once, you will go back to it whenever you need it. It gives total relief and is a quick cure. My advice to every one suffering with Lung Troubles is—Try it. You will soon be convinced. In all the families where your German Syrup is used we have no trouble with the Lungs at all. It is the medicine for this country."

That Tired Feeling

Was No Name For the Way Mr. Whitman Felt.

That Mr. Whitman, who makes the following statement, is a faithful, reliable man, will be readily believed when we state that he has worked at tool-making in the jewelry factories in Attleboro without losing a day, save holidays and Sundays, for 25 years.

"I can truthfully say that Hood's SARSAPARILLA is one of the best medicines that I know of, if not the best. A year ago I found I was about used up, felt no addition to do anything. Could not eat with any relish. 'That tired feeling' was no name for the way I felt. I took a couple of bottles of Hood's SARSAPARILLA, which revived my flagging energies in good shape. This spring I took two more bottles and have had no return of the feeling of a year ago. My wife has also taken some of it with benefit. We think it cannot be praised too highly."

G. L. WHITMAN, Lacey St., Attleboro, Mass.

It is not what we say, but what Hood's SARSAPARILLA does that tells the story.

PROBABLY NO ONE WILL DISPUTE THE fact that a blind man cannot purchase as well as he who sees. But a person may be mentally or physically blind, and in neither instance is the judgment reliable. Blindness prevents personal examination. True, the sense of touch of those deprived of sight is greatly exaggerated and exceedingly delicate, so that they who see not are wonderfully acute in basing conclusions upon everything that may be determined by the tactile sense. The mentally blind are those who are not true to their best interests, who are led away by literary pyrotechnics, or who are so implicitly truthful themselves that they never for a moment question the reliability of anyone's assertion. For the protection of such as these, for our own protection as well, we ask that you make a personal examination of anything advertised as an "exceptional value" and see if the facts are as stated.

Bill No. 78, Hawaiian Banking Act.

I have been asked to give my opinion of the Bill entitled "The Hawaiian Banking Act," introduced into the Hawaiian Legislature by a Noble of the Kingdom of Hawaii, consideration of which was pending at the date when my correspondent wrote from Honolulu, August 17, 1892.

I have some hesitation in complying with this request, because it is a matter with which I, as an individual, have no concern; but inasmuch as I have, from association and otherwise, a deep interest in the progress and stability of the Hawaiian state, I shall present very briefly my views upon this remarkable project of law.

First: it is crude, ill-digested, and wholly unworkable.

Second: it is contradictory in its provisions, would entail enormous expense if the scheme were modified to admit of even its partial working, and provides no sufficient check against collusion and fraud on the part of the public officers charged with the duty of conducting the proposed national loan and mortgage bank.

These objections should suffice to defeat the measure if submitted to any representative body having business training, and no doubt there are several members of the Hawaiian Legislature who will point out these and many other defects in the same line. But the foregoing are simply objections to the details of the Bill. The main and fatal objection is to its principle. It is drawn in utter ignorance of the principles of banking, the uses and functions of money, and the laws or rules of credit. No doubt it is drawn with an honest and praiseworthy intent, but it is based upon the fallacy that the state, by fiat, can make or create money which that brilliant financial buccaner, John Law, used to advance his own fortune and to impoverish France under the Regency in the early part of the 18th century.

The assignats issued by the Bank of France "made money plentiful," that is, it inflated values, promoted an era of luxury and speculation which culminated in the Mississippi or West India scheme; but it steadily drove gold and silver coin out of France, and bore its ripe fruit in the French Revolution with its attendant horrors. For when the facts of history are calmly and truthfully weighed without sentiment or prejudice, it will be found that the great social upheaval in France at the close of the 18th century, which wiped out the ancient system of government, was caused wholly and solely by scarcity of money and not by the excesses or misconduct of the nobility. "Paper money" was the true cause of that political and social cataclysm.

This was in obedience to what is known as the Gresham Law, namely, that it is an unvarying rule of finance that the less valuable medium of exchange, or money, should displace the more valuable. The French object lesson is too remote, however, to be of practical value to us, although the French people have profited by it themselves and now have the most perfect and secure banking system in the world; but the note issue of the Bank of France is secured by a coin reserve of corresponding volume. A note issue upon the basis of silver is certain to drive gold and silver out of circulation, and bring about financial ruin and distress, as the rising of the sun brings light and warmth to the earth. The French silver note is payable in silver. In this it differs from the United States, which has a large emission of paper, but which is not protected by a coin reserve as in the case of France. It is true that the silver certificates are secured by silver bullion deposited with the United States Treasury, and that the greenbacks, or Treasury notes, are secured by a gold deposit of less than one-third their face value; but it was the issue of those very greenbacks, to tide over a temporary financial difficulty at the beginning of the war, which added so enormously to its cost, because they went into circulation for five years together with two hundred and fifty million dollars of State Bank notes, and of necessity this currency kept both gold and silver out of circulation. The U. S. Government was compelled in effect to purchase gold at an enormous premium; and to avoid utter financial collapse in 1865 the State Bank issue was taxed ten percent, whereupon these worthless notes disappeared, and the National Banking system, the notes of which are secured upon United States bonds, was inaugurated. But when the war began the country was without money, that is, the State Bank notes had driven all the gold and nearly all the silver out of the country; there was practically no gold, and silver was at a premium. When the "flat money" of the United States was added to the worthless paper emitted by local banks all over the Union, the effect may be imagined. At all events, it was speedily felt by the country, and the taxpayers are now suffering from it.

