Ten Cent. Beef Stands Cattlemen Adjourn New Meat Directorate

Beef matters were settled for the present this afternoon when the meeting of the cattlemen adjourned.
Beef remains at ten cents per pound, unless the newly elected Board of Directors of the Metropolitan Meat Company has reason to ordain otherwise.
That ranchers might have better representation on the Board of Directors of the Meat Company, Cecil Brown and Paul Isenberg handed in their resignations. W. G. Irwin having previously resigned, and the newly elected directorate is as follows: Robert Shingle, Senator McCandless, A. W. Carter, F. M. Swanzy, Samuel Damon, Fred. Wundenberg and G. J. Walter.

Corner of Fort and Merchant streets this morning was black with cattlemen, attending several alleged and one or two genuine meetings in the Judd building, attempting to decide how the reduction in the price of beef, because of a great surplus of the article on the hoof, could be accomplished without any money out of their pockets.
There were men from all the islands and, judging from appearances, there was more of the inner machinations of business on the curb than there was in the meeting hall. Graziers gathered in little groups and every now and then some beef-grower would make a dash up the street or around the corner to grab some other perambulating steak syndicate and hold whispered conversation with him alone. Several vain attempts were made to have a meeting, but it was not until 12 o'clock noon, according to the breeders themselves, some of them, that an actual meeting was held, and this after it had been practically decided to put off the meeting until 2 o'clock this afternoon. Prior to the noon hour half-meetings were held in the Judd building. During all this time various factions and interests were pulling their own little strings.

Directors of the Metropolitan Meat Company held a meeting this morning at which nothing was concluded and the special arbitration committee of the Breeders' Association was flying around trying to plant harmony, having no success with the directors of the Meat Company, so it was said.
All members of the Association maintained the strictest secrecy and more than one member fled with a hunted look on his countenance at the approach of a reporter.
As a goodly number of the gentlemen interested in the business are anxious to get away to their other-island homes, something must be brought to a head before long.
The knocking off of a cent on the price of beef is calling for the concerted efforts of a score of live-stock politicians, and the elevator man in the Judd building is beginning to think his busy time has come.
Three sessions of the Breeders' Association were held yesterday, not to mention executive committee sessions prior. Last evening one or two men interested in cattle raising endeavored to act as arbitrators between the grazers and the Metropolitan Meat Company, but no conclusion was arrived at yesterday.

Said a beef grower this forenoon: "The graziers are trying to put the Metropolitan Meat Company out of the retail business. The idea is for the Meat Company to drop the retail trade and confine itself to the wholesale business, letting the small fry handle the retail trade. The argument is by no means mild and there is much doing."
In the rooms of the Planters' Association, in the Judd building, this morning, about 9:30 o'clock, numerous members of the Live Stock Breeders' Association gathered to continue the "star chamber" proceedings commenced yesterday when it was voted that the press be excluded and that the doors be had behind closed doors. Not so many members were on hand today, a number being occupied, perhaps, in getting off San Francisco mail by the boat leaving this afternoon. Yesterday evening the committee of five, appointed in the morning by the Association to confer with the directors of the Metropolitan Meat Company, failed to accomplish anything.

Seattle, Tacoma and Portland are following up the endeavors of San Francisco to move Congress in favor of Honolulu's desired improvements.
Secretary J. G. Spencer of the Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of letters from the Chambers of Commerce of the cities named, assuring the local Chamber of their support in the petition for harbor deepening here.
The joint petition of the Honolulu Merchants' Association and the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce, which was forwarded to Washington, was brought to the attention of the business men of Seattle and Tacoma, Washington, and Portland, Oregon. Replies to urgings that this petition be backed by the Coast business interests are to the effect that every effort will be made to help Honolulu along in this matter.

MEAT CO. MAY GO OUT OF RETAIL BUSINESS

Within the next two or three weeks there will be a meeting of the shareholders of the Metropolitan Meat Company to consider the proposition of the corporation going out of the retail business and confining itself to the wholesale trade. On the same day there will be a meeting of the Live Stock Breeders' Association, at which time the executive committee of the Association will report to the Association the result of its investigations and deliberations on the question of reducing the price of beef.
It is the aim of the graziers to reduce the price of beef to the public, insure to the shareholders of the Metropolitan Meat Company their dividends and to see that the rancher gets a fair price for his cattle. Numerous plans are proposed to realize this ideal and many ways are being considered.
The first move, as exclusively reported in today's 2:30 o'clock edition of the Bulletin, has been to give the ranchers greater representation on the Board of Directors of the Meat Company. Beef, for the present, remains at ten cents per pound.

FERNANDEZ CHOSEN TO WORK ON COUNTY SYSTEM

Governor Carter has appointed N. Fernandez to succeed Fred. Beckley as a member of the County Act Commission, Beckley having resigned toward the end of the Commission's life, having attended very few of the meetings.
Fernandez' commission was made out this afternoon. He will at once assume the duties of his new position and will be present at the meeting of the County Act Commissioners in the Hall of Representatives in the Capitol at 7:45 o'clock this evening, when the beginning of the end of the drafting of a County Act to be presented to the Legislature will occur.
Mr. Fernandez was this morning asked as to his views relative to a county system of government but stated that he would prefer to ascertain what work had been accomplished by the Commissioners before he ventured to express himself in the matter.
The new County Act Commissioner is an active worker in the cause of the Republican party; he and Senator John Lane have worked much together, Fernandez having always backed Lane.
Fernandez is well liked by all who know him and is an energetic and faithful supporter of progressive American ideas.
At tonight's meeting of the Commissioners it is not unlikely that Mr. Fernandez will listen to the plans already formed by the older Commissioners and add his suggestions to these results.

