Lahaina Caps Climax

Visitors Entertained Under Banyan Tree.

Lahaina has again become famous and it will be a long time before the members of the Congressional party and the residents of Lahaina will cease praising the efforts of the committees in charge of entertaining our national visitors and all those who assisted, for they certainly showed what united effort can do in the way of entertaining and pleasing.

At Olowalu a large gathering of children with American flags in their hands and the men and women of that section cheered the Congressmen as they passed by in automobiles on their way to Lahaina from Wailuku.

When in sight of Lahaina they crossed under strings of flags and bunting stretched across the street and stopped at the Pioneer Hotel, where the dust of the road was cleaned off.

After spending about an hour meeting the people of Lahaina the Congressmen were led to tables set under the great banyan tree in the court yard and on which was spread a bountiful dinner. Hawaiian music was furnished by a quintet club stationed on a stage built high on the limbs of the tree. This banyan tree was planted in 1871 by Hon. W. O. Smith, who was a member of the party accompanying the Congressmen on their tour.

The tree was a pretty sight, decorated with myriads of electric lights and many were the pleasant remarks made by the Congressmen and their wives.

The people of Lahaina district were there to a person, and each and everyone felt that it was up to him or her to make the occasion a pleasant one, and that they succeeded goes without saying.

Rev. Kroll acted as spokesman and called upon Mr. Burnham as the first speaker.

Mr. Bartholdt spoke of the Americanism of the people and urged them to continued progress in the way they were going. He then called upon Representative Miller of Kansas who made a very able speech on the developing Americanism of Hawaii.

Before calling upon the next speaker Mr. Bartholdt spoke a few words of praise for the work and good qualities of Delegate Kuhio, who did not make the tour of Maui. He assured the people that the Prince was well thought of and esteemed by all the Congressmen and asked them to send him back to Washington at the next election. His words of praise for the Delegate were loudly applauded and he ended his remarks saying: "The applause tells me that the Prince is also well liked by the people of Lahaina and it pleases me very much to hear it."

Congressman Houston of Tennessee was at his best and stirred his hearers to great enthusiasm with his delightful presentation of honored womanhood and ideas for the upbuilding of a more solid Americanism. He praised the men who have done the great work of industry. He thought now, as each period presented its problem, particular attention should be given the man striving to build up an independent home.

Mr. Dawson made an address in which he declared his belief that Hawaii is "the greatest climatic and scenic wonder of the world." He told the people that they must work for themselves, although Congress would do all that was right and proper for the upbuilding of the Territory. His remarks were interpreted into Hawaiian by Rev. Stephen Desha.

Juries are Drawn

For October Term of Court at Wailuku.

The following jury was drawn in Judge Kingsbury court this week for the October term of court which will be held in Wailuku.

GRAND JURY.—Geo. K. Richardson, Sam Alo, R. F. Corbaley, L. Bennett Keaki, Charles Makekani W. S. Nicoll, E. F. Deinert, Charles Knackstadt, Jerry Burns, A. M. Nowell, Frank Silva, Joseph Borba, L. von Tempisky, M. A. Ferreira, A. Aalberg, Joseph Ambrose, John Chalmers, Antone Freitas Jr., Thos. Clark, V. A. Vetlesen, W. Searby, D. T. Fleming, and Moses Waiwai-ole.

TRIAL JURY.—A. T. Cooke, E. K. Cockett, Gus K. Bechert, Geo. S. Markham Jr., E. A. Watson, F. A. Alexander, A. G. Dickens, A. Jackson, Wm. Nawai, Geo. K. Auekolani, Alex. B. Hose, James G. Munro, W. S. Mountcastle, Charles Mookini, Geo. N. Steele, F. G. Correa, Chas. Thompson, Ned Krueger Jr., Arthur B. Collins, J. B. Thomson, J. H. Brunnell, J. S. Pires, W. L. Hardy, M. R. Pereira, Carl Sommerfeld, August Reimann.

The Grand Jury is to convene on Wednesday, October 20th, at 10 A. M. and the trial jury is to convene on the 25th at the same hour.

Representative Philip Pali made an address that was interpreted by Senator Hayselden. A young Hawaiian girl recited the poetic story of Kapiolani defying the Goddess Pele.

The party was then asked by the spokesman to go to the Parish House where a dance followed until they arrived on the Mauna Kea, which arrived at about 10 o'clock.

Between dances there was a flower drill by twelve little Hawaiian girls and the members of the party were much pleased with the singing and the drilling of the children. Miss Mary Gohier sang some Hawaiian songs which were well received.

After word had been received that the boats waited to take the party on board the Mauna Kea Hon. Ellis of Oregon made the farewell address for the party. He thanked the Lahaina people for the good time given them. He said he had travelled through nearly all the states, had pioneered twice, but had never met children who showed more respect to their elders than the children of Hawaii. Such children make the best citizens.

