On Treaties.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—

The Star takes the Holomua to task for intimating that a rupture between President Cleveland and the Provisional Government of Hawaii might lead to the abrogation of the Reciprocity treaty. The editor of the Star, in a shower of that superlative "Billingsgate" in which he is locally unrivaled, replies that the President "has no power to make or abrogate treaties, without the advice, consent and co-operation of the Senate." This is no reply to the postulate of the Holomua, nor to the actual facts of the case. The treaty is in the nature of a partnership which expires by effluxion of time, and one year's notice from either government at the present time could terminate it. In the event of a rupture between the two governments, such as that which Hawaii seems to be hankering after, there would be an abrupt termination of the treaty the moment diplomatic relations were severed, especially as the American Administration is well aware which section of this community would suffer most by the change. The President has the power to notify Hawaii that in one year the treaty will end. He would simply inform both Houses of Congress of the fact, and there the matter would end, unless the Star could wield a bigger Congressional pull than is at present in sight.

One might suppose from the remarks of the Star that the President and Senate possess the sole control over treaties. This is the view expressed by the P. G. organs from the moment that the annexation idea took shape, and the "commissioners" rushed off in haste to Washington as the proud owners of a kingdom. Let us see the legal ground on which they stood. The Constitution of the United States confided the treaty-making power to two branches of the ordinary legislature; the President originating and the Senate having a negative. To what subjects this power extends has not been defined in detail by the Constitution, and American authorities on constitutional law are not entirely agreed as to the extent to which the House of Representatives can be ignored. It is contended by some authorities that by the general power to make treaties the Constitution must have intended to comprehend only those subjects which were usually regulated by treaty a century ago. The reciprocity treaty of commerce is of recent birth and, involving, as it so largely does, a change of fiscal policy with possibilities of a deficit in the budget, it would be absurd to suppose that any treaty, such as that which Secretary Foster prepared and President Harrison sent to the Senate, could be "railroaded" as the apparently guileless Claudine commissioners appeared to believe. But did they in reality hope and work for annexation? Or were they on a junketing trip to gain time, and be thereby enabled to weave a web of complications for the people, while they devoted the contents of the treasury to their own use in personal pocketings, purchase of arms, and hire of mercenaries for the future oligarchy?

Nothing can be more plain and explicit on the question of whether the House of Representatives had the right to a veto on that treaty, containing as it did clauses appropriating a large sum of money, than the rules of the House. Rule 76 of the House of Representatives was framed to meet such cases. It says: "The committee on appropriations shall not include appropriations for carrying into effect treaties made by the United States, and when an appropriation bill shall be referred to them for their consideration which contains appropriations for carrying a treaty into effect, and for other objects, they shall propose such amendments as shall prevent appropriations for carrying a treaty into effect being included in the same bill with appropriations for other objects." Another rule provides that an item in an appropriation bill for carrying out a treaty, which has been committed by the House, will be in order and cannot be challenged by committee of the whole.

Here is an express proviso against mixing up expenditure on treaties, which are not yet law, with other expenditure; while a treaty "committed by the House" may have the necessary provision for carrying it out included in the appropriation bill.

Where Congress is in doubt and in want of a precedent, the practice of the British Parliament is generally followed. In England a treaty is a legislative act and must go before both Houses of Parliament where it touches the law of the land. All appropriations of money must originate in the House of Commons, and may be rejected but cannot be altered by the Lords. Therefore if British precedent was to influence the novel proposals of President Harrison's treaty for the annexation of Hawaii, the items of expenditure, and consequently the whole scheme, would have fallen through for want of ratification by the House of Representatives, which alone controls the appropriation of money.

An act of Parliament was necessary to validate the American treaty of 1783 and in turn it was dealt with by both Houses of Congress.

Annexation of the piratical and filibustering variety is doomed to wait for the season that shall produce complete unanimity between President, House and Senate.

Pledged to neither Sect nor Party,

But Established for the Benefit of All.

SATURDAY, MARCH 17, 1894.

It suits the Star to say that barbarous practices in one State of the Union are no more a criterion of the status of Christian civilization in that nation than is kahunaism in Kahoolawe of the standard attained in the same sort of civilization in all the Hawaiian Islands. Yet it is just the isolated survivals of barbarism in this group which have been taken by Stevens, Bishop and others as ground for slandering the character of the Hawaiian people as a whole, as well as discrediting the social, moral and civil conditions existing under the monarchy. They may all be challenged nevertheless to indicate a community anywhere in the Union which is more orderly and respectful of the majesty of the law than were the Hawaiian people under the monarchy.