PUNCHBOWL HILL SAYS GENERAL MOORE SHOULD BE A FORT

"Honolulu must depend for the most part, if not entirely, upon the navy for its defence."
Thus spoke General Moore, the commander of this department of the army at the Hawaiian Hotel this afternoon. He was hurrying to get away to his steamer, which was scheduled to sail at 3 o'clock, but took time to express the view that no matter what scheme of land fortifications were adopted Honolulu would have to be protected by the navy.
"Contrary to some opinions," said General Moore, "I believe that Punchbowl hill should be fortified. The guns could not, of course, be mounted upon the front or town side of the hill; but it would be an easy matter to plant batteries on the mauka side in such a position that they could easily sweep sea to a great distance. This is the only fortification that I can conceive of that would be any protection to Honolulu at all."
"Diamond Head is too far away to be of value. There is a clean sweep of about five miles between Diamond Head and the offing of Honolulu, which would permit of vessels taking such positions outside as would enable them to shell the city and still be out of range of the Diamond Head guns. Guns on Punchbowl, on the other hand, could be depended upon to reach the sea to a good distance on every side of Honolulu and would certainly prove of infinitely more value in event of an encounter with a hostile fleet."
"But," added the General, "the defence of the city of Honolulu will be up to the navy. It will be necessary for the ships to meet a hostile fleet far outside. In case our vessels are beaten their only salvation would be some such refuge as it is proposed to make of Pearl Harbor, which the combined guns of fleet and forts might be able to hold their own. So far as I can see the army scheme should be about like this:

"Batteries on Diamond Head and at Waikiki, but purely as secondary equipment. Heavy guns on the rear or mountain side of Punchbowl. Batteries at Kalia, both on this and the other side of Kahauiki reservation. Strong fortresses at and around Pearl Harbor. Some scheme of strongly fortifying the mountains back of the Leleha reservation so as to protect the camp there from attack from the east side of the island.
"This plan would be as effective as any that could be devised, unless, indeed, there was an enormous outlay of money, and the Government was not especially extravagant the last time I heard from it."
General Moore will submit his report at once to Washington and expects that it will be taken up at once by the War Department. He says that a considerable start on Oahu defenses will certainly be made this year even if the more elaborate plans recommended by himself are not actually taken up. General Moore will retire from active service this year, he having reached the age limit.

WEEKLY CROP BULLETIN

Weekly Crop Bulletin 2log
For the Week Ending January 14, 1905.
Honolulu, T. H., Jan. 16, 1905.
GENERAL SUMMARY.
Abnormally low temperatures have continued in all sections during the week, and have effectually checked the growth of cane and pineapples and the ripening of coffee. In North Kohala, Hawaii, frost has occurred in certain elevated sections where frost has been unknown heretofore, and has caused considerable damage to garden truck.
The rainfall has been abundant in the windward districts of the northern and central islands of the group, but has been decidedly below the normal in portions of windward Hawaii. Dry weather has prevailed in nearly all leeward sections. Pastures are in good condition in northern Hawaii, Maui, and northern Kauai, but are falling off elsewhere. Drought conditions are becoming serious in the Kuu district of Hawaii, while the situation in Kona has been somewhat relieved by timely showers.
High winds have caused material damage to growing cane in the windward districts of Hawaii and Kauai, and to some extent have interfered with the transportation by steamer of raw sugar to Honolulu.
The grinding of cane continues in all sections, but lack of water has retarded the work where fluming is practiced. Seeding rice plants are in good condition and will soon be ready for transplanting.
The supply of vegetables and seasonable fruits in the local markets is beginning to show the effect of the cold weather.

Section Director, Climate and Crop Service.

A NEW LIQUOR LAW

A New Liquor Law
The retail liquor dealers of Honolulu, to the number of twenty-six, held a meeting in Waverly Hall this morning and approved a bill which will be submitted to Governor Carter for his approval and finally sent to the Legislature with the recommendation that it be enacted into law. The bill does away with beer licenses, provides for a uniform license of $500 and does away with limits, except as to distances from churches and school houses. A committee was appointed to draft a new copy of the bill with the amendments and send the same to the Governor. Colonel C. J. McCarthy presided at the meeting.

The officers of the New Orleans are as follows: Captain Harbor, commanding; Lieut. Commander White, executive officer; Lieut. Commander Phelps, navigating officer; Lieut. Commander Cronin, surgeon; Lieut. Bissett, Engineer; Lieut. Commander Williams, U. S. M. C.; Chief Carpenter G. Helms, Gunner B. H. Council, Carpenter H. I. Olmsted, Warrant Machinists C. M. Don't miss this opportunity to subscribe; only $1.50 per year with a chance to get a fortune.

The P. M. S. S. China, Captain Friele, arrived off port shortly after 9 o'clock last evening, about 6 days from San Francisco, from which port she sailed at 1 p. m. of January 10. The trip down was very rough, bad weather being encountered most of the way. Arriving after quarantine hours, the steamer waited outside until this morning and then came to the Channel wharf. She will sail at 5 o'clock this afternoon for Yokohama and China.

Among the China's passengers were J. O. Carter, Jr., who had been to San Francisco on business and pleasure.

C. F. Lehnars is the inspector of hulls and boilers, and is down on that business. He is accompanied by his wife.

Fred E. Waldron returned from a business visit to San Francisco.

Among the through passengers is Bishop S. C. Partridge, of the Methodist Church, who is stationed at Kobe.

Yil Shi Yi was formerly Consul at San Francisco and was lately commissioner of the Chinese government to the World's Fair.

FEDERAL FARM NEEDS

DIRECTOR SMITH ASKS TERRITORIAL HELP

STATEMENT OF BOARD OF AGRICULTURE OF PLANS AND CONDITIONS—TOBACCO, COFFEE, SILK, FRUIT.

Director Jared G. Smith of the U. S. Experiment Station sends a statement to the Board of Agriculture and Forestry, in which he has the following to say:

The Territorial Legislature appropriated, at its special session in June, 1904, the sum of $228 per month to assist the Hawaii Experiment Station.

The sum expended from July 1 to December 31, 1904, totals $1,509.52.

