WHY THE Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States is the Best company with which to Assure.

I.—Because of its Safety. Its surplus is larger than that of any other assurance company.

II.—Because of its Promptness. Of 1,043 death claims paid in 1885, nearly one-half were paid the very day proofs were received; while of the remainder the majority were paid within the following three days. No other company can show such a record.

III.—Because of its Liberality and Reforms. All policies are INCONTESTABLE after three years. All incontestable policies are payable immediately upon receipt of proofs of death. The Society's policy contract is clear and simple, and liberal in its conditions. Its Non-forfeiting Tontine (or Semi-Tontine) policy affords all the ultimate benefits of the full Tontine, and has during its earlier years the surrender value and other material advantages of ordinary life policies.

IV.—Profit. No other company is paying on its policies, as large profits as are shown under the Equitable's matured Tontine policies with fifteen-year periods. Persons desiring assurance may obtain estimates of the probable results of similar policies, and of policies with twenty-year terms, which are expected to show even larger profits.

V.—Prospective Advantages. The unexampled progress of the Equitable in the past is the best guarantee of the increasing future value of assurance with the Equitable.

EUROPEAN AFFAIRS MIXED.

Affairs in Europe are again mixed; and, amidst the surprising moves on the political chess board, it is difficult to say what will be the result of the game. One thing, however, is quite evident, namely, that all the movements are at present being directed by Prince Bismarck; and that, instead of directing them so as to secure the maintenance of peace, he is laboring assiduously to precipitate a war. This he perceives inevitable, as Russia, in the present condition of feeling among her people, and especially her army, cannot be much longer restrained from aggressive action. But that which he is manoeuvring for is to save Germany the cost of taking part in the contest, and to throw upon Britain the responsibility and expense of preventing a Russian invasion of the Balkan Peninsula. He is pursuing now precisely the same policy as that adopted by him prior to the outbreak of the Russo-Turkish war. It was then significantly said by Midhat Pasha, the ablest Turkish Minister at that time, that "no one wanted war except Bismarck;" and, despite his professed desire for peace, the same remark applies to him at the present time. Bismarck, being fully convinced that a war between Germany and Russia is only a question of time, wishes to see the formidable antagonist of his country weakened meanwhile by an exhaustive contest with some other Great Power. And accordingly at the present moment he is doing his utmost to encourage Russia in a course of action which must bring her into conflict with Britain, and so render his work the more easy when the time of undertaking it has come. This is the real explanation of the opinion expressed in Bismarck's organ, the North German Gazette, "that peace will only be secured by allowing Russia to intervene in Bulgaria, and to advance upon Stamboul." No one knows better than Bismarck that, instead of preserving peace, the course he suggests and encourages Russia to take, would if adopted, be the signal for immediate hostilities. For the moment this advice is acted on Turkey and England would be obliged to resort to preventative measures. It is, too, in this crafty and selfish policy of Bismarck that the true secret of Prince Alexander's abdication of the Bulgarian throne is most probably to be found. Whatever complications and disruptions of existing alliances, followed by the formation of new ones, may spring out of the attitude which Germany has now assumed towards the Eastern question and the somewhat inexplicable abdication and departure from Bulgaria of Prince Alexander, this much may be accepted as certain: that these events, as set out in our cables, are not the pledges of peace but the forerunners of war.—[Auckland Weekly News.

Schreiber, Geo. W. Smith, W. F. Williams, G. W. Yarrick, L. A. La Peire, and G. Stratemeyer.

In addition to these were the following invited guests: Hon. A. F. Judd, Chief Justice and Chancellor of the Kingdom; J. T. Dare, Attorney-General; P. P. Kanoa, Minister of Finance; Hons. W. C. Parke and H. M. Whitney; Dr. Tucker, G. P. Castle, H. E. Avery, J. M. Oat, H. F. Hebbard, W. Unger, M. Gilbert, D. Logan, and W. Hill, the three last named representing the three daily papers—Advertiser, Herald, and BULLETIN.

