

ELOQUENT FAREWELL

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX WRITES WELL OF US ALOHA OE

(Written for The Star by Ella Wheeler Wilcox.)

Au revoir, but not good by to the Islands of Peace.
He who comes once, returns again, and is prone to linger; as the thirsty traveler over burning deserts, is loth to leave the oasis where cooling waters flow.

You who have lived your lives in this Paradise of the Pacific can not understand what it means to the strife-weary denizens of the Mainland, accustomed to bleak and biting winters and the strain of competitive life. At first we think only of the physical delight of basking in your golden sunshine; of gazing on your opulence of tropic scenery, and we wonder if we are just dreaming a beautiful dream.

Then as day after day we take our morning meal, without seeing startling headlines, or reading detailed accounts of financial panics, awful murders and terrible scandals in "high life," and as we go forth in your streets, and hear no hard luck tales, no stories of strikes, meet no beggars, and see no sights of heart breaking misery, we begin to feel that a cloud has lifted from our brains, and that the light of heaven is shining on our minds. Again as we come to know you personally, and hear your conversation and see your harmonious mingling of race with race, we grow to believe that the much abused word "Brotherhood" is something beside an expression; that it is a religion.

And as too brief days melt into short weeks, we ask ourselves if this is not the true life which the Creator meant man to live; and if this wild struggle, the fierce competitions, the morbid excitements, and the false standards set by wealth, are not nightmares of a diseased imagination.

And we wonder why we should go back to it all, why we should ever leave you; and we are certain we shall return; return to your glorious climate, to your splendid men, to your beautiful and cultured women with hearts of gold.

Aloha Oe,
ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox, attended by a host of Honolulu-made friends, bade aloha to Honolulu on the Hackfeld wharf at noon today and sailed away for the mainland after a month of delight.

Robert M. Wilcox and his wife, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, in all their many travels,—and they themselves say so,—have never trod a shore where there seemed more fascination than here.

"We are coming back next winter," they said, and all who heard wished that it may be so.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox was almost hidden in leis. She saw here flowers she had seldom or never seen before and she loves flowers. Only yesterday a

EDWARD SEWALL ENDS A LONG TRIP

BIG SHIP HERE AFTER A TRIP OF 152 DAYS FROM BALTIMORE—IS RECEIVED WITH THE HONORS OF A NAVAL COLLIER—MANY DAYS OF CALM CAUSED THE LENGTH OF THE VOYAGE.

There was once a skipper named Quick Who came into port with a kick; The wind wouldn't blow And they said he was slow; Said the lubbers, that's surely not quick.

White-winged, white-sparred and beautiful, with decks immaculate and brasswork gleaming, the splendid American ship Edward Sewall, Captain Quick, early this morning was sighted off port, docking at Naval wharf No. 1 at 10 o'clock.

She is 152 days from Baltimore with a full load of coal for the U. S. Naval Station here and for the last week or two shipping people were beginning to get anxious as to the wad-jammer's fate, for the Astral had made such a good passage that it was expected the Edward Sewall would do nearly as well. There was great relief, therefore, when today brought her in.

Calm and more calm delayed the Edward Sewall; she passed through no trying times, but suffer the dull monotony of light winds and calm coming up the Pacific after rounding the Horn. She was reported on January 2, it will be remembered, as sighted off the Horn.

An unusual and amusing spectacle was observed when the Sewall docked. There were eight men outside the Naval wharf gates who desired to go on the wharf and one, apparently a workman, started to open the gate which he did not observe was padlocked.

"Get out of there!" shouted a United States Marine, going double-quick across the esplanade, and he got.

No one was allowed on the wharf while the United States ship Edward Sewall was maneuvering to the wharf. After the gate was opened and until the vessel was moored an armed Marine guarded the gate. Captain Carter of U. S. S. Iroquois, superintended the docking, assisted by another officer.

Of course the Sewall is loaded with coal for the Navy and is under charter by Uncle Sam, but the innocent bystanders were not acquainted with the fact that a chartered private collier was to be received with naval honors, hence the amusement. It was all serious enough with the Navy men, apparently.

A Chinese washman got over the fence to beat his competitors, but was fired out. He explained to his comrades that the gentlemen in uniform on the wharf were afraid a line might break and take his head off; still he wondered why these same gentlemen themselves posed with their hands on the lines.

Captain Quick was glad to make port, but inclined to feel that the powers that be had put up a job to keep him 152 days at sea. In this connection, when a captain has made a good passage he may be seen, almost, up aloft as his wheel approaches port, with a spy-glass looking for reporters. He wants the world to know that he has made a splendid passage. But let the captain be long on a voyage and he's busy as a flea on a cat when the press sticks its pencil through a scupperhole.

C. J. Schoening boarded the Edward Sewall to tell young Werninghaus, cabin boy, that his mother in Chicago was worrying for him to return home. "Is that so?" remarked Werninghaus.

The lad's father has authorized Schoening to send him home, as reported in detail in The Star last Saturday.

WIRELESS COMPANY DECIDES TO ARRANGE AT ONCE FOR LONG DISTANCE PLANT.

The Wireless Telegraph Company has determined,—and this is absolute,—that it will establish a long distance wireless station here, securing power from the Hawaiian Electric Company with the probability that the station will be erected and in operation by the time the big fleet is due to arrive from its visit to the Pacific Coast.

Wireless Expert Isabel is expected to arrive early next week at Hilo aboard the Matson S. S. Enterprise from San Francisco and he will come to Honolulu as soon as possible and begin a series of thorough tests with a view to establishing the best site for a station.

