WHY THE Equitable Life Assurance Society

Of the United States is the Best company with which to Assure.

I.—Because of its Safety.
Its surplus is larger than that of any other assurance company.

II.—Because of its Promptness.
Of 1,043 death claims paid in 1885, nearly one-half were paid the very day proofs were received; while of the remainder, the majority were paid within the following three days. No other company can show such a record.

III.—Because of its Liberality and Reforms.
All policies are INCONTESTABLE after three years. All incontestable policies are payable immediately upon receipt of proofs of death. The Society's policy contract is clear and simple, and liberal in its conditions. Its Non-forfeiting Tontine (or Semi-Tontine) policy affords all the ultimate benefits of the full Tontine, and has during its earlier years the surrender value and other material advantages of ordinary life policies.

IV.—Profit.
No other company is paying on its policies, as large profits as are shown under the Equitable's matured Tontine policies with fifteen-year periods. Persons desiring assurance may obtain estimates of the probable results of similar policies, and of policies with twenty-year terms, which are expected to show even larger profits.

V.—Prospective Advantages.
The unexampled progress of the Equitable in the past is the best guarantee of the increasing future value of assurance with the Equitable.

THOSE COMMISSIONS AGAIN.

"If the things alleged or suggested" (the collection of commissions on purchases for the government) "have happened let the BULLETIN come out manfully with names, dates, and transactions; if it does not do that let it apologize to the government officials as a body and to the public at large whose confidence it has abused in this matter." This is what this morning's Advertiser says, and the BULLETIN says in reply that it most respectfully declines to accept either alternative, at the dictation of its contemporary. The BULLETIN is fully prepared with names, transactions, etc., and shall not hesitate to make them public when its credible and responsible informants consent to the use of their names in the same connection, or when it deems the proper time to have arrived, but never on "compulsion." With regard to an apology to officials as a body, we do not insinuate, nor for one moment believe, that all officials are guilty of the practice, but have credible testimony that some are or have been. Respecting an apology to the public at large for having abused their confidence in the matter, we have not only acted in the public interest in calling attention to the subject, but in response to the directly expressed wish of a portion of the public; and several others of its members, previously unknown to us in this connection, have come voluntarily forward since the publication of our statement, testifying to its correctness from their own positive knowledge, and most cordially endorsing our course. The public smile at the idea of apologizing to them for having done precisely what they asked us to do. Our contemporary is quite right in supposing that we are "tolerably well informed" touching the illicit opium traffic, as we are fully aware that he got on the wrong scent. We have no doubt the Advertiser is also "tolerably well informed" concerning the "commission business." If not, there must be a halo of veridancy surrounding that paper that we have never seen, which indicates an unconsciousness color blindness on our part.

THE PALI ROAD.

A good road, with easy grades, over the Pali or through the Pali, to the other side of this island, would not involve a greater outlay than the necessities of an extensive population and the probable enhancement of values resulting from the outlay seem to warrant. It is almost strange that no Minister of Interior, since the days of old Dr. Hutchin-son, has ever realized the importance to Honolulu and the districts on the other side, of this long-projected road. Various legislatures have discussed the subject and appropriated and re-appropriated money for doing the work. But it has never been done, nor even commenced; unless the making of surveys and estimates of cost years ago be called a commencement. Deficiency of funds may have been considered a sufficient reason for deferring operations. But then funds were available for purposes of greatly less benefit to the country, and no minister or ministry should be excused for the neglect or delay of important public works on the plea of "no money," so long as he or they can find money for what may be termed mere luxuries. Whatever is the real reason why this work was not undertaken when the appropriation was made, and the will of the legislature fulfilled, the Pali and its approaches from both sides are but slightly different now from what they were ten years ago. The Pali is there, but the road is not there. The only thoroughfare hitherto available is difficult to travel, and in wet weather extremely dangerous. A proper road, with easy grades, such as the surveys proved to be practi-able, would be an immense boon to the people of an extensive district, reaching from Waimanalo to the other end of the island. Not only to them, but to the people of Honolulu also. How pleasant, after sweltering all the week in the city, to take a quiet drive or ride over to the refreshing air of Kaneohe! A village of pretty little cottages, owned by Honolulu merchants and other well-to-do people, would shortly spring up in that locality, which would soon become the favorite place of resort. This is one of the advantages that would accrue to Honolulu and to the country in view from the top of the Pali, and both sides of the mountain range would be mutually benefitted by a good connecting road. Without that road, the country referred to is largely an unoccupied waste, and Honolulu folks have no summer resort in any way comparable to Kaneohe or Heela. Then let us by all means try to find money enough to make the Pali road, even if we should have to scratch a half-dozen regiments off the army list.

THE MINISTER OF INTERIOR SHOULD TRAVEL.

