Tragedy At Waikapu

Little Louis Mannel Swept Through Reservoir Pipe and Drowned.

Monday morning last, the water in the reservoir near the sand hills below Waikapu was very low, and a number of children went there to gather shell fish, commonly called fresh water clams, which were very plentiful in the nearly empty reservoir. On seeing many of his playmates going, little Louis Mannel, the eight-year-old son of Kilohi Manuel of Waikapu, asked his mother for permission to go along with them. The mother refused and told her son to keep away from the reservoir as it was a dangerous place. Nevertheless, while the mother was busy with her house work, little Louis Manuel ran away to join his playmates on what proved to be his last day with his boy friends.

At the reservoir the children went to gathering shell-fish and played with one another as children will. While running about in the shallow water about the underground outlet Louis Manuel fell in and was swept into the big outlet pipe. Some of his playmates caught hold of him and tried their best to pull him out, but the suction caused by water running through the pipe was too strong. He slipped from their grasp and disappeared.

His playmates gave the alarm and plowmen working in the nearby canefields hurried to the scene too late to be of any assistance to the drowning boy. The gate of the outlet pipe was but partly open and the body of the boy caught there. The men had to work and turn the lever for almost an hour before the body got clear and washed out into the ditch below the reservoir. When picked up the boy had fastened his teeth into his right arm so tightly that the flesh had to be cut away before the body could be prepared for burial.

Deputy Sheriff Clement Crowell and police Captain Chas. Lake went to the scene and satisfied them-

Laying of Corner-Stone

Church of the Good Shepherd, Wailuku,
Building a Temple.

With a congregation of about 125 the corner-stone of the new Church of the Good Shepherd, the foundations of which are complete, was laid by Canon Wm. Ault on Wednesday, September 7th at 10 a. m.

The day proved auspicious and at the stated hour the members and friends of the Church began to arrive and all was in readiness on the stroke of the clock.

The Rev. Dr. Weymouth of Lahaina and Canon Ault were the only visiting clergymen, others being kept away by school duties or by sickness.

The procession formed in the old Church, and proceeded to the place where the stone was to be laid reading the 132 Psalm. Arriving at the spot the Hymn "Christ is Made the Sure Foundation" was sung, after which the service proceeded to the Lesson which was read by the Rev. Dr. Weymouth. The list of deposits in the stone was read and a short address was delivered by the Rector of the Parish. He stated that the native stone and copper box was presented to the Church by the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Co., through Mr. F. Baldwin and Mr. Searby, and expressed the thanks of the congregation for this very worthy donation. After the address Canon Ault laid the corner-stone which bears the simple inscription "Church of the Good Shepherd 1910, in the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost."

The gavel used at this ceremony is a relic, and it is made of teak and oak and copper taken from the hulk of the first vessel ever wrecked in the Columbia River—the "Sylvia de Grasse" at Astoria, Oregon, in the early years of the last century. The gavel was used by the present Rector of the Good Shepherd, just before he left Oregon last year, in laying the corner-stone of another Church, and so by connection with France is a fitting symbol of that early Church in Gaul (now France) which furnished saints and martyrs of the early ages who traced their authority to the beloved disciple St. John who was the immediate follower of the Good Shepherd Himself!

Thus the warp and woof of religious as well as secular commercial interests binds the world and the ages in one.

We were glad to notice that a number of the local ministers were present. Among the members was one who informed us that she was present when the Rev. Geo. B. Whipple began the Church work here in the 60's, and was among the first baptized in the old Church. Thus is begun a new epoch of this work in our midst. The past record of the Church is in the hearts and lives of many far away in remote corners of the earth, and of many in our community. The future remains to be told.

The old wooden building in which many sad as well as happy experiences have taken place, will be used for parish work and school purposes. It has served its day. The new building is to be more durable and is of reinforced concrete.

Mr. S. E. Lucas and family arrived on the Claudine from Hilo, on their way to Honolulu. Mr. Lucas intends to return to Wailuku in about two months, for a stay of two weeks.

Wailuku Has Tennis Club

A New Organization That Will Add
Greatly to Local Gaiety.

Last week a few tennis enthusiasts met and organized a Club to be known as the "Wailuku Tennis Club." Tuesday evening the members of the club met at the home of C. D. Lufkin, and adopted a constitution and by-laws, and transacted other routine business. A tennis court has been secured and men have been working on it for the past week putting it in shape. It is hoped to have the court in condition for play in about two weeks. The new tennis club will be quite an acquisition to the social life of Wailuku, and it is anticipated by the organizers to develop some good contests in the near future.

