HONOLULU, TERRITORY OF HAWAII, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1907

Civic Beautifiers Have Use For Waterfront

$75,000 For County

The County will be considerably richer at the end of this month than it has been for some time past. Instead of having only about $33,000 to run on, it will have in the neighborhood of $75,000.

This will result from the division of license fees which have been collected and which, according to the recent decision of the Governor, are to be equally divided between the Territory and the Counties. The County of Oahu will get about $40,000 of this money at the end of the month, according to a statement made by Assessor James L. Holt this morning.

This will probably mean increased activity in road work, and perhaps a diminution of the hard times wall of the Supervisors, who have been saying that they could not do many things that needed to be done on account of lack of funds to pay for the work.

This will mean better times for the road laborers, many of whom have been putting in only a few days a week.

Supervisors Order, Through Johnson, Laborers To Pay Taxes

ASSESSOR TO ACCEPT INSTALLMENTS

Tax Assessor Holt has won out over the Supervisors. Aided by the afternoon press, he has made the County Dads knuckle under and give in to him in regard to the collection of taxes from the road laborers. For nine months Holt tried to get the Supervisors to instruct the department needs to order the laborers to pay their personal taxes, but beyond acknowledging the receipt of his letters nothing was done.

The matter was taken up by the newspapers two days ago, and this morning Holt received a communication from the County Clerk as follows:

James L. Holt, Esq.,
Assessor, First Taxation Division,
Honolulu, T. H.

Dear Sir:—Answering your favor of the 19th instant in re employees in the several County departments who failed to pay their personal taxes for the current year, etc., would say that the several heads of departments concerned have been notified to instruct their men to pay said tax.

Respectfully yours,
D. KALAUOKALANI, JR.,
County Clerk, County of Oahu.

On his side Assessor Holt has made a concession. Sam Johnson, as was stated in the Bulletin yesterday and day before, absolutely refused to collect the taxes from the laborers himself. He claimed, very accurately, that it was none of his business to do the work of the Assessor and he refused to run the risk of gaining the ill-will of his men by holding the tax money out of their wages.

The contention of Johnson and the Supervisors has been that to take the full amount of $5.00 out of the pay envelope of a man who was receiving only $9 or $10 a week would work a severe hardship on the man and his family. Holt was asked to collect the money on the installment plan, taking a certain proportion of it each pay day until the full amount of the tax was paid. But he refused to do this, saying that he had no time to bother with such a system. He wanted Sam Johnson to do the collecting, which Sam refused to do.

Now, however, Holt consents to collect the personal taxes of the laborers in installments. He says he hopes to be able to get the full amount in two installments. But it is more probable that the money will be paid in three installments, so far as the ordinary laborers are concerned. Men who are receiving bigger wages, $18 or $20 a week, will be required to pay the full amount at one time.

ACHI WILL START SCHOOL FOR JUDGES

Wants Native-Speaking District Magistrates Supplanted

The first normal school to fit young men for the positions of district magistrates and deputy sheriffs will soon be opened in Honolulu. A large number of young men have registered themselves as ready to take up the study of law which will be taught immediately upon the opening of the school. Senator W. C.ACHI has been requested to be the instructor of the school and is said to have agreed to teach the young people whose ambition is to become district magistrates and deputy sheriffs in the future.

"I am willing, said Achi yesterday, to teach law to the young men, provided I had enough students to devote my time on. I want young Hawaiians who understand English and are quick to pick up the lessons. I will give them instruction to qualify them for the positions. If I have, say, ten students I will teach them the necessary pointers. I am positive that after a year's study they will be all right. Look at some of our district magistrates and deputy sheriffs. They do not understand a word of English and it is pretty hard for them and the lawyers to understand each other. The country is being Americanized today, and it is about time that every Government officerholder should know

SUPERVISORS WILL PROBABLY NOT PAY BROWN

Considerable speculation is going on about town in regard to what action the Board of Supervisors will take at its meeting this evening in regard to the payment of the services of A. M. Brown as police court prosecutor. At the last meeting the Board refused to confirm the appointment of Brown, but in spite of this he has been acting as prosecutor ever since, and a payroll demand for his services for fifteen days at the rate of $175 a month has been turned in by the County Attorney.

While the Supervisors are silent in regard to what action they intend to take, it appears probable that they will not pass the bill, the majority being of the opinion that, as Brown was not endorsed, he has not been appointed to the office and can therefore not draw pay for services rendered in a position which he does not occupy.

Messrs. Castle & Cooke, Ltd., the local agents for the Matson Navigation Co., received cable advices today to the effect that the S. S. Hilonian sailed on schedule time this morning from San Francisco for Honolulu. She is due to arrive here next Thursday at noon.

Sale Is Resisted By Feds

The Civic Federation is opposed to the proposed sale of the old fishmarket property to the Pacific Mail Co. It reached the decision to use its influence to prevent the consummation of this sale at a meeting held this morning, and a committee has been appointed, with F. S. Dodge as chairman, which will meet the Governor this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock to state the objections to the sale.

Chairman Dodge stated this afternoon that the principal reason for the opposition to the sale was that it would interfere very materially with the following out of the plan for the beautification of the city which was outlined by Chas. Mulford Robinson the expert who visited the city a few years ago. Robinson had planned that this very site should be the keystone for the improvements on account of its favorable location, and to sell it would to a large extent prevent the ultimate carrying out of his plans.

Dodge said further that the Federation was on principle opposed to having the Government dispose of valuable city property. In many cases such property was needed in later years and it then had to be bought back at prices several times exceeding those for which it had been originally sold.

The Robinson report speaks about this proposition in part as follows:

To the water entrance I have given much thought. The big new slips, which will establish the location of this entrance as far as most passengers are concerned, extend for the present east of Alakea street and reach to Allen. Almost ideally located

MORE YACHTS TO COMPETE IN RACE

The weekly report which Secretary Wood will submit at the meeting of the Promotion Committee this afternoon is of unusual interest. It contains the news of additional yachts which will sail in the Trans-Pacific race, and also a letter showing that the mission of Mr. Higgins is bearing fruit. In full the report reads as follows:

By the Sierra we received a few lines from Commodore Sinclair of the South Coast Yacht Club stating that his club has added two new boats to its list this season, both of which are probable entries for the 1908 race. One of the boats is about 58 feet water line, the other about 80 feet. Mr. Sinclair sailed on schedule time this morning from San Francisco for Honolulu. She is due to arrive here next Thursday at noon.

