Timely Topics.

MONEY

makes the mare go, is a well-known saying. We have something that will make the sorriest old nag ever hitched to a wagon go at a regular racing gait, and for very little money at that. Our Carriage Whips can be had in almost any quality and price, from $1 to $3.50.

We have still a good stock of Cart and Buggy Harness to suit the purse of anybody; we sell a first-class harness for $16 and then "there are others" better in quality at $25, $30 and $35.

Young men like to take their best girl out for a drive, and the beautiful moonlight nights we are just now enjoying, invite amorous swains to go a mooning with their lady loves.

We have a dandy looking Dog Cart that is just the thing for a drive around the park; it is easy riding, comfortable, with plenty of room for two. It is the only one of its kind in Honolulu, and as we are not in the carriage business, we do not intend to get any more, so you do not run the risk of having the same style as everybody else. Will be sold very cheap.

By the last Australia we received a lot of Brass Stirrups, light and neat looking, and besides carry a full assortment of Carriage Sponges, Chamois Skins, Lap Robes, Bits, Buckles, etc., etc.

HEAVY RAILS TO EWA MILL

BED OF OAHU RAILROAD TO BE GREATLY IMPROVED.

Changes to be Made Along the Route—The Extension to Waialua—Big Shipment of Ties at Hand.

The material for the new track of the Oahu Railway to be laid from Honolulu to Ewa mill, as well as the extension of that road to be built from the present terminus at Waianae to Waialua, is beginning to arrive from the United States.

The sailing vessel Ceylon, loaded with 20,000 ties, loaded at Seattle, is now in port discharging her cargo. The vessel was heavily laden, her decks being utilized for carrying the ties. Another shipload is expected shortly.

A ship has already left New York with a cargo of rails. The Brewer ship scheduled to leave there on June 10 will bring another large consignment of steel rails to the company. Railroad spikes and other necessary material is now en route.

The new rails to be laid from Honolulu to Ewa mill, a distance of twenty miles, contain 48-pound steel. The Peerless Preserving Paint Company has secured the contract to dip the rails before they are laid down. This will be a good investment for the company, as the rails should last with proper care from twenty to thirty years. The road follows along the sea coast and the close proximity enables the sea air to play much havoc on the steel unless it is protected.

General Manager Dillingham announces that many improvements will be made in the new roadbed to be selected from Honolulu to Ewa. Aside from straightening many of the curves, it is proposed to alter the grade at Dr. J. S. McGrew's place at Iaea. Cape Horn will be cut off altogether.

A new track will be constructed from Ewa mill to the new mill of the Oahu Sugar Company, a distance of one mile and a half.

In speaking of the proposed extension to Waialua, Manager Dillingham stated: "There is no intention of delaying this work. It has been definitely settled that we shall push our line from Waianae on to Waialua and we are shaping our plans as rapidly as possible. Men will be set to work grading the roadbed very soon now. The Waialua extension is going to be built whether the treaty remains or not. In either event, the islands are not going to be deserted, and as long as there are any people here there is need for a railroad."

"Our objective point now is Waialua. If there is sufficient encouragement to warrant us to build on to Kahuku, we will do it."

SCENE IS IN HONOLULU.

George W. Heintz, the assistant general passenger agent of the Denver & Rio Grande Railway, residing in Salt Lake City, is at work writing a one-act operetta, the scene of which is laid in Honolulu. Mr. Heintz visited this city last year and was very favorably impressed with his observations. Fred Smith of the Oahu Railroad, received a letter from him by the Doric, in which he asks for several Hawaiian songs and some hula music.

The Best Typewriter.

It has proven to the satisfaction of the business world that the PEERLESS is the best Typewriter on the market. Why?

Primarily because it never gets out of order, leaving correspondence in a chaotic condition on the busiest day, and among many other reasons, because of its lightness of touch and quick response to the keys, its lightning paper release, its arrangement for doing tabulated work and for sundry matters of convenience which we will be pleased to show and explain if you will call.

CANOE RIDING AT WAIKIKI

TOURISTS AND RESIDENTS CAN ENJOY SPORT.

Experienced Native Men Can Be Secured at Any Time—A Company Formed for the Benefit of Tourists.

When W. W. Dimond made it possible for tourists and residents of the city to enjoy the pleasures of surf riding by organizing a company which obtained a number of first class canoes and employed experienced native canoeists, he did a thing for which he should receive the thanks as well as the support of the entire community.

It is the ambition of every enterprising citizen in the United States to make a favorable impression on all visitors. The public spirit is beginning to dominate in Honolulu. That the sea surrounding the city affords the finest bathing in the whole Pacific, all tourists who come here frankly admit. The surf riding that can be had here has enraptured many people who have lived along the Pacific Coast all their lives. They have never enjoyed such a treat in any other land.