The National Banking system was faulty, however, in this, that the note issue being secured by U. S. bonds, there is necessarily a contraction in circulation proportionate to the cancellation of the bonds. This would not have happened if the note issue had been secured upon a coin reserve, or gold and silver bullion. It has led to the recent agitation for "more money," that is, "flat money," the Alliance or third party, led by General Weaver, having formulated a national banking policy similar in its main features to the Horner Banking Bill of Hawaii. Should this party succeed we should have in the United States, within a very short time, similar monetary conditions as prevail in the Argentine Republic, and from almost precisely like causes.

Congress, however, has been far from blameless. In July, 1890, to meet the demand for more money, Senators Sherman and Jones secured the passage of a law limiting the purchase of silver, and providing for the issue of silver notes against such purchase, redeemable in gold at the option of the Treasury. All paper money is so redeemable in the United States. As a matter of fact, these notes are treated as gold notes. There are in excess of one hundred millions of these notes in circulation, and they are being turned out at the rate of about $100,000 a day. The effect, however, and the inevitable effect under the Gresham law, is that these notes have steadily depleted the United States Treasury of its gold, while adding to the silver hoard, as the Treasury statements issued every ten days conclusively show.

In January, 1889, the net gold balance in the United States Treasury was $191,655,264. That was before the new paper issue of course. On January 31, 1891, nearly seven months after their first issue, the net gold balance had fallen to $111,444,391, and on July 31, 1892, after two years of active circulation in daily increasing volume, the net gold balance stood at $110,444,391, against which there was outstanding $105,566,176 of the Treasury notes of 1890, redeemable in gold. Thus, the gold balance really available had been reduced to $4,878,221 at the close of last month.

While this gradual disappearance of gold was taking place, the silver coin kept piling up in the Treasury vaults because the "paper money" greenbacks and Treasury notes of 1890 supplanted it as a circulating medium; and when silver ceased to perform its functions as money (for it is not the medium of redemption), as a matter of course it steadily fell in value as a mere commodity, until India, which is on a silver basis, became so depressed that it recently petitioned for a stoppage of silver coinage and the adoption of a gold standard. Meanwhile our gold reserves are being transferred to Europe, while our liabilities in gold remain and go on steadily increasing. Austria will soon be on a gold basis, at our expense without an effort on her part apparently. This is why gold is leaving us for Europe steadily, despite our enormous exports and favorable trade balance and exchange. We must speedily come back to a coin basis or pay the penalty.

Senator Sherman saw the effect of his Silver Bill, and attempted to have a repealing Act passed last session; but the House did not pass it, because it made no provision for the redemption of the outstanding Treasury notes issued under it, and would have stopped the purchase of gold. This would only have intensified the evil; and the fact that it was proposed to have an unlimited free coinage of silver, on demand of private owners of silver bullion, without any safeguards whatever, was in itself enough to condemn the Bill.

From what has been written it follows that "paper money," unless secured by, or based upon, a coin reserve sufficient for that purpose, must ultimately drive gold and silver out of circulation. It may temporarily inflate values, but all inflation ultimately results in a lowering of values, as witness our "boom towns" in California, the condition of Melbourne and generally of all the Australian Colonies.

"Fiat money" has been a costly and wasteful experiment in the United States, and we have not yet paid the uttermost farthing which is due upon that experiment. The English Banking system is faulty, and the Bank Charter Act is responsible for the frequent monetary and financial crises in England. But great and rich countries like the United States and England may afford to risk serious errors in their monetary laws, while a weak and relatively poor country like Hawaii cannot. A bill like the one under consideration should not be entertained. Its discussion even must do harm.

The second section reads like a huge joke, considering the state of Hawaiian finance. The 27th section adds 1/2 percent to the interest payable on 6 percent bonds. But there is no need to analyse the bill by sections, it is so loosely drawn. Why convert the Post Office into a Banking house? If there is to be a State Bank the Finance Department should do the work. You have only to pass the Horner Bill, and grant a franchise to the Louisiana Lottery, to finish Hawaii politically, financially, and morally.