We hold that a Minister of the Interior's duty in this kingdom lies as much and his time should be occupied as much outside as inside of his office. With one or two exceptions, notably Mr. Wilder, the several gentlemen who have held that position during the present reign have confined themselves too closely to official headquarters at Aliiolani Hale. A Minister of Interior cannot make a fair and intelligent estimate of the country's needs without an intimate knowledge of all its parts, and that knowledge can only be procured by personal inspection. What can a man who never moves out of Honolulu know of needed wharf accommodation or the necessity of roads in the country districts and on the other islands? Information that may be supplied by subordinates and others will scarcely enable him to make a wise and just apportionment of the revenue in an appropriation bill. The knowledge acquired by personal visitation and careful inspection of every nook and corner of the land is what is wanted. As things are and have been, private members do the work of the minister, and estimate for the requirements of their respective districts. If they did not, many districts would scarcely see a cent of public money from one end of the year to the other. No allusion is made in the foregoing to the present Minister of Interior's backwardness in the direction indicated. He has not been long enough in office to show whether he intends staying at home, or locomoting as he should. It becomes necessary to make this explanation to save ourselves from being charged with having "specifically" pointed to the local "grand old man," from bad motives and with the view of aspersing his official character.

THE LEGISLATURE.

FIFTY-NINTH DAY.

MONDAY, July 12th.

The Assembly opened at 10 A. M., with prayer by the Chaplain. Present: Noble Walker, President; Ministers Creighton and Dare; Nobles Clegburn, Kuhlalani, Martin, Kapena and Kaee; Keps, Hayselden, Baker, Kauli, Amara, Brown, Kaula, Wight, Nabale, Nahim, Kauhane, Kekoa, Kalua, Aholo, Kaukau, Richardson, Castle, Dickey, Kaai and Paehaole. The minutes were read and approved.

PETITIONS.

Rep. Castle presented a petition that Government lands adjoining Kuleanua be sold to owners of the latter when desired by them. Referred to Committee on Public Lands.

Rep. Kekoa, a petition from Puna, that the dog tax, being burdensome, be reduced to 50 cents. Also, a petition from the same place, that people living on konohiki's pay a tax of $5, and that their animals be allowed to run at large. On motion of Rep. Aholo, both petitions were laid on the table to be considered with the tax bill.

Rep. Kaukau, a petition from Kaanapali, that parents having large families be given a bonus of $30 a year. Also, a petition that the law requiring a license for stallions be repealed. Laid on the table, on motion of Rep. Kalua, as the law in question was repealed several sessions back.

COMMITTEES.

Noble Dominis, from the Enrollment Committee, reported the following bills approved and signed by His Majesty: an act supplementary to art. 26, chap. 9, Civil Code; an act to regulate the practice in escheat of land to the Hawaiian Government; an act to provide for the payment of salaries and other expenses till August 31st, 1886.

Rep. Richardson, from the Engraving Committee, presented a report of work done.

Rep. Aholo presented a report of the Finance Committee on a resolution of Rep. Dickey, that they enquire into the payment of the salary of the Japanese Inspector. They find that the Inspector has been paid a salary for the last two years; that he was paid $750 for April, May and June last; that the draft on the Minister of Finance was dated the 30th of June, and the money paid on the 2nd of July, and that the draft was issued by the former Minister of Interior, Mr. Gulick. They are of opinion that the money was paid under the last Appropriation Bill of last session, but they find nothing in that act regarding the pay of a Japanese Inspector; therefore they consider the money was paid without authority of law. Such is the substance of the report, of which no English version was submitted. It is signed by Reps. Aholo, Keau and Richardson. Rep. Hayselden saying that he was ready to sign it, having not had the opportunity before. Rep. Dickey in a postscript agrees with the report, but says he has a minority report that goes further. Laid on the table.

Rep. Dickey presented a minority report as follows:—

Hon. J. S. WALKER, President of the Legislative Assembly. Sir—The minority of the Finance Committee begs leave to report as follows in regard to the matter of payment of money to the Japanese Inspector without authority.

Your committee finds that the sum of two thousand six hundred dollars has been paid out by the Minister of Interior under the authority of the Appropriation Bill of the 31st day of March last, under the head of "Encouragement of Japanese Immigration." Of this seven hundred and fifty dollars was paid to the Japanese Inspector and the balance to other employees of the Immigration Bureau without authority of law and directly contrary to article 15 of the Constitution, and to the Appropriation Bill of the last session of the Legislature. Two hundred and fifty dollars of the money paid to said Japanese Inspector was on July 2, 1886, after the present Ministry had taken its portfolios. The Minister of Finance therefore misinformed this Assembly when he stated that the payment had been made during the incumbency of his predecessor. The obligation was incurred by the late Minister of Interior, but the money was paid by the present Minister of Finance, and after all authority given to pay out money, even in exceptional cases, under the last Appropriation Bill, had ceased to exist. This was not such exceptional case, but if it had been it would have been allowable, as the date fixed in said Appropriation Bill after which nothing could be paid was June 30th, 1886. Your committee recommend that the difference between the amounts unlawfully paid these employees and the amounts to which they may actually become entitled by virtue of the Appropriation Bill of this session, shall be refunded by them or be deducted from the next payment made them; and that such a penalty be attached to the payment of money contrary to the provisions of the Appropriation Bill as may deter future officers from transgressing. Respectfully submitted, C. H. DICKEY.

Laid on the table.
 Rep. Kalua presented a report of the Public Lands Committee, on a petition of one Kainapau, of Kalihi, for $2,500 damages, sustained by him through the opening of the Kamehameha road. They had given the matter exhaustive consideration, and from all the facts ascertained, recommend that the sum of $500 be granted as full damages to petitioner.

Minister Dare, complimenting the committee on the fulness and clearness of their report, moved its adoption, which carried.

