THE STOCK MARKET.

THE INDEPENDENT never likes to say, "I told you so." But we cannot help referring to former issues in which we predicted that financial disaster would be the result of the stock gambling encouraged by the "pillars" of the Central Union Church.

The men and women who cannot afford to go into the whirlpool of gambling had no business to do so, and they feel the burden now when the promoters are calling for assessments.

We cannot blame the poor people who, deluded by the glorious prospects held up to them, sacrificed their homes, their property, and even their honor, to buy assessable stock. They were fools but by what name will they term the promoters, the tempters?

We have not a word to say against the value of the numerous concerns. The day may come when dividends will be paid and profits derived. But remember that the day is far away.

The men who without the slightest regard to the future boomed and promoted the "wild cat" proceedings of a recent day are the curse of the country and the cause of the ruin which shortly will wreck the homes of many a hard working man and woman who believing in the names of the promoters invested their savings to become rich—quickly.

The dream has been dispelled and the gamblers—poor fools—have seen that the promoters over-capitalized the stocks of their "paper" plantations and then sold out, at any price, their paid up stocks, their assessable shares, besides pocketing the cash in sight.

We repeat that every enterprise may be all right in the long run to those who can afford to wait, but that the present method is most injurious and damnable.

When people sell gilt edged securities at a loss to buy a share in a hole in the ground, it is the duty of the independent Press to call a halt.

Kalibi-waena Catholic Church.

The Rev. Father Clement of the Catholic Mission calls all the Catholic ladies and gentlemen of the congregation of Kalibi-waena for a meeting to be held on the church premises to-morrow, Sunday, July 23d, at 3 p. m., in order to arrange all matters concerning the church. All are expected to attend.

Was It Murder.

(With an apology to Old Sleuth.)

The moon shone brightly. It was in Honolulu, the Capital of the annexed Paradise.

The Police Station stood forth gloomingly in the volcanic smoke which obscured everything.

In the office of the officer on duty a deep silence reigned. Stocks had gone down and there was no reason to rejoice. The handsome junior Deputy Marshal was in deep thought deliberating in his mind whether to disfigure his pretty mustache in an attempt to disguise himself for effectually for the opium raid which he was contemplating.

Hark; hurried footsteps were approaching, and nobody ever hurries at a police station.

An officer opened the door and a truthful but pale man entered, and in a hoarse whisper said MURDER.

The Deputy Marshal forgot his disguise and the opium, jumped to his feet and asked "whom, where, how often" and other pertinent questions.

The informer collected his senses and he unfolded tale which made the energetic official's tall collar take a tumble.

"On the top of Mount Tantalus," said the terrified informer, two boys have found the evidence of a most frightful tragedy. The facts gathered by them while they were stealing—beg pardon gathering—firewood are awful. A dead woman buried in a newly dug grave; a pool of blood 18 "by 24" under an Encalypus tree; a petticoat spattered with blood; a man of unknown nationality dripping with gore and with unkempt hair.

The brave Deputy didn't hesitate for moment. When duty of Che Fa calls him he has always been known to be there.

Regardless of expense he clutched his faithful revolver and telephoned for a hack. He might have sent a mounted patrolman to the scene of the tragedy but then this story would never have been printed.

The hack arrived and the Deputy and a strong officer started for the mountain. It was pitch dark (wasn't it moonlight a while ago?) and the officers carried with them their bulls eye lantern. At the foot of Punchbowl they were reinforced by several hundred excited Portuguese men, soldiers and women who furnished the ghastly details of the horrible crime.

They knew the murdered woman who was an American. They knew her husband who killed her at 9 p. m. and left by the Moana at 6 p. m. They knew the blood and the skirt and the grave, and the procession moved on.

By this time there were eight passengers on the hack and the horse recently imported from the coast was getting tired.

Onwards, onwards, was the cry and nearer and nearer to the pool of blood moved the upholders of stern justice, the avengers of crime at so much a month.

At this moment the young chief of the "foinest in blue" considered it appropriate to make some enquiries. After a smart cross examination he elicited the fact that his informer had the story from the two boys who had it from an old woman who lives about six miles from Tantalus and had heard the yarn—imperfectly—from her cat. One thing the boys were sure of and that was the pool, and to that spot they directed the indefatigable Sleuth.

True! the pool was there and the blood colored fluid was visible. A sample was taken at once to be submitted to experts who doctor the dead people in the morgue. Behold, when looking at the sample in the moonlight assisted by the bulls eye lantern, the official at once saw that it was gum from the encalypus tree, dissolved in rain water.

The moon hid behind a cloud and we draw the curtain on the scene which took place and during which several chapters of the penal code were violated.

"Next time," said the handsome young officer, while glancing at the hack bill, "next time I will be d—d."

And then he bought a new collar and dreamed of the opium he didn't catch, and the murderer who didn't kill.

The Girl of To-day

will be the woman of to-morrow. She does not know it, perhaps her mother does not fully understand it, but between the "to-day" when she is a girl and the "to-morrow" when she will be a woman, her life's happiness and health are in the balance. If she is to be a full-breasted, strong, healthy woman she must develop rightly now. She is at a crisis. She needs more strength, more blood to tide it over. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are the one medicine that will give her the strength and make the new blood.

Our new book, PLAIN TALKS TO WOMEN, explains why these pills are of special benefit to growing girls. A copy will be sent to any address. FREE on request.