Friendly and informal chat occupied about an hour very pleasantly, at the close of which the veterans of the war, with their friends the invited guests, seated themselves around a long table in the ante-room to partake of refreshment, preparatory to the attack of toasts and music that were to follow.

The crockeryware on the table was tinware—in plates and panicans. They looked bright and new, as if they had appeared in camp for the first time—no doubt cleaner and nicer to eat and drink out of than the old soldiers present had been accustomed to in camp at the time of the war. That kind of eating utensil was thoroughly appreciated by the BULLETIN representative, for although not an old soldier, he is an old gold-digger and backwoods explorer, and has been used to such vessels. Baked beans were abundant and delicious, but hard tack was wanting, so a foraging expedition was sent out, which soon returned with enough for the whole camp. There was no lack of coffee, and of excellent quality, too. Spirituous liquors and strong drinks of every description were kept out of camp, but of cool and refreshing beverages that do not inebriate there were more than enough. Everybody seemed to enjoy camp life and camp fare, and ate heartily.

After a good square meal, the entire company adjourned to the adjoining hall, and took up their positions in readiness for the flow of oratory which was to follow, and which was indicated in a neatly printed programme.

A detachment of the Royal Hawaiian Band was stationed at one corner of the hall, to furnish the indispensable patriotic music. This important department was under the management of Comrade Dickey, who attended enthusiastically to his duties.

Post-Commander R. W. Laine occupied the Presidential chair, and opened the proceedings with a brief address, in which he uttered words of cordial welcome to all present, and expressed the hope that the present Camp Fire would renew old associations and create new ones. This Post has been in existence four years, and is the only one outside of the United States. The Post were thankful to the King for having kindly permitted its establishment here. His Majesty was present at the previous annual celebration, and he (the speaker) regretted His Majesty's absence on this occasion. The King's kind act in giving the Post five guns to place in their burial lot in Nuuanu cemetery was remembered with gratitude. The G. A. R. organization was referred to as peculiar in its character, necessarily lessening its numbers as its members pass away, and ultimately disappearing altogether when the veterans of the war are no more; but a way of perpetuating its memory was pointed out in the formation of an organization of the sons of soldiers. Reference was also made to the formation of a "Ladies' Relief Corps," which the Post-Commander hoped would become an accomplished fact.

A list of "dry" toasts followed, the first being His Majesty the King, which was responded to by the Band playing the National Anthem.

"The President of the United States of America" was responded to by Comrade Geo. W. Merrill, United States Minister Resident, who said that he supposed the compliment to the President was intended for the country of which he was President—a country for which the veterans present had risked their lives! The President strongly sympathized with every organization and every movement that tended to unite the country. The preservation of the Union, "one and inseparable" was his wish and policy. Americans have a just right to be proud of two things—they have saved a country intact and proclaimed liberty to the world. These are two most important epochs in the world's history.

His Excellency J. T. Dare, Attorney-General, responded to the "American Army, Navy, and Volunteers." He would give special prominence to the Volunteers. At the call of duty they rushed down from the hills and valleys and gathered together from the plains. They heard but one cry—knew the Union was in danger—and took up arms for its preservation. They left their peaceful homes, and exposed themselves to dangers and hardships, for their country. Not that he had one word to say against the South. It was a matter of education. They had acted according to their convictions, and volunteered in their case as the North in theirs. Was this voluntary service for their country's grandest effort of these men's lives? No. The grandest of all was, that when the battle was over, they laid down their arms and went back to work. The American people are a great, a wonderful people, and in this their greatness is apparent, that having fought for a principle and triumphed, they quietly resumed their peaceful avocations.

The "Grand Army of the Republic" was replied to by Quarter-Master R. Jay Greene, who referred to the belief of the world that the American system of self-government had collapsed when the civil war came, and to the falsification of that belief by subsequent events. When the war had ceased, not a star was missing. When the struggle had ended there were 200,000 Union widows and 300,000 graves of soldiers, to say nothing of the wounded and maimed and injured; but the nation was preserved, and its government, too.