When all the Congressmen and their wives were on board elaborate fireworks blazed out a glorious farewell for Maui and the sight from the steamer was such as will remain with our visitors to their last day. Messrs. Weinheimer, Hayselden, Decoto, Kruse, Schoenberg, Gannon, Aalberg, Waal, Freeland and others are deserving of the highest praise for their untiring efforts as are also the ladies who helped make the affair the grand success that it was.

As chairman of the general reception and entertainment committee for Lahaina Mr. Weinheimer left nothing undone to please and satisfy everyone. Before the party left Wailuku he and Mr. Gibb were already hustling to have it started promptly on time, at the same time keeping his assistants on the other side posted as to what was going on.

Lahaina made an impression on the Congressmen and should be congratulated for "capping the climax," as one of the distinguished visitors expressed himself.

Plantation Hospital

Will Surpass Anything on Maui.

The new hospital of the Maui Agricultural Company situated makai of the Paia Union Church and nearly at the crossroads running to Paia, and Hamakuapoko villages is making a conspicuous showing, being already boarded in and shingled as to its wide-spreading roofs. Its length is 149 ft. and width, 46 ft.; these dimensions being exclusive of an 8 foot verandah which surrounds the entire building.

Then there are six large wings, three on a side, which render the story and a half structure still more commodious. When completed it will be the second institution of its kind in the Territory both as to size and equipment. Its interior is to be finished in white enamel and its operating room which is to have a glass table and other modern accessories is to be united with white tiles.

The wide-stretch of verandah is to be walled in and rendered mosquito-proof with brass wire netting. From the centre of the roof a clocktower is to be erected, the top of which reaching about 50 ft. from the ground.

The laborers on the two plantations have subscribed $600 with which to purchase a large striking clock.

Wires for electric lights have already been installed.

W. Foster is acting as architect while Dr. W. F. McConkey who originally planned the hospital is giving personal attention to the construction of it.

It is worthy of note that the main road leading from Paia to Makawao is recently assuming more and more importance as a thoroughfare with the construction of the two-story concrete government school, the hospital, the comparatively new Paia store, the new depot, not to mention three churches, Maunaloa Seminary, the Japanese school, the Mill, and a number of fine residences. Then the Fred Baldwin Home will be erected on the same road mauka of the polo grounds.

An interesting trip by automobile or carriage for strangers is up this road to Makawao, around Koko-mo add return through the pine-apples plantations of Haiku.

Kula which had very little of the heavy July rains is suffering from the drought.

Three Congressmen and their wives were guided up Haleakala by W. O. Aiken Sunday night, the 12th.

The Haiku Fruit and Packing Co. has nearly finished its canning of pineapples for the season.

Its pack is about 80,000 cases, 50 per cent, more than last year. Further improvements will be made to the factory this winter.

Misses Irene Balcom and Gladys Vanderhoof are new teachers at Maunaloa Seminary. Miss Balcom who has charge of the music is from southern California.

Paia school also has two new teachers, Miss Florence Crozier and Miss Vogel, both recent graduates of the Honolulu Normal School.

Miss Baker is the new teacher in charge of the private school at Paia.

Weather: Showery in Makawao.

Congressmen Visit Maui

Receive a Warm Welcome Throughout Island.

Eleven of the Congressional party to visit Maui landed at Hana where most elaborate preparations had been made by the hospitable citizens of east Maui. That there was not more of the party to land and partake of the hospitality of the place was a sore disappointment to Hana's residents.

The breakfast prepared was the best that could be had and meant much expense and a great deal of labor for the ladies of the place.

Those of the party who did make the trip overland were delighted with the trip and say that the scenery along the entire route was by far the grandest ever seen by them.

They were under the guidance of W. F. Pogue who landed them at the winery of the Kaupakalua Wine and Liquor Co. at five o'clock where to their amazement they found Congressman Reeder of Kansas. Mr. Reeder comes from a dry state and is a prohibitionist himself and in consequence of which he was asked many questions as to what he was doing in a wine cellar.

The members of the party were entertained at the homes of many of the leading citizens of Wailuku, Punene, Paia and other places on Maui.

On Sunday afternoon a number of the guests were accompanied in automobiles to the vineyard country and thence through the pine-apple section.

On Monday morning a number of the congressional party were shown around Kahului harbor and the plans for the proposed improvement of the harbor were thoroughly gone into.

From the expressions of the members of the Rivers and Harbors committee heard after the meeting it is safe to say that the appropriation that will be asked for will receive their support and the harbor will be improved along lines that will be of great benefit to the large interests on Maui and at the same time entirely satisfactory to the public.

Autos were provided for taking the party to Iao Valley where the Needle and other places of interest were shown.

At Kapaniwai an excellent luncheon had been prepared under the direction of the committee who were ably assisted by the ladies of Wailuku and Kahului. There was ample food for every one and every one was made welcome.

