GOVERNOR WILL WAIT

WILL NOT HASTILY DECIDE ON HIS POLICY—SETTLERS AND LAND MATTERS ARE IMPORTANT

Treasurer Campbell and Land Commissioner Pratt have spoken with Chief Justice Frear the governor-appointed elect, relative to securing some idea of what policy he will pursue in their departments, their ideas being to gain some conception of how he wishes the departments administered from July 1, the beginning of the new biennial period, until the time when he is inaugurated as governor, which will be in August. The Chief Justice stated that he had not given these matters of details sufficient consideration to be able to throw any light on them. Both Pratt and Campbell have indicated to the new governor that they will tender their resignations as departmental heads, to take effect upon his inauguration.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Babbitt has done likewise. Surveyor General Walter E. Wall has also tendered his resignation to take effect upon the inauguration of the new governor.

VENTURED TOO NEAR SMALL-POX VESSEL

BOYS AND MEN ARRESTED, WARNED AND LET GO—STOW-AWAYS ANXIOUS TO LAND.

Two boys in a small boat yesterday afternoon sought pleasure rowing in the harbor. Venturing too near the quarantine S. S. Kumerie, which came here with small-pox, they were arrested and taken before the United States Quarantine officers where, when it was explained that they had not gone as close as might be, they were warned of imprisonment if caught alongside and were liberated, badly frightened.

Later several men in boats, apparently trying to get letters to people on the quarantined ship, were arrested and examined. Inasmuch as they had not actually gone alongside, although perhaps intending so to do, they were allowed to go, but will be watched and made to suffer severely if caught making any further attempts.

MEMBER OF S. F. JURY

MAURICE BLOCK, MEMBER OF FRANCISCO'S FAMOUS GRAND JURY VISITING HONOLULU.

It is not in his private capacity as general manager of the Anglo-American Crockery and Glassware Company, of San Francisco, that Maurice Block, a guest at the Moana Hotel in company with his wife, is of any especial interest to the general public, but to the average San Franciscan the name means more than merely a name. Maurice Block is a member of the new famous San Francisco Grand Jury through which the notorious "boss" Abe Ruef and the infamous Mayor Eugene E. Schmitz, together with a score of other hoodlums of high and low degree have come to grief in the past six months. He is in Honolulu for a brief rest, and incidentally to look after his business interests. Inasmuch as twelve members are sufficient to make a quorum, and there are nineteen members on the jury, Mr. Block's absence does not interfere with the municipal housecleaning in San Francisco which is still going on.

Mr. Block is pardonably proud of his connection with the inquisitorial body which has done work that has opened the eyes of the whole country. Moreover he is proud of San Francisco, and his chiefest concern is in regard to the hard things that he hears against her fair name.

SMALL GUARD

There was a very small crowd at the rehearsal of the flag salute and patriotic singing exercises in the capitol grounds today. In fact only a corporal's guard and a small guard at that appeared. However the four or five teachers from the Kaimali and Kaunahu schools, who did attend along with about ten children stowed bravely at their posts under the bamboo tree—or rather monkey pod tree, and did some rehearsing.

It will carry four tracks and in clear high tide at 140 feet. The rails will be imbedded in stone and 89,000 tons of steel will be used in its construction. When completed, three years hence, for the first time an all-rail service will be in operation between the West and South to New England through New York.

AFTERMATH OF CARTER TOLD BAND'S TOUR NEWS IN EAST

JOHN ELLIS SUES JOE COHEN AND OTHERS FOR BACK SALARY—A TALE OF JOLTS.

When people speak of angels they expect to hear the flutter of angel's wings, but when John Ellis, the singer, speaks of one angel, it is with hearty words. Instead of handing him gentle conversation, it is a law's summons served on the end of a legal pitchfork.

