The Obstinate Titan.

[The following extremely funny thing is from Blackwood's Magazine, and is intended as a dig at the contumacious Bishop Colenso:]

"The heavens were raining, the Deluge was gaining,
The Titan was straining on tiptoe to stand:
With the waters uprising it wasn't surprising
This gentleman giant could scarcely touch land.

"Though it hadn't quite drowned him, the elements round him
Had risen at least to the cleft in his chin;
When, as if to deride him, old Noah espied him,
Ranged up alongside him, and bade him 'step in.'

"Said the Patriarch, scoffing, 'I keep a good offing;
My foresheet's to windward, my helm is alee;
Still the weather's appalling, my glass is still falling,
I've got the grub all in—come cruising with me,'

"But, determined to prove he was up to the move,
Our Ante-diluvian wouldn't be done:
'What sail with your party? No, thank ye, my hearty!'
Quoth he: 'I'll stop here till I've seen out the fun.

"Besides, it seems clearing, the fog disappearing,
The rain'll do good—'twill be fair in an hour;
Though you might lend a fellow your clogs and umbrella;
I won't come on board—for it's only a shower!"

VARIETY.

Arrogance is the obstruction of wisdom.—Bion.

As gangrenes are the most dangerous of bodily wounds, so insatiate avarice is the worst disease of the mind.—Democritus.

As the gods are consummately happy, the nearer a man approaches to a similitude with them, the happier and better he is.—Socrates.

When may a fisherman who has caught only a few fish be better off than one who has landed a greater number? when he has taken a good eel more than the other.

What is the difference between a piece of honeycomb and a black eye? One is produced by the laboring bee, and the other by a belaboring.

What is the difference between accepted and rejected lovers? The accepted kisses the misses, and the rejected misses the kisses.

If you make a perforation through a volume of Shakespeare, why is that a mathematical absurdity? Because the part is greater than the hole.

What is the difference between a wealthy toper and a skillful miner? One turns his gold into quarts and the other turns his quartz into gold.

Why must an analytical chemist be a female? Because if he is not analyzer (Ann Eliza) he must be a charlatan (Charlotte Ann.)

Why does a chicken three weeks, three days and three hours old walk across the road? To get to the other side.

Which is the noisest shop in the neighborhood? The confectioner's, because there is always a(n)ice (s)ream there.

What is the difference between Noah's ark and an archbishop? One was a very high ark, but the other is a hierarch.

Which is the most wonderful animal in a farm-yard? A pig, because he is killed first and cured.

It is somewhat singularly fitting that to the query, "Is pity love?" the anagramatic answer is, "Positively."

Sir John Cullier, the miser, used to return thanks that he had been born on the 29th of February, because then he only kept his birth day every fourth year.

The New Bedford Standard mentions the case of a man in that city who has been pilfering for years, being let off with a simple promise to reform, while a poor little girl, arrested recently for stealing a sack which she really needed to keep herself warm, was sent to the work-house. Guess the scales are not evenly balanced down there.

A father came home from his business at early evening, and took his little girl upon his knee. After a few dove-like caresses, she crept to his bosom and fell asleep. He carried her himself to her chamber, and said, "Nellie would not like to go to bed and not say her prayers." Half opening her large blue eyes, she dreamily articulated,

"Now I lay me down to sleep,
I pray the Lord—"

then adding, in a sweet murmur, "He knows the rest," she sank on her pillow, in his watchful care who "giveth his beloved sleep."

WHY CHILDREN DIE.—The reason why children die is because they are not taken care of. From the day of their birth they are stuffed with food, choked with physic, suffocated in hot rooms, steamed in hot bed clothes. So much for indoors. When permitted a breath of fresh air once a week Summer, and once or twice during the cold months, only the nose is permitted to peer into daylight. A little later they are sent out without any clothes at all, as to the parts of the body which need most protection. Bare legs, bare arms, bare necks, girted middles, with an inverted umbrella to collect the air and chill the other parts of the body. A strong man goes out on a cold day with gloves and overcoat, woolen stockings, and thick double-soled boots. The same day a child of three years old, an infant in flesh and blood, and bone and constitution, goes out with soles as thin as paper, cotton socks, legs uncovered to the knees, neck bare; an exposure which would disable the nurse, kill the mother in a fortnight, and make the father an invalid for weeks. And why? To harden them to a mode of dress which they are never expected to practice. To accustom them to exposure, which a dozen years later would be considered downright foolery. To rear children thus for the slaughter pen, and then lay it to Heaven, is too bad.

SATURDAY, APRIL 28, 1866.

By the bark Cambridge of the Hawaiian Packet Line, we have dates from San Francisco to the 6th inst., one week later than our previous advices. The market for island produce remained then quiet and entirely devoid of animation. Extensive floods were reported in the upper country, to which the dullness was in part attributed. The Bulletin reports:

SUGAR—Of raw we note sales, part previous to our last, of 800 hf bbls Hawaiian at 10@11 10 for good medium to strictly No. 1. By auction 1,900 hf bbls do. as is, sold at $6 75@9 37½ ℔ 100 lbs. cash and 30 days.

MOLASSES—160 bbls Hawaiian sold in lots at 40@45c for poor to prime.

COFFEE—Owing to large supplies, was dull, and small sales were made at 21@22½c.

Other island produce remained as per previous quotations.

The new clipper schooner Milton Badger, Capt. Miller, of 250 tons burthen, was advertised by Messrs. C. W. Brooks & Co., to be dispatched for Honolulu, April 14. It is probable she left on the 15th or 16th, and in that case will report the arrival of the bark D. C. Murray, which sailed hence on the 22d of March, and the steamer Ajax, which sailed on the 4th of April. We learn nothing further respecting the steamer enterprise, except a report in one of the San Francisco papers that a smaller vessel, probably the California, would be dispatched in place of the Ajax. But this needs authentication. Our own opinion is that the Ajax will return to Honolulu, after some little delay.

Since the above was in type, we learn by the Clara J. Sutel that the agents of the Ajax in San Francisco expected to dispatch her about May 1 for Honolulu, and that the American Ministers for Japan and China had engaged passage in her.

The Secretary of the Treasury at Washington has issued an order, directing that the law prohibiting the importation of foreign cattle will be applied only to such as may be imported from European ports.

Gold in New York April 6 fluctuated between 127 and 128, with the prospect of gradual decline in the premium.

		Interest.
1862, July 1st	514,211,372	30,181,104
1863, July 1st	1,094,793,181	54,729,846
1864, July 1st	1,740,690,489	73,778,642
1865, July 1st	2,682,593,026	150,031,628
1865, November 1st	2,740,854,750	158,890,216
1866, March 1st	2,827,868,959	145,301,230
1866, July 1st	3,000,000,000	165,000,000

The last line is the estimate of the Secretary of the Treasury, in his report, page 23.

LOCAL COMMERCIAL NEWS.

We insert above our usual exhibit of the arrivals of the spring fleet whalers at this port, numbering 58 vessels up to this date, all of which are American. We shall probably have eight or ten more arrivals during the next month, most of which will be new ships out from home.

A large real estate sale took place on Monday last, at public auction,—comprising a portion of the property of the late Levi Haalelea. The following were sold:

Kamanoni, on Molokai, $60 cash.

Makanalua, on Molokai, $1050.

Kapualu, on Molokai, a tract of 3500 acres, $500.

Kumuele, on Molokai, $750.

Amawaia, on Molokai, $625.