At the court house addresses were made by Judge Kingsbury, Judge Kepoikai, W. J. Coelho, Hon. J. C. Lane of Honolulu, and Hon. H. P. Baldwin. These addresses were followed by addresses by Congressmen, Bartholdt, Prince and Padgett.

All of the addresses were listened to with much interest but the pathetic appeal of Coelho for more shackles caused the broadest smile. At about four o'clock the party was whisked away to Lahaina where they were given the most cordial welcome.

By some mistake on September 13th, when school opened, there were no desks in the new Paia school so the old—very old—red-wood desks from the old school building had to be used.

Governor Slight's Maui. Members of the Congressional party say that Governor Frear tried to get a number of them to accompany him to Honolulu when he passed by Maui the early part of this week.

That a number of the party did pass us by is a well known fact and the governor gets the credit for the slight.

The governor had important business to attend to in Honolulu and his passing Maui can be overlooked under the circumstances, but we cannot overlook the fact that he tried to get members of the Congressional party to slight us and did succeed in getting some of them to do so.

Governor Frear is not and never was a man of the people. He seems to be imbued with the all importance of a few while he recognizes the claim of Honolulu to most every thing to the exclusion of all other parts of the territory.

His attitude in the Kapaa land deal have shown that he has no sympathy with the American plan to open up land for home builders.

Every day brings fourth evidence that President Roosevelt made a fatal mistake so far as the territory is concerned when he took from the bench a most successful judge to make a colossal failure as a governor.

Members of Congressional Party Locked Out.

It is officially denied that Frank Woods kicked in the front door of Demosthenes place at Hilo in order to obtain shelter and food for himself and some others of the Congressional party. He didn't kick the door at all; he simply put his foot against it and shoved, and the door flew open. It couldn't help it.

And thereby hangs a tale. And therefrom has resulted a very merry row and much ill feeling toward Hilo which Hilo itself does not at all deserve but which is all due to the bone headedness of one man, if the accounts of the returned travelers may be credited.

The story that has drifted up from the Big Island with the advance guard of the Congressional party who came in last Sunday starts from up the Hamakua road. Ed Lord, it seems, made the mistake of trying to run his automobile between a drove of mules and a mountain. The space between was less than the width of the motor car, and he couldn't move the mountain, and as a result, Lord was obliged to abandon his machine and hike for the nearest telephone, where he called up Manager Ross and told him his troubles. Ross, like the good fellow he is, promptly responded by sending a chugbuckle to the rescue of the marooned travelers.

Meantime, the rest of the party had gone on to Hilo, and when they got there, they told Chairman Buckland, of the Reception Committee, of the pilikia in which Lord and his party were, stating that they would probably be along later.

Buckland realized that Lord, Frank Thompson and Frank Woods were probably gnawing their patience and their fingers somewhere out on the Hamakua road and that they would arrive at Hilo after midnight with appetites such as John D. Rockefeller would give a million to possess. So he went to Panos, who runs Demosthenes Hilo place in the absence of the genial proprietor, and explained the situation. He engaged rooms for the belated travelers and agreed with Panos that the latter should see to it that Lord, Thompson and Woods were fed when they arrived. Buckland insisted that unless this was perfectly understood, he himself would wait up for the belated ones and see to it that they were made comfortable. But he was told that there was no necessity of his doing this, so he went off to bed.

Sometime after midnight Lord and his party reached Hilo and went at once to the hotel. It was dark. They knocked at the door. No response. They knocked some more. Still no response. Then they took to beating on the door, but nobody came. Frank Woods, hungry, dry and sleepy, acted in the only way that promised to bring results. He placed a foot against the outer door and shoved. The door opened, suddenly and with a crash, and the party entered. Everything was dark.

They set up a cry for food, hot food and plenty of it. Entered the temporary proprietor, his hair on end, his countenance expressing outraged amazement that any one should dare to disturb the quiet of Hilo at such an hour. But he did not set forth viands, either wet or dry. Instead, he rushed to the telephone and called up Sheriff Fetter and made loud and vociferous complaint of the roysterers who were disturbing his slumbers. Sheriff Fetter told him where he could go—a place with a climate somewhat like that of the crater of Halemauau. But the outraged Greek refused to feed his guests.

Meanwhile, Congressman Barefield had been aroused by the racket, and he came down in his pajamas to find out what was happening. When the situation was explained, he remarked tersely that if the hotel could not entertain his friends, it could not entertain him, and he went up stairs again and packed his belongings and came back, and the entire party wandered forth into the blackness of a Hilo night in search of a place where they might lay their heads.