"I expect to sail the Lurline again, though perhaps not to victory."

The following letter from Mr. H. C. Barlow, executive director of the Chicago Association of Commerce, is of general interest:

Chicago, Sept. 12, 1907.

Mr. H. P. Wood,
Secretary, Hawaii Promotion Committee, Honolulu.

Dear Sir:—I take great pleasure in formally acknowledging for the Chicago Association of Commerce receipt of the car load of pineapples and

GOVERNOR TO HELP HAWAII'S COLLEGE

Will Ask Congress To Pass Special Bill For School

Governor Frear is trying to figure out some plan by which the College of Agriculture of Hawaii can come in on the appropriation passed by Congress at its last session for the agricultural colleges of the country.

The appropriation provides the sum of $30,000 for each agricultural college for the coming year, this amount to be increased $5,000 a year until the total received in one year shall reach $50,000.

But when this act was passed Hawaii had no college of agriculture, and the Secretary of Commerce and Labor has ruled that Hawaii's college cannot come in on an appropriation provided before it came into existence. Therefore it will be necessary to get Congress to pass a special Act including Hawaii among the States and Territories to benefit from the general appropriation.

This, the Governor states, is one of the matters which he will take up when he goes to Washington next month—if he goes, as he now expects to.

If this $30,000 is obtained, the College of Agriculture of Hawaii will be well provided for to start on, says Governor Frear. The Legislature appropriated $15,000 to pay salaries and

MAGOON DENIES THAT HE GOT BARGAIN

J. Alfred Magoon, defendant in the suit brought against himself and the Sanitary Steam Laundry Co., Ltd., by the Troy Laundry Machinery Co., Ltd., has filed his answer to the complaint. He denies that the buildings and plant of the Sanitary company cost over $90,000 and says that while they cost a large amount they were of much less actual value than the amount secured by mortgage upon them at the time of the transfer of the same to himself.

Magoon says he doesn't believe the building and plant cost $50,000, and besides they had greatly deteriorated. The covering on the roofs was worthless, many of the machines could not run at all and those that could had to be constantly repaired to do even the poorest quality of work; the delivery horses and wagons and harness were a disgrace, the horses being lame and worn out, the wagons delapidated and the harness rotten and tied up with ropes. This condition was due to lack of money to keep up the plant.

Magoon says that from time to time he advanced money to the concern to the amount of over $10,000, because he took a personal pride in not having

This Day, It Rained

The following is an extract from the letter of a plantation manager on the Hilo coast:

WEATHER: Sept. 23, 1907. Since Saturday afternoon 5 p. m., and up till 5 a. m. this morning, we have had 31.28 inches of rain. In the first twenty-four hours just mentioned we had 19.63 inches and in the last twelve hours 11.65 inches, making a grand total as mentioned above. Quite considerable damage has been done in washing out all over the place. Water heads torn to pieces, fumes ripped out, etc., etc.

In 1902 when we had over 80 inches in March, we did not have any down-pour like what we have had in the last thirty-six hours. Several landslides have occurred to the north of here, and some bridges are reported damaged and some carried away. No teams are at work today; all the men that have turned out to work are in stripping, but there are not much more than 50 per cent out.

BITING MATCH AT WINSTON BLOCK

Point In Liquor Law Is Decided By Judge Andrade

The session in the Police Court this morning was enlivened considerably by the trial of the case of Sam Davidson, the colored cook of the Restorer, charged with assault and battery on Col. Knox, the colored gentleman who at one time was janitor of the Senate.

Did you get into a mix-up with the defendant? asked Prosecutor Brown. "Yes sir," answered Knox. "He tried to bite my nose off."

Knox then went on to tell the sad tale of the infamous assault on his person.

"It was at the Winston block," he said. "A woman owed me 75 cents. I asked her for it, and she said I shouldn't bawl her out in front of her husband. Then she gives me a dollar and Davidson sees to me to give her the two bits. He sees he had it in for me anyhow. Then he throws the ivory into me. I wish I'd had some to throw back at him."

Davidson took the stand and told a tale of gallantry. He said that Knox had tried to hit the woman who owed him the money and had tried to strike her. Davidson had constituted himself the defender of the fair sex. He admitted that he had bitten Knox, but said that the Colonel had himself started the row.

"He bit me first," he said. "He bit me on the leg, but he had no teeth, so he couldn't bite good. He butted me with his head too."

Several ladies from the Winston block took the stand and testified in favor of the gallant defendant. He was finally fined $15 and costs.

The three Koreans who were caught yesterday in the act of taking away copper and brass from the Honolulu Plantation scrap pile, excused themselves by saying that they did not think that the stuff was wanted by the plantation people. Two of them were given ninety and one sixty days in prison.

Frank Brown had called Officer Henry Espinda some unpleasant names. He said that he was "half-shot" when he did it, and was let off with a fine of two dollars.

The court passed sentence in the case of Juan Holmberg, charged with selling liquor without a license, which had been postponed in order that it might be ascertained what the words "furnishing" in the statute signified. The defense had been that Holmberg did not sell but gave away the liquor in question, but the court held that even this was forbidden by the statute, "furnishing" including this within its meaning, except where liquor was given to servants or to bona fide guests. Holmberg was fined $100 and costs.

The Governor is just making up his estimates of the funds which he thinks the Federal Government should appropriate for Hawaii. This estimate has to be forwarded to the Secretary of the Treasury to be used in making up his official budget, but it is probable that the Governor will go to Washington to look after matters and see that this Territory is well treated by Congress in the way of appropriations.

MASONS DO HONOR TO GRAND MASTER

Dinner, Reception And Dance a Pleasing Function

The dinner, reception and dance given at the Young Hotel last evening by the Masonic lodges of the California jurisdiction in honor of the Grand Master Edward H. Hart constituted an elaborate function creditable to the bodies interested and complimentary to the guest of honor.

