BLUE JACKET IS DISPLEASED

The U. S. Fleet, Honolulu, T. H., May 27, 1904.
 Sir:—In the "Commercial Advertiser" of this date, (May 27th), appears an editorial under the title of "More Money for Honolulu", pertaining to the proposed payment of the crews of the vessels of the Pacific Squadron now in this port.
 Why should our pay-day be so promiscuously advertised? Are we not the sons of good parents, and all patriotic Americans, or, as the Advertiser would instigate, "Ihuhannas" for the sharpers and others to lay in wait for us "who go down in the sea," and take by force if not in more "legitimate" ways, what we are only too pleased to leave in your so delightful city?
 In all my experience in the U. S. Navy, and under the Flag for which my forefathers fought, has there been a more point-article "put in our teeth," but I, in behalf of the 1500 bluejackets and marines now in this port, resent the insinuations contained in the aforesaid article.
 (Signed) BILL BACKSTAY.

ALBANY FROM CAVITE

The United States cruiser Albany arrived from Cavite this morning and was docked at the Channel wharf at about 9:30 o'clock. The Albany left Cavite May 8 and proceeded to Guam, where she arrived May 14. She left Guam May 18 and came direct to Honolulu. Fine weather was experienced throughout the entire voyage.
 While the Albany was at Guam the U. S. Navy transport Supply arrived at that port. She will remain there to do duty as a station ship.
 Two days after leaving Guam the Albany sighted the U. S. Army transport Thomas. Wake Island was also sighted.
 The former commander of the Albany, Captain Dyer, was taken as a passenger on board the cruiser to Guam. He was appointed Governor of that island after the death of the late Commander Sewall. Captain Dyer was accompanied by Mrs. Dyer, two Misses Dyer and Miss McGonagle.
 The Albany was here last with Admiral Evans' fleet last year. Since then her itinerary has been as follows: Honolulu to Midway Island, to Guam,

HILO TELEGRAPHS FOR PAVILION MOOHEAU PARK

The Hilo Board of Trade sent the following wireless message to Admiral Beckley this morning:
 "Fourth of July Committee wants Mooheau Park pavilion ready for dedication and speech by Beckley July Fourth. Can it be had?"
 Admiral Beckley sent the following answer:
 "Message received. Wait till I get there."
 Admiral Beckley says that he does not believe in rushing things. It would be better, he said "to lay out the park and make the surroundings suitable for a prettily designed pavilion."
 On her first trip to Shanghai the Albany saw the Russian cruiser Mandjur there. She was dismantled. A Japanese war vessel was lying outside the harbor to prevent the Russian from venturing outside. On the second trip to Shanghai the Albany took back to Cavite a number of officers and men whose time had expired.
 Lieutenant Commander William R. Rush, who now commands the Albany, is well known in this city. He married Miss Hare of Honolulu.
 The officers of the Albany are as follows: Lieut. Comdr. W. R. Rush, commanding; Lieut. C. B. Morgan, executive officer; Lieut. W. S. Whittead, chief engineer; Lieut. E. C. Kalfuss, navigating officer; Lieut. R. W. Vincent; Ensigns J. W. Schoenfeld, W. Smith, F. McCannan; P. A. Surg. Chas. M. DeValin, Paymasters H. E. Biscoe, T. G. Hanneke; Boatswain M. J. J. Farley; Gunners A. Seabel, J. T. Swift; Carpenter L. S. Warford; War. Machs. T. Meyer, H. I. Lufkin, W. W. Booth, J. W. Murray.
 The Albany will take 500 tons of coal, while in this port. She expects to remain here about a week. The cruiser will go from here to Bremerton, where she will go out of commission to undergo extensive repairs.

Drive your horse to Schuman's and have a harness put on and fitted while you wait. They have harness of all kinds at lowest prices.
 Judge Robinson's trial jurors are required to be present in court at 10 o'clock tomorrow, Tuesday, morning.

COURT WRITER WANTS HIS PAY

Moves Federal Judge To Protect His Stenographer.

NO PROVISION MADE FOR TRANSCRIPT COSTS

STRANGE CONDITION OF AFFAIRS PUTS HARSHIP ON SHORT-HAND RECORDER J. D. AVERY.