After wandering around the solemn streets for a while, they espied a light up one of the valleys, and reconnoitering, they found it came from a cottage occupied by two youths. They knocked and explained their predicament. That was enough. The two boys promptly threw open the door and asked them in, and then proceeded to get out a frying pan, some ham, eggs and whatever else their larder provided, and set out a feast that to the famishing travelers looked the best of anything they had ever seen. They ate it to the last crumb. Then, as there was no room for them to sleep in the cabin, they set forth again, and after wandering through the oppressive and Stygian blackness of Hilo for a while, found a belated hackman who took them out to Senator Baker's, where they were made comfortable for the night.

But Frank Woods didn't kick that door in. He only put his foot against it and shoved.—Advertiser.

On the 30th ult., an interlocutory decree of divorce was granted by Judge Robert M. Clarke, of the Superior Court of the County of Ventura, California, in the case of Annette L. Hardy vs. William L. Hardy. Among the grounds set forth in the complaint were those of cruelty and failure to provide.

Hilo Stakes will Not be Paid.

Hilo, Sept. 11.—The committee selected to arbitrate Hilo's Fourth of July racing muddle came to a decision today when the award of the arbitrators was signed, as follows:

"We, the undersigned committee of arbitration, appointed to decide disputed questions relative to racing run at Hoolulu Park, Hilo, July 5, 1909, report our final conclusions as follows:

Race No. 1—The ruling of the judges by which the jockey of Webber was ruled off the track, was erroneous, and the owner of Adrian and Webber properly exercised his right to declare to win with Adrian, and the action of the jockey in making no effort to win with Webber, was proper.

Race No. 3—Entrance fees to be returned to Banonica and Major Collier and balance of entrance fees in the sum of $450 to be given to Webber and purse shall not be awarded.

Race No. 4—Purse to be given to Wabio J.

Races 6, 7, 8 and 9—No races, and all entrance fees to be returned. The only rule which was imposed upon the judges at the meeting, was that published in the papers by which four or more horses must enter, and three or four must start. In this race there were not three starters, and, therefore, no races."

"Commission Rogatoire"

Ambassador Bryce Gives Official Notice.

Governor Frear has sent out a copy of a letter from Right Hon. James Bryce, British Ambassador to the United States in regard to Letters Rogatory in Civil and Commercial cases. The letter which was transmitted to the Governor through Acting Secretary of State Avey A. Adee, and Acting Secretary of the Interior, Jesse E. Wilson, reads as follows:

British Embassy, North East Harbor, Me., July 27, '09
 Sir:—I have the honor to inform you that under the provisions of a rule recently made by the Supreme Court of Judicature, Letters of Request for evidence in civil and commercial cases pending before foreign Tribunals can now be transmitted through the Foreign Office to the proper judicial authority for execution without a direct application to the Courts being required from the agents in the United Kingdom of the parties concerned. Prior to the making of this rule, His Majesty's Government were not in a position to take any action with regard to such Letters of Request.

I am further instructed to explain that the Court of any foreign country which desires evidence to be taken in the United Kingdom in any civil or commercial proceeding pending before it, and which for that purpose forwards through the diplomatic channel a "Commission Rogatoire," or Letter of Request, for such evidence, should be requested to send with such Commission, or Letter of Request, a list of questions to be put to the witnesses respectively. (Together with a translation thereof into English should they be in another language). In giving effect to such "Commission Rogatoire," or Letter of Request, in the United Kingdom, the Commissioner, and the official person having charge of the execution or the request, will be empowered by the British Court to which it is addressed to ask the witnesses such further questions as may appear to either of them desirable for the purpose of giving full effect to the wishes of the foreign court.

I have the honor to be, with the highest consideration, Sir,
 Your most obedient, humble servant,

JAMES BRYCE,
 The Honorable P. C. Knox,
 Secretary of State.

Lincoln Cent is Now in Circulation.

Honolulu, September 10.—The first specimens of the new Lincoln cent reached Hawaii by the last steamer. The coinage of the familiar Indian head design was stopped last June, and since then the Philadelphia Mint has been kept busy turning out the new pieces.

On the obverse side of the new penny is a bust of Lincoln. Above appears "In God We Trust" in small letters. On the left side of the bust there is the word "Liberty" and on the right side, 1909.

On the reverse side "one cent" appears in large letters, and below this, "United States of America." To the left and right are two sheaves of wheat, and at the top "E Pluribus Unum" in small letters. The designs on both sides are sunk and the narrow edge permits stacking.

Several millions of the new piece have been placed in circulation. At the Mint, when all the stamping machines are in operation, about 450 coins are made a minute.

Congressmen See Hawaii

Hilo Residents Give Hearty Welcome.

Hilo, September 10.—The wharf was thronged with Hilo folks yesterday evening when the Mauna Kea made fast with the Congressmen and their families who have come all the way from Washington to have a look at the Big Island of Hawaii.