The program of the evening opened with the dinner served in the cafe at which the Master, Wardens and Past Master of Hawaiian, Kilauoa and Oceanic lodges were present. Past Master E. I. Spaulding of Hawaiian lodge presided. Grand Master Hart was seated at his right, and at his left "Worshipful Master McKay of Kilauoa. J. D. Tucker occupied the post of honor and responsibility opposite the toastmaster, and he was supported by the wardens. Others seated about the board were Worshipful Master Bon of Oceanic, Past Master Chas. Pfeiffer of Oceanic, Past Master J. M. Monarratt of Hawaiian, Past Master Mott Out of Hawaiian, Past Master Ed Towse of Oceanic, Past Master J. G. Rothwell of Hawaiian, Junior Warden Parsons of Kilauoa, Senior Warden Johnson of Oceanic, Senior Warden Frank Thompson of Hawaiian, Senior Warden Vicars of Kilauoa, Past Master Fred Whitney of Hawaiian, Past Master Gaines of Oceanic, Past Master Norton of Oceanic, Past Master Goetz of Oceanic, Past Master J. P. Soper of Hawaiian, Past Master W. M. Graham of Hawaiian, Past Master Farrington of Oceanic and Worshipful Master Hare of Hawaiian.

The menu, served in the best of Young Hotel style, follows:

- Dry Martini
- California Oyster Cocktail, in Green Pepper
- Canape Caviar
- Salted Almonds
- Olives
- Celery en Branche
- Essence of Chicken, Chantilly
- Pillet of Royal Kumu, Marguery Rudesheimer
- Cucumbers Potatoes Fantase
- Froglegs a la Salisbury, sur Canape
- French Peas
- Romain Punch
- G. H. Mumm's Extra Dry
- Stuffed Turkey, Cranberries
- Asparagus au Beurre
- Potatoes Croquette
- Fruit Salad, in Orange Basket
- Neapolitain Ice Cream
- Assorted Cakes
- Bent's Crackers
- Cheese
- Demi Tasse

The first toast offered was to Hawaiian Lodge No. 21, the pioneer American lodge of Hawaii. This brought a happy response from J. D. Tucker, the inspector for the lodges of the California jurisdiction. Kilauoa, the prosperous Hilo lodge, was represented by Worshipful Master McKay, who spoke briefly but to the point for the members of his lodge. Oceanic was referred to as the youngest lodge with the oldest traditions. Past Master Ed Towse spoke for Oceanic lodge, and in doing so took occasion to refer very pleasantly to Past Master David Dayton, who ranks as one of the oldest Masons in the Islands.

Grand Master Hart was necessarily brief in his remarks, the dinner having encroached on the time of the reception and dance. He bespoke the deep interest of California Masons for Hawaii and espoused the principle of American Masonry following the flag. The banqueters adjourned to the pavilion and roof garden, where the Grand Master received the large number of Masons and their wives who had assembled. The pavilions were most elaborately and appropriately decorated. Flags, bunting and tropical greens were artistically draped about the walls and alcoves. The Masonic emblem in electric lights was prominently displayed.

Music for the dinner and dance was furnished by Kaal's quintet and refreshments for the dancers were served on the roof garden. The dancing kept up till midnight.

This evening the third degree will be worked by Hawaiian lodge in the Temple. The Grand Master returns to San Francisco by the Sierra in order to be present at the annual communication early in October. He will be accompanied on his return by Inspector J. D. Tucker.

Executive Committee—E. I. Spaulding, chairman, M. E. Grossman, Robt. Hair, F. E. Thompson, J. D. Tucker, W. T. Rawlins, Wm. McKay, Chas. A. Bon, M. M. Johnson, Ed Towse, C. G. Bockus, G. H. Vicars, C. F. Parsons.

Floor Committee—Edw. C. Brown, chairman, F. E. Richardson, Harry Murray, F. L. Hatch, Mannie Phillips, Thos. Sharp, Merle Johnson.

The steamer Helene, Captain Nelson, brought 78 head of cattle for the Metropolitan Meat Company and 99 hales sheep wool.

HAWAII HAS RAIN AND GOOD FUTURE FOR OLAIA PLANT AREA

Olaia plantation has just completed the work on 3,369 acres of plant cane. This is for the 1908 crop and is some three hundred acres more than the highest estimate of a few months ago. The planting season has been favorable and the crops are making especially good headway, promising good returns for the future.

A letter from Olaia states that during an eight hour rain, a few days ago, seventeen inches of rain fell. At Papaikou twenty inches of rain fell in twenty-four hours. There was no damage done, the rain being a steady downpour.

LILUOKALANI BY DEED GIVES AND RECEIVES

Registrar Marriam has recently filed two deeds that are of more than passing interest. One is from A. S. Cleghorn to Liliuokalani, described as "Her Majesty Liliuokalani," by which he conveys to her all his interest in certain property conveyed to Likelike. The other is from the Queen, who describes herself as Liliuokalani of Honolulu, County of Oahu, Territory of Hawaii, in which she conveys to A. S. Cleghorn her undivided half interest in all the lands wherever situate which at her death belonged to "Her Royal Highness Miriam Likelike Cleghorn."

The consideration in the Cleghorn deed is one dollar and the amount set forth in the Liliuokalani instrument as the value in exchange is $10,000.

POLICE BUSY

Detective Leal last night arrested a Porto Rican who had just sold for six dollars a gold watch, which had been stolen last August from a Japanese, named Hirano, living near River street. The Porto Rican put up a fierce fight and the officer had to use considerable force to subdue him. The police believe that the man is responsible for a number of petty thefts which have been committed in Chinatown.

The police have also arrested a Korean couple who are believed to have been mixed up in a woman-selling proposition. They have turned this case over to the Federal authorities.

GERMAN RECEPTION TO CONDOR MEN.

The reception tendered to the officers and men of the cruiser Condor by the German church last night was a very pleasing affair. The gathering took place in the school room connected with the church and there were fully one hundred and fifty people present.

Pastor Felmy opened the reception with a short address of welcome to the men from the cruiser, setting forth the kindly feelings that existed between the German citizens of this city and those from the Fatherland.

There were many pleasant numbers on the program, among which was a solo by Miss Ulrich, whose soprano voice was in most excellent form.

Pastor Felmy also gave notice of a special service to be held in the German church next Sunday in honor of the Condor.

During the stay of the German cruiser in this port the school room would be open each evening for social intercourse between local Germans and the men from the ship.

Captain Ahlert and several of his lieutenants were present last night.

MOTHER SUPERIOR MAKES OVER LAND.

