LAVA FLOW HAS CEASED

THE SIGNS OF ACTIVITY STOPPED MONDAY.

Earthquakes Were Felt Immediately Afterward in Different Parts of Hawaii—Severe One in Hilo Monday.

Mama Loa has ceased activity; the earthquakes have begun. The steamer Mauna Loa this morning brought news that the lava flow on Hawaii had ceased, but that immediately afterwards earthquake shocks were felt in various parts of the island, notably at Hilo and in Kona. W. R. Castle who was one of the passengers by the steamer Mauna Loa says that from Hilo and the Volcano House the report came that the last activity that could be seen was on Sunday night gradually growing less and less. On Monday morning neither fire nor smoke could be seen. The indications seemed to be that activity had entirely ceased. Monday afternoon there was a severe shock of earthquake in Hilo, severe in the sense of being distinctly and keenly felt, though so far as known it did no damage. Wednesday and again Thursday morning, earthquakes were felt in Kona.

From the fact of these earthquakes following immediately after the cessation of the flow, Mr. Castle said the opinion prevailed in Hawaii that there would be an outbreak somewhere else, perhaps at Kilauea or some other part of the slope of Mauna Loa. Captain Sisson of the Mauna Loa says that the people of the Volcano House telephoned him that the activity seemed to cease Sunday night or early Monday morning. Monday forenoon there was no sign of smoke or any other indication of activity. The earthquake in Hilo Monday afternoon was distinctly felt. No news was received by the Mauna Loa from the Humuula Sheep Station side of the flow. This is the best position to see the flow at a distance, and observers there would be in a position to tell the exact time when the activity ceased and to describe the phenomena of the cessation.

The question of who was the first to reach the active cone has already become a matter of emulative controversy. The returns up to the present time indicate that the honor belongs to a party which left Pahala July 4, the day the activity was first observed, and rode by way of Kapapaia ranch to within three miles of the active cone and then walked to within 250 feet of it, returning to Pahala July 6. This party number about thirty and included, among others, W. P. Fennell, George Dawson, William Mann, Miss Angie Crook, Miss Crook, Mr. Crook, Miss de Carmo and L. Chong.

PODEYN PROPERTY SALE.

The upset price of the Podayn property, sold at public auction, was fixed at $4,500, in place of $500, as stated yesterday. The error was in the clerk's minutes. It is learned that the property is quite valuable and will doubtless bring a high figure.

STRIKE OF BOILERMAKERS

FORTY MEN WALK OUT OF IRON WORKS.

Their Complaint is Against Their Foreman Who is Said to be a Hard Man. Hedemann Talks of the Matter.

At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon nearly forty expert boilermakers left the Honolulu Iron Works with the full determination never to return again until their foreman, McKay, had been discharged. The men are not at work today. At 4 o'clock this afternoon there will be a meeting with Manager Hedemann, at which the matter will be settled in some shape. This trouble has been brewing for some time. According to the men, McKay is a hard over-seer, driving and even cursing the workmen. At different times there has been great dissatisfaction, and more than once considerable sections of the crew of boilermakers have considered the matter of leaving in a body. This week, according to the men, the oppression of the foreman became simply unbearable. On Wednesday night a meeting of the men was held, at which it was decided that all should leave the works, unless, if their services were appreciated to that extent, the foreman was removed. A delegation made this decision known to Manager Hedemann and in the afternoon the strike took place as stated. The trouble is one between the men and their foreman. None of the boiler-makers have any kick against the work, their employers or the salaries received. They are perfectly satisfied in all these particulars.

"I can say for the iron works," said Manager Hedemann this morning, "that we regret very much the trouble between the boilermakers and the foreman. The matter is being thoroughly investigated. I hope that before night some basis of agreement will be reached. The boilermakers are, everyone, A-1 men. They were carefully selected at San Francisco, and in all my experience I have never seen a better set of workmen. They are sober, industrious and really seem to be above the average mechanic in every way. The iron works has paid them well and will continue to do so, and we do not begrudge them good wages, for they deserve it. Foreman McKay is also a good man. His services in the past have been highly satisfactory. He has a thorough command of his work. Of late we have had so many orders from plantations for rush work that we have perhaps strained him a bit. The plantations are pushing us, we push him and I fear this has had most to do with his urging the men on and perhaps earning their displeasure. Thus, perhaps, if it were not the rush season the trouble would not have arisen at all. The position of the iron works is clear. We do not care to lose the services of the men, for, as I say, they are superior mechanics and are exceptionally satisfactory to us. At the same time it will be a sacrifice to lose Mr. McKay, who has also been eminently satisfactory. But there is a serious trouble between him on the one side and the men on the other. When thirty-five to forty men unite in a complaint of this kind, there is certainly a cause behind it all. None of the men are labor agitators or anything of the sort. They are upright gentlemen and we believe they feel they are doing right. Our intentions then are, briefly this: We have given Mr. McKay until 4 o'clock this afternoon to straighten himself out with the men. He has time to see each one of them and talk the matter over. If by the time stated, he has not come to a satisfactory agreement with them, we will dispense with his services, as much as we regret so to do. Hedemann was asked if the boilermakers had a union here and, if so, if that body may not have had something to do with declaring the strike. "They have a society," replied the manager, "I believe; but here it is different to that of San Francisco and other cities. The local society contains no agitators nor trouble makers. In other words, it is of better material. I think that they, in handling matters of this sort, have tried and will always endeavor to deal fairly with both sides."