It was a happy crowd too, those on board looked as happy as those on shore felt. As the steamer approached the wharf, the Hilo Band played a cheerful march followed by "America". In response came some Hawaiian music from a Hawaiian glee club. As soon as the gang plank was lowered, the Hilo Leigirls headed by Mrs. Abbie Maguire went aboard and on to the upper deck where every visitor was smothered in maile and beautiful rose leis. The young ladies were:

Mrs. Abbie Maguire, Misses Ruby Pua, Amy Williams, Josephine Kaihenui, Emily Ewaliko, Amoy Ah Hin, Keahi Nalimu, Annie Lewis, Emma Lewis, Edna Akau, Alice Hattie, Mrs. W. Stone, Gertrude Willfong and Lydia Macy.

As soon as the visitors stepped ashore they were welcomed by the Reception Committee headed by Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Holmes. They boarded the train and were quickly brought to the Hilo Railroad depot whence autos and hacks were waiting to whisk them away to their temporary homes.

The Congressional party left Honolulu on Tuesday at noon with a big sendoff. The run to Mahukona was made up to midnight when a big delegation left to go to the Kohala and Hamakua district. The autos of E. J. Lord and F. E. Thompson were sent ashore and soon after midnight the jolly party was en route to the mountains, the party consisting of Hon. Richard Bartholdt, dean of the delegation, Hon. J. McLaughlan, Hon. Wm. A. Reeder, Hon. A. J. Barchfeld, Hon. Aubrey Thomas, Hon. W. A. Rodenberg, E. S. Theall, Hon. George W. Taylor. Delegate Kubio and R. O. Matheson of the Governor's office accompanied the party.

Napoopoo was reached an hour late, and everybody rushed ashore where they were given a pleasant welcome by Hawaiians, with Senator Paris at the head of the welcome. Autos and carriages were utilized and soon a long cavalcade was winding up the mountain road and into the pure fresh air of the Kona small farming district. The Congressmen were early apprised of the beauty and agricultural wealth of the district when they passed into the coffee sections where the large green and red berries attracted their attention and many a Congressman jumped out of his carriage to pluck a few branches which they hope to take to their mainland homes.

The picturesque dwellings, the varied population, the homelike picture appealed to most of the Congressmen for they come from rural districts and a farm appeals to their sense of the fitness of things. Up through the cool coffee plantations to the pineapple section where the big cannery caught their eye, the experimental tobacco plantations from which they were told the finest tobacco for filler and wrapper is now taken, the cavalcade continued, every turn of the road showing new scenes to delight the eye. Those in autos made side turns to little homesteads, for most of the Congressmen are men who want the small homes established here, just as on the mainland. For miles and miles they passed through plantation after plantation of coffee growers, over a fine road, and then came the descent along a somewhat dusty road until Kailua was reached where the Mauna Kea rode at anchor and her boats awaited the travelers. No time was lost in getting aboard again.

Captain Cluney Discovers Pole.

Honolulu, September 9.—Passers by the ship chandlery on Queen street this morning were interested in a piece of red-painted pipe placed outside the store bearing the legend, "North Pole, discovered by Captain Cluney."

There was an interesting discussion in the chandlery this morning about the relative claims of Cook and Peary to having discovered the pole.

After everybody had taken a hand in the argument, Captain Campbell remarked that it was not wonderful that Peary had found no traces of Cook at the pole.

"Even had there been ice at the pole instead of open water Peary might not have found Cook's flag for the simple reason that the ice-pack is continually shifting. Cook may have left his mark behind him alright, but his case is apt to be similar to the fisherman who found a fine fishing-ground off Waikiki and who, after fixing a landmark, cut a notch in the side of his boat in a straight line with the landmark. Next time he went fishing and tried to locate the place where he had previously caught his mess of fish, he was at a loss to explain his inability to do so.—Star.

A few miles north of Kailua the shout "A Whale, A Whale!" caused a rush to the rail and in the far distance a big denizen of the deep could be seen. It was thought to be a whale and the Congressmen so entered in their diaries.

At Kailua, Governor Frear, U. S. Senator Dillingham, U. S. Immigration Commissioner Wheeler and wife, Mr. Millis, the expert statistician for the Immigration Commission, Private Secretary McBryde and George B. McClellan, left for the homestead sections to inspect the districts and to obtain data concerning the population.

The beautiful Hamakua coast with its waterfalls, old landing places for steamer's boats, and the magnificent stretches of sugar plantations were marvels of picturesque beauty to the Congressman who sat on deck all afternoon. At Laupahoehoe the Hilo committee came aboard and pinned yellow badges to each member of the Congressional party and gave them cards indicating who would entertain them over night.

As the steamer passed Paopao plantation the mill whistle sounded three times in honor of the Congressmen and Captain Freeman responded three times with the steamer whistle. Mr. Richards rushed to the upper deck and explained to the captain that he had just announced to all Hilo's entertainers of Congressional people that the party would take dinner aboard and not partake of Hilo hospitality at the dinner table. Captain Freeman obligingly tried to rectify the error by blowing his whistle half a dozen times but the damage had been done. But the party had dinner ashore, as planned, just the same.