This station has been in process of formation for four years. In the beginning we had nothing but a piece of rocky land—a narrow strip over two miles in length, the unforrested portion thickly covered with kulu, lantana and guava—set aside for the purpose of an experiment station by the Governor of Hawaii. There were no buildings, fences, laboratories, no tools to work with and no land cleared. The larger share of the appropriations made by Congress for this station during the past four years have been used in getting together an equipment, a place to work and something to work with. The experiments carried on and the bulletins and reports published have been accomplished rather in spite of obstacles than with outside assistance and support. If the station can live through until July 1, 1905, we will at the beginning of the fiscal year 1905 be provided with a moderate equipment so that beginning on that date the station ought to be able to put a larger proportion of the available funds into the work of investigation and experiment.

The station is indebted to the Territory for its fine new fire-proof Laboratory, Laboratory and office building. Three thousand dollars was provided by the Legislature for this building, and about two thousand was expended from the Federal funds. The Legislature contributed $1500 for a new dwelling. The station also supplied some of the funds for this structure.

An account of the tobacco experiment to date has been published in a recent number of the Hawaiian Forester and Agriculturist.

The results of the first year's work indicate strongly that Hawaii can grow high class cigar tobacco of both wrapper and filler types.

The station has leased five acres of land near Hilo, which is now being planted with cacao and bananas.

At the station investigations are being made relative to Hawaiian tan bark; the cultivation of cassava for starch and glucose; experiments with bananas; the nature and method of control of mango disease; the chemical composition of grasses and forage plants; grafting and budding the mango and alligator pear; silk raising; citrus fruits; insects injurious to crops other than cane, and the relation of humans to fertility.

The H. S. P. A. Experiment Station with their magnificent equipment of buildings and laboratories and their large and able staff of scientists are amply able to care for all cane interests in Hawaii.

The Board of Agriculture and Forestry are well equipped with men and means to care for insect quarantine and forestry problems.

The Hawaii Experiment Station cannot afford to attempt any line of work in connection with cane, forestry or insect quarantine.

I would like an appropriation of $3000 per annum for two years for a continuation of the tobacco experiments at Pohakaea, and an extension of tobacco cultivation to other districts in the islands where suitable tobacco soils exist. I believe that two years more will be sufficient to demonstrate absolutely the practicality of tobacco culture, up to the point where we can say to those who have capital to invest that good tobacco can be produced provided proper methods are employed, and the proper kinds are planted.

I would like an appropriation of $1500 per annum for the purpose of demonstrating the practicality of producing raw silk in Hawaii.

An appropriation for this purpose would need to be exempted from the clause of the law relative to the employment of Asiatics by the Government, both because we would have to employ Japanese as instructors in the art of silk culture and because the laborers who would benefit from the establishment of this industry would be mainly of that nationality.

I would like an appropriation of $1500 per annum for two years for an investigation of certain phases of the coffee industry.

If coffee were sold in the world's markets in accordance with merit as determined by aroma and flavor I believe that Hawaiian coffee would be at the top of the list. We can grow coffee in Hawaii.

But unfortunately fashion, not merit, rules the price of coffee.

I would like an appropriation of $1000 per annum for two years to continue experiments which we have made in the shipment of mangoes, papayas and alligator pears and other tropical fruits in cold storage to the Eastern markets.

Irrigation and agriculture are almost synonymous terms in all the leeward districts of Hawaii. Without water for irrigation during the dry summer months practically nothing can be grown. This station is very much in need of an improved water supply. If a reservoir were constructed at the 850 foot level on the station reservation it would enable us to be independent of the Honolulu water works.

To provide an adequate water supply for irrigation of crops I would like an appropriation of $10,000 for the construction of a 3,000,000 gallon reservoir just below the forest on the upper part of our reservation.

KALAE NEWS NOTES

[Special to The Bulletin.]

Kalae, Molokai, Jan. 13.—A constant succession of visitors, mostly sportsmen, have enlivened our hills all through the late fall and early winter. The New Year with better, biting winds, telling of "snowy slopes" nearer than Alaska, is well on its way and all who enjoyed the vacation festivities are away, except Miss Bertha Meyer and her two nieces.

The Christmas story began on the 24th with a friendly gathering at Kulaupuu for dinner and a musical evening. Then came a large company of Hawaiians, who with some new instruments, and much practice, were prepared to give a most enjoyable entertainment, which was much appreciated. In the intervals, Mr. Aubrey narrated his "Victor" speak and that interested the men immensely. Later the musicians moved on to Kalae, where music and dancing was continued for the remainder of the night. On the 25th a family gathering at Kalae. On the 26th a dance in an empty house, and so the time rolled on to New Year.

Miss Sobey, teacher at Kalae, spent Christmas vacation at Kulaupuu.

Mrs. Kinnear and the Munro children passed the vacation at Kulaupuu.

Hogmanay was celebrated with a social at Kulaupuu when singing and dancing were the amusements.

On the 2nd we all started to work except the unoccupied ones who wander to and fro still.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Hitchcock made a short visit to Kalae and departed leaving Willie at Kalae.

The Kalae school has twenty-one scholars.

Mrs. Tell arrived from Pukoo January 12 on a visit to her daughters.

THINKING PEOPLE

Should certainly consider Electric Light as an improvement and a necessity to the home. All other forms of artificial light give a yellow glare that is bad for the eyes, but Electric Light is a pure white light. It is safe, clean, sure and cheap. It is no longer a luxury. It requires no matches and is the only modern 20th Century Light. Come in and let us talk it over. We're always glad to give estimates. Let us show you the economical side of the "Light Question."

TUESDAY, JAN. 17, 1905.

Stessal trying to convince Nogi that Kuropatkin's army was only a few miles distant was no more ludicrous than Thurston's effort to convince the public that he has won a victory. Who was it said, "Another victory like this and we are lost?"

CITIZEN LABOR'S DECISION.

The utter lack of merit in Thurston's small-farm propaganda to prevent an understanding between capital and labor on the basis of facts given in the Pinkham Commission report has been thoroughly exposed. Representatives of the planters have pointed out the editorial charges direct and inferred put before the public by the morning paper. The situation has swung around to the original proposition before Thurston began the tirade against straightforward facts—except that in the meanwhile he has been thoroughly spanked and calls it a victory.

