Years passed on and the husband and wife continued to live happily. The joy of their life was their little daughter, who as she grew up became the very image of her mother. The latter, mindful of her own passing days, and desiring to keep the mirror carefully concealed, feeling that the use of it might breed a spirit of pride in her little girl, she never spoke of it. To her as a child she never spoke of it. To her as a child
she never spoke of it. To her as a child
she never spoke of it. To her as a child she never spoke of it.

After awhile, however, a terrible misfortune occurred in this happy little family.
The good mother, who had hitherto waited upon with loving care by day and night she grew worse and worse until at last the sad announcement was made that she must die. Calling to her daughter, she said, "I know that you will never forget her mother's last request, and each morning and evening took the mirror from its box and looked at it long and earnestly. To her as a child she never spoke of it. To her as a child she never spoke of it. To her as a child she never spoke of it. To her as a child she never spoke of it.

WALTER G. SMITH, Managing Editor, GEORGE MANSON, Business Manager.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 3, 1894. THE DIPLOMACY OF CLEVELAND.

The Star printed in its edition of Saturday last, the full text of Minister Willis' request that the Provisional Government, to whose friendship he stood accredited, should make way for a heathen monarchy.

Look at the unprecedented facts: The gentleman who made the request had come here with a letter of credence which instructed him to serve the interests of both Governments in a way to make himself acceptable to President Dole.

THE POLICY OF INFAMY. If this dissolute Queen is restored by American bayonets nothing can rescue the administration of President Cleveland from carrying henceforth a load of unenviable infamy.

A MONARCHIST SPLIT. The row among the Royalists has reached an acute stage. It began when Mr. Blount's report gave out the fact that Mrs. Dominis had accused her late Minister of having led her, in January last, to the brink of a precipice and then had left her there to make the leap alone.

THE ONLY AMERICAN COLONY. A native Hawaiian, the Rev. Thomas L. Gulick, for seven years pastor of a church on the island of Maui, is now in Rochester.

personal snub but an abandonment of the political postulate upon which her own title to the crown and their right to hold portfolios had been based.

Just what the adherents of the ex-monarchy propose to ally themselves with in the future it is difficult to say.

WHAT MAY BE DONE. It is to be expected that the Democrats in Congress will try to let the President down easy.

HERE LIES AN ENLAMENTED MONARCHY Killed by its Own hand And Buried beyond the Reach of Resurrection.

THE POLICY OF INFAMY. If this dissolute Queen is restored by American bayonets nothing can rescue the administration of President Cleveland from carrying henceforth a load of unenviable infamy.

WAS A PLEASANT START.

A RECORD OF THE OPENING OF THE NEW YEAR.

Reception at the Y. M. C. A. and Many Other Events - Festal Day Affairs and Incidents in Honolulu.

New Year's Day was locally pleasant and joyous in every phase. It was a general festival and none refrained from its observance. Business was suspended in all quarters, cars cast aside and time and energy devoted to pleasure.

Handful upon handful responded to the Y. M. C. A. open house invitations. This event was under the direction of the good ladies of the W. U. T. U. and its auxiliary societies.

The reception was scheduled for from 12 to 3. While the largest crowds attended between those hours, the halls, parlors and auditorium of the association were thronged from early in the forenoon till late at night.

Those upon whom devolved the delicate duty of greeting a varied class of visitors, used the most admirable tact and discretion essential to such an occasion. In consequence all fell under the genial spell of genuine hospitality and felt entirely welcome.

Lunch was dispensed lavishly. The amount of coffee and sandwiches and ice cream and cake was used and astounding, but the supply seemed to come from an unending source.

The hall was dressed in ferns and flowers and hanging articles of art which greeted the eye from all sides. In making acknowledgments President Ripley had a special mention for those who prepared the decorations.

The audience for the evening concert was larger than could be seated. Professor Berger gave a spirited piano recital as the first number. He gave three selections in fine style, at once becoming a great favorite.

These were the three numbers, each one of which was enthusiastically received. The first, Miss Smith and Mr. Ordway; vocal solo, violin obligato, Miss Von Holt and Miss McCrewe; piano solo, Mr. Barotti; mandolin and guitar duet, Mr. Ordway and Mr. Kennedy.

After the entertainment the audience spent some time in inspecting the rooms of the Association.

The Unknowns who seem to be invincible in their class, celebrated their victory of yesterday forenoon both by a game and by a contest.

