IN CAPTIVITY.

THE CHIEF OF THE CONFEDERACY A PRISONER AT FORTRESS MONROE.

Recollections of a Lieutenant Who Served as Officer of the Guard—Entertaining Conversation with Mr. Davis—Sharing Cigars.

I was in 1865 first lieutenant in the Twelfth United States Infantry, and in the absence of my captain commanded E. company of the first battalion of that regiment. Early in October I was ordered to Fortress Monroe, and reported for duty to Gen. N. A. Miles. My rank as lieutenant subjected me to detail as officer of the guard, and as such I had for the twenty-four hours of my detail immediate charge of our distinguished prisoner, my orders being "not to allow him out of my sight during my hour of duty." Mr. Davis was confined to a room in Carroll hall, which was designated as quarters for lieut. saunts, who are entitled to two rooms only, so all the rooms, except the mess-hall and library are in suites of two rooms each. The doorways were all grated with iron, and a sentry walked before each on a pile of cocoa matting some four inches thick. The officer of the guard was not allowed to leave the room, nor to sleep at during his twenty-four hours of duty. The grated doors were locked, the keys being in the custody of the officer of the day.

As was the custom, on my first day of duty as officer of the guard I was introduced by my predecessor to Mr. Davis through "Mr. Davis, Mr. Tripler, of the Twelfth." "Mr. Davis said: 'Are you Stuart Tripler?' I said: 'Yes, sir.' He then said he remembered my grandfather (Mrs. Hunt) and had very pleasant recollections of my father (Surgeon Tripler, of the army). We had that first day no further conversation until the time came for his daily walk around the parapet. At that time the officer of the day came accompanied by two negro prisoners, unlocked the door, when Mr. Davis, dressed in snuff-colored clothes, with a raglan overcoat and soft, high-crowned, black felt hat, stepped into my room. Gen. Miles entered at the same time with the daily papers, which were placed on a table in Mr. D.'s room. The prisoners commenced at once to clean up the room and we left in the following order: Mr. Davis and officers of the guard, ten paces behind two sentries, a couple of paces behind them the officer of the day, and lastly, some distance off, Gen. Miles strolled along, reading.

We took our time, and Mr. Davis by his instructive and most entertaining conversation rendered this a most delightful duty. He seemed to know everything. He had the unusual faculty of drawing a young man and making him feel that he was a man, would sometimes stop abreast of the water battery, in front of the commanding officers' quarters, and recline on the crest of the works, where he would relate the incidents of the old army, ask after common friends, and often give me "points" in my profession which were invaluable. To show how small a matter he would notice and speak of, there were a number of Gen. Miles growing along one of the fronts of casemates which bore clusters of small white berries. Mr. Davis said: "Lieut. Tripler, I saw you riding a nice-looking horse the other day, but it is out of condition. How do you see there are one of the best condition I ever knew of, and you can find them all over the south; remember that, it's worth knowing."

On our return Dr. Cooper's servant came in with Mr. Davis's lunch. All his meals were supplied from Dr. Cooper's table, and Mrs. Cooper was a notable housewife, and the mark of Fortress Monroe were well supplied; you may be sure Mr. Davis did not suffer. The only request he ever made me during the time I was stationed there was to bring him a few apples each time I came on guard, which I did. I rather think he asked me for the sake of letting me think I was doing him a favor in returning for his exceedingly kind to my grandfather who had been secretary of war. He could make a request in such a way that you felt he had conferred a favor on you in preferring it. C. C. Clay was confined in the rooms directly beneath Mr. Davis, but had Mrs. Clay with him, and was not guarded as Mr. Davis was. Mrs. Clay used to send sometimes a pitcher of punch to Mr. Davis. My orders were forbidding it, but she was always passed in. Mr. Davis was supplied with good cigars by his friends. I know they were good, because Mr. Davis remarked that "smokers are gregarious, and I can't enjoy a cigar alone," and offers me one nearly every night, after he had assumed his most staid-looking night robe—he wore a red flannel night-gown, cap and drawers. He was never annoyed, insulted or worried during his stay. Gen. Miles was called civil, and others "officially polite." I perhaps, and as was natural, was more kindly disposed, but I never exceeded the letter of my instructions.