While people have been surf riding in Honolulu for years, the sport has been confined to favored ones. Tourists were taken out to ride the waves only when they were invited by someone who owned a canoe. Even many townspeople have never enjoyed the sport because they nor their friends did not own canoes.

Mr. Dimond had been urged by many people to take the step he did. He has arranged everything for the convenience of patrons. The telephone can be used to engage canoes which can be had on a few moments' notice. The canoes are sent to any place on the beach.

It is surprising the patronage that has been accorded to him since its formation, a week or so ago. During the afternoons on week days a half-dozen canoes may be seen out in the surf, and on Sundays there is twice that number out. Some of these are private canoes.

The best surf is opposite Haniwai or Wright's Villa. Mr. Dimond, who, is an expert canoeist and without doubt, one of the best steersmen among the whole men, says that the most timid ladies need have no fear for their safety. It is very rarely that a canoe is capsized, and then the natives can rescue every occupant with ease. In fact, many of them are strong enough to place the canoe in position again while in the water.

GODFREY IS CHAMPION.

The Young Pacific Club Player Wins in the Singles.

W. B. Godfrey, Jr., a member of the Pacific Tennis Club, won the final match in the tennis singles played yesterday afternoon on the Pacific courts. Walter F. Dillingham, the winner of last year's tournament, defaulted to Godfrey, making the young man the undisputed champion of this year's tournament.

Godfrey's opponent for championship honors was Wilder Wight, a junior of the same club. He worked his way through the general tournament, defeating some of the most expert players, until he was one point from the championship honors.

The championship match was executed with much swiftness and precision. Wight won the first match by a score of 6 to 4 games. Godfrey then won three matches in succession. The doubles will be played today.

ROWING NEWS.

The Rowing Association has adopted rules which will be submitted to the boat clubs for ratification. One of the provisions requires the clubs in the Association to row the four-oar senior race in the old original shells purchased in Australia. Twelve men may be nominated for judges by the clubs. The Association will select three from this number, one from each club. The races will take place during the second week of September. The Pearl harbor course has been selected.

THE BALTIMORE MAY COME

THE FLAGSHIP OF THE PACIFIC SQUADRON.

Opinion of the Officers on the Philadelphia—Their Vessel May Remain Until August—The Oregon.

According to the San Francisco Chronicle, the cruiser Baltimore, which has undergone a thorough overhauling at the Mare Island Navy yard, will become the flagship of the Pacific station early this summer in place of the Philadelphia, now flying Admiral Beardslee's flag in the harbor. It is expected the change will take place in July, when Admiral Miller relieves Admiral Beardslee of the command of the station. The Philadelphia requires extensive repairs, and she will be laid up immediately on her return to the navy yard.

Lieut. Winterhalter of the Philadelphia said this morning that advice received by Monday's mail had led the officers aboard to believe that the Philadelphia would not be relieved much before August 1st. It is not certain that the Baltimore will come here to relieve the Philadelphia. It is rather more likely that the Philadelphia will go to San Francisco, where the change will be made. This is rather an isolated place to keep an Admiral any length of time.

There is still a good deal of gossip among Navy officers in regard to the Oregon's coming here. It is, however, the consensus of opinion among the officers who know the harbor that it might first be necessary to dredge out a berth for her, and then move the town back to the hills to give her room to turn in.

PROGRAM IS OUT

For the Athletic Sports on the Fourth of July.

President A. G. M. Robertson of the Myrtle Boat Club, Capt. Lorenzen, and Clarence Crabbe, were chosen a special committee to look after the sports on the Fourth of July.

WANTS TO BE SOCIABLE.

Capt. White in Favor of the Military Lads Entertaining.

Capt. E. O. White of Company B, in his endeavor to build up his company, was instrumental in securing the appointment of an entertainment committee, consisting of Lieut. Giles, Corp. Thrum and Priv. Wright. This committee will arrange for a progressive euchre party to be given in the company's quarters within the next couple of weeks. Trophies will be hung up for the most expert players. It will be a stag affair.

It is Capt. White's wish to abandon drill one night in one or two months and give a sociable of some sort. One time it could be a card party, then an informal dance, and another time a literary, musical or dramatic entertainment. This, he argues, will have a tendency to get the boys more interested in military affairs.

FLOWERS FOR BRAVE DEAD

DECORATION DAY PARADE TO BE A MEMORABLE ONE.

It is Expected That Fully 500 Men from the United States Vessels Will Take Part—The Volunteers.

There will be more men in the column that will march out to Nuuanu Cemetery one week from Saturday to decorate the graves of the sleeping veterans than ever before known in the history of Honolulu. This will be due to the number of United States men-of-war in port. The Philadelphia battalion made up of men from the Philadelphia, Marion and Adams, will probably number over 500 men.

The military of Hawaii will make a very creditable turn out this year. The captains of the volunteer companies have been giving considerable attention to drilling during the past couple of weeks and the Regimental Drill last week, in which the Mounted Reserve and Mounted Patrol participated, was given for the purpose of training the men for the Decoration Day drill.