About 400 people journeyed to Pearl City yesterday morning for the game between the Kamehameha Club and a nine picked from the ball teams of the Adams and Philadelphia.

The contest was a very well fought one, the score being 34 to 4, proving very easy game for their skillful antagonists.

Features of the day were the work in the box, home runs by McNeill and Koki, and the general clever fielding of the home team.

The game was umpired by Messrs. Mahuku, McVoy and Assistant Surgeon Guest of the Philadelphia.

There was a crowd all day at the range of the Hawaiian Rifle Association. There were some fine runs and creditable scores were made for the trophies and prizes.

The Midwinter Fair, which was formally opened yesterday, will have many special days during its life of six months. These are some of the attractions and dates.

Two Japanese and Some Live Stock Killed - A Fatalities - Christmas Festivities at Keala.

KEALA, KAUAI, Dec. 30.-The elements have been doing considerable damage to life and property hereabouts during the past month.

On the 9th there was a terrific thunder storm, lightning struck just north of Keala, killing four horses and leaving a fatality in the earth. Another bolt of lightning struck the old mill chimney at Kapaa and shattered it from top to bottom.

Tuesday, the 19th, another storm visited Koloa, striking a cabin, kill a Jap and his wife instantly and several others.

The Government school at Kapaa, Mr. H. Z. Austin principal, closed for the Christmas holidays with appropriate exercises on Friday, the 23d.

There were quite a number of visitors and patrons of the school present, prominent among whom was the genial manager of Keala plantation, Mr. Wm. Blaisdell and wife and their guests.

The Christmas festivities passed off with unusual eclat at Keala, notwithstanding the absence of K. S. Spaulding who left for that made many hearts very happy.

There were races at Waipoua and a ball at Keala Hall which was beautifully decorated with ferns and flowers in honor of the three large Christmas trees which were loaded down with the presents from the Colonel.

Mr. George H. Fairchild deserves great credit for the successful management of the affair and assisted by Miss K. Cummins displayed considerable artistic taste in the decorations.

Parties and feasts were held in hundreds of city houses last night. There were elaborate New Year celebrations at Ewa and Keala plantations.

The rifle match prizes will be ready for distribution at Hall & Son's to-morrow. Isador Rubinstein has been admitted to partnership in the firm of Hyman Bros.

The grip, which is very prevalent in San Francisco, has begun its ravages here. There were large crowds of bathers along the Waikiki beach nearly all of yesterday.

An infallible remedy for all colds and coughs - B. & S. Homoeopathic Cough and Croup Syrup.

The task of improving the grounds of the Government building is progressing in an effective manner. Open house was held by the Thistle Club. Scores of friends partook of the good cheer of the Honolulu club.

M. S. Levey has moved his fine stock of goods from the McInerney block to a store on Hotel street west of Fort.

Those who have lawn-mowers, etc., in need of repairs will do well to call on G. W. Hellebrandt on No. 2 Engine House.

The public ball given at the Armory Saturday night under the direction of Professor Berger was fairly well attended.

Holiday fare was served on the men of-war, in the barracks, at the hospital and in the charitable and penal institutions.

The new year was ushered in by the blowing of whistles, ringing of bells, shooting, shouting and in explosion of fire works.

PREPARING TO RETURN.

HAWAII'S MINISTER SEEN TO BE AT HIS POST IN WASHINGTON AGAIN.

Minister Thurston is deeply engrossed with Government, Exhibition Company and private affairs preparatory to an early return to the States. The gentleman was found by a Star reporter this morning at the office of T. W. Hobron.

Mr. Thurston was then reviewing some type-written matter, dictating to a stenographer and carrying on at least two conversations. He was the picture of a busy man.

Asked concerning the policy to be followed by himself upon return to Washington the Minister declined to venture a decisive answer. Said he: "My action on behalf of the Government is based entirely on the course of Congress. It would be difficult, to say the least, to undertake a prediction of events or outcome. Every effort will be made to reach such a determination. It may be quickly settled, and then again there may be considerable delay."

Asked a question as to whether he thought there would be an extended discussion of the Hawaiian matter in Congress? He is likely that purely political opposition will be raised and "processed" by Mr. Thurston would only say that he did not care to essay prophecies on those lines.

On the Midwinter Fair Mr. Thurston said the Hawaiian Day was yet to be chosen. Due announcement will be made and there will be put forth an effort to make a better steamer route from the islands.

Minister Thurston is endeavoring to arrange to leave by the City of Peking for Vancouver, B. C., and then to return to Honolulu by the sailing of the Australia next Saturday.