THE SCENE CHANGES.

The same excellent program will be repeated at the Orpheum tonight. No one should fail to see Post as the new boarder at O'Malley's, and Post and both will make you laugh until your sides ache. The ridiculous suddenly changes to the sublime in the scene by Boggs and Haeward in Drifted Apart, where you will feel more like crying than laughing. Tomorrow at 2 o'clock, matinee, and an entire change of program tomorrow night.

ALARMING.

The Canadian Inland Revenue authorities recently instructed Mr. Thos. MacLarren, Chief Analyst of the Inland Revenue Laboratory, to investigate the purity of aerated waters. One hundred and twenty-one samples were analyzed, twenty-seven of which contained lead in heavy proportions, but samples of Apollinaris water, purchased in Halifax, N. S., in St. John, N. B., in Quebec and Montreal, were in every case found in analysis to be free from impurities of any kind.—Food and Sanitation, 13th August, 1898.

MORE OF THEM USED.

There are probably more Singer sewing machines used in the United States than of any other one make. This is a very excellent guarantee that they are one of the very best machines. The points of merit are strength, durability, easy running and simple construction. Very little mechanism to get out of order makes repair bills small. When in need of a new sewing machine examine the Singer before purchasing any other make. B. Bergeron, agent, Bethel street.

"SEVEN! COME LEVEN!"

A NEW COON GAMBLING GAME IN TOWN.

Cribs, Introduced Here by the Colored Troops, This Morning Landed Twenty-eight in the Police Court.

The colored troops who lately passed through Honolulu, kindly initiated the water front laborers and hangers on, into the mysteries of the noble game of cribs and have given the vocabulary of the islands such terms as "seven, come seven," "naturals," "get the baby, a new pair of shoes" and others of a kindred character. The natives have translated these terms into Hawaiian, but they use the English forms as well, giving them the Mississippi negro term of expression. The fascinating game of cribs has taken a firm hold among the dock laborers of the water front. Twenty-eight of them were hauled up by the police yesterday for indulging in the sport. Most of the offenders were natives. Eight of them were fined $2 each this morning. In the cases of twenty others, sentence was suspended for six months.

The game of cribs which is played with dice, generally east on the ground, as far as its origin had its origin among the hosts of Mississippi boatmen who congregate along the levee at New Orleans, St. Louis and Memphis. From thence it spread until now it is the gambling game of the Southern States, especially among the colored population. It is played with two dice thrown from the hand. The player throws until the number of spots shown on the two dice is seven. Then the object is to get eleven before getting seven again. There are a number of variations from this. Throwing the dice is invariably accompanied by snapping of the fingers and ejaculations supposed to be an aid to luck, and the players in their interest and excitement frequently perform the most grotesque antics.

SUMMER CAMP.

Quite a party of Honolulu people is going to invade the wilds of Mauna Kea and spend a few weeks on its mountain slopes, enjoying the bracing air. The camp is fixed at Puukala, and is situated about thirty miles from Waimea, at an elevation of between 8000 and 9000 feet. There is a house there, which has been furnished in country fashion, and there will be plenty of wild cattle shooting, lassoing and riding to do. The party will consist of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Gunn, Miss Macfarlane, Mrs. Mills, Mrs. A. M. Brown and George Potter. Marshal Brown will join the party after making his official tour of the island.

RIVER PARK.

Prospects for Completion in the Dim Future.

By an act of the last legislature, approved May 11, 1898, about four acres of land, extending from the bank of the Nuuanu stream, makai of Beretania street extension, was set aside for a free public recreation ground.

Although the Government dredger has been at work refilling the park for months ago it now presents the appearance of the famous San Francisco sand dunes. Much of the material deposited by the dredger at considerable expense has been disinterred and used in road grading elsewhere; this work on Honolulu's much desired park goes merit-ly on.

Seventeen laborers are now employed in excavating and hauling material preparatory to constructing the retaining wall along the Ewa side of Nuuanu street. The work is being done along the creation grounds. The luna stated today that the wall would be completed in about four months, but from all indications it would be fair to add at least a year to this estimate. The dredger is now at work refilling the park grounds to proper level, but is now dumping mud into the old fish pond in the vicinity of Oahu Prison.