As Hilo's great harbor was approached the Congressmen crowded the rail to view what they termed was really a splendid harbor, each anxious to catch a glimpse of the Breakwater, for many of them had voted for the appropriation under which it is being constructed. What they observed seemed to be satisfactory.

As the wharf was reached the party went to the upper deck for they had been told they were to be decorated with leis by some of Hilo's prettiest Hawaiian maidens, and they looked eagerly forward to this pretty custom which they have come to regard as one of the prettiest welcoming features of Hawaii nei. They were not disappointed when the white gowned ladies came up the gangway with loads of fragrant blossoms and the party without accord exclaimed: "What pretty girls and flowers."

The party who came here direct from Hilo was in charge of John C. Lane. There also came Senator W. O. Smith, Representative A. D. Castro and L. L. McCandless. Civil Engineer Hollyday, U. S. N., with Mrs. Hollyday are also included in the party.

Better Naval Depot to be Established Here.

Hawaii is to have a naval fuel depot among the other great works of national defense here. This fact is announced in a recent Washington dispatch relating to the cruise of the Pacific fleet which reads as follows:

Extensive plans are under way for strengthening of fuel depots in various parts of the East and the visit of a powerful fleet of armored cruisers to the Philippines, China and Japan this autumn and winter.

The ships selected are the Tennessee, California, South Dakota, Washington, West Virginia, Colorado, Maryland and Pennsylvania. They will be under the command of Rear Admiral Sobres, who will retire within five days of the return of the warships to San Francisco next February.

The squadron will sail from San Francisco September 5, touching at Honolulu and Narres Harbor, Admiralty Island, and reaching Manila November 1. One month will be devoted to target practice off Manila, and on December 10 the ships will proceed to Yokohama. There they will separate and pairs will visit Hongkong, Wusung and Kobe, re-assembling off Yokohama January 10.

The collier Caesar left Norfolk today for Manila with two submarines of the latest make on her deck, the Adler and the Moosasin. The submarines Shark and Porpoise are already at Manila.

In conjunction with the establishing of bases for the fleet in Pacific waters, Acting Secretary of the Navy Winthrop has under consideration a plan for the creation of oil depots for torpedoboats and destroyers on the Pacific coast and at Hawaii, Guam and the Philippines. With the advent of the new battle-ships, for which plans have been drawn, the number and size of the depots will be increased, for the new ships will carry 4000 tons of oil as an auxiliary fuel.

Similar depots will be established at Guantanamo and at several other points on the eastern coast of Central and South America.

Judge Woodruff Won't Interfere.

Honolulu, September 9.—Mrs. Mary Atcherley was before Judge Woodruff again this morning with a plea that he allow her a rehearing of the habeas corpus matter which was decided against the petitioner on Saturday. She brought forward the fact that neither she nor the doctor had money to hire a lawyer and that since she was not permitted by the Territorial officials to see her husband she was unable to make out the writs which were needed to bring her case before the Supreme Court of Hawaii.

Her request for a rehearing was granted on her verbal petition by Judge Woodruff who heard the matter in chambers, Attorney General C. R. Hemenway being present. After the facts had been set forth Judge Woodruff held to his former decision dismissing the writ. He stated that on account of the fact that it was complained that a Territorial official was not acting properly in refusing her permission to see her husband, it was all the more his duty to refer her to the Territorial courts as the matter was one for them and not for the Federal jurisdiction. Only in case that peculiar urgency could be shown would the Federal courts have a right to interfere with the local jurisdiction, according to the judge. He advised Mrs. Atcherley to take the matter before one of the Circuit judges and she immediately started for Judge De Bolt's court to place the matter in his hands.

Mrs. Atcherley and Attorney Harrison have had a falling out according to Mrs. Atcherley's statement before Judge Woodruff, as he gave her advice which she distrusted and for this reason she is without an attorney.—Star.

"Mokuauia" Most Northerly Isle of This Group.

When United States Attorney R. W. Breckons and Federal Marshal Hendry were on Kaula last week, in connection with the bond of Levi Kaula, the defaulting postmaster at Kapaun, they were also at work on another matter, that of the condemnation of the site of the new $75,000 Federal Lighthouse at Kilauea. They were very desirous of finding out the name of the small islet off the coast of Kilauea, which is the most northerly point of land in the Territory, and which is evidently a portion of the ancient wall of the small extinct crater, at that point, to be used as the site for the lighthouse.

They were unable to find a name for the islet, at the time, but since they returned to Honolulu it has been discovered, by County Auditor George H. Baker. The latter ran across a kamanina over seventy years old, living near Baker's home in Niunahu, who goes by the name of Kadalak, and is a former resident of Kilauea beach. He stated to Mr. Baker that the name of this islet is "Mokuauia." The information has been sent to Mr. Breckons this week.—Garden Island.