T. W. HOBRON, Agent. THE BUSY LITTLE BEES. Observe these busy little bees - a-laying up their honey - and try to be as wise as they - by saving of your money. You smoke, say, five cigars a day, and drink, say, six times daily, cards, pool, and billiards, too, you play, and treat the fellows, gaily. In twenty years this fun will cost, according to good scholars, with interest, and the time that's lost, just $20,000. But if you count your loss of health and self-inflicted trouble, you will find this foolish waste of wealth will figure more than double. So imitate these busy bees; store up a little treasure, and later you can take your ease, and have a lot of pleasure. The Equitable Hive is where you ought to store your money, and when you're old, you'll have laid by a lot of Tonic money.

SANCTUARY FOR DESPERADOS.

A World of Romance Found in the Little City of Key West. (Special Correspondence.) KEY WEST, Dec. 1.—An American hand-kercher would read as follows: "Key West is a flat city of 5,000 people, Cubans, negroes and a small sprinkling of Americans. The streets are a little wider than those in Havana, and some of the inhabitants speak English. The postoffice is a nice building. The principal occupations are sponge, tobacco manufacturing and diving for pearls. Key West from April to October is the hottest place in the world. Its mosquitoes are very famous. Tourists would do well to take a Spanish interpreter along when visiting the city."

It is a misconception to call Key West an American city. It is not. It has all the Cuban characteristics, and I doubt if one-third of the population is naturalized. The first six persons I met after landing and leaving the wharf were unable to understand English. The seventh man was a Cuban, but had acquired our tongue. There are hundreds of Cuban families in this city who never forgot their real or fancied grievances. They plot, of course, and form a clan bound by ties that hold the minutest together. There is constant communication with their beloved island, and if the moment is ever ripe Key West, will ye, still ye, sends its quota to aid the insurgents against the Spanish government. Buried in the Cuban quarters of Key West are many old men who could tell strange stories of deeds that are written in Spanish blood. They are looked upon as patriots. When they rehearse the wrongs done to them or their countrymen the fire of eloquence of the south burns in their speech, and we feel our own cheeks flush.

Often have I sat in the dark room of a Cuban dwelling and heard how the Cuban youths, from 10 to 20 years of age, were arrested and shot by the Spanish soldiers, because some careless boy had slightly scratched the monument erected to a dead government official. These youths and daughters had been subjected to dreadful brutality, his plantation confiscated and he himself forced into exile, because he had refused to give a party of soldiers to the house of his brother; how that woman was made a widow because she had called in her husband to aid her in repulsing a drunken soldier's advances.

Said a great, black bearded Cuban to me: "We want this island for our own, and we will have it. I met him at Bahia Honda, a boy in the Cuban coast about 35 miles west of Havana. It is in this bay that the expeditions from Key West will land, if such expeditions are ever sent out. The rebellion is closely guarded by the Spaniards, and it is a breeding place for the revolutionists, and the little insurrections that constantly spring up in the majority of the cases originate here—a dense coast, a mangrove swamp, mangrove swamps encompass the bay and are infested with herons. The tide falling discloses the black mud and cypress clinging to the roots of the trees. Alligators are found in the depths, and during the rainy season mosquitoes swarm by millions. Eight miles inland is a range of mountains very thickly wooded.

At the entrance to the bay, crowning a hill, are the remains of a fort which is rarely occupied. But at the lower end of the bay, squatting on a rocky point, are the remains of the fort which was built on the edge of the swamp in the midst of buzzing mosquitoes and squawking herons, is a dock and shed where military can always be seen. Five miles inland are some barracks where the officers live. A more disagreeable place to be sent to is hard to imagine. The poor, ignorant people who take out an existence in the Key West are incapable of mischief. No one would think that this is the most dangerous locality in all Cuba. In the mountains, whose outline can be plainly seen, is many a rebel who is perfectly secure from the authorities. There is a world of romance locked up in these woody heights.

Cubans look to the United States for aid. They trust that some time they will be in a position to offer themselves and the island to our nation. But the day is as yet far off. Aside from the political character that attends the Cuban majority in Key West there is a mercantile phase to the question. Everybody knows about the excellence of Key West cigars. Now this tobacco is sent over from Cuba. The only reason that the Key West cigar has claims to superiority over New York productions is that better tobacco is obtained cheaper by the Key West manufacturers. This of course applies in a general way, and Cubans assent to the truth of it.