An unusual motion has just been filed in the United States District Court. A stenographer, employed in the reporting of a case, asks that he be paid for the services which he has rendered. There seems to be no rule covering the matter and it rests with the court to protect the interest of its shorthand writer.
 J. D. Avery, in the matter of W. B. Dyer and others against the British bark Ivanhoe, in which the sailors were awarded damages against the vessel, moves the Federal Court that execution be awarded to him against libellee and intervenor and claimant, Geo. W. Grant, the master of the bark, for the sum of $153.60, being fees due him as reporter of the court, for services rendered in the case amount, less the sum of $73.93 paid on account.
 When Federal Judge Estee was alive it was the custom for both parties in a matter of this kind to deposit each day sufficient to cover the expenses of the stenographer. This was not done in the Ivanhoe case before Judge Dole.
 After the cause had been submitted in March last, Avery, upon request, handed in a portion of a transcript of the testimony for the Judge's perusal for decision. There had been no provision for the payment of the stenographer and he did not feel that he could afford to complete the transcript without remuneration. Defendants were anxious that the case be decided and were more or less inconvenienced by the delay occasioned by the incompleteness of the transcript. Inquiries were made and it was learned that the reporter was waiting for his money before finishing the work. He saw no prospect of ever obtaining his pay and naturally did not feel inclined to labor for the entertainment in it.
 The following letter, leading up to the unprecedented motion just filed, tells the story and reveals an odd condition of affairs:
 Office of the Reporter, United States District Court for the Territory of Hawaii, April 2, 1904.
 Hon. S. B. Dole, U. S. District Judge.
 Sir:—Your communication in regard to the Ivanhoe transcript of even date compels me, much against my wishes, and with the greatest respect to distinctly decline to furnish the evidence in the Ivanhoe admiralty case except and solely under the terms set forth in my communication thereon of yesterday (that fees be deposited).
 It has been the custom until your Honor assumed the bench for the Court to require counsel, at the re-

MEMORIAL DAY

—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

IN MEMORY of "our boys in blue", Of warriors bold and patriots true, We meet and speak today.

For us they left sweetheart or wife To meet the foe in deadly strife And perish in the fray.

With brightest flowers of sweet perfume Their grass-grown graves are overstrewn In token of our love.

Their deeds of valor we recite, And praise their sacrifice for right, That we in peace might live.

Remembering them, forget we not The liberty and union bought By shedding of their blood.

But let MEMORIAL DAY recall The precious price paid for it all, With heartfelt thanks to God.

All honor to those men who died, Be heard their praise on every side, To either ocean's shore.

Flower-strewn their graves, their memory green, Be kept for years, for years to be seen, By children yet unborn.

—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Honolulu bore the marks of holiday inactivity down town today. On the waterfront this morning the day was observed by all the vessels of the merchant marine showing their respect to the dead by a liberal display of bunting. From the railroad wharf to the Pacific Mail dock gaily colored flags fluttered in the wind. Several of the vessels were most elaborately decorated for the occasion. No work was done in the way of loading or discharging of the windjammers with the single exception of the American ship Edward Sewall, which was taking on board a load of sugar from the steamer W. G. Hall. The Wilder steamers are taking on board cargo.
 The many naval vessels which are in port, namely, the New York, Albany, Marblehead, Bennington and Concord, did not show any colors beyond the usual display. While this was somewhat of a surprise to many civilians the absence of decoration is according to the strict regulations of the U. S. Navy, which does not countenance on Memorial Day any display which might lend an air of festivity to the occasion. The Navy wishes its men to understand that this day is set aside in the memory of the country's dead heroes. It is a day of mourning and not a festival. The warships observed the day only by the firing of minute guns at noon.
 The day was generally observed in the Government offices and no courts were held. The banks were all closed and a great number of business houses and stores were either closed entirely or only kept open for a limited time. From the Government building, consulates and many business houses and private residences flags were displayed at half-mast.
 The plans for the Memorial Day exercises this afternoon have been prepared on a more elaborate scale than ever before attempted in Honolulu. The presence of the Naval fleet and the participation of the officers and men in the patriotic exercises of the day, will add greatly to the popular interest and the procession to Nuuanu Cemetery this afternoon will be a big one. The official program being carried out this afternoon is as follows:

 The parade forms at 2 o'clock at Beretania, right resting on Emma. The line of march will be up Emma to Vineyard to Nuuanu, to the cemetery. The order of the parade will be as follows:
 Police,
 Marshal and Aides,
 U. S. Artillery,
 Naval Brigade.