The National Guard will escort the column, it having been given the right of line.

The George W. De Long Post, G. A. R., will turn out with a full membership.

Charles H. Eldridge, Marshal of the day, has not yet formed the column. He hopes to have this completed this week.

The parade will be in the afternoon. The line of march is usually up Fort to either Beretania or School streets, and thence out Nuuanu to the cemetery.

The G. A. R. cemetery lot has been doubled this year. The graves of fifteen veterans as well as a few others scattered throughout the cemetery, will be decorated. The Citizens' Guard and Company B will place flowers on the grave of Charles L. Carter. This hero of the '95 troubles was formerly a member of Company B and a member of the Citizens' Guard when he died.

THE TIME IS NEAR.

When Chairman Smith Will Call the Americans Together.

George W. Smith, who served as chairman of last year's American committee on the Fourth of July celebration, will call the old committee to order in a day or so. Secretary Fred Smith has recorded in his minutes of last year a resolution introduced by F. B. McStocker, which says: "The duties of all Fourth of July committees shall be continuous and the committee shall be called by the chairman at least five weeks before the following Fourth of July."

Chairman Smith stated today that he had held a. from calling the committee to order ere this as he expected Mr. Sewall, the new American Minister to Hawaii, would arrive on the Doric. He has hoped that he would take the lead. Mr. Smith still has time to comply with the resolution.

ANNEXATION RESOLUTION.

King Wants Hawaii Taken Into the Union.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Representative King (D.) of Utah has introduced a resolution for the annexation of Hawaii. The resolution declares that the territory may be received into the Union whenever the Government of Hawaii shall cede it to the United States, the President of the United States to receive it by proclamation and Congress to make laws for its government.

It is provided that the laws of the United States for the exclusion of Chinese shall apply to the islands and that no Chinese there shall be permitted to enter the United States. The appointment of a commission of three by the President to act with a like commission of the Hawaiian Government is provided for.

HILO TRIBUNE SAYS.

Blackfeld & Co. have purchased another piece of land on the banks of the Waialua river, south bank and west of the bridge, to be used for warehouse purposes. It is a valuable piece of land.

It is rumored that Theo. H. Davies & Co. have purchased 50x225 feet on Wainuenu street, opposite Bridge street, running straight through south to the next street, upon which this firm will erect a fine two-story business structure.

TWO WARSHIPS ARRIVE

THE ADAMS AND WILD SWAN NOW IN PORT.

The British Cruiser Returns from a Cruise in the South Seas—Men on the Training Ship.

Two warships were added to the fleet already in the harbor this morning, giving Naval Row quite a formidable appearance. They are the U. S. training ship Adams, and the third rate British cruiser Wild Swan. While neither of them are heavy weights, they serve to fill up the gaps in the row, and recall the warlike parade of 1895.

The Adams has been, as the officer of the deck expressed it this morning, out of the world for two months. She had over 100 naval apprentices on board when she left San Francisco, but thirteen of them deserted at San Diego. Afterward, the little gunboat steamed to Magdalena bay, one of the loneliest spots on the coast. It required three weeks for her to go from there to Hilo, as she was under sail most of the time, taking it leisurely so as to give the apprentices opportunity to learn the practical workings of a vessel at sea. The officers speak very highly of the treatment accorded them by the good people of Hilo. They had a jolly time there, and one that they will not soon forget.

Some of the officers of the Adams are well known here, but the majority of them are on their first visit. Following is a list of the officers on board: Captain Gibson, Lieutenants Harris, Wilner, Holcombe and Stanworth, Ensigns Brown, McLean and England; Chief Engineer McElroy, Dr. Stone, Paymaster Semmes and Pay Clerk Ballard.

The Adams now has eighty-seven apprentices on board. She will remain in port here about eight days, and then sail for San Francisco.

The Wild Swan has just returned from a three weeks' cruise among the South Sea islands. During her absence she visited the Fannings, Washington, Palmyra and Christmas groups, calling at all British stations, but only remaining a few hours at each. Not a sail was sighted on the entire voyage, which was a pleasant one until the last week, when some heavy weather was encountered.

Nothing of interest occurred aboard during the trip. A reporter from The Star was not accorded the privilege of an interview with any of the ward-room officers, but he learned as much from the clerk in the office. The Wild Swan will remain here until the 25th, when she will return to the Naval station at Esquimaux.

AUSTRALIA MAY BRING THEM.

The Australia was scheduled to leave San Francisco yesterday. Harold M. Sewall, the new American Minister, and Mrs. Sewall, are very probably on board. Mrs. Sewall has been in San Francisco for some little time. This is her old home and she has been the recipient of a great many social favors.