OLD SPANISH BELL.

Said to Have Been Found on the Koolau Beach.

F. C. Rhodes who was formerly employed by Williams, the photographer, claims to have discovered on the beach of Koolau district an ancient bell of large dimensions with a Spanish inscription and the date, 1768, engraved on its rim.

He laid the matter before Professor Alexander, who referred him to the Bishop Museum.

Rhodes left this morning for Koolau, saying he was going to bring the bell back with him. He expects to return this evening.

The bell is described as being about two feet high. If he is correct in his claims, the find will be one that will undoubtedly arouse a great deal of popular and antiquarian interest.

BEST THREE OUT OF FIVE

STARS AND KAMS TO PLAY FOR CHAMPIONSHIP.

Kamehameha Fly the Coop on a Final Contest Tomorrow and a New Arrangement Has to be Made.

The entire baseball situation has changed today. As the matter now stands there will be a series of five games between the Star and Kamehameha clubs for the championship. It will be a case of best three in the five. The proposal comes from the Kamehameha club. This morning things were in a bit of a tangle. Artillery players denied that they had withdrawn from the league and said they intended playing the Stars tomorrow. The Kamehameha had not heard of the withdrawal of the Artillery team and had not prepared to play tomorrow. They went further and refused point blank to play the deciding game.

A conference between the players resulted in the proposal mentioned. Early this afternoon the Stars accepted it. The first game will therefore be played tomorrow and will be followed by others until one team or the other has won three games. This will certainly extend the season well into August which will be a satisfaction to baseball enthusiasts.

The Artillery team is now finally out of it. The boys played hard but lacked the practice to stand up to the local teams. If they are here next year it is expected that they will give the town clubs all they want to do for the championship.

THE COLUMBIA.

HONG KONG MARU.

She had not arrived at the wharf at the time of going to press.

TRIP TO MOLOKAI.

A COFFEE COMBINE.

How to Meet the Present Great Depression.

Minister Loomis writes from Caracas, June, 1899: "I inclose an article from the Venezuelan Herald, published in this city, which sets forth a plan for controlling the coffee output of the New World.

"The project is interesting as an evidence of the hard straits in which coffee growers in this and some other countries find themselves, by reason of the extremely low price which their product commands.
"Unless the price of coffee is advanced considerably within a year or two, a great many estates will have to be abandoned and the attention of the owners given to the cultivation of more profitable crops.
"The article says:
"The late Senor M. J. Olavarría advanced a proposition for the formation of a league of all the coffee producing countries, with the object of controlling the price of coffee. He estimated that the coffee producers of the Latin-American republics, under the conditions prevailing, are losing about $16,000,000 per year, of which about one half falls upon the Brazilian producers. Calculating the total production of the world at 13,000,000 bags of 132 pounds each, and the consumption at 12,000,000 bags, Mr. Olavarría considered that the fall in price is due to over production. He appealed to the Government of Venezuela to take an initiative by inviting the governments of other American producing countries to a conference, with a view to the formation of a coffee combination. The duties of this conference will be the restriction of the output, the formation of a central committee to control the sales, the imposing of a general export duty of 5 francs ($31 per bag (the proceeds to be applied to buying up the surplus exports), and, generally, the adoption of measures to increase consumption and decrease import duties on coffee in other countries. The production for all markets is to be restricted to 10,500,000 bags per annum, of which Brazil shall be permitted to export 6,000,000 bags, and the remainder is to be divided among all other countries."

THE PIE TRUST.

"Is it true," asked the cadaverous man, "that there is to be a pie trust?"
"There has been one for more than a hundred years," answered the fat man, "and every four years we hold an election to see who shall run it."—Indiana Journal.

"YOU MAY BEND THE SAPLING, BUT NOT THE TREE."

When disease has become chronic and deep seated it is often difficult to cure it. That is the reason why it is best to take Hood's Sarsaparilla when disease first shows itself—in pimples, headaches, indigestion, or other troubles which all of poor blood, weak stomach or disordered liver or kidneys. This great medicine regulates the whole system. It never disappoints.

FOOTBALL MEETING.

The Old Debt of $250 Nearly Wiped Out.

A meeting of the Honolulu football team is called for tomorrow at 12:30 in the rear office of the Hawaiian Trust and Investment Company, on Fort street. The present manager, J. Q.
Wood, will hand in his final report;
other business will be the election of a new manager and captain, and arranging for the coming season.

The financial report will show that only a small portion of the old debt of $250 now remains to be paid. It is earnestly desired that there be a full attendance of all the members of the team, as well as others who are interested in the game.

"HULLO" AND "HURRAH."

