SIZE OF LAWYER'S FEES.

According to the news reports the amount of the lawyers fees in the long will contest over the Russel estate in Boston has reduced its value from $750,000 to $100,000; and in Camden, N. J., Chancellor Pitney in chancery rebuked a firm for charging a total fee of $75,000 in a case involving $40,000, with interest.
In the old grand days, says the New York Times, great lawyers were more modest. Rufus Choate was accustomed to taking cases for a fee of $50 and Amos Burr, a most successful practitioner, did not come to Italy because he charged more than Daniel Webster, in the greatest period of his career, never earned more than $20,000 a year. Abraham Lincoln averaged $5000 in money and a small estate in Springfield, Ill., before he became President, having to increase it to $20,000, "and that," he said, "is as much as any man ought to want."
The cost of being a lawyer has advanced since then. Still, we are not at all sure that the two cases of relatively high legal fees recorded above are typical of the modern practice. Mr. William D. Guthrie is said to have received more than $1,000,000 for winning the Plant will case, and $500,000 in the proceedings of the Income tax. Billy Ho t gave up a lucrative practice to accept $5000 a year in President Roosevelt's cabinet. Governor Hughes received $5,000 for his work as counsel for the Armstrong committee. But in all these cases it might be shown that the fee represented but a small part of the vast interests at stake. A just comparison might show that the old time lawyers really charged more than the successful practitioners of today.

WESTERN PACIFIC CAPTURES LOMAX

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—E. J. Lomax, who for more than twenty years has held the position of general manager agent of the Union Pacific at Omaha, has been appointed passenger traffic manager of the Western Pacific, with headquarters in San Francisco. He will begin his new duties July 1st.

Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by C. H. Schlick, first vice-president of the Western Pacific. It was also announced that through sleepers from San Francisco to Chicago over the Western Pacific by way of the Burlington and Rock Island and through sleepers to St. Louis by way of the Missouri Pacific will be in operation between August 15th and 20th.

Edward J. Lomax was born at Yorkburg, Va., February 25, 1852, was educated at Oberlin University, in his native state. In 1870 he entered the railway service, becoming local ticket agent of the Burlington road at Burlington, Ia. He filled that position 100 years and resigned to accept a similar position with the Iowa Central at Marshalltown, Ia., in 1873. He accepted the position of assistant to the general passenger agent of the St. Louis and Southwestern, remaining until 1879, when he resigned to accept a like position with the Iron Mountain road, remaining until 1881, when he resigned to become general passenger agent of the Toledo, Cincinnati & St. Louis. Shortly after this he was appointed chief of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy system. In 1884 he became assistant general passenger agent of the Q. P. with headquarters in Chicago. In 1887 Mr. Lomax resigned and went to the Union Pacific as assistant general passenger agent, holding that position little more than a year. March, 1889, he was promoted to general passenger agent of the Union Pacific. Other officials of the Union Pacific have come and gone, but Lomax has remained as general passenger agent under President Clark, the lieutenants Burt and Herriman, as well as holding the position under the present management.

MAY BE GREATEST ARTESIAN WELL

WALLA WALLA, Wash., June 11.—An official test of the recently drilled artesian well at the Black orchards this morning developed the fact that it is, so far as known locally, the biggest gusher in the United States. Triangulation showed that the water was thrown 112 feet in the air. The pressure is 65 pounds to the square inch, and the flow is 2224 gallons a minute. This well is 600 feet deep. The pipe is eight inches in diameter. The well is located on the west side of Walla Walla avenue, and when turned on is easily visible from the lower parts of the city three miles away.

The well will be arranged so that demonstrations can be made easily, and as soon as this is done any person so desiring will be given a chance to see the big gusher in action.

CANDIED VEGETABLES.

I was surprised at the Mexican sweet meats, said a New Yorker just back from Mexico, who is quoted by a London Exchange. I do not think there can be any fruit or vegetable which they do not candy, preserve in syrup or convert into jam.

In a queer little pueblo in the state of Zacatecas I heard a woman calling persistently, "Camarones calabazas." Now these words in English mean sweet potatoes and pumpkins. She had a small tray held in place by a feather thing (vat went around her neck).

I crossed the plaza and asked her for 5 cents worth of calabazas. She placed several pieces of a sugar yellow substance in a paper bag and I realized that I was going to have the experience of tasting candied pumpkin.

If you can imagine pumpkin pie frox on hard and saturated with sugar you can get an idea of the flavor of that queer confection. One grows to like it after one has lived in Mexico for a while.

The camarones were also rather nice. The sweet potatoes are boiled in water until they are soft. They are then soaked in hot syrup and candied. A final coating of powdered white sugar is added and gives them the appearance of larger Easter eggs.

Baets, carrots, turnips and artichokes are some of the vegetables

SHOOTS AFFINITY, SEES CHILD CREMATED, THEN ENDS LIFFE.

TRINIDAD, (Col.), June 27.—News reached here today of a tragedy of Vermejo Park, New Mexico. Charles Archuleta, a mail carrier, after shooting and seriously wounding Mrs. Juanita Callegos, with whom he had been living, and witnessing the burning to death of her ten-year-old daughter, committed suicide. Archuleta, it is said, returned from Toledo intoxicated and quarreled with the woman, and shot her. The frightened child, in endeavoring to light a lamp, set her own clothing on fire. Archuleta watched the child die in the flames, then went into a field nearby and blew out his brains. Mrs. Callegos will recover.