The new station may be on a mountain, or on the reef. It will be wherever the best results are obtained and, the site once settled, the material will be on hand for erection.

With the score or more American ships of war, divided into squadrons, relaying from the Coast to Hawaii and so on, perhaps to the Philippines, the Wireless Telegraph Company confidently expects to be taking this summer across the Pacific both ways, thousands of miles.

Judge Dole in the United States Court this morning continued the habeas corpus case of the Territory vs. George Wade until next Saturday. Attorney General Hennessey is prosecuting, and C. C. Biting for defendant.

UNION IN HILO

DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES BY NEW ORGANIZATION OF WORKMEN ON HAWAII.

HILO, March 5.—The committee of Hawaiian laborers, appointed to prepare a constitution and by-laws for the new organization has held several meetings within the past week, and evidently means business. The preamble sets forth:

"It is evident that to protect ourselves we must combine! There is hope for us only in unity and organization! We must form a union broad enough to embrace every competent American citizen laborer on Hawaii—one that will protect every man in his labor and in wages. There we have adopted the following:

"First—It is imperatively the duty of every member to do all in his power to secure, through organization and Unity of action among the American citizen laborers of Hawaii.

"Second—in obedience to that duty and to accomplish our purpose set forth in the constitution, we have formed a Union of American Citizen Laborers.

"Third—We must compete with Asiatic labor. In some cases there are some of the unions that may have to work with Asiatics but, in such case, it is our duty to prove our superiority and demonstrate that the members of this organization, may be depended upon under all circumstances.

"Fourth—Whatever we undertake we must perform. If we begin a job we must complete it, unless called off by a just cause.

"Therefore any member who acts in violation of this obligation, or violates any article of the constitution or by-laws of this union shall be fined, suspended or expelled at the discretion of the union.

WOOD WILL SPEAK

A special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, and also of the Promotion Committee will probably be held this coming Wednesday and Thursday at which time H. P. FOO STRONG A BLUFF.

Frederick Sterry was talking about the rush that restaurants experience on New Year's eve Washington's birthday and other holidays.

"But I must not boast," said Mr. Sterry. "It is bad luck. A grocer in my boyhood told me that.

"The grocer said that he had once engaged a new boy and had exhorted the boy always to give customers the impression that they were very busy.

"Whether we are actually busy or not, say so, the grocer said. 'Tell people we are, for they like to deal with brisk, go-ahead firms, that do a large trade.'

"Well, an hour or so later a brougham drove up and the rich judge's wife entered. She did not stay long. The boy looked after her. And on her departure the grocer said to the boy.

"Did Mrs. Judge Brown leave a very large order, James?"

"She was 'g'ol' to," said the boy. "She had a list as long as yer arm. But I looked mad, and told her we was so busy I hardly seed how I could stop to tend to her, so she said, 'bein' as she was in a hurry, she'd jest go next dopr.'"

FORTYNINERS' PETTICOAT PANIC. In the summer of 1850, only a few months after my arrival in California by way of the Isthmus, I was working a mining claim with a young man named Dr. Merrick.

Women were so scarce in California at that time that this was sufficient to arouse the whole camp. The "boys," as we were called, were scattered along the Coyote diggings for a distance of about four miles.

When I saw the female garments I raised the usual alarm, "Oh, Joe!" and this called the attention of the miners on Buckeye Hill, where I was, to the clothes-line which had attracted my attention.

The rush of the boys in the immediate vicinity to see the wonderful sight attracted those farther away, and in less than ten minutes, two or three thousand young men were anxiously watching the wagon, clothes-line, and mysterious lingerie.

I then proposed that we make a donation to the first lady who had honored our camp with a visit. I took from my camp a buckskin bag, used for the purpose of carrying gold, and invited the boys to contribute.

I took the sack of gold and went within about thirty feet of the tent and made as good a speech as I could to induce the lady to come out, assuring her that all the men about her were gentlemen, that they had seen no ladies for many months, and that the presence of one reminded them of their mothers and sweethearts at home.

Her husband urged her to be brave, but, when she finally ventured about half-way, the cheers were so vociferous that she was scared and ran back. She repeated this performance several times, and I kept moving slowly back far enough to get her away from the little tent so the boys could have a good view of her. I suppose half an hour was occupied with her running back and forth while the boys looked on in admiration, when I finally gave her the bag with all the good wishes of the camp.

The next morning the wagon, oxen, man, and owner of the female garments were gone, and we never heard of them in after-life.—Personal Recollections of W. M. Stewart.

A GOOD ENDING FOR A POPULAR PAPER UP-TO-DATE NOVEL. (Conclusion.) "Where am I?"

As Claude feebly uttered these words he looked up at the face of an old fashioned clock. Owing to the hard times, the clock had laid off one of its hands.

Claude was reclining on a lot of soft sofa pillows, and all about the room stood Castilian furniture, the kind usually found in the wealthy Spanish homes.

Claude's inspection of the place was suddenly interrupted by the tread of tiny feet. "Are you longing for anything, sir?" asked a sweet feminine voice.

"Yes," gasped the injured young man, "I am longing to know how I got here."

THE SEVENTH DAY ADVENTIST. At the Adventist Church 767 Kanihi street Sunday evening 7:30 we will take up the study of the signs of the second coming of Christ.

The Jews knew, by the prophecy of Micah, where Christ was to be born and they might have known the very year that he was to be baptized and commence the work of his ministry.