Among the deeds filed in the office of Registrar of Conveyances is one by Marie Brassler, Superior of the Sisters of the Sacred Hearts, a corporation. The purpose of the deed is to vest in the recently formed corporation the property which has heretofore been held in the name of the Mother Superior for the time being, and the organization of the corporation and the conveyance of the property is simply for the purpose of more conveniently holding the property for the uses for which it is given.

The land in question has been gained from many sources by gifts.

Henry Vida will have a fine trip—coming home.

They should be able to get more votes in favor of selling the Philippines than for the free trade proposition.

The local passenger steamship agitation will never cease till Honolulu gets the service its freight traffic and tourist future demand.

Won't Taft look pretty togged out in the knee breeches and tinsel of a royal personage? Is there anything the cartoonists will not do to him.

The man who has a kick coming because his taxes are collected will have to blame the Bulletin for a good share of it. And the Bulletin will not sidestep.

May the refusal to accept Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge not result in an acrimonious debate that will lessen the good fellowship that has hitherto prevailed.

Roosevelt is in the White House, Root in Mexico and Taft soon to arrive in St. Petersburg. This world power business calls for wide distribution of the government.

The additional funds at the disposal of the counties should cause more extreme care on the part of county officials that every dollar counts for first class work.

Wellman has advanced one step nearer to the solution of the North Pole question than any of his predecessors. He found his balloon after he landed from a practice flight.

United States Marshal Hendry deserves the greatest of sympathy in his present overworked condition, because his rotund figure makes it almost impossible for him to look the part.

Secretary Root took a few days off with ex-prize fighter Muldoon. Now the first thing he tackles is the Central American republic squabble, with the possibility of incidentally purchasing Magdalena bay.

British Columbians sent many petitions to Ottawa against Orientals without much effect, but they finally landed what is practically a Chinese exclusion act. They probably will keep the endless chain of petitions going till something happens as regards the Japanese.

When bargains are being made it is better to deal with facts rather than glittering generalities. If purchase of waterfront land means repair shops, let it be understood. If it means a coal pile, make that clear. Don't get land for a coal pile by holding out the hope that it is for a repair shop.

Dr. Brackett came to Hawaii and didn't have a good time till he struck the steamer going home.

Brackett's only trouble was that he did not make his feelings known earlier in the season. If there are any tourists now in Hawaii who are not enjoying themselves they will please speak up.

SELLING WATERFRONT PROPERTY.

It is a good proposition for the city of Honolulu and the Territory of Hawaii that a steamship company should establish headquarters at this port which gives promise of promoting the permanence of a passenger service.

If the transfer of the waterfront area asked by the Pacific Mail appears, on full investigation and due consideration of this port's future, to be a good trade, there is no reason why the Pacific Mail company should not have it.

There is, however, in the first presentation of the subject to the public a suggestion of threat, apparently characteristic of the statements of the manager, that is not pleasant.

The Bulletin does not believe the Territorial government should be frightened in the slightest when, in connection with a sale or lease of land, the applicant practically says, "If I don't get what I want I'll get back at the town."

The attitude of Manager Schwerin, as shown in the quotations from his comments made by Governor Carter in his letter on the coastwise shipping laws, is not a happy one. It savors of bluster and the big stick.

Honolulu wants the Pacific Mail and it wants all the steamship shops and coal headquarters it can get, but the price paid should not be the best we have, as a gift.

If this port has a future—and it has—waterfront property is valuable.

SIDE TALKS WITH A DEAR FRIEND.

With an indignation that is profound, and with arguments it says are unanswerable, the morning paper with weighty heaviness lands upon the suggestion of a Bulletin paragraph that the majesty of the law, as shown in Secretary Straus' escape from the coastwise shipping law fine, does not seem the same when applied to unfortunate European trachoma subjects sent back to their country at great trouble and expense.

The first impression of this paper is one of deep regret for having caused such obvious pain in the small soul of a dearly beloved contemporary.

The Bulletin is also sorry that it must further irritate its friend by agreeing with some—perhaps there are more—Americans in Hawaii who would have been pleased to see leading officials of the country honor the law of the country more by observance than avoidance.

If this be Les Majeste, why, let it go at that. There will be more before there is less of it, in our country.

We regret that the importance of the comment does not warrant giving our contemporary's fulminations in full. We will quote briefly. When it reaches the subject of trachoma it says:

"To speak of the deportation of cases of chronic trachoma as being very ridiculous, with or without any invidious comparison with anything else, is to invite not merely ridicule but indignation from the public against the orator."

Now this is awful. The Bulletin did not refer to the departing immigrants as "chronics," having been informed that there were none among these immigrants who could not be cured. If this information is not correct then the majesty of the law has been gloriously upheld, and, to repeat the words of the illustrious general who quelled a New York mob, "God is in Heaven and the government at Washington still lives."

Our righteous indignatory also quotes from the New York Tribune, among other things, this:

"The discovery that corporations, perfectly familiar with the dangers of contagious diseases, can deliberately throw infected aliens into our country simply to increase dividends already bountiful, is a painful proof that there are still a few 'predatory rich' surviving. For this most contemptible practice should be found, and its infliction should be hampered by no quibbles or sidesteps."

The immigrants involved in this momentous question now under discussion were indeed brought to Hawaii for the purpose of serving corporations, but the quotation from the Tribune fits the local case with about the same finish and beauty of form that a shirt adorns a hand-spike.

Otherwise the Bulletin is almost convinced that its contemporary is right.

He that cannot forgive others breaks the bridge over which he must pass himself, for every man has need to be forgiven.—Lord Herbert.

his name connected with an unsuccessful enterprise and hoped to make the business pay.

On April 16, 1901, the company borrowed more money than Magoon could loan it, giving as security a first mortgage on all its property. No one, however, would put up the cash unless Magoon indorsed the note, so he indorsed a note for $16,000 and later another for $14,000. But still the business didn't pay, and when in December, 1902, Allen & Robinson brought suit for $1607.50 and in addition the lease of the land was subject to forfeiture or non-payment of rent and failure to insure, Magoon felt obliged to take the property, which he did. He claims that he has lost by the deal.

The plaintiff in its complaint charged illegal proceedings, claiming that Magoon had fraudulently got the property for much less than it was worth.