RESOLUTIONS.

Rep. Castle read a first time an act relative to acknowledgments to instruments; also, an act relating to returns of officers on processes of courts.

Rep. Castle moved the following resolution: Whereas there is a bill or bills before the Legislative Assembly pending for the licensing of opium, etc., and there exists a strong public opinion on the question both for and against the license, and it is important that this Assembly be furnished with full information on the matter in all respects; Therefore resolved, that a committee of five members be appointed for the purpose of collecting and laying before this Assembly such information as may be obtainable relative to the matter of licensing, cultivating and use of opium, and that such committee be instructed to meet publicly and invite all persons interested to appear and make known any facts in their possession relative to the subject, and that such committee report as fully as possible within two weeks hereafter. In supporting the resolution he said such a gentleman as Rev. Dr. Leckler, the Chinese missionary, could give the committee valuable information.

Minister Dare thought the report of the committee should be required at an earlier day.
 Minister Creighton said he could see very little objection to this resolution, except that it would be entirely abortive. There were no persons in this country interested in the cultivation of poppy, and unless the hon. gentleman got persons engaged in smuggling opium into the country to appear before the committee, he did not see from whom he was to get information. He did not think that those engaged in smuggling opium were likely to attend and give information to this committee. The gentleman referred to (Rev. Dr. Leckler) could merely give an opinion on the moral side of the opium traffic. It was generally believed that the use of opium was injurious, and he did not think that gentleman could give them any additional information on that point. There was nothing whatever in the law which prevented the cultivation of the poppy, therefore he did not see what advantage was to be gained from persons appearing before the committee and saying whether they thought the cultivation of opium would be proper or otherwise. The question narrowed itself down to one whether it was better to license opium or not; whether the law prohibiting the importation of opium should be repealed and licenses be granted. Speaking for himself and without reference to his colleagues, he was decidedly in favor of licensing opium. It would add considerably to the revenue and in his opinion would not increase the consumption one bit. Since he had the honor of holding the position of Minister of Foreign Affairs it had come to his knowledge that a very considerable illicit trade in opium was being carried on in vessels trading between British Columbia and Washington Territory and this country. The means at the disposal of the Government were not sufficient to prevent the importation of opium. The Collector of Customs had not a staff large enough to cope with the smuggling of the article. It might be possible to prevent it here in Honolulu, but in the outlying ports he believed it was impossible. He could not help thinking that good morals were more injuriously affected by the illegal traffic in opium than they would be by a licensed trade. He did not propose to offer any objection to the resolution, but in his idea it would be only, as Scotchmen say, "a chip in the porridge."

Rep. Thurston said they had heard the Minister of Foreign Affairs make his maiden speech and it was very disappointing. Being the editor of a public newspaper they should expect him to have given a straightforward argument, but instead he had treated them to a miserable quibble. It was no use to appoint a committee of enquiry, according to the Minister, because they could not get persons engaged in smuggling opium to appear. That was simply trifling with the meaning of the English word "interested." The Appropriation Bill, sometimes held to be the most important subject before the Legislature, did not affect the life of the nation as did the opium business. This resolution was only designed to get information on the question from persons who could give it. This was not the time to discuss the opium question, but it was the time for all persons to say whether they believed in licensing it or not. This was the time to look at the question fairly and squarely from every point of view. The Minister of Foreign Affairs had come into this house to treat this question in the same way as he did in his newspaper, worshipping the very dirt that Claus Spreckels walked on. If the Minister believed in licensing opium let him bring in his arguments, and let him not go on insinuating that other people were dishonest because they disagreed with him. That being for the purpose of gaining information, it seemed to him that it was not the time for quibbling such as the Minister of Foreign Affairs indulged in.

Rep. Brown was not in favor of opium licensing, nor in favor of the resolution. He thought it was a little premature because they had no opium bill before the house. He moved the resolution be laid on the table and taken up when the opium bill was brought in.

Minister Gibson would be glad to have information from persons affected by opium in any way. He had no objection to the resolution, only concurred with the Attorney-General that the time should be shorter. As the Minister of Foreign Affairs said, it was an evil that they all recognized. Would to God they could banish it from the land or confine it to the apothecary shops. He had seen the evil effect of it himself among servants and others. He was sorry to find the hon. member for Molokai disposed to correct the Minister of Foreign Affairs for a fault that he made himself. He appealed to the Minister to come to the matter directly without innuendo, yet dragged in the name of an honorable private gentleman and threw out insinuations against the Minister's motives. Why should he have dragged in any of those matters? The Minister did not refer to the many that he might have done, who were interested in the question whether the licensed sale would increase or reduce the consumption, such as housekeepers, planters, merchants, and so on. Rep. Castle said he made no stand on the point of time, and only wished they could see the day on which the house should be prorogued. The resolution did not put the report off two weeks, but said within that time, and he was willing to amend it to ten days. With regard to what the Minister of Foreign Affairs said, it was only necessary to say it showed that His Excellency had not been in the country long enough to know what had been done. He would have found on examining the records of the Legislature that when opium was licensed it spread rapidly among the natives, whereas confined to Chinese and to such natives and foreigners as acquired its use when it was licensed. He knew a good deal about the effects of license from police authorities and other sources, but he did not wish his say-so to be taken in the matter; hence the resolution for a committee of enquiry.

