DID YOU EVER
SEE A SNOWSTORM IN SUMMER?

We never did; but we have seen the clothing at this time of the year so covered with dandruff that it looked as if it had been out in a regular snowstorm.

No need of this snowstorm.

As the summer sun would melt the falling snow, so will melt these flakes of dandruff in the scalp. It goes further than this: it prevents their formation.

It has still other properties: it will restore color to gray hair in just ten out of every ten cases.

And it does even more: it feeds and nourishes the roots of the hair. This hair becomes thick hair; and short hair becomes long hair.

A LUNATIC IN POSSESSION

Young Hawaiian Takes Charge of Health Office a While.

Under the Hallucinations of Being an Office Holder and Military Commander at Manila.

Shortly after 10 o'clock this morning the telephone bell at the police station jingled. A police officer's presence at the office of the Board of Health was requested immediately. An insane native had taken Charles Wilcox's place at the secretary's desk and had demanded $5 a day pay. Bicycle Patrolman Espinda was sent up immediately and, upon arrival, found a young native, quite well dressed, seated in the secretary's chair. In the room were Louis Reynolds, the assistant bookkeeper, the assistant at the Government Dispensary and Chas. Gray. The native was perfectly harmless but most persistent.

He had walked into the office, claiming that he was employed by L. L. LaPierre. Then he suddenly became commander-in-chief of an army of Hawaiians sent to Manila by the United States Government. He was even Bob Wilcox's superior. Then came the plans of campaign. Corregidor Island, Cavite and Manila figured very conspicuously in the dotted outlines of the map. An other sheet of paper was used for a drawing of the men-of-war about Manila and then came a series of balloon drawings which he never failed to attach to the earth by means of strong cables. Thus the poor fellow rambled along while the clerks in the Board of Health office awaited the arrival of the policeman. He said his name was Naboku (the stars) and that the English translation of this was "Jack Star." He was from Moanalua.

Upon being approached by the officer he made no fuss whatever, but walked along quietly to the police station. He will be examined by Dr. Emerson this afternoon.

Police Court Notes.

Most of the cases in the Police Court this morning were set for other dates on account of the illness of Mrs. Wilcox, wife of Judge Wilcox. The following cases were, however, disposed of: Lee Kee was fined $10 and costs for receiving stolen goods. Chas. Everett was fined $25 and costs for assault and battery on Ah Hoy. Ah Ung was fined $50 and costs for unlawful possession of opium, while the case of Ah Pong, for the same offense, was nolle prosequit.

Elected Noble Grand.

At a meeting of Harmony Lodge, I. O. O. F., last night O. Sorenson was elected Noble Grand to fill the place of T. P. Severin, deceased. He was installed immediately afterward. J. D. McVeigh was installed as Vice Grand, E. R. Hendry, P. G., as secretary, and J. A. Magoon, P. G., as treasurer.

NOTABLE SPEECH BY HOAR

He Is Opposed to Any Policy of Territorial Expansion.

The Hawaiian Islands Were, However, in a Situation that Made Them a Part of the Union.

Senator Hoar made a striking speech in favor of annexation the day before the vote was taken. The Senator from Massachusetts argued that the cases of Hawaii and Cuba were not analogous as to the constitutional question. A telegraphic report of the speech is here given:

Hoar of Massachusetts took the floor to speak on the Hawaiian annexation resolution. He found a ground for objection in the arguments advanced by the advocates of annexation, and in this connection stated his general antagonism to any policy of territorial expansion.

"If this is to be the first step in a policy of dominion over barbarous archipelagoes, if we are to join with Europe in the plunder of China and in the pillage of Africa, if we are to be governed in part by a people to whom the Declaration of Independence is a stranger, or if we are to govern people with whom life and property are not sacred, then we should shun this proposition."

He decided, however, that the proposition did not involve the evils to which he alluded. The desire now for holding all countries taken, incident of war, was but a passing inclination, and would pass away when the war should end.

Hoar said the sole question, so far as it was vital, was simply whether the United States would admit into immediate relationship a territory and people already in a situation that made them a part of the Union. By a long established policy Hawaii could not be taken with or without the will of the islanders by any other power. The United States already had Pearl harbor, and the pending proposition only proposed to make that possession more secure and extend to the people of Hawaii blessings which we expressly declared they should not secure from any other great power.

"I believe," said Hoar, "that if we come out of this war without entering on the fatal folly of retaining far distant possessions, the world will be so impressed with our strength that no nation will attack us for a hundred years."

He ridiculed the argument that the annexation of the islands and their male population into the United States would debasethis country's institutions and work injury to American labor, and pointed out that the territory of the islands was well nigh infinitesimal compared to this country's domain, and the population of Hawaii was not equal to that of a third-rate city.

Hoar was proceeding to discuss the danger of making the war one of conquest and was sounding a warning against it. He spoke of the war being the act of a great nation, bearing relief to an oppressed people, in accord with the spirit of a great nation that was actuated by a broader humanity than that which regards only self.

"As an authority," said Pettus of Alabama, "does the Senator from Massachusetts believe this country can take Cuba as its own, or does the Senator not think that the United States is bound in honor not to do so?"

"The United States," replied Hoar, "cannot take Cuba unless it ceases to be the United States."

He said it would be a crime of the country in the present war to go farther than the annexation of

ALAMEDA TO BRING MILLER

Minister Sewall Received Letter to That Effect on Coptic.

Philadelphia Unable to Get Ready in Time—Admiral Will be Accompanied by His Aide Lieut. Andrews.

