Great Railway Strike Is Safely Averted

Orders Issue to Call Off Walkout Set For Sunday

Four Unions Issue Orders on Thursday Night and Fifth Follows Example Today; Board's Firm Stand Wins The Day.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)
CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Success has attended the efforts of the rail labor to board to avert the general railroad strike which was to have been started Sunday and which it was planned to extend, zone to zone, until 2,000,000 railroad workers were out and transportation in the nation paralyzed. Last night leaders of the engineers, switchmen, brakemen, trainmen, firemen and conductors adopted a joint resolution cancelling the strike orders previously issued and this morning their action was followed by the telegraphers, the only other union that had ordered the walkout. Despatches from Cleveland this morning said secret code messages were being sent out from the Big Five headquarters there, ordering general chairmen to call the walkout off.

Yesterday was one of union meetings, sessions of the labor board and conferences following the firm stand by members of the board on Tuesday when they were quoted as saying that if the strike must not be called that if it were called it would be illegal, no matter what the reasons alleged and that it called for any other reason than the wage reduction allowed in July leaders and participants would be prosecuted for "conspiracy to paralyze transportation."

Brotherhood chiefs met yesterday morning, again in the afternoon and again last night when the joint resolution finally passed. Just before entering the night meeting, G. W. Lee, president of the trainmen, told an Associated Press representative: "There is every reason to believe that arrangements will be made tonight for the calling off of the strike orders. I am not at liberty to say what the arrangements will be but certain conditions resulted from today's meetings that have materially changed the situation."

The labor board told union leaders that unless the proposed strike was settled it would take the most drastic measures and had been assured of support by the full force of the government.

President Harding Speaks Plainly on Nation's Race Issue

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 27.—President Harding placed himself squarely on record as the champion of the African negro in his efforts to secure equal political, educational and economic rights but not to place him on a plane of social equality with his white neighbor. He did this in a plainly and simply worded statement on the race problem made in a speech which he delivered here yesterday.

The President said he was heartily with the negro in his efforts to secure broader political, economical and educational advantages but he could never realize aspirations of social equality.

"Let the black man vote when he is fit to vote and prohibit the white man from voting when he is not fit to vote," said Harding. "I wish that the traditions of a solidly democratic south and a solidly republican black race might be broken up. I would insist on equal educational opportunities for men of both races, but one that will stand against every suggestion of social equality. This is not a question of mere social equality but one of the recognition of fundamental, eternal and inescapable racial differences. Racial amalgamation there cannot be but a partnership of the races, developing the highest aims of humanity, there must be."

"If humanity is to achieve the ends that we have set for it the black man should seek and be encouraged to be the best possible imitation of a white man. The world war was marked by a great migration of the colored race from the South to the North and to the West, so the race problem has become a national one."

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Republicans in congress and in Washington official life heartily endorse the sayings of President Harding in his Birmingham speech.

Senator Willis of Ohio, commenting on the speech last night said: "The President's ringing statement in defense of the political and economic equality of the black and the white races but at the same time was a recognition of the absolute divergence of the races in things social and racial. It is true encouragement to the negro to strive earnestly for betterment."

Watson, democrat, of Georgia, said: "We of the south will not permit either social or political equality of the races. The former hinges on the later and they are impossible."

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)
ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 28.—President Harding preached the gospel of good will and the binding of the nation in enduring amity when speaking at the unveiling of the statue of Henry W. Grady, the Southern apostle of national reunion.

Harding took occasion to pay a tribute to former President Theodore Roosevelt who, he said, of Georgia lineage, was an "outstanding American."

In part, the President said: "It has seemed to me that since the World War ended the world might let us show it the marvel wrought through a re-united and restored America. I believe it is wholly consistent to preach peace in that convincing sincerity which the United States as a nation commends and yet make some provision for our proper defense. Mankind is disposed to try that experiment and if in trying it the nations fall it will be through no fault of these United States."

Jewelry Stolen In Burglary At Lahaina Found

Sheriff Recovers Loot Which Was Hidden in Banjos on The Wall; Culprit Is An Old Offender.

Sheriff Clem Crowell's desk looked like a show counter in a jewelry store this morning. Spread out upon it were more than a dozen watches, wedding rings to the number of two dozen, other rings in even larger number, sleeve links, cuff buttons and other articles of personal decoration for men and women. It was most of the loot that was taken from the Lahaina Cake Company's establishment last Thursday night.

Choy Chong Young is in jail for the burglary and confessed last night about 10:30. He was one of the first men to be arrested but was released for lack of evidence. His rearrest followed his attempt to sell one of the watches.

The prisoner is a Korean, an old time offender and has been out of jail only about four months. He poses as a maker and repairer of ukuleles and other musical instruments and the booty was found hidden behind guitars hanging on the wall of his room. When he burglarized the store of the Lahaina Cake Company, in addition to the jewelry he carried off the cash register which he took to a cane field and broke it open. The sheriff is checking over the goods recovered with the list of the missing articles today.

Two other burglaries were recently committed in Lahaina, where little was stolen. Both of the offenders, Filipinos, are under arrest the Sheriff says.

Reception for Pastor And His Wife Enjoyed By Large Attendance

Rev. and Mrs. Augustine Jones were guests of honor at a largely attended reception held at the William and Mary Alexander parsonage last night and a thoroughly enjoyable evening was spent.

The parsonage grounds were charmingly illuminated and the parsonage and the grounds are admirably adapted for a social affair of that nature. A general air of informality prevailed which added much to sociability and pleasure.

Introduction to Mr. and Mrs. Jones were hardly necessary in most instances for they have become widely acquainted since their arrival but there was the receiving line along which the visitors passed greeting the guests of honor. During the evening there were delightful social numbers rendered by Mrs. Blair, Clark and selections by Mrs. Blair. Later adjournment was taken to the grounds where games were played and refreshments of cake and punch were served at tables spread under the spreading trees.

While in a sense a church reception many other than attendants at Wailuku church were in attendance.

Filipinos Rally To Brothers' Aid

Hawaiian and Portuguese Get Gay With Little Brown Brothers and Small Race Riot Follows in Lahaina.

Filipino laborers of Pioneer Plantation rose to the defense of their own last Sunday and for a time there was a small sized riot and serious injury to one man was averted only by the timely arrival of Philip Pall who quelled the disturbance.

Trouble began, according to advices from Lahaina, when two workers on Mala wharf, one a Hawaiian the other a Portuguese, "tanked up" early in the day, or perhaps it was a holdover from Sunday night, on poison oke, swipes, or something equally stimulative of pugnacious tendencies. It is said they started from the wharf for town and at the fish pond came across some Japanese. Those they could catch, they are said to have thrown into the pond.

Proceeding on, they met a Filipino whom they attacked and beat up severely. Later they were encouraged by past successes to attack four other Filipinos, to one of whom they administered a beating, but the other three fled, and thereby came the undoing of the belligerents.

In haste the three Filipinos who had used their legs with rare discretion, ran to their camp and then there came a general rising for defense and for revenge for the injuries of their brothers. No time was lost in arming, it is said, some grabbed knives, others broke soda bottles into formidable weapons with the necks of the bottles as handles, still others used sticks for spears and yet others gathered up large stones as they hurried to attack those who had started the whole disturbance.

Unorganized, but in a compact body the little chaps rushed to where the trouble had been and new trouble started promptly. The Hawaiian stood against them and his valor cost him a severe beating and cutting up, but the Portuguese fled at sight of the on coming hoard. Back to the wharf he ran, and sought refuge in a house used to store cement. About the "house of refuge," the Filipinos gathered and executed something that may have resembled the head hunting dances of the Igorotes, with shields and gangs as missing as "musical" accompaniments. They challenged the Portuguese to come out and take a licking but like Brer Rabbit he lay low. Then they gave him two minutes to come out and said they would overturn his shelter and take him if he failed to sally forth. Boards and planks were gathered and were being inserted under the bottom of the structure when Deputy Sheriff Philip Pall arrived as representative of Uncle Sam.