GLADYS WINS AROUND ISLAND CRUISE

The around-the-island cruise of the Hawaii Yacht Club ended at an early hour this morning with T. W. Holbrook's yacht Gladys the winner; the La Paloma second. The race from Haleiwa to the home stake, between the Gladys and the La Paloma is said by the yachtsmen to have been the best and prettiest race ever sailed in Hawaiian waters. The Gladys got to the windward of the bell buoy in the harbor this morning at 1:33 o'clock. About two minutes later the La Paloma was alongside. With the thirty-five minutes to the good, due the Gladys on her run from Honolulu to Haleiwa, she had about forty minutes the best of her feet rival.
 The squadron got away from Haleiwa yesterday afternoon at about 2 o'clock, the Spray leading by five minutes. The La Paloma and the Gladys got away almost together, followed by the Hawaii and Helene. The wind proved a true trade and all except Whitney of the Helene tacked for Kahuku Point.
 After leaving Kahuku Point the La Paloma led by a fourth of a mile through a long stretch of twenty miles. The Gladys under close haul wiped out this difference at Mo-Kapu. At Bird Island passage, the La Paloma had to make two tacks to negotiate the passage and the Gladys led away about a quarter of a mile ahead. From Mo-Kapu Point to Rabbit Island both boats sailed with free sheets but the La Paloma could not cut down the Gladys' getaway. Here a stretch of twelve miles was made in 1 hour 20 minutes.
 Around Koko Head the yachts squared away for home. At Diamond Head lighthouse the La Paloma was a quarter of a mile ahead when the wind lightened and the two yachts sailed almost close hauled. The Gladys improved under these conditions and reached the home stake ahead.

JUMPED FROM CAR AND LOST HIS LIFE

Last evening about 7 o'clock an elderly Hawaiian named Kellinui jumped off a west-bound King street car while passing the rice fields in Palama to recover his hat, which had blown off. The car was in motion at the time, and although the conductor endeavored to reach him in time, to prevent him from getting off before the car stopped he was unable to do so. In falling the Hawaiian's head struck the ground, rendering him unconscious. Dr. Waterhouse, who was on the car at the time, took charge of him and took him to the Queen's Hospital. Drs. Day and Wood were called in consultation and an examination of Kellinui's injuries revealed evidences of a fracture of the base of the skull and contusion of the brain. The injured man died early this morning. An inquest will be held.
 Lieutenant Cummins of the National Guard, visited aboard the Italian cruiser Liguria at 11 o'clock this morning, where they were received by Prince Luigi and his staff.
 A pleasant surprise awaited the Acting Governor at the boat landing, where he embarked in the Liguria's launch to go to the cruiser. The boat boys, headed by John Mahuka, the veteran harbor man, lined up and saluted as the executive approached. More than this, they had secured a large photograph of the famous old Kapoian boat crew, which used to race every man-of-war's oarsmen in the latter 80's and the early 90's, of which Ackinon was thecoxswain, and had placed it high on a post near the landing, decorating it with his. This original method of honoring the head of the Government was much appreciated. As the Governor and party left the Liguria the cruiser fired a salute of seventeen guns.

THE ATTACK AT NANSHAU.

Washington, May 29th, 1904.—(Received at 7 o'clock p. m.) To Mr. Saito, Honolulu.

General Oku's report is as follows: In the attack at Nanshan the fourth division formed the right wing, the third division the left wing, and the first division took the center. The enemy's force consisted of one division of field army and two batteries of field artillery besides fortress artillery and marines. The fourth division, taking advantage of the enemy's left wing weakened by bombardment from the fleet from Kinchow Bay, finally succeeded in carrying the enemy's position, and the other divisions immediately followed, whereupon the enemy retreated with much confusion, after burning magazines, toward Taang-shin. Our trophies were 68 guns and 10 machine guns, among many others. Our casualties were about 3,500. The enemy left over 500 corpses on the field.

DETAILS OF NANSHAU BATTLE.

Washington, May 28, 1904.—(Received at 5:07 p. m.) To Mr. Saito, Honolulu.

The following are further details of the attack of Kinchow:

Our force commenced the attack on the enemy at Nanshan at 3:35 in the morning. The enemy's defense works were of nearly a permanent nature and the enemy's artillery consisted of fifty guns of various calibres and two quick-firing field artillery companies. The enemy's infantry were ranged in two or three lines of covered trenches with loopholes, with machine guns set, at the important points, and offered stubborn resistance. We brought all our field guns into range upon the enemy's forts.