The second game of the championship polo tourney has played at Leilehua last Saturday, the competing teams being Maui and the Fifth Cavalry.

The game resulted in a victory for the Mauites by the score of 11 3-4 to 3.

The soldiers made a good showing but their opponents knew the game too well; also they were better served in the matter of horse-flesh.

The cavalry players played the game for all they were worth but they lacked accuracy and this told heavily against them at critical moments.

The Maui team is undoubtedly a very strong one and their chances of retaining the championship look to be very bright.

The game was witnessed by a very fair-sized crowd, when the distance of Leilehua from Honolulu is taken into consideration. A great many went down on the special train and a goodly contingent made the trip from town in automobiles.

Six periods of six minutes each were played and no time was taken out. There was a ten-minute interval between the 3rd and 4th periods and five minutes intermission between the other periods.

The Maui team was composed of Harold Rice, Harry Baldwin, Frank Baldwin and David Fleming.

The cavalry team consisted of Captain Forsythe, Lieut. Barnard, Lieut. Groninger and Lieut. Steward.

Maui scored three goals in the first period, the first of which was obtained within a minute from the start of the game.

The second period saw a goal go to the credit of each side. Maui registered another goal in the third period, the fourth period Maui rolled up three more and the cavalrymen scored once. They got another in the fifth. In the sixth the visitors added three more goals to their score.

Will Oppose Orientalizing

Miller Believes in Americanizing the Islands.

Congressman Miller of Kansas has some most decided views on matters Hawaiian which seem to be shared by many of the members of Congress and any one must be dull indeed who cannot read the unmistakable evidence of a deeper interest Hawaiian affairs and a desire to get at the bottom of local conditions by the party now here to a far greater degree than any former party.

While at the Volcano House Congressman Miller declared that he would not vote for appropriations to extend the reclamation or irrigation acts to Hawaii "to enrich the planters," although he could be depended upon to back full appropriations for the development of the naval station at Pearl Harbor and for the development, at least, of Hilo's big roadstead to make it a safe port for big vessels calling there.

Mr. Miller also declared that he was unqualifiedly in favor of small farming and the thorough Americanization of the Hawaiian Island, and that the planters were short-sighted people if they did not assist, in every possible way, the Americanization, rather than the Orientalizing or Europeanizing, of the islands. It was his opinion that the government should utilize the income realized by the specific income tax for immigration purposes, in bringing American settlers here to make homes and enrich the islands, rather than to send abroad for more European and Asiatic laborers for the plantations.

His talk on these questions was replete with the idea that the planters were benefiting by every turn of legislation for these islands. The reclamation and irrigation acts extended to Hawaii would enrich them. The duty on sugar enriches them far beyond what the planters of the mainland ever expected to realize, for the Hawaiian planters use cheap Oriental labor, while the mainland planters use American or higher priced labor.

"Congress is ready to lift the duty on sugar," said Mr. Miller. "It almost happened this session, but let me tell you it will come. It will not wipe out the sugar industry of these islands by any means, but will merely reduce their dividends. If the Hawaiian planters insist on maintaining a great Oriental establishment here, the Federal government certainly should not make appropriations of millions of dollars to benefit and Americanize the islands."

"In a few years when the Japanese are citizens of the islands and able to vote, some leader among the white politicians can get them together and then the planters will realize that they will be legislated out of their holdings."

"I am for small farming, for diversified industries, and believe the government should devote its public lands to making homes for American settlers, to Americanize the islands."

Representative Houston, Democratic member of Congress from Tennessee, has expressed the view that the principal thing needed in the islands is the fostering of home builders and independent tillers of the soil. He believes that the Hawaiians are capable of developing the highest citizenship. What is most desirable in these islands is a free and independent citizenship.

He believes that the islands are under the control, to a certain extent, of organized capital. In a way this may have been helpful to take up the burden of development at first, because it was beyond the abilities of individuals with small means. Mr. Houston is of the opinion that the stage has now been reached when it is necessary to build up independent, individual, American homes. The public lands should go to none but homemakers. The young Hawaiians, boys and girls, are to him, the greatest asset of the islands and their development into patriotic citizens should be the principal aim. He hopes that the islands will not become the prey of the sordid curse of commercialism.

Representative H. C. Woodyard of West Virginia of the Rivers and Harbors Committee, does not entertain radical views on the method by which the Americanization of the Hawaiian Islands should be accomplished, but believes in Americanizing wherever possible without disturbing landed and vested interests. He believes in diversified industries, meaning the land, but when a sugar estate is well established and investing large capital in the enterprise to develop the industry, he believes in leaving well enough alone and giving other lands to settlers.