He quitted the angry Filipinos and then put the thoroughly frightened Portuguese and the badly battered Hawaiian under arrest and took them to the "hoos gow" where at last they were safe from the trouble they had courted.

Americanization Of Japanese Is Suicidal Effort

Visiting Press Congress Delegate Tells Honolulu Rotary Club why Assimilation Can Never Be Brought About.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)
HONOLULU, Oct. 27.—Real Americanization of Japanese immigrants or of their descendants is an impossibility in the opinion of V. S. McClatchy, visiting delegate to the World's Press Congress and owner of a chain of papers in the Orient, he told the Rotary Club at its lunch today.

Mr. McClatchy says it is suicidal for this nation to make the attempt to make Americans of those who are of unusable material. Explaining his views the speaker said:

"The Japanese are absolutely unassimilable, save in individual cases which are few, for three reasons. First, because their racial characteristics and their heredity prevent assimilation. Second, because their government, claiming all children of Japanese parents, no matter where born, does not permit assimilation and third, because individually and collectively with the opportunities offered to them and even when born under the American flag they have themselves shown a pronounced antagonism toward assimilation."

Press congress visitors today witnessed a pageant presented by children from the public schools, entitled "The Melting Pot." The participants were of all the many races and nationalities found in the islands and were dressed in the costumes of the different lands from which they or their parents came, carrying the flags of those lands. They marched about and then into the mouth of a great cauldron, Hawaii, the melting pot, from which they emerged carrying fluttering American flags.

Visiting press congress delegates were today taken to inspect the Territorial prison and to the leprosarium at Kalahehi. At the latter they were addressed by Dr. H. E. Hasseltine who explained to them the chaulmoogra oil treatment and the successes that have attended it.

First Football Game Saturday

Wailuku Field Put in Shape For Introduction to Maui Of the Sport That Wakens Mainland Enthusiasm.

Wailuku Ball Park has been undergoing transformation this week. By the liberal use of whitewash and brush there has been laid out a great rectangle, 110 yards in length and half that width with cross lines each five yards. The grounds have thus been given much the appearance of many a college campus at this season of the year. It is the "gridiron" on which a series of American football games will be played this fall, the first to be staged at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Eleven gladiators from Wailuku will line up against 11 from Paia, a whistle will blow, there will follow the sound of heavily shod feet tramping over the hard earth, a whistle will blow again and the game will be on.

Alongside the big rectangle the reserved seats are arranged. Baseball on the mainland may boast of a larger following than college football but not of devotees more enthusiastic. Without deprecating the National game, not seeking to belittle it, there is no game that more thoroughly stirs the pulses of its followers than does American football, now to be seriously introduced on Maui. To Leland C. Lewis, more than all others is due the credit for the undertaking. It is now enjoying a vogue in Honolulu as never before and interschool championships will be certain to follow within the next two or three seasons.

Football is as full of tactics as is a military campaign and in no game is team work so essential. Plays can be planned and are planned to meet the contingencies as they occur far in advance of the game. To a lesser extent the same is true of baseball. In years gone by there was much complaint of the roughness of the game and rules were so changed that mass plays were eliminated and a more open game developed. That is the type of game that will be introduced to Maui sport lovers tomorrow.

Tonight there will be something in the nature of an affair common in the college towns, a rally to encourage the players. There is to be a bonfire, speeches, songs and a jolly time for all fans and fans to be.

The following is the line-up of the respective teams for the Saturday game:

Championship of Diamond at Stake

Bitter Rivals Will Play First Game of Decisive Series on Fair Grounds Sunday; Very Evenly Matched.

Wacs or Puunenes, which? That is the question that is agitating baseball fans old and young and the first of the three games that will settle the Island Championship will be played on the Fair Grounds' diamond Sunday afternoon. Maui will not be off with the old love before shoe is on with new, even though the novelty of football be presented tomorrow. The fans will be true to the old love while courting the new.

Late start of the season has brought the championship series over into November, but the land of perpetual summer makes all the year baseball possible and the fans are as enthusiastic over the sport as six months and more ago when the first games were staged. Then as now the intense rivalry lay between Puunene and Wacs.

Thus far in the games played a shade the better of the argument is with the Wacs who have won in a majority of the games against their huskies opponents. However, Puunene showed what it could do when hard pressed in the play off for supremacy in the first half of the season and may repeat.

As to batteries the two teams are splendidly matched. In stick work, the figures show the Huskies to be the heavier hitters, with more safeties and longer drives, but in sacrifice hitting and base running, honors are with the Wacs. In fielding there is not a great deal of choice.

Summing it up, it is anybody's game Sunday and the winner gains a long advantage for the coveted title.

With Maui's Girl Scouts

Girl Scout Notes

All the troops who are subscribers of the "American Girl" are aware of the fact that October 30, is Mrs. Lowe's birthday. Let all of the captains help celebrate our founder's natal day by singing our

"Founder's Song"

(Tune "Fair Harvard.")

Rally 'round, all you Girl Scouts, and join in a cheer
For our Founder and leader and friend,

From the girls who live farthest to all who are here,

Let us wish her good luck without end!

From the North to the South, from the East to the West,
We have gathered to greet her today,

Since she's known us the longest and loved us the best,

In our mem'ry forever she'll stay!

Here's to you, our first Captain, we'll never forget
That you built the first road for us all.

Now we're marching in triumph, we think of you yet,
And your Troop-flag we'll never let fall!

In the years that are gone, in the days that are past,
We were lonely and tiny and few,

We're an army today, and so long as we last,
We'll be faithful, our Founder, to you!

Are any of the troops planning a Halloween celebration? We hope so, and would like a complete report of your good time.

All Scouts who have their uniforms will be pleased to know that at last the Girl Scout buttons have arrived. Eight large ones and twelve small ones make a set. They will cost you twenty-five cents per.

At the meeting of the captains and lieutenants at the Alexander House residence Saturday afternoon it was decided that this group should form an association and meet three times a year in order to keep in touch with each other and discuss common problems. Miss Rita Rosecrans of Paia was elected chairman and Miss Van Keuren of Lahaina secretary.

Weekly and yearly report blanks were given to each captain. The Girl Scout commissioner requests that each captain carefully fill out these blanks and send them to her once a month. It is only by this means that accurate reports of the work can be kept.

The Seminary has two troops this year. Miss Collins is captain of the Cup of Gold, consisting of 20 girls, and Miss Vincent of the Pakalana Troop.

No more news from Haiku. We don't even know your name, girls. There are rumors that you are to be called the "African Tulips"—is this a fact, girls?

We want to congratulate the four girls of the "Star of Bethlehem Troop" for winning the silver cup at the swimming meet. This cup must be won twice by the same troop before it becomes their property.

If any other troop on the island hopes to give the Lahaina girls any competition they had better begin practicing now. This doesn't mean paddling around in the water, girls.

Puukohi

The American Beauty Rose troop are soon to become tenderfoot scouts. They are working hard with the assistance of their captain, Mrs. Ralph Shaw, on their tests and you may be sure we will give them a hearty cheer when their captain tells us they are "pau."

Keahua

At last the Violet troop has a captain and a lieutenant. With this leadership and the splendid co-operation of Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Phillips we feel quite certain that this troop will at last come into its own.

Twelve scouts were present last Monday, and after our business meeting we had a fine game of baseball.

Kula

Thirteen girls of the Calla Lily troop received their pins Wednesday. Miss Ah Sam, their captain, was unable to be present, so Miss Seibert conducted the meeting.

This troop has a "publicity committee" and a committee to look after their sick girls. We approve both committees, although we feel sure that scouts keep their health records so well that this committee will have little to do.