Since the arrival of the Coptic with the news of the annexation of Hawaii to the United States, the people of Honolulu have been of the impression that the Philadelphia would bring Admiral Miller with the flag that is to be raised over Hawaii, but a piece of information has just come to light which is entirely contradictory and certainly more to be relied on.

Minister Sewall received by the Coptic official information to the effect that the U. S. S. Philadelphia could not be got ready in suitable time, and that therefore Admiral Miller and his aide, Lieut. Andrews, would be here on the Alameda.

It is the belief that, this being the case, the Alameda will be in tonight. That steamer is perfectly able to make this port a half a day before her usual time and, since Admiral Miller is aboard, there will be no stinting in the matter of coal.

This change in matters has only just come to the knowledge of the special committee of the Annexation Club although the information has been given the Government. Minister Sewall was spoken to by some of the members and he stated that he thought such a long wait had already been incurred, that the quicker the flag was raised the better. It would probably be best for Admiral Miller to go from the steamer to the Executive building direct and raise the flag without further ado. However, he believed there would be no trouble in securing a delay of twenty-four hours for the development of arrangements for a fitting celebration of the raising of the American flag over Hawaii.

Funeral of T. P. Severin.

The funeral of Theo. P. Severin, whose death occurred at the Queen's Hospital yesterday afternoon, will take place from the hall of Lodge Le Progres Alakea street, at 3:00 o'clock this afternoon, under the auspices of Lodge Le Progres, A. F. & A. M., of which deceased was a prominent member. Harmony Lodge, I. O. O. F., of which he was also a member, will turn out with the Masons.

Street Collision.

What might have been a very serious accident happened just before noon on Hotel street. A man with an unbroken horse attached to a hack was driving down the street, and the horse becoming unmanageable dashed into a phaeton occupied by Mrs. SMDamon and daughter. One of the wheels of the phaeton was damaged but luckily the vehicle was not turned over.

KAHULUI RAILROAD LOSES

Supreme Court Denies It Right of Eminent Domain.

Right Can Only Be Exercised by Corporation Under Contract with Minister of Interior to Build Railway.

The Supreme Court handed down four decisions today, the most important of which is the decision in the case of the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Co. vs. the Kahului Railroad Co.

It is the case in which the right of the Kahului Railroad Co. to condemn land to its own use is passed upon.

The case was brought to the Supreme Court on appeal from the judgment of Judge Perry on the matter of the injunction prayed for by the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Co.

The plaintiffs sought relief on the grounds that by taking said land the Kahului Railroad would obtain exclusive access to the harbor of Kahului and thereby, as well as by depriving the H. C. & S. Co. of the use of said land, cause them irreparable injury, and that the defendant has no right of eminent domain.

The defendant answered denying both these grounds and averring the contrary and also that it held the said land under certain deeds made with full authority by the Crown Land Commissioners prior to the conveyances from the Hawaiian Government under which the plaintiff claims.

The circuit judge, after hearing evidence, found for the defendant, on both grounds relied on by the plaintiff.

Opinion of the Court, by Frear, J., Whiting, J., and W. R. Castle, Substantiate J., concurring.

"An injunction may properly be issued to restrain the taking of property under an alleged but non-existing right of eminent domain.

"Chapter 29, Laws of 1878, confers the right of eminent domain upon only such corporations as have entered into a contract with the Minister of the Interior for the purpose of building and operating a railroad, and not upon all corporations that have incorporated, under the general corporation law, for the purpose of building and operating a railroad.

"Defendant's charter, the scope of which is set forth in the opinion, is not and does not contain a contract made under the authority of the act of 1878 with the Minister of the Interior. A release by Crown Land Commissioners of all claims for damages by reason of defendant's taking and using certain lands and a covenant by them not to interrupt or hinder defendant in such taking and use, does not estop plaintiff, a subsequent grantee of the land, from seeking an injunction to restrain defendant from condemning and taking such land under an alleged but non-existing right of eminent domain.

"The defendant at present occupies the land in question under certain leases which have but short periods yet to run.

"It may be a very unfortunate position at their expiration if it has not then the right of eminent domain. The remedy lies with the Legislature, not with the court.

"The decrees appealed from is reversed and a decree for an injunction in conformity with this decision will be signed on presentation."

A. S. Hartwell (Chas. S. Wheeler, of the San Francisco Bar, with him) for the plaintiff.
Kinney & Ballou and Carl S. Smith for the defendant.

TALK ON PRONUNCIATION

Lesson on Language Teaching by Colonel Parker This Morning.

Exhibit of Work from Chicago Normal School Shown—Mrs. Parker on Nature Study, Etc.

Colonel Parker gave a lesson in language this morning. The class was taken through the pronunciation stage, using the letters. The speaker said every teacher should be skilful in the mechanism of speech. Each sound helps to make the word. The awful difficulty of teaching phonics in the schools is the lack of training of the teacher. In learning to talk a Hawaiian child at home learns twelve sounds. In learning English he has forty-two new sounds to learn. The difficulty in learning the new sounds is that first the ear must become familiar and then the vocal organs must try to form them.

In teaching, to train the ear, the teacher must talk very slowly and distinctly so that the pupils may get the formation of the words. If you use speech in the evolution of thought in your study you will make a great success.

The box of work from the Chicago Normal school has arrived. The work was done by the children and consists of writing, copies of music, wood work, drawing and a loom with some of the weaving still on it. It was made by the children of the school and the weaving done by them. The children are from six to eight years of age. All the work is very clever and interesting.