Christ is coming the second time, can we know when he will appear? "Surely the Lord God will do nothing, but he reveals his secrets to his servants the prophets."

"We have also a more sure work of prophecy, wherein ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the day stars arise in your hearts."

If we neglect these prophecies, of the second coming of Christ, will we be any more prepared to receive him when he comes than the Jews were? C. D. M. Williams, pastor.

thropic work has largely passed into their hands; without them nine-tenths of the American churches would have to close; their clubs and organizations and mutual improvement societies cover every inch of the continent; and so-called they are supreme with a supremacy such as the women of Europe can only envy from afar.

AN AMERICAN CRISIS.

Is the United States in facing a revolution? In the country today are enough unemployed and discontented, enough agitators and enough anarchism, to cause reports of the commencement of revolution if they were shown in a European monarchy. Parades of unemployed in most of the large cities have called for the police either to suppress them altogether or carefully guard the peace and in Denver and Chicago the red hand of anarchism has just shown itself. At the same time the country fairly rings with sentiment of contempt for the law and its manner of administration, and with resentment for wealthy classes. It would seem that a bit of real hard times, increasing the number of unemployed, might easily lead to popular demands far more revolutionary than the "policies" of Roosevelt and Bryan, so generally regarded as the extremes of reasonable plans to equalize conditions.

In the light of this possibility, the extremist policy may be in reality a saving factor. The only things that silence the socialist agitator's charges are such proof as the $20,000,000 fine, and several prosecutions of some of the most rich and powerful men in the country afford, of fair administration. These answer the constant cry that there is "one law for the rich and another for the poor." The cry recalls the Thaw case, which ended in furnishing a very fine example of the thoughtlessness with which such a charge is often made. The statement that Thaw's money bought his way to the asylum and saved him from execution is so common it has ceased to be interesting. Come the descriptions of the asylum and it appears that in the quarters he occupies are no less than a hundred other murderers,—men not wealthy who went as he did, not to the execution chair. But no particular notice is aroused by this fact, as an answer to the accusation of unfairness of the law.

The country, having avoided a panic that might have upset industry, may not be in danger of much more rising in the tide of socialism and anarchy. But it is probably true that a severe panic would have brought it and that it would come anyhow but for the strong trend of government policy towards a vigorous prosecution and suppression of "rich malefactors."

DEWEY MIGHT COME.

Admiral Dewey's strong interest in Pearl Harbor suggests that perhaps he might accept an invitation to come here when the fleet comes. He has already accepted an invitation from the citizens in charge of the celebrations in San Francisco to be in that city during fleet times. Some other details of San Francisco plans, which may aid in bringing forward local ideas, are contained in the following account of San Francisco committee discussions:

"Among the attractions arranged by the entertainment committee will be band concerts in several public squares during the evenings the fleet is in the harbor. Information bureaus will be established at the ferries, Union Square and the Third and Townsend station.

"The committee on press and publicity have made elaborate plans to advertise the event throughout the country. News items of the preparations for the fleet will be sent to all the important papers in the State and to more than fifty of the big Eastern papers.

"Invitations have been sent to the President of the United States, Governors of all the States, Mayors of all the important cities, editors of the large papers and magazines and many other prominent people. Close on to 5,000 invitations will be sent out.

"A feature of the decorating scheme will be the planting of vines and flowers in all the ruins and vacant spaces in the main parts of the city.

"At the instigation of the California Chapter of the American Institution of Banking, the committee decided to ask the Governor to declare a legal holiday on the day the fleet arrives."

FIGHTING THE RATS.

The vigor of San Francisco's campaign against plague and the extent of the federal and general public aid is shown in the following from the Argonaut: "If there be anybody who questions the power of an aroused and unanimous public sentiment, let him take note of the movement now in progress in San Francisco and its neighboring communities for protection against the bubonic plague. Besides the $30,000 per month provided by the national government and the $15,000 per month provided by the municipality, a volunteer fund of $500,000 has been guaranteed in San Francisco. In Oakland and other suburban towns a similar liberality has been exhibited. At Berkeley local bankers have guaranteed a fund of $100,000 for immediate defensive use, trusting to the community to make it up by private subscriptions. In addition to these organized forms of effort, the defensive movement is being carried forward in a thousand other ways. Men, women, and school children in organized groups and individually are making war on the plague rat: (1) by directly destroying him; (2) by depriving him of food; (3) by breaking up the conditions which harbor him. The city is getting such a cleaning-up in its back yards, its cellars, its house foundations, and in its swill barrels as it has not had since the coming of the padres. What is more, ways and means are being devised for future protection. We shall build off new houses and reconstruct our old ones upon rat-proof plans; we shall so regulate the storage, cartage, and incineration of garbage as to make lean pickings for rats. Of course, but one result can follow all this; we shall have a city freer from offensive refuse, vastly cleaner, sweeter in its smells, more sanitary, better fit to live in. In another sixty days San Francisco, for all its broken walls and temporary structures, will be the cleanest city in the United States. Under the special difficulties of the situation one thing and one thing only could have brought about this most desirable consummation. Nothing short of an aroused and a unanimous public sentiment could have done it."

The returning secretary of the Promotion Committee, H. P. Wood deserves congratulations for the signs of success of the Pearl Harbor work in which he was an important factor.

The Paradise of the Pacific yesterday issued a Floral Parade number that very attractively shows some of the best features of the last parade. The half tones are up to the standard which the Paradise

BRIGHT THINGS IN CONGRESS

(From the Congressional Record.)

