An inspector of food is needed in establishments where fresh goods are not always found. No one but a dealer in inferior stuff would object to it for the reason that men who make a point of buying the best goods at figures within the reach of the average breadwinner sell them so quickly that there is no danger of their spoiling.

We are making a specialty of groceries, good groceries which we buy and sell cheap. Care in the selection of them, no job lots left on the hands of jobbers, but good clean clear cut goods suitable for the best class of people, but which we sell at prices within the reach of every one. Our reputation for selling Dry Goods cheap extends from Niihau to Hawaii; it will be no greater than the record we intend making for selling groceries cheap. Our stock comprises: Teas, Coffees, Syrups, Honey, Jellies, Cross & Blackwell's Jams, Sago, Tapioca, Saloon Bread, Fish in tins, Salt Pork in tins for family use, and the best varieties of cheese.

Our stock is new and new goods are received by every steamer.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

PROCEEDINGS AT THE WEEKLY SESSION YESTERDAY.

Outline Reports Read—Bath House for the Leper Settlement Ordered—Kalihl Experimental Station.

Attorney-General Smith occupied his usual position as president of the Board of Health at the meeting yesterday afternoon, the other members present being Drs. Wood and Emerson, T. F. Lansing and D. Keliipio.

After the routine business of reading the minutes and various reports of officials was finished the matter of a bath house for the leper settlement was brought up, and it was decided to have Superintendent Meyer and Dr. Oliver arrange suitable plans. The erection of a shed at the landing was also ordered.

Action on the charges of malpractice brought against C. T. Akana was again deferred.

Dr. Wood called the attention of the Board to certain matters at the experimental station and Kapiolani Home for girls, and president Smith said he would make the necessary investigations.

The question of examining school children again came up on the receipt of a letter from Dr. Howard, asking explicit instructions as to the extent of the examination he was required to make, and suggesting the employment of a lady physician for the girls.

President Smith said the matter in issue was whether the pupil had been vaccinated or not, not the general health of the scholar.

Dr. Wood suggested that the only way to do was to keep those children who were not vaccinated out of the public schools until they were, but no final action was taken by the Board.

The meeting closed with a description by Dr. Wood of the enforcement of the Japanese laws regarding prostitution and the of cremating manner bodies as witnessed by him during his recent trip to Japan.

"THE WOMAN IN BLACK."

EDITOR BULLETIN: I am a lady of moderate means but nevertheless a lady, and I must say that never in my life was I so outrageously treated as has been my misfortune since I came to your city two weeks ago. I have always endeavored to conduct myself in a perfectly modest and ladylike manner, and I do not see that the editors and reporters on the Pacific Commercial Advertiser have any right to criticize my actions in the ungentlemanly and flagrantly open way in which they have done. They have, as you of course know, even gone so far as to publish my picture and keep track of my movements, besides exciting the curiosity of the few readers of their paper, so that I am constantly being annoyed by impertinent people who follow me around and stare at me as if I were some escaped lunatic or dime museum freak.

My husband is a naturalist and a very absent-minded man, having, through a series of serious misfortunes, partially lost his memory. He left our home in Omaha about a year ago and for nine months I found no trace of his whereabouts. At last, through the efforts of a kind and very dear friend, I learned that he had taken passage on a steamship (the Mariposa I think) for the Sandwich Islands. I immediately arranged my affairs and, after a great many delays, I finally reached here on the seventeenth instant.

Now, my husband's habit has been, when suffering from his trouble, to walk about the streets and roads during the night. Many times, in Omaha, he has been found wandering around aimlessly and brought home by police officers or acquaintances. Here, of course, he would be entirely unknown, and although I spent the first few days after my arrival in making inquiries at the hotels and boarding houses and at the police station, I could get no clue. I am now searching for him persistently by going through the streets at night in the hope that I may meet him.

My dear husband and I have always thought the world of each other and I feel sure that I shall some day find him. I shall continue my efforts until I do.