Mrs. Parker spoke on nature study in relation to oral reading. We do not treat the children as we should. The oral reading should be taught with the study of the subjects treated upon in the lesson. Each word means something to the child.

Trying to teach the word itself without the thought is a very poor way. You are demanding of the child something that he has not. A good reader always has the power of concentration. No two persons read a great poem in the same way. They are greatly influenced in their understanding of it on account of their different experiences.

Every teacher should be a splendid reader so as to interest the children in literature. People go to saloons and other bad places because they have nothing else to amuse them. The great necessity of studying nature is that literature is full of it and especially poetry.

MANY PARDONS GRANTED

Civil Rights are Restored to Political Offenders of 1895.

John Good's Case—Slayer of Huntsman Has Term Shortened—Various Criminals Obtain Clemency.

The Council of State as re-organized for two years met for the first time yesterday to consider recommendations of clemency to prisoners and of restoration to civil rights of political offenders of 1895. Those present were: President Dole, Minister Damon, Attorney General Smith, C. Bolte, P. C. Jones, John Nott, S. K. Kane, John Phillips, A. G. M. Robertson, A. V. Gear, W. C. Achi, J. A. Kennedy. The oath was administered to members, and C. Bolte was re-elected as secretary.

President Dole read the report of the Court of Inquiry convened on the petition of John Good, former Captain in the National Guard, to hear alleged newly discovered evidence in his case. He was dishonorably discharged a year or two ago upon the findings of a court martial for complicity in an attempt to discredit Col. McLean by dishonest representations regarding the loss of a sight from one of the garrison field pieces. The Court of Inquiry had found nothing to prove that the judgment was not right, but recommended a pardon to Good for previous services.

This was on motion granted. Chas. August Hering, who killed D. L. Huntsman the lawyer in 1893, when the victim had been disturbing his domestic peace, was recommended to have his term shortened to end January 1, 1900, instead of June 20, 1901. Prison inspectors Lowrey and Lauka endorsed, and Magoon opposed the petition of the prisoner for pardon. President Dole stated what the Cabinet recommended, saying that Judge Cooper, who tried the case, now believed that the condemnation was too severe. The recommendation was granted.

Akoi Akana, Chinese, in jail at Kalaupapa since Sept. 28, 1894, under sentence of six years and three months for housebreaking, was pardoned.

Lum Sing, Chinese, two years and six months from July 1, 1896, for housebreaking, was pardoned on account of illness.

Yakoyama, Japanese, sent from Kauai for petty larceny, receives a pardon for illness. Full pardons with restoration of civil rights were granted to the political prisoners of 1895 not previously receiving such clemency. Those pardoned before this occasion were Liliuokalani, Kini, W. H. Rickard, T. B. Walker, Chas. Warren and Robt. W. Wilcox. In the following list persons who had hitherto been given conditional pardons are marked "c. p." There had been either suspension of sentence or parole in all other cases:

THE COMING GOWNS.

Ruffles, Ruchings, Puffs, Tucks, Etc., Mark the Dressy Summer Costume.

The modes of making and trimming the bodice are very nearly on the old lines. The sleeves are simply a little smaller, and while the skirt has acquired a reputation for shifting methods of construction the simple gored skirt with five or seven gores and less fullness is still very popular. Of course, a skirt trimming of some sort is almost a necessity, but it is an easy matter to supply this with rows of ribbon gathered or sewed on plain, ruffles of chiffon, net or silk and milliner's folds or stitched bands of silk or satin.

The organdie, lawn and pique gowns displayed as new models are more or less elaborately trimmed with ruffles, ruches, insertions, puffs and tucks, quite like the old dresses of 30 years ago. Insertions of lace, alternating with groups of tucks or narrow ruffles from the hem nearly to the waist, are one of the many fancies, while there is apparently no limit to the possibilities of gathered satin ribbon in the narrow widths.

The prettiest ruffled skirts are the grenadines ruffled with lace and chiffon and the organdies, which are very quaint, decked out in ruffles more effectively arranged by separating them two or three inches. The skirt, with one wide circular flounce set into the apron shaped upper part, is already so common that, according to all previous rulings of fashion, it must soon have a downfall.

Black mousseline de soie frills, ruchings and plaitings in very narrow widths give a very Parisian air to the dressy gowns, and there is no end to the way of using them. A touch of black is a conspicuous feature of dress in general. Even the cotton gowns are trimmed with ruffles of black tulle.

The prevailing style of bodice in this gown is the plain back with a little fullness at the belt, a medium blouse front and the guimpe neck of white chiffon or lawn tucked and trimmed with lace insertion. The sleeves may be of white, too, if you like. A frill of lace, embroidered batiste, or ruffles of the muslin finish the shoulders. The New York Sun, from which the foregoing items of fashion are gathered, illustrates a dressy muslin gown. It has a puffed yoke and shows a series of narrow ruffles on the skirt, edging the front of the bodice and striping the sleeves. A wide sash of back chiffon is the striking feature of this gown.

Cream of Spinach Soup.

The Ladies' Home Journal gives this recipe for cream of spinach, a somewhat unusual soup: Pick the leaves from the stems of two quarts of spinach, wash through several cold waters, shake lightly to free from sand, and throw them into a warm kettle; there will be sufficient water remaining on the leaves to create steam for the cooking. Shake and toss for about five minutes. Drain the spinach; chop it very fine, and then press it through a sieve. Add gradually, stirring all the while, one quart of cold milk. The mixture should have the consistency of thin cream and be of a bright green color. Put in a double boiler, moisten a teaspoonful of arrow-root or half a tablespoonful of cornstarch with a little cold milk; add to the soup; stir until boiling, strain through a sieve; add half a teaspoonful of salt, and just as you turn it into the tureen add a tablespoonful of butter broken into bits.