Papaiko, located near Hilo, comprising 400 acres of fine cane land, and a large extent of wood land, sold for $3,550;—10 per cent cash, half in 60 days and half 90 days.

Hokaiau nui, located in Hilo District, comprising 525 acres of good cane land and a large extent of mountain wood land, did not bring the upset price of $6,000, and was withdrawn.

Honokahau, a large tract of wood land located in Kona, Hawaii, sold for $2500, the survey to follow the ancient boundaries.

Waikoko, 500 acres on same island, $425.

The lease of the large fish-pond at Maunalua, for five years, sold for $305 per annum.

The whole sale realized $12,965, which sum being sufficient to relieve the estate from encumbrance, the balance of the property was withdrawn.

Had these lands been more fully described in the advertisements, so that strangers could get an idea of the situation and real value, much larger prices would undoubtedly have been realized. For instance the land of Papaiko embraces at least 800 acres of the best of cane land, instead of 400 as advertised. Some of this is covered with wood at present, but comprises the best of good soil. The adjoining estate of Pauka sold not long ago for $10,000, and Papaiko is considered in every respect a better cane tract, with much more land, and consequently worth in its present state fully $10,000.

A sale of some lands belonging to the estate of D. Adams is advertised in to-day's paper, which are well adapted to taro or rice cultivation, and located within two miles of the city.

The Smyrniote sailed on Saturday last for San Francisco with a full cargo, consisting in part of 509,587 lbs. of sugar and 12,650 gallons of molasses.

The Comet left on Wednesday, taking among other exports 387,535 lbs of sugar and 27,216 gallons of molasses.

The total exports of sugar, thus far this year from this port, have been:

	Lbs.
From January 1 to March 31	3,877,229
Bhering, April 2	409,709
Ajax, April 4	1,234,345
Mauna Kea, April 8	189,297
Smyrniote and Comet, (as above)	897,122
Schooner Premier, April 25	238,071
	6,845,773

The exports of molasses have been:

	Galls.
From January 1 to March 31	149,096
Per Ajax, Bhering, and Mauna Kea	69,919
Per Comet, Smyrniote, and Premier	45,466
	209,991

The total exports for four months, are 6,845,773 lbs. of sugar, or at the rate of 20,537,000 pounds per annum.

The bark Cambridge brings the usual assortment of merchandise. She will follow the Hesperian which is loading in the Hawaiian Packet Line, to sail about Wednesday next.

The Camden is loading in the Regular Dispatch Line, for San Francisco, and will sail about this day week.

The bark Clara R. Sutel, which touched at this port yesterday, was 16 days from San Francisco, en route for Kanagawa.

The President has signed the bill denying American registers to vessels which sailed under a foreign flag during the rebellion.

The following statement exhibits the amount of vacant public lands in five of the late insurrectionary States: Alabama, 6,732,053 acres; Louisiana, 6,228,102 acres; Florida, 1,902,786 acres; Mississippi 4,760,736 acres; Arkansas, 9,298,915 acres.

Miners in the southern center of the Pennsylvania coal beds, never get more than 50c a ton for their labor, and the transportation to New York by sea, makes the cost per ton, only $2 30. Making all allowances for royalty, waste, drayage, taxes, etc., the best anthracite would afford a handsome profit to the dealer in New York who would sell it at $7 a ton. The regular price is $12 50.

The Florida Times, published in Jacksonville, says that it is in constant receipt of letters from gentlemen at the North who desire to settle in the State, asking if it will be safe for them to bring their families. The editor replies that in no portion of the State is there any danger, either from the spirit of the citizens, or the disorganization of society; and, as a general thing, good citizens from any quarter of the country will be welcomed and find advantageous locations.

The Cincinnati Price Current states the number of Hogs packed in that city this season is 454,679, the average weight 238 15-31 lbs, and the yield of Lard 32 13-25 ℔ hog. The number of hogs packed at last accounts, was slightly in excess of last year, and the average weight 19 ℔ cent., and the yield of lard 37 ℔ cent. per head greater than last year, owing to the immense Corn crop. In Chicago the number of hogs packed and to be packed is estimated at 425,615. The yield per hog in that city shows nearly as much gain as in Cincinnati, so that any decrease in numbers packed will most likely be made up by increased weight. Ten years ago, Cincinnati was the leading packing centre of the Union, but it has latterly fallen behind its young and thrifty rival Chicago, while New York city leads them both.

CALIFORNIA COAL.—There is scarcely an article that enters into the economy of the household, that takes precedence in importance to fuel. The enormous consumption of a community of nearly 100,000 people, with the various manufactures and operations requiring machinery to supply their wants, renders the supply of wood, even in a dense forest, but a temporary resource. But in a community located as San Francisco, the supply of wood for fuel, would entail an expense so enormous, that it would effectually stop its prosperity. Fortunately a number of workable veins of coal have been discovered at various points on the Pacific coast, that will assure us from such a contingency. But the inferiority of quality of much of the coal brought into market, causes many persons to prefer paying $15 per cord for wood, rather than purchase coal at $10 per ton. There is no doubt that there are inexhaustible supplies of coal on this coast of excellent quality, for all domestic purposes. Much of the coal from Mount Diablo, particularly that obtained at the lowest workings, that from Bellingham Bay, and several other localities is very good. The great complaint generally made against these coals is that they leave so much ashes—some samples leaving nearly one-half the bulk of coal in form of a white silty substance. Quite recently an important mine has been opened in Fuca Straits, Washington Territory. The coal from which has not this defect, it being nearly entirely composed of combustible materials, leaving scarcely any ash at all. A few cargoes of this coal has been lately introduced into this coal has been lately introduced into this market by the Fuca Straits Coal Company. It appears to meet universal approval. It is a very bright and light coal, resembling the English in many particulars. Burning with a bright flame, caking, and with less smoke than any other coal found on this coast. We believe it is selling at about $11 per ton. Though a rather high price, it is by far the cheapest and best fuel at present available.—California Paper.

SATURDAY, APRIL 28.

Opening of the Legislature.

The Legislative Assembly met on Wednesday last, convened by Royal proclamation. At the designated hour of opening, 12 M., the hall of the Supreme Court was filled with ladies and gentlemen, comprising foreign representatives, officers of the government, residents and strangers. His Majesty the King entered the hall at 12½ o'clock, accompanied by His Ministers and staff, and proceeded to the rostrum, where he opened the Legislature by reading the following address, first in Hawaiian and then in English:

NOBLES AND REPRESENTATIVES:

I am happy to meet you in this Hall, where you have gathered together to consult upon the happiness and welfare of our common country.

Relying upon your wisdom and patriotism, I trust that the results of your deliberations will be such as to justify the confidence reposed in you by the people, as well as by myself.

Since the meeting of the last Legislature the country has experienced a sad loss in the death of my late Minister of Foreign Affairs, R. C. Wyllie. That faithful and devoted friend of my people and of my Dynasty has passed away, but not before it had been given to him to behold that increasing prosperity which is the natural result of good government.

My relations with Foreign Powers are on the most satisfactory footing, and I have continued to receive from them the most indubitable proofs of their friendship and amity.

My Minister of Foreign Affairs will explain to you the reasons that have induced me to discontinue the negotiation of a General Political Treaty with the great maritime nations of the world. The assurances so far received from them satisfy me that my Throne and our Independence may safely rest, as they do, upon our moral rights and the sacred obligations of our Treaties.