THE RIVAL QUEENS WILL SHOW TONIGHT

Central Grammar Pupils Will Act And Dance

The pupils of Central Grammar School, to show their appreciation for last kindnesses to their musical instructor, Mrs. Yarnly, will produce a children's play at the Opera House this evening.

A synopsis of this most entertaining production is given below: Prince Leon becomes separated from his companions. He falls asleep upon a bank in the woods, where he is discovered by Queen Nightshade, who attempts to put him under her spell but is prevented by Telfa.

In Act II the underground folk hold sway. The gnomes amuse their queen, Nightshade, with merry pranks and finally gratify her by capturing Queen Rose.

Wily Telfa again appears, however, and by drugging the goblin band, succeeds in rescuing his beloved queen.

Leon, the disappointed lover, wanders forlorn through the forest. Here Nightshade, who covets the handsome mortal for her court, lays siege to his ambition, but Leon fiercely repulses her, upon which the magic-worker blinds him by her spell and leaves him alone.

PACIFIC MAIL CO. WANTS FISHMARKET Offers To Pay $60,000 To Government For The Property

The Pacific Mail Steamship Company wants to buy the old Fishmarket property that lies between Alakea and Richards streets and Allen and Halekua streets.

The proposal to purchase the property was made to Superintendent of Public Works Holloway and was by him referred to Governor Frear.

Although it is recognized that the fishmarket is a valuable property, the Territorial Government appears to have been at a loss for some years as to what disposition to make of it.

The American-Hawaiian freighter Missourian has discharged her freight at the company's wharf and is now receiving coal at the Bishop wharf.

The steamer Sierra was shifted from the Oceanic wharf this morning and moved over to the railroad wharf to take in sugar and other island commodities.

The waterfront is almost deserted today. Almost all the small schooners are out of the harbor and their slips are occasionally visited by native and Japanese fishermen's boats.

The financial standing of the Yokohama Specie bank has increased immensely and a notice to that effect is shown in its banking columns, which appear elsewhere in the Bulletin.

There will be a special meeting of the Oleson Committee at the Kamehameha Alumni Club House at 7:30 tomorrow evening.

ACHI WILLSTART (Continued from Page 1) the English language. I do not question the integrity and honesty of the Hawaiian district magistrates and deputy sheriffs.

What I want is to see men with the knowledge of English language in the offices. There are many County districts where the services of interpreters can not be had, and the white lawyers who do not understand Hawaiian are confronted with judges who do not understand English.

The proposition of starting this so-called judge and sheriff normal school is a good one, and the young people who have signified their willingness to become future district magistrates and sheriffs will be well fitted in their positions.

From the practical point of view every Hawaiian lawyer should read the American law books, that is if he wants to improve himself. The Hawaiian law books are too far behind the times.

In concluding Achi said that he is waiting for the young men to notify him as to the membership of the school. It was reported this forenoon that should the matter be pulled through the officers of the Kamehameha Alumni Association will be conferred with as to the advisability of using the Alumni Hall.

Many young people from the Alumni of St. Louis College and Kamehameha school are talking among themselves to push the proposition ahead. This matter will be brought to the attention of the Kamehameha Alumni Association at its regular meeting.

JAPAN HONORS SERVANT.

In recognition of his valuable services to the Japanese government, the Emperor of Japan made K. Takahashi, the vice governor of the Bank of Japan, and president of the Yokohama Specie Bank, a baron. Mr. Akai, manager of the local branch, received a cable containing this information day before yesterday.
Mr. Takahashi passed through here some time ago, from his trip to England, where he succeeded in raising a loan of twenty-three million of dollars. He is considered one of the leading financiers of Japan and was on that account commissioned to go to England to raise money. During the Japan-China war he was instrumental in seeing that the Japanese government was financially strong. He is an authority on Japanese currency and is constantly called into consultation by the Japanese Government. Besides being a financier Mr. Takahashi is a good English scholar and is well known in the financial world. While here he was entertained by Mr. Aoki and Consul Saito.

ASK DAMAGES FROM RAPID TRANSIT CO.

A couple of damage suits were filed against the Rapid Transit Co. as a result of a collision between one of its cars and a vehicle on which were two Japanese who were thrown from it and injured. The complainants, whose names are Nishi Oka and Yoshimoto, ask for damages in the sum of $5000 each.

The two complaints are very similar to each other in the main features. They state that on August 25, 1907 as the complainants were driving in a vehicle at the junction of Kalakaua avenue and King street, car No. 42 was negligently and carelessly driven against their wagon, and they were thrown to the ground.

Nishi Oka states that he received injuries on the body, head, hands and legs, as a result of which he was laid up for six days in the Queen's Hospital. Yoshimoto alleges that he had two teeth broken and that his head was cut and wounded. He had to spend twelve days at the hospital to get patched up. Magoon and Lightfoot are the attorneys for the complainants.

WOOD GETS PHOTOS AND IMPORTANT DATA

Some time ago the Promotion Committee in answer to a request from the Premier of New South Wales sent him a set of photos of the Captain Cook monument at Kealakekua. In return the Premier has sent the Committee a series of excellent photos showing a similar monument at Kurnell, Botany Bay, N. S. W., on the spot where the famous navigator first landed on Australian soil.

Secretary Wood has also received several pictures showing scenes on the Seattle waterfront. These he has asked for in connection with a plan which he is now working on to secure pictures and data from all the principal ports on the Pacific, Canadian American, South American, Australian, Asiatic, etc. It is planned to collect them in an album, each series of pictures being accompanied by data regarding port regulations, repair facilities and other points of value to marines and merchants. It is possible that this may be published in book form.

SALE IS OPPOSED BY FEDS.

in front of this site is a block of ground occupied by the old fishmarket now practically abandoned, but public property to be developed as seems best. Here, then, is the place to create that formal and attractive entrance to the city that shall insure a good first and last impression to travelers and make for residents a pleasanter means of access to the docks than any now possessed.

At the entrance, seventy feet wide, I recommend a tall and handsome gateway—the architectural achievement of the city. This might take the form either of pylons, or, as a more familiar type of gate with a connecting bridge above the road, provide a place for the band, where it would be out of the way and where its music would carry easily to the upper decks of the arriving or departing steamer. In the construction or ornament of this gate the word "Aloha" might well be incorporated. Beyond the entrance there would stretch a forty-five foot road, with an eight-foot walk on either side of it, separated from the road by four and a half feet of turf.