The enemy's principal artillery was silenced at 11 o'clock a. m., while the quickfiring previous retired to Nankwanling and kept up firing till night. Our artillery concentrated fire upon the enemy's trenches and our infantry advanced within 400 to 500 metres of the enemy, but encountered wire entanglements, mines and trenches, while an unabated fire was maintained by the enemy's infantry and machine guns.

We further approached within 200 metres of the enemy but several charges still proved unsuccessful, though officers and men fell at 20 or 30 metres from the enemy. Whereupon our artillery opened with preliminary firing. In the evening, with severest cannonading, a breach was made in the works, through which the last charge was made and we gained the whole heights, expelling the enemy and capturing all the guns in the forts.

The fortunate incident in this attack was the discovery of the wires connected with mines at the eastern foot of Nanshan, which we cut away prior to storming the hill.

Honolulu and Elks Beaten, 12-2 And 2-1, By Mailes and the Kams

The Kams and the Mailes were victors Saturday afternoon over the baseball teams of the Elks and Honolulu in two exciting and lively games, respective scores being recorded at 2 to 1 and 12 to 2.

The Elks and the Honolulu were full of errors; on the other hand the winning teams, particularly the Mailes, played swift, effective and well fielded ball, also doing a few stunts at the bat that were entertaining and the correct medicine.

Kams' pitcher, Richards, covered himself with glory, striking out seventeen men. Zamloch, the Elks' pitcher, did nobly, but was not well assisted.

In the last few innings the Mailes did wonders and worked the grand stand up to a pitch of enthusiasm that was intense. In both the seventh and ninth innings four Mailes men came home. Maile's pitcher, Hampton, proved himself an artist. The crowd enjoyed itself all through; it might have been larger; the games certainly deserved a greater gathering. Probably many who would otherwise have attended the ball games had stayed away to present themselves at the musical contest elsewhere.

Below is given the present standing of the teams and the record of Saturday's games by innings:

MEMORI-L DAY.

No more beautiful custom has grown out of the development of the American national character than the observance of Memorial Day, the one day of the year devoted to the men who have given their lives for the nation. Though the idea developed after the Civil War the sentiment is so thoroughly expressive of national thoughtfulness that it includes men of earlier and of later wars who gave the best they had to give that the American liberty might be protected from the attacks of enemies at home and abroad.

Memorial Day is one of the distinctive ways of the year that never wears out. The great army of men who fought in the Civil War is growing less every year but this day set apart for the fallen soldiers, the men who gave noble service to their country, attracts more general interest, more elaborate ceremonies, some graves there may be in less populous districts that are not decked with the flag and flowers telling the story of a friend's, a nation's, remembrance, but these are few indeed. Throughout the United States a united people are paying their tribute to the honored dead and even in foreign lands the American communities among memorials are being built.

While the deeds of these men are an inspiration to younger generations it teaches the sad story of war and must lead the hot bloods to contemplate the terrible price our country pays for the right to the abatement of arms, the brilliant lives sacrificed on the battle field, and cause more serious deliberation before taking to the sword for the settlement of any national difficulties. But if war must be, and it is hardly possible that the last battle has been fought, this day which we set aside as a constant reminder that our citizen soldiery is not forgotten. Our country does not send its men out as so many chattels, fighting machines, which once destroyed are of no more consequence in public thought. Each patriot receives individual consideration in honorably honored in a manner equalled by no other nation on earth. It is in keeping with the national spirit and right that this should be as it is.

Compare our soldiery with the Japanese fighting man, now engaged in what he considers a defensive war. The individual soldier's highest aim is to die for his emperor. He is a subject to do a master's bidding. The Russian follows the mandate of the Little White rather, with equal submission to an individual ruling power. He answers the command, meets his death, and is forgotten. The individual citizen is a luckless tool in the hands of a ruling dynasty which takes all and returns nothing.