Suit to recover $100.50, with interest, and other accessories, have been instituted by J. S. Ellis against J. C. Cohen. The suit grows out of Cohen's unsuccessful mainland tour with the "Royal Hawaiian Band" last year. According to the complaint Cohen engaged Ellis at a weekly salary of $77.50, payable weekly. Ellis was to be a singer and a musician with the band. The total indebtedness reached the figure of $1,206.43. The statement of payments made by Cohen, according to the complaint, tells mutely, but eloquently, the story of a barn storming tour by the band. For the first six weeks the $77.50 per came as regular as clockwork. Then it dropped to $55; then next week when John came up for his pay envelope he found $75 inside. But the next week was a shock that probably almost sent John to an early grave. It is a wonder that his heart stood the jolt. John received just 50 cents, so from terrapin and ham and eggs every meal, John probably had to hike for the coffee and sinner counter. But the next week was more profitable for $100 was handed to John. Here is the way the other payments ran: $10; $55.50; $1.25; 25 cents—another shock to John; $5; $17; $32.17; $29.31; $5; $1.90, and so on until a total of $905.92 had been paid. The last payment was made on February 22, 1907, and was $15.

BECKLEY'S VERACITY

CAPTAIN TRIPP DECLARES THAT THE GALLANT "ADMIRAL" FAILED TO LOCATE NORTH POLE.

Assistant Harbor Master Captain Alfred N. Tripp was looking over a file of old newspapers in his office this morning when his eye fell on the words "Admiral Beckley" and "Captain Tripp" staring up at him from the front page of the Advertiser of June 16.

"Hello, what's this?" cried Tripp. "I haven't seen this before."

Forthwith he lit his corn cob, leaned back and carefully read an account of Admiral George C. Beckley addressing the St. Louis College Alumni and telling them that he had discovered the north pole in 1863 and that he had found gold at Nome in the same year, while he was with Captain Tripp, but the latter would not allow him to take it aboard.

"Oh, what a pipe-dream!" exclaimed Tripp. "Discovered the north pole, eh? Found gold and I refused to allow it aboard, eh? Say, the society for the prevention of undue cruelty to children or the humane officers ought to take away Beckley's life-saving gold-embossed leather medal for putting such ideas into the minds of innocent youths."

"In the first place Beckley was not with me in 1863 and in the second place he was never nearer than forty miles to Nome, and as for the north pole, why we were never north much over 70. Beckley went with me as boat-steerer in 1868 aboard the whaling brig Kohala. He was with me four years in the Kohala and the bark Arctic.

LAND SALE GOES OVER

POSSIBLE CHANCE TO SELL PROPERTY AS A SITE FOR PROPOSED CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL.

The sale of land in Paoan under foreclosure proceedings brought by Sister Albertina, trustee for Stella K. Cockett against D. Kawanakoa, et al., was postponed for two weeks by order of Judge Robinson today. The postponement was secured by U. W. Ashford, attorney for the defendants, although E. A. Douthitt, representing the other side, opposed any further delay.

This is the case that went to the United States Supreme Court on appeal and was recently decided in favor of Sister Albertina. The land to be sold at auction today was the old Atkinson home consisting of 1.95 acres, and another piece containing 15.17 acres. In support of the motion for a continuance Ashford had W. W. Williamson, the broker and real estate dealer, go on the witness stand. Williamson testified that A. S. Wilcox, who has agreed to donate $50,000 for a children's hospital, was most favorably impressed with the Atkinson home site for the hospital site, and that a deal for the purchase of the property at the rate of $4000 an acre was being negotiated. He felt reasonably sure that the trustees of the hospital would agree on the purchase, as Mr. Wilcox favored the site. He could not state positively that such sale would be consummated, however, as Mr. Wilcox might favor another site that might be offered.

Douthitt opposed the extension, claiming that there had already been too long a period elapse before the settlement of the claim. The court said, however, that if there was a probable purchaser, it would be better to allow the postponement. Ashford said that if the present postponement were granted, that they would not come in with any other motion for a continuance. The motion to defer the sale until noon of July 13 at the Judiciary Building was granted.

TOWN TALK

By THE MAN ABOUT TOWN.