Representatives of labor now have the field. It is in their hands whether they will stand staunchly by the best interests of the Territory, gain a distinct advantage for skilled American labor, or allow the opportunity to pass and in later years be brought up as one of the "might have beens" of Hawaii.

Citizen Labor of Hawaii has argued and worked incessantly for better recognition in the skilled and semi-skilled occupations of the sugar plantations. The arguments in favor of this move are multitudinous. It strengthens the hold of American labor on the most satisfactory work of the sugar plantations. It increases the homes, drawing on the citizen merchant. It makes plantation life pleasanter and builds up communities in the country of a first-class American standard.

Now the opportunity is offered Citizen Labor of Hawaii to enter into a compact with the leaders of the main industry to secure in fact what has been so long and ardently sought. What will Citizen Labor do with it? The opportunity offers for Citizen Labor to co-operate with Capital and gain a point never before within reach. Will Citizen Labor throw the possibilities of this gain overboard because one or two argue practically along the false Thurston line, that they haven't got enough?

Men who want to accomplish everything at once will find the record of results a minus quantity. The prejudiced small farm outfit that endeavored to head off Citizen Labor from co-operation with Capital received a solar plexus blow of facts. If Citizen Labor did not have more sense than to follow such a foolish trail, the example furnished of Thurston's forced retreat should be sufficient to prevent a repetition of similar follies.

Citizen Labor has banded together in Hawaii to establish a strong identity backed by common sense initiative. Its work in securing recognition from the Territorial Government has been very successful. It is worthy of note, in passing, that Pinkham of the Pinkham Commission was one of the leaders in securing that recognition. Citizen Labor has reached another turning point. It can go forward as it did in establishing itself on Territorial work. It can go backward and by refusing to co-operate with Capital leave the plantation positions open to the alien skilled laborers always ready to step into the breach at less pay. Citizen Labor does not lack the opportunity to make a notable record for itself and develop prosperous American homes within this Territory in connection with the leading industry. The duty of Citizen Labor is plain.

FIRST DIVISION OF THE THIRD SQUADRON READY

RUSSIANS SENDING REINFORCEMENTS IN HOPE OF WIPING OUT THE JAPANESE NAVY.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 16.—The Russ today confirms the Paris Temps' report of yesterday that the first division of the Third Pacific Squadron will leave Libau at the end of January and will consist of the warships Admiral Senjavin, General Admiral Apraxine, Admiral Oushakoff and Nicholas I, the cruiser Vladimir Monomach and several torpedo boat destroyers and torpedo boats.

In a lengthy review of the military situation the Novoe Vremya urges the immediate reinforcement of Vladivostok, the Island of Sakhalien and Kamchatka. The paper says: "There is little probability of the Russians being caught as unprepared at Vladivostok as at Port Arthur, but the moral responsibility rests upon the government to see that nothing in the way of defensive preparation is overlooked. Sakhalien and Kamchatka are both harder to defend and have a scantier population, but both are rich in mineral and other resources and are especially tempting to the Japanese to whose scheme for National expansion they are necessary." Continuing, the Novoe Vremya points out that it is possible to send reinforcements and supplies to Sakhalien and Kamchatka while the fleets independent of sea power and begs this should be done at once. Touching on the general peace talk in the foreign press the Novoe Vremya summarizes the list of Russian reverses in the present war and asks if it is possible to consider the question of peace without substantial Russian victories.

It was something of a surprise to most everyone concerned when the case of E. Genuau, the United States sailor who shot Ulysses Harris, was taken up in Judge De Bolt's court. It had been expected that the case would not be taken up for about a week in order that Lieutenant Cuntz of the Navy, who is expected to arrive on Jan. 17, could be here to testify in the case, and the defense fought strenuously to have the trial postponed until then.

During the examination of the jurors a sensation was created by the appearance of Lieutenant Cuntz in the courtroom. He had arrived in the Caisa this morning and almost immediately proceeded before the court with military precision. The arrival of the witness who has travelled all the way from Washington, D. C., a distance of over 5,000 miles, to appear before the court created considerable interest among those present.

As it was the lieutenant appeared with the precision of a deus ex machina, just at the very moment when his presence was the very most desired by the defense. His arrival here has long been heralded by Attorney Douthitt, who seems to place great reliance on the testimony he will give, and the advent of the lieutenant was therefore hailed with great glee.

At the end of the examination of the jury, a recess was taken until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Judge De Bolt this morning opened his term of court at 10 o'clock. The following jury was called: John M. Area, S. J. Allencastre, M. Brash, F. K. Beardslee, M. J. Bissell, Andrew Brown, E. M. Boyd, Elmer M. Chatham, C. M. Cooke Jr., Chas. S. Deby, Thos. Honan, A. H. Howe, Ed. Imhoff, E. Ingham, Chas. M. Keonini, Chas. Lambert, T. R. Lucas, Ernest E. Lyman, John McGuire, H. W. North, Chas. O'Sullivan, John H. Rankin, John H. Thompson, L. M. Veltusen and Chris. J. Willis.

Thos. Honan was excused because he was a United States employe. A. Brown and H. W. North were excused on doctor's certificates.

Judge De Bolt told the jurors that there were a great many important cases pending before the court and jurors must share part of the burden with the State and do jury duty, even if some personal inconvenience was suffered. He hoped that but few would ask to be excused.

E. M. Boyd asked to be excused, as he was the only one who was familiar with the work of the Promotion Committee, which would suffer material losses by his absence. He was excused until notified.

A. W. Hall was a Rapid Transit motorman and was excused for as long a period as he remained in that position. Chas. Keonini was employed in the mail service and was accordingly excused.

Messman said that he was a freight clerk and might be discharged if he had to do jury duty. He was excused for a week.

Judge De Bolt spoke very strongly against discharging employes when they did jury duty. He said that a man who would deal harshly with an employe who was simply doing his duty was not worthy to be a citizen.