It may be mentioned that the letter, "On Treaties," in this issue was written before the news arrived of the threatened abrogation of the reciprocity treaty. That news must make the Provisional Government and its supporters realize the folly of their malignant and hostile attitude toward the Government of the United States. It is a stunning surprise to them although it had been generally discussed in opposition circles as one of the most natural things that could happen. The P. G. people thought it quite a clever and masterly policy to appeal over the head of the present administration to one they hoped would succeed it. What could more easily have been foreseen than the possibility that the Washington administration should respond by saying in effect: "Gentlemen, we admire your independent spirit. Now, just let us see how well you can live up to your independence, by running along a few years without any special favors from this country."

COMMUNISTIC SETTLEMENTS.

The Australian colonies are facing the problem of how to deal with the unemployed. In New South Wales labor settlements are being formed by the government setting aside sections of land upon which village communes are being established, and where necessary aided by money grants from the government. The promised results, after six months' trial on the pioneer settlement, is encouraging. In Queensland the Legislature has just passed a co-operative communities bill, the first part of which provides for settlement on the land by communities in co-operation, who can frame their own rules subject to the approval of the minister, and may have set apart for their benefit an area of land either at a fixed price or at no price at all. When they have worked out their own salvation, and when all their obligations have been met, they become entitled to divide the land among themselves. In the meantime, however, the property is vested in the minister. If the group should fail in its obligations to the treasury, or if it should break up through internal dissensions, or should dissolve in some other way, then the land reverts to the government. Provision is also made that, where groups prefer it, the land can be taken up on perpetual lease. The Act also enables the government to make advances to the extent of $100 for each member of the group, and to pay four dollars a week for the support of the wife and family of a member until he shall be ready to support them himself. Such advances are a charge on the property of the group. Several groups have already selected land and started settlements. The act minimises state interference, so that the members may do as they desire about the products of their labor, share and share alike, or retain what each makes for himself, or adopt any other system they please. Provision is made against ruinous litigation. It is evident that Henry George made a deeper impression on Australia than he did on his own country.

CENTRALIZED REGISTRATION.

Our heaven-born statesmen who have been vaunted as the peers of the best in any country, by ex-Minister Stevens and his confederates from here in the United States, do not show up to the play bills in their legislative efforts. Their work on the Constitutional Convention bill would indicate that they are ready to embrace any untried theory on sight. The provision for a single registration board sitting in one central office was swallowed at a gulp on the strength of a memorial from a party committee which was characterized by a facile perversion of facts. Those who sign the document know better than some of the assertions they subscribe, and the only explanation of their stultification is that the plan was decreed by the bosses and the committee were only appointed as expert automatons to register the decree and write specious arguments all round it for props. Neither they nor the oligarchic legislators can offer an example from anywhere of such a centralizing of the work of registering voters. Purporting to provide against fraudulent registries, it is particularly well adapted to facilitate fraud. Being a job in itself, as to one of its prime objects, to provide for a few needy "heelers," it is only to be expected that it will be prolific of jobs, the aggregate of which will be a stuffed electoral roll in the interest of the so-called "radicals." An instance of the factitious reasoning of the committee in favor of a centralized registration is the following: "Thirty men (three for each of the ten voting precincts), taken from their ordinary daily avocations, meeting together a few times for a few hours, once in a year or two, most of them with no special fitness or natural aptitude for such work, and many with but scant experience in it, do not and, in the nature of things, never can produce satisfactory results. This is not mere theory, but rather a well-established fact." As, if we remember correctly, all three gentlemen who put their signs-manual to this denunciation of inspectors of election in times past, they are welcome to their own share of the unpleasant imputation, but others who have acted in the same capacity will, if they have ordinary self-respect, resent being called fools and blockheads. As a matter of fact, the inspectors of election in Honolulu have been the cream of the young business element. Many of them have had much experience in the conduct of social organizations. They are to be found in every jury panel, where their training in the weighing of evidence, in the acquiring of knowledge of human nature and in the scrutiny of fraud is of peculiar value to fit them for inspectors of election or anything else within the range of general intelligence and business acumen. Above all the system of district registration gives the charge of registration of voters to residents in the particular district, who are likely to know most if not all of those who come up to be enrolled. Under the new system of a central bureau three men are expected to perform more effective scrutiny of all the would-be voters of ten polling districts than three men have hitherto done for a single polling district. It is hard to preserve sufficient patience for criticising such a provision as this, the product as it is of either lunacy or knavery.