LOCAL & GENERAL NEWS.

INSTALLATION of officers of Harmony Lodge No. 3 I. O. O. F. this evening.

THE missionary packet morning Star is expected to sail for the South Sea Islands on Monday next.

Redwood and Clementina will trot a 3 in 3 race at harness at the Park, at 2.30 to-morrow afternoon, for $250.

THE commissioned officers of all the volunteer military companies have been invited to appear at the Palace to-morrow evening.

THE steamer W. G. Hall will, until further notice, sail on her regular days at 10 A. M. instead of at 3 P. M., calling at Lahaina en route.

THE schooner Ehuakai picked up a flat bottom sail boat off Pearl River yesterday. The skiff had its mast set, sail furled and was drifting towards the reef.

AN open piece of ground back of Fort street shooting gallery will be leveled off, and the game of quoits will be played there on certain afternoon's for a gold medal prize.

Mr. Frank Higgins' collection of pets at the shooting gallery consists of white-nice, parrots, guinea-pigs, a magpie, cock-a-too and a monkey.
Each pet has several special tricks to perform at Mr. Higgins' command, and a free exhibition is often given to a large crowd.

AUKUKULAN Herring, a half-white 16 years old, whose name our reporter was unable to procure on Saturday, is the young gentleman who produced those pictures in Out & Co's window. For one so young, and untaught at that, the production is more than creditable.

THE steamer C. R. Bishop returned to Honolulu yesterday with several hundred bags of paddy. She was hauled upon the Marine Railway this morning, to be examined thoroughly. A small piece of her shoe was torn off by the reef, but otherwise she is not damaged. She lost an anchor at Mokuiaia.

THE fire-bells sounded an alarm between 1 and 2 o'clock on Sunday morning, for a fire at the mouth of Pauoa Valley. The fire was in a house occupied by a native family.
The house was destroyed with its contents, the family barely escaping with their lives. The property was uninsured. The fire is supposed to have originated from the smoldering ends of fire-crackers, that had been left off by children in the evening.

THE 150 yards foot race for $50 a side came off on the road at Makiki recreation grounds, before the baseball match, on Saturday afternoon, in presence of a few dozen people.
The contestants were started without any difficulty, coming down the course about even for a third of the distance, after which Torbert gained on Widdifield and held his advantage easily, winning by from one to two yards. There was not the slightest murmur heard from the loser or his sympathizers, so that the race may be set down as a thoroughly fair one in every respect.

Mr. Geo. Markham, Port Surveyor, issued orders to the Custom House guard at the Rio de Janeiro, Saturday, to tax and obtain 25 cents from every Chinese resident here who was on the P. M. S. S. Co's wharf. His reason for such an order was that the Chinese going to and from the steamer were a great nuisance, on account of their numbers and their requiring constant watch. Mr. Markham, however, regrets his hasty action and apologized to Messrs.
Hackfeld & Co. this morning, saying that he would like to refund the money taken and that it would not occur again.

THE BASEBALL MATCH.

The match between the Honolulu and Benedict clubs on Saturday last was hardly so one-sided all through as the final result would show. A rather shambling play of the Honolulu team gave the Benedict six runs in the fourth inning, putting it beyond the reach of danger. Better fielding of the Honolulu men white-washed their opponents three times afterward. The small score of the former was due largely to the skillful pitching of Wall. An interesting fact in the Benedict's fourth inning, when it scored so heavily, was that no less than four took 1st base on balls. There was a good deal of accidental disability among the players, the two Winters being lamed in running, and Oat having a cranky arm that spoiled his fielding as short stop. The Honolulu team was Wodehouse c., Oat s. s., Whitney 2 b., Moore 3 b., Markham 1 b., Thurston r. f., Fisher c. f., Castle i. f., Parker p. The Benedict team was Chas. Wilder c., Judd 2 b., Kinney i. b., Booth 3 b., J. Winter c. f., Lishman s. s., Lyons r. f., W. Winter i. f., Wall p.
Honolulu's first run was made in the 2nd inning by Thurston; Wodehouse, Moore and Markham scored in the 3rd, and Whitney in the 9th.
Total 5.
Benedict scored 2 in the 2nd inning by J. Winter and Lishman, 1 in the 3rd by Kinney; 6 in the 4th by Chas. Wilder, Kinney, Lishman, Lyons, F. Winter and Wall; 2 in the 6th by Judd and Kinney, and 3 in the 7th by Wall, Chas. Wilder and Kinney. Total 14.

There was a pretty large audience present, which was very moderate in its demonstrations toward the players on either side. Next Saturday's match is looked forward to with much interest, being between the Hawaii and Benedict, both of which Blinds are flushed with recent successes and are in good training.

A DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.
The Hon. John Baring, of the great banking house of Baring Bros. of London, was a through passenger by the Mararoa to Sydney last Saturday. Mr. Baring brought letters to Col. Macfarlane from his English constituents, and the latter gentleman showed Mr. Baring every attention during his short sojourn in this city. The Pall, Hawaiian Band Concert, and a drive over the city and suburbs made up the sights shown the distinguished stranger. Mr. Baring was amazed at the information he received of this year's sugar export, and was much interested in taking away with him statistics of this country's trade with the United States.