Sam Johnson, colonel and John Martin, generalissimo, clashed in the storm of contention this week. It was not any wordy argument whether liquor was good, bad or different, but on an entirely different subject. Martin protested against the noise of the target practice that the Colonel's men indulge in. Martin claimed that the noise of the reports disturbed a prayer meeting at a place where John officiates.

"Well, see here, John," replied the doughty colonel. "You go on with your praying and my men will go with their shooting. But I guess when any enemy is marching over the Pali to take the town, the people would rather hear the singing of the bullets from my regiment than they would the singing of psalms from your outfit."

In appointing Judge Hartwell, Chief Justice and S. M. Ballou Associate Justice, the President has acted wisely. Several youths were proposed in Ballou's place, but I am glad their candidacy only reached the "mentioned" stage. I do not want to see any more boys placed on the Supreme Bench; we want there only men who have matured in the law business—men of wide knowledge and experience.

Hartwell and Ballou are two such men. Hartwell's promotion is a logical one; he is a fine old gentleman and an able lawyer. If some youth had been placed over his head, I am certain that Hartwell would have resigned and the Territory would have lost an able and upright judge.

Father Biessel certainly appears to have made one convert to a belief in the glories of the good old days of the Inquisition. Judging from the manner in which Chairman Ballentyne attempted to conduct the sessions of the liquor license commission, I should say that he had thorough absorbed all of the writings and sentiments of the Rev. Father upon the merits of the Inquisition and had decided that it was just about the right sort of method provided Ballentyne could be Head Inquisitor.

One of the local newspapers stated recently that Ballentyne would have made an ideal chairman under some autocratic form of government that flourished here some years ago. The paper could have carried him backward into the good old days of the sixteenth century. But probably Ballentyne is trying to make our new Spanish citizens feel that they are at home; that their early teachings of the days when the Inquisition flourished in Spain, may be recalled and endear the strangers to their new land. Ballentyne is the right man but not the right man in the right place on that commission. He seems out of place where the recognition of rights of both contending interests to a controversy, should prevail. He belongs rather to the gumshoe brigade, that prefers to conduct its sessions behind closed doors, where the light of publicity can not penetrate, where facts which the public have the right to know, can be suppressed at will, and where the public can not gain as complete an idea of the sessions of one of its public commissions as the law manifestly intends that is should.

I notice that Stuart B. Dunbar, the "It" man denies that he is connected in any manner with "The Referee." His denial is a timely one, for somebody connected with that delectable publication has given out word to the effect that Dunbar was the "angel" behind the enterprise; that he was putting up money enough to purchase a new press and other necessary plant. Now Dunbar disclaims all this and it appears that Ayres was making a big bluff, when he announced that he had ordered a press, etc. By the way, I think "It is Said" will be very tame hereafter; every aggrieved person will feel at liberty to soak Ayres and later, be declared "not guilty."

The Seven Ages of an It is Said are as follows: First: Item—it is said that Jim Hitt and Molly Hitt have quarrelled. Second: Jim Hitt calls on editor of It is Said and demands retraction. Third: Retraction. Fourth: Retraction of retraction. Fifth: Jim Hitt hits editor of It is Said—it is said. Sixth: It is Said has Jim Hitt arrested. Seventh: Not guilty.

There is no room in Honolulu for any such publication as the It is Said column of Ayres' Referee and Ayres is a man of big enough intellect to have discovered the fact before he launched the objectionable paragraphs, but, unfortunately for him, he lacks in tact and niceness and so spoils the great opportunities for good which necessarily come in the way of genius. Volcano Marshal, by way of example, was a bratny man utterly lacking in diplomacy and gentleness of expression and he found Honolulu too hot to hold him. Ayres, who was at one time associated with Marshall, might have profited by his experience, but he does not seem to possess the faculty of learning through hard knocks.