The American gives up the plowshare for the sword only at the call of his fellow countrymen. The integrity of the nation and its ability to maintain the rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness is the inspiration of the American citizen who fills the fighting ranks when war's call is sounded. Ennobling civic individuality rather than an accident of royal birth is the keynote of the American life. The citizen is the source of authority. He commands and supports. The nation's cause is his cause. When he gives the utmost for his country, his associates in the maintenance of the national structure do not forget him. Americans are not vainglorious over their war records, they have no love of war for its martial glories. When they have called men from business and home besides to the battle front it has been for national protection, not national aggrandizement. And for this reason our soldiers and our sailors come close to the National heart. Flowers emblematic of undying memory are placed upon their graves in the name of the high principles they fought to establish.

"They fell devoted but undying;
"The very gale their names seemed sighing;
"The waters murmured of their name;
"The woods were peopled with their fame;
"The silent pillar, lone and grey,
"Claim'd kindly with their sacred clay;
"Their spirits wrapt the dusky mountain;
"Their memory sparkled o'er the fountain;
"The meaneast rill, the mightiest river,
"Rolled mingling with their fame forever."

quest of the reporter, and usually whether such request were made or not, to deposit each morning on the reporter's table the per diem for that day. A request was made of Your Honor that this be done in a previous case and Your Honor declined. Hence no request was made in this case, as being useless.

During the trial of the case, I requested both the proctors for the libellants and the intervenor to requisition my services and pay for the same. Both declined, which fact was reported by me to you during the progress of the trial and I then asked at the suggestion of the leading proctor for libellants for a ruling in open Court, which was declined by Your Honor.

Leading counsel for the libellants advised me that the libellants not only did not want to pay for the transcript, but that I should refuse to write it unless I was paid for it.

Associate counsel for the libellants said, in the presence of witnesses, in reply to my question as to who would pay me for the transcript, "I do not know and I do not care a —"

The trial proctor for the intervenor inquired of me what the transcript would cost, and on being informed that it would cost $120, not more, said he would see the intervenor and let me know. He has not done so. The intervenor says he did not have any conversation with his proctor on the subject and he also refused to pay for the transcript. This conversation was on the street and at the instigation of the intervenor who asked me when the Court was going to render a decision. As signifying further lack of intention on the part of intervenor to pay, he said that the U. S. Court had nothing to do with a British ship and that if there had been an English man of war here there would not have been any court proceedings; that the English consul was the only one with jurisdiction.

Other officers of the Court do and I have been repeatedly advised by the officers of your Court that I had the right to demand a deposit to cover the estimated cost of any transcript before I even started on it.

I cannot be compelled to write up transcripts of notes, for the taking of which I have not been paid.

Your Honor told me in the Holden case that you had nothing to do with my getting paid for my work. The result is I have not been paid yet, although judgment and decree was entered therein long ago and appeal has been withdrawn.

It is the duty and was formerly the practice of the Judge of this Court to protect his reporter, regarding whose duties, prerogatives and rights I have been able to find no law during the eighteen months I have been reporter in your court.

Compelling me to do professional work without compensation or assurance of compensation is in violation of the provisions of the Constitution which says that private property cannot be taken without due process of law.

I have a wife and family to support and can not pay my bills with statements that some attorney may pay me and may not. It is a duty I owe to myself and to my family and to my profession to resist to the end any unjust demands. J. D. AVERY.

HEARST WING WINS

The Democratic managers are well satisfied with the voting at the primaries and the list of delegates selected. This is especially true of the Hearst wing of the local Democracy, which came through triumphant. Prominent Parker men were, however, elected in the Eighth Precinct of the Fourth District. Chas. McCarthy, W. A. Kinney and C. W. Ashford, all said to be Parker men, were elected in this precinct. Curtis Iukaue was also elected and it is claimed that he controls the delegation for Hearst.

E. M. Watson was defeated in the Eighth of the Fifth because of his anti-Hearst convictions. F. J. Testa was downed because he wanted an unrestricted delegation.

The light vote at the Democratic primaries is attributed to the absence of contests in the precincts. In nearly all cases the nominations practically decided the issue. Primaries were held in all the precincts on this island except at Waialae, where the Democrats have not yet formed their organization.