Two Sunshades Just From Paris.

One of large size is covered with black lace having an applique of the richest silk embroidery in relief, representing roses and foliage. Inside this is lined with bouillonness of black chiffon, the handle of wood tinted to go with the embroidery. The other is larger than we have been accustomed to, dome shaped, the ground dark blue with festoons of gayly striped silk all round.

The Red and the White Meats.

An item worthy of note is that red meats require longer for digestion than white meats—meaning poultry, game, rabbits, and so on—which are consequently specially suited to those who take little open air exercise.

PARRIED A CHALLENGE.

How a Clever Young Lawyer Got Out of Fighting a Duel.

A good story is told of a young lawyer in this city. One of his first cases was a claim against a creole gentleman, who agreed to pay a certain amount each month. The first of the first month after the agreement came and went, the creole gentleman forgetting to remit. The young lawyer waited several days, and then wrote a letter. It had one virtue—it was emphatic. It was not so polite as it was emphatic, however, and within an hour of its delivery to the creole gentleman two of his friends called upon the young lawyer with a message, which, freely translated, meant "You have the privilege of naming the weapons."

For a moment the young lawyer was genuinely alarmed. He had heard that the creole gentleman was a dead shot and equally fatal with the sword. He wanted to avoid trouble, but did not feel that the circumstances justified him in pleading professional privilege when he had virtually called a man a beat. Then there came to his mind that he had somewhere read that a gentleman could not grant a duel to any one who owed him money, and he haughtily said so to his callers.

They instantly withdrew. An hour passed. It was an hour of anguish to the young lawyer. Then there came again the cards of the two friends of the offended creole gentleman. A minute later they were in the lawyer's office, and he had written out a receipt for the full amount of the claim against the creole gentleman.

"And now, sir," said the chief second of the creole gentleman to the young lawyer, "what is your answer to our principal's demand?"

"My answer, gentlemen, is this: I formed the hasty conclusion that your principal did not intend to pay what I considered a just debt, and I so expressed myself. He has paid the debt. I recognize the seriousness of my misjudgment of him as a gentleman, and I beg to assure him, through you, that I will willingly offer him any apology which a gentleman may see fit to require of a gentleman."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

MANNING THE YARDS.

A Naval Ceremony That Is Not What It Used to Be.

In the old navy, when United States ships were actually ships with yards, the bos'n's mate's call, "All hands cheer ship!" was followed by a much more picturesque ceremony than is possible now, when the vessels of the navy are fitted with but a single yard and that only used for signaling. At the word of command "Man the yards!" there was an amount of acrobatic scurrying on the main decks of the old ships that was calculated to make the ship visitor hold his breath, the thing looked so dangerous. The men forward in bluejacket uniform would fairly leap up the rope ladders, and almost by the time the echoes of the command had died away every yard on each mast would support scores of men and boys, all standing erect, most of them only held up by the crossed arms of the men beside them. This representation of a cross was held by all of the men, and it was their business to stand thus with absolute staturesque. Then the command "Cheer ship!" would be bawled out on deck by the chief bos'n's mate, and there would be a yell from cathead to mizzen that couldn't help but warm the blood of everybody within hearing of it. When the men manned the yards with all sail except topsails and stunsails set, such a picture was really beautiful, the men's uniforms of blue standing out in sapphiric contrast to the cameo whiteness of the shrouds. This was a ceremony on all formal occasions, such as the visit aboard the old ships of distinguished men. And "Man the yards!" and "Cheer ship!" were commands always given when one of the old clippers of the United States navy was either departing for or arriving from a foreign station.—Washington Star.

A meeting of the W. C. T. U. is in session in the parlors of Central Union church this afternoon.

E. Burton Holmes secured several good views of the fire department yesterday afternoon.

Sam Lederer has flags and bunting, ribbons and buttons, at the L. X. L., for celebrating annexation.

A meeting of the special committee of the Annexation Club will be held in the Chamber of Commerce at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

J. F. Eckardt, superintendent of the Queen's Hospital, left for Pahala, Kau, on the W. G. Hall this morning. He will make but a short stay.

Among the people who will leave for the Coast on the Roderick Dhu from Hilo are Dr. E. L. Richardson and Mrs. Loebenstein and children.

Among the departures for Maui and Hawaii ports on the W. G. Hall this morning were the following: Mrs. Geo. Smithies, Rev. Hans Ienberg and wife, the Misses McIntyre, Miss Grau, Prof. and Mrs. Richards.

E. J. Jellings, a young American, aged 25 years, was drowned in Waipahu stream, this island, Sunday afternoon, while in bathing. It is believed he had heart disease. The water in the place was very shallow. A brother of the deceased, who was with him at the time, dived down and found him at the bottom already dead.

Immigration Bureau.

A meeting of the Board of Immigration was held yesterday afternoon for the purpose of discussing recent applications for laborers. Minister King, J. B. Atherton, James G. Spencer and D. B. Smith were present, with Wray Taylor, secretary. It was decided that 2875 Asiatic laborers be permitted, these to be divided as follows: H. Hackfeld & Co., 443; Alexander & Baldwin, 105; Castle & Cooke, 203; Theo. H. Davies & Co., 310; W. G. Irwin & Co., 611; New Halawa plantation, 300; Griebbaum & Co., 105; F. A. Schaefer & Co., 105; C. Brewer & Co., 123; J. M. Dowsett, for Waianae plantation, 70; New Molokai Ranch Co., 500.