I think Mr. Davis will himself give the lie to the exaggerated accounts of his sufferings. Imprisonment is not pleasant under the most favorable circumstances, and no fallen chief of a great movement could have expected or received more considerate treatment than did Mr. Davis.

Origin of the "306 Medal."
"What is the true history of the 306 medals of the Chicago convention of 1884?" "Well all there is about them is: One morning after the convention of 1883, Senator Don Cameron and myself went out for a stroll on State street, in Chicago. While we were seated on a dry-goods store some where along the street, he suggested the idea of some perpetuation of the fight which had been so united and so persistent, and had become so famous through the thirty-six votes and the 306, and then started to make a design of a medal on the spot. I took his idea, and before we left engaged upon it. He placed the whole matter in my hands, and he has done well in doing it, pay the whole expense. That is all there is of the medal business."

A Novelty in Chess-Boards.
(South Australian Chronicle).
The squares are marked out in the ordinary way, but instead of the dark-colored ones being definitely red or black, each contains a complete diagram of the chess-board, with the position of the men after the fifth move of some regular opening. Thus there are thirty-two of the regular openings represented. The designer has been careful in omitting obsolete and notoriously unsound openings, and he has done well in showing two or three variations in the more popular gambits, such as the "Evans" or the "kings." The board will be exceedingly useful as an aid to study.

ANCIENT MANUSCRIPTS. The deciphering of ancient manuscripts written on papyrus still goes on under the direction of the Imperial Austrian Museum, and as the work goes forward it continues to reveal more and more the vastness of the treasure of antiquity.

Among the collections are twenty valuable papyri relating to, and of the pre-Christian times, which include a letter written in hieratic style of almost three thousand years ago.

As small matters sometimes bring great results in business we are pleased to furnish the information that Wells Fargo & Co's Express will hereafter take letters, sealed in the Company's envelopes, to be obtained at their office, up to ten minutes before the steamer sails.

The discussion at the business meeting of the Peoples Ice Company yesterday, resulted in a decision to raise the price of ice delivered outside the corporate limits to two cents per pound.

It is said by those, who allege that they know, that the Government dredger will soon be laid on the shelf. The appropriation has been exhausted for some times and the expenses have been met from other sources.

Great Land Colonization Scheme, Island of Oahu, Hawaiian Islands.

A Property of 115,750 Acres Offered for Sale to a Joint Stock Company, which will Sell the same as suitable for Sugar, Rice, Grazing, Homestead, Dairy, Fruit and Other Purposes.

63,350 Acres in Fee Simple and 52,500 Acres held under Lease, at present carrying between 12,000 and 15,000 head of Cattle and 800 Horses and Mules.

A large area of this property is suitable, according to locality, for Sugar, Rice, Vineyards, Fruit Orchards, and small Homesteads, the remainder being fine mountain side grazing ground.

Under the proposed arrangements of the Company to be formed an exceptional opportunity is offered for acquiring homesteads, by a system of deferred or gradual payment as may be agreed upon; the whole being within easy reach of Honolulu, the capital city and principal port, with a steadily growing market.

CLIMATE. The climate is pre-eminently healthy, the North-east trades sweeping across the island for the greater part of the year.

While there are no available registers barometer, thermometer or rainfall for this particular district, there is no reason to question their strict analogy with that of the Nuuanu Valley, in the same island, and in which Honolulu and its suburbs are situated, where the rainfall amounts to 33.28 inches per annum from a minimum of 0.94 in March to a maximum of 3.43 in December; but these figures relating only to the lower levels in and about Honolulu do not by any means represent the rainfall on the Waianae Mountains, which is very much heavier.

Thus the temperature may be said to range from 68 to 85 Fahr., varied of course by situation, elevation above the sea, accessibility to trade winds, &c.

HONOLULU RANCH. Containing 4,3250 acres in fee simple. This land is favorably situated, having direct communication with Honolulu by water, distance 10 miles, or by land by a good road, distance 17 miles, the latter offering singular facilities for an inexpensive railway track.