Signalling was the prominent feature of this meeting.

Kahului—Narcissus Troop

Narcissus Troop is a small troop, but when all of its nine members are present at a meeting as they were Wednesday, it shows that quality counts as much as quantity. These scouts are getting anxious to start on their uniforms and we predict that tenderfoot tests will be finished up quickly now that the Fair is out of the way.

Have all the troops made up their own songs?

Let's have each troop's song for the paper. Begin sending them in at once, girls.

Bougainvillea Troop

The last meeting of this troop was spent in discussing the good deeds done by the scouts at the Fair.

Miss Seibert was at the meeting and she brought a regulation signalling flag with which we enjoyed practicing very much. Everyone worked hard and we hope to all have the alphabet learned by next meeting.

She also drilled us in marching and we had lots of fun remembering "By the right flank" and "left oblique march."

We like to have her attend our meeting as often as she can. Afterwards we played long ball.

No Army of Unemployed Among Domestic Workers

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(Associated Press Mail).—Domestic labor is so scarce in New York that in thousands of homes, normally well supplied with servants, the mistress is doing her own housekeeping. Maids and butlers are said by employment bureaus to prefer being out of work to taking jobs at less than the high wage scale prevailing last year.

Of many reasons advanced by employment agencies for the failure of servants and employers to agree, one of the most common is that prospective maids seek work only because their husbands are jobless and are refused places because prospective employers will not consider applicants for temporary positions.

Prevailing wage scales are said by employment agencies to be: Cooks, $50 to $70 a month; general houseworkers, $40 to $50; chambermaids, $50 to $60. Japanese butlers command $100 to $125 a month with board and lodging.

Champagne Still Exported From France to America

PARIS, Sept. 20.—(Associated Press Mail).—French champagne and other fine wines are increasing in demand in the United States "for medicinal purposes." Over 340,000 quarts, valued at 1,502,000 francs, were exported to America during the first six months of this year, according to figures just published by the Ministry of Commerce.

During the corresponding period in 1920, only 121,000 quarts valued at 606,000 francs were shipped to America.

This liquor is all imported into America under licenses granted by the "prohibition enforcement commissioner." French statistics say.

Theaters

SIX FOOT FOUR

It is not often that we are able to present such a popular favorite twice in one week, but Will Rogers always is certain of a very warm reception at the Maui theaters, and it will be a pleasure to the lovers of western pictures to see him in "Six Foot Four." It's a regular Roger western, full of good riding, nifty shooting and cowboy stunts that will give you a chance of seeing some of the leading western actors at their best. Will Rogers is supported in the lead by Viola Vale who handles a horse and a gun as easy as she does her powder puff. "Six Foot Four" is full of action from the word go and the locations are some of the finest to be seen of the great west.

THE CYCLONE

Tom Mix the ever popular Fox star is with us again in the leading role of "The Cyclone." As a sergeant in the Royal North West mounted police of Canada, Mix has plenty of opportunity for his usual daring characterizations. The story was written by Col. Todhunter Marigold. As a reward for a feat of horsemanship, Mix as Sergeant Ryerson, is entrusted with an important mission, the extirpation of a smuggling gang. The story shifts from Vancouver's Chinatown up into the great Northwest, and works up amid splendid locations into a regular Mix climax for unusual features and intensity.

THE WILD GOOSE

"The Wild Goose" is a Cosmopolitan Production, and an all cast Paramount it is a story full of interesting action, with just enough comedy to make it a comedy drama, its a clever screen version of the popular story which thousands have read, and played by a cast of leading players each one being carefully chosen for the part which they portray.

THE STRANGE BOARDER

One of the best characterizations that Will Rogers has ever done is that of Sam Gardner in the Goldwyn picture, "The Strange Boarder." It is a fine story of the west, Rogers in the role of the big bluff westerner though the victim of confidence men, refuses to let their duplicity shake his faith and trust in the inherent goodness of his fellow men is one for which this rugged fine-hearted screen star is peculiarly fitted. Jimmy Roger, Will's own four year old boy plays the part of Billy Gardner, and the work of this boy is not only a charm in itself but it lends additional effectiveness to Rogers characterization as well.

Modern Apartment Used As School Equipment

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(Associated Press Mail).—On the assumption that most girl pupils some day will marry and make their homes in small city apartments, public schools here are being equipped to teach them how to keep house economically and effectively under those conditions.

Part of the equipment of the domestic science department of each of the new standard school buildings opened this year, is a model flat, filling the space of one ordinary school-room and including a kitchen, living room, dining room, hall, bedroom and bath.

Adjoining the model flat is a large cooking room and three small kitchens, separated by railings, the entire unit providing for the instruction of 40 pupils at once.

FOSTERING HIGH PRICES

No better way to keep prices high in local stores can be devised than to send away from home for everything except one's most immediate needs, to patronize the home concerns only in case of an emergency. The converse of the proposition is equally true, to help reduce prices in the local stores buy at home wherever possible.

In every community there is a tendency on the part of some of the residents to make home concerns objects of convenience. It is a mail order shipment of groceries, just as an instance, be late, a call is sent for a can of vegetables, a few ounces of tea or coffee, just enough of what is wanted to tide over until the mail order goods arrive, and perhaps the small purchase is "charged." The same thing applies to other concerns in the same way.

Strange as it may seem, the very persons who send away from home most frequently are those who complain loudest that the home stores have not a sufficiently varied or complete stock. They blame the merchant when it is really themselves upon whom the blame should rightly fall. They complain if they are inconvenienced by finding only a small stock and it is they who make the keeping of a large stock impossible.

The home merchant is expected to have, just as a matter of convenience for the community, a stock as large and priced as low as does the business house in the larger communities. He is expected to pay for goods and keep them on his shelves while those who might use them send away for their major needs. His money is invested in the stock and as long as the goods are on his shelves the investment is non-dividend paying. In order to get an adequate return on the investment when a sale is made, a higher price must be charged, for the business license and other taxes have to be paid even if outside concerns get all the cream and the home house only the blue skimmed milk.

Every live business man wants to keep the largest and best stock that business will permit and to turn that stock over as frequently as possible. The more often he is able to put new stock on his shelves, the prouder is he of his establishment, the more pains he takes to please, the better able to price his goods down. It is only because he does not get community support that he does build up and improve his stock. The more he sells, the more he buys.

It is true that there are some concerns in these Islands that appear to be seeking to charge "all the traffic will carry," who still hope to get war time prices in the face of lower wages and salaries. They are not upheld, are as much to blame, perhaps more, than is the person who sends away for his or her general needs. But he has the excuse that he would be able to make more sweeping reductions had he the home support. He is not encouraging such support and he is injuring his neighbor merchant who is "playing the game" squarely, is satisfied with a fair profit.

But it is discouraging to the business man to see persons from the outside come in and take away business which he is perfectly capable of handling and would be glad to handle were the chance given to him.

There are many arguments that can be presented for home buying but the strongest of all is that the concern that one uses as a mere matter of convenience is practically forced to the wall by lack of home patronage, and then blamed for carrying meager stocks at prices slightly over what should be the market.

HARD SLEDDING AHEAD

Despatches from Honolulu last Tuesday said the sugar plantations will be forced to cut the pay of salaried employes, from managers of plantations down the line. Curtailment cannot be confined to day laborers only though the first announcement of reductions in pay was for the unskilled workers only. The news was accompanied by the announcement that dividend payments have been suspended by three of Maui's plantations and such action is regarded as only the forerunner of a general policy of dividends suspension.