Judge De Bolt then proceeded with the calling of the calendar of criminal cases which were assigned to him by Judge Robinson yesterday.

Attorney General Andrews stated that the prosecution was ready in the six Chinese burglary cases. He wanted to try first two of these cases in which all the defendants, including those charged in the remaining cases were involved.

In the meantime, J. W. Cathcart, counsel for the defense was in Kona and would not return for a week.

Andrews further suggested that the case of Genuau be tried immediately, which was so ordered by the court in spite of objections by Attorney Douthitt, counsel for defendant.

T. McCants Stewart stated that he and the Attorney General had agreed to have the F. J. Testa libel case go to trial a week from Monday. The court ordered the case set for that date.

To the church women of Honolulu: It is so hard for people to believe that Brigh's Disease and Diabetes are now curable that I am asked to permit references to my own case. There are too many dying to remain silent. I had both Brigh's Disease and Diabetes for over five years. Was very feeble, had dropsy, and the physicians told me the case was hopeless. I heard that people were being cured in this city and procured the treatment. In a few months the dropsy disappeared and in a year I was well. To show how well, will say that later I stood a capital operation at the Waldorf Sanitarium in the presence of six physicians. Many friends, including Dr. Markell of Cloverdale and Judge E. B. OPINIONS DIFFER

Morning Paper Reserves And Kona Small Farm

Editor Evening Bulletin:—Both Advertiser and Bulletin deserve the people's thanks for having brought the small farming matter to such an interesting stage as that of present discussion: to an onlooker, however, your opponent seems, as yet, unable to controvert the very candid statements, of those persons who adduce a personal knowledge of the almost unsuperable difficulties awaiting the small farmer.

I think that both sides are entitled to a fair hearing, and because the writers supporting a newspaper's side of this question do not, perhaps for good reasons of their own and which are in perfect propriety, care to have their names given, in no reason why their motives should be ascribed. Are their statements facts? This is the test of the value of such communications.

Jared Smith is on the right track when he makes a plea for the growing of cane by small settlers. Sugar is a staple and the returns are fairly speedy. The cane crop can always be sold. This is the crux of the matter—the selling, at a profit, at harvest time.

But then again the "small farmer," or share planter (under a cane contract) must have outside help. He cannot ask his neighbor farmers to come around and assist at the time honored "Dee," the neighbors, being engaged in similar lines of agriculture, will have labor shortages of their own.

Smith says "that the inferiority of the black, brown and yellow man is due to his acquired habit of letting other people think for him;" but, later in the even tempered and earnest letter published, by him this morning he says the Japanese and Chinese born in Hawaii will dictate legislation. If this be true it is a tribute to the education given by our Territory, and, incidentally, shows that the "acquired" habit of putting out the job of doing their personal thinking, has been discontinued.

Personally I do not hold, with Jared Smith, in the belief that the mainland Japs will amalgamate with the Caucasian race. They certainly will not do so in that part of the American domain called Hawaii.

Items special, in the morning sheet of Friday, and the map and data accompanying it seem to show that cane cultivation is the mainstay of the Oahu farmer. It would be instructive to learn if those barns, improvements and the present house of Mr. Iken were constructed from proceeds of sale of cane land to the neighboring plantation or were, in a large measure, the actual evidences of a profitable cane growing agreement.

As a some time resident of Kau and an occasional traveler through the Kona's I should say that the plan of the Castle outfit (S. Kona Agricultural Co.) to build a Central Mill and have it kept going by buying cane raised on the lands local to the mill, is one deserving of support. The cane growers can be, fairly, put in the Advertiser class and, as small farmers, make a showing in next census returns and previous to that time, become a source of revenue to their locality and the Territory.

The veiled allusion to the "reserves of letters," may show a military intinct, on part of the Commercial Advertiser, but it is to be devoutly hoped the reserves will not be of such age as to make it needful to toast the mouldiness out of them before they can be served up in the morning's paper. Thanking you for space, I am,

CAPT. LYONS AND COLLECTOR AGREE TO DISAGREE

REGARDING GUARD ON NAVAL WHARVES — MATTER TO BE REFERRED TO THE DEPARTMENTS.

A rather serious difference of opinion as to respective authority at the Naval dock has sprung up between Collector Stackable and Captain Lyon, the Naval Commandant at this port. The affair started and came to a focus yesterday after the arrival of the cruiser New Orleans. Mr. Stackable had ordered customs inspectors and guards to take charge of the Naval wharf occupied by the cruiser. Captain Lyon ordered them off the wharf and prepared to enforce his orders with troops. At this juncture Mr. Stackable withdrew the officers from the wharf, keeping up only the customary guard at the gate.

"Negotiations between Mr. Stackable and myself have been perfectly amicable," said Captain Lyon this morning. "The Collector claims the right to take charge of the Naval wharves at will and to use the Navy Department's wharves as he would those employed for commercial purposes. I take the opposite view. If Mr. Stackable suspects smuggling from war vessels his business is to catch up with them at the gates leading upon the enclosed wharves. He has no more business upon the wharves with his men than has the regular army or collector of internal revenue.

"I wish to say this, however: More has been made of this affair than is justified. At any rate, a mountain is placed of a mere mole hill has been made of the thing. It is purely a difference of opinion in which Mr. Stackable thinks he is right, while I know I am right."

Mr. Stackable holds the view that the Customs Department has the right to search any vessel calling at this port, be it a war vessel or anything else. He points to numerous instances in the past where Panama hats, silks, liquors and other dutiable articles were smuggled ashore in large quantities as a result of trusting to the Naval side of the house to prevent such things. He believes that his authority extends over war vessels and the Naval reservation and will stand pat on that policy until overruled.

It was hoped that the Travesty Stars, who not long ago delighted Honolulu with their entertaining powers and who are now passing through from Australia, could be persuaded to stay over a steamer in Honolulu to again please the theater goers, but the arrangement could not be made.

'FRISCO SUGAR WAR

DEALERS IN REFINED ARE AFTER EACH OTHERS' SCALPS

PRODUCT OF HONOLULU PLANTATION AIDS IN WAR PROGRAM. WAITING ARRIVAL OF FIRST CARGO.