"The Congressional Record is the greatest daily published in the wide, wide world.—Congressman Clayton of Alabama.

CHAMP CLARK of Mo.: I am not going to venture upon any discussion of the financial question. There never have been but two men in the world that knew all about it. My friend from Connecticut (Mr. Hill) is one of them and unfortunately the other is dead. (Laughter and applause.)

CONGRESSMAN CHAMP CLARK of Mo.: The President is such a belligerent personage that his slightest word is a challenge to mortal combat, and he can't express an opinion on any question under heaven, even on a subject so prosaic and threadbare as the prospective state of the weather, without precipitating a row, his extreme admirers declaring that there never has been such a weather prophet on earth since Adam and Eve were driven with flaming swords from Paradise, and his extreme enemies vociferating that he knows no more about the weather than does the ground hog. Upon this issue there would be joined a nattle royal, full of sound and fury, signifying nothing. Colonel Roosevelt laughs to scorn the words of the great Cardinal:

Love thyself last; cherish those hearts that hate thee;
Still in thy right hand carry gentle peace
To silence envious tongues.

On the contrary, he acts on the theory of the hellcose Irishman who said: "When you see a head, hit it." And he has whacked so many heads that divers reactionary leaders are in the political hospital for repairs.

CONGRESSMAN RICHARDSON of Ala.: I believe that the issue is a revision of the tariff along broad, business, common-sense lines, in the interest of the masses of the people. The tariff reform issue, Mr. Chairman, in my judgment will clarify the atmosphere for the Democrats. It will solidify the friends of Democracy throughout the entire country. It will invite great accessions from the dissatisfied and discontented ranks of the Republican party, and, in my humble judgment, will give the Democracy next November one of the grandest victories it has ever achieved. (Applause on the Democratic side.)

SENATOR LODGE of Massachusetts: Mr. President I did not intend to be drawn into this debate. I have thought several times during its progress of a story which was told by the late Senator Vance, whom many of us remember, when a good many years ago there was one of our great financial discussions beginning about either greenbacks or silver. Senator Vance went down to North Carolina, and at a large meeting where he was announced to make a financial speech, he said: "I have come before you to discuss this great financial question. I do not pretend to be a financial expert. The only financial principle with which I am entirely familiar is that it takes two names to float my note." I have often felt that that was a very frank and honest confession of the amount of financial knowledge which a great many of us possess.

SENATOR TELLER of Col. Wait until China, with its 400,000,000 people, wakes up to something like the activity of the civilization of this country and begins to use gold; then that $400,000,000 per year will disappear and you will not be able, without great effort, to hold a billion and a half in this country, as we now have.

CONGRESSMAN M'CALL of Massachusetts: I think it is very important that there should be some collection in the United States of the newspapers of the United States. As Lord Macaulay says: "The newspapers give the current history of the times." The British Museum, which has a marvellously great collection of books, preserves all the local newspapers of Great Britain. Some time ago it was suggested in Parliament that the newspapers of certain localities be sent to libraries in those localities, which would have relieved the strain a good deal upon the British Museum, only keeping the most important newspapers bound there. But it was voted down in Parliament, and a separate building was constructed in which to store them. Newspapers are very much used by men who write history, more so now than ever before. Of course they must read them with a good deal of skepticism and a good deal of care.

CONGRESSMAN COX of Ind.: With a protective tariff preventing competition in the line of manufactured goods we can not expect our manufacturers and the employees in their manufactories to compete with foreign competitors. Lower the duty upon many schedules now in the Dingley bill, and then, with the business energy, independence, and initiative of the American employee, in but a short period of time we would have complete control of the commerce of the world.

CHAMP CLARK of Mo.: You all endorse Cortelyou's great remedy for this panic. What was Cortelyou's remedy? The President sent him a letter of congratulation. It is a cold day when he does not send a letter to somebody, somewhere, about something. If he does not finally turn up with a bad case of pen paralysis, I miss my guess. (Laughter.)

CHAMP CLARK of Mo.: After all is said that can be said, one fact stands out in bold relief, and that is that it is a Republican panic. (Loud applause on the Democratic side.) The self-constituted defenders of the President declare vehemently that Harriman and his crowd did it. Harriman and his crowd retort angrily that the President and his crowd did it. But no difference which one of the two crowds did it, it is "a Republican panic." (Loud applause on the Democratic side.) For, let it never be forgotten that Harriman and his crowd are Republicans, as well as the President and his crowd. It does not become "an innocent bystander" to undertake to decide which are the ideal Republicans. (Laughter.)

CHAMP CLARK of Mo.: Should the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Dalzell), who is jealous of his mental integrity, ever arise in his place on this floor and unequivocally declare that he is earnestly in favor of general tariff revision downward, the angelic choir should break forth in full chorus:
Sound the loud timbrel, o'er land and o'er sea,
Dalzell is converted, the country is free!

(Prolonged laughter and applause.)
I wish to heaven that I could live till he does that. Then I would take away from Methuselah the honor of being the oldest man that ever lived. Methuselah would have to tarry several centuries at Jericho cultivating his beard in order to even enter the ring for old men. Hitherto and for some nineteen hundred years the conversion of Saul of Tarsus, as he journeyed from Jerusalem down to Damascus, has been taken and accepted as the ne plus ultra of the sudden and the unexpected; but the historian of our times will record the fact with iron pen upon his glowing page that the sudden and abrupt conversion of standpatters to tariff revision in 1908 is the most astounding phenomenon of the phenomenal age in which we live.

has set in the past,—and more need not be said. The issue gives a very good idea of the great Washington's birthday show, and will be of real promotion value.