THRILLING FEATS

IN BASEBALL

On the afternoon of July 10th of last year, in the second inning of a baseball game between the nines representing Cleveland and Boston, played on the grounds of the former team, Wagner, the first batter for the visiting team, reached first base on an error. Stahl, the second batsman, bunted softly, advancing Wagner to second base. The next player "up" was McConnell. With two strikes and three balls faced against him and with twenty thousand spectators thronging with excitement, the Boston captain gave the "hit and run" signal. The next ball pitched was met by McConnell's bat with tremendous force and was driven over second base in a manner that boded ill for the home team. West Ball, of the latter nine, was playing second. The moment the leather sphere left McConnell's bat, the former jumped back of the base, leaped into the air, caught the drive with one hand, regained his feet and touched second base, stepped quickly to one side and touched Stahl with the ball, and thus made the most thrilling and spectacular unassisted triple play chronicled in the annals of baseball. Ball's feat was the second of its kind ever recorded in the history of the major leagues, the first having been to the credit of Paul Hines, of the Providence, Rhode Island, team, who had performed a similar exploit, curiously enough against a Boston team thirty-one years before, Jean Nathan, in Harper's Weekly.

MISPLACING THE RESPONSIBILITY.

Because a sudden death was diagnosed as a case of pneumonia by the police physician and afterward was declared to have been one of bubonic plague, the Advertiser indulges in its propensity for attacking the city and county government. It only succeeds in exposing its ignorance of the history of plague visitations here and in misrepresenting the entire public health situation in the municipality. There is nothing unusual but very much the contrary in a case requiring a bacteriological investigation to determine whether or not it is this or that disease. Hundreds of times, since bubonic plague first appeared here in 1899, the Board of Health has for anxious days awaited the reports of its bacteriologist upon suspicious cases. The disease is extremely liable, on account of likeness of symptoms, to be mistaken for pneumonia. When an unusual number of cases of pneumonia is reported, the health authorities wherever there has been experience of plague become alert. But, aside from this particular and dreaded malady, it is very silly to condemn the city government for slackness because a regular medical practitioner in its employ may have made a mistaken diagnosis. There was a case related in this paper recently of an incident that happened before county government, where the Federal physician and two Territorial physicians sent a case of smallpox into the Queen's Hospital after a joint diagnosis made by the trio. It is safe to say that hundreds of tombstones in the cemeteries might truly bear the inscription, "Died of mistaken diagnosis."

Here is a statement, however, which implies an absolute misrepresentation of where the responsibility for the public health rests. "If the city health department is to be no more reliable than this," says the Advertiser, "the sooner the Territorial Board of Health gets back into its hands what the last legislature took away from it the better." The legislature did not take a particle of duty or responsibility from the board of health with regard to protection of the public health from infectious and contagious diseases. It left the sanitation of Honolulu entirely with the board of health, saving the garbage service that is a part of sanitation but which has always been connected with the road department from long before county government. By an amicable arrangement with the Board of Health, and in consideration of some additional revenue, the Board of Supervisors undertook to pay the salaries of two sanitary inspectors on the staff and under the orders of the Board of Health. It was also agreed in conference that the Board of Supervisors should conduct the free dispensary, the Board of Health furnishing the medicines, but lately the Board of Health, while the dispensary, in charge of the city physician, was doing as much and as good work as it had ever done, took back the entire institution solely because it wanted quarters for its bacteriologist, and while that official is doing some dispensary work a large proportion of the service is simply transferred to the private office of the city physician.

In addition to the things just mentioned, the city government has taken over meat, milk, fish and food inspection; medical attendance and hospital for the indigent sick, and burial of the indigent dead. Its physicians are responsible for the prevention of epidemic disease just to the extent that private practitioners are and no further—namely, that they shall report any positive or suspicious cases of such occurring within their jurisdiction.

Taking the true situation into consideration, then, the Advertiser must be taken to have placed itself in the position of cowardly attempting to transfer the responsibility for the occurrence of a case of bubonic plague in Chinatown—together with the danger of infection outside that quarter—upon the city government. Leaving aside the fact omitted by the Advertiser that the case was imported from the Orient and eluded the vigilance of the Federal health authorities—which might happen without blame to them—the Advertiser is guilty of suppression of the truth regarding the sanitary conditions where the case developed. As has been published in this paper and not contradicted, a bad sanitary condition was found in the locality which was due to negligence of the inspector of the Board of Health. That body got busy forthwith. As the published report stated, "Trash was burned, a stable was cleaned out, the smell of carbolic acid filled the air, and a thorough cleaning of a filthy joint was effected, and all in a few hours of yesterday."

It is the Board of Health, not the city government, which is responsible for any "filthy joint," or hotbed of disease, permitted to exist in this town.

"Nothing doing" is the latest word from Vice-President Schwerin of the Pacific Mail Company with regard to expansion of business. It was uttered on his return to San Francisco from the east, where he was reported in much of a different vein.

A few examples of common sense like that given by the Supreme Court of Kansas, in refusing to construe a law in conformity with typographical errors in its printing, will go farther toward bringing about judicial reform throughout the country than volumes of bar association resolutions or even Presidential messages.