The Finances are in a most prosperous condition. A large surplus exists in the Treasury, and our income exhibits a most gratifying increase. The Report of my Minister of Finance will inform you of the estimated receipts for the next biennial period, and of the expenditures contemplated. The sums required for the internal improvements of my Kingdom are in excess of those that have been appropriated for the preceding years, still I do not consider them as beyond our means. A plan will be submitted that will enable my Government to achieve them, by applying the revenue accruing from some of them to the payment of the capital and interest disbursed.

I recommend to your earnest attention the improvements proposed for Roads, as well as for Harbors and Landings. An increasing commerce requires increased facilities.

My Minister of the Interior will inform you of the steps taken to arrest the spread of Leprosy. The energetic measures adopted by the Board of Health have been attended with good results, and I am satisfied that the important duties of this Bureau have been discharged with efficacy and promptness.

The Board of Immigration have no less actively carried out the objects intrusted to their care. The immediate wants of our planters and farmers have been relieved at a less cost than was anticipated. I have every reason to expect the most favorable results from the past and continued efforts of this Board.

The fairness and impartiality with which Justice has been administered continue to give to my subjects, as well as to foreigners resident, and visiting in my Kingdom, all guarantees for the safety of life and property.

The Report of the President of the Board of Education will inform you of the measures adopted during the last year, and of those they contemplate. The results have been gratifying, and I congratulate the country upon the improved state of our means of education.

NOBLES AND REPRESENTATIVES:

With heartfelt thanks to the Almighty Ruler of the universe for his many blessings upon my people and myself, I now intrust to your deliberate consideration the measures to be laid before you by my Government. The remarkable progress of the last years, and your well-known zeal for the public interests, fill me with the hope that our career of prosperity will, through our joint efforts, continue uninterrupted.

And I do now declare the Legislature of the Kingdom opened.

Immediately after the conclusion of the speech, His Majesty retired from the hall, and returned to the palace on horseback, accompanied by the military, of which there were several companies on escort duty, comprising the Cavalry, the Household Guards, the Artillery and Rifles. The King appeared in usual health. He spends most of the time at his seaside cottage at Waikiki, where the old chiefs and Kamehameha I. always preferred living in ancient times.

After the dispersal of the audience, and partaking of a lunch in a side room, the Nobles and Representatives returned to the hall, and organized by the choice of the following officers:

President—His Highness M. Kekuanaoa.
Vice-President—Hon. G. Rhodes.
Secretary—R. H. Stanley, Esq.

Hon. Kanleo, Kau, Hawaii.

We have arranged to report the daily proceedings of the Assembly. Thus far the time has been occupied mainly in organizing and with other preliminary business.

We are indebted to the courtesy of the Secretary of the Legislature for a copy of the Report of the Minister of Finance, which will find insertion in our next issue. The total expenditures for two years to March 31, 1866 were $582,341 02; the total receipts $750,400 36; leaving a balance of $169,059 34 in the Treasury on the 1st of April. The budget for 1866–7 calls for an appropriation of $820,823 58, and it is stated that the Ministers intend to have the bill passed early in the session. If so, they will do what has never been done yet.

NOTES OF THE WEEK.

SUDDEN DEATH.—All our readers will be pained to learn of the death of Mr. Samuel H. Dowsett, of this city, intelligence of which was brought by the Cambridge. He died in San Francisco very suddenly from aneurism, on the 7th of April. It was to obtain relief from this that he left his business in March last, hoping that a change of climate might prove beneficial. He had engaged passage and hoped to return to Honolulu in the Cambridge. Mr. Dowsett was engaged in the lumber business, and few of our young men gave better promise of a life of activity and usefulness than he. But he has dropped off in the prime of life, leaving a widow and two children. His family have the sincere sympathies of a large circle of friends in their bereavement.

DIPTHERIA.—This fatal disease has, beyond a doubt, appeared among us, and must in future be classed among the maladies to which our population are exposed. A post mortem examination of the body of the infant child of Mrs. Hayden was made by several of our physicians on the 26th, and the conclusion arrived at was that it died of diptheria. Mrs. H. lost her eldest child very suddenly some four weeks ago in a similar way, but no examination of that was made, and the probability is that it died from the same disease, perhaps contracted in California, and developed here. Both cases proved beyond the skill of our physicians, to whom it is a new disease. It is generally considered contagious, and what progress it will make among natives and foreigners remains as yet to be seen.

NOT SO SINGULAR, AFTER ALL.—The case of the sailor, who cut off his hand, as described by us last week, is not so very remarkable, if the reason now given for the rash act is the correct one. It is stated that he was in love with a charming Hawaiian maiden, which is a sufficient explanation of the whole affair; for bachelors, if not physiologists, say that a man in love is always more or less desperate and out of his reason. The sailor states that he had nothing against the Captain or officers of the Milo, on the other hand that they had always treated him well. What would otherwise appear singular in this case is fully explained by what we have since learned and stated regarding the cause. Verily, the course of true love never did run smooth.

☞ The bark Comet, under command of Com. J. Paty, sailed on Wednesday afternoon for San Francisco, with a full cargo and an unusually large number of passengers, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. John T. Waterhouse, who are going to England; Mr. Geo. W. Frink and family, formerly of the Tehama House in San Francisco, which, in bygone days, was one of the best kept and most popular hotels in that city. The Commodore promises to be back with his vessel in forty-two days from the day of sailing, and as he is usually pretty close in his reckonings, we shall look for him "on or about" the 6th of June.

☞ Capt. Hanham has written a letter, apparently intended for circulation in these Islands, which will be found on the fourth page of the Weekly Bulletin of April 7th. He says hard things in not very smooth language, and hints that he will publish a pamphlet on his return to England, making an exposé of political affairs at these Islands. We should not be at all surprised to find, as has already been stated, that he came out here on a secret mission, as a private emissary of the British Government, or at least of high officials in the British Government, and that his report will be published "by authority."

NOT SO.—A groundless rumor, which we are sorry to see in print, was afloat last week about the loss of three boats' crews from the bark N. S. Perkins, on the California coast. Capt. Poole requests us to contradict it, and to say that he has lost but one seaman, who deserted and invented this story in order to render his escape more certain. He told the unfounded yarn to the United States Consul at La Paz, and from him it became circulated. But it bore on its face the characteristics of a baseless fabrication.

ST. GEORGE'S DAY.—This anniversary was celebrated on Tuesday evening, by the British residents, by an annual meeting of the St. George's Benevolent Society, and an address delivered by J. Montgomery, Esq. Wm. L. Green, Esq., Acting Commissioner, is President; G. Rhodes, Esq., is Vice President; A. S. Cleghorn, Treasurer, and Dr. R. McKibbin, Jr., Secretary.

☞ From a passenger in the bark Clara R. Sutel, which touched here yesterday en route for Kanagawa, we learn that the American Ministers for China and Japan, intend to come to Honolulu in the steamer Ajax, leaving about May 1st, purposing to make a stay of a couple of weeks here, until a clipper arrives, which will be engaged to take them on to China. Should the Ajax not return, they may come in the D. C. Murray.

A FINE PICTURE.—Mr. Ritson has shown us a most excellent picture of the late General William Miller, copied, enlarged and retouched by Mr. Burgess of this city. It is an admirable likeness of the "old General," whose memory will long remain fresh with all who knew him, and one which any of his friends would be proud to possess.

☞ Mr. Isaacs has sent us samples of a new beverage made by him, which he calls "Banana Ale," and which resembles very much the German ales imported. Of all the domestic made beers, it stands a chance to become the most popular.