It was voted at the meeting Tuesday evening that the initiation fee should be $1.50 for both gentlemen and ladies. The dues for gentlemen shall be four dollars per year, payable six months in advance. Ladies are to pay no dues, the initiation fee admitting them to full active membership.

In order that a lively interest may be taken in the development of the new club, some of our public spirited citizens might come forward and donate trophies for the members to strive for, thereby developing some of the material here in Wailuku. After a few contests of this sort we might be able to make a creditable showing with some of the older clubs in an inter-club tournament.

In order that the ladies may be induced to take a deeper interest in the game the News will donate a cup to be played for, under rules laid down by the club. The only stipulations being that it shall be won in a handicap tournament, and that to own the cup outright it must be won three times by the same lady. The officers of the club are C. E. Meyers, President; Alfred Martinson, Jr., Vice-president; F. A. Lufkin, Secretary and Treasurer. The annual meeting of the club will be held the first Monday in December, and all those joining before that time will be considered charter members.

Relief for the Dupes.

It having been learned from a number of sources that Dan Tweedie, who visited these islands last spring, had taken a number of supposed subscriptions for the San Francisco Weekly American, and that these same subscribers were receiving the Petaluma Poultryman, the Editor of the News took the matter up with the management of the American, and laid the details before them. In answer to our letter we received a communication stating that the American had not received any of the money or subscriptions from Tweedie, and that he had been discharged from their employ. They also stated that if those people in the islands who have been imposed upon by Tweedie will send in their receipts, they will be glad to forward the paper, without any further payment of money. If there are any of our readers who have such receipts, and will forward them to us, we will see to it that they receive the paper for which they subscribed.

D. H. Case and Mrs. Case are spending the week in Honolulu. Mr. Case is making a business trip.

Son of Ambassador to France Shows Up Strong on Harvard Crew.

There is at Harvard University a young man who, as a single, sculler would compare favorably with the leading professionals,—with a little coaching—according to excellent authorities. Jim Wray, the Harvard rowing coach, thinks he could beat any man in the world after proper coaching and a little racing experience. The young man in question is Elliott Bacon, a son of Robert Bacon, United States ambassador to France, and No. 5 in this year's Crimson shell. The Harvard coach is not much of a talker as a rule, but he opened up recently when approached on the subject of young Bacon and single sculling.

"Bacon," said Wray, "is a strapping youth, who stands six feet one inch and weighs 180 pounds. He did all his preliminary work in a single scull, and can drive a boat through the water about as fast as any man I ever saw. If this youngster had the ambition to become a world's champion professional oarsman I believe he could give them all a stiff battle."

"There is no reason in the world why a man who had been proficient in one branch of sport can not attain perfection in another. For example, take Withington's case. He is considered one of the greatest football players ever developed at Harvard, and he certainly made good in the Harvard varsity eight."

"Then take the case of New Zealander Arndt, the professional single scull champion of the world. He was a bicycle rider before he turned his attention to rowing."

Referring to the decadence of professional rowing in America, Wray said it was attributable to the tendency to "fix" races.

"We never have any trouble of that kind in Australia, although single scull races for $10,000 side stakes are of frequent occurrence in the antipodes. Australian oarsmen are evidently too smart to kill the goose that lays the golden egg. They realize that it pays better to be on the square. I've seen a crowd of 60,000 people witnessing a boat race in Sydney harbor. They handicap the oarsmen over there just as you handicap horses in this country. I've won races with 100 pounds of sand ballast in my shell. Some oarsmen prefer to carry shot ballast. They weigh in after a contest, just as your jockeys weigh in after a horse race."

"The last American oarsman to visit Australia was Eddie Durnan of Toronto. He proved an easy pick for a second-rater in Kangaroo-land. William Beach, the former champion of the world, refereed the race, and said that there were at least a dozen Australian oarsmen who could beat Durnan. You can form an idea from this statement how many good scullers they have in the antipodes."

The Direct Primary.

A GAIN last week was the crying need of a Direct Primary Law for this Territory forced home upon the voters. Two years ago the Republican Party leaders pledged themselves in favor of such a law, but the agitation died out after the Conventions had met and nominated men for the different offices. This year we hear on every hand that a primary law is what we need, but why cannot someone come forth strong enough to father such a scheme, and carry it to a successful issue before the next Legislature.

We need such a law, but it must be one strong enough to withstand the attacks of the gangsters whose power will be gone, and of the Socialists who discard any form of Primary law as not being in accord with their particular code of ethics. We need a law that will put up the bars for all time against gangsters who object to the people's right to manage the affairs of their political parties free from machine domination. There is no doubt that the carrying through of the Legislature of such a law would be hailed with delight by the friends of decent politics throughout the Territory.