Philology teaches us that names were not born outright, but were the outcome of more or less slow growth.
Among exclamations in common use,
"Hullo!" and "Hurrah!" have curious origins attributed to them. It is said that the people of Carnwood Forest, in Leicestershire, when they desire to hail a person at a distance, still call out not "hullo!" but "halloop!" a survival of the times when one cried to another, "A loup! a loup!" or as we should now say,
"wolf! wolf!" "Hurrah!" again, according to one authority, is derived from the Slavonic word, "to Paradise," which signifies that all soldiers who fell fighting valiantly went straight to heaven.

If you are overworked, tired out,

it was impossible to get to sleep. Dr.

THE PLAGUE IS IN EGYPT

WHAT THE DREAD DISEASE IS CONNECTED WITH.

Why Europeans in Asia Escape Its Ravages—If It Got to Europe Its Effects Fatal to the Poor.

Commenting on the views that the plague has obtained a foothold in Egypt which state of things it regards as a menace to Europe, The Hospital, says:
"Roughly, we know that plague is in some way connected with filth and insanitation, with rats, with fleas, and bugs, and other forms of biting vermin, with overcrowding and want of light and air, and with the state of body which results from the use of innu-tritious food; and when we see that in Eastern countries, however much the natives may suffer, the English mostly escape attack, we are apt to feel that Europe need not fear. But the English who thus escape are the cleanly and well fed English, not the English of the slums; and much as we may hope from the general measures of sanitation which during the past twenty years have so greatly changed the conditions of the most Northern capitals, so far as public sanitation is concerned, we know too well what are the conditions of the dwellings which serve as homes for thousands—nay, for millions—of the people of this continent, to feel any confidence that Europe is proof from an attack of plague. As we have just said, the conditions in the midst of which, as all history shows, plague is apt to occur are well enough known, however little we may be able to demonstrate the part which each of them plays in its propagation. And who will assert that the conditions which we have enumerated do not exist in London—here at our very doors?"

How did the disease reach Egypt?
A recent correspondent of the British Medical Journal says:

"The origin of the outbreak has not been traced, and as all the cases of plague which have been met with occurring in persons who have been in the Red Sea coasts for either commercial or religious purposes, the explanation of the outbreak is difficult. One theory, which seems credible, is that the infection has been brought to the city by pilgrims from Mecca, and that the disease exists in a lower to a greater extent than is known, and was in all probability prevalent before the present cases occurred. This is so constantly the case in Eastern countries that it is exceedingly likely to be true of Alexandria."

PLEETING RICHES.

Mrs. Caroline Cox, seventy years old, who was once worth $70,000, was taken the other day to the almshouse in Bridgeport, Conn., by a sheriff, who had served a writ of execution on her property. Many years ago Mrs. Cox, who was then a widow and well to do, answered a "personal" in a New York newspaper, and later married Cox, the man who had inserted it. On their wedding tour Cox persuaded her to raise $22,000 by giving a blanket mortgage on all of her property to N. S. Wardin of Bridgeport. Cox took the money and went to California, where he secured a divorce. Mrs. Cox is now absolutely without means. Last autumn foreclosure proceedings were brought by the mortgagee, and the time for redeeming the property having expired, Mrs. Cox was taken to the workhouse. Mrs. Cox has no children and no relatives living.

TEARS.

Tears, says an American doctor, are a certain beauty destroyer, and bring wrinkles to the face sooner than anything else. Women who indulge in weeping on all ordinary occasions lose their good looks very early. A smiling face and a cheerful temper are the best preservatives of beauty in the world.

FRIDAY, JULY 28, 1899.

The semi-annual visit of the Board of Health, together with many friends, to the settlement on Moloai, is a very good thing. It prevents the people confined there from thinking that they are lost to the world. They are able to personally talk over their grievances, make complaints or express satisfaction for what has been done. This is far better than all the letters and petitions that can be written. It keeps the board in actual, personal touch with the settlement, and results in good all round.

It is satisfactory to learn that Mr. Cassidy promises to give the city a better telephone service than it has at present. The telephone causes mental anathemas than even the tramcar service. It has become so thoroughly essential to carrying on the business of the place, that when it fails to work, as it frequently does, it causes great inconvenience. The fault, perhaps, does not entirely lie with the instruments, but in a great measure it does. The telephone has never been a perfect instrument as we have had it here. It just misses being perfect. Sometimes it is almost impossible to call up central. Sometimes the sound of the voice is just perceptible. Sometimes there is a roar and buzz upon the wires, which makes communication impossible, and after vainly striving to carry on a conversation, it has to be given up. Anon, the wires are crossed, and one has to answer the instrument only to find that "it is a mistake." If Mr. Cassidy's innovations can prevent these unpleasant and exasperating happenings, he will have conferred a boon upon a suffering public.

RIVER PARK.

It begins to look as if the inhabitants of Palama were to be without their park when the legislative period closes, and that those who do not consider that the unfortunate inhabitants of that locality should have a recreation ground, are going to be successful in their efforts to block the desire of the Legislature.