I must say that I think the publicity given my actions by the paper mentioned is enough to make anyone in my circumstances very indignant, to say the least. If you have not the space in your columns to print this letter, will you kindly return it through the post office to,

Yours respectfully,
MRS. JAMES HAYES,
"The Woman in Black."
Honolulu, July 30, 1896.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

First Public Meeting of the New Members.

At yesterday's meeting of the Board of Education there were present President Cooper, Mrs. Dillingham, Mrs. Jordan and W. A. Bowen. Inspector-general Townsend and his deputy, J. F. Scott, were also on hand.

The Inspector-general reported that he had ordered the government school at Halawa, North Kohala, to be re-opened and the buildings to be gotten in readiness by September. He also had taken similar action in regard to the school at Mana.

Lum Wing Yin petitioned to be allowed to open a school for instruction in the Chinese language. The secretary was instructed to notify the applicant that no school could be open for children within the school age, from six to fifteen years, except upon the basis of instruction in the English language. Schools for persons beyond that age are not under the control of the Department of Education.

Applications for positions as teachers were received from Mrs. M. S. Goddard, Miss Venight and Miss Rasmussen and referred to the Committee on Teachers, consisting of Minister Cooper, Prof. Alexander and Mrs. Dillingham.

THIS MORNING'S FIRE.

Lucas's Planing Mill the Scene of the Blaze.

The alarm of fire at 10 minutes past midnight came from Lucas's planing mill. It originated in the rear room of the office, which is separated from the main building by brick walls. When discovered the fire was in and underneath the floor. A stream from the chemical engine extinguished the blaze in a few minutes, the only damage being to a portion of the floor from fire and to the desks and furniture by the chemical compound, which will wash off. A box filled with sawdust was used as a spittoon in the office, and it is supposed someone threw in the lighted end of a cigar, which communicated the fire to the sawdust and thence through the bottom of the box to the floor. The damage was trifling.

IN THE HIGHER COURTS

BRUNS MAINTAINS HIS RIGHT TO ESTABLISH LEASE.

An Appeal on Demurrer Dismissed Without Prejudice—Accounts of the Cornot Estate.

The long-pending controversy of F. Harrison and A. V. Gear vs. J. H. Bruns has been decided by the Supreme Court. A verdict was rendered for the defendant at the February term, 1896, and plaintiffs appealed. The case was this: The Minister of Interior advertised for sale at public auction a lease of a government lot on the esplanade in Honolulu, and at the sale the auctioneer, a clerk of the Interior Department, knocked the lease down to defendant and made an entry to the effect in defendant's name alone at the time, the defendant being the bidder. The plaintiffs offered to prove by oral testimony that defendant agreed with them that defendant would bid for and purchase the lease of land in question, and that the defendant broke this contract, and took the lease in his own name, and refuses to let plaintiffs into a share, and for this breach they claim damages. The plaintiffs also claimed that the agreement was in the nature of a partnership, and that such an agreement was not within the statute of frauds and need not be in writing.

Justice Whiting writes the unanimous opinion of the Court, overruling the exceptions. He quotes the Hawaiian statute of frauds, which provides that no action can be maintained on any contract for the sale of lands, unless it be in writing and signed by the party to be charged therewith. The Court refuses to consider exceptions against the ruling out of evidence for the plaintiffs, which are simply referred to as in the reporter's minutes and not written out on the face of the bill.

The law of the case is thus laid down: "If A and B make an oral contract, by which A is to buy land by auction upon the joint account of both in equal shares, the contract is within the statute of frauds, and, after the land has been conveyed to A, B cannot maintain an action for breach of contract."

Neumann for plaintiffs; Hartwell, Thurston and Stanley for defendant.

A decision has been rendered in Edward B. Barthrop and Joseph Schlumph vs. Kona Coffee Company, Limited, Victor J. Capron and James F. Morgan. It is by Justice Frear and unanimous, dismissing defendants, appeal without prejudice. The case had only reached the stage of the demurrer being overruled in the lower court, and the Supreme Court says:

"A decision overruling a demurrer to a bill in equity is not final for the purposes of appeal."