California is at last to be released from the grip of that giant octopus the Southern Pacific. The two things which have to do with this delivery, no doubt will leave a lasting impressing on the development of the State. The Direct Primary law for which the better element throughout the State fought for three years, was no doubt largely responsible for the nomination of Johnson for Governor. Johnson is a shrewd lawyer, a fearless fighter, and if elected will no doubt make things warm for any scheming corporation. The second reason is the completion of the Western Pacific Railroad. For years the Southern Pacific has held the State of California in the hollow of its hand. It was passed about as a pawn to its henchmen to do with as they pleased. Things will be changed now, and the new road will open up new territory and greatly enhance the value of territory already opened. The Hawaiian islands cannot help to reap benefits both directly and indirectly. The Pacific Mail which is the tail to the Southern Pacific Kite, will be obliged to give us more consideration as they no longer control the outlet from the coast, and any advantages gained, or development of the States on the Pacific Seaboard is of vital importance to the commercial welfare of these islands.

The News heartily endorses the sentiment of the communication from W. L. Maples. Every county should be prepared to look after the indigent sick. The supplying of a free dispensary and medical treatment is one of the first things that should be considered when making up the estimates of yearly expense for running the county. Even suppose every community does want a dispensary, they don't get it. The County needs one and don't get it, so what chance have the individual districts.

That Col. Roosevelt has been turned down by the Republican machine politicians in his home State should not be surprising. It is well known that Mr. Roosevelt has never been in harmony with the machine politicians of New York State since the time when he was Chairman of the Police Board. He beat the machine then, has beaten it ever since, and it will be interesting to note what he does to men of the Barnes' ilk when he once gets started this time.

With Judge Kingsbury in Honolulu, Judge Kakani a delegate to the Territorial Convention, and the vacancy in the Lahaina District Court, caused by the death of Judge Rodgers, it would be pretty hard to secure justice in the County, should anyone be in need of it.

A number of candidates, it is rumored, are considering the idea of running for election on an Independent ticket. Wires are being laid to that end, it is said, but it may be only a plan for a move on the Convention which will force the nomination in their direction.

When a man with the reputation of Gov. Haskell calls Roosevelt dangerous, the people can rest assured he is dangerous—for Haskell.

Proof of the Man.

PRAISE for the splendid winner, salvos of cheers for him; But what of the fellow who lagged behind, yet strove with a purpose grim? Laurels to crown the victor, blossoms his way to strew; But what of the runner who did his best, yet lost with the goal in view? Shall the earnest-hearted effort count not in the world's acclaim? Is there never a prize for him who lost, yet steadfastly played the game? Why, here is the law God given for all of his earthly clan: To win may be solely the proof of chance; to strive is the proof of man. "The last shall be first" it was written—but not in the praise of men; The stone rejected the corner shall be—but God will have spoken then. We know not that we may be winners of trophies applauded by man. But one thing we know, and we know it well: We may do the best we can. Ay, distanced by all about us, and hopelessly counted out. We still may press on and forward, fearing no final rout, For this has been truth, my brother, since ever God's reign began: To win may be solely the proof of chance; to strive is the proof of the Man.

Sherman Is Being Exposed as a Ward Politician, and Is Wisely Quiet.

On occasion Vice President Sherman ceases to be the "Sunny Jim" of political legend, says the San Francisco Call. He does not live up to his reputation when tried in the limelight, which shines equally on the just and the unjust. Indeed, he does not enjoy the light and lapses into heedless profanity when it is turned on to illuminate the windings of his somewhat devious course. It is not surprising that Mr. Sherman should feel weary of the sort of publicity he has earned in the last month. Finding himself publicly nailed to the mast by Mr. Taft as a partner in a paltry conspiracy to break up the Republican party in New York State, he very naturally courts concealment for his further efforts. He would like to read the insurgents out of the Republican party. So he said to a select gathering of the Mercantile club of St. Louis, but he did not want it mentioned outside, nor would he say it aloud. Mr. Sherman has had all the publicity he wants for the present.