Passing through the gate, which would give an unusually imposing entrance to the city, the road and walks lead straight away to a point 100 feet from the further end. Here they fork, proceeding by long curves to the two corners, and so connecting with Alakea and Richards streets. At the crotch of the fork, terminating the vista of the road, there should gradually rise a bank of tropical foliage: at the base, low ferns, midway higher the oleander, far back the banana, and back of all the tall palms. Outlying the arcs at the front of the plot should be the royal palm. At the sides the ironwoods, already planted and well grown, may remain, and in front of them date palms. Overhanging the walks, the algaroba will give a pleasant shade and yet be so low as not to screen the trees beyond. Thus the entrance to Honolulu would be, as it ought to be, through a garden.

BORN.

GROSSMAN—In Honolulu, September 25, to the wife of Dr. M. E. Grossman, a son.

Since the departure of Admiral Dayton's cruiser fleet there has been practically nothing doing along the waterfront. The German third class cruiser Condor and the U. S. S. Iroquois are the only fighting machines in port now.

Every day is a regular one, as to hours, with us, and we keep open until 5 o'clock Saturdays. Whitney & Mars

This is a story of that great north country of which it has been said, "There's never a law of God or man runs north of fifty-three;" a tale of impetuous emotion, of brute strength and courage, of swift and passionate love and hate; a tale vigorous, forceful and absorbing, which tells itself without fine words; a story of the hunger for gold and the hunger of man for woman, brooking no interference or rivalry, going straight for its object, as did the primitive man before the time of laws and conventionalities; of civilized man turned back to savagery and losing no manhood in the turning. Tarry awhile, O reader, with these rugged men of Nome, and you shall be refreshed and strengthened in their company.

CHAPTER II.—CONCLUDED.

At this the commander started and, darting a great, thick fingered hand at her, spoke savagely: "What's that? What ship? Which one did you come from? Answer me!" "The Ohio," she replied, with the effect of a hand grenade. The master glared at her. "The Ohio! Good God! You dare stand there and tell me that?" He turned and poured his rage upon the others. "She says the Ohio, d'ye hear? You've ruined me! I'll put you in irons—all of you. The Ohio!" "What d'ye mean? What's up?" "What's up! There's smallpox aboard the Ohio! The girl has broken quarantine. The health inspectors bottled up the boat at 6 o'clock last night. That's why I pulled out of Unalaska ahead of time, to avoid any possible delay. Now we'll all be held up when we get to Nome. Great Heavens! Do you realize what this means—bringing this hussy aboard?" His eyes burned, and his voice shook, while the two partners stared at each other in dismay. Too well they knew the result of a smallpox panic aboard this crowded troop ship. Not only was every available cabin bulging with passengers, but the lower decks were jammed with both humanity and live stock all in the most unsanitary conditions. The craft, built for 300 passengers, was carrying triple her capacity. Men and women were stowed away like cattle. Order and a half tolerable condition were maintained only by the efforts of the passengers themselves, who held to the thought that imprisonment and inconvenience would last but a few days longer. They had been aboard three weeks, and every heart was aflame with the desire to reach Nome—to reach it ahead of the pressing horde behind.

What would be the temper of this gold-frenzied array if thrown into quarantine within sight of their goal? The impatient hundreds would have to be packed in their floating prison, submitting to the foul disease. Long they must lie thus, till a month should have passed after the disappearance of the last symptom. If the disease recurred sporadically, that might mean endless weeks of maddening idleness. It might even be impossible to impose the necessary restraint. There would be violence, perhaps mutiny.

The fear of the sickness was nothing to Dextery and Glenister, but of their mine they thought with terror. What would happen in their absence, where conditions were as unsettled as in this new land, where titles were held only by physical possession of the premises? During the long winter of their absence ice had held their treasure inviolate, but with the warming summer the jewel they had fought for so wearily would lie naked and exposed to the first comer. The Midas lay in the valley of the richest creek, where men had schemed and fought and slain for the right to inches. It was the fruit of cheerless, barren years of toil, and if they could not guard it they knew the result.

The girl interrupted their distressing reflections. "Don't blame these men, sir," she begged the captain. "I am the only one at fault. Oh, I had to get away! I have papers here that must be delivered quickly." She laid a hand upon her bosom. "They couldn't be trusted to the unsettled mail service. It's almost life and death. And I assure you there is no need of putting me in quarantine. I haven't the smallpox. I wasn't even exposed to it." "There's nothing else to do," said Stephens. "I'll isolate you in the deck smoking cabin. God knows what these madmen on board will do when they hear about it, though. They're apt to tear you to shreds. They're crazy!" Glenister had been thinking rapidly. "If you do that, you'll have mutiny in an hour. This isn't the crowd to stand that sort of thing."

"Bah! Let 'em try it. I'll put 'em down." The officer's square jaws clicked. "Maybe so; but what then? We reach Nome and the health inspector bears of smallpox suspects, then we're all quarantined for thirty days; 800 of us. We'll lie at Egg Island all summer while your company pays five thousand a day for this ship. That's not all. The firm is liable in damages for your carelessness in letting disease aboard."

"My carelessness!" The old man ground his teeth. "Yes; that's what it amounts to. You'll ruin your owners, all right. You'll tie up your ship and lose your job, that's a cinch!"

Captain Stephens wiped the moisture from his brow angrily. "My carelessness! Curse you—you say it well! Don't you realize that I am criminally liable if I don't take every precaution?" He paused for a moment, considering. "I'll hand her over to the ship's doctor."

"See here, now," Glenister urged. "We'll be in Nome in a week—before the young lady would have time to show symptoms of the disease, even if she were going to have it—and a thousand to one she hasn't been exposed and will never show a trace of it. Nobody knows she's aboard but we three. Nobody will see her get off. She'll stay in this cabin, which will be just as effectual as though you isolated her in any other part of the boat. It will avoid a panic—you'll save your ship and your company—nobody will be the wiser—then if the girl comes down with smallpox after she gets ashore she can go to the pesthouse and not jeopardize the health of all the people aboard this ship. You go up forrad to your bridge, sir, and forget that you stepped in to see old Bill Dextery this morning. We'll take care of this matter all right. It means as much to us as it does to you. We've got to be on Anvil creek before the ground thaws or we'll lose the Midas. If you make a fuss you'll ruin us all."