"An appeal in equity should be taken from the decree, not from the opinion of the court."

"Where a hearing on demurrer is pending and no time has been set for trial on the facts, the expenses of a witness summoned by plaintiff should not be taxed to defendant."

Little for plaintiffs, Thurston & Stanley for defendants.

F. A. Schaefer has presented his annual account as trustee of the estate of A. A. Cornot, showing receipts $2702.61, payments $1880.46, balance $822.20. The inventory gives the value of the estate as $18,822.20.

The Chinese horse replevin case is on, for the second day, before Judge Carter.

POLICE COURT MATTERS

Judge Wilcox Sentences a Native for Running a Distillery.

In the District Court this morning Judge Wilcox made an example of Kaeha, who pleaded guilty of distilling okolehae, by sentencing him to three months imprisonment and a fine of $100.

Kanelua pleaded guilty of selling swipes and got his sentence suspended, at the request of the prosecution.

The case of Ah Pau and Kuan Sin, charged with selling foreign goods without a license, was continued to August 6th at request of the defendants.

Kalua, Kauhau and Anulea will be tried on August 4th for having opium in possession illegally.

Manuel Pestano entered a plea of not guilty of malicious injury and mischief in shooting a bullet through the house of one Antonio Rodrigues at night and inflicting damages on the house to the extent of $2.50. His trial was set for Saturday.

Makainui acknowledged assaulting a fellow citizen and cutting him in the arm with a knife. He was fined $20 and costs amounting to $3 more.

The Vigesimal System.

One of the facts presented by Professor Cornot in his interesting volume, "The Number Concept," is the way Celtic races have held on to the vigesimal system, or numeration having 20 as basis. It is found in old Irish, Welsh, Gaelic, Manx and Breton. When, however, 1,000 is reached, then comes in the Latin, as if the effects of Roman conquest were visible, for in Irish, Gaelic and Breton "mile" or "mil" is 1,000. Another peculiarity is that in French the persistence of the vigesimal system is visible. The French 80 is quatre-vingt, four times 20, and their 99 is quatre-vingt-dix, or four times 20, with 10 added. In old French soixante does not appear. It was treize vins, or three times 20. One hundred and twenty was six vins—that is, six times 20—and sept vins, or seven times 20, was 140. In Africa the vigesimal system is rare, but in Asia it is not uncommon, and is in use in northern Siberia.

Mrs. Howe's Husband.

Apropos of the "new woman," somebody resurrected an old story the other day about Mrs. Julia Ward Howe that may or may not be true. At all events, it was worth resurrecting. The story goes that Mrs. Howe was one fine morning walking down Beacon street, Boston, when she met a friend, who asked her how Dr. Howe was. "Dr. Howe," repeated Mrs. Howe vaguely. Then, as if suddenly recollecting herself: "Oh, he's quite well, I'm sure. I remember seeing in the morning paper that he presided at some meeting or other this evening."

Pubst Is Its Name.

Climate of every variety exerts a different influence on the desires of mankind for a stimulant. In colder zones beverages of great alcoholic strength are used to a very much larger degree than in the tropics. Beer is best suited to our climate and none found in the market is better than that bearing the brand of "PILSENER BEER." It is brewed from the best of malt and hops and is a great thirst quencher and invigorator and stimulates the nerves and muscles. At the Royal, Commercial and Pacific saloons it may be found, cold and pure. Interchangeable checks are issued which may be used at any of the three resorts.

M. A. Peixoto, proprietor of the Union barber shop, next to the Art Gallery, guarantees to give a shave that will make your hair curl with joy.

When you are down on your luck and feel as if the world was cold, hard and dreary, just step into the Criterion saloon and partake of a glass of beer, and you will find that a glass of beer will do you good.