Greater bargains than ever will be offered at L. B. Kerr's clearance sale tomorrow, last year's stock of dress goods will be cleared at a-y price. Remember the sale ends this week.

RESTORED.
 A mother came to the gateway of heaven. She was aged and weary. Her body was bowed and her face wrinkled and withered, for her burden had been the burden of care and trouble and sorrow. So she was glad to be done with life and to seek at the gateway of heaven the fulfillment of the promise that had been her solace through all the hard, bitter years.
 An angel met the mother at the gateway and put her arms about the drooping figure and spoke gracious, tender words.
 "Whom seekest thou?" asked the angel.
 "I seek my dear ones, who came hither before me," answered the mother. "They are very many—my father, my mother, my husband, my children—they are all here together, and for many and weary years I have lived in my loneliness, with no other things to cheer me but the thought that I should follow them in good time."
 "Yes. They are here, and they await thee," said the angel. "Lean upon me, dear mother, and I will lead thee to them."
 Then the angel led the mother through the garden of paradise, and the angel and the mother talked as they walked together.
 "I am not weary now," said the mother. "It is the grace of heaven that restoreth thee, dear mother," quoth the angel. "Presently thou shalt be filled with the new life, and thou shalt be young again, and thou shalt sing with rapture, and thy soul shall know the endless ecstasy of heaven."
 "Alas, I care not to be young again!" saith the mother. "I care only to find and to be forever with my beloved ones."
 As they journeyed in their way a company came to meet them. The mother saw and knew her dear ones. Even though the heavenly life had glorified their countenances the mother knew them, and she ran to greet them, and there was great joy to her and to them. Meanwhile the angel kept steadfastly by her side.
 Now the mother, when she had embraced her dear ones, looked at each of them separately once more, and then she said: "Ye are indeed my beloved—my mother, my father, my husband and my children! But there is one who should be of your company whom I do not see—my babe, my little helpless babe that came hither alone so many, many years ago. My heart fainteth, my breast yearneth for that dear little babe of mine! Come, let us go together and search for her, or await me here under these pleasant trees while I search and call in this fair garden for my dear, lost little babe!"
 The others answered never a word. But the angel said, "I will go with thee, mother, and together we shall find thy child."
 As they went on their way the angel said: "Shall I tell thee of myself? For I was a little helpless babe when I came hither to this fair garden and into this heavenly life."
 "Perchance thou knowest her, my precious lambkin!" cried the mother.
 "I was a babe when I came hither," said the angel. "See how I am grown and what happiness hath been mine! The compassion of divinity hath protected and fostered me and hath led me all these years in the peace that passeth all human understanding. God hath instructed me in wisdom, and he shall instruct thee, too, for all who come hither are as children in his sight and they shall grow in wisdom and in grace eternally."
 "But my babe—my own lost little one, whom I have not held in these arms for so many years—shall she not still be my little babe, and shall I not cradle her in my bosom?" asked the mother.
 "Thy child shall be restored to thee," said the angel, "for she yearneth for thee even as thou yearnest for her; only with this difference, dear mother—thy child hath known, in the grace of the heavenly wisdom, that at the last thy earthly sorrow should surely be rewarded with the joys of the endless reunion in paradise."
 "Then she hath thought of me and longed for me to come," cried the mother, "and my lost babe shall be restored and shall know her mother again!"
 "Aye, she loveth thee fondly," said the angel, "and she hath awaited thy coming, lo, these many years. Presently thine eyes shall be opened, and thou shalt see her standing before thee in her heavenly raiment, whiter than snow, and about her neck thou shalt see her wearing most precious pearls—the tears which thou hast shed. O lonely mother, and which are the pearls the little ones in heaven gather up and cherish as an adornment most pleasing unto God and them."
 Then the mother felt that her eyes were opened, and she turned and looked upon the angel, and the mother saw that angel was her lost beloved child whom she was seeking—not the helpless babe that she had thought to find, but a maiden of such heavenly beauty and gentleness as only the dwellers in paradise behold and know. And the mother spread her arms and gave a great cry of joy and folded her very dear one to her bosom.
 Then presently they returned together to the others. And there was rapturous acclaim in paradise, and it was to God's sweet pleasure that it was so, for a mother and her beloved communed in the holy companionship of love everlasting.—Exchange.

COUNTER ARGUMENTS.

The Argonaut spits fire against the Reciprocity Treaty and its style of argument is so unlike its usual manner of dealing with questions, that one is tempted to wonder how much that paper charges for its space. Out of thirteen leading articles in the issue of May 10, no less than six are directed against Hawaii. The Argonaut neither believes in the Treaty, nor in Pearl harbor, nor in annexation—and yet, if one dips into the files of the past, one finds that the Argonaut advocated all these things, and the two latter it was especially strong in pushing forward; indeed, it considered them as vital to the interests of California.