San Francisco, Jan. 8.—With the news of the sailing from Honolulu of the Watson steamer Enterprise with a cargo of sugar from the independent refinery of the Honolulu Plantation Company, comes the announcement that the refineries in this country have raised the price to the jobbers, and that a sugar war is on. The situation is complicated by the fact that the sugar output this year is short, and therefore the natural course of events would have been a big jump in the price. Instead of this, however, the jobbers have reduced the price to the retailers and are standing a loss themselves.

The Pacific Traffic Commercial Association, a combination formed by the wholesale grocers and jobbing men of San Francisco, was the first to feel the effects of the contest. About the middle of last month several of the leading firms in this combine withdrew, and the disruption of the association was speedily expected. The association had an agreement with the so-called "sugar trust" by which the latter sold sugar to the members of the association at $5.75 per hundred pounds. The members of the association agreed not to sell this sugar at less than the price they paid the trust, and they then received a rebate of 25 cents per hundred pounds, making the net price to them per hundred pounds of $5.50. Now the trust has withdrawn from this agreement and has reduced the price of sugar, technically, by making it $5.95 per hundred pounds. As they give no rebate at this price, however, it is in fact an increase of 15 cents per hundred pounds.

This increase will not fall on the retailer or consumer, for the jobbers are at war with each other and are selling to the retailers at cost; therefore, although the jobbers are paying 15 cents more for a hundred pounds of sugar than they did up to yesterday morning the retailer is paying 10 cents a hundred pounds less.

Whether the jobbers who withdrew from the association are getting their sugar from the refineries at a cheaper rate than their former associates cannot be stated with certainty. There is some possibility of this, and Monday may see another cut in sugar if the recalcitrants attempt to sell under the present price.

To further complicate matters, the Honolulu Plantation Company appears on the scene with the announcement that it can refine its own sugar where it is grown, ship it to San Francisco and sell it at a cheaper figure than the trust does, and all at a sufficient profit. Although the trust people declare that the 25,000 tons the Honolulu company can at the most produce in one year will make no difference to their output or profits, there are many who assert that it will at any rate make a big difference in the San Francisco market. What the independent company's price will be will not be known until the arrival of the steamer.

Another peculiar circumstance is that the offices of the Honolulu company are at the headquarters of the trust, 327 Market street, and it is admitted by those concerned in the affairs of the independent company that John D. Spreckels owns a portion of its stock. J. A. Buck is president of the new company, N. Ohlandt vice-president, H. W. Thomas secretary, and Samuel Sussman treasurer.

According to the opinions of some of the leading wholesale grocers of this city, a big sugar war has just commenced. Only one thing is sure, and that is that the consumer will probably have a chance very soon to purchase sugar cheaply, for a while at least. Meanwhile, H. D. Loveland, president of the Pacific Traffic and Commercial Association, states that everything is flourishing with the organization and the members are perfectly content to sell their sugar at cost and lose the expense of hauling it until matters are on an even basis again.

He had an opinion in the case which, however, would not interfere with his duty as a juror. He was challenged by the prosecution but the challenge was not allowed and the juror was passed for cause.

M. E. Hartmann had a firm opinion regarding the guilt or innocence of the defendant which it would take strong evidence to remove. However, he explained that if he were sworn as a juror he would be able to discard his opinion and give the defendant a fair trial. The defense examined Hartmann thoroughly on the dual state of his mind, but the juror remained firm. He was Dr. Jekyll without any biased opinion as soon as he had been sworn on the jury, but before the magic oath had been administered he remained a Mr. Hyde with his damnable opinion firmly predominant in his mind. The defense finally challenged Hartmann on the grounds of his opinion, but the

The cable reports that the Manchuria will sail from San Francisco on January 28 for Honolulu and the Orient. She will arrive here on the morning of February 3.

A dance will be given at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel this evening in honor of the captain and officers of the U. S. S. New Orleans. All friends of the hotel are cordially invited. An application for the pardon of Chong Kwai, who was convicted of assault with a weapon on Fong Kwai, has been filed with the Governor. It is shown that Chong Kwai was driven to his deed in desperation as Fong Kwai had stolen his wife.

The steamer Nebraskan will leave at 5 o'clock this afternoon for Kahului to load sugar for San Francisco. The Texan will get away Thursday afternoon for Kaanapali, Kahului and Hilo. From the latter place she will sail for New York with a full load of sugar.

J. O. Carter, Jr., and Miss Cooke, who were passengers in the China from San Francisco this morning, were given a more cordial and surprising reception at the hands of their friends than they had any reason to expect. When the young people boarded the steamer at San Francisco they were laden with leis, a la Hawaiian. The report gained currency that they had been married and were starting upon their bridal tour. This report found its way over the cable, with the result that friends of Mr. Carter and Miss Cooke were at the steamer to welcome them with showers of rice, etc. Jack didn't care, but Miss Cooke was decidedly bored.

The examination of Juror Vierra was brief. The juror stated that he had a rooted opinion concerning the question of the guilt or innocence of the defendant, which could not be removed by evidence. He was accordingly excused and W. J. England was called into the box to take his place.

Albert McGurn was subjected to a still shorter examination. He stated that he was a friend of the accused, who furthermore had come to him about a month prior to the time of the murder and had asked for advice concerning his troubles with his wife. McGurn furthermore explained that the Jones family was on very friendly terms with his own and finally explained that it was his fixed determination not to sit as a juror on any case of murder in the first degree, as he was opposed to capital punishment. McGurn was accordingly challenged and excused. A. J. Taitte was drawn to take his place.

At this stage of the proceedings the noon hour had arrived and the court adjourned until 2 p. m. The examination of the jurors has so far produced most satisfactory results, judging from which it seems certain that a jury will be obtained for the case this time. Out of the ten jurors examined four have passed for cause. The jurors secured so far are Weedon, O'Brien, Dreier and Hartmann, while those excused are King, Sheldon, Atherton, Hart, Vierra and McGurn.