The Liberties of Hawaii

Are still trampled on in the name of Liberty. The climax of iniquity and tyranny has been reached in the pretence of taking a vote of the people, who are only to be permitted to vote in the chains and fetters of a cast-iron oath. The United States has by the voice of its Representatives in Congress acknowledged that a great wrong was perpetrated by the U. S. Minister on January 17, 1893, by the overthrow of the Queen and Constitution by the U. S. forces. The Hawaiian nation, therefore, continues to wait with calmness and patience for the redress of their wrongs, and the restoration of their political rights, believing it to be impossible that the American People will allow the pages of their annals to be sullied with the record of a crime which has no parallel in ancient or modern history.—Honolulu Diocesan Magazine.

President Dole's Reply.

It is safe to say that nobody outside newspaper offices, and very few inside them, will read the portentous document which is given out as President Dole's reply to Minister Willis, and which is variously described as overwhelming, scorching, irrefutable, and the like. This does excellently for headlines, but the man who, for his sins, is forced to read the letter itself will discover, in the first place, that it was not written by Dole at all, but by the more valiant and less discreet Thurston, that it is largely based upon irresponsible newspaper chatter, and that nearly every specification contains a positive disclaimer of any intention of "charging you or your government" with what was, in fact, most distinctly charged in the letter of December 27. President Dole penned that heroic epistle for use in this country, and, after refusing for more than two weeks to make good his assertions of fact, turned the job over to Thurston, who now practically avows that the whole thing was only a bit of political humbug, and hopes that nobody's feelings will be hurt.—New York Post.

Saturday, March 17, 1894.

While the news received by the "Alameda" may not be favorable to the sugar planters and consequently to every resident of the Hawaiian Islands it is not of a character that should cause serious alarm. After calm consideration it is difficult to find wherein the sugar planter will be worse off after the treaty is discontinued than he has been since the McKinley Bill became a law. When the duty was taken off sugar in the United States the price of that article dropped out of sight and our planters received a blow by being placed on the same level as those in other foreign countries; the putting on of a duty and the abrogation of the treaty with Hawaii does not alter their position in any respect provided the price of sugar advances to the extent of the duty.

It is probable that the cost of producing sugar in Cuba does not differ materially from that of this country, and there is no way that it can be reduced. It is reasonable to believe that if the price of an article is reduced by abolishing a tariff, the opposite must be the result if one is imposed.

For months the people here have understood that the duty would be imposed and the bounty discontinued. Some people considered the probabilities of the discontinuance of the treaty, but a majority of them did not, they looked only at the "duty on" and contemplated the profits with the treaty still in force. To those people the news by the Alameda had the most depressing effect.

The question will be asked, "If it is in the power of the trust to advance the price of sugar, after the duty is imposed, why has it not done so since the passage of the McKinley bill?" There are several answers to the question but one, perhaps, will suffice. The trust, while not posing as a benevolent institution, may be considered an American one, and will naturally protect American industries when its purse is not touched. Germany comes next to the United States in its sugar production, and its planters are subsidized as are those of the United States; the low price of sugar made it undesirable for foreign producers to compete. If one Congress saw fit not to protect its planters through the tariff, the trust, which must be considered an interested party, did so by manipulating prices. Under the Wilson bill with the Senate changes the American planter is protected to a certain extent, but the benefits he will derive will not be equal to those under the McKinley bounty clause. If the trust kept the price down to benefit the American producer, the increase of a cent a pound on the foreign product will place him in the same position as under the McKinley law. If the present low price is maintained the Louisiana planter suffers, because he is out two cents a pound bounty and he gets no more for his product.

But the tariff laws of the United States will have no effect upon an article like the Jones Fence. Its quality will be maintained and every consumer will be as well satisfied as Mr. Monsarrat, who says:

KAPAPALA RANCH,
KAU, HAWAII.

MR. E. R. HENDRY, Manager Hawaiian Hardware Co., Honolulu.

Dear Sir:

I have just completed some three miles of the "Jones Lock Fence" and must say that I am very much pleased with it, in fact it is the fence for a ranch. I had about a mile to construct over "pahoehoe," where it was nearly impossible to get a post down and found, in this case especially, the Jones Fence was a great saving of labor. There are places in this fence where the posts are at least 75 feet apart, the space between filled in with stays. There is no sag to it and it is as springy as a wire mattress. I am confident that it will turn ordinary stock.