RARE CHANCE.—By the advertising columns our stock-raising readers will notice that the fine young stallion, "Capt. Smith," is offered for sale. This is an opportunity seldom met with here, and our stock-breeders will, no doubt, take advantage of it.

☞ The schooner Milton Badger will be due from San Francisco in all next week, and will bring the New York mail of March 20th.

☞ We are indebted to Capt. Hempstead for files of latest San Francisco papers, per Cambridge.

☞ In the Washington correspondence of the San Francisco Bulletin, we find the following item, which explains why the new American Minister Resident for these Islands was chosen from East of the Rocky Mountains:

COMMISSIONER TO THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.—The delegation from the Pacific States have been trying to secure the appointment of a Commissioner to the Sandwich Islands, and have had several interviews with Secretary Seward on the subject. The place is worth $7,000 per annum, gold, and of course is sought by a crowd of patriots willing to leave their country for their country's good. B. C. Whitman of Solano county, is a prominent candidate, and one Baker is urged by the Oregonians, who contend that the position belongs to Oregon, although it is admitted their last representative in it (Dryer) out-McDougalled McDougall. Mr. Seward says the Pacific delegations must unite upon one man, else the position will be conferred upon some person from this side of the country.

☞ Capt. Hall, of the bark Clara L. Sutel, sent ashore last evening two San Francisco papers, of later dates than those by the Cambridge. The telegraph has not been in operation since the 8th, and there is no later news from Congress. The D. C. Murray had not arrived over, 20 days out, while the steamer Ajax was only a week out when this vessel left on the 11th. The funeral of Mr. Dowsett took place at 4 P. M. on the 9th, from the residence of Mrs. Thompson, on Stockton street.

☞ President Johnson's Peace Proclamation, reported by telegraph, will be found on the fourth page. It is somewhat singular that Texas is not included among the States named, to which the proclamation refers. The inference is that a state of peace does not yet prevail there, so as to allow the withdrawal of Gen. Sheridan's troops from that quarter. If so, the issuance of the proclamation is premature, and in advance of the re-establishment of peace throughout the section lately in rebellion.

☞ The letter of Rev. James Kekela to President Lincoln, on our fourth page, will be read with much interest. It breathes the noble spirit of a devoted missionary, and is an honor to him and the Hawaiian Nation, which some assert to be "ten times worse off" now than when the American missionaries landed here. Judge Bond, who translated the letter, was for several years judge on Kauai and at Lahaina.

THE PACIFIC
Commercial Advertiser.

SATURDAY, APRIL 28.

THE news brought by the last mail shows that the breach between Congress and President Johnson is widening to an extent that renders all prospect of reconciliation illusive. The first veto of the President—that of the Freedman's Bureau Bill—was looked upon with regret by Americans, with few exceptions, aside from those who sympathize with the South. The policy of making the Bureau permanent and national, as contemplated by the bill, created some doubts in the minds of many friends of the negro, whether that was the best way to secure the protection sought for; but none doubted that some protection was needed. We hoped that the effect of the first veto would pass off, and that harmony might again be restored between the President and Congress. But the second veto by the President, following so soon, leaves little chance for it.

Our readers will notice allusions in the telegraphic news to this veto, and it may be well to state the facts concerning it. During March, Congress passed a Law conferring certain national civil rights and privileges on every citizen of the United States, without distinction of color. The following is a synopsis of the bill:

The first section provides that all persons born in the United States, and not subject to any foreign power, excluding Indians not taxed, are hereby declared to be citizens of the United States, without distinction of color; but the inhabitants of every race and color, without regard to any previous condition of slavery or involuntary servitude except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall have the same right to make and enforce contracts, to sue, to be parties to suits, give evidence and to inherit, purchase, lease, sell, hold and convey real and personal property, and to have the full and equal benefit of all laws and proceedings for the security of person and property, and shall be subject to like punishment, pains, penalties, and to none other, any law, statute, ordinance, regulation or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

The second section declares that any person who, under color of any law, shall subject or cause to be subjected any inhabitants of any State or Territory to deprivation of any right secured or protected by this Act, or to different punishments, pains or penalties on account of such person having at any time been held in a condition of slavery or involuntary servitude except as punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, or by reason of his color or race, than is prescribed for all other persons, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall on conviction be punished by fine not exceeding $1,000, or imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the Court.

The third section gives the United States District Courts exclusive jurisdiction of cases arising under the Act and also concurrently with the United States Circuit Courts of all cases civil or criminal affecting persons who are denied or cannot enforce the rights secured by this Act in judicial tribunals of the State; and if any suit or prosecution, civil or criminal, has been or shall be commenced in any State court against any such persons for any cause whatever, or against any officer civil or military or other persons for any arrest or imprisonment, trespasses or wrongs done or committed by virtue or under authority derived from this Act or the Act establishing the bureau for the relief of freedmen and refugees and all acts amendatory thereof, or for refusing to obey any Act upon the ground that it would be inconsistent with this Act, such defendant shall have the right to remove such cause for trial to the proper District or Circuit Court in the manner prescribed by the Act relating to habeas corpus and regulating judicial proceedings in certain cases.

United States Marshals, District Attorneys and Agents of the Freedmen's Bureau, are empowered to prosecute cases under this bill. Severe penalties are provided for all persons who may in any way hinder the operations of it.

An additional section provides that on all questions of law arising in any case under the provisions of this Act, final appeal shall be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States; nothing in this Act, however, is to be construed as to affect the laws of any State concerning the right of suffrage.

This is called The Civil Rights Bill, and as will be seen was designed to place every American citizen on the same footing so far as his legal rights are concerned, affording to every one the same national protection. It says nothing about allowing any one to vote, and leaves that question to be decided by state legislation or otherwise. Nor do its provisions include Chinese in California, or any other foreigners, but only persons born in the United States. It was intended to protect all colored persons or any others from illegal abuse, and to place every citizen on the same footing.

This is the bill which President Johnson has seen fit to veto, for reasons given in the telegraphic news published last week. But its provisions are so just that it can create no wonder that Congress has determined to pass it in spite of the President. By the American Constitution, Congress can pass any law without the approval of the President, if two-thirds of each house approve the law, after having been vetoed by him. This law is so equitable and just, that it should not be wondered at that thirty-three out of the forty-eight Senators voted that it should become a law in spite of the President's objections. The Lower House will probably concur, as the bill was passed by it before by a vote of one hundred and eleven in favor to forty-three against. In this event it becomes a law, as much as if it had received the President's approval.

We have been loth to believe that President Johnson would prove recreant to the party which elected him, or the principles which it inscribed on its banner, and which he approved. But the evidence cumulating by each mail leaves us very little room to doubt that the Republican Union party has mistaken its man, and that President Johnson will side with the slave-holder sooner than stand up for and defend the rights of the slave and the principles of universal liberty. When such men as Senator Morgan of New York, Sprague of Rhode Island, Fessenden of Maine—all personal friends of the President—cast their votes against him, we are left to infer that principle is involved, and that Senators prefer to sacrifice friendship to right. That the Republican party will endorse the act of Congress and condemn that of the President appears to be certain, if the following is reliable:

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican says: "Of all the Republican papers in the country, of every degree or shade of opinion, only the New York Times fails to lament and disapprove of the President's veto of the Civil Rights bill, and although the peace proclamation is a masterly move on the political chessboard, yet if the President does not bring some proposition acceptable to Congress, guaranteeing civil rights, the Republican party will remain victorious and a unit, and the President will be left without a party, except so far as the Democrats sustain him for their own purpose."