Comrade F. L. Clarke responded to "The Mothers, Wives, and Sweethearts of the Boys who saved the Nation." He thought they were deserving of great praise. The boys were surrounded with exciting circumstances to keep up their courage; but how about the girls that were left behind in desolation? It required greater courage and devotion to stay at home than to go. And yet the mothers, wives, and sweethearts cheerfully gave up their sons, husbands, and lovers for the Nation's cause. God bless them!

V. V. Ashford, Officer-of-the-Day, responded ably for "The Military Forces of Hawaii," and spoke approvingly of the organization of volunteer military companies, particularly in a country like this, made up of so many nationalities, and argued against the assumption that being a member of a company tended to demoralize young men.

Mr. H. E. Avery spoke in response to "The Blue and the Gray," and testified his admiration of their gallantry and bravery. The Blue and the Gray have made friends, and would stand together to oppose a foreign foe.

Chief Justice Judd spoke for the "Invited Guests," expressing pleasure at being present, and referring to his own feelings of enthusiasm at the time the war broke out and afterwards.

"For he's a Jolly Good Fellow," led by the Band, and followed by the company, terminated an extremely pleasant and harmonious gathering.

SUNDAY SCHOOL EXHIBITIONS. The quarterly exhibitions of the native Sunday schools associated with Kaunakapili and Kawaiahaoho Churches were held yesterday, in the respective church buildings.

KAUNAKAPILI. At Kaunakapili, where Mr. A. L. Smith presides, the attendance was good, and the schools showed creditable advancement. The singing was unusually good. The neat appearance and cheerful countenances of the children were noticeable and agreeable features. A collection was taken up to defray the expenses of printing a native Sunday school paper, which it is intended soon to publish. The amount required was procured, the people contributing freely and liberally, as is their custom in that church. Hon. J. W. Kalua addressed an entertaining and instructive speech to the children. The congregational singing was led by the Reformatory School brass band. Several foreigners were in the audience, and seemed much interested in the proceedings.

KAWAIAHAO. At Kawaiahaoho Church, there assembled Sabbath schools from Kakaakai, Maunakiekie, Manoa, Waikiki, Moiliili and Paoua. Bandmaster Berger played the organ, and a detachment of the Royal Hawaiian Band occupied the orchestra, and furnished the music. The singing was the main feature of the exhibition and it was executed by all the schools in a very creditable manner. To classify them, and criticise each school, would be invidious, but the singing of Kakaako school was particularly good, in fact, the best of all. The recitation of Golden Texts, in the English language, by a young man belonging to the Paoua school, was exceedingly well delivered and listened to with wrapt attention. The demeanor and cleanly appearance of all the school children, was a treat to behold, and as they gathered on the dais, they presented a happy and contented appearance.

The church was comfortably filled, there being a few foreigners present in addition to the native congregation. His Excellency P. P. Kanoa, Minister of Finance, and several members of the Legislature were also present. The Rev. H. H. Parker received strangers and saw them comfortably seated. Hon. W. R. Castle, Superintendent of Kawaiahaoho schools, conducted the whole proceedings. The exhibition passed off most successfully, parents, visitors, and the children themselves being equally pleased.

Official reports of a satisfactory character have been published respecting the Kimberly, Australia, district, where two thousand gold diggers are said to be at work.

A very destructive flood has occurred at Blenheim, New Zealand. Water was three or four feet deep in the center of the town. A heavy freshet, overflowing the Wairau River, was the cause.

New Zealand was visited with severe earthquake on the 10th inst.

LATEST FOREIGN NEWS.