MAKAPALA BY THE SEA.

XXIV.—BOATS THAT PASS AND RE-PASS IN THE NIGHT AND IN THE DAY.

By ANNE MARIE PRESCOTT.

I.

Salute that native's boat; Salute, salute we say! Salute the native's oar That brings us safe to shore; Salute, salute we say.

But, as for poor little Makapala there is never a sign—divil a bit, of the plantation on the face of it, just toilers abide within its gates, hewers of wood and drawers of water indeed, Chinese and natives. There is, however, the same Pacific in front of it, the same glorious sky, of all Hawaii nei, over it; the same delightful atmosphere surrounds it; the same one God and Saviour Jesus is preached into its ears.

This little village is not rich as most usually count riches, and as they countably do count them in sugar. But if you go to the upland you can look south and west on plantations of richest hue. Where? How rich! And if you will gaze "away down east," there is little Nihi close on to the sea, busy as a bee, all about one thing—sugar cane. On that one theme this whole district, excepting the little Makapala, is busy.

Yes, Mahukona 12 miles off is the leading port of North Kohala and this district is the most northerly of the whole six and the richest, and the most important and the smallest in this island of Hawaii. It's a mighty pretty, green bit of earth and cool as a cucumber, its lettuce and radishes are crisp, its lentils are tender, cabbages heady, sweet potatoes and taro and onions, pineapples, figs, strawberries, oranges, eggs, milk, fresh butter—all there—"Who'll bid? Going, going, gentlemen! Gone."

Where is coffee? You've lost your bearings. Not on this side of Hawaii. But let me tell you here, now you ask; coffee is jealous of cane, rice is getting jealous of coffee, Wailuku is jealous of Hilo, Hilo is intensely jealous of Honolulu, Kauai says, "if it is not as big as Maui it's enough sight more beautiful," and so this little island—world wags on and on to the end of the chapter. "By my troth, Nerina, my little body is weary of this great world." It is very natural of course, that we should, nearly all of us, fall into the error that almost the entire population of the globe rise in the morning and climbing the highest point handy, shade their eyes, looking seaward toward Hawaii. But, this is so-phistry.

Someone has said that "a thing is never too often repeated that is not well-learned." And it does, to us, seem strange, now, that all intelligent, educated people, everywhere, are not perfectly conversant with the affairs of the Islands, from a political, physical and every other standpoint. But it is not at all so. The steam-boat companies, you say, have been sowing the seed now for years, broadcast. Have they? How many copies all told? A teacher insists on accuracy—facts not fancies. There are as you know some sixty-three million at home—my home. They do not all live in San Francisco, New York or Washington. In those three cities the population, to a certain extent, know of the Sandwich Islands. Yes, we admit that point.

There are, literally, millions of intelligent beings in the United States who know no more about Hawaii for instance, than they know about Japan in England, or about the Sandwich Islands, or millions more be it said, who care to know no more about it. They are interested in the little world about them and wish to be let entirely alone. Why, it is a literal fact, not a needless of yarn or worsted, that the writer had to stay in a village in New Hampshire, off the railroad some distance, over a Sunday; and the villagers had heard incidentally, that there was a town in Massachusetts by the name of—!

THE BUSINESS TAX.

Some commotion has been created in mercantile circles by the putting in operation of the amended tax law...

Information required in estimating aggregate value of business enterprises for profit, required by Section 68 Session Laws 1896.

STATEMENT OF PAST YEAR'S BUSINESS.

Amount gross receipts... Total actual running expenses... Amount net profits...

SALES OF CORPORATION STOCK.

Number tons, estimated crop, for the succeeding year... Estimated aggregate value of business enterprise...

REMARKS.

So as to bring the two near together for facility of comparison, the amended form of Schedule E, adopted after correspondence related below is here given:

Information required in estimating aggregate value combined property which is the basis of business enterprises for profit, required by Section 68 Session Laws 1896.