Below is a list of the delegates elected:

JAPANESE KILLED, MURDERER UNKNOWN
Sheriff Andrew Cox of Waihua sent a telephone message to Honolulu this morning reporting that a Japanese had been murdered at Waihua last night. The murdered man, whose name was Sato, lived with two other Japanese at a room of the Kawailoa camp, a division of the Waihua plantation. He was not, however, a plantation laborer, but made his living as a fisherman. Deputy Sheriff Cox reports that he was notified of the murder at about midnight last night. He immediately proceeded to Kawailoa camp, where he found Sato lying behind one of the houses of the camp. He was unconscious. His head had been crushed by a terrible blow from a club. As far as Sheriff Cox could learn the murderer had taken place at about 7 or 8 o'clock in the evening. The deceased remained unconscious until this morning when he died. As a consequence no statement was obtained from him concerning the identity of his murderer. The two Japanese who were living with the deceased are suspected as being the ones who killed him. Both have disappeared. Deputy Sheriff Cox and a son of the murdered man are looking for them.

The occasion will be a very happy affair, celebrating at once the presence of the Italian prince, the United States naval officers and the return from the mainland of Hawaii's delegate to Washington, Prince Cupid.

Bernard will draw on his long repertoire of Hebrew parodies and stories while all the stars will give their best specialties; Blake and Maud Amber with song, Sutherland with dance and Hanson with acrobatics. It should be a memorable performance.

CARNIVAL OF SONG

The "Children's Contest and Carnival of Song" held at the Boys' Field on Liliha street last Saturday afternoon was in every way crowned with success. The performance of the choruses of the individual schools as well as the full chorus when all the children joined together in one full burst of harmony gave plentiful evidence of a careful training of excellent material.

The school children were seated in the grand stand, which had been artistically and richly decorated by Miss Rose Davidson and Mrs. A. P. Taylor. The colors of the various schools which participated in the contest were all represented in the decorative scene. The upper part of the stand was resplendent in gorgeous red. The middle portion shone forth in gleaming yellow, while over the front rail were hanging heavy clusters of canna, golden shower blossoms interlaced with green leaves and vines. Red and yellow bunting was wound around the posts interlaced with drooping garlands of ferns and sweet-smelling malle. The background was one immense mass of red and yellow.

In front of the grand stand was placed a raised platform from which Mrs. Tucker, the musical director, directed the chorus. This platform was draped with Hawaiian and American flags. On the field fronting the grandstand were seats on which the audience was accommodated. A number of people attended the event in carriages which were lined up at the edges of the field.

The schools which entered into the competition were the Kaahumani School, numbering 150 voices; the Kalanui School, with 150; the Royal School, with 75, and the Pohukaina School, with 75.

The school colors worn were as follows: Kaahumani, red and green; Kalanui, green and yellow; Pohukaina, red and yellow; Royal, red and yellow. The children wore leis and flowers in the colors which represented the schools to which they belonged. Each school carried a splendid banner in the school colors.

The choruses performed both individually and collectively. The individual performances were all excellent although the Kaahumani School chorus, with its 150 fine voices, carried off the laurels of the day by winning the prize. The committee on award was as follows: A. T. Atkinson, chairman; Miss Hopper, Miss Castle, Mrs. Annis Montague Turner, Prof. Berger, George Davies, Prof. Ingalls, Mr. Newcomb, Rev. John Osborne.

Towards the end the four schools joined into one magnificent chorus, rendering "Aloha Oe" and "The Star Spangled Banner" with a richness and volume such as has never been heard here before.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP BATTLE.

The battle between Decker and Modlin, the two undefeated lightweights, will be pulled off at the Orpheum theatre Wednesday evening, June 1st. Betting is exceedingly lively, as no odds are being given on either men. An outside bet of $100 aside was posted on Hotel street Saturday evening. Aside from the lightweight contest for the Islands, other good matches will be pulled off. A good man from Camp McKinley will meet an equally good man from the New York. Three other sets of evenly matched men will contest for honors. Stage seats, $2; orchestra, $1.50; dress circle, $1; gallery, 50c.

FISTIC CARNIVAL WEDNESDAY NIGHT

The fight at the Orpheum Wednesday night for the lightweight championship of the Islands promises to be an attraction equal to anything given the Honolulu public lately. Joe Decker and Modlin of Camp McKinley will test the championship in a ten-round go. They are both in fine condition and are game fighters. There will be nothing slow in the principal event.

The preliminaries will be good. The two Buffalo boys who gave an exhibition sparring match at the Chinese theatre Saturday night will appear again. Young Sharkey from the New York will fight Blouckstein, also from the New York. J. O'Brien of the New York and J. Ryan of Camp McKinley, will also fight. Besides these there will be other preliminaries of a new and interesting kind.