It is the duty of the newspaperman when he must handle unpleasant subjects to present them in such a way as to inspire contempt for the wrong and a delight in the right and to scorn to profit by the morbid curiosity of many who appear to take pleasure in reading suggestive allusions to the doings of their neighbors. To print such filth is to inoculate the susceptible and disgust the clean-minded. It is as dangerous to allow this class of print as it is to permit a leper to walk the streets.

In police court when Colonel Sam Johnson was tried for assaulting Ayres on account of something that appeared in The Referee, there were several hundred representative men. Just what was the collective attitude would be difficult to describe, but although Sam was cheered when he was found not guilty and hailed as the noble knight who had killed the dragon, there were craning necks, open mouths, eager eyes and suggestive smiles in plenty here and there at every intimation of anything salacious. What could this mean except that those present the majority had probably read with smiles the It is Said columns, enjoying their contents until, perhaps, some item happened to hit them. Herein is the subtle danger of such writing and an illustration of human nature that never seems to change and, perforce, a moral, which is this: When it hurts us we do not like it, therefore we should not take pleasure in that which hurts others—merely a paraphrase of the Golden Rule. May it be said forever hold its peace.

I'll bet that some of the Territorial department heads are sweating blood these days through fear of losing their jobs. Attorney-General Peters is a wise one—he was first to resign and the public respect him for doing so. But I know of at least one head who will not quit until he is driven out with a club. I wonder what there is in public office that chains a man down. It appears that once a man becomes a tax eater, he will always remain so. And still I wonder.

Some smarty telephoned Chief Reeves of the Marine police the other day to keep a sharp eye on the Crook.

If ever there was the right man at the right time, that man is Chester A. Doyle, the criminologist of the attorney general's department. An Doyle is always in the right place. If it is not getting a confession out of a vile murderer, it is putting up a good josh on some body who deserves it. But his latest feat beats them all.

It was highly important that the safe at the Secretary's office in the Capitol building, should be opened. There was evidence in the safe, that was required in a criminal case. Clerk Conkling had gone away with the combination. No one else knew it. Many people about the building, tried to open the safe. None succeeded. Finally Doyle, armed with his trusty corkscrew, went at the safe. And it opened it.

"And do you know" he says "that corkscrew is ready for another campaign on Hawaii, or any other old place."

FRANK L. HOOGS MANAGER

SATURDAY JUNE 29, 1907

The publishers of the "animal books" which Mr. Roosevelt has so sweepingly condemned are not quite sure whether the presidential criticisms will advertise or depreciate their wares. A great many people who listen with languid skepticism to official praise are roused to curiosity by official censure.

Mr. Gladstone, whose versatility was almost as remarkable as Mr. Roosevelt's, was for many years a valuable advertiser of English books. To be sure, he reserved himself for serious literature—biblical criticisms, controversies on Homer, and the Elsmirian type of novel.

As for the burning question—Who does know most about our secretive "Kindred of the Wild?" that is the query which the kindred alone can answer. It has become a point of honor, not only to be well acquainted with beasts, but to be their exclusive confidant.

The American world knows a great deal about the wonderful things that have been done and are being done by Luther Burbank in his improvement of fruits and vegetables, even to his invention of white blackberries and pitless plums to say nothing of spineless cactus and flowers of new and glowing beauty and delicious fragrance.

To obtain his material Prof. de Vries himself visited Mr. Burbank and spent several weeks with him in California, having already acquainted himself with the labors through a series of years of Nilsson. Some of his conclusions are important, and the fact that species have little of the permanency once ascribed to them is perhaps the chief.

Mr. Burbank works along more varied lines, but the underlying principles are the same. He found, for example, a spineless cactus growing in Mexico. This possessed little or no food value. He crossed it with a spiny cactus which had rich fruit and succulent juices.

Although the pacifists' still insist that the question of limitation of armaments must be raised in some form before the adjournment of the peace conference, the last chance of any government coming forward openly to propose the discussion disappeared with the knowledge that the government of the United States considered that the initiative belonged to Europe and not to America.