A Good Thing to Keep at Hand. From the Troy (Kansas) Chief. Some years ago we were very much subject to severe spells of cholera morbus; and now when we feel any of the symptoms that usually precede that ailment, such as sickness at the stomach, diarrhoea, etc., we become scared. We have found Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy the very thing to straighten one out in such cases, and always keep it about. We are not writing this for a pay testimonial, but to let our readers know what is a good thing to keep handy in the house. For sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., Agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

Something New in Ranges. The Pacific Hardware Co., (L'd.), have just received an invoice of the M. & D. WROUGHT STEEL RANGES which are superior to anything of the kind yet invented. They have been adopted by the United States Navy and are in use on the Charleston, San Francisco and Boston and other new vessels. Also on several of the new vessels lately built for the trade between San Francisco and this port.

An examination of these Ranges will at once show their many advantages over all competitors. Persons troubled with chronic diarrhoea should try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Many cases have been cured by it after all else had failed and skilled physicians were powerless. For sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., Agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

"Put Your Spare Time In the Bank."

Did you ever hear of the Australian Time Bank (Limited)? No? Well, then, you must know about it, and right away, too.

Mr. Anstey describes it. The idea is this. You don't use all your time to advantage. Most of it in fact runs to waste. You often have the time, but no chance to invest it profitably. So the time slides out of your possession, just as spilled water soaks into the ground and is lost. Suppose you could put your useless time into a bank, as you do money, and draw it out on checks as you want it. Do you see? Wouldn't that be what the Americans call "A big thing"?

"Bosh! Stuff! Humbug!" you say. "It is impossible. If we could do that we might bank time enough to turn us into boys and girls again." True, so we might, but as you say, it can't be done. Yet, isn't there a moral in the idea? Open your eyes and read. The moral is plain as the trunk on an elephant. If you can't get back your waste time, then don't waste it.

Now, isn't a man wasting time when he gets ill? "Oh, you say, but he can't help it." That's worse nonsense than the Time Bank. Yes, he can help it, nine times out of ten. Look for a second. Here's a man who goes on to talk like this: "There was never," he says, "a stronger man in England than I was up to December, 1884. I am a gamekeeper, and about this time we had a deal of trouble with a gang of poachers. I had to keep watch all night long, and was scarcely ever in bed, and often slept in my damp clothes. At last we nabbed the poachers and landed them in jail. Shortly after this I was taken bad. At first I merely felt tired and dull. I had a bad taste in the mouth with slime covering my tongue and teeth. I could eat little or nothing, and what I did eat gave me great pain. I felt as if held in a vice; my breathing was labored and short, and I spat up a great deal of phlegm. I had a dreadful hacking cough, and could get no sleep at night; for after ten minutes' sleep I would wake up and cough for two or three hours at a spell. Night after night I heard the clock strike every hour.

"When the bad attacks came on I felt as if I should suffocate, and had to be bolstered up in bed. I was coughing and spitting up matter and phlegm all night long. Finally I got so weak I couldn't walk across the floor, and if I ventured out my breathing was so bad that I had to stop and rest every few yards. Of course I was obliged to give up my work, and for eight months I did nothing. I was under the doctor all this time, and from the first he said my case was a bad one. After a while he said to my wife, 'Your husband is in a consumption, and will never get better.'

"I thought it was all over with me, and everyone who saw me thought I would die. About this time I read in a Liverpool paper of a medicine called Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, and fancied I should like to try it. So my son, who lives in Liverpool, got me two bottles, and before I had used up the second one my cough was all gone, my breathing was easy, and I could eat anything. I soon got back to my work, and have enjoyed good sound health ever since. When I began taking the Syrup I was so low I don't believe I could have held out much longer. I have lived all my life in this district, and in my present house forty years.

(Signed) "THOMAS BATEMAN, 'Near Whitechurch, Salop, 'March 23rd, 1891.'

What are we to learn from Mr. Bateman's experience? First, that he had no real consumption. His cough and the spitting up of matter were symptoms of a thoroughly disordered condition of the digestive organs, brought on by exposure, loss of rest, and the breaking up of all his regular habits of life. This resulted from his outlying for the poacher, and his foolish sleeping in his damp clothes. Acute indigestion and dyspepsia followed, of course, with all the suffering which he details so well. But was the illness his fault? We do not say it was his fault, for maybe his occupation compelled him to take such risks, but where there is one case of the kind there are a hundred in which the evil might have been averted.

We conclude then that prevention is better than cure, but when a cure must be sought, the successful and trustworthy remedy is Mother Seigel's Syrup. Mr. Bateman told John Wilkinson this, and his account will soon be printed.