Another Hack Smashed.

John Radin of the 290 stand now has his back in the carriage shop having a new top put on. He went out to Henry Davis' place in Punahou after some flowers at about noon. Leaving the horse untied outside, he went into the yard. The animal became frightened at a pile of white sand and started off. The carriage was turned over and the top reduced to a wreck. The horse very politely stood still and Radin drove to town in his dilapidated vehicle.

Is Still Caterer.

An article in an afternoon paper of yesterday was to the effect that J. W. Chapman, caterer at the barracks, had resigned and gone to Pearl City to attend to his place there.

The truth of the matter is that a week from last Saturday Mr. Chapman handed in his resignation as caterer. He stated that he did not care to hold the position when certain members of Co. E were all the while attempting to interfere with his business.

The resignation was not accepted therefore, Mr. Chapman being an enlisted man, finds it necessary to remain in his old place instead of going to Pearl City permanently.

IN THE Y. M. C. A. HALL

Rev. M. L. Berger Speaks to the Young Men on Loyalty.

Reports on Association Work—Some Interesting Figures Given—Work of the Devotional Committee.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held in the association hall last evening in the presence of a good audience. President W. C. Weedon was in the chair. Two musical selections were given, one a violin solo by W. A. Love and another a vocal solo by J. Q. Wood. Both were well received. The reports for the quarter were read. Those which have not already been given to the public after the meetings of the Board of Directors are the Devotional Committee report, presented by P. H. Dodge, and the Treasurer's report. They are as follows:

REPORT OF DEVOTIONAL COMMITTEE.

The Devotional Committee have maintained the three Sunday meetings undertaken by them with the following results: Average Bible Class attendance for April, 9 1/2; for May, 12 4/5; for June, 14.

Thus closed a most successful year in that line of study, under the efficient leadership of Mr. Coleman, following the life of Paul and later the lives of the Patriarchs. A vacation is now in progress, after the manner of schools in general.

"The average attendance at the jail service for April was 73, for May 76, for June 74 1/2. We have to record the encouraging fact that at this service there have been eight confessions of faith and a desire to live a life in Christ.

"The average attendance at the men's meeting at 4 p. m. Sundays, for April was 29 1/2, for May 79 1/5, for June 44 2/3. We had the pleasure of listening, with increased attendance, to a course of four lectures on Egypt and Palestine by Dr. M. L. Berger, thoroughly enjoyed and most profitable. Rev. Mr. Cruzan was also a most welcome speaker on one of the Sundays in May; 600 invitations were issued in April, 800 in May, with a corresponding number for June.

Rev. M. L. Berger spoke on the subject of loyalty in general and association loyalty in particular. He defined loyalty as devotion to duty, the standing bravely of a man in his place no matter what might betide. To be loyal one should be true to engagements, to promises, covenants and oaths. To be disloyal was to be false and a traitor. No matter what position a man might hold, even though it be the most humble, he should work heartily and with a loyalty and determination to do his very best. A rich reward would surely be his if he followed this. Mr. Berger spoke of the Y. M. C. A. and urged the young men to be loyal to all that concerned that organization. They should resolve to be manly, unselfish, noble, loyal and to live the high life here put within their reach.

The meeting closed with a song and then the benediction by Rev. T. D. Garvin.

J. E. Davis, stenographer and typewriter, with Humphreys & Gear. Telephone 751.

WHITE VIOLETS.

There was a little rejeking group under the old drooping willow on the rectory lawn. The eldest son had come home, a wanderer, after three long years, and the sunshine seemed more brilliant and the opening flowers all the sweeter for that kindly face, that happy presence in the home world once more.

"The violets are out in the wood," said Christabel, his youngest and fairest sister. "We will go and gather the white ones for you. You were always so fond of them, dear."

For a moment the man's face grew very tender and dreamy as he thought of the one who had loved the scented blossoms even more dearly than himself, the one to whom before he went away he had ventured only to breathe a hint of his great secret, the one of whom he was longing to ask tidings. Then he submitted to be led away from the adoring group under the slowly budding willow, with the sweet faced sister's arm twining tenderly round his own, down the mossy garden ways toward the little wood.

But the man, listening to the merry chatter of his best loved sister, only waited to ask the question that yearned to come and yet was so long delayed. He was nervous on the subject, among all his hopes and plans. They had said nothing to him of her, and surely they might have guessed—at any rate Christabel—and latterly, even in their letters, they had never mentioned her name, though at first tidings had come occasionally of the delights that they had had together, for they were very true friends, his true love and his people at home.

And he had even fancied sometimes that she might have been there among his pretty sisters and their still sweet and graceful mother, ready to welcome the sturdy son who had brought fame and fortune from lands over the blue, blue sea to lay at her feet.

So he had given one quick glance as he neared the quaint wicket, with the proud old father by his side, round the fair garden, with its golden sheaves of daffodils and its pearly posies of narcissuses, "all come out as if in time to welcome you home," as Christabel said to him in her happy voice, watching him the while with eyes full of love and contentment. But the beautiful face that he had longed so deeply to see was absent, though the greetings rang true even without that one sweet voice. And of her they whispered no word at all.