For some moments they watched him breathlessly as he frowned in indecision, then: "You'll have to look out for the steward," he said, and the girl sank to a stool while two great tears rolled down her cheeks. The captain's eyes softened, and his voice was gentle as he laid his hand on her head. "Don't feel hurt over what I said, miss. You see, appearances don't tell much hereabouts—most of the pretty ones are no good. They've fooled me many a time, and I made a mistake. These men will help you through. I can't. Then when you get to Nome, make your sweetheart marry you the day you land. You are two far north to be alone."

He stepped out into the passage and closed the door carefully. "What portent do you see that makes you stare into the night so anxiously?" he inquired. "I am wishing for a sight of the midnight sun or the aurora borealis," she replied. "Too late for one an' too far south for the other," Dextery interposed. "We'll see the sun further north, though."

"Have you ever heard the real origin of the northern lights?" the young man inquired. "Naturally, I never have," she answered.

"Well, here it is. I have it from the lips of a great hunter of the Tananans. He told it to me when I was sick once in his cabin, and inasmuch as he is a wise Indian and has a reputation for truth I have no doubt that it is scrupulously correct. "In the very old days, before the white man or corned beef had invaded this land, the greatest tribe in all the north was the Tananans. The bravest hunter of these was Itika, the second chief. He could follow a moose till it fell exhausted in the snow, and he had many belts made from the claws of the brown bear, which is deadly wicked and, as every one knows, inhabited by the spirits of 'yabla men' or devils. "One winter a terrible famine settled over the Tanana valley. The moose departed from the gulches, and the caribou melted from the hills like mist. The dogs grew gaunt and howled all night, the babies cried, the women became hollow eyed and peevish.

"Set there, d— you, an' watch me eat real grub," which I proceed to do, cleanin' the menu from soda to hock. When I have done my worst, I pile bones an' olive seeds an' peellin's all over them articles of nourishment, stick toothpicks into 'em, an' havin' offered 'em what other indignities occur to me, I leave the place."

Dextery and the girl were leaning over the stern rail, chatting idly in the darkness. It was the second night out, and the ship lay dead in the lee pack. All about there was a flat, fog-clogged sea, leprous and mottled in the deep twilight that midnight brought in this latitude. They had threaded into the lee field as long as the light lasted, following the lanes of blue water till they closed, then drifting idly till others appeared; worming out into leagues of open sea, again creeping into the shifting labyrinth till darkness rendered progress perilous.

Occasionally they had passed herds of walrus huddled sociably upon ice pans, their wet hides glistening in the sunlight. The air had been clear and pleasant, while away on all quarters they had seen the smoke of other ships toiling through the barrier. The spring fleet was knocking at the door of the golden north.

Clanking at her imprisonment, the girl had asked the old man to take her out on deck under the shelter of darkness; then she had led him to speak of his own past experiences and of Glenister's, which he had done freely. She was frankly curious about them, and she wondered at their apparent lack of interest in her own identity and her secret mission. She even construed their silence as indifference, not realizing that these northmen were offering her the truest evidence of camaraderie.

The frontier is capable of no finer compliment than this utter disregard of one's folded pages. It betokens that highest faith in one's fellow man, the belief that he should be measured by his present deeds, not by his past. It says, translated: "This is God's free country, where a man is a man, nothing more. Our land is new and pure, our faces are to the front. If you have been square, so much the better; if not, leave behind the taints of artificial thinz and start again on the level. That's all."

It had happened, therefore, that, since the men had asked her no questions, she had allowed the hours to pass and still hesitated to explain further than she had explained to Captain Stephens. It was much easier to let things continue as they were, and there was, after all, so little that she was at liberty to tell them.

In the short time since meeting them the girl had grown to like Dextery, with his blunt civility and boyish, whimsical philosophy, but she avoided Glenister, feeling a shrinking, hidden terror of him, ever since her eavesdropping of the previous night. At the memory of that scene she grew hot, then cold—hot with anger, icy at the sinister power and sureness which had vibrated in his voice. What kind of life was she catering where men spoke of strange women with this assurance and hinted thus of ownership? That he was handsome and unconscious of it she acknowledged, and had she met him in her accustomed circle of friends, garbed in the conventionalities, she would perhaps have thought of him as a striking man, vigorous and intelligent, but here he seemed naturally to take on the attributes of his surroundings, acquiring a picturesque negligee of dress and morals and suggesting rugged, elemental, chilling potentialities. While with him—and he had sought her repeatedly that day—she was uneasily aware of his strong personality tugging at her; aware of the unbridled passionate flood of a nature unbrooking of delay and heedless of denial. This it was that antagonized her and set her every mental sinew in rigid resistance.

During Dextery's garrulous ramblings Glenister emerged from the darkness and silently took his place beside her against the rail. "What portent do you see that makes you stare into the night so anxiously?" he inquired. "I am wishing for a sight of the midnight sun or the aurora borealis," she replied. "Too late for one an' too far south for the other," Dextery interposed. "We'll see the sun further north, though."

"Have you ever heard the real origin of the northern lights?" the young man inquired. "Naturally, I never have," she answered.

"Well, here it is. I have it from the lips of a great hunter of the Tananans. Committee Chosen To Pick All-Hawaii Baseball Team

Every ball player in the local league will be given a chance to play ball on the All-Hawaii team that will meet Migue Fisher's pet aggregation in November. It will be up to the players themselves if they want the glory of participating in these big games.

Doctor Raymond
Bert Bower

These two, together with the Captain of the team and Jess Woods, will pick the players that will go against the boys from the big bush. Upon the first of the month a call will be made for every ball player in the local league to turn out to practice. Those who are the most faithful in their practice work will naturally be given the preference on the team. They must get out and work and learn to play together. The team will practice every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. On Saturday games will be played between the big team and other players.

The players will elect their own captain and there will be no fault to find. With the committee that has been chosen there will be absolutely no favorites played and every player will be given nothing but a square deal. Neither Bower nor Raymond is connected in any way with any of the teams. Bower's ability as a ball player and umpire is well known and there is absolutely no doubt but what his judgment in selecting players will be of the best. He has had the advantage of seeing the boys in action for years and knows them all like a book. Raymond is one of the greatest fans in Honolulu at the present time. He is a close follower of the game although not a player. He has just come back from the Coast, where he has had the advantage of having seen the big fellows in action and is on to all of their tricks. His knowledge will prove a big asset to the locals' chances.