The water route to Honolulu is from Honolulu harbor skirting the reef to Pearl harbor, a magnificent inlet of the Ocean protected by a reef or barrier of coral, and together forming a combined property of 72,350 acres of land. The Honolulu property is distant about twelve miles, but is connected with them by an excellent road. These properties have at present 66 miles of good fencing. The land is well grassed, with a fair proportion of timber throughout. Live stock of all kinds thrive and fatten on the pastures, and by increasing the number of inclosed paddocks and working the combined estates systematically the number of cattle and horses on the land might be largely increased.

The number of cattle, 12,000 to 15,000 now on these estates has been already mentioned, also 260 head of horse-stock and mules, together valued at $312,000. The horned cattle are bred from "Hereford" and "Shorthorn Durham" imported for these estates, and they thrive and fatten without any stall feeding or housing.

The horse stock is exceptionally good, one Sire, "Shenadoh" having won over $20,000 as a two-year-old in the United States. There are also three trotting stallions, two of which cost $1,000 each and there are unbroken colts and fillies from these sires, some four or five years old, which may be readily broken for saddle or harness.

These properties, if united, would give the proposed Company a controlling interest in the Honolulu market, for produce of all kinds, with a steadily increasing demand; to which the contracts recently entered into by the Pacific and Oceanic Steamship Companies may prove a valuable stimulant. Indeed it is possible to create a trade with San Francisco for carcasses of beef and mutton carried in refrigerating chambers by the Oceanic Steamships.

The income from these estates at present, including leases is, $70,000 a year. Moderate calculations show that these figures might be nearly quadrupled.

The fishing rights on Pearl harbor pertaining to the Honolulu estate, now leased for a short term at $1,700, can be rented at $2,500 on the expiration of the present lease.

A limestone quarry on the Honolulu property at present pays a small annual rent, and a royalty on the lime produced. The entire demand for this kingdom may be supplied from this quarry, instead of, as hitherto, importing lime from California. The builders of Honolulu consider this lime superior in quality and preferable to the Californian lime. There is also a fine limestone quarry on Kahuku ranch.

The five miles frontage on Pearl harbor spoken of suggests a town site for a summer resort there, the facilities for yachting and boating being unsurpassed, while the climate is all that can be desired.

A vast variety of fruit or timber trees grow with extraordinary rapidity. The whole Eucalyptus family, the algaroba or locust tree (pseudo-acacia), the tamarind, "alligator pear," guava, bread fruit, &c. Citrus fruits especially thrive without care or cultivation. Many ornamental woods known as Koa, Kou, 10,000 acres of first-class agricultural land for sale, upon convenient terms, at $50 an acre for colonization purposes, for resident and improving occupants.

THE KAHUKU RANCH. Consists of 20,000 acres in fee simple and 5,000 acres Government leasehold, the leasehold having an unexpired term of 17 years, at an annual rental of $455.

On the estate is a level tract of land at an elevation of from 10 to 25 feet above sea level, extending from Waimea to Laie, a distance of eight miles of sea frontage, and an average breadth of one mile from the sea to the foot hills. This tract is pronounced by competent judges to be excellent Sugar cane land. There are already flowing artesian wells on either side of this level tract, while near the middle is an un-falling spring in which the water rises to within 2 1/2 feet of the surface, in a column of at least one foot in diameter, and flows thence to the sea. This proves that an ample supply may be found for irrigation.

There have been offered by Rice growers to the present owner $10,000 a year for 400 acres of this land, water for cultivation being furnished.

A contract has been made to bore five additional artesian wells to comply with this requirement.

It may be incidentally noted here that in no case on this island of Oahu has a boring for artesian wells failed if sunk from an elevation not exceeding 32 feet above sea level.

There are about 15,000 acres of lands suitable for fruit, small farms, or pasture, on the Kahuku property, estimated as saleable for colonization purposes at from $15 to $30.

KAWAIOA AND WAIMEA RANCHES. Contain 33,000 acres surveyed land, and about 20,000 acres unsurveyed, all held on lease having an unexpired term of 24 years, at a yearly rental of $2,200. This rental is at present reduced to $1,700 by sub-letting a few acres of taro (wet) land. There are 36 miles of new 5 feet fence set on California redwood posts. It is further subdivided into paddocks of from 200 acres to 4,000 acres each, enabling the proprietors to pass their stock from one feeding ground to another as may be advisable.