STATEMENT OF PAST YEAR'S BUSINESS.

Amount gross receipts for year to July 1st, 1896... Total actual running expenses for year to July 1st, 1896... Amount net profits for year to July 1st, 1896...

(Then below blank table for sales of corporation stock, instead of blanks in first form):

Estimated aggregate value of the combined property forming the basis of the business enterprise known as...

REMARKS.

When the first form was issued, about all of the large corporations and firms in the city joined in a letter of protest to the tax assessor...

return according to Schedule E during the month of July, 1896. Section 68 of the Act in question, they proceeded to say, "provides only for such returns as are to be made in the month of January of each year."

Minister Damon, replying on behalf of the assessor, called the attention of the protesters to section 17 of the law, providing "that the combined property forming such basis of such enterprise for profit shall be assessed as a whole on its fair and reasonable aggregate value."

Thus the issues are clearly drawn between the protesting taxpayers and the law as interpreted by the Minister of Finance. In his letter Mr. Damon promised to have the schedule in question amended to correct its uncertainty as to the time for which the business tax is levied.

"It is amusing to note that the adverse criticism passed upon our remarks concerning metropolitan newspapers comes from men who know as little about practical newspaper work in the United States as they do of flying machines."

It is amusing to note also that before the author of the foregoing sneer had learned his A B C's—he has yet to master his spelling book—the writers on the BULLETIN were past masters in American journalism, as they can prove.

The Advertiser's editorial note in this morning's issue about the price of quinine in Italy has been going the rounds of the press for the last year. It was published in the BULLETIN as reprint matter several months ago, which shows just how far the Advertiser is behind the times.

REFRIGERATING MACHINES AND CREAM SEPARATORS.

Now that the Fourth of July celebration is over and people are settling down to business again, we desire to call the attention of the residents of the Hawaiian Islands to a few matters of interest.

We have lately been appointed sole agents for BARBER'S REFRIGERATING MACHINES.

This machine can readily be arranged in creameries, etc., so as to cool cream, milk and water to any desired temperature down to and below freezing, as also to hold a well-insulated butter-room at any temperature desired above 30 degrees, only requiring the running of the machine from four to six hours per day, which is the usual time that the other machinery in a creamery is operated.

In addition to creameries, these machines are also adapted for use in produce houses, meat markets, hotels, club houses, etc. Their perfect work has been demonstrated fully in the past two years in a large number of creameries in different portions of the East, and more particularly in the Elgin, Ill., district, as well as in butter houses in Chicago, New Orleans, and elsewhere.

The cost of operation is nominal, as the charge of ammonia furnished with the plant should last a year or more without recharging, and will cost only about $15.00.

The DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATORS are now in almost universal creamery or factory use the world over, and in the past few years the Dairy or "Baby" sizes of these machines have almost as completely revolutionized general dairying as had the larger machines previously the creamery industry.

The De Laval Company now presents to the public a smaller type of its latest and most improved "Alpha" machines intended for household and small dairy use, and designed to confer in its new field the same inestimable benefits of centrifugal separation of cream from milk as have the larger machines in their respective spheres.

No more fitting and descriptive term could well be applied to this little machine than the name which has been so aptly given it,—the "Humming-Bird." It is very small, very compact, extremely simple, easily understood and cared for, safe and durable. It possesses every advantage to be found in any of the larger "Alpha" machines, is so extremely easy of operation by reason of its new method of obtaining motion as to be designed mainly for use by women and children, and is absolutely thorough in its effectiveness. It need simply be said that it fulfills every requirement of its purpose.

W. W. DIMOND'S

This is hot weather, food spoiling weather, unless the proper attention is given to refrigerator suggestions. There's all sorts of devices for keeping food fresh, good, bad or indifferent. Some of the named refrigerators are no better than dry goods boxes; the lining is not right and the system of draught and air circulation is defective.