Sherman can not read anybody out of the party. His attempt to do so is merely a piece of impudence. He would be better employed answering, if he can, the grave imputations on his honor conveyed in Mr. Taft's open letter, or if he fears, as well he might, to enter into controversy with the chief executive, he may address himself to the task of replying to the charges made by Assemblyman Marvin Hart of his own State and his own town, who said in a public way at Utica, N. Y.:

We have read much lately about the threatened break between the president and former president. I want to tell you, and I have grounds for my opinion, that I believe there is absolutely no truth in the story. But I do believe that there has been a base attempt to create the impression that such a break existed, and that with such attempt Barnes and Woodruff and Ward have been identified. I assert that Mr. Sherman knew full well that it was Mr. Taft's wish that no move be made toward choosing a temporary chairman without the fullest consultation with Mr. Roosevelt. A telegram from Mr. Taft to Mr. Sherman to this effect appears to have been suppressed, for nothing has been heard of it.

I ask Mr. Sherman if it is not true that, in spite of knowing that Mr. Roosevelt had shown a willingness to act as temporary chairman and in the face of Mr. Taft's telegram, he personally solicited votes for himself as temporary chairman on Monday night in New York city? Mr. Sherman, by lending himself to this act of pettish politics and by insisting upon holding the appointment as convention chairman, if he can hold it, has allied himself openly with the Woodruff-Barnes element, and has threatened the disruption of the party in the State.

When Mr. Sherman was asked to reply to this charge of suppressing a telegram from Mr. Taft he had nothing to say. He is not courting any publicity for the present.

Of Commercial Interest

By L. D. Timmons.

Honolulu, Sept. 6.

With business suspending around noon on Saturday and people engaged with the foreign mail, which arrived this morning, Honolulu has practically had a "vacation" of three days. Banks, stores and other establishments opened this morning for the first time since 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and the ennui following so long a period of relaxation is in evidence at every hand.

Stocks and bonds have opened this morning at about the points at which they closed on Saturday. Pioneer, Oahu and Oiaa are probably the only ones displaying vigor.

The market for Maui stocks today is substantially as follows: Hawaiian Commercial, $40.75 bid and $41 asked-firm; Haiku, $150 bid and $155 asked-inactive; Paia, $150 bid and $162.50 asked - same as Haiku; Pioneer $230 bid and $234 asked - strong; Wailuku, $175 - none offered.

Sales of Maui stocks during the week have been: Monday, 170 shares Hawaiian Commercial at $41.125; 20 Pioneer at $230. Tuesday 25, and 25 Pioneer at $232.50; 25 Hawaiian Commercial at $41.125; Wednesday 5 and 5 Pioneer at $235; Friday 100, 85 and 25 Hawaiian Commercial at $40.875.

The totals were as follows: Hawaiian Commercial, 405 shares, $16,605.125; Pioneer 80 shares, $18,575.

In considering the above quotations and basis of sales, dividends paid during the week must be taken into account. On Wednesday it is to be noted that two small blocks of Pioneer sold at $235. It must be remembered that a dividend of $2 a share was paid the following day, so that the sale basis on Friday and today for Pioneer might reasonably be expected to decline that much.

The dividend of Pioneer referred to aggregated $54,000, quite a tidy sum. On August 31 Olowalu came up with a dividend of $2 a share, the total being $3,000; and on the following day both Haiku and Paia paid $1 each, or $15,000 for the former and $25,000 for the latter. Hawaiian Commercial yesterday paid a dividend of 50 cents a share in San Francisco, the total amount accruing to stock holders being $200,000.

EXCURSION TO IAO.

A movement was set on foot last week that may bring about an excursion from Honolulu to Wailuku and Iao Valley early in October. The idea has met with the approval of some of the Inter-Island Steamship people, and becomes more promising as the agitation for the outing continues. The success of the recent excursion to Kauai brought the Iao plan to the fore, and unless something extraordinary happens the suggestions may be fully and successfully realized.

The proposal is to leave here in the Mauna Kea on a Saturday night, arriving at Kahului on Sunday morning. At Wailuku half of the big party would be taken at once up Iao, the remainder "seeing" the towns and plantation in the vicinity. In the afternoon the second half of the party would be taken up the valley. Baseball and perhaps other sports would be put on to enliven the day. It is figured that at least 200 people would make the trip.

YACHT CRUISE FAILED.

The cruise of the yachts Hawaii, Mollilo and Gladys to Lahaina and Lanai, with Delegate Kuhio and other notables, which was planned for Sunday and Monday resulted in a complete failure on account of lack of wind. Two of the boats were at Pearl Harbor, and as it took the third three hours to beat down there Saturday evening, the ardor of the yachtsmen for the cruise was quickly called. The cruise has been indefinitely postponed, and may be abandoned altogether on account of the approach of the campaign of Kuhio for re-election to Congress.

BOOKED FOR MAUI.

The following passengers are booked for the Claudine and will arrive at Kahului Saturday morning: Mrs. W. Gray, Miss R. Roberts, Miss Davison, Miss May Alana, Mrs. W. K. Harndon and child, Miss Emily Wilkison.