This land is well adapted throughout for fruit growing or pastoral purposes; there are several wells with windmills on them to supply water for stock. One reservoir of this kind has been built at the Kawaioa ranch with a retaining wall 150 feet in length, 100 feet thick at bottom, 5 feet at summit, capable of storing 1,127,500 cubic feet of water, for an outlay of $1,250. This indicates what may be done at the Honolulu Ranch.

GENERAL REMARKS. Kawaioa and Waimea ranches adjoin Kahuku, and together form a combined property of 72,350 acres of land. The Honolulu property is distant about twelve miles, but is connected with them by an excellent road. These properties have at present 66 miles of good fencing. The land is well grassed, with a fair proportion of timber throughout. Live stock of all kinds thrive and fatten on the pastures, and by increasing the number of inclosed paddocks and working the combined estates systematically the number of cattle and horses on the land might be largely increased.

Proposed plan for forming a Joint Stock Company to purchase, sub-let, sell or work these Estates.

It is proposed to form a Joint Stock Company to buy the properties described below, both freehold and leasehold, to divide them for purchase or lease on convenient terms, and to work the unsold or unleased portions for the benefit of the shareholders.

Property consisting of— 63,350 acres in fee $822,250 Capitalized value of leased land, 52,500 acres 65,750 15,000 head cattle at twenty dollars each 300,000 260 head horses, &c. 12,000 $1,200,000

The Company's stock to consist of— 12,000 shares of $100 each $1,200,000 8,000 unpaid shares, par value $800,000 $100 each 800,000 to be offered for sale; and 4,000 of said shares, par value $400,000

To be held by the promoters of the Company, viz, Jas. Campbell Esq., owner of the Honolulu and Kahuku estates; Jno. H. Paty Esq., of Messrs. Bishop & Co., Bankers, principal owner of Kawaioa and Waimea estates; M. Dickson Esq., and J. G. Spencer Esq., part owners of Kawaioa and Waimea ranch; Mr. B. F. Dillingham, President Pacific Hardware Co.

As soon as 8,000 shares of the capital stock have been subscribed for by responsible persons, the Company will be incorporated and the stock issued.

Receipts from the sale of the stock will be paid over to the owners of the properties. Deeds, leases, and bill of sale of landed property and of live stock to be placed in the hands of the officers of the Company appointed to receive them.

The following gentlemen have consented to accept office: President, James Campbell, Vice-President, J. H. Paty, Secretary and Treasurer, Goltrey Brown.

Mr. Henry Hart, the general manager of the Elite Ice Cream Parlors on Hotel street has on exhibition, in the art department of his elegant establishment, a fine variety of corals, sea and land shells, an endless assortment of pretty souvenirs of the deep that strangers would do well to examine before completing their selections to take back "East" with them.

What might have resulted in a serious accident but for the timely presence of Mr. Noble, occurred last evening between seven and eight o'clock. A hack drove up to the dry goods store, corner of Hotel and Nuuanu streets; just then the reins became in some unexplainable way entangled, causing the horse to make a complete circle and almost capsizing the carriage, which was occupied by a lady.

One of the Opera troupe thinking that telephone connections existed between the islands desired to converse with a resident of Hawaii who was a passenger on the Alameda. The quick witted youth who acts as clerk at the Central Office finding that it was but a social call impersonated the party called for. The man of music was delighted with his interview and cheerfully "set up" the lemonade (?)

As some of the boat boys do not seem inclined to come to time, some of the hackmen have determined that before the races shall be a failure they will throw themselves into the breach. The hack drivers of the Fashion Stables have, therefore, issued a challenge to the drivers of Dodd's Stables, the Hawaiian Hotel Stables and the United Carriage Company to pull a race for the hackmen's championship of Honolulu, the race to take place on the 16th of November 1885.