I inferred from a chance remark made to me by an American resident of Key West that Cubans must have facilities for obtaining the tobacco in Key West that are not available farther north. Despite the watchfulness of the United States officials there is an enormous amount of the weed smuggled into Key West. This is done in various ways, by tricks well known to the customs officers. I was instructed by a stranger whom I met at Key West to go into a coffee house to buy my cigarettes, and to be sure to ask for some "without stamps." He told me that I could obtain them at 30 cents a pack, while the usual price was 40. I did as he suggested. I entered a dirty little shanty, asked for cigarettes "without stamps." But unfortunately these companions greedily followed me in. The proprietor, a villainous-looking fellow, assured me he had none of the articles I wanted.

Groups of mine, however, later went to a coffee house, and following the instructions that I had received, soon possessed a pack of cigarettes on which there was no government stamp. They were manufactured in Havana (the number and street have escaped my memory) and were smuggled into America. Strangers, and natives, too, are frequently approached on the street by a negro or a Cuban, who has his pockets stuffed full of cigars. He offers them to you at two for a nickel. I assure you if you buy them you will never regret it. They are equal to the best you can obtain at reputable establishments.

The benefits of solitude. I hold the theory that the child exerts on the child, as the friction of life on man, the greatest educational influence, while our most valuable acquisition in the time of our development through nature, art and circumstance is the fruit of hours spent in quietude, desirable for our growing youth and absolutely essential for our future physical, mental and artistic. Personally, I am indebted for my full fruition, rounded out by a mother's influence, to the solitary contemplations which marked the saddest period of my life—average years in Fortin.

GEMS IN VERSE.

Optimism. I'm no reformer, for I see no light Than darkness in the world. Mine eyes are quick To catch the first dim radiance of the dawn, And slow to note the cloud that threatens storm.

A Man of Letters Creed. I live, I live to fill up space No other substance fills up; I live to carry round my face, I live to run my bills up; I live to fill my time between Lead eying and tomorrow; I live to keep my memory green And see what I can borrow.

The Old Time Pedagogue. They call 'em all professors now, these chaps 'at teaches school, Cause they deal out education by a more regular plan 'n our old-time teaching. But though the intellectual parts with science they elop, They ain't nary one is equal to the ole time pedagogue.

Jerusalem! If he had a case of toothin to do, He'd make the other feller do a little toothin too. An' if the mental engine sorter settled in a cog With the ole of birch he'd start 'er, would the ole time pedagogue.

His train o' knowledge hadn't no curriculum, No engineer at the fire had a tended to the switch, An' just as easy as a beaver toppled from a log He'd land yer at yer station—would the ole time pedagogue.

But nowadays they say a college course is just the class o' the ole time pedagogue. An' what's a college course but athletics, if yer please? An' that's so—unless my brain is sidetracked in a fog— In allerpathic doses from the ole time pedagogue.

Prose. A woman waking had a dream; She thought that all her talents would Be spent in one broad channel and Result in good.

She said: "I'll be a poetess, And write such verses that all men Who read will marvel at the gems Dropp'd from my pen."

"And I will be the queen of song, Perfect, untroubled and serene, My fame will thunder through all time, Challenged by none."

That was her dream, but real life Has common sense, common sense, Which must be met and conquered, though We fain would shrink.

No editor would print her lines, No one enjoyed them but a mouse Who nibbled them. That author keeps A boarding house.

School. The bees are in the meadow And the swallows in the sky; The cattle in the shadow Watch the river running by.

The wheat is hardly stirring; The leaves on the trees are green; The dragon fly is whirring; Through the yellow blossomed flags.

And down beside the river Where the trees lean o'er the pool, Where the swallows come and quiver, A boy has come to school.

His teachers are the swallows, And the river, and the trees, His lessons are the swallows, And the flowers, and the bees.

Mr. R. H. Churchill, Prop'r. Fort Street, Honolulu. An Honest Medicine Rhenmatism Cured—Health Built Up. Mr. Churchill, formerly of Churchill & Taylor, surveyors and civil engineers, Mt. Vernon, Washington, writes: "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for many years. When I came here I began to be afflicted all over with it. And also pains in my back and a general feeling of being tired up. My business takes me out in the elements all the time, and I found myself unfit for work. Looking at a advertisement of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and learning also that the medicine was compounded in my own State of Massachusetts, I purchased this and found it a most beneficial medicine. I took it and am so much improved that I am out of bed and able to do my usual work."