In its list of objections to Reciprocity, the Argonaut says: "It is but the stalking horse of annexation. Within the belly of this Trojan horse are hidden the Greeks, whom we fear." Now, there is nothing hidden about the matter. The Reciprocity Treaty was made with the object of increasing American influence upon these islands. It was made with a view of building up American interests and American institutions. It has succeeded in its object. It is absurd to talk of Hawaii as a foreign country. Its laws, its institutions, its tone of thought, are all American. What the Reciprocity Treaty was mainly planned to carry out has been carried out, except the last step—annexation.

The argument is also brought forward that in case of annexation the Chinese and Japanese would claim to be Hawaiian citizens; but the argument is fallacious. Under the Monarchy, there were Chinese and a few Japanese who had naturalized and as such were of course voters; but under the Republic neither of these races can naturalize and neither of them can become voters. If the islands were annexed tomorrow they would not carry a single Chinese or Japanese as a citizen upon their registers. So, there would be no "race problem" which it would take "a century to solve."

Lastly, the Argonaut does not like the idea of annexation because a large fleet would be required to protect the islands. Apparently the Argonaut has no aloha for the American Navy. The creation of the White Squadron must have been gall and wormwood to its writers. That the American flag should be carried about the world in vessels worthy of its great traditions is not pleasing to it. What are wanted, according to the argument, are a few floating castles to protect the mouths of harbors, but anything like a cruiser which shall venture to sea, is to be deprecated. Moreover, in time of war, according to the Argonaut, the American fleet is to be kept inside Pearl harbor, and any foe might then lock it up for good and all by the simple expedient of sinking one of its vessels at the entrance. This kind of balderdash may go down with people whose only idea of a ship is a prairie schooner, but it "won't wash" with any one acquainted with seafaring matters or with the American Navy.

The arguments of the Argonaut are un-American and unpatriotic, and are, like all arguments made to order, flimsy and ex parte. One is sorry to see a paper which has for years held a position on the Coast, and even in the East, renowned for its fairness, go so blindly into a cause that it cannot see anything but its own side of the shield.

LIBERIA.

One does not hear much nowadays of the Colony of Liberia. The only thing generally carried in mind is that it was established somewhere in the thirties by some philanthropists of the United States as a place to which freed slaves might be sent, when it was found impossible, or inexpedient to send them back to their own countries. It was founded on somewhat similar line to Sierra Leone, though in the latter, the founding country maintained its control, while the former was organized as a Republic.

The only notice of it that has appeared for a long time in the Press is a letter in the Paris Temps, which gives circulation to the report that the British Government is on the point of making a loan to the Republic of Liberia, although that state is very much in debt.

From the above circumstance the writer of the letter says "it may therefore be expected that England will take a preponderant place in Liberia, to the detriment of the United States, Germany, the Netherlands and France."

Whether the letter is to be believed is doubtful. The source it comes from is not a good one, but it is a straw showing what interest is taken in things African and how even an unhealthy scrap of country like Liberia is considered in the grand scramble for territory. Perhaps, if the United States fleet, which the Argonaut depreciates so much, sent a vessel or two to Liberia, American prestige might be kept up in there.

Not only has Spain lost money and men in the struggles with its colonies, but it has received serious injury in some of its local industries. In a report on the trade of Barcelona, Consul Wyndham says that the rebellions have to a great extent paralyzed the commerce of Catalonia, which is a manufacturing district whose goods found a market in Cuba and Manila. Everywhere through the district the mills have either been closed or are worked on short hours with diminished numbers of hands. As an instance, the town of Mataro is mentioned where there used to be eight cotton factories. Three of these are closed and the remainder area working with only one third the complement of workmen for only four days a week. Such a blow to her trade has far wider reaching influences than the loss of a battle. Spain will have to call a halt upon her colonial policy to save her local industries. That is where war tells most.

In a conversation with Capt. White anent rose bugs, he suggests united efforts to get rid of the pest. He agrees that Professor Koebele's plan of inoculation kills off the bugs locally, but claims that if his neighbors don't take any precautions, as soon as he has got his own place clear, it only offers especial inducements for fresh colonies to arrive and feast upon his reviving plants. Having cast out the devil, he returns with seven other devils worse than himself, and the latter state of his garden is more deplorable than ever. Some plan should be adopted by which the diseased bugs should be supplied to everyone in town, since the one here and another there sort of policy does not effect the desired result. A good effort should be made to make this town a garden of roses as it used to be in the past.

The Westfield (Indiana) News prints the following in regard to an old resident of that place: "Frank McAvoy, for many years in the employ of the L. N. A. & C. railway here, says: 'I have used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy for ten years or longer—am never without it in my family. I consider it the best remedy of the kind manufactured. I take pleasure in recommending it.' It is a specific for all bowel disorders. For sale by all druggists and dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands

Hawaiian Electric Company.