A lady who drove through Palama a few days ago commented very severely upon this delay of the government in giving to the people this much needed space of ground. It is vacation time now, and the district swarms with children with nothing to do. She said it was pitiful to pass through the district and see street after street, and lane after lane, filled with children playing in the baking dust, getting under the wheels of passing carriage and seeking for mischief, because there was no rational play ground for them.

If that land had been turned over when it ought to have been, this summer vacation would have given time for the children to have done lots of work upon their park, and the spot, instead of being the disreputable looking affair it is, might have been framing towards being an ornament to the city. Everybody knows that it is pure determination in a certain quarter, not to have the place used for this purpose, that prevents the order of the Legislature being carried out. But if the people do not get their park they will remember who it is prevented them having it.

THE SAMOAN FUTURE.

The interviews with Commissioners Bartlett Tripp and Von Sternberg, which were published in yesterday's Star, are peculiarly interesting as giving the first authoritative statement of the work of the commission, and the first intimation of the future plan of government which they will lay before their respective home governments.

The success of the commission has been great, and the members of the commission are to be congratulated upon the tact with which they accomplished this result. The bugaboo that the Samoan would never yield up his rifle, was dissipated when the commissioners showed firmness in the matter, and the Badger has today the arms of the contending factions on board. The force which the commissioners had at their call was overwhelming, and they had power to increase it at will. The Samoan chiefs evidently understood this.

Thus during their tour through the islands the commissioners were treated with respect, their wishes attended to, and the chiefs laid aside their animosities and went through elaborate forms of reconciliation. After the commissioners had been round and explained their plan of government to the natives, they held a general meeting, and the Mataafa chiefs presented a draft of a form of government which coincided with that of the commissioners. In this, of course, there is nothing surprising, both sides were desirous of pleasing the commissioners, and agreed to what they thought would give the commissioners pleasure. This is a peculiarly Polynesian trait, especially when the Polynesian happens to be the under dog. It is something, but it does not necessarily count for much. A Polynesian likes to say and do what is pleasant, it is an amiable trait, but it leads to people being deceived and saying hard things of Polynesians.

But be this as it may, the commissioners left a profound peace in Samoa. They established a provisional government to carry on matters till the three powers agreed upon the permanent government, the form of which each commissioner will lay before his respective government. So far the commission has been a success. The point is, will what has been done, prove a permanent success?

Upon this there will be a diversity of opinion, and only time can show who is right. It is, however, competent to review the situation and consider the causes at work which will militate against permanent success.

Taking the native conditions, it is thought that the abolishing of the kingship will do away with the jealousy and intrigue which that position evidently entailed. Will it? There are several tribes, and it is unavoidable that one of these will desire to take the lead, and that the others will be jealous of the leader. The abolishing of the kingship will not change human nature. Mataafa may not aim to be king in name, but if all that is said of his character be true, he will aim at a foremost and commanding position among his fellow chiefs.

That though there is an outward show of good feeling among the higher chiefs, there is friction and feud smouldering, is evident by the several outbreaks of violence which have occurred, one of them actually in the presence of the commissioners. This is a factor to be considered. Stress is laid upon the fact that the Samoans have been disarmed. But the rifle is by no means the national weapon of the Samoans, and they can have far more brutal and bloody fights with clubs, spears and knives, than ever they have had with rifles of doubtful accuracy and poor ammunition. There are evidently elements of disorder here which may or may not blaze up like smouldering flax.

Now consider the form of government. It is to be conducted, as far as has been sketched by Baron Von Sternberg, by a person chosen from some neutral nation. The head of the government then will be neither American, German nor British. Probably a Swiss, Norwegian or Swede will fill the bill. But the fact of having a neutral head will not prevent the various American, German and British elements of the population hating one another as cordially in the future as they have done in the past, and intriguing to get each one the better of the other. This will ever be the result of tripartite control. There may not be the intrigue for the kingship, but there will be equally great intrigue for other things.

Great, therefore, as has been the success of the commission in bringing about peace, there is grave question whether there will be permanent rest and consequent progress. If the islands were, say, entirely in the hands of Germany, or of any one power, there might be permanent progress, but with divided control there never can be. The commissioners probably see this as clearly as any one else, but the putting under single control is not in their province. It is more than probable that the Samoan question will be no more settled in 1899 than it was settled by the Berlin treaty of more than a decade ago.

Man knows that Hope is a flatterer, yet he keeps on coaxing her to talk to him.

COMING OPERA SEASON

Season Subscriptions Depended on the Necessary Guarantee Fund to Get the Company to Come.

The Tivoli Opera Company is now expected either about the middle of August or the end of August. The arrangements are all made and the only question is the contingency of the subscription list amounting to the necessary guarantee. Such a company as the Tivoli organization cannot think of coming this distance under the heavy expenses to which it will be put, without a guarantee that will insure them against loss and an opportunity to reap financial success in some degree, commensurate with its artistic and popular capabilities.