Locals

The Republican County Convention will meet Wednesday September 28th.

Mr. A. Hebard Case left on the Lurline for the coast. He goes to the Stanton Military Academy to resume his studies.

Judge and Mrs. Kingsbury left on the Lurline last Saturday for Honolulu. They will occupy the Castle residence on Tantalus while in the capital.

Judge L. K. Kakani of Hana was in Wailuku Tuesday on his way to Honolulu. Mr. Kakani was elected a delegate to the Territorial Convention.

A large number of Maui children returned to the Honolulu schools this week to take up studies not yet included in the curriculum of the schools on Maui.

Miss Lucy Richardson who spent her vacation with the Cummings in Wailuku, returned to Honolulu by the Claudine last Tuesday, to resume her duties as teacher in the Waipahu public schools, Ewa, Oahu.

Beginning with next Sabbath, the minister of the Makawao Union Church will begin a course of children's sermons. These talks to the children will be brief and will precede the longer address of the morning.

The Supervisors have awarded the contract for supplying the Wailuku Water Meters, to the Honolulu Iron Works, the lowest bidder. The Iron Works was also lowest for supplying 8500 feet of galvanized pipe to Paia.

Mr. V. L. Beck the Private Secretary to H. P. Baldwin, has resigned. Mr. Beck goes to the Philippines to take a responsible position in the management of a large plantation in those distant islands. Mr. and Mrs. Beck will be greatly missed from the social circles of the islands, and their many friends wish them prosperity and long life in their new home.

The Makawao Union Church and the Portuguese Protestant Church will hold a union service of song, next Sunday evening, Sept. 11th at 7:30 o'clock, in the Paia Portuguese Church. Miss Evelyn MacDougal, the well known teacher of voice expression, who is visiting on Maui, will assist at this service. People of all races and creeds are cordially invited.

Last Sunday Jack Rivers and F. L. Hadley explored the ancient trail supposed to run through Iao Valley and out at the Launiupoko valley on the Lahaina side of the mountain. They reached the summit of the dividing ridge between the two valleys and found further progress towards Lahaina impossible, as the other side was simple a great precipice where not even a goat can find a foothold. They found a wealth of tropical vegetation at the upper end of Iao Valley all wonderfully developed, among them were great clumps of begonias in full bloom.

CORRESPONDENCE.

THE MAUI NEWS.—

Two years ago as a delegate to the County Convention I endeavored to have inserted in the platform by the platform committee a recommendation for the establishment of a Free Dispensary centrally located where Drugs, Chemicals and Medical aid could be given to the poor and indigent of the County.

This endeavor was turned down by the committee with the excuse that if they should do so every community would want one; a flimsy excuse at its best. Honolulu supports a free Dispensary and no one has ever heard of every community on Oahu wanting a like institution.

Since that convention, our Supervisors have built a Tubercular Sanitarium in Kula, a laudable institution for sufferers of such an incurable malady. Now let them go a step farther and have a Dispensary for the Wards of the County.

From my experience as a Druggist in Wailuku and work in Puuene Hospital, the native Hawaiian only goes to a hospital as a last resort; as a rule if possible he gets his medicines and treatment elsewhere. To him a hospital is a bugbear. I speak especially of native Hawaiians because I think it nothing more than just and right that the citizen born on his own soil should be shown every kindness in need.

Bunko Artist Caught.

Dupe Gets "Wise" and Invites Detective to Overhear Conversation.

Through the belated cleverness of L. W. Gay, a wealthy Honolulu planter, the police were enabled to arrest a bunko artist giving the name of John Fletcher, in the rooms of Gay at the Hotel Stewart last night. Fletcher is suspected of being one of a gang of "sure thing" men who were preparing to separate Gay from his money and will be held in detain pending an investigation of the case.

According to Gay's story he was viewing the sights of the city Friday when he was spoken to by an affable and well dressed stranger near the German hospital. After a brief conversation the stranger told Gay of a "fixed" horse race that could be easily beaten if they could raise some money. Gay volunteered to furnish the roll and cabled to Honolulu for $2500, which was promptly transmitted. Yesterday Gay began to think the matter over and approached a policeman with his story. The officer sent the planter to the detective department and Cavanaugh was assigned to the case.

Last night Cavanaugh secreted himself in Gay's room at the hotel where the appointment with the bunko man was to be made. In place of the first stranger the man giving the name of Fletcher came. After a preliminary talk Gay displayed the money and Fletcher unfolded his plan. When Cavanaugh deemed that Fletcher had furnished enough evidence for a conviction, the detective appeared from his hiding place and arrested Fletcher. At police headquarters nothing is known of Fletcher, although he is supposed to be one of a gang that recently came from Seattle to operate the fake race game in this city.—San Francisco Call.