Beyond doubt the salary reduction will be a sorry blow to many members of the staffs of the various sugar companies. During good times they had grown to look upon the handsome bonuses they received as regular income and when bonuses ceased, it seemed like a salary cut to them. Now will come a further reduction in the family incomes. But the situation is no different for them than that of the day laborer, as a matter of fact he is perhaps the harder hit only he and his are more accustomed to saving and stinting than are those in higher social walks of life. Fortunate are those salaried employes who took advantage of the days of large bonuses to lay up a store for stormy days to come. It hurts to go into savings but it helps to have the savings to draw upon if needs must. The banks could preach a sermon on savings accounts with the present situation as a text.

Salaried employes and wage earners will have their pay cut but they are more fortunate than the stock holders who will receive no returns whatever on their investment until conditions better. The workers will get some return, the shareholder gets none. His money is still working but, its compensation ceases utterly. So the worker fares better than the owners of the concerns.

It does no good to weep or to bewail. A situation that confronts one must be met and tears will not flood it away nor words blow it aside. It is a time for economy, not for parsimony. Recreation is needed as before, but will have to be more carefully considered. Care in expenditures will become the rule, not the exception, but there will still remain business to be had by those who go after it. Money will not come pouring into stores as in the high bonus days. Readjustment of methods will be needed, but there will still be an adequate amount of business for those who show they want it, for the "go-getter type," who as always will be the winner.

President Harding has spoken for equal political and educational rights but not equal social rights for the African negro. He calls on the negro to be an individual, not an imitation of his white countryman.

THE OPTIMISTIC PESSIMIST

Never was a night so dark or so long that a bright day did not follow. Even in the frozen north the winter darkness is relieved by a belated dawn.

The only advantage of dwelling on what might have been is to secure a clear vision of what may be and to strive for the new goal.

Some horses have to be driven under whip and spur while others put forth their best efforts unforced. Man is much like the horse in those respects.

It has been remarked that while one piece bathing suits for sweet and pulchritudinous girlhood prevail in Hawaii and the mainland puts such costumes under ban, no higher degree of morality can be noted on the mainland than in the Islands. After all the world may be convinced that true modesty is an absence of prudish shame.

In the Congressional Record there has been slipped in a copy of an affidavit which some of the congressmen call scurulous, obscene and unfit for the mails. Can there be coming to congress a recognition that its own organ is the most flagrant example of "yellow journalism?" But why expell the author of simply one example?

Some persons appear to be born into life for the express purpose of correcting the mistakes that others make. And there are some who blunder by thinking that is their mission in life when really they are wasting the time to themselves and others.

Some girls pretend to hate men but most of them get bravely over it, sometimes too late. With others it is only pretense.

Those who are always looking about for something big to do in life are apt to pass up the things that really count.

More women are saved from unhappiness by the men they didn't marry than are made happy by those whom they did wed.

EXHIBITS CARRIED AWAY

Some just complaint has been heard from visitors in the fruits and vegetable sections that their exhibits were carried off by visitors late on the last afternoon of the Fair and the building practically gutted of the displays that had made it so attractive for three days and two evenings. The complaint is not new this year, has been heard after previous fairs just as now, but it is timely to call attention to it and to ask that steps be taken next year to prevent a repetition.

There are always some visitors who get to the fair only the last evening. They have no opportunity, when conditions such as are complained of exist, to see one of the finest and most interesting departments. Dinner time appears to be the signal "help yourself," for by 7 o'clock everything worth taking, except counters and shelving and booths, has disappeared. The owner may have wanted the display returned, may have promised fruit, an avocado, vegetables to friends, but on returning to get them, they are gone.

Doubtless much of the taking away of such exhibits is thoughtless. Those that carry them off think the exhibits are no longer wanted, do not regard them as the personal property of some individual. The same persons would not enter a garden and strip trees, bushes or vines. They make no move toward securing choice specimens until the beginning of the last evening.

It has been suggested that there should be guards maintained in that building during the dinner hour on the closing day so that property rights may be maintained, and the suggestion is offered to the management of the Fifth Maui County Fair, to be held next year.

Reports received last week said Cuba was preparing to throw 2,000,000 tons of sugar on the market at 2 cents a pound. Later reports indicated efforts to secure a higher price would continue. Perhaps Cuba may throw overboard at a low price but indications are a higher figure will not be refused. Still the reports do not auger for a speedy improvement in the price of raws and clouds still shadow Hawaii's chief industry.

E. Faxson Bishop presented an able resume of the plantations' dire need of unskilled labor in an address he delivered at Oahu Plantation, Waipahu, to Press Congress visitors this week. It could hardly fail to impress them and is reproduced in full elsewhere in this issue.

Delegates to the world conference on limitation of armaments are beginning to gather in Washington. Even a meager degree of success would mark the beginning of one of the greatest epochs in human progress. The mere effort toward agreement on the subject is a long advance step.

Former Emperor Carl has fired his rocket and the stick has fallen. The plight of the former monarch of the dual empire is more sorry than after his deposition. Now it will probably be exile under surveillance instead of mere banishment from his former realms.

Armistice Day is only two weeks off. Territorial wide observance of the anniversary of the ending of the terrible world war is asked and if Maui is to participate with appropriate ceremonies it is time she was up and acting.

It would be interesting to know how much of the unemployment on the mainland is occasioned by efforts to maintain high prices and how much by efforts to keep up the wage scale when prices drop.

An advertisement in the Honolulu papers says 75 percent of the cost of a pair of shoes goes to pay wages. Can it be that United Shoe Machinery Company royalties are being classed as wages?

And now comes football to take its place in the sports of Maui. Lovers of strenuous sports will give the game a hearty welcome.

Dodge Correct Lubricating Chart

Engine—9. Daily, or every 100 miles, use Zerolene No. 3 (former designation Medium). Four fresh oil into crankcase through filler pipe until oil level gauge on crankcase registers "full." Avoid overfilling. Best results will be obtained if the oil level is maintained between "half full" and "full" marks on the gauge. To get a correct reading of the oil level gauge, the automobile should be approximately level and the engine not running. When engine is running, the oil pressure indicator on dash should show pressure which will vary with the speed and temperature of the engine. If no pressure is registered, the indication is lack of oil in crankcase, oil pump not working properly, or some obstruction or break in oil passages. The engine should immediately be stopped and the trouble located and remedied.

At regular intervals, as recommended by the manufacturer, or, in the absence of such instructions, every 750 miles, the oil in the crankcase reservoir should be entirely renewed in the following manner: First, remove drain plug in bottom of crankcase, allowing all old oil to drain. This should preferably be done when engine is warm, as the old oil when heated will drain faster, and less of it will adhere to the inner surfaces of the crankcase. Next, replace drain plug and pour four quarts of Calol Flushing Oil into crankcase through filler pipe. Then start and operate the engine under its own power at a moderate idling speed for from one to two minutes, by which time all oil passages and inner surfaces will have been cleansed by the action of the flushing oil. Again remove drain plug and when certain that crankcase is thoroughly drained, replace plug and refill crankcase reservoir with fresh Zerolene oil as specified. Approximately six quarts of oil are required. Before refilling with fresh oil the strainer or screen surrounding the oil pump intake should be removed, thoroughly cleaned and replaced. When filling the reservoir through filler pipe, care should be taken that no dirt or other foreign matter is carried into the engine with the fresh oil.

Electric Generator and Starting Motor—22. Every 500 miles use squirt can to apply a few drops of Standard Household Lubricant to rear bearing on generator.

Steering Gear Housing—28. Every 500 miles use grease gun to fill housing with Zerolene Cup Grease through plug hole provided.

Steering Gear Link—31. Every 500 miles remove plug in rear end of drag link, clean out ball and socket joint with Pearl Oil (kerosene) and repack with fresh Zerolene Cup Grease. Replace plug and cotter pin.

Steering Knuckle Bolts—25. Every 500 miles fill cups on top of steering knuckle bolts with Zerolene No. 3.