M. Nelldoff's depressing utterances at the opening of the conference, coupled with the unfortunate dissolution of the douma at the very moment the conference had assembled has produced many expressions of regret that President Roosevelt yielded the initiative of the second conference to Emperor Nicholas.

It is with genuine regret that the public learns the decision of the navy that the good old ship Saratoga is no longer sea-worthy and is to be sold as junk. She is one of the oldest of the ancient frigates, though not historically memorable for any great battles.

OF INTEREST TO Women and Others

SEASONS. A clear song, a cheer-song. When life is in its spring; With long thoughts, and strong thoughts, And will to high endeavor;

A sweet song, full, strong, When life is in its prime; A light heart, a right heart, A sturdy heart of oak.

A deep-toned summer chime: A high aspiring spirit, And a shoulder to the yoke.

A brave song, a grave song, When life is in its fall; A song of ripened harvests, Of Autumn's calm repose;

A pure faith, a sure faith, A faith to banish fear— Farewell, the land-locked river! Now, God speed across the sea!

EVERYTHING upon land that could possibly be utilized has been put upon the season's millinery, and now, earthy suggestions having been exhausted, the sea has been levied upon, and with great success.

PERSIAN belts woven in beautiful colorings to match the exquisite beaded pocketbooks and vanity bags so fashionable are among the most beautiful novelties exhibited for wear with dressy frocks.

THE hostess of limited means should remember never to give a dinner of more than four courses.

A NUMBER of pretty blouses, trimmed with embroidery and lace, have recently made their appearance, and a return to the shirtwaist opening in the front is heralded by the Marie Antoinette models.

IN a school recently the class was told to write essays on the subject, "Food," and some of the pupils showed their memories were very treacherous.

JACOB BELIHART. Jacob Belihart, some time of Chicago and elsewhere, driven from place to place by reason of his antagonism of the laws of the land, now claims that he is the true successor of the late "Elijah" Dowie.

JAPANESE SHIPS GO HOME. SHEERNESS, England, June 19—The Japanese cruisers Tsukuba and Chitose sailed today for Kiel, where they will remain a few days, thence proceeding to Japan.

PLANS OUTLINED FOR PRINCE'S RECEPTION SPORTS

ELABORATE PROGRAM BY JAPANESE RESIDENTS TO MARK ROYAL VISIT.

Prince Fusumi, the distinguished representative of the royal family of Japan, who is to visit Honolulu next week on his way home from a trip to England, will be welcomed with elaborate ceremonies by the Japanese residents here, and be accorded a fitting reception by the official representatives of the United States and other governments, and of the Territorial government, as becomes his rank.

It is understood that the British cruiser Monmouth, on which the prince is travelling as Great Britain's guest, will arrive here from Vancouver on the morning of Tuesday July 2nd, and will not sail again until the afternoon of the 4th.

Reception committee goes out to meet the prince and discharge fireworks. Presents to be forwarded to the British warship.

Steam launches to convey the reception committee. Ascertain from the prince whether a visit to the Bishop Museum is acceptable.

Lantern procession on the night of the 3rd headed by the Royal Hawaiian band. Following are the committeemen on various responsibilities:

Finance committee: Manager Akai of Specie Bank and W. Motoshige, Fire works committee: U. Kobayashi and S. Matsuda. Committee on conveyances: Oyama and Iida.

The procession will march and parade in the following order: Assemble at Aala Park at half past seven; from there march up to the Japanese Consulate on Beretania avenue; thence down on Fort to Hotel; thence to Young Hotel on Elishay street where rousing banquets will be given.

There will probably be a public reception some time during the prince's stay, possibly on Tuesday afternoon or evening, and the arrival of the distinguished visitor will also be observed with the proper courtesies by the naval and military authorities.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC, CHOLERA AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY. This is unquestionably the most successful medicine in use for bowel complaints, and it is now the recognized standard over a large part of the civilized world.

A fashion hint is about the only kind some women will take. The gamblers in the story books always show up to a better advantage than the ones we meet in real life.