ST. ALBAN'S COLLEGE.

A YEAR'S WORK CLOSED WITH A FINE EXHIBITION.

The closing public examination and exhibition of St. Alban's College for the past year took place on Friday. The attendance at the college is from forty to fifty. It is one of the cosmopolitan institutions of this cosmopolitan community. England, the United States, China, Portugal and Hawaii are all represented on the college roll. The teaching faculty consists of Mr. A.
T. Atkinson, Principal, Captain Mist, Miss Atkinson and C. Furnace (instructor in drawing), assistants. The examination of classes commenced at 9 o'clock a. m., and continued until 1 p. m. During this time, classes in Grammar, History, Orthography, French, Physical Geography, Latin, Composition, Arithmetic and Algebra were examined, the several classes acquitting themselves well. The advanced classes in French, Latin and History especially evinced a high degree of proficiency in these subjects. The tests in Orthography were taken by the classes writing series of words of very cranky spelling on the blackboards. Very few errors were scored, although to a considerable proportion of the young people, English is a foreign language. The Arithmetic and Algebra exercises were notably superior, not only in the matter of correctness but also in the rapidity and fine mechanical style in which they were performed.

After thirty minutes recess, the exhibition exercises commenced at 1:30 p. m. "On the Blue Wave" and "A Warrior Bold" were sung in a spirited manner. "Christians and Lions" was well recited by Percy Benson. Master Edward Boyd read in clear tones "The Shipwreck." Alice Afong gave a good recitation, entitled "Gertrude du Von Ward." Mollie Atkinson came forward with "The Dead Kitten," and brought down the house. The next number was "A Letter from Calais," by Julie Paty, written during the day, and descriptive of a picture on the wall. The audience was next treated to a dialogue in French, "Bourgeois Jentil-homme," by Misses Ethel Wodehouse, Ruth Benson and Lani Atkinson. Another impromptu composition was read by John Carter, laying down "The Road to School," the road being Niuanuan Avenue. Master Herman Widemann contributed an entertaining reading, "Mock Turtle Story."
"The Clown's Baby" was given with good effect by Miss May Atkinson. A vigorously sung chorus, "Sailing," came next. This was followed by "The Well of St.
Keyne," well recited by Miss Mamie Paty. Harry Mist read a clever original composition on "Three Dogs" suggested by a picture on the wall. Miss Alvina Widemann recited with fine, clear expression, "Sorrows on the Sea." From a wall picture of a girl holding a rabbit in her arms, Miss Carrie Afong elaborated a "Letter to Rhoda," in which correctness of expression and vividness of imagination were displayed. Two selections from the Mikado were sung in chorus. Master Bertie Mist recited in a spirited manner and with good elocution, "The Lord of the Isles." Annie Paty gave a comic recitation, "The Dead Doll" with all the solemnity befitting the occasion. "The Leak in the Dyke," was ably recited by Miss Belle Louissou. Eight young ladies of the Shakespeare Society, composed of students and ex-students who meet on Wednesday evenings to cultivate an acquaintance with the great English poet, gave the Merchant of Venice. The cast consisted of Misses Alvina Wide-mann, Belle Louissou, Ethel Wodehouse, Lani Atkinson, May Atkinson, Zoe Atkinson, Ruth Benson and Edith Mist. The play was performed in capital style. This and the French dialogue, mentioned above, were, in the order of merit the leading numbers of the programme. A lively chorus, "The Yachtsman" followed, after which was the grand event of the day, namely, the awarding of prizes. In History, Lani Atkinson, Herman Widemann and Rhoda Green won respectively, first, second and third prizes, the prizes consisting of volumes of "The Spectator." In Composition, the first prize, a volume of "Cowper" was awarded to Ruth Benson, and the second, a volume of "Miss Hemans," to Rhoda Green. The prize-winner in Arithmetic was Willie Savidge, who bore off in triumph, an elaborate work on Dogs. For those who passed "first" in two subjects, Master Antonio Perry who, besides, made the highest general average, 98, won "Longfellow;" Miss Julie Paty,

"Moore;" Miss Ethel Wodehouse,
"Seven Ages;" Percy Benson,
"Percy's Relics for Boys;" Mollie Atkinson, "Paul and Virginia." Gold gilt and other cards, showing the standing of students in their several branches of study were given. Honorable mention was also made of Robert Atkinson, who stood at the head of the classes in Miss Atkinson's room, and of Helen Along who scored the very high percentage, 99, in spelling. Six weeks holidays were announced, when the exercises were brought to a close by the boys with "three cheers for Mr. Atkinson" and "three more for Captain Mist," all of which were given with genuine juvenile enthusiasm.

the enormous capital sunk in the

We should Blot Out Disease in Its Early Stages.