Transmission—34. Every 500 miles remove cover to transmission case and add sufficient fresh Zerolene Transmission Lubricant "B" to completely cover the reverse idler gear. When transmission case is empty, two quarts of lubricants are required to bring to proper level.

Every 2000 miles remove drain plug from bottom of case and allow all old oil to drain. Then remove cover and wash all gears, shafts and interior of case with Pearl Oil (kerosene). When transmission is clean and thoroughly drained, replace drain plug and fill to correct level with fresh Zerolene Transmission Lubricant "B."

Rear Axle—42. Every 500 miles remove oil level plug in rear of housing and, if no oil runs out, use oil gun to inject fresh Zerolene Transmission Lubricant "B" until it begins to overflow through opening. Then replace plug. When housing is empty five pints of lubricant are required to fill to proper level.

Every 2000 miles remove rear cap or cover on housing and wash gears and bearings with Pearl Oil (kerosene). Wipe out all old oil and kerosene from bottom of housing with clean rags—Do not use waste. Replace cover on housing and fill with fresh lubricant to cover level.

Note.—As the bearings in both transmission and rear axle are entirely lubricated by splash from the revolving gears, hard grease should never be used as a lubricant in either place.

Universal Joint—12. Every 500 miles remove plug in housing, and with grease gun fill housing with fresh Zerolene Cup Grease. Replace plug.

Wheel Bearings—4, 17, 26, 39. Every 2000 miles remove wheels and wash bearings and hubs thoroughly with Pearl Oil (kerosene). Repack hubs and bearings with fresh Zerolene Cup Grease and replace wheels, being careful to get proper adjustment on wheel bearings.

Springs—1, 14, 21, 37. Every 500 miles, or whenever springs squeak, clean off all dirt and old oil and apply small quantity of Standard Household Lubricant along the edges of spring leaves. A small brush may be used for this purpose, or the oil applied by means of Standard Household Lubricant Handy Can with spout attached.

Rear Spring Saddles—18, 41. Every 500 miles fill oil cups on rear spring saddles with Zerolene No. 3.

Grease Cups. Daily, or every 100 miles, turn down all grease cups from one to two complete turns, refilling cups with fresh Zerolene Cup Grease when empty. Parts lubricated by grease cups are as follows: Spring bolts, 2, 8, 13, 19, 23, 29, 38, 40; cross steering rod, 7, 27; fan, 20; water pump, 5; clutch release bearing, 10; steering worm shaft, 32; steering gear drag link, 24; distributor shaft, 6.

On later models, where parts enumerated are equipped with some form of grease gun connection in place of grease cups, lubrication is effected by means of grease gun supplied with car.

General Lubrication. Daily, or every 100 miles, use squirt can to apply Zerolene No. 3 to all joints and small working parts not otherwise lubricated, such as spark and throttle connection, 30, brake clevis pins, 11, 15, 16, 36, steering wheel, 35, pedal shafts, 33, etc. Care should be taken that oil holes and passages are free from dirt so that clean oil may reach the surfaces to be lubricated.

Schedule of Lubrication. Daily, or every 100 miles: Engine crankcase oil level; grease cups; general lubrication.

Every 500 miles: Electric generator and starting motor; steering gear housing; steering gear drag link; universal joint; transmission; rear axle housing; springs; rear spring saddles.

Every 750 miles: Drain, flush and refill engine crankcase.

Every 2000 miles: Transmission; rear axle; wheel bearings.

Anatolia Is Promised Land to Those Vexed By High Cost Living

WITH GREEK ARMY IN THE FIELD, Sept. 24.—(Associated Press Mail).—Americans who find life expensive would secure unbounded relief if they could come to Anatolia.

In the area through which the Greek army passed in its advance on Angora, lambs sell for 60 cents each, chickens for 12 cents, whole cows for $9 and eggs for half a cent. Everywhere food is found in great abundance and at prices never heard of even before the war.

The fertile fields of Anatolia rival those of the most productive American state. Wheat is the principal commodity of the thrifty Turkish and Kurd farmers. They raise sufficient quantities to feed a continent. When King Constantine's army made its memorable 300-mile advance from Ushak into the heart of the Kemalist country, it found hundreds of thousands of tons of wheat and grain. It is the plan of the Greek government to market this huge treasure in an effort to bring the Greek currency back to par.

The Greeks also found incalculable numbers of cattle and sheep. Cows, oxen and water-buffalo swarm the plains of Asia Minor, while the famous Angora goats and Caraman sheep are so numerous that they sell for about the price of a pound of mutton in any American city.

It is this great cornucopia that has made it possible for Mustafa Kemal's army to subsist so long without outside assistance. It is also this great abundance that has kept the Greek forces going. Their onward march to Angora would not have been possible upon the meagre food supplies they have been able to transport from Smyrna and Greece.

The only thing scarce in Anatolia, particularly in the southern part, is water. The territory over which the Greek troops made their recent remarkable detour in order to catch Kemal's army is made up largely of water only at distant intervals. For days the weary soldiers had to march under the burning Asia sun without a drop of water to relieve their parched throats.

OH, YOU MUSHROOMS

PARIS, Sept. 22.—(Associated Press Mail).—Two mammoth mushrooms, enough to "smother" all the stakes available in a hind quarter of beef, have just been found in France.

Four feet in diameter and weighing between nine and ten pounds the first one was found on an estate in Saint Germain. The species is edible and is known popularly in the district as the "death's head" mushroom.

The other known as the "beaded puff-ball" has been picked at Bourgneuf. It weighs close to nine pounds and has a "flap" diameter of nearly 20 inches.

France Is Rapidly Rehabilitating And Returning to Normal

PARIS, Sept. 16.—(Associated Press Mail).—An impressive picture of the extent of France's achievement in restoring her war-ravaged regions is afforded by M. Loucheur, the Minister of Liberated Regions, in a public statement entitled "The Revival of France."

Official statistics of the destruction caused by the war and the reconstruction accomplished up to May 1, 1921, the Minister declares, show that "the France of today is the same as France of yesterday and that in peace as in war she continues to work with steadfastness, courage and confidence."

M. Loucheur's statement covers the following subjects: Inhabitants, municipalities, schools, houses, land, agriculture, livestock, roads, factories and railways. After showing that 5,154,000 of the 8,400,000 Frenchmen from 19 to 50 years of age mobilized during the war, were killed or wounded, the statement presents the following statistics of civic reconstruction:

Inhabitants—Deported because of the war, 2,500,728; returned to France, 1,975,798.

Municipalities—Abandoned 3,256; reestablished, 3,216.

Schools—Before the war, 7,271; reestablished, 6,830.

Houses—Destroyed, 789,000, rebuilt 10,213, repaired 326,700.

Land—Devastated 8,240,000 acres; cleared from projectiles, wire entanglements and trenches, 6,881,000 acres.

Agriculture—Farm land devastated 4,571,000 acres; farms now cultivated 3,420,000 acres.

Livestock—Horses and mules carried away 367,000; restored 96,303; oxen carried away 523,000, restored 120,263; sheep and goats carried away 469,000, restored 121,164.

Roads—Destroyed 18,825 miles, temporarily repaired 18,825 miles, definitely repaired 8,426.

Factories (each having at least 20 employees)—(1914), 5,297, destroyed 4,700, resumed operation 3,645.

"France took up arms only in self-defense, endeavoring at the same time to maintain justice and liberty for the world" said M. Loucheur. "For nearly five years her richest provinces have endured continual martyrdom. And yet by her own means, from day to day, the ruins are reviving; houses arise from the ground, fields are covered with promising crops. The populations of the devastated areas believe that they can rely on the spirit of solidarity of all those who have measured the magnitude of their sacrifice and understood their unquestionable right to the fullest reparations. A vast field of action is open for the demonstration of human brotherhood. These people who suffered martyrdom while the safety of France and the

Woman Who Has Own Apartment Is Most Sought For Bride

PARIS, Sept. 19.—(Associated Press Mail).—The woman with an apartment, preferably a furnished one, is most in demand as a fiancée, says the "Excelsior" in its account of an interview with the manageress of a Paris matrimonial agency characterized as one of the better sort. The war widow, if young and agreeable, remarries much more easily than a young girl making her first venture on matrimonial seas.