Mr. Scott, in making the arrangements for bringing the company here, preferred to rely on the public appreciation of a season of delightful operas given by such an organization, rather than to draw on the public spirit of a few individuals to put up the guarantee fund required. It was to this end that the subscription list for season tickets was opened. The public is not asked to buy and pay for tickets at this time. It is simply asked to come forward and subscribe for tickets. This subscription secures the seats desired. They are checked off to the subscriber. As soon as dates are definitely fixed, and notice will be given to subscribers and tickets will then be issued, and the money received. The subscription ought to prove a test of whether the public really wants a season of opera or not.

With a good subscription list the opera season is assured and its success guaranteed. Subscribers can lose nothing. When dates are fixed and the company comes, they will pay their money. If the company does not come, the public and subscribers lose a season of opera, but the only financial loss will fall on the promoter, Mr. Scott.

Prices of seats have been fixed at $12 for the nine evening performances. At the three matinees, admission will be 50 cents, reserved seats $1. It is not necessary in subscribing for season tickets to subscribe for the matinee performances. The lower boxes will be $10 instead of $12; the boxes $10 and the upper boxes $6.

HAS NOT RESIGNED.

Persistent Rumors of Secretary Alger's Retirement.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—That contingent in administrative circles unfriendly to General Alger is jubilant tonight over certain assurances they claim to have received today that Alger will retire from the cabinet after he has presented to the President his annual report showing how the department has been managed under his administration with regard to the Philippine troubles. This report he does not wish his successor to write.

Certain it is this continued and persistent opposition to Alger is very annoying to the war secretary and he is growing extremely irritable under it. In the White House today when surrounded by correspondents, one of whom ventured to ask him regarding the latest rumor of his resignation, he was as gruff as a bear and angrily replied that he did not propose longer to discuss his private affairs.

It may be authoritatively stated that reports that Secretary Alger has already tendered his resignation are without foundation. The secretary has taken no such action nor has his resignation been asked for.

TIN TRADE.

It is said that a most profitable industry in France is that of creating out of empty sardine boxes that are thrown away the tin soldiers that are so greatly admired. Men gather these boxes and sell them to factories in which they are stamped into soldiers and cannon and other tin toys. After stamping they are painted, and made the delight of the children.

Shadow of Hersel

Stomach Was Too Weak to Retain Food

A Complete Cure Effected by Hood's Sarsaparilla

Now Enjoying the Best of Health, With Digestion Perfect.

"My mother was subject to sick headaches and indigestion for over a year. She was unable to stand for any length of time, and was obliged to stay in a dark room as she could not bear the light. She had no appetite whatever and her stomach was so weak she could not retain what food she did eat. She also had several pains in her head. She suffered so much that she became but the shadow of herself. One day I happened to read a testimonial about Hood's Sarsaparilla. It

Sounded So Truthful

I persuaded her to try this medicine. Before finishing the first bottle there was an improvement in her condition. She no longer threw up her food and her headache was not so severe. She took in all four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and several boxes of Hood's Pills and regained her weight. She is now enjoying the best of health. Her digestion is good and she can eat almost anything she wishes. She is 42 years old and says she feels as well as when she was 16. Hood's Sarsaparilla made a complete cure in her case."

PROCEEDINGS UNDER CAUTION?

OPINION IN THE KAUIA AND KANEAKUA CASES.

Frear Thinks a Reprimand Suits the Case. Stanley, Words of Caution. Whiting Thinks Nothing Necessary.

The oral statements of the judges of the supreme court, amounting to the court's opinion and decision in the matter of J. Mahiai Kaneakua and James K. Kauila, attorneys at law, petition for disbarment, have just been conducted to record from the official stenographer. The facts of the case, a summary of the testimony, and the conclusions of the judges are set out in this record, which is as follows:

By Justice Frear: The court deems it unnecessary to reserve the case for further consideration. We, perhaps, are not altogether agreed in all of our views upon the case. I shall attempt to state my views to some extent without meaning thereby to commit my associates to what I say in all respects. I am of the opinion that sufficient grounds have not been shown for disbarment or the suspension from practice of the respondents. There seem to be three scenes in this case. The first scene is laid on the Island of Lanai. It is conceded that Mr. Doyle cut and removed the trees in question. It is shown by the evidence that these trees were of considerable size, and were upon the land of the client of Mr. Kaneakua, and that they had grown there. These facts are material to some extent as going to show what Mr. Kaneakua's client told him, and as bearing on the motives of Mr. Kaneakua in this matter. The second scene is laid in the Island of Maui. Mr. Kaneakua's client went to him, not he to her, and laid her case before him, and represented that the trees were of a very large size and of very great value. No doubt her idea of their value became considerably enlarged after the trees were removed, inasmuch as they had been allowed to remain there for so many years unutilized. If, as she testified, or rather as he testified she represented, they were living trees, that would account in his mind for the fact that she had not utilized them. At any rate, she represented they were of very great value, and urged him to take criminal proceedings against Mr. Doyle. Mr. Kaneakua seemed to think it would be better to obtain compensation for the trees rather than to institute criminal prosecution. He wrote to Mr. Kauila, and Mr. Kauila, upon the receipt of this letter—which was the only source of his authority and information—went to the marshal, Mr. Brown, and to Mr. Doyle, openly and represented to them the contents of this letter, showing that his course was proper. He was encouraged in this to some extent by the actions of both Mr. Doyle and the marshal. It seems to me that these attorneys were not guilty of any criminal intent. It was represented to them that these trees were of large value and belonged to this woman. They undoubtedly had good reason to believe that they had ground for a civil suit against Mr. Doyle, and possibly, on the information they had, for a criminal action. However, I do not wish to make light of this matter. These attorneys, especially Mr. Kaneakua, it seems to me were somewhat careless in not examining further into the value of the trees. The naming of such a sum as $3000 must have put him on his guard to some extent, it being a very large value for any two kou trees. It seems to me both attorneys were very reckless or careless, or at least did not exercise due care that they should have exercised before demanding so large a sum and in connection with the statement that they would bring criminal proceedings against Mr. Doyle. It seems to me they made or gave undue prominence to the criminal part of the case in connection with the civil part. I think their idea was to get compensation for the trees, but they laid too great stress upon what was almost a threat, perhaps was a threat, to bring criminal proceedings. Perhaps they were guilty of ignorance of the law, and exercised undue care in the methods followed, and it therefore seems to me they should be reprimanded for these reasons. Members of the bar have great privileges and also great responsibilities, and are not always justified in proceeding on the instructions or the information given by their clients. They themselves have duties to perform. They should consider the high character of their profession, and try to live up to a high standard. I think the attorneys in this case were guilty of ignorance of the law to some extent, and were careless to some extent, and therefore ought to be reprimanded, but not suspended or disbarred. I will add in this connection that they had the practice, as testified to by the marshal of the court, of the institution, and I suppose we have judicial knowledge of the fact that that practice has been in vogue here in the marshal's department, and perhaps also in the attorney general's department, of setting certain classes of cases aside when possibly a criminal proceeding might have been taken. Perhaps the practice is not a good one. Discontinuing criminal proceedings upon a promise of settlement is practiced somewhat in the same way, and even occasionally sentences have been rendered of the amount of money embezzled upon a promise to pay.

By Justice Whiting: I will say with regard to this matter that on the face of the letters, there appears to be an attempt to collect a large sum of money out of a person under a threat or menace of prosecuting him for larceny, which I think would have been larceny in the first degree. That is a felony. That would come within the law of extortion or an attempt to extort. This was followed up in an open manner with the prosecuting officer we have here, and who is a lawyer, Mr. Brown, the marshal. From the facts, it seems to me, the case has been made out, but, to disbar members of the bar I consider that it is necessary to have it appear that they were guilty of gross misconduct, or such a state of facts proven as shows they are longer fit to remain members of the bar association. The benefit of the doubt in this case is given entirely to the respondents. The doubt in my mind is that they acted, not in a criminal way, but in gross ignorance of the law. On these grounds I think no further proceedings should be taken.

By Stanley, J.: I would like to say, briefly, that in the main I agree with what Justice Frear has said. His summing up fully embraces all matters of the case. Before he delivered his opinion my idea was that the information against the respondents should be dismissed, but after listening to his opinion I feel convinced such course might be erroneous. That would be placing too much importance on the charge of extortion made against defendants instead of what it really is—a charge of professional misconduct. On the charge of extortion I think no case has been made out. In my opinion it goes beyond what Justice Whiting has said, that the reasonable doubt should be resolved in favor of the defendants. When it comes to the question of professional misconduct even there I am reluctant that a sentence of reprimand should be passed on respondents. I think it is dealing with the case perhaps almost too strongly. I feel that all respondents have been guilty of in perhaps undue haste and carelessness. At first blush, and on reading the letters cursorily introduced in evidence it might appear there had been an attempt at extortion, but, I must say, I am fully satisfied with the explanations made by the respondents on the stand. I agree with Justice Frear in his remarks as to the lack of case on the part of respondents. There should be no reprimand. Rather, to my mind, it should be caution or words of advice rather than censure or reprimand.

THE BEST TREATMENT FOR CHOLERA INFANTUM.

Our baby has been continually troubled with colic and cholera infantum since his birth, and all that we could do for him did not seem to give more than temporary relief, until we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. ## SCINTILLATIONS AND GOOD ADVICE.