THE AMERICAN ADMIRALS, DISGUSTED, LEAVE BULL FIGHT

LIMA, (Peru), February 24.—All Lima was gasping tonight over the action of the three American Rear-Admirals, Thomas, Sperry and Emory, who abruptly left President Padro's private box today after the killing of the fourth bull in the full fight which was specially arranged for the officers and men of Admiral Evans' fleet.

Such action is regarded here as contrary to etiquette and in a serious breach of the national custom in such matters.

By special order of the President, the horses were not killed, but it was evident from the action of the Americans that they did not from the first take kindly to the exhibition.

Rear Admiral Thomas, who represents the commander-in-chief, was one of the first to arrive, accompanied by his fellow commanders and there was a great attendance of jockies from the warships.

In the first fight the bull was quickly dispatched, but when the second bull was let into the ring it made a mad dash at Matador Padilla and before he could get out of the way he was gored so severely in the neck that he was hurled to the floor with blood spurting from a terrible wound close to the jugular vein. It is probable that he will die.

A number of the American jockies leaped into the ring and struggled with each other to get possession of the banderillas before the bull was dead.

These banderillas, or barbs, are stuck into the flesh of the bull by the picadors and the jockies tore them out eagerly. The police however, chased them out of the ring.

At one time fully half of the 3,000 United States jockies present were in the ring. For a time it looked as if their enthusiasm would serve to break up the entire spectacle. During the bull fights a heavy rain fell—the first in Lima in forty years.

The wounding of the matador seemed to have a depressing effect upon Admiral Thomas, and until he left he shifted uneasily in his seat and seemed to be looking for a chance to get away. Finally at the end of the fourth bull fight, he arose abruptly and motioning to his fellow-admirals left the box.

President Padro was not present, but placed his box at the disposal of the United States Admirals and had given special orders that the horns of the bulls be padded so that they could not rip and maim the horses. This retracted some from the spectacle as a bull fight, but made it more humane.

Nevertheless, it was a brilliant scene, and was attended by the beauty and chivalry of Lima. It is not supposed that any notice will be taken of the action of Admiral Thomas.

KNOCKERS ARE STILL WORKING

There are still some knockers in Honolulu and when they are not directing the blows at the volcano they are working lower down the line in the vicinity of Hilo. The other day Mr. B. expressed a wish to visit the Crescent City and make some views, but he was told by a knocker not to go as nothing moved in Hilo, everything was dead. But B. knows better; he has been there and knows what the place is. One of the most interesting films he has in his collection is the one which shows the process of sugar manufacture from planting to bagging. Those who saw his exhibition a few weeks ago will remember the scene in the same field with Manager Kennedy on hand overseeing the work. It was a splendid picture and one which should attract attention on the mainland.

The entertainment next Thursday night will be better than the last for the reason that there will be views of particular interest to the people of Honolulu. There should be a crowded house because the tickets will cost but 25, 50 and 75 cents, according to the purse of the person who buys. Wall, Nichols Co., Ltd., will have them on sale on Monday.

Chronic Hoarseness. Mrs. Delia C. Cameron, Healdsburg, Cal., member Daughters of America, writes:

"Having tried many remedies for chronic catarrh of the bronchial tubes, and not receiving any benefit, I began to think there was no help for me until I began to use Peruna. "In a short time the bronchial tubes began to clear, I did not have that 'frog in my throat' continually, my voice was not nearly so husky, and the wheezing noise disappeared. "I was soon able to believe that I was entirely free from catarrh, and as this was several months ago, I do not believe that it will return."

The above group of women could be multiplied by ten thousand without reaching the number that have been helped by taking Peruna.

Catarrh of the Stomach. Miss Emily Koch, 911 Michigan Ave., Sheboygan, Wis., writes:

"I can heartily recommend Peruna for catarrh of the stomach. I had tried many things which did me no good and as a last resort I got a bottle of Peruna. "I only regret that I did not try it before I forced so much bad stuff into my stomach. It has entirely cured me and as a preventative I always keep a bottle in the house. "I gladly recommend it to all who are afflicted as I was."

A Wasting Disease. Mrs. Roxa Tyler, 6210 Madison Avenue, Chicago, Ill., Vice President of the Illinois Woman's Alliance, writes:

"During the past year I gradually lost flesh and strength until I was unable to perform my work properly. I tried different remedies, and finally Peruna was suggested to me. "It gave me new life and restored my strength. I cannot speak too highly of it."

Ask your druggist for a copy of our booklet "The Ills of Life," giving instructions covering the most effective use of Peruna. Peruna is for sale by all chemists and druggists. The marriage of Miss Margaret Hyde-Smith and Harold Dillingham last night was one of the merriest of occasions and all manner of good wishes and congratulations were showered upon the popular bride, her graceful wedding gown and long veil proving exceptionally becoming. Her exquisite bouquet was caught by Miss Elizabeth Newhall, and to Miss Helene Lewis, too, fell the ring. Miss Marion Newhall found the coin and Miss Constance de Young received the thimble. —S. P. Bulletin.

Society will probably be on hand tonight at the Seaside and the Monna M. de dances which will be given in honor of the officers and ladies of the Army who are due today on the Sherman from Manila.