A physician between the ages of 30 and 40, well educated and of good physique, was called the first prize among men. Parents demanded engineers, architects, professors or lawyers for their daughters' husbands, while the girls themselves, wished above all for an artist but the cupid broker reported this homo genus as extremely rare.

The fortunes offered with the French women varied from 50,000 to 250,000 francs. The directoress proudly stated that she had arranged a marriage between an engineer and a country girl where the bride brought 400,000 francs to her husband.

Daughters of rich peasants who have retired and wished to live in town formed the largest clientele of the bureau, in which the women applicants outnumbered the men two or three to one.

Whipping Post Revived In Town In Ontario

KINGSTON, Ont., Oct. 12.—(Associated Press Mail).—Forty lashes on the bare back is part of the punishment awaiting two prisoners brought to the penitentiary here to serve 10-year terms. They are Louis Morin, 23 years old, and Walter Goodchild, 24, both of Amherstburg, convicted of cruelly beating an old farmer while robbing his house.

The revival of the whipping post at the penitentiary is due to the operation of an amendment to the criminal code enacted last year authorizing judges to order applications of the cat-o-nine-tails in cases where victims of assault and robbery are subjected to cruel treatment.

HIGH POSTAL RATES

LISBON, Sept. 16.—(Associated Press Mail).—Postal rates in Portugal have been increased since May last to eight times the former rate. This has aroused protests from publishers and members of parliament who charge that the new rates virtually prohibit the exportation of books to Brazil and that this will destroy Portuguese influence in their country.

world was at stake, deserve a fresh belief in the joy of life. Besides shelter and bread they are entitled to peace and happiness."

Military Prisoners Do Rescue Work and Show Fine Spirit

LYONS, France, Sept. 22.—(Associated Press Mail).—Handcuffed in pairs and in charge of four gendarmes 12 French military prisoners en route for Algeria to serve sentences ranging from five to 15 years, were aboard the Strasbourg-Marseilles express when it jumped the track at Les Echets a few miles from here. Forty passengers were killed and 70 injured. None of the prisoners was seriously hurt, but three gendarmes were killed and the other pinned under the wreckage, lay seriously wounded.

All semblance of authority and order had disappeared. The prisoners were free but, instead of running away, they pulled the wounded gendarme out of the tangled mass of wood and iron and laid him on the grass. During the night they rescued 31 injured passengers. Then they gave themselves up.

They have since left for Algeria to serve their sentences but it is understood that the Minister of War is studying the case and the opinion is expressed that, in due course of red tape, they will be pardoned.

Tax on Fat Folk Is One Revenue Raising Method

BERLIN, Sept. 22.—(Associated Press Mail).—The government's search for new sources of revenue to meet increasing expenditures has brought a group of humorists to the rescue, one branch of which, submitting a statute already prepared, suggests a tax on fat folks whose waist-line circumference exceeds the chest measurement.

Another suggests attention be paid to double chins and "whiskey noses."

The proponents of the fat tax include the following provisions in the statute they have submitted:

Males between the ages of 15 and 30 whose waist exceeds the chest circumference shall pay 1,000 marks yearly for each excess centimeter, between 30 and 40 years, 500 marks.

Planters' Appeal For Aid Of World's Press Issued

Plantation needs of labor with Oahu Plantation as an object lesson was the text preached to visitors of the World's Press Congress this week on their visit to that plantation. Mr. Bishop had his subject well in hand and was able to make clear to his hearers what actual conditions are here, how they differ from those to which the visitors have been accustomed, and how vital an adequate supply of labor is to the chief industry of the Islands.

Mr. Bishop's presentation of the situation was an able and might be called the planters' message to the Islands visitors. Its text follows in full:

"This is a plantation. It was inevitable, when you started on your long pilgrimage to Hawaii, that you would see a plantation, because in Hawaii the industrial atmosphere is plantation. Here within range of your vision is a concrete example and demonstration that Hawaii's life is fundamentally, if not entirely, agricultural. We have no great manufacturing institutions except those that are sustained by the plantation industry; we have no mines, we have no lumbering industry, and we went out of the whaling business half a century ago. True, we have a tourist crop that is an asset, but it comes from without, and you are here to see and learn of what we have within our insular territory.

"When the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' association undertook a day's entertainment for the Press Congress delegates, it seemed to us eminently appropriate and proper to bring you down here on the ground where you will see the cane growing, the wheels going around and the horny handed son of toil in action.

"So it happens that you are out here this morning, observing what the hand of man has done, and is doing, to carry on the game of life incidental to human existence in Hawaii. While journeying amongst the Islands, this past week, you no doubt were transported through miles of growing cane, and perhaps have inspected factories here and there along the line, but here this morning we are making special effort to show you the processes from start to finish of this particular place—the Oahu Sugar Co.—whose history is not a long one, running back 25 years or less.

"I recall, and I do not admit yet that I am an old man, when these great areas of growing crops that you see about you, from ocean shore to forest line, were an arid, withering waste, or something approximating it, upon which a self-respecting bullock had a difficult time eking out an existence during most of the year—the rainfall being negligible in this region. There was no agriculture, except here and there in marshy spots along the shore—a little rice, and some banana patches. What happened? The development of the artesian basin below us started a group of enterprising men thinking, and the result is before you.

"This particular plantation—you will please bear in mind that there are three others of similar magnitude adjacent to it—has drilled string upon string of artesian wells, has installed pumping machinery of the aggregate capacity of 75,000,000 gallons of water per day—about double the amount required to supply the city of San Francisco—which is lifted to a maximum height above sea level of 450 feet, and keeps in growing condition crops covering an area of 12,000 acres. These pumps are operated by steam generated from oil fuel and according to the figures of last year's report, the fuel bill amounts to about $1000 per day. The artesian water supply is augmented by a gravity supply of 30,000,000 gallons per day from the other side of the island, through a tunnel piercing the mountain range two and three-quarter miles in length, with ten miles of side tunnels and conduits leading into the main tunnel, the total cost of the irrigating system of this plantation approximating $4,500,000.

"The maximum milling capacity of the factory is 2400 tons of cane per day, which yields from 250 to 300 tons of raw sugar, according to the richness of the juice in the cane. This year the average daily work at the mill has been 1140 tons of cane per day—about half the capacity of the plant.

"You have observed a part at least of the plant organization—48 miles of permanent railway track with the necessary rolling stocks, consisting of seven locomotives and 678 flat cars steam and tractor plowing equipment hundreds of dwellings for laborers, hospitals, stores and sanitary equipment necessary to comfortably provide for the 2500 people required to operate this estate.

Cost of Fertilization
"In comparison with agricultural operations in continental United States, ours are entirely different. Aside from the irrigation plant necessities already referred to, our volcanic soil calls for an intensive fertilization based on soil analysis; and this plantation expended in fertilizer and the cost of applying same in 1920 $365,000. This item, you will note, averages $1000 per day. To put it in other terms, the cost of fertilizer in Hawaii runs from $50 to $100 per acre; in some places more, in others less.

"Another feature of farming sugar cane in Hawaii, that will interest you, is the fact that our crops take two years to mature and harvest. Your farmers grow their crops, plant in April or May, harvesting in September or October. With us, what is being planted now will come off late in 1923, so that we always have two crops on the ground, and at seasons part of a third.