Books, Bookish People and Things

"Cats By the Way," by Sarah E. Trueblood. 54x8 in.; 115 p.p.; cloth. J. B. Lippincott & Co., Philadelphia; $1.25 net. A neatly printed and delightfully illustrated little volume of dainty stories about cats. The author has drawn the pictures for her text, and she tells us in her preface that "these are true incidents and true lives" with the exception of the chapter entitled, "The Mission of the Cat." Surely no person can read this book without being softened towards not only our brother the cat, but towards every member of the four-footed tribe. And who in his youth has not had pets of some sort? In reminiscence of the soft, affectionate kitty of early childhood, and the noble, clear-eyed dog of boyhood are called up to feel a pang of loneliness for. The author of this book shows a real love for her cats, for all cats, but none of that mawkish sentimentality that spells so many books whose object is to inculcate kindness to animals. A lot of cruelty-to-animals avengers and antivivisection cranks who do not love animals at all, and who generally hate their fellow man, have made one way of books with titles like the one under consideration. None, however, need be afraid of this book, and I heartily commend it to men and women who have not been spoiled by an age of pose.

A few cavilling grown-up people have tried to detract from the exploits of Admiral Schley, who has recently sprung into prominence again through his autobiography, published by D. Appleton & Company under the title of "Forty-five Years Under the Flag." But to the American small boy Admiral Schley is the perfect, irreproachable hero. The Admiral, who wears a mustache and goatee, was standing on a Manhattan street corner the other day and a couple of small boys were conversing about him in awestricken whispers. "Say, wot does he wear a beard for?" asked the younger one, who evidently associated the navy with chromos of smooth-shaven sailors using patent soaps. "Aw, but ye're ignorant," replied the elder. "Wot's his eyebrows for? Hey? To keep de smoke an' sweat of battle out of his eyes. Well, de mustache is to keep 'em out of his mouth, an'—"

The Admiral fled before he had heard his beard explained.

Albert Lathrop Lawrence, the author of "The Wolverine," is indebted to his parents for many of the "homely" incidents in his romance of early Michigan. Mr. Lawrence was born in Michigan, and has always lived there. At sixteen he left school, but, not being

SHORT STORY FOR EVENING HOURS

HE CAME TO HIS OWN

Herbert Vinton passed his hand caressingly over his rather grayish though still luxurious locks, and studied the picture before him. It was the photograph of a girl, the day before.

Around him were many evidences of wealth. In spite of his bachelorhood he had all the cares and comforts of a splendid and well-ordered house. He was not a clubman; he had little taste for society; he had always traveled all he cared to; he had grown weary of plays, and at 50, still as vigorous as he had been at 30, he preferred to spend his leisure moments in his library.

"Yes," he said to himself, still looking at the picture, "if her mother could be as she was 25 years ago they might pass for twins."

He drew a long sigh. Twenty-five years ago her mother had said no to him and married a man who was 55. "I was poor, then," Vinton mused, "and he was rich. Now I'm rich and he—well, I forgive him. He's dead, and they are poor, and she is still ready to give — not her soul this time, but her daughter, for money."

The letter that lay on the desk was from her. It was the first she had written to him since their parting. She had at least been loyal to the man she had chosen. Why, he asked himself, had she sent him the picture of her daughter, if not for the purpose that had first suggested itself to him? Why had she not sent her own? Her letter, coming so soon after the beginning of her widowhood, and the loss of her fortune, meant but one thing.

When he entered his library the next morning his eyes at once sought the picture of the fair-faced girl.

"I'll go," he said to himself, after taking up the portrait again and gazing at it for a long time. "Why shouldn't I? There will be no unfairness about it—not, at least, on my part. They—both of them—owe it to me. I've waited 25 years. Why shouldn't I be rewarded now? It will be only a case of turn about. He took her in the glory and freshness of her youth, when she rightfully belonged to me. But here"—he looked earnestly at the picture again—"she has returned just as she was when they robbed me of her. I will have her. She is my own. Fate has given her back to me."

He found them in plain, little quarters, and Eleanor—they had even given her her mother's name—placed her hands in his and looked up with a look that awoke a thousand memories in him. It was the look that he had so often, waking and dreaming, seen before. Her fingers seemed to give the old, glad, thrilling touch. Her voice was the voice that had been calling him all through the lonely years. He had found his love again—fair, undefiled, just as she was when he had lost her.

The other looked upon them and was silent. Youth was no longer here. Gladness was not in her eyes. Her smile was not the eager smile of hope. Much of her beauty she retained, but it was not the beauty that inspired love. It was such beauty as might be chiseled out of marble.

In the days that came and went Vinton's joy was boundless. There had been dark years, in which he had been sure that he would never taste the sweets of love again. He laughed at himself for having harbored such doleful thoughts. And always he kept assuring his conscience that he was preparing to claim only what was his. "She is mine; she has been returned to me by that old man who was wrong," he declared. "I have won her by waiting. I will have my own."

Eleanor did not dread his coming. Often she sat at the window looking eagerly for him. She had learned from her mother why he had been living in loneliness. She had heard from her mother of the wrong that he had suffered. She had learned that it was his duty to make reparation. Once, in a moment of depression; she had asked:

"If he were still poor would you think I ought to give myself to him to right the old wrong?"

Her mother had turned from her and failed to answer.

They returned to something akin to luxury. The doubts concerning the manner in which they were to get along had been cleared away. In the mother's eyes there was a look that was new and strange. Not a look of joy, not a look of contentment. Perhaps the look of the Honess that has eaten her whelp to satisfy her own hunger. Perhaps.

But Eleanor discovered in good time that she was not to be sacrificed. Affection for Vinton had found its way into her breast. She did not weep for shame of the thing she was to do. She forgot that through her a debt was to be paid, and that through her they were to be insured against poverty. She forgot all save that Vinton was estimable and kind, and that it made her glad to know that he was happy.

One day, when she was away buying things for the wedding, her mother and Vinton sat alone together. "You are going to be very happy—after all," she said.