In the United States there were complaints against the Gurney, complaints we had not heard of here. When we were at the Coast a few weeks ago, we took the trouble to investigate and learned that the objections were all right, but they were against the Gurney Challenge refrigerator and not the Gurney Cleanable.

We sell the Cleanable; were appointed sole agents for the Hawaiian Islands and we don't sell any other. The Gurney Cleanable is lined with mineral wool, the greatest non-conductor known to science; the Gurney Challenge is lined with charcoal and is a cheap combination that is unserviceable.

Foods are easily kept sweet and appetizing with a right refrigerator to help. Your summer health is easier kept than regained. There are many refrigerators, some excellent ones, but none equal the Gurney Cleanable. Profits are forgotten when we sell them.

HIS FIRST FIGHT.

A friend of mine, a soldier, who died in Greece of fever some years since, described to me one day his first engagement. His story so impressed me that I wrote it down from memory. It was as follows:

I joined my regiment on Sept. 4. It was evening. I found the colonel in the camp. He received me rather brusquely, but having read the general's introductory letter he changed his manner and addressed me courteously.

By then I was presented to my captain, who had just come to his quarters. This captain, whose acquaintance I had scarcely time to make, was a tall, dark man of hard, swelling aspect. He had been a private soldier and had won his stripes and epaulettes upon the field of battle. His voice, which was hoarse and hoarse, contrasted sharply with his general aspect. This voice of his hoarse, as I was told, to a bullet which had passed completely through his body at the battle of Jena.

On learning that I had just come from college at Westpoint, he remarked with a very face, "My lieutenant died last night."

I understood what he implied—"It is for you to take his place, and you are good for nothing."

A sharp rebuff was on my tongue, but I restrained it.

The moon was rising behind the redoubt of Cheverino, which stood two cannon shots from our encampment. The moon was large and red, as is common at her rising, but that night she seemed to me of extraordinary size. For an instant the redoubt stood out coal black against the glittering disk. It resembled the eruption of a volcano at the moment of eruption.

An old soldier at whose side I found myself observed the color of the moon. "She is very red," he said. "It is a sign that it will cost us dear to win this wonderful redoubt."

I was always superstitious, and this piece of augury, coming at that moment, troubled me. I sought my couch, but could not sleep. I rose and walked about awhile, watching the long line of fires upon the heights beyond the village of Cheverino.

When the sharp night air had thoroughly refreshed my blood, I went back to the fire. I rolled my mantle round me, and I shut my eyes, trusting not to open them till daybreak. But sleep refused to visit me. Insensibly my thoughts grew doleful. I told myself that I had not a friend among the 100,000 men who filled that plain. If I were wounded, I should be placed in hospital in the hands of ignorant and careless surgeons. I called to mind what I had heard of operations. My heart beat violently, and I mechanically arranged as a kind of rude cuirass my handkerchief and pocketbook upon my breast. Then, overpowered with weariness, my eyes closed drowsily, only to open the next instant with a start at some new thought of horror.

Fatigue, however, at last gained the day. When the drums beat at daybreak, I was fast asleep. We were drawn up in ranks. The roll was called, then we stacked our arms, and everything announced that we should pass another uneventful day.

But about 3 o'clock an aid-de-camp arrived with orders. We were commanded to take arms.

Our sharpshooters marched into the plain. We followed slowly, and in 20 minutes we saw the outposts of the Russians falling back and entering the redoubt. We had a battery of artillery on our right, another on our left, but both some distance in advance of us. They opened a sharp fire upon the enemy, who returned it briskly, and the redoubt of Cheverino was soon concealed by volumes of thick smoke. Our regiment was almost covered from the Russians' fire by a piece of rising ground. Their bullets (which besides were rarely aimed at us, for they preferred to fire upon our cannoners) whistled over us at worst knocked up a shower of earth and stones.