"The very large financial burden incidental to carrying crops along, also the plant equipment necessary thereto, in a large measure accounts for the fact that agriculture in Hawaii is carried on by large incorporated companies, financially strong enough to get away with it. The industry was pioneered by individuals who either went broke from the financial strain, or consolidated their interests in the companies that are operating today. These same conditions apply in a considerable degree to the pineapple industry, which also is a two-year crop and which was started by individual farmers, and which was a tottering industry until the interests were consolidated and capital provided for great cannery plants and operation on a large scale.

Control of Pests
"We also have serious problems in connection with insect pests, and in one of two instances have been confronted with situations more grave perhaps than the boll weevil menace to the cotton industry of the southern states and the moth and beetle problems of the northern states. This association has sent its scientific men to far lands in search of the natural enemies of these destructive agents, and the valiant entomological scouts of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' association have brought home to us, after many years of hard work and research, the means whereby the leaf hopper, the cane borer and the ananias beetle have been put in absolute control, practically amounting to extermination.

"Our agriculturists have produced new varieties of cane, and our engineers and chemists have devised new and more efficient mechanical apparatus, machinery and methods of operation that are now world standards. And these things have been done through organized effort, that would have been impossible without such organization. It is safe for me to say that had our cane crops been raised by small farmers, not properly organized, the leaf hopper scourge of 1903 and 1906 would have wiped the cane industry of Hawaii off the map.

On Edge of Tropics
"While I have dwelt but briefly on conditions covering agriculture in Hawaii conditions on the mainland. I hope that it has been enough to fix in your minds that totally different conditions prevail here than do 'back home.' We live on the edge of the tropics, where the temperatures vary but little from what you feel it to be today. If you will step out here into the cane, you will both see and feel the thermometer rise 10, 15 or 20 degrees, and there is no cooler season of the year to renew the energies of the worker. In short, it is not a climate that the white man can stand up under as a field worker. This is why you note the absence of the white man from the cane field. He doesn't like it because he can't stand it; we know, because he has tried it. Back in the days of the monarchy, the government recognized the desirability, even necessity, of a better racial balance of our population, and under its auspices many thousands of southern Europeans—Portuguese, Spanish, etc., also some from half a dozen other European countries—were brought here to Hawaii from Europe, around Cape Horn. We have some of them yet, and the second generation is a valued, industrious element of our community, but they are not in the cane fields. Our public school system made them a refined class that can readily obtain employment in different stations of life that are more tasteful to them. We cannot repeat the sound and far-visited action taken in monarchial days, because the assisted immigration from any foreign country is tabu under United States laws, and has been for 20 years past. As to voluntary immigration to continental United States from Europe, I ask you, has Hawaii any chance for a quota of it? Absolutely none! So here we are, marooned out in the middle of the Pacific, with immigration laws governing us that may be entirely suited to mainland requirements, and yet entirely ruinous as far as Hawaii is concerned; and this is the point that we most desire to fix in your minds—that is, we are different from the mainland, and if we are to be accorded fair treatment it must be intelligent treatment, and with due regard for the prevailing conditions in this territory.

Square Deal for Hawaii
"You good people of the Press Congress will return to your homes after a happy holiday on this pilgrimage, and I haven't a doubt but that your impressions will be charged with the charm of Hawaii. It is invariably so with those who come and pay us a visit. But you have in your hands a mighty power—the power of the pen, the power of the press and the force of public opinion which the press of the United States moulds and controls in a greater degree than any other single influence. You are going to teach the public of our great country something about the remote and diminutive territory of Hawaii, that stands out in the Pacific as an outpost of our defences, of our civilization and a monument to American enterprise and industry that our forefathers founded here before what you call the great west was opened up. Be honest and fair with us. Get behind the idea that legislation by Congress, calculated to meet our needs, is only just. We are entitled to this consideration, as we are assuming most of the responsibilities of statehood, but have no state delegation to represent us in Congress; only a voice—no vote. We are subject to the same taxation as are residents of the states, Congress as a whole is our guardian, and we expect our guardian to look after the interests of its ward. We object to being legislated for along lines that will appeal to the voter of Milwaukee or any other constituency. We believe that we have this right of objection.

"Do you know that 16 of the states paid less in federal taxes than did Hawaii in 1920? Does that mean anything? We hope so, and we hope it means also a square deal and fair play. If you will spread the gospel along these lines you will help us. Give our readers the thought that Hawaii is not a costly appendage. Tell them that we pay our own way, and then some; that last year we clipped in $21,000,000, when Uncle Sam passed the hat for his tithing. Tell them not to get us confused with the Philippines and Porto Rico, who are not subject to federal taxation, and who collect and retain their own customs revenues, while ours go to the federal treasury; during the past 20 years, these have aggregated somewhere around $30,000,000.

"Perhaps you know that Uncle Sam gratuitously spent on the sanitation, of Havana, Cuba, many millions. Outside of military fortifications and a lighthouse service, I recall very little that he has spent in his own territory of Hawaii. True, we are getting a federal building, after it has been discussed for a matter of 15 years; meanwhile, the United States courts have been housed on the top floor of a business block without an elevator, and other federal offices are scattered through the territorial buildings.

Break Down Prejudice
"In the matter of the laboring class this whole magnificent estate, in fact the entire industry, is dependent upon labor from without to man the hoe and to cut and load these great crops of cane onto the cars. Should Hawaii's need in this regard be turned down because of mainland prejudice to Oriental labor? I fail to see why. I see no reason for a dog-in-the-manger policy. You have, as you know, 2000 miles of salt sea brine between this and the Pacific coast; certainly a substantial barrier, that can be utilized to control and protect the states against invasion from Hawaii. "So, in my opinion, the vital thing to us is, what will you tell the people of the states through the large number of publications which you represent? It is indeed a serious question to us.

"As a parting word, let me say you will all recall the copybook heading at the little red schoolhouse. 'The pen is mightier than the sword.' Just at the moment, we are hoping that the great assembly now gathering at Washington will permanently declare that the sword, as an active force, is non-essential to present day civilization, but you, gentlemen of the press, will continue to wield the mighty pen to the enlightenment and permanent peace of the world, and if you are fair and just and unselfish you will extend your vision beyond the limits of your own particular communities, even to these far islands, and accord what is necessary to maintain and expand the industries of this fair land which we and the forefathers have builded over a period of almost a century. We are supplicants for material aid, only in the sense that we be permitted to help ourselves."

"I wonder how many men will be unhappy when I marry?"
"It all depends upon how many times you marry."—Kasper (Stockholm.)

VILLIERS—SCOVIL

Rev. and Mrs. J. Charles Villiers were surprised this week to receive from their son, C. Hayden Villiers the photograph of a charming young woman and the announcement that the original was Miss Elizabeth Scovill and he would make her his bride in St. Michael's Church, Winnipeg, next Monday, October 31.

In his letter he said the wedding was unexpectedly soon as he had to go to England on business and both had decided it better to marry in advance of his going, rather than await his return.

Mr. Villiers was an artillery officer in the Canadian army during the war, and was in France from the early days of the war until the signing of the armistice, although it was his good fortune to be in London on the day the armistice was signed.

After the armistice he was in the army of occupation in Bonn, and Cologne. He closed his war service, in the middle of 1919, as demobilization adjutant, at Witney Camp, England. He came home to spend Christmas of 1919 with his parents in Wailuku, and remained on Maui until March of the following year, when he went to Winnipeg, where he has since been in business.

The young couple will, during their temporary stay in England, have their address at the Carlton Hotel, London.

Maui Women's Club

Miss Maude May Babcock, notices of whose work are to be seen almost daily in the Honolulu papers, has decided definitely that she will come to Maui December 3rd and give the reading "Caesar and Cleopatra," which is light and highly humorous, and will prove entertaining to all. This is a rare opportunity for Maui, and it is hoped all will avail themselves of the privilege of hearing Miss Babcock. She will also appear at the Woman's Club on the Monday following, December 5th, and give a short talk to the members, and plans to visit the High School while here, as well.