The S. S. Wilmington arrived at an early hour this morning, bringing San Francisco dates to the 16th inst. The final heat for America's cup was gallantly won by the Mayflower. The Galatea was defeated on every point of sailing by the Mayflower. In the run to the outer mark, with spinnakers set, she was beaten 13m. 45s., and in windward work over half an hour. There is great rejoicing among yachtsmen here to-night, while the Bostonians are fairly wild with delight. It was announced to the Regatta Committee previous to the starting, that Lieutenant Henn was sick, and obliged to remain below. On this account he made a request that the course be shortened, which request was complied with. As the yachts neared the finish, the excitement became intense.

THE DEPARTURE OF S. S. ALAMEDA.

The Oceanic Company's steamship Alameda sailed on Saturday evening for San Francisco, carrying away a goodly number of passengers, amongst whom were several notables. The departure of Hon. H. A. P. Carter attracted many persons to the wharf, who seldom visit that part of the town. Mr. Carter was parted with by affectionate manifestations by a large circle of relatives and friends sufficient to cause his dreams on the peaceful Pacific to be of a most enchanting and romantic character. His Majesty the King, attended by Col. C. P. Iaukea, His Majesty's Chamberlain, boarded the vessel, and took a farewell of his representative at the United States capital. His Excellency John O. Dominis, Governor of Oahu and Maui, and His Excellency Robert J. Creighton, Minister of Foreign Affairs, were also present. A little after 6 o'clock, the gong was sounded and the company parted, the band playing meanwhile, lively and exhilarating selections of choice music.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pfleger, Rev. and Mrs. Lechler, Rev. T. G. R. Peck, and Mr. J. J. Aubertin were literally besieged with friends who desired to have the last word. The vessel glided off from the wharf, amid the strains of the Star Spangled Banner, Watch on the Rhine, God Save the Queen, finally winding up with the Hawaiian National Anthem.

The trip so far was made in excellent time and it will not be the fault of Captain Morse if on this occasion he does not lower the record.

MARRIED By the Rev. Geo. Wallace—Melville Leslie, of Kentucky, to Sallie K. Wood—second daughter of Judge John S. Wood, of Tucson, A. T. Mr. Powell, employed by the Union Feed Co., has the snakes, or rather one, about four feet long, found in some hay this morning. The reptile is a common grass species. When found it was coiled up, flat as a pancake, and dead as a door nail. Mr. Powell says he will present it to the Hawaiian Museum.

A gentleman interfered as also did a wife, and it resulted in a general melee, the female voice ringing forth in shrieks, and arousing the whole neighborhood. A foreign police officer appeared and quietness was restored immediately. There were no arrests, each leaving the scene of the affray with a promise to go home and never do it again.

A CARRIAGE ACCIDENT. Immediately after the Kawaiahaeo Church service was over yesterday, an old woman named Paalubi, a servant of H. R. H. Princes Liliuokalani, was attempting to cross the street at the corner of Punchbowl and King streets, when a brake driven by a man named Arthur, ran against her and knocked her down. The old lady was picked up and placed on the side-walk, and from thence carried to her home. From enquiries made this morning as she was comfortable as can be expected under the circumstances.

Living Six Years Without Going to Bed.

MR. EDITOR:—While spending a few days at the pleasant seaside town of Aberystwyth, Cardiganshire, Wales, I heard related what seemed to me either a fabulous story or a marvellous cure.

The story was that a poor sufferer who had not been able to lie down in bed for six long years, given up to die by all the Doctors, had been speedily cured by some Patent Medicine. It was related with the more implicit confidence from the circumstance, as was said, that the Vicar of Llanrystyd was familiar with the facts, and could vouch for the truth of the report.

Having a little curiosity to know how such stories grow in travelling, I took the liberty while at the village of Llanrystyd to call upon the Vicar, the Rev. T. Evans, and to enquire about this wonderful cure. Though I am not a medical man, both he and his wife most graciously entertained me in a half hour's conversation, principally touching the case of Mr. Pugh, in which they seemed to take a deep and sympathetic interest, having been familiar with his sufferings, and now rejoiced in what seemed to them a most remarkable cure.