Forty-five million dollars' worth of precious stones imported at New York for the fiscal year just ended, breaking all records, indicates that times are not hard in high life notwithstanding the high cost of living.

Garfield is giving long odds against placing Ohio in the insurgency column when he pits himself for Governor against so popular and, by all accounts, efficient a man in the office as Harmon. It is another "Harmon" with a "y" added that seems to be needed to capture the executive office in Ohio for the Republicans.

Fresh proof is afforded in the official figures showing a low death rate for American officials in the Philippines, that the tropics are deadly to white people only where they fail to establish their own sanitation along with their domiciles.

WAYSIDE WISDOM.

Much modesty is only skin deep.
Ennui is the price we pay for knowledge.
You never heard of salary seeking the man, did you?
It is a wise worm that turns no of tetter than it has to.
Some men are so shrewd that nobody can believe them honest.

A fault is never so offensive as when it is somebody else's.
Many people are busy mortgaging the future in order to acquire a past.
A woman can get more by her weakness than a man can by his strength.
Some diseases are less fatal to the patient than to the people who have to live with him.

The Poet Philosopher

Lives of great men all remind us that it pays to advertise; every day of life should find us making all the people wise, to our coming and our going—nothing comes to him who's coy; all our wares we should be showing, if the limelight we'd enjoy. Let us seek the bland reporters if they do not hunt for us; seek them in their dismal quarters, in their inky, pasty muzz; giving them our warm opinions of all things beneath the sky; over all the earth's dominions let imagination fly. Famous men? The crowds adore 'em! Lions thrive in every land! Let us keep our names before 'em, and they'll cheer to beat the band! Let our pictures oft be printed, lest the people should forget, even though the section tinted is the only place we get. Better have our faces beaming on the pink or yellow page, than to have the people dreaming that we are no more the rage. Advertising! Let the grocer pay for space to bill his name; shall we do it? Not for Joe, sir! That is not the Great Men's game; we are onto smoother capers than the merchants often see; we have learned to work the papers, and to get our booming free.

SEATTLE CHILDREN POISONED BY EATING WILD BERRIES.

SEATTLE (Wash.), June 27.—Poisoned by eating wild dogwood berries, little Jeannette Campagni, 8 years old, died at her parent's home yesterday. Worman and Roy Rootney, aged 9 and 7, have been in a serious condition, and are just recovering, and four other children were made sick by eating berries in the same patch. The children ate the berries last Wednesday and felt a trace of stomach trouble but, not suspecting the fruit, they visited the patch in the North End of this city again the following day. Friday all were sick. Yesterday morning the Campagni girl's condition became serious, and medical aid was summoned. She died in convulsions.

THE FIGHT BY ROUNDS; MANY BLOWS DESCRIBED

First Round. RENO, Nev., July 4.—The men refused to shake hands. Johnson smiled and Jeff calmly chewed gum. After a long opening session of sparring Johnson shot his left to the face and they clinched. Johnson pushed Jeff back, Johnson swung his left to the jaw and as Jeff roughed it at close quarters the left black shot his left again to the face. The men locked arms, and on the break Jeff elbowed his man twice with two short arm lefts to the face and the crowd yelled. It was a tame round.

Second Round. Johnson came up chatting like a mope, but Jeff only smiled. "He wants to fight a little bit, Jim," yelled Corbett. "You bet I do, Mistah Corbett," retorted the champion. As Jeff held on, Johnson elbowed him with a wicked right to the jaw. As the men separated from a clinch Jeff swung his right to the stomach, to which Johnson retaliated with two ripping left uppercuts to the jaw. The men closed together, Jeff leaning against the champion with the sheer weight of his shoulders. It was a case of strength against cleverness, with the Nubian having the better of it.

Third Round. Both came up slowly. "Come in, Jim," shouted Johnson, saying which the champion hooked his left to the stomach with much force. Johnson then jabbed his left twice to the face and as they closed in breast to breast Johnson whipped a left uppercut to the jaw and neatly blocked the boiler maker's onslaughts. As the men circled about the ring Johnson kept up a constant cross fire of conversation. Johnson on points, had a good advantage, but there was not much power behind his stings.

Fourth Round. Jeff missed a left swing, Johnson rushing away, leaving a stab to the face. Johnson taunted Jeffries constantly. "Don't rush, Jim; don't you hear what I'm telling you?" shouted Johnson, backing it up with a right uppercut to the jaw. Jeff got in a good right uppercut to the mouth and the blood started flowing from the colored man's lips. "First blood for Jeff," yelled the crowd. Johnson shot a hard left to the mouth and almost wrestled his man against the ropes. The "golden smile" had not faded from Johnson's face at this stage. Jeff forced the champion against the ropes and a half dozen short arm body punches found their mark in rapid succession. In response, Johnson shot a right to the jaw and the round ended. It was Jeff's round and the best one so far.