It is true that President Johnson was not the first choice of the party which elected him. He was chosen to fill a vacancy, in case it should occur, and as it has occurred, he becomes the accidental President, which office he must hold till March 4th, 1869. It is barely possible that something may transpire to restore harmony between him and the party which raised him to office, but various items reported by telegraph, like the following, leave little room for such hope, but rather create the belief that he intends to side more openly with those who were lately in arms striving to destroy the Government:

The Memphis Argus of March 28th gives editorial prominence to statements that President Johnson has written a letter to a friend in West Tennessee, declaring that he is only waiting for Texas to do as the other Southern States have done, in order to issue his proclamation declaring a general amnesty, and that the lately rebellious States having resumed all their relations to the restored Union, are entitled to equal rights. The President further says he intends to see that all the States have that representation in Congress to which the Constitution entitles them, and to recognize a majority of the representatives of all the States as the Congress! In the same letter the President announces the policy he intends to pursue in regard to Tennessee, which, while we deem it proper for the present to withhold, we may assure our readers will at once lift our State up and out of the mire of oppression from an irresponsible oligarchy, and place it by the side of other States on a platform of equal rights.

It seems almost impossible to believe that President Johnson can change his sentiments so much as use his power to divide Congress, and attempt to set up two Congresses, one comprising the Union Senators and Representatives and the other Southern and Copperhead Senators and Representatives. Yet this would appear to be the intention avowed in the letter, if it means anything. Of course military power alone can sustain such a state of things; nor could it occur before the next meeting of Congress in December. Thus, it appears barely possible that this reconstruction question, before it is settled, may yet result in open civil war—the President this time siding with the South, and bringing all the power and means of the Government to crush the spirit of the North, which is determined not to allow rebel Senators or Representatives to sit in Congress, nor any Southern Representatives until full guarantees are given by each lately rebel State that the freedmen shall be protected in all their rights as citizens.

We sincerely hope for harmony and peace. But, as events are now clearly culminating at Washington, the American people seem rapidly drifting into another civil strife, which needs but the President's mandate to break into open war, ten times more bloody and destructive than the late one; while his will can restore to permanent peace and union.

FOREIGN NEWS!

GREAT PUBLIC ENTHUSIASM.

The clipper bark Cambridge, Captain Denison Hempstead, arrived early on Tuesday morning, April 24th—15½ days from San Francisco—bringing the New York mails of March 10th, and London papers to the 24th of February.

Gold in New York, April 6th, 128.

CHICAGO, April 5th.—At the Rhode Island election yesterday, Gen. Burnside was elected Governor almost without opposition, receiving 7,749 votes, against 2,456 for Lyman Pierce, Democrat.

HARTFORD, April 3d, 11:15 A. M.—Hawley's majority, thus far, is 655; Hawley will probably have from 900 to 1,000 majority.

NEW HAVEN April 24.—The Evening Palladium figures 850 majority for General Hawley. The Republicans are firing 300 guns over the election.

Governor Dillingham, of Vermont, has appointed George F. Edmonds, of Burlington, Senator to fill the vacancy. Edmonds is a lawyer, and has been considerably in public life. For two years he was Speaker of the Vermont House of Representatives.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The Secretary of the Treasury, having referred to experts in chemistry whether petroleum is combustible within the meaning of the law, has read a report that it is combustible, and that passenger vessels carrying it require a special license.

The Secretary of State gave, this evening a handsome entertainment to Madame Juarez, the wife of President Juarez. It is said that all the representatives of the Spanish-American Republics were present; also, the Russian Minister. The party was one of the most brilliant of the season.

Alexander H. Stephens was among the visitors at the Executive Mansion to-day, but did not obtain an audience with the President.

WASHINGTON, April 6th.—Alexander H. Stephens, had a long conference with the President yesterday afternoon.

In the House, yesterday, one of the members called attention to the fact that the President's Peace Proclamation did not include Texas. Mr. Stevens remarked that he understood by the proclamation that war had only ceased in ten-elevenths of the Union, and that one-eleventh of war remained.

A bill establishing eight hours as a legal day's work in all kinds of mechanical labor, including miners and lumbermen, and excluding farm and team laborers, passed the Pennsylvania House of Representatives, March 29th—ayes 69, noes 14. An effort to give house servants the benefit of the bill was negatived—ayes 39, noes 42.

The eight hour bill was killed in the New York House of Representatives, March 29th—ayes 54, noes 64. A motion to reconsider was lost. The vote was the largest recorded this session, only ten members being absent.

CHICAGO, April 6th.—The Canadians are again in great alarm. They have reliable reports that war vessels and convoys, including two schooners loaded with cannon, are fitting out at Chicago. There are rumors that an expedition under B. Doran Killian, consisting of three steamers with 5,500 men, has sailed from New York for New Brunswick, and another report gives Bermuda as its destination. It is believed that Gen. Sweeny designs an attack on Central Canada.

An official proclamation from Col. O'Mahony announces the escape of James Stevens from Ireland, his arrival in Paris and his speedy arrival in the United States to head the Fenians. Dissensions are prevalent in the ranks of the Brotherhood here.

NEW YORK, April 4th.—The Aspinwall proposed steam opposition to Panama has fallen through definitely. C. K. Garrison has bought the controlling interest in the company owning the Star line of steamers, thus defeating their transfer to the new company. Another opposition scheme is maturing, and the Nicaragua line is also about to be reorganized and greatly improved by the ship-builder Webb.

WASHINGTON, April 3d.—A conference has been had among the prominent members of Congress relative to adjournment. The general conclusion seems to be that they would remain in session at least three months more if not continuously till the 4th of next March.

The Navy Department has received a dispatch from Commodore Rogers and his subordinate officers of the Vanderbilt, Powhatan and Monadnock announcing their arrival at Valparaiso, Chile. The dangers of the trip are deemed to be ended, the remainder of the voyage being plain sailing. He says "the powers of the monitors have been more than equal to the voyage. I observed that in the South Pacific's long seas, the Monadnock took very little water, rising over the waves easily and buoyantly."

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The Senate galleries were densely crowded and the floor also filled with members of the House and others privileged to obtain admittance. Senator Wright of New Jersey appeared in his seat. Mr. Lane of Kansas during the morning hour offered a joint resolution for the admission of the States lately in rebellion, on condition of their repudiating the rebel debt, endorsing the Federal debt, annulling the ordinance of secession, and granting suffrage to such colored people as can read or who own $250 worth of property. He spoke of the necessity of immediate action on the subject of reconstruction to save the Republican party from crumbling to pieces.

At 1 o'clock the Civil Rights bill was taken up. Mr. Lane of Kansas, about whom doubts have existed, made a speech supporting the veto, and defending the President from the charge made by Mr. Wade of despotism and treachery. Mr. Lane concluded his speech as follows: "The President has been and is now, in my judgment, as anxious to harmonize the difficulties of the Union party as any Senator on this floor. If he was met in the same spirit, the party would be reunited and this Union be restored. His advances are met by insult from the heads of the Republican party on this Senate floor, in language without parallel. So far as I am concerned, Mr. President, I hope to-day and hereafter to take my position alongside of the President, and stand there unflinching, defending him against the Senator from Ohio, as did my predecessor."