It is reported upon pretty good authority that there are now 400 Chinese on the other Islands waiting for a chance to take passage to Hongkong. It is asserted that these Chinese refuse to take passage in the Lady Harewood at present lying in this harbor. The Chinese who came here by the Lady Harewood have scared other Chinese off, for some reason, so that they will not venture in her. The 400 Chinese now waiting passage are declared to be looking for other vessels.

The circus not only brought to us a well trained troupe in athletic evolutions, but also some excellent players at English Billiards. One of our esteemed photographers who prides himself upon his science in this game put aside his camera yesterday, to cope with jovial Love, the manager, who is conceded to be the best player of the company. The game was played at the Hotel, proving to be very interesting. Love easily winning three successive games.

Evidently some of our people are being seized with desires for pugilistic fame. Two worthy representatives of Honolulu residents after altercation over some trifle, decided to engage in the more emphatic argument—"manly art;" a place of meeting was appointed and to avoid any loss of time both took cabs and repaired to what was soon to be a field of carnage, but the soft roll of the respective vehicles had a soothing effect upon their outraged feelings and by the time the combatants faced each other, it was a case of cash expense. Results: killed 0, wounded 0—audience disgusted.

They say that the streets being cleaned is an indication of election drawing near; that it is time for an efficient police force to be appointed; that the police are not particular as to what their "downy couch" is composed of or where they slumber; that Farini is mad; that some of the season ticket holders are in the same fix; that some of the saloon clocks must be slow; that there "would be millions" in a bath house; that on account of the side-walks it would not be convenient to get stout; that after the adjournment of the Tripp trial, naughty alteration, evening before last a number of the Captains friends, among who was a high official met at the jail for—fun; that some of our police officers exert their utmost influence to secure and help criminals; that in a civilized country police officers are supposed to be paid for bringing criminals to a tardy justice; that the Station House has its duds; that social gossip is a sweet morsel for some folks; that the new battery cost more than it is worth; that the Hotel street boys love the circus; and that the Punchbowl street girls are about to organize a lawn tennis club.

At ten minutes before four o'clock this morning an alarm was struck for a fire in the fore-castle of the Schooner Emma lying in the stream off the Fish Market. The fire was first discovered by the Fireman at the Lime Kiln and had been burning some time when the alarm was turned in. It burned out the bunks and burned two holes through the port side near the main mast. The schooner was hauled in near the wharf and water pumped into her by Engine No. 2. It is rumored that some natives held a luau aboard last night and upset a lamp. The fire was put out by half past four o'clock. Damage about $500, fully insured.

Mr. Chas. Thrower's Benefit. The benefit tendered Mr. Chas. Thrower, the tenor of the Opera Company, was, in a musical sense, a thorough success, but financially decidedly "vice versa,"—there not being more than seventy-five in the audience. In spite of all this discouraging showing, the artists put forth their best abilities and fully merited the generous applause of the small though critical audience.

Mons. Marchand executed his piano solo in his usual masterly style, receiving an extravagant floral piece as a presentation. Mlle. Zora's "Come vere!" was sung in a way that would have caused the author, Gounod, himself to rejoice; Mr. Thrower did more than justice to his Romanza from "Fra Diavolo"; Miss Avery delivered "The Bend in the River" as if she was not thoroughly acquainted with her piece, however, her exceedingly sweet voice counter-balanced that defect.

The rest of the programme served as a rare treat, mostly all the numbers being encored. The native song "Aloha Oe" sung by Mlle. Hopf and the "Flower Song" by Miss Avery were most flatteringly received; "The Fisherman" sung by Signor Farini and Mr. Thrower was accepted by all as the gem of the evening, furnishing such singing that Honolulu may not expect to enjoy again for a long time to come. Although our space is limited, it would be an injustice not to comment upon and highly compliment Mr. W. Morse, who delivered "O! Were I but a Moon-light ray" in a most satisfactory manner. He is a little stiff as yet on the stage, but when "broken in" will no doubt furnish a both manly and graceful figure. The Company sails per steamer Alameda to-day—bon voyage.

The secret may easily be given away; the ASTOR HOUSE is centrally located and doing a large transient cash trade. Meals at all hours produces a constant flow of ready money, thereby enabling us to go to the market and buy at reduced rates for cash.