"Something must be done with those boys of mine at the college," exclaimed a staid old citizen. "They're wilder than March hares and in hot water all the time." "Oh, well, they're young yet, and you must make allowances." "Make allowances, man? That's what's keeping me poor."

"Look out for the pennies, and the dollars will take care of themselves." Put your dollars into a high-grade Sterling bicycle instead of maintaining somebody's repair shop with the pennies. A good bicycle is a good investment.

THE TOP—"Say, Rubber, you're pretty quiet this a. m. You must have been 'bounced' last week."
RUBBER BALL—"You look rather top-heavy on your 'peg'; evidently the boys have been stringing and throwing you down."

THE TOP (sadly)—"Yes, I wish I were like you—when the boys throw you down you get back at them."
Points to consider when buying a wheel: quality of material used, manner in which it is put together, style, appearance, durability and price. These points considered, the Sterling sold by the P. C. & M. Co. on Fort St. is undoubtedly in the lead.

BOUTS—"Who is Reverend Mr. Gates of Hilo, who criticises boat-racing?"
JOUTS—"He represents 'Gates a Jaw'."

PLACING THE TEACHERS

NUMEROUS CHANGES AT HAND FOR NEW YEAR.

Number of Resignations Larger Than Ever Before—Meeting of the Commissioners Yesterday Afternoon.

At the meeting of the Commissioners of Education yesterday afternoon a long list of teacher's applications for schools, transfers, etc., came up for consideration. It was referred to the teachers' committee. As very few of these matters have yet been decided a special meeting of the commissioners will be held next week to make the assignments.

This year the commissioners will not have to handle the matter of increases in salaries, which usually takes up much time very summer. It has been decided that in view of the shortage in funds of the department, there shall be no increase for any cause whatever, until next year.

Indications are that there will be more changes in teachers this year than ever before. There have been an unusual number of resignations, which will entail the enlistment of new teachers. Quite a few resignations in the city will probably bring in a number of country teachers.

At yesterday's meeting the following resignations were accepted: E. R. Gibson, from the Pahoa school; Charles Weatherbee, Hana, Maui; W. Vredenberg, Waimea, Hawaii.

Considerable routine business was transacted and a number of important matters were discussed. Among the latter was the summer school, the program for which is now in course of preparation. Another was the new location of the Reformatory school and some improvements to be made in the courses of training, particularly the industrial lines. Superintendent Needham, Professor Alexander and Allan Herbigt have the matter in hand.

FLAGS SIDE BY SIDE.

German and American Ensigns Float Together.

Side by side the German and American flags floated from the peak of the United States ship Badger as she came into port shortly after 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. They signified the presence on board of two of the members of the high commission to Samoa from the three powers party to the Berlin treaty, Baron Von Sternberg, the German representative who is prospectively German ambassador to the United States, and Hon. Bartlett Tripp, the American representative who has served his country with distinction at home, and abroad as a diplomatic representative. Hon. C. N. E. Elliott, Great Britain's representative, did not come on the Badger, hence the absence of Britain's flag along with the other two. He took the opportunity of the completion of the work of the commission afforded to visit his sister in New Zealand. He was to leave by the Mariposa for Auckland. He will probably arrive here by the next mail steamer from the Colonies. He is also said to be slated for an ambassadorship, that of British ambassador to the United States.

The Badger left Apla July 18, and made the trip in practically eight days. She will coal here and probably sail for San Francisco on Saturday.

The Badger arrived here on her way to Samoa May 3, and reached Apla May 17. She is in command of James M. Miller, commander U. S. N., who was in all the naval maneuvers around Sanago, has been all over the world, and whom it is a delight to meet.

IN MEMORY OF AN EMPRESS.

It has been decided to erect a chapellet in Geneva, as near as possible to the spot where Empress Elizabeth was assassinated. The Emperor of Austria and all the members of the imperial family have contributed largely toward the fund for this monument, the foundation stone of which is to be laid by the emperor on the anniversary of the tragic event. It will be a Gothic building, and large enough to hold a congregation of from 400 to 500 persons. The design will be a miniature of the Votiv-Kirche, in Vienna.

KODAKS.

You are told that "there is no Kodak but the Eastman Kodak." We handle only Eastman Kodaks. Their goods are a guarantee of quality. We have them from $5 to $35, and whether you buy the lowest priced instrument or the highest, they will be found just as represented. Kodaks make the best of Holiday Presents, acceptable to either sex.

FILMS.

Eastman Films are good Films. That is the reason we handle them exclusively. You will always find our Films fresh, and fresh Films insure the best work.

Developing and Printing.

Many amateurs enjoy the work of developing and printing. There are others who have not the time or inclination to do the work themselves. We make a specialty of this branch of the Kodak business. Our customers are kind enough to say we turn out better work than they get elsewhere. We take pride in this department of our business. Every Film developed carefully. If our photographer finds you are making mistakes he will correct you. That's a very important advantage. Let us show you what we can do.