Mr. Wade said in reply: "Who is your President that every man must bow to his opinion? If you please, sir, we all know him; he is no stranger to this body; we have measured him, sir; we know his height, his length, his breadth, and capacity, and all about him; and you set him up as a paragon, and declare you are going to wear his collar! Is that the idea—that you are going to be his apologist and defender on what he is going to propose? Three millions of people, sir, exposed to outrage, and murder from those worse than savages, their former masters—murderers, as we are told—every day their lives taken away, their humanity trampled under foot; and when Congress, under the Constitution of the United States, is endeavoring to tender them some little protection, how are we met here, sir? Every attempt of your Moses has been to trample them down, making them worse, and throwing every obstruction in the way of everything proposed by Congress."

Mr. Lane, in reply, said; "I wear as a collar the following—'Indicted for treason by a pro-slavery grand jury; hunted from State to State by writ founded upon that indictment for treason; $10,000 offered for my head!' Jim Lane wear a collar! Great God! Mr. President, wherever he is known that charge is decided as false, by both friend and enemy."

Mr. Wade said—"I wish it was."

Mr. Lane then appealed to Mr. Wade to withdraw the serious charge he had made against the President. He (Mr. Lane) would not defend the President's speech of the 22d of February, as it was made under excitement.

Mr. Doolittle said he had received a telegram informing him that the Legislature of his State had passed a resolution requesting him to vote for the Civil Rights bill, the President's objection notwithstanding. He had already set forth his objections to the measure, and he could not vote for it, and would abide the consequences. He entertained the highest respect for the gentlemen composing the Legislature of his State, but standing where he did, he saw what they could not; they were at a distance, and influenced by a party press and persons interested in the continuation of the disorder in the South.

CHICAGO, April 6th.—A special dispatch to the Tribune just received, says the Civil Rights bill passed the Senate at 6:30 o'clock, by 33 ayes to 15 noes. Mr. Dixon absent. Messrs. Morgan and Willey voted aye; Mr. Wright voted no. Mr. Morgan's vote was received with cheers, and the final announcement with wild enthusiasm, the chamber being densely crowded. Following is the vote:

Absent—Dixon.

The above vote is the same total as on the 3d of February—Creswell and Grimes, who did not then vote, and Edmonds, new Senator, making good the loss of Dixon, Foot, and Lane of Kansas. Of the negative vote on the 3d of February, all were present except Stockton. The accessions are Doolittle, Johnson and Wright, who did not vote before, and Lane of Kansas. The bill passed the House on the 15th of March—ayes 111, noes 38; absent or not voting, 24. It is believed it will be taken up at once in the House, and passed over the veto.

CHICAGO, April 5th.—Mr. Trumbull's speech on the Civil Rights bill, yesterday, occupied nearly three hours, and was a clear and logical argument upon the legal and other objections raised by the President. To the objection that eleven States are unrepresented he answered: "Well, sir, whose fault is it that the twenty-five loyal States which have stood by the Union and Constitution are to be deprived of their right to legislate? Sir, it is not the fault of the twenty-five. If the fact of some States having rebelled against the Government is to take from the Government the right to legislate, why, sir, then the criminal is to take advantage of his crime, and the innocent are to be punished for the guilty. If we are to wait for the eleven States, must not we wait for Texas? Will anybody pretend that when a State Government was in the hands of the enemy it was entitled to our representation in our Congress? If not, shall we not inquire whether it has got out of these hands into the hands of loyal men? Sir, the proposition that no bill is to be passed because certain States are unrepresented, would be utterly destructive of the Government."

WASHINGTON, April 7.—A special dispatch to the Chicago morning papers gives a few additional particulars of the Senate proceedings yesterday. The Tribune says that during Mr. Lane's speech Mr. Trumbull cornered him on a private declaration, made the day before, that he Mr. Lane, would vote for the bill asked, if it should be understood that his vote was now given in consideration of something. Lane's answer was listened to with much interest. He was very careful not to deny the suggestion, and the Senate was left to believe that Lane had found reasons within eighteen hours to change his purpose. There is, of course, considerable query as to the means used to effect this change. During his speech Mr. Trumbull and Mr. Henderson worried him seriously with question, and brought out the point very clearly that Mr. Lincoln never by word or deed indicated the belief that the Executive could dictate a plan of reconstruction. Then Garrett Davis spoke two hours and a half, notwithstanding the impatience for a vote. He had opposed the war, and could see nothing in the future but blood. By this time the floor of the Senate was crowded with members of the House and other private spectators, filling the whole area around the Senatorial circle. It was now half-past five o'clock. Mr. McDougall made a speech, predicting another revolution. Mr. Yates urged the Republicans to stand solid and press on to victory. At half past six o'clock the vote was called, and the Clerk proceeded, amid a breathless silence, with busy pencils tallying the result. Mr. Morgan responded aye, in a clear voice, and all doubt was relieved instantly. The speculators rose in the galleries, and made the Senate Chamber echo with their applause. On the floor the scene was but little less exciting. Several Senators rushed up and congratulated Mr. Morgan, as did the members of the House. On went the roll. Mr. Wright who had appeared in the Chamber for a few minutes in the early part of the day, and had then retired to a Committee room, was now supported to his seat by his friends. The result was then announced by the acting Vice-President, of Connecticut, and a perfect storm of applause followed; handkerchiefs were waved, hats went aloft, with cheers and shouts such as the members of the Senate never heard before. The scene was of long continuance, and during it the Opposition gathered up their hats and retired, leaving Judge Trumbull to move the usual order for informing the House of the action of the Senate, and the friends of the bill to adjourn until Monday.

The Committee on Ways and Means will report an Internal Revenue bill next week, made on the basis of reducing taxation fifty millions. In making the reduction, the Committee have, as much as possible, made exemptions of raw materials entering into general consumption.

Secretary McCulloch, in a letter accompanying the President's message recommending a modification of the Test Oath, says when the appointments were made it was difficult to find competent officers in many of the Southern Revenue Districts who could take the oath, but so important did it seem to the President, and Cabinet, for the purpose of equalizing the public burdens, that the Revenue system should be established throughout the recently rebellious States with as little delay as practicable, and that the unpleasant duty of collecting taxes from an exhausted and rebellious people should be performed by their own citizens, that the Secretary of the Treasury did not hesitate to recommend for appointment persons of whose present loyalty there was no question, but who might, either willingly or unwillingly, during the progress of the rebellion, have been so connected with the insurgent States and Confederate Government as to be unable to take the oath of office. No one could have regretted more than the President and Cabinet the necessity for this course, but there seemed to be no alterative, and it was confidently hoped that under the existing circumstances of the case it would be approved by Congress.

The Postmaster General says the test oath has been the greatest hindrance to his Department, and suggests the word "voluntarily" be inserted in the oath. This would enlarge the class of persons who could qualify, and would be in harmony with the general provisions and purposes of the oath. He says it may be interesting to know that of 2,259 mail routes in operation in the disloyal States at the breaking out of the rebellion, the services of only 757 have been restored; that of 8,902 post-offices in these States, only 2,042 appointments of postmasters have been made, and of the whole 1,177 only have been qualified for office, 747 of them being males and 430 females.

Parliament was opened by Queen Victoria in person on the 6th of March. The reappearance of Her Majesty in public life after her long retirement, was hailed both outside and inside the walls of Parliament with the most heartfelt expressions of good-will and loyalty. The royal speech was read, not by the Queen herself, but by the Lord Chancellor.