The cleanest, brightest, safest and really, in the long run, the cheapest and best light for use in the family residence, is the incandescent electric light. Safe; nothing could be safer. A few days ago a prominent gentleman of Honolulu came rushing down to the office of the Electric Company and said: "Give me figures for wiring my home, and I want it done at once; no more lamps for me. Last night a lamp tipped over and it came so near setting fire to the house and burning my children and I take no more risks." This is the sentiment of quite a number in the past few weeks, who have ordered their houses fitted with the perfect light. Just think it over and make up your mind that you want the best and safest light; send for the Hawaiian Electric Company and tell them what you want. We have a complete stock of everything in this line and have just received a lot of the very latest designs in chandeliers.

SUBSTITUTE FOR RUBBER.

If Successfully Used It May Revolutionize Tiresmaking For Bicycles.

It is expected that before long a very important industry will spring up in California in the manufacture of a substitute for rubber from the juice or gum of a tree which is very abundant in the state. It is claimed by the discoverer that the ideal rubber substitute can be made from the product of this tree with proper treatment and curing.

That the substitute must become an object of great interest and one of industrial importance is beyond question. Being a perfect nonconductor of electricity, it may be employed for insulating telegraph and other lines which transmit electricity. It can be produced at one-fourth the price of ordinary rubber.

If so, it should make the discoverer rich beyond the dreams of avarice.

Arrangements are being made to start a factory for the manufacture of the substitute on a large scale. An effort will be made to have the factory located in Santa Rosa.

It is a fact beyond all question or doubt that the substitute, in combination with 15 per cent genuine rubber, will pass muster anywhere when manufactured into rubber goods, and the similarity to rubber goods would fool any expert.

The men who are prepared to invest in the manufacture of the substitute have thoroughly tested and satisfied themselves as to its practicability when vulcanized.

When its wearing qualities have been demonstrated in the matter of bicycle tires, thousands of dollars will be forthcoming for the erection and equipment of factories for its production, which is practically unlimited.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

COLLIDED WITH A DEER.

A Cyclist's Odd Adventure While Riding In the Evening.

A young woodsman had a curious adventure the other night in the wild woods at Merchouseville, up in the Adirondacks. He was riding along the road on a bicycle. His lamp was lit, and the light it threw was powerful.

Suddenly, in the road ahead, half way down a hill, a form loomed up in the light thrown by the lamp. Two turns of the pedals showed that it was a deer, which, hearing no sound and seeing nothing but the light, had been jacked as much as ever a deer was jacked from a boat along a backwoods stream. The sight flabbergasted the young man, and then before he thought to jump off he hit the deer fair in the side and doubled it up in a heap.

Of what followed the young woodsman has no distinct recollection. He got mixed up some way with something. For a brief instant he felt deer hide under his hands, then something hit him in the side, and he went over into a ditch among the briars.

By and by he got up and examined his wheel. The handle bars were bent and some spokes needed straightening. The lamp was dented in several places, but would still show a light, the glass having been untouched. When he got things somewhat straightened out, he began to examine the road. There was a place that looked like a deer's rolling place, with the imprints of a man's hand in the middle. A long mark showed where the deer's hoofs had slipped in the dirt. The deer was not to be seen.—Montreal Star.

Two Treatments.

In Denmark when a man is found too drunk to find his own house he is placed in a cab, taken to the police station, examined by the doctor, detained till sober and then dispatched to his home in another cab, and the bill for the doctor, the cab and the police attendance has to be paid by the publican who served the bibulous delinquent with his last drink. In Turkey it is the drunkard who is punished. The punishment for the first offense is the bastinado, the second and third offenses are also followed by chastisement, but after the third offense the offender becomes "privileged" and is entitled to be carefully taken home by a policeman.—New York Tribune.

BEST REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM.

From the Fairhaven (N. Y.) Register.
Mr. James Rowland of this village, states that for twenty-five years his wife has been a sufferer from rheumatism. A few nights ago she was in such pain that she was nearly crazy. She sent Mr. Rowland for the doctor, but he had read of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and instead of going for the physician he went to the store and secured a bottle of it. His wife did not approve of Mr. Rowland's purchase at first, but nevertheless applied the Balm thoroughly and in an hour's time was able to go to sleep. She now applies it whenever she feels an ache or a pain and finds that it always gives relief. He says that no medicine which she has used ever did her as much good. HEART AND ARROW.

"Tim Casey," said Mat Brennan on the eve of Widow Moloney's birthday. "I want you to give her this birthday card from me. It's a great red heart, with a skewer sticking in it. That represents matrimony—the heart, I mean. The skewer—" "It's an arrow, Mat—that's what they do by calling it."

"Well, Tim, an there's a good Irish good about that same. They can't do without us anyway, you see."

"Sorra a bit, an you want me to be further giving her that?"

"Yes, I've improved it. I've made it stiff with red lead an put in a few drops, as if it was the blood of me heart that was flowing for her, an she's so scornful of me sufferings."