Fifth Round. Jeff rushed in close and they wrestled for a spell. At close quarters Jeff shot two rights to the body, to which Johnson responded with a left uppercut, cutting Jeff's lips a bit. Johnson a moment later drove his right to the jaw and then followed it with two left uppercuts to the same place. Johnson lashed the white man with a straight left to the mouth and they eased up in a clinch. Suddenly Jeff sent the black man's head back a foot with a straight left to the mouth. No serious damage done to either. "I'm going to mix with him now," said Jeff to his seconds. Three lefts radiated from the champion's shoulder, catching Jeff on the face in each instance, and the blood seeped from Jeff's left cheekbone. Jeff waded in, but was met with a nasty left uppercut that closed his right eye tight. Johnson followed this with two stunner punches.

Sixth Round. Jeff came up with a ferocious frown and they closed in. A long sparring bee followed without a blow being struck. Johnson meanwhile carefully priming himself for an opening. With the men locked in an embrace Johnson jolted his man three times over the damaged right eye and followed this with a right uppercut to the jaw. Jeff stopped Johnson's bickerings with a straight right to the jaw. Johnson countered with left and right to Jeff's sore face.

Eighth Round. Jeff rushed in and the black drove a left to the mouth and shortly after shot in two straight lefts to the face that carried considerable force behind them.

Ninth Round. Johnson hooked another left to the jaw that carried with it a world of power. After Jeff had butted with his head Johnson flung his left to the stomach and they went into a friendly clinch. Jeff crouched low and Johnson drove home a wicked left full tilt to the stomach. This round ended in Johnson's favor.

Tenth Round. Not much life marked the coming to the center of the ring. Johnson shot two lefts to the head and followed it up with a short arm right to the eye.

Thirteenth Round. The men fought without damage to a clinch and wrestled about the center of the ring. Johnson breaking it up with a volley of rights and lefts to the face and mouth. Jeff weakened, a right uppercut almost lifting him from the floor.

Fourteenth Round. Jeff was met with a straight left as he got up, and a moment later another spiteful jab went to the mouth. Jeff's right eye was almost totally closed. Johnson sent in some rapid fire left jabs to the mouth and the big white shook his head. "I'm as clever as you are, Jim," shouted Johnson to Corbett.

Fifteenth Round. When the men faced each other it was plain to all that Jeffries was in distress. Johnson waited for the big white man to come in and chopped his face to pieces. They came into a clinch after a feeble attempt by Jeff to land a left hand blow on the body, and as they broke away Johnson shot his left and right to the jaw in a flash. Jeffries staggered back against the ropes. Johnson dashed at him like a tiger. A rain of lefts and rights delivered at close quarters sent Jeffries reeling blindly. Another series of short, snappy punches, and the big white giant went down for the first time in his ring career. Jeffries looked around in a dazed way and got up at the count of nine. Jeff reeled about and tried to clinch, but Johnson eluded him and as the old champion swung around to the south side of the ring he jolted him twice on the jaw. Jeff sank to his knees, weak and tired, but got up again at the count of nine. It was then that Jeffries' friends began to call to Rickard to stop the fight. "Stop it! Stop it!" they shouted from all sides. "Don't let him be knocked out!"

Rickard gave no heed to these appeals. Jeff was helpless now, and as he staggered to a standing position the negro was waiting for him. A left, a right and another left, short, snappy, powerful blows, found their marks of Jeffries' chin and he went down for the third time. The time keeper raised and lowered his arms, telling off the seconds. He had reached the count of seven when some of Jeffries' seconds put foot inside the ropes and Rickard walked between the fallen man and the negro champion. Placing his hand on Johnson's shoulder, he declared him the winner. While Jeffries was not counted out, this was merely a technical evasion. It was evident that he could never have got up inside 10 seconds.

SAILORS VS. WASEDAS. This afternoon at three thirty, the baseball team from the U. S. S. Cleveland and the Waseda players will meet in a game at Athletic park which will take on a championship aspect, as the sailor lads a few months ago defeated the Wasedas the best two out of three games on their own grounds. Owing to the delay in sailing for the coast, it is quite possible that more games will be played between the two teams, today's game probably counting as the first of the series which will again be the best two out of three. Yesterday afternoon the sailor boys put in some hard work at practice in preparation for today's game. The Wasedas will have practically the same line up today as they had last Sunday.

MATCH IS OFF. Jim Hoos and Jack Cordell will not be seen in action on Saturday night as announced yesterday, and at the present time it looks very doubtful if they will ever meet in Honolulu. Hoos's friends are confident that Jim would be able to make a fair showing against the mainland crack, but on account of his being a newcomer at the game they are not willing to let him meet a man who has always had a good record and has made himself popular with every one by his way of doing things.

Cordell is in hopes that nothing will happen to prevent his proposed match with Corby on July 30, but one thing is certain that it will not be held if McPadden has anything to do with it directly or indirectly, as the sporting public have witnessed the last fight under his management. The actions of McPadden last Saturday night will never be forgotten by the public who were treated to the worst decision ever given in a local ring.

RACE ON SUNDAY.

The postponed yacht race for the governor's cup will be raced for next Saturday, the course being around the island. The race which is for first class yachts will start about three o'clock from the bell buoy, the finish being at the same place after the yachts have completed the circuit of Oahu. Entries will close on Friday afternoon with any member of the regatta committee.

The following yachts will probably start: Gladys, Helene, Kamehameha, Charlotte C. and Hawaii I.

TEACHERS SELECTED

At yesterday's secret session of the education commissioners one of the chief points settled was that Mrs. Scott was not to be principal of Honolulu school, which school is that where much trouble was experienced and from which Mrs. Scott was ejected.