The season tickets are all printed and when the proper time comes they will be placed on sale at Gunst-Eakin cigar store, on the corner of Fort and King streets. There will be absolutely no tickets sold before this date and those desiring good seats will be served in order as they apply for them at the above location.

Inquiries from the other islands are beginning to come in and the prospects are that many from Maui, Hawaii and Kauai will come to take in the big games. The excursion rate offered by the Inter-Island is very fair and within reach of everyone.

CONNOR TAKES CHALLENGE CUP

J. Connor now owns the weekly challenge cup which was hung up by the Hawaiian Gun Club. This is the third time that Connor has won this cup and it is now his personal property.

Yesterday the gun club met at the Kakaako traps and one of the greatest contests for this cup took place. W. E. Wall pressed Connor very hard and the latter only won after shooting off a tie with Wall.

The two tied and were compelled to shoot off at 10 birds. Wall missed two out of the ten, while Connor scored the 10 straight.

This is the third cup that has been hung up by the club. J. A. Robb won the first and J. W. Harvey the second. The club will now hang up another cup as they create much interest and has also improved the standard of shooting.

The scores made yesterday were:
J. W. Harvey, 17 out of 20.
J. E. Whitney, 20 out of 21.

MYRTLES WILL SMOKE

The Myrtle Boat Club is going to celebrate its victory of Regatta Day and they are going to do it up brown. The affair will be held in the shape of a smoker at the Boat House on next Saturday evening. A program will be arranged and everyone who attends will be given a real swell time. Invitations are now out for the affair.

JOE PA CAPTAIN

At a meeting of the football boys at Oahu College on Monday Joe Pa, the all-round athlete, was elected to lead the Blue and Buff in their coming gridiron struggles.

Pa is an old football player, having played both at Kamehameha and Punahou. He has also played on the P. A. C. team. Pa is a very fast runner and plays behind the line.

Lydgate is the manager of the team this season. Reed will coach and the men will turn out at once. Al Lowrey is not sure of being in the team this season. Lowrey is a crack back and his work will be missed by the college team. It is to be hoped that he will be in the line up.

From present indications the Oahu team should have an easy time taking the championship.

HARVARD FOOTBALL

Boston, Mass.—Football practice at Harvard will begin September 18, this being the date settled upon by Captain Bartol Parker and Joshua Crane, the coach. Parker has issued a call for his men and expects that most of them will show up for the first day of practice, which is a week before the beginning of the college term.

"We are going to start in our football work early," said Captain Parker last night, "and from the very opening we are going to get down to business. First, however, the practice will be light, and probably will be held only in the afternoon. If the weather should be cool, though, we might possibly practice twice a day, but this seems unlikely.

"Most of the players will be back for the start, I expect, so that we can all get our hands into the work at the same time. The coaches, too, will be there for the eighteenth, and Mr. Crane will be in charge of the men from the moment the first punt is sent away. Plenty of assistants will be on the gridiron also, and I expect that Brown, Cutts, Hall, Leary and perhaps others will be in their football togs from the beginning.

"Of course this is no time to make any sort of a forecast of the season or what the prospects of the team are. We have not lost many men by graduation, and there is some good new material coming from last year's eleven, but it is impossible to say how these new men will work in with the older. Our prospects seem little better or poorer than in former years."

DICK SULLIVAN

In answer to Dick Sullivan's challenge, Kyle Whitney states that he will fight Sullivan, provided the latter agrees to make 145 pounds. The colored boxer is also willing to put up $2500 on the side if the Honolulu champion is looking for a side bet. Whitney claims to be able to make 128 pounds, and does not care to give away more than six or seven pounds to anybody.

latest is as follows:

"Next Monday Joe Gans and Jimmy Britt will clash again for the world's lightweight championship on the Pacific Coast. The result of the battle will bring an insistent candidate for lightweight honors into the limelight. The winner will be forced to meet Jack Blackburn or else quit the ring."

Blackburn has been shadowed by Gans for the past three years, and after boxing the champion two six-round bouts and one fifteen-round contest, in each of which he gave as good as he received, he was told to beat some good man decisively. Since then Blackburn punched Jimmy Gardner's head almost off in twelve rounds, he knocked Fred Bradley out in two rounds, where it took Al Kaufmann, the heavyweight aspirant, seven rounds to do the trick. Nelson, Harry Lewis and even Joe Thomas, the welterweight champion, declined to have any of Blackburn's game, and the latter hurried back to California to avoid a meeting. Blackburn is the logical opponent of the winner of the Gans-Britt battle. He is a real lightweight, of a freakish build, with the shoulders of a Fitzsimmons, and can hit a knockout punch with either hand. Many critics have never regarded him seriously but in the last two years he has gone down the line beating light, welter and middleweights in the most decisive fashion. As a result Blackburn is now a serious proposition, and the way the lightweights have been driven to cover is proof positive that he can deliver the goods. The midget was born in Versailles, Ky., in 1882, and is therefore 24 years old. He is 5 feet 10 inches tall, has an abnormal reach and can scale 133 pounds in ring costume."

WILL DEFEND TITLE.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—George Sutton, holder of the world's championship at 18.2 ball line billiards, will defend his title in a match with Jake Schaefer on the night of November 5th. Schaefer recently challenged the champion and was accepted, the match to be for the title, championship cup and a $500 side bet. Sutton has posted $250 to cover Schaefer's forfeit, put up several days ago. Both men have gone into practice and will work hard for a month to get in the best possible condition. Schaefer defeated Sutton last winter for the 18.1 world's championship and desires to hold both titles. The match will be played in this city.

New York, Sept. 11.—J. Ferdinand Foggengurg, Dr. A. B. Miller and J. G. Jenkins, Jr., have been appointed as a committee to draft arrangements for the proposed amateur international billiard contest. Their appointment was made by Frank J. Howell, president of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players, who will serve ex-officio on the committee. The committee will frame plans to submit to the French Amateur Billiard Society with a view of having the French amateur play in this country. If the games are arranged they will probably be held in this city next March.