"It's illigant," said Tim, with great admiration.

"An see here, now. I've written some verses to her to the tune of 'O'Shaughnessy's Hat.' Bedad, an they rowl as sweetly as a jig an as deludhering as the crayther."

He sang them over in his rich voice and delicious brogue, and Tim got excited and promised his most devoted aid.

Next morning Tim started on his mission. First he sat down on a cold doorstep and reflected.

"Take her a dhrity, painted, twopenny piece of paper with a red lead heart on it! Bedad an begorra an I won't! I'll do better than that, or my name's not Tim Casey. Mat's a decent blooy an a dhivil of a poet, but widdies is practical. It takes the likes of me to understand the likes of them."

Within ten minutes after this soliloquy he was seated in Mrs. Moloney's disordered and unventilated room.

"There it is, Mrs. Moloney, dear, an it must go to the heart of you to rade the hidden meaning," said he as he pointed to a large, healthy looking pig's fry on the table and a bottle of whisky which was standing beside it. He had suppressed the paper nibsive as poor, artificial and inexpressive, and out of his devoted friendship and slender purse had bought the "pluck" and the spirits which he presented in Mat's name.

"It's an emblem, honey," continued he. "Here's his heart, in a manner of speaking, at your feet—on your dish, I mane. The liver shows that he can't live without you; the lights, that you're the light of his eyes, an that he longs for you with every breath, an the flare, that there'll be all the fat in the fire an the very dhivil to pay if you're unkind to him an refuse him. It's an emblem, my dear—a delicate poetical emblem, bedad!"

"It's beautiful!" said Mrs. Moloney, profoundly touched, as she uncorked the bottle and filled up two large port glasses. Then she added: "An I'll cook it. Tell him to come tonight an help ate it. An come you too, Tim, an Mistriss Casey."

So it was all understood. Tim had, like most of his countrymen, the feelings of a gentleman and the tact of a courtier. That was why he and his wife arrived designedly late, having sent a message that supper was not to wait.

Had they come sooner a slight incident might have been avoided, though possibly it all happened for the best. For, leaving the tete-a-tete meal and the conversations to be imagined by the reader, the crumpled rose leaf arose in this way. Mat had lit his pipe and had asked the widow how she liked the card and the verses.

"She laughed and replied that she didn't know about the verses, except those he had been talking for the last hour. But, as for the card, he ought to know, for he had eaten the half of it."

Upon this Mat had jumped off his chair and exclaimed: "Then it's a dead man I am, an it's a wake I'll be after attending, an not a wedding! I thought there was a quare taste about that piece of frizzled fat."

"What does the creature be m'aning at all?" cried she in surprise.

"It's poisoned I am. That heart was all over red lead," said he, falling back into his seat.

"Poisoned, you black hearted villain!" screamed Mrs. Moloney. "Then take that!" And she broke a jug on his head.

It was at this point that the Casseys arrived. Tim promptly knocked Mat down, and then he naturally became curious to know what the ambiguity was about.

"He's poisoned me!" said she between a shriek and a sob.

Tim seized Mat and threw him on an incomplete but unmatched dinner service, part of Mrs. Moloney's stock, which stood in a corner on the floor.

The widow, hearing the crash, smashed a chair on Tim's back, whereupon Mrs. Casey took her by the hair, and the two women fell into some miscellaneous lots in another corner. Then the neighbors came in and took indiscriminate sides, and matters generally hummed for a short time.

Eventually Tim got an inkling of the difficulty, told them to be quiet and narrated all the circumstances, to the great relief, joy and amusement of all the parties.

A pailful of water and a yard or two of sticking plaster, with a few pins for the women, quickly set things smooth and smiling. Mrs. Moloney made them all welcome, and soon liberal supplies of whisky, porter and tobacco were formulated. Additional candles were lit, illuminating fitfully the front shop, whose contents seemed the embodiment of the confused thoughts of the guests—tables stacked with their legs in the air, cane chairs hanging on the walls, blank gosselers suspended from the ceiling, while a lighted lamp stood on the floor to prevent stumbling into the business portion of the establishment, and all went merrily. Mrs. Moloney for one brief ecstatic moment sat on Mat's knee, but they were severally picked up and revived, though the chair was pulverized, and Mat sang the "verses" which Tim had produced from his pocket along with the card.

Tim had applauded, wept and gone to sleep in the middle of the song. But the approval which greeted its conclusion, composed as it was of shouts, shrieks, knockings, tears and a free fight in the southeastern corner, effectually woke him. Somehow, after a confused interval of health drinking, recrimination and embraces, the party found itself adjourned.

Mat and the widow are to be married so soon as the necessary formalities can be arranged.—Exchange.

IN BEHALF OF BRUSH.

Good Words For the Manager of the Cincinnati Baseball Club.