Just as the order to advance was given the captain looked at me intently. I stroked my sprouting mustache with an air of unconcern. In truth, I was not frightened and only dreaded lest I might be thought so. These passing bullets aided my heroic coolness, while my self respect assured me that the danger was a real one, since I was veritably under fire. I was delighted at my self possession and already looked forward to the pleasure of describing in Parisian drawing rooms the capture of the redoubt of Cheverino.

The colonel passed before our company. "Well," he said to me, "you are going to see warm work in your first action."

I gave a martial smile and brushed off my ears, on which a bullet which had struck the earth at 30 paces distant had cast a little dust.

It appeared that the Russians had discovered that their talk to did no harm, for they ordered them to a fire of shells, which began to reach us in the hollows where we lay. One of these shells fell within our ranks and wounded a man beside me.

"I congratulate you," said the captain as I picked up my rifle. "You are only new for the day."

Sleep

Induced by the use of coca, opiate or narcotic compounds is bad, decidedly bad. It undermines the health and shatters the constitution and the patient is steadily growing into a worse condition—often resulting in the terrible slavery and misery of the cocaine and opium habit. Sleep induced by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla may not come as quickly, but it comes more surely, permanently and is

Sweet

And refreshing because it is realized through nature's great restoring and rejuvenating channel—purified, vitalized and enriched blood. This feeds the nerves with life-giving energy and builds up the system and constitution from the very foundation of all health and life—the blood—pure, rich, red blood.

Refreshing

"I was generally run down last spring, appetite was poor and I could not sleep. Hood's Sarsaparilla built me right up, gave good appetite and I was soon able to go on my regular work." G. P. WHELAN, Merchant, Yeomans St., Ionia, Michigan.

MRS. L. A. BRENTNER.

Crazed with Pain.

Mrs. Brentner Completely Prostrated

Every Month with Nervous

Headache.

Heart-felt Praise for the Medicine

That Cured Her.

Thousands of women are today blessing Paine's Celery Compound for the great good it has done them, and scores have written letters similar to that of Mrs. L. A. Brentner.

SAN JACINTO, CAL.

Dear Sirs:—I have suffered severely with nervous sick headaches, with which I was troubled every month. The pain was so severe that it completely prostrated me and it seemed to me that I should go crazy. I had tried all kinds of remedies without obtaining any permanent relief until I used Paine's Celery Compound which completely cured me.

Mrs. L. A. Brentner

J. M. BUCHNER.

The Medicine That

Makes People Well!

Why suffer longer with liver and stomach troubles? Paine's Celery Compound will make you well. Read how it cured Mr. J. M. Buchner.

Kettle Falls, Wash., Dec. 9, 1894.

Gentlemen:—I have taken only two bottles of Paine's Celery Compound for rheumatism, and liver and stomach troubles, and will be frank in saying that I am well pleased with the results. I used one bottle and was so much better that I purchased the second for a time, but my old stomach trouble made its appearance again. I procured another bottle in September and after using that I felt well.

I knew the military superstition which believes that the axiom "non bis in idem" is as applicable to the battlefield as to the courts of justice. I replaced my shako with a swagger.

"That's a rude way to make one raise one's hat," I said as lightly as I could. And this wretched piece of wit was, in the circumstances, received as excellent.

"I compliment you," said the captain. "You will command a company tonight, for I shall not survive the day. Every time I have been wounded the officer below me has been touched by some spent ball, and," he added in a lower tone, "all the names began with P."

I laughed skeptically. Most people would have done the same, but most would also have been struck, as I was, by these prophetic words. But, conscript though I was, I felt that I could trust my thoughts to no one, and that it was my duty to seem always calm and bold.

At the end of half an hour the Russian fire had sensibly diminished. We left our cover to advance on the redoubt.

Our regiment was composed of three battalions. The second had to take the enemy in flank. The two others formed the storming party. I was in the third.

On issuing from behind the cover we were received by several volleys, which did but little harm. The whistling of the balls amazed me. "But after all," I thought, "a battle is less terrible than I expected."

We advanced at a smart run, our muskets in front.