I have some two and a half miles more to construct over a [illegible] cattle are very plentiful, and as soon as it has undergone the test there will write you further. If it will turn the stock on this part of the land and I am confident it will, you can rest assured that it will turn most anything except a lava flow.

Very truly yours,
J. MONSARRAT.

National Cane Shredder

PATENTED UNDER THE LAWS OF THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.

THE UNDERSIGNED HAVE BEEN APPOINTED SOLE AGENTS FOR these SHREDDERS and are now prepared to receive orders.

The great advantages to be derived from the use of the NATIONAL CANE SHREDDER are thoroughly established and acknowledged by Planters generally.

The large number of Planters using them in the United States, Cuba, Argentine Republic, Peru, Australia and elsewhere, bear witness to the above claim.

The use of the SHREDDER very largely augments the quantity of cane the mill can grind (25 to 50%), also the extraction of juice (5 to 12%).

It is a great safeguard, making known at once the presence of any pieces of iron, stakes from cars, or anything which would be liable to damage the mill, and allowing ample time to remove same before damaging the mill.

The SHREDDER is very strongly made, and from the manner of its operation it cuts or tears these pieces of wood or iron without often breaking the SHREDDER; and if anything breaks, it is simply some of the knives or cutters, which can be quickly and economically replaced. The SHREDDER, as its name indicates, tears the cane into shreds of varying lengths, perfectly opening it and allowing the mill to thoroughly press out the juices without requiring the immense extra power necessary to grind or crush the whole cane. The SHREDDER spreads the shredded cane uniformly and evenly to the mill rolls, and does away with the necessity of spreading the bagasse by hand between the mills where regrinding is in use. No greater amount of boiler capacity is required to operate the SHREDDER than that which was sufficient for the mill, for the above reasons. We furnish full working drawings for the installation of our SHREDDERS, enabling any competent engineer to successfully install and start them.

In ordering SHREDDERS from us, please send small sketch, showing the diameter and width of the mill rolls with which SHREDDER is to be connected, also the side (either right or left hand as you face the delivery side of the mill), upon which the mill engine is located, also the height from floor line to center of front mill roll shaft, and distance center this shaft to front end of bed plate. These SHREDDERS are now being used by the Hilo Sugar Co. and Hawi Mill, Kohala, where they are giving great satisfaction.

Prices and further particulars may be had by applying to Judiciary Building Evacuated.

The Judiciary building presented a rather deserted appearance this afternoon. The usual guards at the four entrances to the yard were not on duty, only the sentry boxes standing. On entering the building the soldiers' quarters in the Legislative hall were found bare, only an empty bottle or two, the odor of stale codfish and sauerkraut, and a few ragged boots and hats remaining. Captain Ziegler was superintending the carting away of bedding to the Executive building. Inquiry elicited the information that the company had removed to the Executive building, where it will in the future be domiciled.

Palama's Burial.

The funeral of Samson Palama took place from the residence, Liliha street, yesterday afternoon. The services and interment were at Kawaiahao church, the deceased having been a member there. Rev. H. H. Parker officiated. Thos. G. Thrum, Registrar of Conveyances, speaks in high terms of Palama. He discharged his duties while clerk in the office faithfully and well, and his sudden and untimely death is a sad blow and great loss to the clerical staff of that bureau. Messrs. M. Nakuina, Isaac Ihihi and Geo. Rosa represented the Registry at the funeral.

ON BOARD THE ADAMS.

Delightful Farewell Reception to Captain Nelson.

In response to invitations from the officers of the U. S. S. Adams, to join them in tendering a farewell to their gallant commander, Captain Nelson, Honolulu society crowded that ship last night. Admiral Irwin, Captain Barker and officers of the U. S. flagship Philadelphia, Captain Rooke and officers of H. B. M. S. Champion, Ministers King and Smith of the Provisional Government, U. S. Minister Willis and Consul-General Mills, Senhor Canavarro, Portuguese Charge d'Affaires, Mons. Vizzavona, acting French Commissioner, and many other prominent people were among the guests.

The vessel was decorated with flags of all nations, ferns, flowers and ingenious arrangements of arms. A palisade of swords with burnished brass hilts uppermost on three sides of the double companion way was very effective in appearance. On the poop deck there was a smoking room constructed of canvas, where cards and cigars were provided for "old coves" who didn't dance. There was not a better appreciated corner in the ship. Music of a fine quality was furnished by the Hawaiian Quintet Club, the members frequently singing as well as playing to the dancers.