A scheme advanced is the centralization of schools in such a manner that a number of the present school districts will form a unit. The islands will be divided into educational districts, the first being formed of Kauai and Niihau, with 17 schools and 69 teachers in charge of a supervising principal who will also be principal of one of the schools.

The second will be Oahu, with supervision by the Normal instructor. The third: Maui, Molokai and Lanai. The fourth: East Hawaii, Hilo being excepted, remaining under the present system. The fifth: West Hawaii.

The balance on hand in the appropriation for teachers' salaries is shown to be $394,855.68. The July and August payrolls will amount to $60,539.43 which will leave a balance on August 31 of $334,316.25.

There are fifty-three teachers at present employed, who shall be entitled to increases amounting to $283.33 a month on September 1. By the plans now under consideration the department will be able to save a total of $438 a month. Increased expenses necessitated by the supervising principals' salaries will come to $900 a month, which will leave $462 to be deducted from the payroll.

This sum for ten months, added to the increases necessitated by the increased salaries of the fifty-three teachers for the same time, forms an additional expense to the department of $7453.30. The board has a surplus under its appropriation amounting to $12,969.20 from which is to be deducted the increased expenses, leaving $6,515.70.

With the surplus the board can place ten more teachers, leaving a total surplus of $1515.70 when the appropriation expires.

With reference to the girls' industrial school it was suggested that the legislature be requested to permit income at the school to be used for the school. This was approved.

A deal is on to acquire 15 acres in Palolo for the girls' industrial school. Mr. Vincent was granted a life certificate; Mrs. F. K. Bindt, a life diploma; Miss Alice Winter, a grammar grade certificate; Mrs. C. A. Hottel, a life certificate; Mrs. Ida Knight, a life diploma, and Miss Katherine McIntyre, a life certificate. ### California Oil INVESTMENTS

$1000 invested in the stock of the Claremont only a comparatively short time ago, is returning $1598 in dividends, and the shares can now be sold for $13.653. This is one of the many instances we can cite you where large returns have been made in oil stocks.

The officers of the Lincoln Mortgage and Loan Co. make frequent trips through the oil fields to inform themselves at first hand of the condition of properties, whose stock they offer to the public. They are the largest dealers in oil stocks in California.

A branch office has been established here for the accommodation of their many clients on these islands who are now able to make their purchases of oil stocks in Honolulu.

Of the active low priced stocks we recommend the immediate purchase of shares of the Ventura Oil Development Co. at 15c each. The progress of this company has been very rapid and its present outlook indicates a quick advance in the price of these shares in the near future.

This stock offers an excellent opportunity for the small investor to make large profits. Take your shares now. It is your opportunity, your fortune. Buy without delay.

NEW VOCALISTS MAKES DECIDED HIT

It has long been predicted that if Manager Congdon, of the Park theater, kept on magnifying his plans in the show line he would eventually secure a set of program-makers who would break the record. With Ethel May, George Gardner, the Desmonds, Thompson, Carl Wallner and an exceptionally fine picture display, a remarkably fine limit has been reached.

There was a great crowd at the Park last night, and it was an appreciative audience. Ethel May, who made her initial bow to the Honolulu public, proved equal to her reputation, her interpretation of high class music. She has a most charming voice and is of a highly satisfactory character. Her songs, as a rule, were familiar ones, so that the enjoyment of her singing was all the more enhanced.

George Gardner is one of the very best Irish dialect vocalists ever heard here. He made a hit from the start and kept his audience ever with him.

The Desmonds and the other entertainers of the evening were at their best and received frequent and hearty applause from the audience.

This evening, with the second presentation of the program should prove even more interesting than the first night.

COKE FAMILY GOING AWAY

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh M. Coke and family will leave for California in the Lurline. Their stay there may be indefinite. Mr. Coke was for years a public school teacher here serving on Kauai, Hawaii and Maui. For five years he was editor and manager of the Maui News, bringing it up to a financial success as well as making it a "power" in the country. Lately he retired from the newspaper business and at once found a good practice in the profession of law. The published report that he gave up the News on account of differing with the controlling interest on prohibition was not true. Mr. Coke declined to take any part in the prohibition controversy on Maui, and the organization of himself and others as an anti-prohibition league was a practical joke perpetrated by Lorrin Andrews. It got into print without authority. Mr. Coke is a temperance man, although doubting practicability of prohibition. He is a man the Territory can badly afford to lose and all who know him will hope for his return to Hawaii.

Jesse James Equaled In Late Train Robbery

OGDEN, Utah, June 27.—The three bandits who held up and robbed the Oregon Short Line passenger train within the city limits of Ogden this morning are still at large, with passes headed by the sheriffs of three counties and the special officers of all the Harriman lines following what is believed to be their trail. All the information is that the bandits are headed toward Nevada, along the lines of the Southern Pacific west of Ogden. All roads, rails and the railroads tracks are guarded by members of the posse.

Railroad telegraphers at the stations along the line of the Southern Pacific and the Oregon Short Line Railroad have been instructed to keep a close watch for the robbers and advise division officials at this point if they are seen.