Sad Accident Over at Hana.

Last Saturday while paddling in the water, Mrs. Kanui, of Kipahulu, was swept off her feet and after being dashed against the rocks time and again, and being unable to regain a foothold, she called to her daughter who was standing near, helpless to aid her mother. The daughter rushed off to obtain help, but before anyone could arrive the unfortunate woman had become exhausted. They found the body later floating in the water.

BY AUTHORITY NOTICE

Opening of Public Lands in the Territory of Hawaii

Notice is hereby given that the public lands in the Territory of Hawaii set forth in the schedule hereto annexed will be opened for homesteading in the following manner, in accordance with the laws of Hawaii relating to public lands (Parts 4, 6 and 7, Ch. 23, Revised Laws of Hawaii) as continued in force and changed by the Organic Act of said Territory (Sec. 73, Act of Congress of April 30, 1900, 31 Stat. 141), and amendments thereto (Sec. 5, Act of Congress of May 27, 1910), subject to withdrawal of any of said lands for public purposes prior to their selection:

1. General Method of Disposition.—The persons entitled to take said lands shall be determined by drawing or allotment; and the lands may be taken by the Homestead Lease, Special Homestead Agreement, Right of Purchase Lease or Cash Freehold Agreement method, so far as applicable under the law, at the option of the taker.

All persons who desire any of said lands must apply within the hereinafter prescribed time for leave to participate in the drawing; there will then at hereinafter prescribed later times be drawings to determine the order of selection of lots; finally at hereinafter prescribed later times the applicants may select their lots in the order determined by the drawings, and at the same time must select the method by which they will take them.

2. Land Divisions and Places of Application, Drawing and Selection.—For the purposes of this opening, the Territory is divided into the following land divisions, for the lots in each of which there will be separate applications, drawings and selections.

All applications must be made to the Commissioner of Public Lands, Honolulu, and must be made by ordinary mail and not in person or by registered mail or otherwise; all drawings will be held at the Capitol Building in Honolulu, but applicants need not be present; all selections of lots will be made at the following selection places in the respective land divisions, at which places the applicants must be present at the prescribed times:

First land division, comprising the districts of North and South Kohala in the County of Hawaii; selection place, District Court House, North Kohala.

Second land division, comprising the districts of North and South Kona, in the County of Hawaii; selection place, Circuit Court House, Kailua.

Third land division, comprising the district of Kau in the County of Hawaii; selection place, District Court House, Waiohina.

Fourth land division, comprising the districts of Puna, South and North Hilo and Hamakua, in the County of Hawaii; selection place, public land office, Hilo.

Fifth land division, comprising the County of Maui; selection place, Circuit Court House, Wailuku.

Sixth land division, comprising the City and County of Honolulu; selection place, Capitol Building, Honolulu.

Seventh land division, comprising the County of Kauai; selection place, Circuit Court House, Lihue.

3. Application for Participation in Drawings.—All persons qualified to take a homestead may on or before Wednesday, October 19, 1910, but not thereafter, present to the Commissioner of Public Lands, Honolulu, by ordinary mail, but not in person or by registered mail or otherwise, sealed envelopes containing their applications for participation in drawings in any or all of said land divisions, but no envelope shall contain more than one application or any other paper than the application, and no person shall present more than one application for the same land division.

All such applications must be made on blank forms furnished by the Commissioner of Public Lands or his agents or sub-agents, and must show the full name, mail address, age, height, weight and sex of the applicant and whether he or she is single or married, and be sworn to by him or her before a sub-agent of public lands, notary public, judge or other officer authorized to administer oaths, and must be mailed in envelopes furnished by the Commissioner or any such agent or sub-agent.

All such envelopes will have printed upon them the Commissioner's address and the words "Application, ..... Land Division," the blank in which quotation must be filled in with the number of the land division in which the land desired by the applicant is situated, and no such envelope shall indicate the person by whom it was presented or mailed or bear any mark of identification. All envelopes must be securely sealed and should have the requisite stamps attached thereto before they are placed in the mail.

Any person who presents more than one application for the same land division or any application in any other than his true name, shall not be permitted to participate in the drawing for such division.