SAILOR WINS THE FIGHT

A sailor from the New York, the flagship of the fleet, "Slim" Robinson by name, whipped Frank Nichols at the Chinese theatre on Saturday evening, in the presence of a great crowd of townsmen and boys from the men-of-war in the harbor, after four rounds of quick, heavy smashing.

Nichols' seconds threw up the sponge, although Nichols vigorously protested that he wanted to go on with the fight. Nichols had been badly punished by the sledge-hammer blows of his antagonist, but he was still on his feet and there was a whole lot of fight in him. In the third and fourth rounds he managed to land with good force on the sailor's face and jaw and was mixing things up in great shape. His face was badly punished and he went to his knees time and time again; he was up quickly, however, on each occasion and ready to go for his big opponent. Nichols hit too high for success, aiming at the sailor's countenance when he might have done more effective work on the wind. The event was scheduled as a 10-round go. Robinson, whose features wear more of gentleness than a show of ring fighting, proved a surprise.

There were many interesting preliminaries. The lights went out for about fifteen minutes and Mike Patton, who was acting as referee, entertained the big house with comic songs, recitations and clever vocal imitations, being enthusiastically cheered for his pains.

OAHU WILL HAVE WIRELESS SYSTEM

Navy Department To Erect Stations Within A Year.

TELEGRAPH MAST IS BROUGHT BY SOLACE

LIEUT. SWEET EXPLAINS THE USES OF THE SYSTEM IN TIME OF PEACE AND ALSO IN WAR.

The U. S. transport Solace, which arrived from San Francisco is of especial interest to Honolulu this trip as she brings here the first parts of a wireless station outfit which will be installed here later. The Solace herself has been equipped with a wireless telegraph outfit since she called here last. She has now on board as a passenger Lieutenant Sweet, who is on his way to the Orient, where he will install wireless plants on the warships of the Asiatic fleet.

The Solace when she left San Francisco kept in communication with the wireless station ashore until she was quite a distance out at sea. Lieut. Sweet was well pleased with the way in which the Solace's outfit proved its efficiency. When the Solace was nearing the Islands Friday she tried to pick up the local wireless stations but without success. This, however, was not due to any fault of the wireless systems but was altogether due to the fact that those on board the Solace were not acquainted with the location of the local stations. The Solace Friday night tried in vain to pick up a conversation with Molokai light and Diamond Head but as both these stations were discontinued some time since she naturally did not achieve any success.

Saturday morning at 4:50, when the Solace was about thirty-five miles from port the operators of the wireless outfit on board the cruiser New York picked up the Solace and communication between the two warships was at once established. The first message sent was: "Good morning." Then the Solace sent the following message: "Solace. Six and a half days from San Francisco. All well on board. Mail for Honolulu." The messages were sent and received promptly and without the slightest difficulty. Communication between the two vessels was kept up until the Solace docked.

Lieutenant Sweet, the wireless system expert on board the Solace when seen by a Bulletin reporter this morning, readily gave all the desired information regarding his plans for the installing of the system here and at other places. "I will only remain in Honolulu a few days," said Lieut. Sweet. "As I am going on with the Solace to Guam and the Philippines. While I am here I will look over the place for the purpose of locating a site for the station. From Honolulu I will go to Guam, where I will look over the ground for the purpose of locating a site for a station in the same way as I do here. From Guam I go to the Philippines, where I will install stations at Cavite and at Caba Island. I will then proceed to install the system on the vessels of the Asiatic fleet.

"The system installed on board the Solace is working in a very satisfactory manner. It is of the Seebey-Areo type. When we left San Francisco we kept up communication with the station at the navy yard until we were eighty miles out at sea. Last night we tried to get into communication with the wireless stations at Molokai Point and at Diamond Head but we were not successful. We kept steaming slowly along during the night and kept on operating the system. While we did not get into communication with the local stations I hear this morning that the operators of the system on board the cruiser New York heard us talking. They were, however, not sending strong enough to be able to pick up a conversation with us. We must have been about 75 miles distant when the New York heard us. The New York picked us up when we were about 35 miles distant this morning and we kept up a continuous conversation until we reached port.

"The wireless system is becoming quite an important factor in modern naval warfare. Its uses are being well demonstrated in the war between Japan and Russia. The warships of both countries are equipped with wireless systems which are giving excellent results. It seems, however, that the Japanese are having the upper hand in this business. They seem to be doing especially good work in the way of picking up the enemy's messages and are deriving much important information in this manner. It is, however, hard to say just what is going on in the war in this direction as in other things as all the reports we get have probably been pretty thoroughly censored before they reach us.