The officials of the American Express Company announced today that the robbers secured less than $500. The express officials are of the opinion that the robbers had intended to hold up the first section, which carried many valuable packages.

Escape in Buggy.

The robbers drove to the scene of the holdup in a rubber-tired vehicle, with which they made their escape to the west. A farmer in a field near Slaterville, fifteen miles west of Ogden, saw the three men driving furiously toward the cutoff of the Southern Pacific Company across Great Salt Lake at 4 o'clock this morning. The officials are following this clew at present.

The second section of train No. 1, north bound, left Ogden at 1:30 o'clock this morning, and at Second street, in the northern part of the city, was held up by three masked men. All of the passengers in the train were relieved of their valuables and the express messenger was compelled to deliver over the contents of his safe.

The robbers stopped the train by placing railroad torpedoes on the track. When the engineer brought the train to a stop, the head brakeman went forward to ascertain the cause of the delay and was struck up on the head with a revolver by one of the robbers. He was then taken at the point of a gun to the express car and compelled to call to the messenger to open the door. As soon as the door was opened one of the bandits crawled in and commanded the messenger to open the safe.

After rifling the safe the robbers turned their attention to the coaches. As they started for the coaches the rear brakeman, M. R. Franklin, was met as he was on his way forward. The bandits commanded him to halt but he continued and two shots were fired at him.

With daring equal to any robbery ever pulled off by the famous Jesse James gang, the train robbers went through each coach with a deliberation and calmness that showed they were not novices at the game.

After one of the men had struck brakeman Franklin to the ground, he rolled into a ditch, where he feigned unconsciousness. After seeing that he was not watched he jumped up and ran three blocks to the home of Deputy Sheriff John Hutchins and informed him of the robbery. The deputy hurried to the scene, arriving there just as the train pulled out for the north.

Conductor H. L. Williams was one of the first to leave the train. He was covered by one of the robbers and ordered back into the coach. While one of the desperadoes stood guard over Engineer Kirkwood, the other went through the coaches rousing the passengers from their slumbers and relieving them of their valuables. The day coach, sleeper and chair cars were entered by the two robbers with revolvers drawn, and each passenger ordered to hand over his valuables.

Earrings Torn From Woman.

One woman, Mrs. J. H. Ball, was relieved of a pair of diamond earrings which were ruthlessly torn from her ears by the robbers.

Brakeman Franklin and a foreigner whose name was not learned, were the only ones assaulted. The foreigner did not understand what was going on and was brutally beaten with the butt of a revolver. After the train had been robbed the desperadoes assembled and, firing a fusillade of shots in the air to terrorize the passengers, got into their buggy and drove furiously away.

Although there were nearly 100 passengers on the train, everyone of whom lost something, the conductor estimated the total losses at less than $500.

At midnight officers who have been searching for the robbers west of Ogden returned on a Southern Pacific train, having in custody four suspects. They will be held at the Ogden jail with four others until some of the passengers and the train crew of the train held up can be brought here to identify them. New passes were organized here this evening and will leave early in the morning for the western part of the state.

"THE LAW IS COMMON SENSE"

A Kansas statute defining embezzlement was printed with the word "estate" for "state." It provided punishment for any "estate, county or city" officer who should misappropriate the money entrusted to his care. A lower court held that as the word "state" was not in the statute it was not a crime in Kansas for a State officer to embezzle funds. But the Supreme Court of the State reverses that ruling. It holds that the clear intent was to prohibit and penalize dishonesty by State, county and City officers, and that the printing of the letter "e" before the word state was simply inconsequential error of the printer.

All hail the Supreme Court of Kansas! This court does not believe that the illiteracy of a typesetter or clerk should prevail over the manifest morality and common sense of a great people. This court actually does not offer a premium to the ignorance or dishonesty of a printshop or a prosecuting attorney's office. In some sister states all an attorney for a defendant has to do is to get some stenographer or copyist to leave out of a statute or an indictment such a word as "the" and the highest courts in those commonwealths will hold that the trial has been fatally defective. Not so with the court at Topeka.

In Kansas, the Supreme Court has shown a fine purpose to cut loose from technical absurdities which have somehow grown up and strangely paralyzed the brain cells of many other courts. In fine, the Supreme Court of Kansas is reaching for the attainment of that highest ideal of justice—"The law is common sense."—Kansas City Star.

THE IMPORTS OF GEMS BREAK ALL RECORDS

NEW YORK, June 27.—Imports of precious stones reported by the New York customs officials for this month have sent the total for the fiscal year ending June 30th above $45,000,000. The highest prior record was $43,605,476 for the year 1907. About 85 per

THE WOMAN WHO IS A JOY.

One kind of woman there is who is a joy in the home, in business wherever there is anything to which she lays her hands. It is a woman who is thorough. Thoroughness is such a rare quality nowadays, that when one finds a person who is thorough, one feels this person ought to be placed in a glass case and exhibited as wonderfully precious and almost extinct. The objection to this course of procedure is that so many places are waiting for the thorough person that he can't be wasted being exhibited. The man or woman who wants to be sure of holding down a job, of being in demand, can cultivate few surer qualifications than thoroughness.