Miss Frankie Hathaway, of Sixteenth Street, Holland, Mich., said: "I am 21 years old, at 16 I was pale and weak and did not gain under the doctor's care. Other treatment brought no better result and by the time I was nineteen years old I was so weak I could not walk across the floor. I was terribly emaciated and my skin had lost all color. The doctor pronounced the disease anæmia. One of my friends advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I bought a box and before I had taken all of the pills I found that they were doing me good. Appetite increased and the healthy color began to show in my cheeks and lips. I continued to use the pills until I had taken fifteen boxes and found myself permanently cured. Since then I have had no return of my old trouble and cannot remember when I was so strong and healthy as now. I know that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People saved my life, and I believe that no other medicine could have done it."—FRANKIE HATHAWAY.—Ottawa Times, Holland, Mich.

CATHOLICS IN CHINA.

Formal Recognition of the Religion by the Chinese Government.
 In connection with the privileges recently obtained by the Roman Catholics in the Empire of China the following article translated from THE INDEPENDENT from the "Mission Catholiques" may prove of interest.
 "An important decree has just appeared. By this decree their Imperial Majesties, by their own volition, approve the Catholic religion and its teachings, permitting it to be spread throughout the whole of the Empire and have for its more effectual protection formulated certain rules and articles.
 "The bishops are recognized as holding a rank, equal to that of a viceroy or governor of a province, and the missionaries in accordance with their respective positions.
 "Both have free access to the authorities and to treat with them in a friendly manner on all religious matters.
 "The Sovereign Pontiff is designated by the name Kiaohang, Emperor of Religion.
 "The protectorate is recognized with all their privileges. The Minister of France alone can treat officially. The bishops must always have recourse to him when they cannot treat on a friendly basis, or having treated, it is necessary to have the arrangement placed on an official basis, and to watch over the execution of the clauses agreed upon.
 "In order to preserve this protectorate in full force, the bishops have been granted a rank and power which has never yet been conceded in China.
 "Our Intelligent Minister at Peking, M. Pichon, understanding the advantages of this convention to France and the religion has given his approval and has himself assisted the bishops.
 "The decree will not deliver us completely from partial persecution, for the rebels and bandits still exist, but the Imperial Government, at least, by this convention has shown an evidence of good will towards us and will enforce its will."

Another Wedding.

Albert Francis Judd, Jr., and Miss Madeline Hartwell, the daughter of General A. S. Hartwell, were married yesterday afternoon at the Hartwell residence by the Rev. W. M. Kincaid. Relatives and immediate friends only were present at the pretty ceremony. The father of the bride had been unable to reach Honolulu in time for the wedding, and the bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. W. O. Smith. Miss Bernice Hartwell was bridesmaid, and James Judd assisted the groom. An informal reception was held in the beautiful garden of the homesteads and about 6 p. m. the young couple left town for Kealohiawai, the country place of the Chief Justice, where they will enjoy their honeymoon.
 Mr. Judd and his bride are both Hawaiian born and have always been a credit their families and to their country—Hawaii-nee. Mr. Judd will enter into law practice here and starts life with a very bright future before him, and the best wishes of all for the success of himself and his lovely bride.

For the Opera House.

It is possible that Honolulu will enjoy a short theatrical season before the Tivoli Opera Co. arrives. The Moore-Roberts Company, well-known in the principal cities in Australia, are making tour abroad and will arrive here by the Alameda. Mr. Joseph Fynney, the advance agent, arrived here by the Moana and is now making arrangements for a short season of first-class plays during a "stop over."
 The Iwalani left for Hawaii yesterday afternoon. Among the passengers were Mr. Carl Widemann and bride, Mrs. Edmund Norrie, Master Gordon Norrie and Miss Ivy Richardson, all of whom will stay several weeks at Mana, the country seat of Mr. Samuel Parker. Prince Cupid and wife and Prince David took passage on the same steamer and will proceed to the volcano from Kawaihae via Humuula.

Yee Yam Forgotten Ten Months In Jail

Yung Yee Yem has been supported for the last ten months in the County Jail at the expense of the Government, and nobody except the Sheriff and the man at the sub-treasury who pays the bills for Uncle Sam seemed to be aware of Yem's existence.

Yem could not have been more completely buried and forgotten in the old French bastille for that length of time than he was in the San Francisco jail. He could have been taken out at any time and his case could have been disposed of in fifteen minutes, as it was yesterday,
if the business of the Government had been transacted in the Appraiser's building as systematically as private business is conducted in a mercantile establishment.

The District Attorney's office, which was supposed to attend to his prosecution, did not discover Yem's existence until a day or two ago.
The United States Marshal's office, which is supposed to know its prisoners, received a letter from Yem announcing his fatigue and requesting an examination. The Marshal's deputies say that they notified the District Attorney's office of the plaint of Yem.

United States Attorney Coombs has been installed but recently, and he had no means of knowing that Yem was neglected or that there was such a person as Yem. He proposes, in order to prevent a repetition of the blunder, to require the Sheriff to file each month with his demands against the United treasury for the keeping of prisoners a complete list of all United States prisoners in his charge, with the date of the admission of each into the County Jail.

Yem ten months ago was discharged from San Quentin, having served a term of one year and ten months for larceny committed in Los Angeles. He was placed in the constructive custody of the United States Marshal to be examined for deportation, because he was without a certificate of registration.

Yesterday Yem was taken before United States Commissioner Heacock and the original certificate was found in the revenue office. He will be discharged to-day.—S. F. Call.