There was a sumptuous supper of delicious viands served in the officers' messroom on the lower deck, and a superior wine punch was available on the side all evening. The Admiral was one of the gayest of the gay, dancing without the slightest sign of fatigue to the very last.

As the guests retired—the latest not till after midnight—they cordially wished Captain Nelson health and happiness in his future career. The popular commander is about to be relieved, and the ship is also going away. She will depart for the Behring Sea on April 16, after a stay lacking but ten days of one year. Captain Nelson, officers and crew will all be pleasantly remembered.

WAIKIKI HUNTING GROUND.

Three Strangers Arrested with Firearms in Hand.

Captain Parker was strolling down Nuuanu street shortly before 10 o'clock this morning when, at the corner of King street, he noticed three strangers standing each one with a rifle in his hand. The captain asked them what they were doing with the guns and whether they had a permit from the Government to carry firearms. They asked Parker what that had to do with him. The captain displayed his star, when the men became very polite indeed. They said they were going out to Waikiki to shoot goats and wild pigs. As they had no permit an officer was called and the men were taken to the Deputy Marshal's office. There were two Winchester rifles and one Remington, and one of the men had a belt of cartridges. One rifle was found to be Government property. The one who had possession of it explained that it was loaned to him by Charles Lind. On examination by Deputy Marshal Brown the sojournment of the men was found to be as follows: One had been in the country two months, another one month and the third about a week. They were released and told to get a permit to carry firearms from the Government. The rifles were retained.

GILSEY'S BIRTHDAY.

It is Celebrated in True Virginia Style.

Noel Gilsey gave an entertaining birthday party at Kalia yesterday evening, to which a large number of friends were invited. Gilsey's colored friends were placed on one side and other nationalities on the opposite. After enjoying a bounteous repast, the floor was cleared and the "breakdown" was in order. Music was furnished by one of the invited guests and the colored gents and wenches gave the dance in a lively style, and not before they were very tired indeed was the "breakdown" abandoned. Those who attended vote it a very enjoyable affair and wish Noel Gilsey many returns of the day.

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. H. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm. "I can't help it now," he says, "I am now almost free from all pain." He now recommends it to persons similarly afflicted. It is for sale by all dealers. "Perhaps you would not think so, but a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Cyrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold. New York is one of the healthiest places on the Atlantic Coast and yet there are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Dr. Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will relieve the lungs, aid expectoration, open the secretions and soon effect a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers. We cannot tell how that poor boy suffered in all those years. Physicians did not effect a cure. At last I decided to give him Hood's Sarsaparilla, as my druggist recommended it. In about two weeks the Sarsaparilla began to have effect. The sores commenced to heal up; the flesh began to look more natural and healthy. Then the scales came off and all over his body new and healthy flesh and skin formed. When he had taken two bottles he was entirely free from sores, having only the scars to show where they had been. These have all disappeared. We are unable to express our thanks for the good

The Prize Awarded!

Anheuser-Busch Brewing Co. Wins the Prize at the World's Fair with their "EAGLE" Brand Beer.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 28, 1893.

MESSRS. MACFARLANE & Co., L'd.,
Honolulu, H. I.

Dear Sirs:—We have mailed you a copy of the Globe-Democrat announcing the great victory won by the ANHEUSER-BUSCH ASSOCIATION with their "EAGLE" Brand of Beer.

[Signed]
ANHEUSER-BUSCH BREWING ASSOCIATION.

(Special Despatch to Globe-Democrat.)

WORLD'S FAIR, CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 26.—No award has ever been made so gratifying to St. Louis people and so justly merited as the one given to-day by the Columbian jury of the World's Fair, consisting of connoisseurs and chemists of the highest rank, to the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association. By methods of unrivalled business enterprise, and by using the best material produced in America and Europe, excluding corn and other adulterants or surrogates, the different kinds of the Anheuser-Busch beer have become the favorites with the American people, and have now conquered the highest award in every particular, which had to be considered by the Columbian jury. The high character of the award given to-day by the jurors will be better understood when it is known that the different beers exhibited by the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association had to compete with hundreds of the most excellent displays of other brewers. The fact that no other concern has received so many points for the various essential qualities of good beer confirms anew the firm's reputation as the leader of all American beers, and Mr. Adolphus Busch can feel proud over this result so justly merited.