Many young people, particularly when they first start in business, just about half do things. What is the result? The work has to be done over. They might just as well do nothing. A little stock girl upon her first morning in a new position was told to "brush off the women's raincoats." She took the whisk broom, gave the coats a "swipe," so to speak, across the shoulders, banged them a few times on the skirt part, and announced that she had finished. Of course such work is worthless. A girl when she performs a task should do it in such a way that her busy manager will know without looking at it that it is thoroughly done. In these days of rush and pressure in business, the hurried head wants those under him who will work so trustworthily that their work will neither require examination nor correction. What joy it is to find such a worker! A busy house mistress had a man to paint a fence. She gave him careful instructions as to how it was to be done. When he had finished, he assured her he had been most careful to carry out her directions. She examined results. Here, a strand of wire had been missed. There, quite a stretch where vines had over-run the fence. So far as practical results were concerned, the work was worthless. The entire fence had to be gone over to correct the lack of thoroughness.

Nearly everyone has had the same experience. Office boys and office girls half do their work. Clerks neglect this and that. Maids "slack" things, as the housewife puts it. Everywhere is this lack of thoroughness. It is more honorable for the one who is not thorough not to undertake to do the work. What they do is merely wasted.

Thoroughness is a winning card in the business world today. Children should be trained to be thorough if parents wish their business careers to be a success. Boys and girls, and men and women, who are not thorough should take themselves in hand, if they want to insure success. It means money, for the thorough man or woman is hailed with joy wherever he or she goes.

cent of the imports are diamonds, one-third of these being uncut. Although the number of diamond cutters and polishers in New York is less than 500, the diamonds they finish are of as much value as those cut by several thousands of European workmen, the reason being that the American workmen handled only stones of larger size and of better grade.

LOW DEATH RATE IN THE PHILIPPINES.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Any idea that the Philippines are unhealthy as an abiding place for Americans would seem to be dissipated by the statement issued today from the Bureau of Insular Affairs that the death rate among the 8000 Government employes in the islands for the quarter ending March 31st was only 6.9 per 1000 per annum. These employes, of which some 3700 are Americans, include all the officials and employes of the insular, provincial and municipal governments, and the police and fire department of Manila.

SCHWERIN RETURNS, HAS NO NEW PLANS.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—R. P. Schwerin, vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, returned to San Francisco from the East yesterday, and did not announce that the Pacific Mail has decided to go out of business. Also, he had nothing to say in criticism of William R. Wheeler.

These were the principal points of difference in what the Pacific Mail's general manager had to say yesterday from what he has said on some previous returns from the East. Yesterday in fact, he had nothing at all to say—except:

"I have been away about six weeks and spent most of the time in New York and Washington. The weather was very hot."

When told that the Eastern weather conditions had been reported in the daily papers and were, therefore, not a matter of news, Schwerin said he was sorry, as there was really nothing else he could think of to talk about. His visit had been as much a vacation trip as a business one. The Pacific Mail had no new plans with regard to its Panama service or any other service. The company intended to peg along as it has been doing, he said, for the present at any rate.

MOUNTED POLICE ON WILD TRAIL 3347 MILES

VICTORIA, B. C., June 11.—A policeman with a beat 3347 miles long through a wilderness that yields only to the canoe, and ice fields passable only with dogteams and sledges—that in effect was Inspector Pelletier, of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, who with Corporal M. A. Joyce and Constables R. H. Walker and P. R. Conway spent nine months of 1908 and 1909 in traversing the top of the continent to reaffirm Canadian jurisdiction over that area and report on a feasible route from Hudson Bay to the Mackenzie River.

The story of their performance is a recital of simple pluck and exploring skill, a matter-of-fact carrying out of orders without the lure of a prize like the Polo. While the R. N. W. M. P. is everywhere accepted as probably the last word in police efficiency, the popular conception in the United States of the individual unit of this corps is a trimly uniformed Tommy Atkins sort of mounted soldier, giving attention to the suppression of bad men and gun fighters, and protecting the settlers from violence. All that the police do and more.

They are thrown out far ahead of the northward advancing line of settlement. When civilization catches up with their outposts they move on. Not many years ago the southern portions of Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan were distant fields for even the police.

Since Captain Bernier, a Canadian explorer, discovered coal in Melville Island the police are pushing a patrol in that direction. If the coal is workable and settlement or prospecting in that northern neighborhood is forthcoming, the police, with a well-ordered system of justice, will be on the ground first. Only once were the police outstripped by settlement, and that was when gold was first discovered in the Yukon.

Inspector Pelletier's duty on that lonely patrol reveals hardships that have no place in pictures of smart squads, and trim barracks with which the public are familiar. Daniel Boone rather than Tommy Atkins is represented by the far-flung outposts of the police, although it would be considerably more appropriate to compare the inspector and his men with the early voyagers. The patrol began at Fort Saskatchewan and proceeded northward by steamer and canoe to Great Slave Lake. Skirting the shore of this great body of water in canoes, the travelers turned their canoes almost east towards Hudson Bay and made their way by river and lakes with many portages, through almost unbroken wilderness afflicted with the insect pests for which the north woods are notorious. The party was due on the last day of August or the following day with the expectation of being able to lay aside the paddle and ease calloused shoulders from the portage. But the sailboat which had been provided was wrecked and the police were obliged to delay at Fullerton until winter snows permitted a start, with dog teams for the south. The trip from Fullerton, on the 62d parallel of latitude, to Churchill, 450 miles south, was attended by many hardships and difficulties, the patrol being reduced at the end to eating raw deer meat. From Churchill to Lake Winnipeg the journey was easier.