She visited Honolulu about a year ago with Mrs. George D. Gear and made many friends. She has a charming personality and is extremely popular in her home town. Mr. Collins is a well known business man of Honolulu.

Alexander Frear of Ithaca, N. Y., uncle of the Governor, is about to leave for his home in Ithaca, N. Y. He will stay on the Coast until warm weather comes. It is Mr. Frear's intention to return next fall and, he may bring some of his townsmen with him.

Mrs. Sylvester was a guest of relatives, Mrs. J. H. Snow and R. W. Neal, in Berkeley, for a few days before sailing. She goes to the islands to meet her husband, who is manager of a large rubber plantation at Nahiku, Maui, T. H.—Oakland Enquirer.

"I think most of you will admit that there can hardly be a man with real red blood in his veins who does not like to see good horses pitted against each other. I like to see a horse race. But is this the question? The man at the track will talk to you of the pleasure of horse racing. What he means is not racing, but gambling.

"There are many who rate themselves high in social standing who do not hesitate to play bridge what because of their desire to win or their fear to lose. Do you not think that these examples have their effect upon their lower brethren? Betting on the horse race, but little from betting on bridge whist. It is gambling that we wish to blot out.

"Whenever there is a man accustomed to getting something for nothing, he also is a man who falls to appreciate the value of money. He is the kind who come into fortunes and ruin themselves thereby. Of the winnings at the race track, how much do you suppose goes toward the bettering of the home? Winning at the race track means only the expenditure as a means of life. It is far better for the man's moral fiber to lose than to win.

"In every man who is engaged at the track there is going on a steady rot in character. He is putting risk in the place of honest labor. He is becoming a peril to the society in which he lives."—Benjamin Ida Wheeler, President of University of California.

President Wheeler's pointed reference to the act of bridge whist gambling called the attention of a number of clergymen to the steady growth of this form of gambling on the Pacific coast, and particularly in San Francisco.

The craze, which struck the larger Eastern cities a few years ago, quickly spread to this side of the continent, and observers who are qualified to speak have expressed the opinion that it has taken a strong grip in San Francisco. Perhaps the most popular form of amusement in clubland in San

BRIDAL DRESS PAINTED IN OIL

The new Duchess de Chauvines, nee Shonts, is shown on the left in the above picture, the other two being her mother and sister. The wedding of Miss Theodora Shonts, daughter of an American multi-millionaire, and the city. There were rumors of a big French Duke Manuel Theodoric Bernard D'Albert de Laynes took place February 14 and was one of the most elaborate ceremonies on record in that financial settlement but it was denied by all parties that Shonts gave his new son-in-law anything. He said after the ceremony: "I have made no cash settlement on the duke—not a cent."

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—The newest, smartest and most fascinating of the season's fads has been brought to the fore by Miss Theodora Shonts. For her wedding she has a trousseau which is all that good taste and money can provide. In this bewildering array of loveliness are two gowns which have started a rage among New York women.

A little Washington woman, Mrs. Schumann-Whitlessy, has discovered a process by which she can trace the most beautiful designs in oil paints on the finestest chiffon and each of these gowns has been designed according to the choice and complexion of the fair wearer.

Instead of thick oil paint upon stiff satin or of water colors, that will rub off a perish immediately, this clever artist has been able to use the oil paints on any material, however sheer, in such a way that the delicate flash effect of water colors is given.

But the great advantage of the oil colors is that these gowns are waterproof and even washable, and the designs themselves, though indestructible, are as delicate and transparent as an opalescent print.

Miss Shonts is a tall, statuesque blonde. Her beauty of face, figure and character seems perfectly blended. Her blue eyes, complexion of dazzling pink and white, like a baby's and her crown of magnificent golden hair make her one of the most beautiful brides of the winter.

One of her gowns is designed with peacock feathers on white chiffon. Made over a pale blue chiffon, the transparent quality of the painting gives some wonderful color effects as the rich shades of the peacock feathers are softened and blended into the pale blue beneath. The gown is Empire, hanging softly in very simple lines and is eminently becoming to her slender, perfect figure.

A wide scarf of chiffon, made to be worn over the head or draped about the shoulders, is painted on the same design. There is nothing stiff about these borders. The feathers turn and curl in studied carelessness, giving grace to every fold and accent to every shade. A dainty little vanity bag of white with gold cords is touched with miniature feathers, and is to hang from the wrist.

Another stunning gown is also of white chiffon, bordered with sprays of La France roses. This is made over pink chiffon. The scarf is match, bordered with roses, is worn over the head in the evening.

The gowns are mounted by Worth and cost a pretty penny by the time they are finished. The painted chiffon at $125 is only the beginning of the expense, as Worth's charge for making the gowns with the underdresses of chiffon is between 200 and $300. But finished, they certainly are dreams of beauty.

Besides their beauty the popularity of these gowns among the smartest women depends upon their exclusiveness, as each gown is painted to order and no two are alike.

The Seaside every afternoon is a great place for the younger set to gather. Surf riding and swimming parties are the go just at present. One of the best swimmers among the fair sex is Miss Dora Saunders, the charming daughter of Captain J. W. Saunders of the Manchuria.

Besides being a fine swimmer, Miss Saunders is an accomplished sailor in small boats, and handles the big surf canoes as a veteran.