"The American navy is adopting the wireless system to a great extent. All the ships on the Atlantic coast have been fitted out with instruments and there are twelve stations along that coast. There is also an apparatus at Annapolis by means of which the cadets are learning to use the system. The wireless system is of great use in time of peace as well as in warfare as it saves a great deal of signaling, and makes communication easy in spite of distance. The systems installed on the American naval vessels have a power to send and receive messages at a distance of from 90 to 100 miles. While it would be comparatively easy to install instruments able to signal 325 or even 350 miles it is not thought as economical to use the power required to maintain a signal service which is only required occasionally."

Rains Refresh Molokai Crops

Kalae, Molokai, May 27.—In spite of the downpour of a few weeks ago, we have been rejoiced to see and feel the showers of the last two weeks—the strong winds, followed by hot bright days had made us thirsty for these refreshings, warm still days alternating the copious rainfall.

On three days last week the gauge at Kualapu registered 1.17 (1.17 for three successive days, not each day); the week before, .64, this week we have some more. Honolulu need not starve while the grass grows on Molokai, and 350 sheep can be shipped in one week—250 on Tuesday, 100 on Friday or Saturday as best suits Madame Likellike.

Miss Hartwell and her brother are enjoying the mountain air at this season.

Mrs. Wm. Mutch intends returning to Honolulu this week.

On Wednesday evening, the neighbors met at the Old Homestead, Kalae, and spent a few pleasant hours entertained by a quartet of stringed instruments, accompanied by the voices of several of the party in the pretty Hawaiian songs. Next came a performance on the phonograph while some of the guests played a quiet game. Refreshments finished the program, after which we started for home by the light of the moon, at 12 o'clock.

Hilo Preparing To Celebrate

Hilo, May 27.—A goodly number of citizens met in Fireman's Hall last Saturday night to discuss a proper celebration of Fourth of July. C. E. Wright was chosen chairman of the meeting and considerable discussion was brought forth as to the character of the celebration to be held this year. Owing to the depleted condition of the 4th of July fund left over from last year, it was decided not to have an elaborate program as heretofore. The consensus of opinion, however, was in favor of sports and races, and possibly appropriate literary exercises in the morning at one of the churches or elsewhere. Chairman Wright was authorized to appoint a General Committee on Arrangements of five, which he has done, consisting of E. N. Holmes, J. C. Ridgway, R. T. Guard, Dr. J. J. Grace, and E. E. Richards.

HILLO'S BASEBALL LEAGUE.

Hilo, May 27.—The several managers and captains of the baseball teams in the vicinity of Hilo met together last Tuesday night and perfected the organization of a league. The various nines represented were Beamer's Specials, Hilo Railroad, Walakea Social Club, Ponohawai, Union Specials, and Onomet. A constitution and by-laws were adopted and the following officers elected: Donald S. Bowman, president; K. Kuhlberg, vice president; W. H. Johnson, secretary, and Wm. Downer, treasurer. A board of managers, consisting of W. H. Johnson, J. J. Dower and M. I. Keenan was appointed, which will arrange all schedules of games and settle all disputes between opposing teams. It is proposed to enlarge the scope of the league by extending to Olaa, Puna and Hamakua and play a series of games between the members of the association for the championship of the district. The Union Specials and the Hilo Railroad boys will cross bats on next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Brughell Park.

DROVE HEEDLESSLY.

Chong Kai, a Chinese hackdriver, had F. West arrested Saturday on a charge of heedless driving. Chong Kai says that yesterday he was driving his hack along the Waikiki road, being on the right side, when West came along in a buggy, his horse running at a gallop. West made no attempt to swerve past Chong Kai's hack, although there was plenty of room, but drove right into it. The collision was so violent that Chong Kai and a Chinese with his wife and children, who were passengers in the hack, were thrown out on the road. West appeared before Judge Lindsay this morning. His case was continued until next Tuesday.

A vacation without a kodak is a vacation wasted. Grown-ups and every boy and girl ought to have one. Kodakery is more fascinating than ever now—no darkroom needed in any part of the work. Honolulu Photo-Supply Co. have everything in the kodak line.