Her Majesty's appearance throughout the whole of the proceedings was of a very remarkable character. From the instant she first sat upon the throne until she rose to take her departure, she never changed her attitude. Her arms lay heavily by her side, her eyes were bent upon the ground, and her whole aspect wore a marble fixedness and immovability. She did not appear to be suffering from delicate health, but the traces of recent grief seemed still visible on her features. On withdrawing from the Chamber she kissed the Princess of Wales as she passed, and she cordially shook hands with the Prince Christian of Augustenburg.

A statement has been published in several Paris papers to the effect that the Government of the United States had purchased of Denmark the Island of Santa Cruz, for a Naval Station in the West Indies.

Reports from American Consuls in England, Hamburg, Amsterdam, etc., represent that a less number of cattle had died of the rinderpest, but that a greater number are being killed than ever before to prevent the spread of the disease.

Later European News.

NEW YORK, April 5.—The steamer Cuba, from Liverpool the 24th, via Queenstown the 25th, has arrived.

The Fenian movement had received some attention in Parliament. The Attorney-General for Ireland has said that with respect to parties under arrest who had come from America he was ready to give a favorable consideration to their application for discharge, provided they leave Ireland.

Mr. Gladstone announced that the Government intended to proceed with the Reform bill, regardless of the suggestions and proposed amendments. They would resist Earl Grosvenor's amendment, as it implied a want of confidence in the Government. The House adjourned to the 9th of April, for Easter holidays.

The stock of the Anglo-American Telegraph Line, six hundred thousand pounds, is all subscribed, and the books closed. The cable progresses at the rate of nineteen nautical miles per day.

The statements in regard to Austria and Prussia are conflicting. The German firms in London have uniformly ridiculed the idea of hostilities, and the latest telegrams are of a reassuring character, but still the German press continue dealing in warlike rumors. Recruiting for Austrian volunteers for Mexico was about to commence.

The Emperor Napoleon received the address from the Corps Legislatif, and made a speech accepting the vote of the great majority as a continued endorsement of his policy. He also spoke in favor of the extension of liberty calculated to strengthen the Government, not such liberty as may become an arm to undermine and subvert it.

LONDON, March 20.—Consols, 85⅞; 5-20's, 71¼ @71½.

LIVERPOOL, March 20.—The ex Queen of the French, the widow of Louis Phillippe, died at Claremont yesterday.

The President's Peace Proclamation.

Whereas, by proclamations on the 16th and 19th of April, 1861, the President of the United States, in virtue of the power vested in him by the Constitution and laws, declared that the laws of the United States were opposed and the execution thereof obstructed in the States of South Carolina, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas, by combinations too powerful to be suppressed by ordinary judicial proceedings, or by powers vested in the United States Marshals by law; and whereas, by another proclamation, made on the 16th of August of the same year, in pursuance of an act of Congress, approved July 13th, 1861, the inhabitants of Georgia, South Carolina, Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Mississippi and Florida, except the inhabitants in that portion of Virginia lying West of the Alleghany Mountains, and to such other parts of the State and the other States before named as might maintain a loyal adhesion to the Union and the Constitution, or might be from time to time occupied and controlled by the forces of the United States engaged in the dispersion of the insurgents, were declared to be in a state of insurrection against the United States; and whereas, by another proclamation on the first day of July, 1862, issued in pursuance of an act of Congress approved June 7th, the same year, the insurrection was declared to be still existing in the States aforesaid, with the exception of certain specific counties in the State of Virginia; and whereas, by another proclamation on the second day of April, 1863, in pursuance of an act of Congress passed July 13th, 1861, the exceptions named in the proclamation of August 16th, 1861, were revoked, and the inhabitants of Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Texas, Arkansas, Mississippi, Florida and Virginia, except the forty eight counties of Virginia designated as West Virginia, and the ports of New Orleans, Key West, Port Royal and Beaufort, South Carolina, were declared to be in a state of insurrection against the United States; and whereas, the House of Representatives, on the 22d of July, 1861, adopted a resolution in words as follows, viz:

"Resolved, That the present deplorable civil war having been forced upon the country by disunionists in the Southern States, now in revolt against the Constitutional Government of the United States and in arms around that Capital, that in this National emergency, Congress, banishing all feelings of mere passion or resentment, will recollect only its duty to the whole country; that this war is not waged on our part in any spirit of oppression, nor for any purpose of conquest or subjugation, nor for the purpose of overthrowing, nor interfering with the rights or established institutions of those States, and to maintain and defend the supremacy of the Constitution and preserve the Union with all its equality and the dignity of the several States unimpaired, and that as soon as these objects are accomplished the war ought to cease." And

Whereas, the Senate of the United States, on the 20th July, 1861, adopted a resolution in words, viz: the same as above; and whereas these resolutions, though not joint or concurrent in form, are substantially identical, and as such may be regarded as having been the expressed wish of Congress upon the subject to which they relate; and whereas, by my proclamation of the 13th June last, the insurrection in the State of Tennessee was declared to have been suppressed, the authority of the United States therein to be undisputed, and such officers as had been deputed left to the unrestricted exercise of their official functions; and,

Whereas, There now exists no organized armed resistance of misguided citizens or others to the authority of the United States in the States of Georgia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama, Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas, and Florida, and the laws can be sustained and enforced therein by the proper civil authority of the State or Federal Government, and the people of said States are well and loyally disposed, and have conformed or will conform legislation to the condition of affairs growing out of the amendment to the National Constitution prohibiting slavery within the limits and jurisdiction of the United States; and

Whereas, In consideration of these before-cited premises, it is the manifest determination of the American people that no State of its own will, has the right to separate itself, or be separated, from the American Union, and that, therefore, each State ought to remain and constitute an integral part of the United States; and,

Whereas, The people of the several before-mentioned States have, in the manner noted, given satisfactory evidence that they acquiesce in the sovereign and important restoration of the National unity; and,

Whereas, It is believed to be a fundamental principle of the Government that people who have revolted, and have been overcome and subdued, must so be dealt with as to induce them voluntarily to become friends, or else they must be held by absolute military power, or else so devastated as to forever prevent them from doing harm as enemies, which last named policy is abhorrent to humanity and freedom; and,

Whereas, The Constitution of the United States provides for constitutional communities only as States, and not as Territories, dependencies or protectorates; and whereas, their consent must necessarily be had, by the Constitution of the United States, as placed on a proper footing, as the rights of communities demand, and provided with the several powers with which they are governed, and which political policy is the principle of right and justice, well calculated to induce the people of the said States to become more constant in their renewed allegiance; and whereas, the standing army, military occupation, military law, military tribunals, and suspension of the writ of habeas corpus, are, in times of peace, dangerous to public liberty, and incompatible with the individual rights of persons, contrary to the genius of our free institutions, and exhaustive of the National resources, and ought not, therefore, to be sanctioned or allowed, except in cases of actual necessity, for repelling invasion, or for the suppression of treason; and,

Whereas, The Government of the United States, from the beginning of the insurrection to its suppression, has been carried on in conformity with the principles henceforth enumerated; therefore, I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, do hereby proclaim and declare that the insurrection which has heretofore existed in the States of Georgia, South Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee, Alabama, Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi and Florida, is at an end, and henceforth to be so regarded.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the great seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, this 2d day of April, in the year of our Lord 1866, and of the Independence of the United States the 90th.

President of the United States.

A Hawaiian Missionary's Letter to President Lincoln.