The Vicar remarked that he presumed his name had been connected with the report from his having mentioned the case to Mr. John Thomas, a chemist of Llanon. He said Mr. Pugh was formerly a resident of his parish, but was now living in the parish of Llandudnoel.

He strongly vouched for Mr. Pugh's character as a respectable farmer and worthy of credit. I left the venerable Vicar with a lively sense of the happy relation of a pastor and people, feeling that he was one who truly sympathized with all who are afflicted in mind, body, or estate.

On my return to Aberystwyth, I was impressed with a desire to see Mr. Pugh, whose reputation stood so high. His farm is called Pant-y-Mor, situated "above the dingle," situated near the summit of a smooth round hill, overlooking a beautiful valley in which is situated the lovely rymantled Church of Llandudnoel. I found Mr. Pugh, apparently about 40 years old, of medium height, rather slight, with a pleasant and intelligent face. I told him I had heard of his great affliction and of his remarkable and almost miraculous relief, and that I had come to learn from his own lips, what there was of truth in the reports.

Mr. Pugh remarked that his neighbors had taken a kindly and sympathetic interest in his case for many years, but of their interest had been greatly awakened by a happy change in his condition. What you reports having heard abroad, said he, is substantially true, with one exception. I never understood that my case was ever given up as hopeless by any Physician. I have been treated by several Doctors hereabouts, as good as any in Wales, but unfortunately no prescription of theirs ever brought the desired relief.

Fifteen years ago, he said, I first became conscious of a sour and deranged stomach and loss of appetite, which the Doctors told me was Dyspepsia. What food I could hold in my stomach seemed to do me no good, and was often thrown up with painful retchings. This was followed after a time with a hoarseness and a raw soreness of the throat which the Doctors called bronchitis, and I was treated for that, but with little success. Then came shortness of breath and a sense of suffocation, especially nights, with clammy sweat, and I would have to get out of bed and sometimes open a door or window in winter weather to fill my lungs with the cold air.

About six years ago I became so bad that I could not sleep in bed, but had to take my unquiet rest and dreamy sleep sitting in an armchair. My attention seemed to be working downward into my bowels as well as upwards into my lungs and throat. In the violent coughing spasms which grew more frequent, my abdomen would lap and collapse, and at times it would seem that I should suffocate. All this time I was reduced in strength so that I could perform no hard labor and my spirits were consequently much depressed.

Early in this last spring I had a still more severe spasmodic attack, and my family and neighbors became alarmed, believing that certainly I would not survive, when a neighbor, who had some knowledge, or had heard of the medicine, sent to Aberystwyth by the driver of the Omnibus Post, some seven miles distant, and fetched a bottle of Mother Selig's Curative Syrup.

This medicine they administered to me according to the directions, and to their surprise and delight no less than my own, the spasm ceased. I became at ease, and my stomach was calmed. My bowels were moved as by a gentle cathartic, and I felt a sense of quiet comfort all through such as I had not before realized in many years. I could walk around the house and breathe comfortably in a few hours after I had taken the medicine. I have continued to take the medicine daily now for something over two months, and I can lie down and sleep sweetly at nights and have not since had a recurrence of those terrible spasms and sweatings. I have been so long broken down and reduced in my whole system that I have not tried to perform any very hard outdoor labor, deeming it best to be prudent lest by over-exertion I may do myself injury. My strength is fully restored. I feel that my stomach and bowels have been and are being thoroughly renovated and renewed by the medicine. In fact I feel like a new man.

I have been much congratulated by my neighbors, especially by the good Vicar of Llanrystyd, who with his sympathetic wife have come three miles to shed tears of joy on my recovery.

I bade Mr. Pugh good-bye, happy that even one at least among the masses had found a remedy for an aggravating disease.

Believing this remarkable case of Dyspeptic Asthma should be known to the public, I beg to submit the above facts as they are related to me.