4. Drawing and Assignment of Order of Selection.—Upon receiving any such envelope properly addressed and properly indorsed as above required, the Commissioner will deposit it in a suitable container, into which will be deposited only and all such envelopes as are properly indorsed for the same land division, and such container will be so constructed and so kept as to prevent envelopes deposited therein from being removed therefrom, without detection, until they are publicly opened on the day when the drawings and assignments are made for such land division. All envelopes which indicate by whom they were presented or mailed will be opened as soon as received, and the applications therein will forthwith be returned to the applicants.

At 9 o'clock a. m., at the Capitol Building, Honolulu, on Thursday, October 27, 1910, for the first land division; on Friday, October 28, 1910, for the second land division; on Saturday, October 29, 1910, for the third land division; on Monday, October 31, 1910, for the fourth land division; on Tuesday, November 1, 1910, for the fifth land division; on Wednesday, November 2, 1910, for the sixth land division, and on Thursday, Nov. 3, 1910, for the seventh land division, the container for such land division will be publicly opened and all the envelopes therein will be thoroughly mixed. Thereupon, and continuing thereafter from day to day, Sundays and holidays excepted, as long as may be necessary, all such envelopes shall be taken, one at a time, impartially and indiscriminately, and the applications contained therein shall, when correct in form and execution, be numbered serially in the order in which they are taken, beginning with number one, and the numbers thus assigned shall fix and control the order in which the persons named therein may select and take lots in such land division.

A list of the applicants to whom numbers are assigned, showing the number assigned to each of them, will be conspicuously posted, and furnished to the papers for publication as a matter of news, and notice of the number assigned and the time and place at which he must appear to make his selection will be promptly mailed to the address set forth in the application of each person to whom a number is assigned.

All applications which are not correct in form and execution will be marked "Rejected, imperfectly executed," and filed in the order in which they are rejected, and notice thereof will be sent to the persons who presented such applications.

5. Selection of Lots.—Beginning at 9 o'clock a. m., on Wednesday, November 23, 1910, at the District Court House, North Kohala, for the

First Land Division; on Monday, November 28, 1910, at the Circuit Court House, Kailua, for the Second Land Division; on Friday, December 2, 1910, at the District Court House, Waiohina, for the Third Land Division; on Wednesday, December 7, 1910, at the Public Land Office, Hilo, for the Fourth Land Division; on Wednesday, December 14, 1910, at the Circuit Court House, Wailuku, for the Fifth Land Division; on Monday, December 19, 1910, at the Capitol Building, Honolulu, for the Sixth Land Division; and on Wednesday, December 28, 1910, at the Circuit Court House, Lihue, for the Seventh Land Division; the persons holding numbers assigned to them for such land division may make their selection of the lots that are open to selection and desired by them in such division in the order in which their applications for participation were numbered, but no person shall select more than one lot except as set forth in said schedule of lots. Each such person shall, at the same time, select the method by which he desires to take such lot—whether by Homestead Lease, Special Homestead Agreement, Right of Purchase Lease, or Cash Freehold Agreement, in so far as the same are applicable under the land laws.

If any person who has been assigned a number for any drawing district fails to appear and make his selection when the number assigned to him is reached and his name is called, his right to select will be passed until the other applicants assigned have been disposed of, when his name will be called again, and if he then fails to appear and make his selection, he will be deemed to have abandoned his right to select.

6. Proof at Time of Selection.—At the time he appears to make his selection, each applicant must be prepared to show his qualifications to take a homestead by affidavit in the form prescribed by the Commissioner, and otherwise. If an applicant is not a citizen of the United States by birth, he must present at the same time either the original or a certified copy of his declaration of intention to become a citizen, or of the order of the Court admitting him to citizenship; and if an applicant who is not born in the United States claims citizenship through his father's naturalization while he was under twenty-one years of age, he must present a certified copy of the order of the Court admitting his father to citizenship.

No person who appears to be disqualified to take a homestead will be permitted to make a selection or, in case he has made a selection, to receive the necessary papers or take or retain possession of the lot selected.

Plain Talk On Baseball

Christy Mathewson Says Common Sense and Good Arm Wins Games.

Fans who have wondered at the remarkable pitching feats performed by Christy Mathewson and tried to solve what they are pleased to term the great secret of his success, are apt to have their ideas shattered when they learn that the great pitcher himself bluntly explains it thus:

"The secret of pitching is nothing more than plain, everyday common sense, assisted by a good arm."

Mathewson seldom talks that much at one time, but his explanation was brought out by a discussion of his feat recently in retiring the Reds without a run in the last inning of a game when there were three on bases and none out.

"There was but one thing to do when they got two men on bases and none out," said Matty, "and that was to walk the next man and fill up the bags. One run would have tied the score, and we had to play to keep down that run, even at the risk of losing the game. With the bases full, we had more chances of retiring the side, because the play would be made at the plate and the runner, being forced, would not have to be touched."