"Yes," he answered, "after all. My glad old dream is to come true—after all. You are good to let it happen so; but I shall have only what is mine, after all, you know. The years I have lost can never be given back; they are gone forever. Still, I gladly give them for the joy that is returned to me. Only those who have been robbed as I have been robbed, and who have won their treasures back, can know the gladness that comes with the returning of what is my own. Only they who have loved and lost can know how deep and how dark is the valley which love has come to call me out of. Forgive me for saying these things to you. I know you cannot understand them. It is my present joy that makes me look back with pity for the hopeless thing I was down there in the darkness where it was so lonely and so cold. I have waited so long, I am intoxicated by the sweet aroma even before the cup touches my lips. You have not—"

With a pitiful cry she put her hands to her face and for a moment, while she sobbed, he stood looking at her. Then he lifted her up, saying: "God help me! I had forgotten that all I have been denied you also have been denied, and that if I return to claim my love where it was taken from me you must go on through the darkness alone."

Eleanor drew back from the half-opened door and went away softly, leaving her mother in his arms.—S. E. Kiser, in Chicago Record Herald.

SPORTS

WILLIE LEWIS AND BRITT.

New York, Dec. 29.—All that is needed to consummate a match between Jimmy Britt and Willie Lewis for the lightweight championship is a challenge wired him today by Lewis' manager. Lewis agrees to fight Britt at the lightweight limit. A check for $2,500 has been deposited to bind a match. Johnnie Considine, who has posted the money for Lewis, will wager it on the result of the fight.

It is expected an answer will be received from Britt tomorrow. A side bet may be an inducement for Britt to make a match. If he does he will face the greatest little fighter in the East today. Lewis has demonstrated his worth by his decisive victory in nine rounds over Martin Canole, a feat that both Britt and Battling Nelson failed to accomplish. Britt and Canole fought a 25-round battle, while Nelson received a good drubbing at the hands of Canole for nineteen rounds. Canole was completely outclassed by Lewis, who was his superior both as a boxer and a puncher.

WANT WHIPPING POST.

Washington, Dec. 20.—In a report submitted to Chief Justice Alvey of the District of Columbia Supreme Court today the Grand Jury recommended the establishment of the whipping post as a means of punishment for white beaters. The penalty was first suggested in President Roosevelt's annual message to Congress, and the Grand Jury recently took it up for discussion. By a majority vote it recorded its approval of whipping posts not only for wife beaters, but for petty larceny offenses. The Grand Jury says in its report:

"The desirability of establishing the whipping post as a means of punishing wife beaters and petty larceny offenses has been investigated by this body, and a majority of the members are of the opinion that it would prove very effective in decreasing the number of these reprehensible crimes."

The President in his message discussed district affairs and it having been brought to his attention that there were from one to three cases of wife beating in Washington each day and that the offenders were usually sent to the Workhouse, while the wife and children suffered, he suggested some form of corporal punishment. Since then there has been a wide discussion ending in the endorsement of the idea of a whipping post by the Grand Jury today.

While there is a large colored population in Washington, the whipping post is not suggested because the negro men are the more numerous offenders. It is said that the cases are about equally divided between the blacks and whites and if the whipping post should be set up there is little doubt that blacks and whites alike would be punished with the "cat."

THE SUB-EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETS AND PASSES UPON CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE.

[Special to The Bulletin.]

Waialuku, Maui, Jan. 14.—The Sub-Executive Committee of the Third District Committee of the Republican Party held its regular monthly meeting at Kepoikai Building in Waialuku last Wednesday morning. Chairman H. P. Baldwin presided. A large number of requests for needed improvements in their districts were referred to a special committee of three consisting of A. N. Kepoikai, W. A. McKay and H. P. Baldwin. The committee will endeavor to get Engineer Howell in Waialuku for several days to give estimates as to probable costs of the various improvements asked by the various precincts.

Lahaina sent in a petition signed by the Executive Committee of Lahaina precinct asking besides needed appropriations; that County Seat be at Lahaina, and that at least one term of Circuit Court be at Lahaina. The Lahaina precinct also sent in a resolution in favor of government officers being elected on either Central or District Committees as the beneficial effects of government officials in politics as felt in Honolulu have not been felt in the outside districts in the least; but on the other hand, the government officials outside of Honolulu have been helpful to all concerned. Hon. H. P. Baldwin expressed himself heartily in favor of letting the officials serve on those committees, and a resolution by J. Newcombe, who was instructed by the Lahaina Executive Committee to vote in favor of government officials, was carried without a dissenting voice.

Sheriff Baldwin having approved the appointment of C. B. Corbett, at present captain of police, as Deputy Sheriff of Lahaina, in place of R. P. Hosi, who was endorsed as successor to the late H. B. Wilkins, as superintendent of Lahaina Water Works. Joe Morris, of Makawao, will likely be appointed jailer at Makawao, while the present incumbent will be promoted to be captain of police for Makawao in place of H. Iwena. After the transaction of much other important business, the meeting adjourned to meet again at the call of the chair.

Marshal Hendry Gets More Coats

The Federal authorities continue to do a rushing business in military coats in which line Hatter started them out yesterday morning. Yesterday afternoon Officer Aprana of the Police Department caught a soldier from Camp McKinley in the act of selling three new parade dress coats of the U. S. Coast Artillery. He at once notified Marshal Hendry, who with Quartermaster Captain Humphrey descended upon the erring warrior. The coats were recovered and the soldier delivered to the military authorities at Camp McK Inley. It is probable that he will be court-martialed.

Do you keep a postal card collection? Collecting postal cards has become the most popular fad in years. It is wonderful how soon a fine collection can be gathered from all parts of the world and how intensely interesting it becomes. For the convenience of collectors handsome albums are specially prepared for inserting the cards without pasting. The Honolulu Photo Supply Co. has them from 50 cents upward. Also a full line of Hawaiian souvenir postals.

He: We won't see any of the first act now; thought you said you'd be ready in a moment. She: Well, I did not say any moment.