In his detailed report of the trip, Inspector Pelletier gives much new data about the northern country. They were by no means the first party of white men who had visited it. The amount of game observed by the patrol was wonderful. Describing the journey from Artillery Lake to the Height of Land Inspector Pelletier writes:

"Aided by the sails, we were making good time, but were delayed by large numbers of deer crossing at various intervals. We must have seen between 20,000 and 40,000. The hills on both sides were lined with the animals, and at dozen or more places where the lake was frozen to half a mile from shore, solid columns of deer four and five abreast were swimming across the mile or so of intervening water and so closely that we did not like to venture going through them for fear of getting into some mixup.

"The worst feature of a long journey like this (we were 43 days), where no fuel is to be procured is the absolute impossibility of drying clothes, bedding, etc. The moisture from the body accumulates, and there is no means to dry clothing, to get rid of it in any way, and every day sees it harder to put them on in the morning and the bed harder to get into at night until both bedding and clothing become as stiff as boards from the ice. It is a very uninviting task and disagreeable proceeding setting into icy clothes. Sleeping with one's clothing on only makes matters worse.

Gales sometimes sprang up and rendered perilous the navigation of the little canoes, each of which carried two men. Night after night rain made sleep almost impossible and forbade fire for the preparation of cooked food. Thrilling work came when the voyagers shot the rapids in the swift rivers connecting the lakes.

SEEKS PARDON FOR IMPRISONED VETERAN

REDONDO BEACH, June 27.—William Gitt, a business man of Manila, has sent to fifty members of Congress copies of an affidavit by which he hopes to obtain a pardon for John Flemister, a Spanish War Veteran, now serving a two-year term in an island prison for what is termed "grave resistance and disobedience to an agent of authority." Gitt arrived too late to launch his campaign during the late session of Congress, but hopes to interest President Taft in the case.

According to the affidavit, Flemister resisted a Filipino policeman who tried to bar him from a reserved section of the grandstand at the Manila race track. He was fined $200 and sentenced to serve four months in prison, and when he appealed to the Supreme Court of the islands the tribunal increased both fine and imprisonment. The Supreme Court of the United States refused to review the case on the ground that the appeal papers were defective. Gitt's affidavit alleges inhuman treatment of Flemister by his Filipino jailers.

YOUNG ROOSEVELT AND BRIDE AT SANTA BARBARA.

SANTA BARBARA, June 17.—Theodore Roosevelt Jr. and his bride have arrived here and taken a cottage at Montecito, where they will spend their honeymoon. The young couple motored to town today to purchase bathing suits, tennis paraphernalia and other concomitants of a pleasant summer at the seashore.

"We will stay here a month," said Roosevelt. "Then I am due in San Francisco on August 5th to begin commercial duties. Until that time Mrs. Roosevelt and I will devote ourselves to quiet enjoyment of our holiday."

BILLY WOODS TO BRING BACK SOON

Head Turnkey Billy Woods, of Oahu prison, will be a passenger by the Laurine, sailing at 6 o'clock this evening, for San Francisco to bring back Tin Soon, the man who escaped from a prison gang, succeeding in getting out of the country and arrested on a cable order upon his arrival in the coast city.

Woods will take with him a requisition upon the governor of California for his man. He will first be required to identify the runaway and when this is done will proceed to Sacramento where he will obtain the governor's order for the release of the prisoner to him. He expects to return on the back trip of the same steamer.

DEATH OF PIONEER.

LOS ANGELES, June 27.—Daniel Webster Field, who had lived in Los Angeles since it was a village without a railroad, died today, 77 years of age.

Field held various offices during his public career here, and was president of the State Board of Building and Loan Commissioners appointed by former Governor Gage. Before the Civil War Field was noted as an Indian fighter in Minnesota. He founded the town of Glencoe, Minn. During the war he served with a Connecticut regiment.

PRESENCE OF MIND.

Presence of mind in time of danger is an invaluable asset. The coolness displayed by a traveler on one of the New York railway lines lately, saved the lives of thirty-five men. This man, when aware of the danger imminent called out to his fellow travelers, "Everybody hang on to his seat and brace his feet." The advice was taken, and when the car was turned over and dragged twenty feet on its side, the men were in such a position that they were scarcely injured.

In many instances of this nature there are persons present who have had experience in like affairs, but who lose their nerve entirely and can help neither themselves nor anyone else. Yet the need of calmness and its effectiveness can readily be perceived. It is well to cultivate this habit of mind—accomplishment is by constant training—for it will prove of great value in time of need. In theaters when the cry of fire causes a panic which places the lives of hundreds in jeopardy, the voice of authority from some coolheaded member of the audience will work wonders in calming the fears of the people. On shipboard, the man who has presence of mind enough to silence the outcry of frightened passengers and show them how futile it would be to jump overboard to certain death, when there is no real cause for alarm, will be able to save many lives. Innumerable opportunities offer themselves for displaying this courage, even in the affairs of everyday life. It would be well for everyone to prove to himself that he is able to keep calm when danger comes suddenly, and thus be ready for emergencies.—New Bedford Standard.