To the Editor of the Boston Christian Register:

In 1853, Matunui, a chief of the Marquesas or Nuuhiva Islands, came to the Sandwich Islands to beg that missionaries might be sent to his native group. He had heard of the benefits which the Sandwich Islands had derived from the introduction of civilization and Christianity, (which to his mind seem to have been synonymous,) and he wished that he and his people might partake of them. Such a call could not be disregarded; those of us who were most skeptical as to the wisdom of foreign missions generally were ready to say God-speed to the little band that went out in answer to that call. They consisted of one white layman, unmarried, and two Hawaiian ministers, who took their wives with them.

These native missionaries have remained at their post until now. Two years ago one of them was instrumental in saving the life of an American—the mate of a whaleship. Our government sent to him some gifts in acknowledgment of the service. The following letter written by this missionary, Rev. James Kekela, on the receipt of those gifts, was received at Washington too late to meet the eye of the good President to whom it is addressed. I am sure its simple utterances would have delighted and touched that warm, loving heart. I have retranslated it. The translation which was received at the State Department, and which was made in Honolulu, is more elegant than this, but has sacrificed the native idiom, and in some cases, the very spirit of the original, to smoothness of expression.

I commend the letter to your readers. My translation fails of doing full justice to the original, yet I much mistake if they will not see in its expressions of faith and of love, a beauty and power that could flow only from a life of entire consecration to God's service. This poor Sandwich Islander, whose grand-parents were just such dark, benighted cannibals as he is now laboring for, comes nearer in his spirit to the apostolic writers than many of our most learned divines and commentators.

How admirably does this man's child-like story of his own life and of his love to God and to his neighbor, refute those unworthy aspersions upon the labors and success of the American missionaries at the Sandwich Islands, which we have so often heard. Those aspersions have not been so often repeated here of late as they were formerly, but in England we find them uttered in various forms by the bishop of Oxford and others, who have been striving to build up a rival mission at those Islands, some of them, moved, undoubtedly, by their zeal for their church, others, as undoubtedly, moved by a desire to advance the political interests of Great Britain at the Islands, at the expense of those of the United States, with a view to their ultimate occupation as a British naval station. Who shall dare deny that this man is in the true apostolic succession? Who in this age better than he, represents the "Apostle to the Gentiles?" E. P. BOND.

[Translated expressly for the Christian Register.]

HIVAOA, March 27, 1865.

Greetings to you, great and good friend!

My mind is stirred up to address you in friendship, by the receipt of your communication through your minister, resident in Honolulu, James McBride.

I greatly respect you for holding converse with such humble ones. Such you well know us to be.

I am a native of the Hawaiian Islands, from Waialua, Oahu, born in 1824, and at twelve years of age attended the school at Waialua of Rev. Mr. Emerson; and was instructed in reading, writing and mental arithmetic and geography.

In 1838 I was entered at the high school of Lahainaluna, and was under the instruction of Messrs. L. Andrews, E. W. Clark, S. Dibble and Alexander. Not being in advance of others, I remained in the school some years, and in 1843 I graduated and was then invited and desired by the teachers to continue my studies in other branches, that is, to join a class in theology, under the Rev. S. Dibble. He died in 1845, and I and others continued the study of the Scriptures under W. P. Alexander. In 1847 I graduated, having been at Lahainaluna nine years. In that year, 1847, I married a girl from my native place, who had for seven years attended a female seminary at Wailuku under the instruction of J. S. Green, E. Bailey and Miss Ogden.

In the same year 1847, I and my wife were called to Kahuku, a remote place in Koolau on Oahu, to instruct the people there in the Scriptures, and in other words of wisdom. I remained in this work for some years. It was clear to myself and to my wife that our lives were not our own, but belonged to the Lord, and, therefore we covenanted one with the other, that we would be the Lord's, "His only, His forever." And from that time forth we yielded ourselves servants unto the Lord. In 1852, certain American missionaries, Dr. Gulick and others, were sent out on their way to Micronesia. I was one of their company, and after seven months absence, I returned with E. W. Clark. On my return I was employed in arousing the Hawaiians to the work of foreign missions.

In 1853 there came to our islands a Macedonian cry for missionaries to Nuuhiva, brought by Matunui, a chief of Fatuhiwa.

The missionaries speedily laid hold upon me to go to this group of islands. I did not assent immediately. I stopped to consider carefully, with much prayer to God, to make clear to me that this call was from God, and I took counsel with my wife. It was evident to us that this was a call from God, therefore we consented to come to these dark, benighted and cannibal islands.

I had aged parents, and my wife beloved relatives, and we had a little girl three years old. We left them in our native land. We came away to seek the salvation of the souls of this people, because our hearts were full of the love of God. This was the only ground of our coming hither, away from our native land.

In the year 1853 we came to these cannibal islands, and we dwelt first for four years at Fatuhiwa, and in 1857 we removed to Hivaoa, another island, to do the work of the Lord Jesus; and from that time until now, we have striven to do the work of Jesus Christ, without regard for wealth or worldly pleasure. We came for the Lord, to seek the salvation of men, and this is our only motive for remaining in this dark land.

When I saw one of your countrymen, a citizen of your great nation, ill-treated, and about to be baked and eaten, as a pig is eaten, I ran to save him, full of pity and grief at the evil deed of these benighted people. I gave my boat for the stranger's life. This boat came from James Hunnewell, a gift of friendship. It became the ransom of this countryman of yours, that he might not be eaten by the savages who knew not Jehovah. This was Mr. Whalon, and the date, Jan. 14, 1864.

As to this friendly deed of mine in saving Mr. Whalon, its seed came from your great land, and was brought by certain of your countrymen, who had received the love of God. It was planted in Hawaii, and I brought it to plant in this land and in these dark regions, that they might receive the root of all that is good and true, which is love.

1. Love to Jehovah.
2. Love to self.
3. Love to our neighbor.

If a man have a sufficiency of these three, he is good and holy, like his God, Jehovah, in his triune character, (Father, Son and Holy Ghost) one-three, three-one. If he have two and wants one, it is not well; and if he have one and wants two, this, indeed, is not well; but if he cherishes all three, then is he holy, indeed, after the manner of the Bible.

This is a great thing for your great nation to boast of, before all the nations of the earth. From your great land a most precious seed was brought to the land of darkness. It was planted here, not by means of guns and men-of-war and threatenings. It was planted by means of the ignorant, the neglected, the despised. Such was the introduction of the word of the Almighty God into this group of Nuuhiwa. Great is my debt to Americans, who have taught me all things pertaining to this life, and to that which is to come.

How shall I repay your great kindness to me? Thus David asked of Jehovah, and thus I ask of you, the President of the United States. This is my only payment,—that which I have received of the Lord, love,—(aloha.)

I and my wife, Naomi, have five children, the first with Miss Ogden, the second with Rev. J. S. Emerson; we now send the third to live with Rev. L. H. Gulick; the fourth is with Kauwealoha, my fellow missionary, and the fifth is with us at present. Another stranger is soon expected. There is heaviness in thus having to scatter the children where they can be well taken care of.

We have received your gifts of friendship according to your instructions to your minister, James McBride. Ah! I greatly honor your interest in this countryman of yours. It is, indeed, in keeping with all I have known of your acts as President of the United States.

A clear witness this in all lands of your love for those whose deeds are love, as saith the Scripture, "Thou shalt love Jehovah, and shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

And so may the love of the Lord Jesus abound with you until the end of this terrible war in your land.

I am, Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States, Your obedient servant,
(Signed) JAMES KEKELA.