"But you changed your style of pitching immediately," was suggested.

"Certainly," replied the big pitcher. "Our only salvation was to make the next batters hit the ball into the dirt, instead of lifting it in the air. Knowing that this had to be done, I fed the succeeding batters on curve balls—a big drop. It is very difficult to hit a drop curve up in the air. As it is curving downward the batter will usually hit it on top and bounce it to one of the infields. That is exactly what happened, and we got two men at the plate. The next batter struck out."

Sounds very simple, doesn't it? "You know," said Mathewson, "there is a lot of difference in the style of pitching when there are runners on base and when the bases are empty. The surest way of winning a ball game is to keep them from reaching first base. There is much more danger of a ground ball going through for a hit or a batter reaching first on error than when the ball is hit into the air. But if there is a runner on third, the ball must not be hit into the air, as a long fly would score him."

"Therefore when there are no runners on the bases, it is common sense to keep the ball high, so the batter will hit under it and lift it to a felder. Unless the game is very close, I use very few curve balls under those circumstances. The curve ball should be used when there are men on the bases."

"To make that a little plainer I would say, 'Always keep the ball in the air when the bases are unoccupied, and always keep it on the ground when the plate is threatened.'"

"A pitcher should always bear in mind that baseball is a gamble, to a large extent, but he must figure which way he has the most chances and work it on that line. For instance, a ground ball is dangerous at all times, and especially so when the infield is playing in close. But at the same time a fly ball with a runner on third is fatal. The pitcher must take the risk of a grounder and stake all on getting the man at the plate. If the ball is hit hard the game is lost. It will shoot between the infields and go for a hit, but that is the gamble of the game, and to take the lesser of two dangers is nothing more than common sense."

"The greater and the more unselfish the love, the happier the one who loves. The man who treasures his wife more and more as the years go by and shows it by the numberless little acts of devotion that blossom naturally from such love, will make her a wondrously happy woman, will create in the home an atmosphere of unselfish thoughtfulness for each other, and will himself be a happier and more completely developed man."

Two Kinds of Men.

By Barbara Boyd.

Two women were discussing two men of their acquaintance who were about to be married.

"John," said one, "is the kind of man who values a woman tremendously until he gets her."

"And Tom," broke in the other, "is the kind of man who values a woman more and more after he gets her. She will grow dearer to him with each passing year."

They sat silent awhile thinking of the two men and the two brides to be.

One of these men is the kind who "rushes" a girl during courtship days. Nothing is too good for her this blissful time. His love is at fever point. He showers attentions and gifts upon her. He glares at every man who dares look at her. But after marriage there is a gradual change. He grows careless or indifferent about the attentions of which he has been so lavish. He may at heart really care as much for his wife as he did for his fiancée, and in all probability does. But he does not seem to. He acts as if her value had diminished considerably in his eyes, as if all he considered she was good for now was to look after his physical comfort, provide him satisfactory meals, keep the house neat and clean, darn his stockings. In a word, she was dropped from being a rare and priceless jewel to somewhat the status of an old shoe. He would probably resent this implication if it were put to him in just so many words, but it is what his actual conduct implies.

The other man was, perhaps, a quieter, less demonstrative lover. He didn't say so much about his love, nor shower so many attentions on his sweetheart as he did the other. But he will grow more attentive, more thoughtful and tender as the years go by. The wife will be dearer than the fiancée. His whole life will become an uncounting offering of himself to make her happy. His constant thought, his every action, will be for her. In his thoughts she will never drop to a commonplace level, she will always be the priceless treasure, the rare jewel, he was so fortunate to gain for his own.

The two kinds of men are all about. Each home has the one or the other. The man who values his wife more as the years go by never changes. This attitude is a part of himself. The one who will grow to value her less, or to act as if he did, could perhaps transform himself into the other kind, if he would recognize whether he was drifting and make an effort to right about face. It means so much to his wife's happiness, and by his reflex, to his own, that it is worth while. For, sifted down, it is after all a matter of unselfishness. The one is the great love that never thinks of self. The other lets thoughts of himself and of his own comfort and desires intrude, until they gradually dwarf, and perhaps kill, the fine, pure love of early days.

The greater and the more unselfish the love, the happier the one who loves. The man who treasures his wife more and more as the years go by and shows it by the numberless little acts of devotion that blossom naturally from such love, will make her a wondrously happy woman, will create in the home an atmosphere of unselfish thoughtfulness for each other, and will himself be a happier and more completely developed man.