Now he stood watching the girl as she gathered a juy of the fragrant white violets, kneeling on the green moss at his feet, with the sunlight striking through the lacing tongs on her pretty hair and rose leaf face. And suddenly as he watched her the question came:

"Christabel," he said quickly, "what of her—of Violet, I mean? You have said nothing about her yet to me."

The flowers dropped from the little hands that had held them so tenderly, and the girl's eyes took a very pitiful expression as she strove to speak unconcernedly:

"Oh, she is well, very well, and happy, dear," she answered gently. "She has furthered off now, and we don't see quite so much of her as we used to do. I thought the others would tell you about her."

"What about her?" the man questioned, feeling the vague doubts at his heart intensified doubly by her anxious face.

"Why, where they have removed to and all about it," the girl answered again, gathering up her flowers and rising to her feet.

"Come, it must be nearly bedtime," she went on, with a relieved change of tone, drawing her arm through his again with a caressing, gentle movement, as if to leave the subject behind.

"Christabel, do tell me all," the man pleaded, taking the violets in his cold hands, but seeing nothing of their delicate beauty. "Tell me the truth about her—the woman I loved."

And with paling face and misty eyes the girl told her little pathetic story of that other who had loved and then forgotten in her inconsequent, unrelucting way, and who had preferred money and position to the waiting for a true heart and brave to claim her for his own one day.

And when the little commonplace tale was done and the gentle voice hushed itself amid a shower of very tender tears, there was silence, while a heart beat out its agony alone.

This was the home coming to which he had looked forward so long and so earnestly. This was the welcome that he had so often pictured to himself—a few spring flowers to lay about the void in his heart and the hush of soft voices as they passed him by.

But Christabel's soft lips were pressed to his aching brow, and her hands came warmly into his cold embrace.

"Come and see mother again," she said gently. "She has longed to see you, dear, and you haven't half satisfied her yet."

And they went into the home world together, with a posy of white violets to mark the way that they had taken—from the resting place of love.—Augusta Hancock in Lady.

St. Petersburg.

It has scarcely grown in the ordinary way. It has been deliberately made, like Washington, but it has not the sylvan or climatic charms of Washington. It is the giant work of barbarians, splendid, but bizarre, its moral and social atmosphere as cold as its awful winter. It has never been and can never be the true center of Russian life, for holy Moscow is the true citadel of Russia, the central point in the Slavonic imagination. St. Petersburg is the city of police, of a vast officialism, with the widest direct outlook in the world, of a showy society and an imported architecture. Possibly it may cease one day to be the capital of Russia, and its palaces and fortresses may sink in the bogs which surround its glorious river, the one splendid natural feature of Peter's artificial capital.—Spectator.

She Knew Her Business.

She was a chorus girl at $15 a week. "Give me some carbolic acid," she said as she entered a drug store. "I want to kill rats with it."

Late that night she emptied the bottle out of the window of her attic room. Then she screamed. The police were called and the fire department and the ambulance corps, and she was hauled away to the hospital.

Next day the newspapers told all about the "attempted suicide of a beautiful young actress."

The girl knew how to get a raise in salary.—New York World.

Lived to Be Doctored.

When the new boy got into the schoolroom, he was of course pestered with numerous questions by the other scholars as to his name, his parents' profession, the amount of his pocket money and various other matters about which boys are curious.

"Who's your family doctor?" asked a big lad.

"Ain't got none," was the prompt if ungrammatical reply.

"How jolly!" responded the questioner. "Why, you don't have no medicine to take."

"Don't it!" was the sarcastic reply.

"That's all you know. Why, my father's a homeopath, mother's an allopath, my sister Maggie's joined the ladies' ambulance corps, grandfather believes in massage, my Uncle Sandy's a horse doctor, and"—with a pathetic sigh—"they all of them experiment on me."

That boy got the sympathy he desired.—Strand Magazine.

An Inconvenient Parrot.

Young Hankinson (making a call)—You have had that parrot a long time, Miss Laura?

Miss Laura—Yes, we have had him several years.

"Quite intelligent, is he not?"

"Very. He can imitate almost anything."

They have a remarkably clever parrot over at the Casterlins, Miss Laura. It can imitate the sound of a kiss to perfection. Is that among the accomplishments of our feathered friend here in the corner?"

Miss Laura (indignantly)—No, sir. He does not attempt an imitation of a sound he is not accustomed to hear, Mr. Hankinson.

The Parrot—Wait, George, dear, till I take this bird out of the room.—London Tit-Bits.

"Our customers say you manufacture three of the best remedies on earth," said the mercantile firm of Haas, Harris, Brim & McLain, of Dawson, Ga., in a recent letter to the Chamberlain Medicine Co. This is the universal verdict, Chamberlain's Pain Balm is the finest preparation in the world for rheumatism, neuralgia, lame back, quinsy, sore throat, cuts, bruises, burns, scalds, pains and swellings. For more than fifty years has PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER stood the test against all remedies prepared to eradicate pain, and today stands at the head of the list among the medicines that are so essential to keep at hand in the home.

It is not a new fangle remedy nor do the proprietors lay claim to any wonderful revelation of the ingredients that enter into the manufacture of this ever popular remedy.

It is perfectly harmless, you need have no fear of becoming habitually inclined to its use.

For Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, Colds, and all painful affections, a few doses will certainly give relief. You cannot afford to be without a bottle in the house.

Your forefathers used it and found it beneficial.

Why experiment with some remedy that is new and its effect on the system unknown?

It has many rivals but no equal.