He states that many of the coal and oil properties of West Virginia are developed by New York capital and if sugar plantations are being developed in Hawaii by mainland or other large capital interests, it is much one and the same thing.

Link McCandless has kept in close touch with the Congressional party and particularly with the Democratic members. He does not disdain, however, to use his silver tongue in working on Republican members of the party, and is morning, noon and night dwelling upon his land policy, which, as generally known, is diametrically opposed to the administration in Hawaii.

The Congressmen have received very strong intimation from Link that he is preparing to commence his campaign again for the delectable in opposition to that of Prince Kuhio. He says he does not make his campaign just before election but uses 365 days in the year to get in his good work.

Representatives are almost a unit in saying that Prince Kuhio is very popular at Washington among Congressmen and that his own peculiar method of life and dealing with government matters affecting his constituency is regarded as a method all his own and recognized as his own little kuleana. They know that he is backed by a strong worker in Mr. McClellan, and know that the Islands are being looked after. Henshall, Farrington, Breckons, Matheson and Mayor Fern, headed at Mahukona, on the Kohala coast, on the early morning of Wednesday, being met there by the members of the local committee. Here were landed three automobiles, brought with the party. From then on the visitors were taken in hand by the Kohalaites, whisked away to the comfortable homes of the district and royally treated.

The Kohala ditch was visited after breakfast on Wednesday, the party being taken in autos to the edge of Pokuhi gulch, along the precipitous side of which winds the great waterway. Manager Bluett, of the Ditch Company, accompanied the visitors and explained the scope of the great undertaking, the completion of which eliminates the possibility of any disastrous drought in the plantations of Kohala.

At 2 o'clock, bidding the hospitable Kohala folk aloha, the party whirled away in autos for Kukui-

Hawaii Day at Exposition

Each Visitor Presented with Souvenirs.

In a Seattle letter received Wednesday on Maui, it was stated that "Hawaii Day" in the latter part of August at the A. Y. P. Exposition was a great success. In spite of rain the attendance amounted to 33,000 people, 8,000 above the daily average.

Each visitor to the Hawaiian building was presented with a card bearing the Hawaiian coat-of-arms, a button with "Aloha" and a picture of Diamond Head on it, and, to everyone wishing it, G. P. Wilder gave out a small sack of Hawaiian sugar. Free pineapple was served Kaai's quintet club discoursed Hawaiian music.

Thousands of paper ihima leis were sold at twenty-five cents each. The celebration ended up with a ball, the most "swagget" social affair yet given at the exposition.

The writer declares that every visitor had a good word for Hawaii and expressed a wish to visit the Islands. The Hawaiian exhibit and the courteous attention received at the Hawaiian building have done more to advertise the Territory than could otherwise have been accomplished in years.

Dr. Emerson, Father Rice of Kauai, Mrs. Marion Dole Jones and Mrs. Dalton were some of the Hawaiians in attendance on Hawaii's special day.

Kukuihaele was reached in time for dinner, some of the visitors going to the home of Manager Ahrens of the plantation, others to the headquarters of the Ditch company.

On Thursday morning an inspection of the most accessible portions of the lower Hamakua ditch was made. The lower ditch is a great undertaking, a scheme involving the expenditure of $800,000 for ditch and tunnel alone, exclusive of all costs of water rights. Ten thousands acres of the Hamakua plantations are tributary and to furnish water from the head of Waipio some twenty-five miles of waterway is being built. Nine miles of this is tunnel work and this part of the job is fast nearing completion.

From Kukuihaele, after bidding goodbye to the many hosts and taking General Manager John McCrossen along the party sped Hiloward along the Hamakua coast, reaching the home of Manager McClellan, of Papaikou plantation, for lunch.

The last relay reached Demosthene's about midnight. The fact that no rooms had been reserved for them by the hotel management and that the manager also refused to serve them with anything to eat, although the Hilo committee had arranged beforehand for both rooms and kaukau, was the one disagreeable incident of the whole Kohala-Hamakua-Hilo overland trip.

PAINTS & VARNISHES

Protect and Beautify Your Home this Fall.

THERE is no better time to paint your home outside than the fall. At this season of the year there are few drenching rains to soak the wood. When there is moisture in the wood it is bound to come out through the paint. The only safe way to avoid blistering and peeling is to paint the surface when it is dry. Then, too, there are few gnats and flies in the fall to spoil the painting job. When you use

Sherwin-Williams

you are sure of getting a paint that will not only look well, but a paint that will, above all, protect your house from the inclement weather that is sure to come in the late fall and winter months. Good paint is an economy. Poor paint is an expense. The time to investigate is before you buy, not after. S. W. P. enjoys the largest sales of any prepared paint. Its fine grinding and thorough mixing make it spread farther and hence render it far more economical than lead and oil or many of the cheaper brands of prepared paints. Come in and get a color card.