☞ The above is a Fac-simile of the Label of the "EAGLE" Brand which took the Prize.

☞ In ordering this Beer be sure to ask for the "EAGLE" Brand.

Theosophy.

[COMMUNICATED.]

The class in Theosophy, that meets every Wednesday evening in the Foster Block, seems to be a decided success, judging by the interest evinced by the students, whose number on the roll increases each week. The class is conducted on the lines of the avowed objects of the Theosophical Society, the studies being therefore divided into three sections—the first, on Theosophy in general and the Universal Brotherhood of man; the second, on the occult literatures, sciences and religions—the text book for the present being Mr. W. Q. Judge's "Ocean of Theosophy,"—and the third, relating to the investigation of unexplained laws of nature and the psychical powers at present latent in man. The two first are demonstrated by Mr. A. Marques, while Mr. G. W. Smith has kindly undertaken the last.

The subject before the class, last Wednesday, was Chapter III. of the "Ocean of Theosophy," on the theories of the doctrine in respect to this earth, which is an offspring from the dead moon, and which is an entity composed of seven principles or globes, in "coadunition but not in consubstantiality." Mr. Marques elucidated the point by some very interesting chemical experiments, which made the otherwise rather abstruse idea easier to grasp. The present humanity called the 5th Root-Race, is living on the fourth globe of the earthly series, and in the fourth round. All planets and stars visible to the human eye are similarly fourth plane globes of their own series, the others, just as the companion globes of our earth, being invisible and unponderable to our present senses. When, through the natural course of evolution, which is always striving toward higher perfection, our humanity will have reached the stage of passing on unto our 5th plane globe, then we shall see in the skies all the 5th plane stars and planets, while the remaining 4th plane ones will have in their turn become invisible to the senses possessed by man at that period. Humanity comes from other spheres, in rushes called "life-waves," and when the evolution of this earth shall have attained its apex, the earth itself will die out, after "informing," or giving birth to another and more perfect planet to take its place. The present humanity, with the two sexes separated, has existed since over eighteen millions of years, and will go on for several millions more, passing two more sub-races and then two more root-races, each of those subdivided into their seven sub-races, to finish the present fourth round, which shall be followed by three more rounds, before the end of this sublunary world is reached. Talking about deluges and other cataclysms, Mr. Marques said that they happened periodically, and that more particularly our present fifth root-race, which is already over one million years old, shall be subjected in all to sixty-four cataclysms, past and future, fifty-six being by fire, seven by water and one by cyclones. Mr. Marques gave many interesting explanations, as well as diagrams on the blackboard, while dilating more especially on some passages of the text; the lesson then passed on to the constitution of man and its division into seven principles, which will be continued next week.

Mr. Smith read a very interesting paper on occult forces, connecting the spiritualistic phenomena, thought-transference and mesmerism, with the will-power existing in every man, and the possibilities of which are as yet absolutely unrealized by the mass of humanity.

After voting thanks to the two lecturers, and also to Mrs. T. R. Foster, who has very generously started the Theosophical Library, and who tenders the free use of the hall for the class, the meeting unanimously decided that a monthly due of fifty cents would be collected from all members, for defraying the running expenses of janitor and lights and sending for additions to the library, which now includes over 100 volumes. It was also remarked that if any more ladies or gentlemen in this city were desirous of joining the class, it would be well for them to do so at once, before the class gets more advanced in the studies, and to the effect of giving more facilities to would-be students, the roll of the class shall be kept open for another short period. Several persons are known who will avail themselves of the opportunity.

The Hawaiian Report.

The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations made a report on the Hawaiian muddle last Monday. There is a majority and a minority report. The former was reached by the united vote of the Republicans, with one Democrat, Morgan of Alabama, who has lately been classed as a Populist. The minority report is signed by the Democratic members of the committee with the exception noted. Then there are two other reports, a report signed by the Republicans alone which exonerates Stevens from a conspiracy to overturn the crown; and, finally, a supplementary report signed by Senators Turpie and Butler in favor of annexation of the islands. All of the reports are in good temper and indulge in no abuse or vituperation. In the majority report the President is mildly censured and annexation is indirectly favored by Morgan and the Republican members of the committee. When the four reports come before the Senate there is expected to be quite a discussion. How the matter will be finally settled is only a matter of conjecture, but the chances are that Stevens will be censured and the policy of the President sustained.—Cincinnati Southwest.