THE HUB OF THE PACIFIC.

From THE HAWAIIAN of Saturday.]

When we take time to carefully consider things, we find that instead of being a little place on the edge of nowhere, Honolulu is actually the "Hub of the Pacific." One's life is broadened here, as it might broaden after many years of investigating globe-trotting. Name some prominent people belonging to a country within a radius of 10,000 miles of Honolulu, and you can surely find representatives of them here, living in their own national manner largely. People of an investigating turn of mind soon get to know all kinds of people and their ways.

Honolulu is unique. Most people, when they first come here, admire the prettiness of everything of nature's; but they are apt soon to realize that these little islands are a long ways from any other place, and then there is a rush of emotion in which homesickness and a sense of isolation figure prominently, or perhaps principally—though prominently is not a wrong word, because most people so afflicted act out of their feelings. But in the course of time this feeling of homesickness generally gives way to fascination for the place, and then it would be hard, even, to drive people away. There are many people now living in Honolulu who have been here perhaps twenty years, who have had these experiences.

Whether from a war or peace footing, from business or social considerations, the Hawaiian Islands are the Hub of the Pacific, from which the spokes representing all kinds and conditions of life radiate.

Private Mailing Cards.

The United States law authorizing the use of private mailing cards in place of postal cards has gone into effect. The cards must be the same size and weight as the postals, 3 1/4 by 5 1/2 inches, but they may be white, cream, light gray, or the same as the government postal, light buff, in color. On the address side must be printed across the top, "Private mailing card—authorized by Act of Congress of May 19, 1898." In the upper right-hand corner of the same side must appear an oblong diagram with words, "Place a one-cent stamp here." In the lower left-hand corner, "This side is exclusively for the address."

"Everything on earth has its mission."

"How about mosquitoes?"

"They make us think more kindly of the flies."

BORN.

PADGETT—In Honolulu, July 18, 1898, to the wife of H. S. Padgett, a son.

A New Derrick.

Fred Harrison the contractor has just put in place at his quarries near the Pahoehoe, a derrick with a 60-foot mast that will be capable of lifting twenty tons. This is placed just above a fine large bed of Hawaiian blue stone. Some very good work has been done recently at Mr. Harrison's quarries. A stone weighing 3500 pounds and others approaching this in weight very closely have been taken out. Stones weighing from four to five tons will be got out easily with this new derrick.

ITEMS FROM HARBOR FRONT

Steamer Iwa Has Gone Again to Kalalau for Taro.

Keauhou Makes Trip to Kauai Today—Diamond Head Out Tomorrow or Next Day—Days Shipping News.

Alameda from San Francisco early tomorrow morning.

Coal is piling up on the Oceanic wharf for the Alameda.

The tug boat is undergoing slight repairs at Brewer's wharf.

The steamer Maui sails for Olowalu, Ookala, Mahukona, Laupahoehoe, Kukaiau and Papaloa at 5 p. m. tomorrow.

Sugar is already awaiting the Transit but that vessel will not be able to take any on for three or four days yet.

The schooner Ka Moi hauled alongside the Oceanic wharf and discharged her sugar into the warehouse this morning.

Purser Beckley of the steamer Kinau reports the arrival of the Roderick Dhu in Hilo after a smart trip of 12 days from San Francisco.

The W. G. Irwin which arrived yesterday brought 860 tons of general merchandise for W. G. Irwin & Co. and 8 horses. She also brought a quantity of beer. The Irwin is at the Oceanic wharf.

Among the arrivals on the Kinau today were the following: R R Berg, Alex Lindsay, W L Whitney, C L Wight, R Catton, Dr A McWayne, J K Notley, Geo F Renton, P L Weaver, W H Pain and W H Cornwell.

The Kinau arrived in port at 11:15 a. m. today after a very pleasant run from Hawaii and Maui ports. Purser Beckley tells of celebrations all over Hawaii when the news of annexation reached Hilo on the Oceanic Saturday at 2 o'clock. The stores in Hilo were closed and decorations galore appeared. The Kinau was at Mahukona at the time.

The steamer Iwa sailed again for Kalalau, Kauai, after taro this morning. Captain Townsend reports the Hawaiian staff of life grown at that place the very best that has ever come into the Honolulu market. The tubers are not only large but they are just the kind to make the best of poi. Unfortunately the men who have chartered the steamer lost money on their last cargo on account of having to sell at a very much reduced rate to Chinese buyers who stuck together and insisted they would not pay the price named.

MOTHER SUED BY HER SON

To Compel the Payment of Money Bequeathed to Him.

Will of Late George Robert Mahony Sent from England for Ancillary Probate—Supreme Court Decisions.

Mrs. Frances E. Jackson has rendered her final account of administration of estate of Harriet Squires. James McQueen as principal and G. Schuman as surety file a bond in $3500 upon an injunction against Frances E. Jackson to restrain her from disposing of $15,000 received by her as the price of lands sold to W. R. Castle.

The injunction in question is based on a bill in equity brought by James McQueen against Mrs. Frances E. Jackson, who is his mother, to declare her the trustee of one-half of $15,000, proceeds of land sold to W. R. Castle, for the complainant's benefit as a beneficiary under the will of the late Z. Y. Squires. The will made Mrs. Jackson and McQueen the sole devisees of the real estate subject to a trust devised to Gaspar Sylva, to take effect after the death of Harriet Squires, widow of the testator. This trust was to provide for the maintenance of Mrs. Jackson, and at the death of Sylva the property was to be divided between her and McQueen, share and share alike. They agreed it was best to sell the real estate, and by that agreement complainant claims the trust in Sylva terminated. It is alleged, however, that when the property was sold Mrs. Jackson received the money, and that she refuses to pay complainant his share. Hence the suit. Half the profits accrued upon the money, which is invested in profitable plantation stocks, is claimed besides the moiety of the $15,000 capital. W. A. Henshall and C. Creighton are attorneys for complainant.