All at once the Russians uttered three hurrahs, three distinct hurrahs, and then stood silent without firing.

"I don't like that silence," said the captain. "It bodes no good."

I began to think our people were too eager. I could not help comparing, mentally, their shouts and clamor with the striking silence of the enemy.

We quickly reached the foot of the redoubt. The palisades were broken and the earthworks shattered by our balls. With a roar of "Vive l'empereur!" our soldiers rushed across the ruins.

I raised my eyes. Never shall I forget the sight which met my view. The smoke had mostly lifted and remained suspended like a canopy at 20 feet above the redoubt. Through a bluish mist could be perceived behind the shattered parapet the Russian grenadiers with rifles lifted, as motionless as statues. I can see them still—the left eye of every soldier glaring at us, the right hidden by his lifted gun. In an embrasure at a few feet distant a man with a fuse stood by a cannon.

I shuddered. I believed that my last hour had come.

"Now for the dance to open," cried the captain. These were the last words I heard him speak.

There came from the redoubts a roll of drums. I saw the muzzles lowered. I shot my eyes. I heard a most appalling crash of sound, to which succeeded groans and cries. Then I looked up, amazed to find myself still living. The redoubt was once more wrapped in smoke. I was surrounded by the dead and wounded. The captain was extended at my feet. A ball had carried off his head, and I was covered with his blood. Of all the company only six men except myself remained erect.

This carnage was succeeded by a kind of stupor. The next instant the colonel, with his hat on his sword's point, had scaled the parapet with a cry of "Vive l'empereur!" The survivors followed him. All that succeeded is to me a kind of dream. We rushed into the redoubt. I know not how; we fought hand to hand in the midst of smoke so thick that no man could perceive his enemy. I found my sabre dripping blood. I heard a shout of "Victory!" and in the clearing smoke I saw the earthworks piled with dead and dying. The cannons were covered with a heap of corpses. About 200 men in the French uniform were standing without order loading their muskets or wiping their bayonets. Eleven Russian prisoners were with them.

The colonel was lying, bathed in blood, upon a broken cannon. A group of soldiers crowded round him. I approached them.

"Who is the oldest captain?" he was asking of a sergeant.

The sergeant shrugged his shoulders most expressively.

"Who is the oldest lieutenant?"

"This gentleman, who came last night," replied the sergeant calmly.

The colonel smiled bitterly.

"Come, sir," he said to me, "you are now in chief command. Fortify the gorge of the redoubt at once with your own force; the enemy is out in force. But General C— is coming to support you."

"Colonel," I asked him, "are you badly wounded?"

"Fish, my dear fellow. The redoubt is taken."—Prosper Mérimée.

PURIFINE

Is the disinfectant that the world is talking about. In the United States its merits are becoming known. The people are using it. Purifine possesses many points in its favor over other preparations. It is odorless, and in employing it as a disinfecting agent, does not create another odor as offensive as that which it subdues. Non-poisonous too. That's an advantage—children will meddle; servants misunderstand; then there's trouble. Some one is poisoned.

Those who use it speak its praise in convincing language. Here's one from the Department of Medicine in the University of Michigan.
"We use Purifine and find it very good for disinfecting stables and boxes, etc., and for washing sponges used about subjects for dissection."
W. A. CAMPBELL,
Demonstrator of Anatomy.

PURIFINE is for sale by the HOLLISTER DRUG CO. in 25c., 50c., 75c. and $1.50 bottles. The "AUTOMATIC DISTRIBUTORS" are for rental. Our Agents will call upon you and explain the merits of "Purifine" and the "Automatic Distributors."

There seems to be some blight affecting the bloom of the beautiful Punciana Regia this season, for of all the trees in the city but few have blossoms enough to attract attention. The one on Hotel street next to the Arlington is a notable exception, and in consequence is a source of wonder and delight to visitors who have never before seen this tree in bloom. King Bros. have made several excellent sketches in oil and water colors of this subject, which are meeting with ready sale.