Princess Kawanakoa, the Deereys, Browns, Humphris, Frears, Parkers, Winstons, Newells, Pillsburys, Brookes, Dunninges, Chillingworths, Castles, Cookes, Dannels, Coxes, Reed, Roths, Shingle, Walkers, Wilders, Macfarlanes, Smiths, Fairclahds, Stanleys, Coopers, McGrews, Abrams, Youngs, von Hamms, Dillinghams, Cranes, Fockes and many others.

Lent was ushered in on Wednesday as usual, and from now until after Easter the social events will be very few, as the church forbids any pleasure during the forty days.

Sheriff and Mrs. Iaukea left yesterday on the Mauna Loa for Kona. The Sheriff has been on the sick list for several weeks but his doctor hopes that the change of climate will greatly benefit him.

Under the auspices of the women of and sale of Hawaiian curios and fancy work opened today in the guild hall of St. John's church, Eighth and Grove streets, and will continue through tomorrow evening.

The affair is arranged by the woman of the guild who devote their efforts particularly to the aid of the sick and needy, and the proceeds of the sale will be devoted to that particular fund of the guild.

Among the features of the bazaar is a stock of Hawaiian curios for sale under the direction of Mrs. August Haneberg who has contributed some handsome and rare articles brought from the islands and is assisted in her booth by her daughter, Miss Johanna Haneberg.

Mrs. Mary Gonzales presides at the table where there is a stock of aprons and burnt work for sale and an attractive Japanese booth is in charge of Mrs. F. B. Oliver, who is assisted by Miss Ella Day and Mrs. Bigelow.

Tea and cakes are to be served during the afternoon by Mrs. Morriss and a staff of young girls and a candy booth is in charge of Mrs. Charles Jackson.

For the evening musical programs will be provided, under the direction of Mrs. Alma Crowley. Among those who have offered their talents for the evening's entertainment are Miss Alice Davies, a gifted young violinist, and Miss Audrey Beer, pianist.—Oakland Enquirer.

Miss Martha Foss, of Berkeley, California, and David T. Fleming, of Maui, were joined together in holy matrimony yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. A. H. B. Judd on Nuuanu street, the Rev. Doremus Scudder performing the ceremony. John Fleming, who is to be married shortly to Miss Adele Morgan, acted as his brother's best man. The young couple left at 5 o'clock on the Claudine for Maui.

Miss Carrie Jacobs-Bond, the singer and composer, was an arriving passenger yesterday afternoon on the Alameda.

A Honolulu party composed of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Wood, James McCandless, Frank A. McCandless and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bradley, who were spending the winter in California, arrived at Hotel Del Coronado February 20th and spent a few weeks at the resort.

If talent and experience combined with steady and careful training count for anything, then the "Mascot", which will shortly be produced at the Opera House, will add one more brilliant victory to the already long list of successes gained by the Amateurs of Honolulu.

It is some considerable time since a musical comedy of this class has been presented at the Opera House and whilst we have had many successful plays lately they have all been on totally different lines.

Honolulu is a music loving town and for that especial reason if for no other the "Mascot", which is brimful of music, is sure to meet with favor from all hands.

The play itself abounds with bright, catchy tunes and songs, while the plot being unusually well constructed, allows music and dialogue to blend together forming a splendid combination of wit, mirth and melody.

The whole will be presented on a most lavish scale, all the costumes, etc., being specially imported from the States, and no expense has been spared to make it the hit of the season.

M. F. Prosser and Mrs. Prosser leave today on the Manchuria for Washington, where Mr. Prosser goes to act for the Territory in several cases which are pending before the United States Supreme Court.

Burton Holmes, who arrived here on the Korea last Monday, is enjoying himself looking up some of his old friends whom he met here on his last visit a number of years ago.

Alexander Hume Ford, the famous writer, arrived here from the Colonies on the Moana and is busy renewing old friendships.

BUDAPEST, February 1.—A credit of $5,000,000 was received yesterday from New York by the Hungarian Discount and Exchange Bank for the account of the Count and Countess Laszlo Szechenyi.

Laszlo Szechenyi was married in New York January 27 to Gladys, daughter of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt. It had been reported that the bride's wedding gift to her husband would be in the form of a settlement of several millions of dollars on him.

The marriage contract signed before the wedding January 27 in New York provided that the individual fortunes of Count Szechenyi and his bride would be shared mutually, and that upon the death of either husband or wife the estate of the deceased would go to the survivor.

It is understood that the $5,000,000 received yesterday came out of the bride's fortune and was forwarded to Budapest to provide ample funds for the young couple on their arrival there, which is expected to occur within the next fortnight.

TOWN TALK

By THE MAN ABOUT TOWN.

Six little warships
Very much alive;
The sun hit one
And then there were five.

Five Kahuku warships—
Guns prepare to roar,—
A Zephyr struck a cloud
And then there were four.

Four deadly battleships,
Riding on the sea;
The sun sank lower
And then there were three.

Three floating arsenals
Plough the ocean blue;
Somebody rubbernecked,—
Said "there's only two."

Two little warships,
Made the people run;
A moonbeam hit them,—
Then there was one.

One lonely warship,— Story's nearly done,—
Everybody rubbered,—
Found there was none.

A lady purchased a likely looking mullet at the fishmarket the other day and got the Chinese attendant to clean it. Upon arrival home she gently but firmly led the mullet to the operating table in her culinary laboratory and proceeded to part his translucent flesh from his vertebrae. Judge of the aforesaid lady's surprise when she discovered that the otherwise tender flesh was generously studded with hard spots not unlike which might have been pearls in formation, had the mullet been an oyster. Such was the appearance of the fish that it was refused the privilege of being broiled for dinner and the curiosity found its way to the official food commissioner who is still puzzled as to the reason of the phenomenon. Whether it is a disease or a freak with the fish is impossible to say. Outwardly the piscatorial specimen was fair and fat to look upon.