The disease commences with a slight derangement of the stomach, but, if neglected, it in time involves the whole frame, embroiling the kidneys, liver, pancreas, and in fact the entire glandular system; and the afflicted drags out a miserable existence until death gives relief from suffering. The disease is often mistaken for other complaints; but if the reader will ask himself the following questions he will be able to determine whether he himself is one of the afflicted:—Have I distress, pain, or difficulty in breathing after eating? Is there a dull, heavy feeling, attended by drowsiness? Have the eyes a yellow tinge? Does a thick, sticky mucous gum about the gums and teeth in the mornings, accompanied by a disagreeable taste? Is the tongue coated? Is there pain in the sides and back? Is there a fullness about the right side as if the liver were enlarging? Is there vertigo or dizziness when rising suddenly from an horizontal position? Are the secretions from the kidneys highly coloured, with a deposit after standing?
Does food ferment soon after eating, accompanied by flatulence or belching of gas from the stomach? Is there frequent palpitation of the heart? These various symptoms may not be present at one time, but they torment the sufferer in turn as the dreadful disease progresses. If the case be one of long standing, there will be a dry, hacking cough, attended at times with hemorhemesis. In very advanced stages the skin assumes a dirty brownish appearance, and the hands and feet are covered by a cold sticky perspiration. As the liver and kidneys become more and more diseased, rheumatic pains appear, and the usual treatment proves entirely unavailing against the latter agonising disorder. The origin of this malady is indigestion or dyspepsia, and a small quantity of the proper medicine will remove the disease if taken in its incipency. It is most important that the disease should be promptly and properly treated in its first stages, when a little medicine will effect a cure, and even when it has obtained a strong hold the correct remedy should be persevered in until every vestige of the disease is eradicated, until the appetite has returned, and the digestive organs restored to a healthy condition. The surest and most effectual remedy for this distressing complaint is "Seigel's Curative Syrup," a vegetable preparation sold by chemists and medicine vendors throughout the world, and by the proprietors, A. J. White, Limited, London, E. C. This Syrup strikes at the very foundation of the disease, and drives it, root and branch, out of the system. Ask your chemist for Seigel's Curative Syrup.

"Sir,—It gives me great pleasure to be able to add my testimony in favour of your valuable Syrup as a curative agent.
I had suffered for some long time from a severe form of indigestion, and the resulting train of distressing symptoms following that disease. I had tried all possible means to get relief, by seeking the best medical advice. I had swallowed quantities of their stuff to float a mandrel, so to speak, but all to no avail.
A friend of mine, coming on the scene in the midst of my sufferings, brought with him a bottle of your Seigel Syrup; he advised me to try it, stating he felt confident it would benefit me. Being wearied of trying so many drugs, I condemned it before trial, thinking it could not possibly do me any good, but ultimately determined to take the Syrup.
After doing so for a short time it worked such a change in me that I continued taking it for nearly two months, and I then felt thoroughly cured, for I have discontinued its use for five weeks, and feel in the best of health, and can partake any kind of food with ease and comfort. I am therefore thankful to you that, through the instrumentality of your valuable medicine, I am restored to the state of health I now enjoy.—Yours truly,
W. S. FOSTER.

"Gentlemen,—It is with great pleasure that I add my testimony to the wonderful effects of Seigel's Syrup. For years I had been suffering from bilious attacks, which began with giddiness; then a mist would come before my eyes, so that I should not be able to recognise any one or anything at the distance of a yard or two from me. This would be followed by excessive trembling of my knees, so that I could not stand without support; after which a severe headache would occur, lasting often two or three days. I have tried various remedies for these distressing symptoms, but until I tried Seigel's Syrup I had no relief. Since then I have had excellent health in every respect, and if ever I feel a headache coming on, I take one dose of the Syrup, which arrests it.
I am therefore very much obliged to you for the means of inducing others (who suffer as I used) to try the Syrup, as I feel sure they will receive speedy benefit and ultimately be cured. I beg to remain, yours faithfully,
"A. H. HORTON."

Great Excitement in Wales about a Marvellous Cure.

Living Six Years Without

Going to Bed.

MR. EBBOT.—While spending a few days at the pleasant seaside town of Aberystwith, Cardiganshire, Wales, I heard related what seemed to me either a fabulous story or a marvellous cure.
The story was that a poor sufferer who had not been able to lie down in bed for six long years, given up to die by all the Doctors, had been speedily cured by some Patent Medicine. It was related with the most implicit confidence from the circumstance, as was said, that the Vicar of Llanrystyd was familiar with the facts, and could vouch for the truth of the report.

Having a little curiosity to know how such stories grow in travelling, I took the liberty while at the village of Lan-rystyd to call upon the Vicar, the Rev.
T. Evans, and to enquire about this wonderful cure. Through a total stranger to him, both he and his wife most graciously entertained me in a half hour's conversation, principally touching the case of Mr. Pugh, in which they seemed to take a deep and sympathetic interest, having been familiar with his sufferings, and now rejoiced in what seemed to them a most remarkable cure.

The Vicar remarked that he presumed his name had been connected with the report from his having mentioned the case to Mr. John Thomas, a client of Llanon. He said Mr. Pugh was formerly a resident of his parish, but was now living in the parish of Llandudno.