The next regular club meeting will be Monday, November 7th, at 3:00 P. M.

Woman's Guild Meeting—The Woman's Guild of the Church of Good Shepherd will meet with Mrs. William Engle next Tuesday.

Rumors of Deals—Reports are current that there are deals pending for the purchase of the Ford agency on Maui from Harry M. Gesner. It is said that at least two concerns are seeking to buy the business.

Bills Not in—All of the bills for the expenses of the swimming meet held last week are not yet in and the committee has not been able to cast up accounts and see just how the affair came out financially.

Rosehoni Dance—In the Territorial building tomorrow evening the Rosehoni Social Club will hold a dance in which a number of novelties are promised. The Mary Hoffman orchestra will furnish the music.

Falls to Death—Yaroko Hashi, a Japanese laborer fell from the roof of Wailuku mill, sustained a crushed skull and died of his injuries. A coroner's jury will sit on the case this afternoon.

Fancy Work Sale—Charming and dainty fancy work will be sold at the Wailuku Gym a week from tomorrow afternoon by the Children of Mary which will be followed by a dance in the evening.

Rain Up Country—During the past week there have been plentiful rains in the Paia and Haiku districts and at times chains have been necessary on the cars traversing the roads of those sections. It has continued dry in the Kula section.

Banana Exhibit Fine—At the Fair the exhibit of bananas was the largest and best ever brought together on the island. W. F. Pogue was responsible for its completeness and class and numerous compliments on the energy he displayed have been heard since the Fair.

Library Alterations—Work on the necessary alterations to the house at the corner of High and Wells streets to adapt it for library purposes was started by the county engineer this morning. The county engineer estimates the work will take from three weeks to a month.

Makawao Sale—Tomorrow evening the Makawao Ladies Aid will hold its annual sale, entertainment and dance at Paia Community House. An excellent program is reported to have been arranged. From past years' experience it is certain to be largely attended and a highly enjoyable affair.

Poi From Lahaina—Antone do Rego is starting a poi delivery business in Wailuku in connection with his mail carrying stage line. He offers to bring over Honokohau poi and deliver it to customers' houses, 15 pounds for a dollar, customers to furnish two flour bags, one for the next consignment and one to replace the container of the first consignment.

Cars in Collision—A truck of the Maui Soda Works was in collision with a Buick car at the corner of Church and Main streets yesterday, the Buick car being somewhat damaged and the company agreeing to pay the necessary repairs. The truck and driver were the same that were factors in a collision at the same corner a few weeks since.

New Toy Store—Maui Book Store has leased the store next to the post-office, redecorated the front and the interior and will open it as an exclusive toy store next week. The stock of toys secured for the holiday trade is too large to be properly displayed in the present show rooms in connection with the large line of books and novelties that is being carried and larger quarters were necessitated.

IN THE MATTER OF THE PETITION OF KAZUO NISHIMORA FOR CHANGE OF NAME—DECREE.

On consideration of the petition of KAZUO NISHIMORA, of the Island of Maui, Territory of Hawaii, for a decree changing his name to KAZUO KAMASAKI, and there appearing to me to be good reasons for granting the same:

NOW THEREFORE, by virtue of the authority in me by law vested, and thereunto enabling, I, W. R. FARRINGTON, Governor of the Territory of Hawaii, do hereby order and decree that the name of KAZUO NISHIMORA be and hereby is changed to KAZUO KAMASAKI, and that a copy of this decree be published for at least four consecutive weeks in the "MAUI NEWS", a newspaper of general circulation in the Territory of Hawaii, published at Wailuku, Island of Maui, in said Territory.

Better Supply of Water Expected by Middle Next Week

Better water supply is expected next week when water works Superintendent Garcia expects the first length of the new intake to be opened. He is planning this for Wednesday in cooperation with the county engineer. This will not give the whole of the new flow that is to be brought into the reservoir for the second section yet has to be laid and opened for use. About a mile of the larger pipe will have been laid by Wednesday down to the meter, Garcia says. It may be a month before the entire project is completed and Garcia is confident that then there will be a sufficient supply to the reservoir to meet present demands.

Some misapprehension relative to the possibility of new mains and separate mains for Wailuku and Kahului appears to have arisen. A letter from the Chamber of Commerce to the board of supervisors was read at the last meeting of the board. The subject had previously been discussed by members of a Chamber committee and the board two or three months ago and the chamber is on record as favoring further improvements. At the last meeting the board took no action on the Chamber's letter. The position heretofore taken by the board of supervisors is that further improvements in the Wailuku-Kahului system should be made from loan fund monies, through a sale of bonds. All the more recent improvements in the system including the main now running to Kahului and increased mains and piping in the harbor town, came from general county funds though there were provisions for bond issues, the bonds not being sold. In the present state of county finances and in the face of what is expected next year the board members seem to feel that no further county taxes should be used for permanent water works improvements in the Wailuku-Kahului district.

Mr. Jones is preparing a sermon on the words of Jesus—"Your Fathers Ate Manna in the Wilderness and They Died." He is calling the sermon, "Privilege and Practice."

Kahului Union Church When Mr. DeKay found, one day in an army camp seventeen nationalities represented in a group of 125 soldiers, none of whom could read English and few of whom could even speak it, and for whom it was necessary to secure six or eight interpreters in order to give them a message, he accepted it as a challenge to the Army "Y" to get busy with classes in English. With the co-operation of the military authorities and the public school teachers of the city these men were given their opportunity. Such men in large numbers are still challenging America to lead them into a larger life and a better citizenship.

Sunday evening at Kahului church Mr. DeKay will speak on "The Educational Challenge of the New Age." Do you know how much Maui is doing towards meeting this challenge? Do you know how many men of other races are working hard all day in the fields, and at night eagerly accepting the opportunity to attend night classes? Do you know how large a part our public school teachers are taking in this work? You are invited to attend this service.

Psychical Research Society Lecture to Be Open To Public

One of Honolulu's most popular lecturers is Dr. J. H. M. Le-Apsley, head of psychical research work there and the members of the Maui branch of the society and others of this island who have heard him can well understand the reasons. In Honolulu the society once each month admits the public to its meetings and to one of his talks and the same policy is planned here by the Maui branch of the Society for Psychical Research.

While Dr. Le-Apsley usually speaks on subjects directly connected with psychical research or closely associated with it he sometimes departs from them and the subject he announces for next Tuesday night indicates that will be one of the occasions for he announces "The Bible and its Message." He has been a deep student of the Bible, especially certain books of the old testament and it can be taken in advance that whatever he has to say will not be antagonistic to Christianity for, as a matter of fact, he attaches a deeper meaning to the Bible than do a majority of its readers.

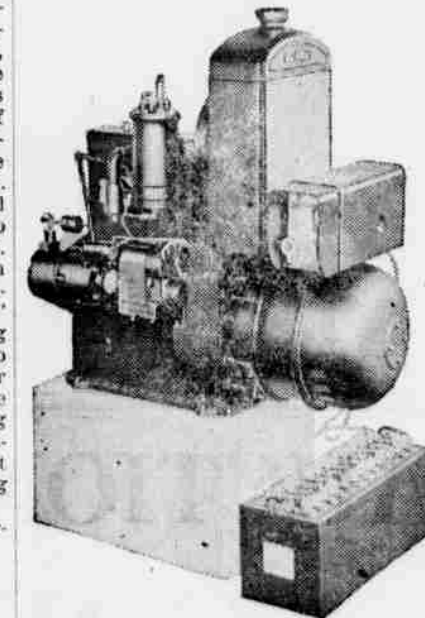

There will be no admission fee for members and non members of the society will be admitted on payment of 50 cents, the equivalent of a month's non active dues. The meeting will be held in the Alexander House Kindergarten rooms.