Discussion of the Kepoikai case the other day led a friend to ask why it is that so few Hawaiians succeed in gaining high reputation at the bar.
Kepoikai is the only one who has been able to remain on the bench and, without expressing an opinion as to his legal attainments, I may say that some of the lawyers don't speak very highly of them,—though that has not been the question at issue as to his reappointment. A reason given me why the law proves difficult to many Hawaiians in after years, though they may graduate well at college is the matter of language. Returning here, they resume the Hawaiian language in social life and ordinary affairs, and consequently they are soon doing their thinking in Hawaiian terms of speech rather than in English. The law is a science so much depending on exact expressions and nice definitions of terms that such a habit is fatal to a practitioner. This sounds very plausible. I know there is not much difference in the popular mind twixt tweedledum and tweedledee, but I'll wager my chance of voting for Mc-Candless for delegate to Congress against Achi's chance of combining the Hawaiian vote,—pretty even stakes those,—that my friend Davis can talk for three weeks on the criminal outrage of using tweedledum when tweedledee is meant and that he can prove by Magna Charter, the Petition of Right, Declaration of Independence and Constitution of the United States that such a misuse of terms threatens the very foundation of the republic and if persisted in will deprive us all of the right of habeas corpus. So my advice to lawyers of the Hawaiian race is to think in English.

Have you noticed how the strangely enthusiastic local politicians are about baseball? I don't refer to the enthusiastic Jack Atkinson, for he has always been that way and had the park fever first of all. But nowadays every time a baseball league holds an election it is found that the wise ones with their ears to the ground are either officers or "honorary members."
We have a baseball vote now to be reckoned with.

"This is going to be a brass button town," says H. P. Wood, and he is right. A day is coming when the community will be more a naval and military community than ever, which is saying a good deal as far as naval men are concerned, for Honolulu was a good deal of a naval resort in old days.
But it is in prospect that we shall have one of America's largest naval stations and that means something of a navy.
Such a naval station established ten years or more ago might have resulted in a growth of Pearl City at the expense of a good deal of growth of which Honolulu now has. But it is probable that Honolulu is now so firmly established that there will never be much of a city near the great station. Communication between Pearl Harbor and Honolulu by land will be so rapid that the city will be in very close touch with the naval station. It is true, however that more than one of Honolulu's big stores have considered the starting of branches at Pearl City as soon as the naval station is started. Undoubtedly there will be a lively little neighboring community on the peninsula, and perhaps holders of lots, who have hung on for years heart sick with hope deferred are about to realize that the foolish old saying "all things come to him who waits," now and then hits the mark, which is quite enough for a proverb anyhow.

The Liliuolani limericks have driven one man insane to the extent of his recklessly declaring that The Man About Town could not write a limerick to save his immortalized soul. Let us lim:

There was a young fellow named Adam
Who lived years ago with his Madam,
When they both saw the snake
It was no nature fake
And Adam then thought that he "had em."

There was a rough rider called Teddy
Who slung a big stick and was heady
Said he: "I declare
"I'm the real Teddy bear;
"When there's trouble a-brain I'm ready."

There once was a fellow named Thaw
Who fell foul of the unwritten law:
He thought White was black
And gave him a crack
With a pill from a big 44.

A chap whom I won't name at all
He went to the Mardi Gras Ball;
Disguised as a rumor,
And to add to the humor
He was quickly denied in the hall.

There once was a lady named Ella
Who daily produced a "best seller,"
If you gave her the time
She would turn out a rhyme
On any old thing you might tell her.

Listening to a very expressive recital of Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox's poem beginning "laugh and the world laughs with you," at the Kiloanna Art League last Thursday evening, I fell to wondering how much of those very strong lines really expresses truth which the gifted authoress would defend. Almost the whole meaning of the poem is expressed in the first two lines

Laugh and the world laughs with you
Weep and you weep alone.
How many pages of Mrs. Wilcox's own lines could be quoted against this sentiment? Isn't it generally true anyhow that those who laugh want company to join, while most people if they are going to do any weeping prefer to do it alone?

Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox and Alexander Hume Ford are to collaborate in a Hawaiian play, the latter writing a prose draft of the composition, which the former is to put into poetry. I don't know how rapid a writer Mr.

Ford is, but I hope he will be able,
after starting, to keep Mrs. Wilcox's poetry machine busy.—It is the fastest on earth. It is a regular Hos press of a poem-maker, capable of running day and night and ready for extra editions at a moment's notice.

They say rats desert a sinking ship,
and there are various superstitious yarns about how they have gone ashore before lost vessels started on their luckless last voyages, seemingly knowing in some mysterious way that disaster loomed ahead. That wasn't the case with the ship Eclipse, according to remarks made by Captain Larsen, shortly before he left. The sinking ship was literally loaded with rats.
When she received her fatal wound and the water began to rise in her hold, they began coming up, and soon they were an ugly feature of the desperate situation. At night they seemed to number hundreds of thousands, and they pounded and tore about the cabins in a most disturbing manner,—rats that wanted to desert a sinking ship.
When the Eclipse finally gave up the battle and sank into the Pacific, the sea must have swarmed with drowning rats.

NOT YET.

Company is going into the ice busi-