He strongly vouched Mr. Wm. Pugh's character as a respectable farmer and worthy of credit. I left the venerable Vicar with a livelier sense of the happy relation of a pastor and people, feeling that he was one who truly sympathised with all who are afflicted in mind, body, or estate.
On my return to Aberystwith, I was impressed with a desire to see Mr. Pugh, whose reputation stood so high. His farm is called Pwllmawr, signifying "above the dingle," situated near the summit of a smooth round hill, overlooking a beautiful valley in which is situated the lovely ivymantled Church of Llandudno. I found Mr. Pugh, apparently about 40 years old, of medium

THE WORD OF GOD VERSUS TRADITION.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—The Old and New Testament Scriptures are understood to be the revelation to man of God's requirements; and in them we are told that they came not "by the will of man; but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost." 2 Pet. 1:21; and that "all scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works." 2 Tim. 3:16, 17. We are also told that the Father is willing to give His Spirit to them that ask, and the Comforter is promised to lead disciples into all truth; and the Saviour, addressing the Father, says: "They will be sanctified through it, John 17:17-19. By virtue of implicit faith in these and other declarations and promises therein, devout men have, in all ages, maintained that the Bible, and the Bible alone, is the only sure rule of faith and practice; and that any teaching or example not in accord with the plain, obvious sense of the Scriptures, was to be rejected.

The ten commandments are a summary of all moral duty, the principles of which existed before the fall; and like all primary laws, belong to a state of innocence; therefore holy. After the Exodus, God spake, with His own lips, the ten commandments, in the audience of all the people; and, with His own finger, wrote them "in two tables of stone," thus showing their holy character, and durable nature. What may be said of this law, in these respects, as a whole, may as emphatically be said of any one of its precepts. David says: "Thy testimonies that thou hast commanded are righteous and very faithful," and, "I have known of old that thou hast founded them forever." "Thy righteousness is an everlasting righteousness, and thy law is the truth;" Ps. 119:138, 152. "My covenant will I not break nor alter the thing that is gone out of my lips." Ps. 89:34.

It follows therefore, that no power can change one jot or one tittle of this law, and that obedience to each of its precepts will ever be required, Matt. 5:17-20. So the Saviour always taught, and his example was in harmony with his teachings, for he said, "I have kept my Father's commandments and abide in his love," John 15:10. The disciples and the apostles, also, always taught the holy, and durable nature of these commandments; and that the love of love to God and man is willing obedience to every precept thereof. 1 John 5:3, and 4:20, 21.

The Creator rested the seventh day of creation week, and, "because that in it he had rested," "God blessed the seventh day and sanctified it," Gen. 2:2, 3. Thus the seventh day was made holy by the Creator, and man required to keep it holy. When the Lord spake his law, from Mount Sinai, these facts were set forth in the fourth precept. Throughout the entire Bible the seventh day is said to be "the Sabbath of the Lord," holy unto him, and its observance, as such, strictly enjoined. In Christ's and the Apostles' day this fact was not questioned; and, from the very nature of the law, the desecration of the seventh day would no more have been sanctioned by them, than theft or idolatry.

In view of the foregoing evident and manifest teachings of the whole Scriptures, what shall we say of the labored effort of the Rev. E. C. Ogden, at the Lyceum, to show that the sanctity of the seventh day, given to it at creation by the Creator, has, in some way, been transferred to the first day of the week; and that it is now a sin to do ordinary work on Sunday, and no sin to desecrate the seventh day?

"Sin is the transgression of the law," 1 John 3:4. And "where no law is, there is no transgression," Rom. 4:15. "For by the law is the knowledge of sin," ch. 3:20. It was the law of God that revealed to Paul the fact that he was a sinner, for he says: "I had not known lust, except the law had said, thou shalt not covet," ch. 7:7. Now could any man learn what day of the week it is sin to desecrate, except the law had said that "the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God;" and that "in it thou shalt not do any work." If so, he is wise above "what is written."

It did not appear from any evidence adduced by the Rev. gentleman that God, the Lord Jesus, or the Apostles, ever enacted a law enjoining the observance of Sunday in commemoration of any event, or in any way consecrated that day as holy unto the Lord; nor was there anything to show that God no longer requires the observance of the seventh day, as from the beginning. He endeavored to make it appear from Col. 2:16, 17, and similar texts, that the seventh day sabbath is now done away, by declaring that no other construction could be placed upon that text, only that Paul had in mind the abrogation of the old Jewish seventh day sabbath. Now that Paul did not have the seventh day sabbath in mind, when he wrote thus to his Colossian brethren, is evident from the text itself, for the sabbath days to which he alluded were "a shadow of things to come," which cannot be truthfully said of the Sabbath of God, instituted before the fall. It will be still more apparent that he had nothing of that nature in mind when the 23rd ch. of Leviticus is examined, where the annual sabbath to which he did allude are brought to view, for those days were to be "beside the Sabbaths of the Lord," verse 38. That which was abrogated, Paul says in verse 14 of this chapter, was "the handwriting of ordinances which was against us." "The Sabbath was made for man" (Mark 2:27), therefore can in no sense be said to be "against us." Albert Barnes, and many of the ripest scholars of this and past ages; held that Paul, in this text, had no reference to the seventh day sabbath. Paul says "the law is holy," and not made "void" through faith in Christ (Rom. 7:12 and 3:31; therefore he taught the observance of the seventh day sabbath, and it was his manner to worship on that day. See Acts 17:2 and 13:42, 44, and 16:13, and 18:4.

That there is a distinction (2 Kings 21:8) between the moral law and ritual requirements; and that each rest upon a different foundation, I think, is quite evident to every careful reader of the Bible; and in no part of the Scriptures is this distinction more manifest than in the writings of Paul. And if all who would be teachers of the world, would follow his injunction to Timothy and study to show themselves "approved unto God," workmen, "that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth" (2 Tim. 2:15), they would not fall into the egregious error of confounding any moral precept with "the commandments contained in ordinances." Eph. 2:15.