No matter where the Cincinnati club may land in the championship race the coming season, there will be no openings left for the enemies of the club to accuse Mr. Brush of being stingy or lacking enterprise. The top notch has been reached in the matter of bonus money by that club. Not in years has any league or association club spent as much money for the privilege of negotiating with players as the Cincinnati magnate has.

Already about $11,700 has been paid out by Mr. Brush for talent which will strengthen this year's team, and from indications it looks as though still more cash would have to be parted with. This large sum of money is a substantial rebuke to those who have been continually harping on the idea that John T. Brush is always looking for the best end of it in a financial way. At the close of last season Mr. Brush said that no money would be spared to strengthen the Red; and put them in the race this season. Captain Manager Ewing selected Brittenstein, but, although costing a cool $10,000, the mighty left hander was quickly landed.

Then Short Stop Corcoran was spotted, and again the Cincinnati owner went gunning, but this time he had to deal with Charley Byrne, a past master in the art of trading players, and before the deal went through Smith and Fisher and $1,000 had to be given up by the former. Then Corcoran refused to sign, and $700 had to be given for Short Stop Ritchie, whom the Brooklyn had drafted from the Eastern league last fall. Should Ritchie fail to fill the bill in the short field additional money will have to be given up.

Corcoran would come down off his perch for about $500, but John T. has taken it into his head to discipline the stubborn short stop, and there is no telling who will win the battle. If the Cincinnati club does not start off with the bunch and keep in the first five clubs until the middle of the season, barrels of money will surely be lost, and a weakness in the infield would very likely drop them back into the second division. Captain Ewing has not given up hope of landing Corcoran and has written him several letters, unknown to Brush, but so far without result. If the Cincinnati club should fall down, Corcoran's wait would be a good one, but should the club win and Ritchie prove a capable fellow Mr. Corcoran's name in the future can be written without capital letters.—Washington Star.

BASEBALL BREVITIES.

The New Yorks have had some very bad weather at Lakewood, N. J.

Holmes signed with Louisvile on the same terms as his last year's contract.

The Cincinnati players are delighted with the form shown by young Ritchie, the new short stop.

Atlanta is to have a ball club, notwithstanding the disbanding of the Southern league.

Nick Wise, with the Brocktons last season, is looking for a position on some eastern or western league team.

The Bostonns will be given a great reception in Baltimore on the 22d of April, when the season opens there.

The Georgetown university team of Washington set the ball rolling in a game at Washington with Johns Hopkins university.

On the score cards this year Soekalex, the perambulating cigar sign of the Spiders, will answer to the Jerry Simpson title of "Sock."

Paul Hines has given up hopes of securing a minor league franchise and will accept an office in Washington under the present administration.

On the Orioles are three sons from out the accident and all from San Francisco—Buck Stop Clarke, Second Base Man Reitz and Twirler Joe Corbett.

ALL SORTS OF SPORTS.

Casper Leon and Jack Ward were matched recently to box 20 rounds early in April.

Charley Mitchell, the pugilist, has deposited $2,000 to bind a match with John L. Sullivan.

Aug. 13 and 14 are the dates set for this year's national regatta at Philadelphia. If the national bicycle meet could be run off the same week, Philadelphia would be called upon to entertain a great crowd of visitors.

William Gilfoil says that Jack Carley, the middleweight, will box Andrew Walsh at 158 pounds, and he says that if any club will take the bout he will promise one of the liveliest encounters seen in a long time.

Allen Risk, the Connecticut trainer who bought the pacer Reward J, 2:10 1/4, at the Lackey sale, will probably campaign him. A private match at five birds between Peter Murphy of Philadelphia and M. O. Feudner of San Francisco is talked of for decision shortly.

Not In Accord With Stagg.

Alonzo Stagg, the Chicago university athletic director, seems to have stirred up a commotion in the west because he does not like the A. A. U. registration plan. J. H. Maybury, president of the Western Intercollegiate association, has received the following from Gustavus Kirby, who represents the National Intercollegiate association at A. A. U. conferences: "The Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes, to which many of the colleges of the Western Intercollegiate association belong, is not in accord with the stand taken by Alonzo Stagg of Chicago university in regard to the registration of college athletes. The relation of the A. A. U. and its registration legislation to the colleges is probably misunderstood."—New York Sun.

KASTOL IS PURE

BUT REMEMBER there is but one KASTOL and we spell it with a K.

Our preparation is the finest quality of castor oil MADE PALATABLE by a new process. There is none of the oily taste to it, nothing objectionable to children who usually prefer CANDY to MEDICINE.

It is good for Babies

excellent for children and unequalled for grown persons. It acts upon the liver, stomach and bowels and purifies the blood and consequently the complexion.

KASTOL IS ALL RIGHT FOR ALL AGES.

There is no substitute for it; nothing that approaches it in efficacy. Price 25 and 50 cents a bottle.
