Your early acknowledgment of the receipt of my earlier letter of January 20, 1961, is highly commendable. Knowing you as I do, it is no surprise for it is only another demonstration of the promptness and directness characteristic of your natural energy and reaction.

Thank you for your invitation to forward copies of my letter. I appreciate the entry such a course would give me; and for that, I thank you. However, it was personal and I cannot make or allow it on a Party basis. I do appreciate not only the advantage to the endorsee but also the benefit that would inure to the endorser. But I must choose to rest it wholly upon a personal basis.