Failing to find any enactment for Sunday sanctity, great stress was laid upon the fact of the resurrection of Christ having taken place on the first day of the week, and a conclusion drawn, therefore, that sanctity attached to the day; but the conclusion by no means necessarily follows. In support of this conclusion he held that the Evangelists emphasized the importance of the day, which is untrue in fact. They, and the Apostles did, however, most emphatically emphasize the importance of Christ's resurrection, but not one of them ever wrote a word attaching any importance to the day upon which it occurred.

Having seen from the very nature of the law of God, and from the teachings and example of Jesus and his Apostles, both of which were in strict harmony with its durability, that no alteration could be sanctioned by them; and readily conceding that for ages the vast majority of the Christian world have observed Sunday, in the place of the Sabbath of the Lord; we ask, then, by what agency, or power has this substitution, or change, been wrought? That some influence has been at work, and brought about this change, is evident to all. Now can we, from the Scriptures, and from well authenticated facts of history, learn anything reliable, concerning this change? Let us see.

In 2 Thes. 2, we read of a man "who opposeth and exalteth himself above all that is called God, or that is worshipped; so that he as God sitteth in the temple of God showing himself that he is God." That, even then, "the mystery of iniquity" was already at work, but that it was restrained by some power which should, in time, be taken out of the way, and then should "that wicked be revealed," verses 3-8. In a vision given to Daniel of powers that should arise in the future, he was shown one under the symbol of a little horn having "eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking great things," Dan. 7:8. When Daniel would know the truth of all this (verse 16), the angel tells him that when this power came upon the stage of action it should "speak great words against the Most High, and shall wear out the saints of the Most High think to change times and laws," verse 25. In the Revelation, John is given a view of the same power, under the symbol of a beast, that "opened his mouth in blasphemy against God, to blaspheme his name . . . and power was given him over all kindreds, and tongues, and nations. And all that dwell upon the earth shall worship him, whose names are not written in the book of life." Rev. 13:5-8. (See also Ch. 17:3-6).

Now I ask, has there arisen, since John's time, a power that has, in its assumptions and work, met the specifications of these prophecies? And from the pages of history comes the undeniable answer, that there has. In this dispensation a power has come up claiming to exercise the prerogative of God on earth and in heaven—sole arbiter in religious matters. For ages it had power over every civilized nation on earth. The blood of over fifty million martyrs attest its having, literally, worn out the saints of the Most High—made itself "drunken from its catechism the second precept of the law of God, and substituting Sunday observance for the seventh day sabbath, just as emphatically attest to its having thought to change the "times and laws" of the Most High. Only by thinking to change the unalterable law of the Most High God, could this power be said to exalt itself above him; and in nothing could it more daringly "blaspheme his name," than by tampering with that precept which reveals to man the only true and living God, for the Sabbath is his sign. Ex. 31:13, 17.

Thus we see that these prophecies have met, in the assumptions and work of this power, every essential specification of these prophecies; and those who labor to show that this change, which we see, is sanctioned by God, though they may not be aware of it, are, nevertheless, aiding and abetting this evil agency in its work of exalting itself above all that is called God or that is worshipped; and to "blaspheme his name." The Scriptures have not, therefore, left us without "instruction" in regard to this subject; neither is the scroll of the past silent on the matter. And wise, indeed, will they be, who have an ear to hear.

The above is but a brief outline of this subject. But I trust that some points have been made sufficiently apparent to encourage the reader to emulate those noble Bereans, who "searched the scriptures daily" and "received the word with all readiness of mind." Acts 17:11. In conclusion, then, from the foregoing prophecies, and their manifest fulfillment, we see that Sunday sanctity rests wholly upon the traditions of men, and especially upon the traditions of the "man of sin." So whenever any old manuscript is brought forward in support of the change of the Sabbath, if it proves anything, it proves that the "mystery of iniquity" had so far developed, in the days of its author, as to begin the work of change indicated by the prophecy. And whenever the concessions of modern Jewish Rabbis, to the Sunday substitute, are set forth as "significant," it most certainly signifies, if anything (in the light of the above predictions), that the Jews, too, are being made drunken with the wine of "abominations and filthiness," from the "golden cup" in the hand of the "Mother of Harlots" (Rev. 17:3-4), and "all will soon be in a condition to "worship the beast;" and that the "law of the Lord" is no longer sweet in their mouth, nor as much to be desired as "much fine gold," Ps. 19:10.

Indeed the time is upon the world, of which Paul wrote (2 Tim. 4:3, 4), when men would "not endure sound doctrine;" but would "turn away their ears from the truth, and be turned unto fables." But when all this sin and woe is past, "then they were beheld for the witness of Jesus, and for the word of God, and which had not worshipped the beast," are seen, "and they lived and reigned with Christ," Rev. 20:4.

To close I would ask, is it Scripture or reason to conclude that the traditions of men, "making the word of God of none effect" now (Mark 7:5-13), are any more pleasing to our merciful Lord, than they were when he walked among men, a man of sorrow and acquainted with grief? And is it not just as true to-day, as it was then, that "we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places?" L. A. SCOTT.