Chief Justice Judd has written the unanimous opinion of the Supreme Court in Wailuku Sugar Co. vs. Solomon Hale, defendant's appeal from an adverse decision of the Commissioner of Private Ways and Water Rights of Wailuku. The jurisdiction of the Commissioner called in question is affirmed, and the judgment of that official sustained. Kinney & Ballou for plaintiff; Robertson for defendant.

Justice Whiting is author of a unanimous opinion of the Supreme Court, dismissing the appeal of defendant in Manuel G. Silva vs. Antonio Fernandez. The cause was heard jury waived and the Circuit Court judge gave judgment for plaintiff for $730, deciding against the claim set up by defendant. This judgment is upheld by the Supreme Court because the evidence is found to support the findings of the Circuit Court. Creighton and Correa for plaintiff; Neumann for defendant.

A new trial is ordered by a majority of the Supreme Court in F. F. Porter vs. Hawaiian Pork Packing Co., Ltd. Plaintiff claimed $2000 damages on assumpsit for breach of contract. The jury awarded him $957.40. Defendant appealed on rulings at the trial and on refusal of motion for new trial. Justice Frear writes the decision, concurred in by Justice Whiting. Chief Justice Judd agrees that an instruction of the trial judge was error but "harmless error," and dissents from the ordering of a new trial. He holds that in another trial the same issue would go to the jury as that upon which the first one depended. Davis for plaintiff; Magoon and Silliman for defendant.

H. E. McIntyre petitions for ancillary letters of administration with the will annexed upon the estate of George Robert Mahony, of Liverpool, England, who died on March 14, 1898. The will leaves all testator's property to Harriet Sophia Mahony, spinster, of Liverpool. There is in the jurisdiction of the Hawaiian courts, two $1000 bonds and $500 in Claus Spreckels & Co.'s bank G. R. Mahony was formerly a clerk for H. E. McIntyre & Bro., and was well and favorably known in Honolulu. Magoon and McClanahan are solicitors for petitioner.

The Keauhou sails for Hanamaulu and Kilauea at 4 p. m. today.

NOTABLE SPEECH BY HOAR.

the Sandwich Islands—a matter substantially decided upon by the people of the United States long before the war was thought remotely probable.

"The starry emblem is no emblem of dominion," he cried. "In time of peace let it not fly over conquered territory. It is the emblem of peace and freedom."

Hoar said that he did not want large armies or a great navy, or an enormous debt, or increased taxes, and the President, who had earned the love of the country for his firmness in his refusal to rush prematurely into war, would, Hoar said, show the same devotion and resolution when peace should come, to prevent the change of character of his country and in the course of time a change of its Constitution.

Lindsay (D.) of Kentucky spoke when Hoar concluded. He complimented the latter's speech, saying the country was well repaid for the prolongation of the debate to a point where the Massachusetts Senator spoke. "It was in the nature of a poetical apology for an act about to be taken, which if not unconstitutional, is certainly extraconstitutional," said Lindsay, and it was also a patriotic protest against a policy of colonial expansion.

Lindsay then proceeded in opposition to the resolutions. He said that in refusing to recognize the Cuban Republic and taking upon ourselves the authority to establish a government in the island we would make the Government dependent upon its creator and ready to turn the island over to the United States as it was now proposed to do with Hawaii. His argument was directed against the annexation resolutions on Constitutional grounds.

Lindsay's argument aroused more than usual interest. At its conclusion White (D.) of California resumed his speech begun many days ago in opposition to annexation. He defended the opposition to annexation against charges of being unpatriotic, coming from individuals and the press. White yielded shortly before 5 o'clock and Davis moved an executive session. At 5:14 p. m. the Senate adjourned.

RED CROSS SOCIETY.

Finances in Good State—Reports on All Matters.

A general meeting of the Red Cross Society was held this morning at the Y. M. C. A. hall. The reports of the different committees were read showing that the progress made by the society was very great.

Mrs. S. M. Damon, Chairman of the Finance Committee, handed in her report, which was adopted as read. It showed that the society had received in donations of money, receipts from entertainments and membership fees $2032.20.

Mrs. P. C. Jones' report as Treasurer showed $2032.20 received from the finance committee and $314.05 spent, there being a balance on hand of $1718.15.

Mrs. C. B. Wood of the Hospital Committee reported the number of patients at the present time as six at the Queen's Hospital and five at the Red Cross Hospital. Six are well enough to be sent home and one will continue with the next transports for Manila. Two cases at the Queen's Hospital are still very ill. The patients at the Society hospital are all convalescent.

The Commissary Committee, Mrs. A. J. Fuller, chairman, reports that during the time the last transports were here there were a great many men furnished with stationery, stamps and reading material at the Society's headquarters on Nuuanu street.

Ten dozen bandages have been made and forwarded to Manila and the ladies are now at work on denim pillow slips to be sent to the boys. The wants of the hospital have increased and additional purchases have been made. In the matter of bread and home-made delicacies for the hospital the ladies pledged themselves for so much daily and the supply furnished has always equaled the demand.
